Keeping Families Happy and Healthy Will Help Win War

Keeping families healthy and happy so that they can do their share of the work which must be done by civilians is one way to help win the war. Dosea Hale, Extension Service specialist in parent education and child development, says keeping up family spirits is a large part of the war-time pledge thousands of Victory Demonstrators in Texas are signing. "Plan for good times for the family," she advises. "Don't make life seem drab but try to find ways of having fun without spending money or using up precious automobile tires."

Even though transportation must be drastically reduced, families should not give up all community gatherings. Meetings of organizations of farm men, women, and children have meant so much in broadening horizons, in promoting better family living they should not be discontinued, the specialist believes.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh. These days, I get to see the soldier boys at the mess hall, the sailors, too. There's another reason, too. The beer industry is cooperating with the army and with the law-enforcement officers to help keep the places where beer is sold, clean and decent. The brewers don't want their beer sold to soldiers in places where bad conditions exist . . . and they're right. Seems to me that we Americans ought to get together and do everything we can to make things pleasant for the boys who are in training. They're doing their duty . . . maybe we have some duties, too, in this direction. There are lots of ways of helping. We ought to support them all. All of us have our part to play in winning this war . . . and making life a little easier for the boys in camp is something we all can do something about.

Joe Marsh

Yes, vaccine prepares you to beat trouble... now how does this oil work that principle?

Like a plague, modern driving conditions are widely attacking motor oil—wasting it away. Nature can't modernize her oil. And the best refining even weakens certain natural "immunities" . . .

BUT CONOCO Nth OIL makes it all up—and then some—with its modern man-made preventives. They get the credit for its healthy record of more than twice the mileage averaged by five other fine oils in a Death-Test lasting till engines burned up. The rival oils, in identical cars, under impartial observation, braved blistering Death Valley with a strict 5-quart fill apiece and no more. One gave out when Conoco Nth was still more than two-thirds up! None came closer than a bare 58% of Conoco Nth mileage! Get this same Conoco Nth oil for the Spring change that your engine must have. You'll be getting the added modern synthetic, Thiakene inhibitor, to forestall the fouling attacks of highest engine speeds and pressures. Instead of breaking down into so-called varnish, gums and worse obstructions, your Conoco Nth oil can stay more like its own good self—to help your mileage stay up. The out-and-out Death Valley victory proved it—and proved once again that an

OIL-PLATED engine lives long. OIL-PLATING, a recognized Conoco advantage through the years, comes from the other great synthetic in Conoco Nth. This exerts magnet-like action to envelop inner parts in close-bonded lubricant that doesn't all quickly drain down. Instead it stays plated in place—much as any other plating—and that's what the conventional movable oil film slides on! You're one more remove from excess wear—from the hazard of repairs and delay these days. You're up to the Nth degree of oil mileage for your car. Change now at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station, Continental Oil Company

Creep-Fed Calves Helping Produce Beef for Victory

Make More and Faster Gain Per Pound of Feed by This Method, Says Texas Rancher

"Livestock men plan to make their cattle heavier by creep-feeding and 'caking' steers on grass," a newspaper report recently said, quoting Jay Taylor, a leading Texas cowman and then president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association, at a conference on meeting war needs for beef. In mentioning creep-feeding, Taylor stressed one of the most important ways in which cattle raisers can produce more beef, more rapidly, for "Food for Victory."

Calves that are creep-fed utilize feed efficiently while they are growing; therefore, they can make more gain per pound of feed than at any other time, feeding authorities point out. Getting accustomed early to eating, they can be weaned with less shrink; and, if desired, can soon be full-fed when put directly into the feed lot.
On the range, creep-feeding of cottonseed cake, cubes, or pellets makes it possible to sell feeder calves 30 days earlier, carrying 50 to 75 pounds more weight, than is possible without feeding. This saving of 30 days' grazing on each calf conserves grass for next winter and also causes the cow herd to go into the winter much stronger. Many experienced cowmen say that the conservation of grass and added strength of the cows, alone, more than pay the cost of creep-feeding. The increased weight of calves is additional profit.

