TOM CONNALLY TAKES OVER CAMPAIGN

Senator Connally To Conduct Campaign For Re-Election

Special To The Democrat
DALLAS, June 19.—United States Senator Tom Connally returns to Texas immediately following the adjournment of Congress, and will take personal charge of his campaign for re-election for a second term in the Senate, J. P. Rice, of Dallas recently appointed state-wide campaign manager for the Texas junior senate announced here today.

Connally will deliver half a dozen or more addresses, one or more in each section of the state, in which he will review his record in the senate and give an accounting of his official actions to his constituency in Texas, Rice said.

"I have just returned from a motor trip of 8,000 miles made during the past few weeks into every section of the state," Rice said, "I find the sentiment for Senator Connally so overwhelming that there can be no doubt that (Continued on page 8)

Lives As Mother Dies In Pact

Survivor of a suicide pact, Miss Margaret Bott, 23, above, was found unconscious on a Chicago suburban beach, her mother's body beside her. The women had tied themselves together and walked into Lake Michigan to drown, fearing that a major operation which the daughter faced would prove fatal.

PRESIDENT SEES CONGRESS ON WAY HOME

To Put Into Effect New Powers Given Him Recently

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 19.—Awakening today to find congress enroute home, President Roosevelt set aside much of the next two weeks to put into effect new powers given him.

He leaves tonight for New Haven, Conn., to receive a degree from Yale university.

Definitely on his calendar today was an appointment to sign the bill to make silver a part of the metal that backs American currency.

U. S. WILL JOIN IN TEXAS FETE

Committee To Investigate How Far Federal Government To Go Financially In 1936

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19.—A special congressional committee directed to investigate the extent to which the federal government should participate financially in the Texas Centennial celebration in 1936, held its first meeting today, selecting Senator Tom Connally as chairman.

Connally said the committee would go to Texas in the autumn and probably hold meetings at Houston and San Antonio, and perhaps at other cities.

TELL OF PIRACY OFF CHINESE COAST

British Ship Robbed; Several Passengers Held For Ransom

By Associated Press
CHEFOO, China, June 19.—The British steamer Shuntien, stripped of valuables, with 26 passengers and officers, arrived at Chefoo today with the story of daring piracy along China's "Spanish Main."

One officer of the vessel was gravely wounded resisting the brigands, who commandeered the ship at 10 p. m. Sunday and held the passengers and crew under pistols for 24 hours.

The Shuntien's captain said the pirates fled in junks and landed in the almost inaccessible swamps of the Yellow river delta, defying the pursuit by British and American warships.

In addition to six British citizens held for ransom, it was learned a Japanese named Yamamoto, reported to be an army officer, was also held captive.

Acid Burns About Face Add Mystery To Doctor's Death

By Associated Press
EL DORADO, Ill., June 19.—Acid burns discovered today about the face and head added further to the mystery of conditions surrounding the death of Dr. Homer L. Meyers, wealthy El Dorado dentist, found slain on a farm near Equality yesterday.

R. S. Martin, funeral director, reported to authorities the finding of bad burns above the victim's left eye and on his left cheek and forehead, while preparing the body for burial.

Two Women Worship In Church 1,016th Time; Are Over 90

By Associated Press
STEPHENVILLE, June 19.—Two women, one the oldest person in Erath county and both charter members of one of the oldest churches in this section, recently worshipped in the Millersville Church of Christ for the three thousand and sixteenth time. The other 24 charter members are dead.

Mrs. H. Miller, 100 years old and mother of the late Louis Miller, novelist, and Mrs. A. Gieseke, who is past 90, are the charter members who worshipped in the little church that once stood on the fringe of the frontier.

TORSO NOT THAT OF U. S. LAWYER

Police Fail To Identify Body Found In Trunk As That Of Agnes Tufverson

By Associated Press
BRIGHTON, England, June 19.—The chief of police at Brighton, after another examination of a woman's torso found in a trunk in the railway station here, said today there is no possibility it is that of Miss Agnes Tufverson, missing American lawyer.

No scars, birthmarks or wounds other than those caused by the removal of head, legs and arms were found, officers said.

The chief said two human legs found in London had not definitely been established as belonging to the torso here.

Helen Hicks Plans To Become Business Woman Golfer Soon

By Associated Press
NEW YORK, June 19.—Helen Hicks, former national women's golf champion, today announced a decision to become America's first "business woman golfer."

She signed a five-year contract with a Chicago concern as adviser in its golf department. For the time being, she does not plan to become a playing "pro."

To Speed Trial In Cigarette Tax Law Violation Charges

By Associated Press
AUSTIN, June 19.—J. P. Hart, district attorney of Travis county, said today that arrangements will be made to give a speedy trial to defendants indicted by a grand jury for alleged violations of the state cigarette tax law.

Claud Pollard, former attorney general, posted a $1,500 bond in each of two cases alleging offenses in connection with the use and circulation of counterfeit cigarette samples. D. H. Willard, Dallas was given $1,500 bond in each of seven cases.

Lunch Grounds To Be Ready for Visitors at Celebration

Picnic lunches will be the vogue here when hundreds of people come to Memphis on Tuesday of next week for the celebration of the county's 44th anniversary. Everyone who comes to Memphis for the day is invited to bring his own basket lunch. A place will be provided by the city for picnic spreads, and the Chambers of Commerce will see that plenty of ice water is on hand.

The celebration is for every person in the Memphis trade territory, including all of Hall county and adjoining parts of every neighboring county.

Old settlers of Hall county will also have a reunion, spending a part of the day in session separate from the remainder of the celebration, but every person within the above mentioned territory is invited and urged to attend the general celebration—and to bring their lunches.

The program and entertainment committee of the two Chambers of Commerce was to meet this afternoon to make final plans for the day, which will be the largest affair of this nature ever held here.

Already boxing matches on the court house square in the morning, shows at the Palace and Ritz theaters from 2 until 4 o'clock in the afternoon and a baseball game at 4 o'clock at Fair park have been arranged. There will be no admission charge for any of these features.

The old settlers, people who have lived in Hall county for 25 years or more, will hold their morning session of speeches and singing at the Carnegie library park, and after lunch will form a Hall County Old Settlers association, the first ever formed in the county.

Lakeview, Leslie And Eli Are Scenes Of Latest Good-Will Tours Sponsored By The Junior Chamber Of Commerce

Lakeview, Leslie and Eli were included last night in a successful booster tour sponsored by the Memphis Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Band concerts were given at all three places, the concerts lasting for about 30 minutes at each place.

The good-will tour was well received at all places and J. R. Jones, head of the trade extension committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and who heads the tours, was well pleased with the trip and with the receptions at the three community centers.

At Lakeview William Russell Clark, secretary of the Senior Chamber of Commerce, made a talk in behalf of the Junior Chamber and extended Lakeview citizens an invitation to attend the donkey baseball game to be played here this afternoon.

R. M. Holt of Lakeview delivered. (Continued on page 8)

NEGRO SHOT TO DEATH HERE YESTERDAY

Second Negro Lodged In Jail Following Fatal Argument

Sigh Newton, negro, about 35 years of age, was shot through the heart yesterday at about 6:30 o'clock at Morningside Addition here, and J. C. Mitchell, another negro, was lodged in the county jail.

Newton, who lives here, was killed outright from the pistol shot fired at close range.

An argument said to have lasted for over a week, climaxed yesterday in the shooting.

Mitchell, a bootblack here, has been placed in jail, awaiting action of the grand jury.

Justice of the Peace W. L. Wheat, who held an inquest last (Continued on page 8)

Claim Bloodstains Found In Trunk In Proderjay Quarters

By Associated Press
VIENNA, June 19.—The newspaper Telegraph today said that bloodstains had been found in the trunk in the apartment of Ivan Proderjay, held for questioning in the disappearance of Miss Agnes Tufverson, American lawyer.

RECOVER BODY OF BOY

By Associated Press

THE SUFFERER?

DONNA of the BIG TOP

by BEULAH POYNTER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When Donna is injured by a fall from the trapeze Madeline arranges for her to be taken to GRANDFATHER SIDDAL'S farm to recuperate. To please her partner Donna pretends to be Madeline. She falls in love with BILL SIDDAL, Madeline's cousin, and though she is ashamed of deceiving Bill and Grandfather she is afraid to tell the truth.