Because cottonseed cake furnishes both essential protein and phosphorus that calves must have for maximum growth, cottonseed cake, cubes, and pellets are standard feeds for creep-feeding on the range. They may be creep-fed in troughs or self-feeders. In trough-feeding, calves may be started on

Has Plenty Wheat, Asserts A Chairman

Urged to Grow Feed Food United Nations

The Nation needing so many crops, now is no time for wheat production. Dr. J. H. Hays, chairman, Hall County Agricultural Committee, said this week. He said that wheat in the last two years without another kernel," the national referendum Saturday, wheat farmers will go to the polls for the second year to decide whether to continue wheat production on this year's crop. Last year the national vote was 80 percent for quotas, while Hall County farmers approved quotas 75 percent.

There is a desperate need of wheat, corn, soybeans, and other crops. We need wheat, corn, soybeans, and other crops. We need wheat, corn, soybeans, and other crops. We need wheat, corn, soybeans, and other crops.

add to our already enormous wheat supply, we'll not only be wasting our time and machinery, but we'll be failing our country in her darkest hour of need," he said.

The total supply of wheat on July 1, 1942, it estimated at 1,423,000,000 bushels, of which 630,000,000 bushels represents present carry-over, while the 1942 crop is estimated at 793,000,000 bushels.

"If we continue to raise the things we don't need and fail to raise the things we do need, we'll be doing 'farming as usual' and that sort of farming went with Pearl Harbor," Neeley said.

The purpose of wheat marketing quotas is to divide a limited market equally among wheat producers. Marketing quotas also make possible more efficient use of transportation and storage facilities.

"We don't have time to produce things we don't need in the war. Our Food for Freedom program outlines feed and food we need. Victory demands plenty, but not waste and any increase in wheat will be just that much waste," Neeley said.

Funeral Wednesday For Newlin Man

Funeral rites for Tom G. Capwell, 40 years old, were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Hulver community church by Rev. Sid F. Martin, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Memphis. Burial arrangements were in charge of King's Mortuary.

Funeral bearers were cowboys of the Shoe-Bar ranch.

Mr. Capwell died Tuesday in a hospital in Memphis, after only a few days illness. He had been a resident of Hall County for the past 20 years, making his home in the Newlin community.

He is survived by his wife, five children, and other relatives.

Summer Program For Homemakers

Any girl who has had one semester of homemaking in high school is eligible to carry on a summer project, or series of projects and thus earn one-half affiliated high school credit during vacation months, it is announced by Miss Rhita Jean Sullivan, homemaking instructor.

Projects which may be selected with this in view include clothing construction, yard beautification, home improvement, meal preparation, meal preparation and service, gardening, canning, care of children, home care of the sick, Miss Sullivan said.

In addition to credit earned, the instructor points out that these projects provide opportunities for improvement in skills in doing various kinds of work, afford a worth while manner in which to spend a part of leisure time and offer social entertainment of a high type. Group meetings and individual conferences will be arranged for girls who participate.

All girls who are interested in the summer program are asked to attend a meeting to be held in the homemaking department of the high school at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon, April 30.

FLY-BY-NIGHTS—Forming the second and third steps of a basic aerial formation, the echelon, these flying officers of Randolph Field, Texas, with Aviation Cadets as passengers, race through the darkness as they blaze a course across the Texas sky. While night formation flying is not a part of the course at the huge training center, this flight demonstrated to the Cadets what is to come when they move on to an advanced school and eventual "wings" and an Air Corps commission. It's ticklish business for the beginner, but Randolph's flying instructors can "put 'em where they want 'em," guided only by their wing-tip lights.

Forewarned, Forearmed—

HOW TO FIGHT GARDEN INSECTS

Control of vegetable damaging insects is not difficult, Hall County gardeners are informed by Cameron Siddall, A. and M. College Extension Service entomologist, providing a few simple rules are followed.

A duster may be obtained for a dollar up, but it's quite easy to make one at home with a tin can, a stick, and a piece of cheese cloth. The county agent will be glad to tell you how it's done.

Next, have a ready supply of insecticides for use at the first sign of insect injury. These are cryolite for control of bean beetles, cucumber beetles, cabbage worms, and other insects which feed upon the fruit and foliage of plants; rotenone and sulphur to control tomato fruit worms, flea beetles, plant lice, and leaf hoppers; and concentrated pyrethrum dust for squash bugs, stink bugs, and harlequin cabbage bugs. Watch your garden for the first sign of injury and dust both sides of leaves.

Apply poison bait late in the afternoon for control of cut worms, grasshoppers, and adult wingless May beetle, or June bug. Poison bait also will control mole crickets which frequent sandy soils.

A bait made of cryolite, finely chopped carrots or turnips, and wheat bran will control the adult vegetable weevil which attacks roots and foliage of carrots, turnips, radishes, and beets, together with cabbage, mustard, and other leafy vegetables. This pest prevails in 30 or 40 counties adjacent to College Station.

To control the bluish-gray pill bugs, or sow bugs, which damage young tomato plants, sprinkle a mixture of two parts flour, two parts sugar, and one part paris green throughout the beds. Flea beetles, also dangerous to these plants, may be controlled by dusting plants with rotenone and sulphur each seven to ten days.

Cantaloupes may be protected from the striped cucumber beetle, which feeds beneath the first small leaves, by dusting with cube or derris powder of four per cent rotenone content, or with cryolite at ten day intervals as long as beetles are present.

Production Credit Men in 6-County Meet at Plainview

Methods of Keeping Loans Sound While Helping Farm War Effort Are Discussed

"Good management methods for making money and then retaining some permanent benefit from it will enable farmers and stockmen to materially improve their financial position this year," according to R. B. McMurry, who attended a conference of executive committee members of six Panhandle Production Credit Associations in Plainview, Thursday and Friday, April 16 and 17.

McMurry, Tom B. Berry, Carl W. Crump, and Ralph Howe represented the Memphis PCA at the conference.

Control of Weed Growth on Range Pastures Urged

Conservationist Recommends Mowing When Weeds are in Bloom as Practical Method

The unusually large amount of rainfall during the past year has made growing conditions almost ideal for grass on range and pasture lands in Hall County Soil Conservation District, but the same conditions have also made things favorable for rapid growth of weeds in the pastures, according to B. F. Parsons of the Soil Conservation Service.

"In view of the nation's demands for the production of an almost unprecedented amount of beef for the 'Food for Freedom' program, most ranges and pastures will be heavily grazed this summer," the conservationist says. "The range grasses cannot make their maximum growth unless the weeds that compete with them for moisture and fertility are kept under control," he continues.

"Weeds growing on pasture land use just as much soil moisture and plant food as they do if growing in cultivated fields, and are just as harmful to the grass plants of the pasture as they would be to the field crops. Not only do weeds make a fast growth and take more than their share of the soil moisture, but they become so high that they shade the grass and thus hinder its growth," he continues.

The conservationist recommends that special efforts be made this spring and summer to keep weeds under control on pastures. He states that mowing the weeds before they have an opportunity to become too large or go to seed is the most practical method of keeping them under control.

"The best time to mow weeds is when they are coming into bloom," he states. "Of course, it is not possible to mow all the weeds as they are coming into bloom, but the mowing should be regulated by the weeds that are making the thickest and rankest growth in the pasture."

Attend Wheat Quota Marketing Meeting

D. A. Neeley of Memphis and R. A. Eddleman of Estelline, members of the Hall County AAA Committee, County Agent W. B. Hooser, and Millard P. Brown, county ACA secretary, attended a group meeting at Childress on April 15 for a discussion on the coming referendum on wheat marketing quotas.

County agents, AAA administrators, and committee members from Donley, Collingsworth, Childress, and Hall counties attended the meeting. Also discussed were defense work and phases of the 1942 AAA program.

The referendum on wheat marketing quotas will be held Saturday, May 2.

Burlington Lines

The FORT WORTH and DENVER CITY Railway

THE Fort Worth and Denver City Railway has been serving Texas since 1882—sixty eventful years during which it has played an important part in the development of North Texas.

between Texas and Colorado. Trackage rights were obtained in 1925 extending the railroad's operation to Dallas.

Indigenous to Texas, the Fort Worth and Denver City was organized and incorporated in 1873 by a group of pioneer residents of North Texas, including Major K. M. Van Zandt, an officer in the Confederate Army and subsequently Commander in Chief of the Confederate Veterans of the United States.

Since the turn of the Century, the Fort Worth and Denver City has acquired or constructed many additional lines serving North Texas, including the Wichita Valley Lines to Abilene, Spur and Waurika; the South Plains line to Lubbock and Dimmitt, and the Denver Northern from Childress to Pampa, a total of about 600 miles of railroad.