Meanwhile Madeline marries CON DAVID, circus animal trainer, and takes part in the animal act.

Amos Siddal has a stroke. In New Orleans Madeline goes into the cage alone with the Bengal tiger. The tiger springs and she is killed. Renfro discharges Con. He is unable to get work and decides to go to the Siddal farm.

From a nearby town he sends a note to Donna who agrees to telephone him later. Mrs. Planter, now working at the hotel, learns of Con's arrival.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIV

Whatever Mrs. Planter's motive for telephoning to Donna may have been, she was smiling as she hung up the receiver. Not for an instant did she believe the girl did not know Con David was in Lebanon, and the fact that she had pricked Donna's bubble of happiness was worth several rebuffs.

Her hatred for Donna had become an obsession. Although her gossip about the Siddal family had been limited to innuendoes, due to the fact that she had no proof to back up more definite statements, Mrs. Planter had been striving for some means of revenge ever since leaving the farm.

"Give a hussy enough rope and she'll hang herself," she muttered. "Pretending just as if she didn't send for him! Of course she did. I'll bet he's her real husband, and poor Bill—I wish I knew just why she married Bill. Mebbe Amos made out his will in favor of Bill and cut her off. No, that wouldn't do her no good if Bill found out he wasn't her husband. Unless—well, murders have been committed for less. I wouldn't put nothin' past a man who's cruel to pore dumb beasts, even if they are wild, and a woman who shows her figure in public without enough clothes to cover her nakedness."

Mrs. Planter did not really believe that Madeline and Con David contemplated murder, but considering herself a God-fearing, righteous woman, it was necessary for her to have some logical reason for her hatred, and thus she supplied herself with an excuse for her action.

If Donna slept little that night, neither did the former housekeeper. For hours Mrs. Planter gazed over the wreck of Donna's happiness. Sooner or later she would confront the girl and the animal trainer together and then—

Con spent a dull afternoon and a duller evening. When Pete returned and repeated what Donna had said Con decided he would stay in the hotel until the telephone message came. The afternoon hours rolled around but the call did not come. He went down stairs to the office and engaged Rader in conversation, but the hotel proprietor was an inarticulate man, more given to asking questions than answering them, and Con had no intention of explaining his reasons for being in Lebanon until he knew what his reception would be.

Supper over, Con stood outside on the porch and smoked a cigar, vainly waiting summons to the telephone. What little good nature he possessed was sorely tried. He regretted that he had not driven to the farm and confronted Donna without preliminaries.

"If she tries to make a monkey of me," he muttered, "I'll show her where to get off."

Pete's hero worship caused him to join the animal trainer. "Are you going Back to the circus?" the boy asked timidly.

"D'ye reckon Madeline Siddal will ever join up with a circus again?"

"I'm sure I don't know."

"Mis' Planter says 'tain't natural for a show girl to quit and stay quit."

"Who is Mis' Planter?"

"Our cook. She used to work for the Siddals. After Bill Siddal hitched up with Madeline they fired Mis' Planter. Are you going to try and persuade Madeline to come back to the circus with you?"

"I dunno. Paw says it's kinder queer, you bein' here, and thought mebbe that was your reason. She's right pretty, Madeline is, ain't she? But she's queer."

"Queer?"

"Yeah. Stuck up, sort of. Don't pay no attention to anyone and don't even visit folks. Are all show people like that way?"

"Not all." Con moved towards the railing and flicked the ashes from his cigar. "So she seems different than she did before she left home?"

"I dunno about that. I don't recollect her before she went away. Mebbe marryin' blood kin made her different."

"Perhaps," Con stepped off the porch and Pete followed. When Con saw that the small boy was determined to stay with him he started off at a brisk stride down the street. Pete trudged at his heels hoping that some of his cronies would see them. But the streets were deserted, store windows darkened, and most of the street lamps unlighted.

It was after 11 next day before Donna found an opportunity to put through the call. The excitement of the holiday, the hearty meal, and later hours than usual had brought about a reaction in Grandfather Siddal's condition. Before daylight Miss Perkins awakened Bill to ask him to call the doctor.