Operation of the railroad between Fort Worth and Wichita Falls began in 1882, Harrold was reached in 1885, and Quanah in 1886. In 1888 the Fort Worth and Denver City was joined with the Colorado and Southern Railway at Texline, establishing a new, direct transportation artery

While the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway is proud of the part it has played in the development of Texas and the West, it is more interested, during these hours of crisis, in providing adequate and dependable transportation for the Army and Navy, and the civilian producers upon whom the country's fighting forces depend for supplies and equipment.

THE GREEKS HAD A WORD FOR IT

ALMOST 2,500 YEARS AGO a Greek gent by the name of Demosthenes admonished his fellow citizens "that your affairs are amiss, men of Athens, because you do nothing that is needful." Demosthenes enjoyed quite a reputation as an orator, and he was a patriot as well. He used some very straight talk trying to arouse his compatriots to concerted action against the threat of conquest by Philip II of Macedon, who was the Hitler of his day. In one of his speeches, Demosthenes said: "But he (Philip) saw well that these places are the open prizes of war, that the possessions of the absent naturally belong to the present, those of the remiss to them that will venture and toil. Acting on such principles, he has won everything, and keeps it, either by way of conquest, or by friendly attachment; for all men will side with and respect those whom they see willing and prepared to make proper exertion. If you will adopt this principle now, men of Athens, though you did not before, and every man where he can and ought to give his service to the state, he ready to give it without excuse, the wealthy to contribute, the able-bodied to enlist; in a word, plainly, if you will become your own masters, you shall then with heaven's permission recover your own, and get back what has been frittered away, and chastise Philip."

Doesn't that sound like some present day United Nations leader exhorting his people over the radio to buckle down and whip the Axis. Substitute Hitler or Tojo for Philip and Americans or Britons for Athenians and it fits our case pretty well, don't you think? And that part about gaining back "what has been frittered away." Couldn't it apply either to the British or Americans in the loss of Malaya and Singapore or the Philippines?

Herr Hitler did not invent the principle of "divide and conquer." Philip of Macedon was an adept at it. He nibbled at an Athenian colony here, alienated an Athenian ally there and kept up an almost constant tirade about Macedonian minorities being mistreated in Greek territory. And it worked just as well then as it has for Hitler.

Demosthenes, who was nobody's chump, saw the danger quite clearly and he employed his most brilliant oratory to get his countrymen to stir their stumps and do something about it. Unfortunately, the Athenians didn't pay much attention to him, comparing in that respect to too many Americans today. They called him a militarist, a war-monger, and the Greek equivalent of a "fraidy cat." There were appeasers and isolationists in those days, too, and they said it would be easy to "do business" with Philip.

When the Athenians finally awoke to their danger, it was too late. Philip and his Macedonian phalanx, ancient version of the panzers, swept everything before them.

The point in all this is that history has written all the lessons needful for any nation, if these lessons were but heeded. Appeasement, isolationism, complacency have never resulted in anything but defeat, disgrace and downfall, and they never will.

"Every man where he can and ought to give his service to the state, he ready to give it without excuse" is just as good advice to Americans today as it was to Athenians in the year 352 B. C. It is to be devoutly hoped Americans will heed it better than did the Greeks.

A scientist claims to have traced the origin of man back to a fish. Could that be why he is so often referred to as a "poor fish"?

The heights of absurdity (or something) in censorship: The Fort Worth Star-Telegram issues a 188-page special edition on the completion of the Consolidated Aircraft Corporation's new plant at Fort Worth, even showing pictures of the type of bomber that will be built there. Thirty miles away and on the same day, The Dallas News, in an Associated Press story, refers to the bomber plant only as being "somewhere in the southwest."

VICTORY

Excerpts from the Official OEM Bulletin

By the new building stop order, the order streamlining women's fashions, and by other limitations, the WPE continues to emphasize that we have just one project now—and that is to produce, to smash our enemies beneath the metals and materials we are transforming into weapons.

Last month, we spent more than three billion dollars on the war program, and of that amount, more than two and a half billions went into munitions and war construction.

Thus, the United States is now producing weapons at a rate of about 20 billion dollars a year—or almost as much as the total national income was in 1932, the bottom year of the depression.