To save time, Bill hustled into his clothing, took the car and drove post-haste into town. During the hours that followed Donna had been too worried to think of Con David. Even if she had done so she could not have telephoned him with the nurse and doctor and her husband within ear shot.

But by 11 o'clock the doctor had departed Grandfather Siddal was sleeping, Miss Perkins had gone for a walk and Bill was doing belated chores. Donna went into the hallway and took down the receiver. Fortunately she did not know that Mrs. Planter worked at the Commercial house or she would have hesitated longer and been more fearful. Knowing the gossip's facility for collecting news, she did not even wonder how she had learned that Con was in town.

Pete Rader answered the telephone. When Donna asked for Mr. David he chirped, "I'll get him right away. He's upstairs."

Though the telephone was in a booth the door did not close properly and anyone in the office could hear a portion of the conversation taking place. Since the day before Mrs. Planter had made frequent opportunities to be in the front hallway or office, hoping for a chance to talk to Con or at least get a good look at him. Consequently as Pete darted out of the office he again came face to face with the former housekeeper. Mrs. Planter was carrying a pad and pencil to jot down the list of vegetables and meat she needed for the day.

Pete's haste knocked both out of her hand.

"You might look where you're going," she mumbled angrily.

"Couldn't. I'm in a hurry. Mr. David's wanted on the telephone."

Mrs. Planter clicked her false teeth together and went into the office. "Mr. Rader," she said, crossing to the desk, "if you've got a minute I'd like to check up on this here grocery list. Seems to me Nadel's has charged for more than three dozen eggs and that the butcher—"

She leaned across the register, resting her bony figure in such a fashion that a glance now and then towards the door would appraise her of Con's entrance.

Rader was a penurious man. While it was against orders for his "hired girls" to hang around the office, if Mrs. Planter was trying to save him money he could overlook a breach of rules. He adjusted his spectacles on his knobby nose and peered at the pad she offered. And he said nothing after the accounts were added to his satisfaction, when the woman crossed to the window and, under pretext of looking outside, stooped listening to what Con said over the telephone.

There was no need for the eavesdropper to hear Donna's words, for Con's replies gave all the information she needed.

"Con?"

"Yes."

"This is Donna."

"It's about time. What's the idea of holding me up?"

"I couldn't phone before. I wasn't alone and my husband—"

"Jealous, eh? Well, listen. I want to see you. Shall I come out there?"

"Oh, no! What do you want? What brings you to Lebanon?"

"You, of course. If I can't come to your house where will you meet me?"

"I—I don't know. I really shouldn't meet you at all. I—I don't want to seem unfriendly Con, but—well, you see Grandfather—er—old Mr. Siddal is very ill—"

"That's one of the reasons I'm here."

"I don't understand."

"I think you do. I'd like to meet

Ladies Hair Work Is Specialty At Local Barber Shop

Women in Memphis and Hall County have been quick to appreciate the type of barber and hair work done by Leon Randolph, proprietor of the Service Barber Shop and this line of Mr. Randolph's business has grown to such an extent that he now enjoys a good business from this source. The preference for Mr. Randolph's work has not come "over-night" but has been gradually built up over a period of years, he pointed out this week. "The fact that women who are particular about their hair cuts continue to come back and bring their friends with them speaks well of the quality of our work," he said.

Although Mr. Randolph makes a specialty of ladies' work, he does not neglect his men customers, it was pointed out. He and Paul Blevins, who is employed at the Service Barber Shop, are conducting a first class Union barber shop, and are well experienced in all type of barbering.

Mr. Randolph is no stranger to the Hall county public, since he has been barbering in Memphis for over eight years.

"I don't see how it can be arranged. He's bed ridden."

"Why can't it be arranged?"

"He doesn't know anything about you, Con. And Bill—my husband doesn't like circus folks and—"

"I see. I expect to stick around a while. Maybe he'll like me when he knows me."

"Con, what's come over you? Didn't Madeline tell you?"

"She told me a lot. Now listen, I don't want to be nasty. You've always been ace-high with me—you know that—even if you did throw me over. And there's a story to that needs some explaining. I haven't come all this way without a purpose. You'd better see me and see me quick! If you don't I am coming out there. Where do we meet?"