All this means that we shall have to accept a lower standard of living in America, for the time being. But no American is in any mood to quibble about these sacrifices as long as we get the planes and tanks, guns and ammunition to our fighting men in Australia, in Ireland—or wherever they may be in this vast, world-wide war.

Effective May 1, cigaret manufacturers are forbidden to use lead foil for cigaret packaging. Lead also is prohibited in buttons, costume jewelry, novelties and trophies.

The country's 2,351,000 golfers are affected by a WPE order curtailing the construction of golf clubs. In fact, the order will stop manufacture of these soon, for it cuts off the use of iron, steel and other critical metals, plastic and cork for golf clubs. Use of crude rubber for golf balls was forbidden last December.

One way to "get in the scrap" on the home front is to have a good spring house-cleaning. That is the suggestion of the State Salvage Committee which points

Food For Victory—

It is important that the quality of the milk produced is improved while the quantity is being increased for home use or for manufacturing purposes. These suggestions will help:

Since a sick cow cannot produce milk fit for human consumption, the herd should be kept free from disease.

A clean, dry milking place does not cost much and it is worth a great deal. Consequently, a concrete milking floor is recommended. The job of milking under convenient, unsanitary and unsatisfactory conditions does more to disgust people in the dairy business than any other one thing.

Here are other steps in producing clean milk:

All pails should be kept clean and sterilized just prior to milking. Following each milking the pail should be rinsed with warm water, then thoroughly washed with water containing an alkaline washing powder instead of soap. The pail should then be rinsed and put away until the next morning.

Before milking, rinse all vessels with chlorine water made up of 100 parts of chlorine per million parts of water. Instructions are furnished by manufacturer. Take some of this chlorine water to the barn.

Brush the flanks and udder. The first step in cleaning a cow before milking is to use a stiff brush to clean off the hair about

IMPROVED QUALITY OF MILK SUPPLY

Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of articles dealing with the Food for Victory campaign prepared by material submitted by County Agent W. B. Hooser. This is a continuation of last week's article on dairy production, and discusses improvement in milk quality.

Does Damage
Heavy rain and hailstorm fell here Sunday afternoon causing considerable damage to small trees and fruit trees and other things. The hail continued to fall approximately 45 minutes but larger stones of bird eggs fell for about an hour. The hail was caused for some time, causing damage to overflow and run into the dwellings. The home of W. A. Morrison was flooded in their homes. The hail was estimated at between 1/4 and 1/2 inches here but was probably heavier north of which caused this area to be

Greetings Soldiers!
There are a few soldiers from here stationed here and there over the U. S. A. and each week the folks at home mail them The Democrat after it has been read at home, and according to reports, the boys really like to get a word from home via The Democrat. There might be one or two that would "by chance" read about what happens at Newlin, and if there should be, Greetings to you! We, at home, think of you and wish you the best of luck. Remember that the folks at home are praying for each of you.

Our Seniors
Presenting a short history of each of the 10 graduates from Newlin who are among the graduates of the class of '42 at Estelline. They are Lewis Cobb, Lacy Crabtree Jr., Elwanda Collins, Wanda Davis, Roy Lee Gresham, Edward Koening, Frances Kinard, Lillian Nelson, Terrell Read, and Cecile Laverne Solomon.

Of the five outstanding students in the class, four of them were from Newlin and are: Valedictorian, Lewis Cobb; salutatorian, Wanda Davis; Edward Koening made the third highest grades for the entire four years; Terrell Read made fourth.

Roy Lee Gresham was born June 17, 1823, to Mr. and Mrs. Ben L. Gresham at Newlin. He started to school at the age of 6 with Miss Sinclair Rice as his first teacher. He finished grammar school at Newlin and started to Estelline High School at the age of 14. He has been active in football and other sports throughout the entire school years. He has majored in vocational agriculture and has his room at home decorated with 25 different ribbons and awards for entries in stock shows with his prize hogs and sheep and has had several grand champions in hog shows. This year he won grand champion on some prize sheep. Roy is 5 feet tall and weighs 175 pounds, has brown eyes and black hair and a ready smile and friendly manner that makes him easy to know and makes friends with everybody. Roy plans to enter Tech at Lubbock for the fall term and major in vocational agriculture.