"I can't meet you now. If you'll wait—"

"I've been waiting almost 24 hours. Where do we meet?"

"There's a cemetery adjoining the Baptist church. I'll try to be there."

He chuckled. "A cemetery at the Baptist church! A typical trysting place for hick lovers. What time?"

"Tomorrow if I can make it. At noon."

"No, today. It's 11 now. I suppose you've a car?"

"Ye—es."

"At three then."

"Oh, Con!"

"I'll expect you at three in the cemetery. Don't fail me." He hung up the receiver, giving her no chance for refusal.

Mrs. Planter ducked out of the office as Con David opened the door of the booth.

Quality Of Cream Much Better Since New Law In Effect

An increase of more than 50 percent in the quality of cream being marketed in Memphis has been noted since the passage of a state law demanding a grade test on all butterfats, according to B. O. Kelly, proprietor of the Kelly Produce, 702 Noel Street. "Generally speaking, all cream that we have bought since we began grade tests on the first of June has been of a higher quality, and the majority of it has shown a marked increase over the quality before the law went into effect," he said.

The grade tests is made on a basis of cleanliness. First grade cream is defined as being "clean, free from objectionable flavors and odors and free from foreign materials," and a two cent premium is paid for this grade over the second grade creams. Second grade cream must contain "not less than 25 per cent butterfat" and cream containing less than this percent, or containing "objectionable flavors, odors or foreign materials" is classified as very little third grade cream has been brought in since the passage of the law, Mr. Kelly stated.

Extreme care is taken by Mr. Kelly and his employees in the grading of cream in order to conform to the law, and yet give each customer a fair and impartial test and grading. "We find that customers as a whole appreciate the value of such a law and are doing everything possible to raise the grade of their cream and receive the benefits of the premium paid for top-grade" he said.

The Kelly Produce also buys poultry, eggs and hides, offering top prices on these products at all times.

Rube Sisk Coffee Shop Serves Only High Quality Food

Most cafes and coffee shops serve an inferior grade of coffee, because they can buy much cheaper in large quantities, but this is not true at Rube's Coffee Shop, located in the Memphis Hotel building on the northeast corner of the square in Memphis. This modern and well-managed establishment serves only the best grades of coffee, often featuring White Swan and Maxwell House brands. "We have found that although it is a little more expensive than the cheaper brands, it pays us in the long run to give our customers the very best possible at all times" Rube Sisk, manager of the Memphis Coffee Shop, told a Democrat reporter yesterday.

Three waitresses are employed at the Coffee Shop to assist in serving customers. Eight tables and a large white marble counter are attractively arranged in the large eating place, where it is possible to seat as many as 50 persons at one time.

THE NEW FIRESTONE HIGH SPEED TIRE FOR 1934

Greatest Tire Firestone Has Ever Made

WORLD RECORD BROKEN!

IT IS almost inconceivable that human ingenuity could build tires that would withstand the terrific punishment of the 500-mile grind at Indianapolis, May 30.

'Round and 'round the blistering track they streaked, hour after hour, under the blazing sun . . . the low moan of powerful motors rose to a terrific roar as they hit the straightaways at 150 miles or better—grinding, pulling, pounding around treacherous tire-destroying curves faster than they ever dared before. Sliding into the turns at these terrific speeds, there was nothing to hold the car to the track except the tire.

Mile after mile, lap after lap, greater and greater heat and increased centrifugal force developed to separate the tread from the body of the tire. Every conceivable force known was working to tear the tires to pieces—yet Firestone High Speed Tires, with Gum-Dipped High Stretch Cords, withstood this most gruelling test.

Thirty-three demons of speed—thirty-three cars equipped with Firestone High Speed Tires—all protected by Gum-Dipped High Stretch Cords—entered the Annual Speed Classic. Every tire was bought by the driver or owner of the car.

In all the heat—in all the grinding—in all the straining and pulling—not one cotton strand loosened—not one life was endangered by tire failure—not one car was forced out of the race by tire trouble. Six of the winners finished without a tire change.

What a tribute to the Extra Strength—Safety and Durability built into Firestone High Speed Tires.