Ernest Edward Koening was born to Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Koening at Paradise on September 4, 1924, moved to Newlin with his parents at the age of four and started to school at the age of seven in Newlin with Miss Ruth Cooper as his first teacher. He finished grammar school at the age of 13 and entered Estelline High School in 1938. He has been active in various sports and won fly-weight boxing title on 1938-39 boxing team. He was active in football all four years and received a gold football for being the outstanding player on the '41 team. Received Lone Star Farmer degree in '41 for work in vocational agriculture. He participated in several plays during high school, was vice president of the junior class, president of the FFA this year, and vice president of the Lettermen Club. He ranks as third in senior class and is in "Who's Who in Texas High Schools." Edward will continue his school work by enrolling at Tech in Lubbock for the summer term in June. He is 5 feet and 1 inch tall, weighs 160 pounds, has black hair and blue eyes, and has a pleasing personality.

Patriotic Biddy Lays Striped Egg
Perhaps the hen was feeling particularly patriotic that day. Anyway, Mrs. David Hall of the Lesley community reports finding an egg laid by one of her biddies which was striped in two tones. Other than the peculiar striping, the henfruit was not unusual, neither larger nor smaller than the average. Now, if the hen had thoughtfully stenciled some stars.

Letters from Boys in the Service

Floyd "Big 'Un" Melton, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Melton of Memphis, has completed his training and is now a second class hospital apprentice in the United States Navy, stationed at Corona, Calif. Floyd writes about how he likes the Navy and the place where he is located. His letter follows:

Dear Mother, Dad, and Sisters: I got her last Thursday about 6 o'clock. It is about four miles from the town of Corona and Los Angeles is only about 50 miles away. The place where I stay sure is nice. There are 13 boys and six in the one next to us. We have a shower, dresser, rugs on the floor, and tables to write on. No double beds; just single ones. This place cost $10,000,000 and there are about 700 acres. They are really getting it up in shape. It sure is a heavenly place and the food—you couldn't ask for any better. You go in and get your tray, walk by a counter and tell the cook what you want. He cooks it for you, just like in some cafeteria.

You don't go to bed until you get ready and get up at 6 a. m. I sure do like it here. It's just like home and say, don't let anybody kid you, the Navy's swell. I'll close and I'm looking forward to getting your letters. Tell all my pals and friends hello. William Floyd Melton, Ha. 2, U. S. Naval Hospital, Corona, Calif.

Following is a letter from Pvt. Winfred Rozell, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ragan of the Plaska community, who is stationed at Fort Ord, Calif., but whose outfit will be leaving there shortly. Winfred wants to get a Jap before he comes home.

Dearest Mama and Papa: Just to write a few lines to let you know that we are going to take off from this place. I am not saying whether we will sail or not, but we are leaving this part. We will leave Friday and if we do not sail, will write you the day we leave.

Tell Pete I will see him in Hong Kong, China. Tell him I will be retreating from the north end of the town. He'd better have on his running shoes if he wants to catch me.

Hope you are both well. Tell everybody "Hello." I must close. Mama, don't worry about me. I want a Jap before I come home. With a lot of love, Your grandson, Winfred.

Fraudulent Use Of Social Security Cards Is Noted

Should Not Be Accepted as Checks, Official Points Out

In spite of repeated warnings by publication in newspapers and other means, unsuspecting merchants, service stations, bankers, hotels, even post offices, continue to accept social security as means of identifying individuals seeking to obtain cash or pay bills by check, according to Dewey Reed, manager of the Amarillo office of the Social Security Board.

Only recently, in a Texas City, a merchant called the social security office demanding to know the address of a man for whom he had cashed a check for almost one hundred dollars, and this in the face of the fact that less than sixty days ago, and numerous times previous to that date, local newspapers had published warnings that social security numbers should in no case be accepted for such purposes.

Reed emphasized that the Social Security Board has made a pledge to all working people that the records of each individual secured at the time of the issuance of the social security account numbers would be regarded as confidential. "This pledge," he continued, "has been kept to the letter regardless of our sympathetic feeling for victims of persons who have obtained social security account numbers by unauthorized means and are using them fraudulently."

The purposes for which social security account numbers are used are to identify the wage records of workers in order to give each worker proper credit on his old-age and survivors insurance ac-

Sgt. Barber Visits Memphis Relatives

Sgt. John T. Barber, who has recently completed an intensive training period at Boise, Idaho, arrived in Memphis Saturday to visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Barber, and sister, Mrs. W. H. Hawthorn.

On December 7, the date of the attack on Pearl Harbor, Sgt. Barber was on a ship three days out of San Francisco en route to the Philippine Islands. The boats were turned back and after a period at San Francisco, Barber's outfit was stationed at Bakersfield, Calif.

After his 30-day furlough, Sgt. Barber will report to Portland, Ore., where he will attend a primary air training school. Upon completion of this course, he will receive his wings and be commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Army Air Corps.

How to take care of Your Electric Refrigerator

More older models should be oiled every six months. Those with belts should be checked and new belts installed if needed. Condensers in all models should be cleaned once a year. Defrost at regular intervals, allowing the ice to melt rather than using an ice pick. (There's danger of punching a hole in the metal or freezing coil.) Close the door quickly after putting in or taking food out, using care NOT to touch rubber insulating seal around door with greasy hand. (Grease causes the rubber to deteriorate.) Let food cool before putting in refrigerator. Be sure that motor shipping bolts are fastened to prevent damage in transit when moving to new location. Be careful with ice trays—it's difficult to get new trays of any kind. Wash inside of refrigerator with baking soda and water whenever defrosting to prevent food odors.

How to take care of Your Electric Washer

Don't overload the washer, or use it to wash out just a few small pieces unless necessary. Drain immediately after using. Rinse thoroughly. Rolls and frame of wringer should be wiped dry. Release pressure on rolls when not in use. Leave cover off tub until all dampness has evaporated. Cord should be wiped dry and carefully wound on hooks. In using wringer, take care that no objects are left in pockets or metal buckles are allowed to scar or nick the rubber rollers.

How to take care of Your Electric Range and Small Appliances

Plan menus so that entire meals are cooked at the same time in oven or thrift cooker. In top-burner cooking turn burner to low as soon as boiling begins. Be sure to turn burners off when through using them. Don't allow liquids to boil over onto the cooking coil. (Metals in coils include copper and magnesium oxide and are hard to replace.) Wash outside of range with warm soapy water when cool. Food spilled over on surface cooking coils should be burned off. Wipe oven with damp cloth and remove food spillage after it cools.

Take good care of your small appliances because parts are becoming hard to replace. For example, the bristles in your sweeper come from China—or did. Not any more. And rubber belts and cords. You know about rubber and copper. Even electric elements in all appliances and switches for lamps are becoming scarce. So take care not to abuse them. All lamp and appliance cords should be handled a bit more carefully. Keep them off the floor if possible so they won't be trampled, knotted or kinked, causing the rubber insulation to break.

How to take care of Your Electric Water Heater

No special care is required for an electric hot water heater. If properly installed, you can forget it. It will take care of itself. But be sure the thermostat is set to give the correct temperature. Keep it in operation all the time. (Since it's automatic, turning it off and allowing the water in the tank to cool, then reheating it, uses more current than continuous operation.) If you live in a section where the water is extremely "hard," it occasionally may be wise to have the heating element taken out and the lime deposit removed. Other than this, there is nothing for you to do except don't waste hot water by letting it run down the sink.

year the cow gave birth to a single calf, but last week she jumped back into full production by giving birth to another set of twins—making a record of four sets of twins and one single. The cow by the way is ten years old. In these days of high cattle prices, a whole herd like her would be a gold mine for the owner.

What all of America has for months been hoping for, came to pass last Saturday. U. S. fliers bombed Tokyo and other Japanese cities. General MacArthur has been given orders to take the offensive in the Pacific, and we may expect some action soon that will make the situation a little bit different to what it has been since the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Be sure to attend the patriotic rally at City Park next Sunday afternoon. There will be plenty of action, and it will be an event you will not soon forget.

While in the attending mood, why not attend church Sunday?

Some of the residents of Memphis are worried. They have planted Victory gardens, and now their neighbors' chickens are scratching up the seeds and plants.

The gardeners do not want to make their neighbors sore, so they have asked me to call attention of said neighbors to the fact that they should keep their chickens leashed. There is an ordinance against letting chickens run loose in Memphis. For the aid of every one trying to do his bit in the war, let's not let our chickens spoil all efforts to raise something at home.

The other book of instructions is called officially "The Plan for Trade Registration" and gives directions for registering retailers, wholesalers, boarding house keepers, institutions such as hospitals, asylums and orphanages, cafes, hotels, bakers, and soft drink makers.

Since these trade registration forms require much technical information, OPA officials emphasize that trade registrants should obtain the forms from local rationing boards beforehand and fill them out, so that during the two-day registration period, April 28 and 29, the trade registrant will need only to go to the high school and sign the application before a registrar, to obtain a sugar purchase certificate.

"The importance to the public of the May 4 to 7 registration," McCullough pointed out, "is that a person who fails to obtain War Ration Book One not only will not be able to buy sugar, but will also be deprived of other commodities that may be rationed later."

Superintendent Davis urged that individuals study the application form shown in this issue of The Democrat and have the information required when they come to register. It is preferable, he said, wherever possible for wives and mothers to do the registering, as they are more likely to be conversant with the information needed.

perintendent, attended a similar meeting in Paducah Friday. Hall County rural school teachers were given information on the registration at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night at Deep Lake.

Announcement is made this week by Superintendent Davis that registration for the Memphis School District will be held at the West Ward and Junior High School buildings, with all teachers assisting as registrars. No classes will be held Monday and Tuesday, the major part of the registration task is expected to be completed on those days. Davis urges that every person who can possibly do so attend to this important matter during the first two days. He stated that, while school work will be resumed Wednesday morning, arrangements will be made to register all who appear on the last two days, May 6-7.

The superintendent has received copies of pamphlets containing full instructions for those who will conduct both registrations. These pamphlets are being mailed to school officials from the office of Max L. McCullough, regional director for the Office of Price Administration, at Dallas.

One pamphlet, called officially "The Plan for Distribution War Ration Book One," gives instructions for the state and county ration administrators, local ration boards, city and county superintendents of schools, school site administrators and for the registrars.

The other book of instructions is called officially "The Plan for Trade Registration" and gives directions for registering retailers, wholesalers, boarding house keepers, institutions such as hospitals, asylums and orphanages, cafes, hotels, bakers, and soft drink makers.

Jack Srygley, Grace Wilson, Mae Simmons, Dalton Hendrickson, and Marie Nelson.

She was born April 12, 1876, in Palo Pinto County, near Mineral Wells. She was married to W. J. Foster January 24, 1895. A pioneer of Hall County, she moved here with her family more than 31 years ago. At the age of 27 she was converted and became a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Survivors are her husband; five sons, Jesse and Ira Foster; five grandchildren, Jack, John Ira, Jo Anna, and Shirley Dorcas Foster, all of Memphis, and Earl Foster, who is in the U. S. Navy at Norfolk, Va.; one great-grandchild, Linda Kay Foster, also of Memphis. All were present for the funeral with the exception of Earl Foster, who was unable to attend.

Also surviving are three half-brothers, Ben Birdwell of Fletcher, Okla., Jack Birdwell of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Ernest Birdwell of Dallas; one half-sister, Mrs. Nora Nix of Fletcher, Okla., and one sister-in-law, Mrs. Cordelia Birdwell of Mankins, Texas.

Out of town relatives and friends attending the funeral included Mrs. Cordelia Birdwell, Clyde Birdwell of Mankins, Okla., Mrs. Iva Hobbs, N. M., Ben Birdwell, Walter Falls of Frederick, Okla., and one sister-in-law, Mrs. Cordelia Birdwell of Mankins, Texas.

house, only about half of which can be salvaged, according to M. C. Allen, compress manager. About 1,000 bales of cotton in the shed were wet by the rain, and will have to be dried out, but were damaged only slightly. Allen estimated the damage at $1,000.

Other wind damage consisted of branches ripped off trees in parts of the city.

Rainfall in the Memphis area came in spurts as clouds boiled up from the northeast, but the fall was comparatively light. According to J. J. McMickin, the precipitation recording was only .23 of an inch during the afternoon.

Heavy rainfall and hail was reported from the Estelline area. Some reports said hailstones were as large as hen eggs, with some damage to roofs and car tops. A good rain fell over the Turkey and Leedy areas, it was said, but the fall was lighter around Lakeview. A big rain was reported to have fallen at Newlin.