WHAT THIS MEANS TO YOU

The amazing record of Firestone dependability at Indianapolis was made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping. This Gum-Dipping process is used only by Firestone. Every fiber of every cord in every ply of the tire is saturated and coated with pure liquid rubber; there are eight extra pounds of rubber to every 100 pounds of cotton cords. This is the most valuable rubber that goes into the tire, but you pay no more for it. It is your assurance of extra safety, extra blowout protection.

Firestone High Speed Tires withstand the terrific racing speeds because they are built with Gum-Dipped high stretch cords which provide an extra margin of safety. This extra margin of safety is built into the Firestone High Speed Tires that you buy from your Firestone Service Dealer or Service Store.

There is greater adhesion between the plies of the Gum-Dipped Cord body and between the body and the tread. As a result of this patented process of Gum-Dipping, Firestone engineers have been able to build a wider tread of flatter contour, with more and tougher rubber and deeper non-skid, giving you more than 50% longer non-skid mileage.

MAKE THIS TEST YOURSELF

Note how the rubber in a Firestone Tire clings to the high stretch Gum-Dipped cords. This greater adhesion and strength is made possible by the Firestone patented process of Gum-Dipping.

Note how the rubber in an ordinary tire pulls away from the cords that have not been soaked and insulated with rubber. This causes friction and heat within the cords, resulting in separation.

Seeded Stars Advance to Semi-Finals in City Tennis

DELAYED TILTS TO BE PLAYED TODAY

Defending Champion Sets Pace During Early Rounds

Three seeded players advanced into the semi-finals of the city tennis championship tournament according to form yesterday afternoon, while the doubles bracket completed first round play.

Alfred Burks, the defending champion and top-ranking star, reached the semi-final round with the loss of only one game, defeating Harry Delaney, 6-1, 6-0.

In Lower Bracket
Irvin Johnsey, seeded second, and Kennon Hillyer, the fourth-ranking player, occupied semi-final places in the lower bracket. Johnsey had trouble eliminating Russell E. Baldwin but turned the trick in straight sets, 7-5, 6-2. Hillyer lost only one game in winning from Hubert Dennis, 6-0, 6-1.

The top-seeded doubles combination of Burks and Eugene McElreath went to the semi-final with a 6-0, 6-1 victory over Russell MacMillan and Allen Grundy.

Meet No. 1 Team
J. D. Griffin and Johnsey occupied a place opposite the No. 1 team by defeating Dennis and Delaney by the same score, 6-0, 6-1. In the lower bracket, Harold Walker and Jack Norman went into the semi-finals opposite Rabb Harrison and Baldwin, who upset the second seeded team of Kenneth Oren and Hillyer in the first round. Walker and Norman downed Max Nail and Carl Nuhn, 6-3, 6-4.

Catch Up Today
Today's play at the Memphis Tennis club will be given over to two singles matches to bring the fourth player into the semi-final round, and to first round consolation play.

In the regular bracket, Harrison and Griffin have a pre-round match yet to be played. It will be called first at 5 o'clock. Later in the afternoon, the winner will be sent against Oren in order to bring the division up to date.

Consolation Play
Singles consolation play puts Delaney against Nail and Grundy against Baldwin in the singles, with Dennis drawing a first round bye.

In doubles, MacMillan and Grundy go against Dennis and Delaney and Nail and Nuhn play Oren and Hillyer.

Baptist Young Men Oppose Loafers In First Game

This afternoon at 5 o'clock the Baptist Young Men entertains the Loafers to open play in the newly organized Junior City Softball League.

The game will be cut short in order to allow members of the teams to compete in the donkey baseball game at 6, according to Managers Willie Alexander and Eb Sittion. It is scheduled for nine innings, but will be terminated before six o'clock if it has not been finished.

Manager Alexander announced his batteries to consist of Jack Norman and Ronald Metlon. Norman is a pitcher of some merit, holding that position on the Christian team of the senior league. Sittion announced that Gordon Walker will pitch them to either Olin Rehels or Andy Hill.

WRANGLERS AND BUSTERS TO WRANGLE AND BUST DONKEYS IN BASEBALL BATTLE TODAY

With Harry Delaney's Burro Busters and Joe Chitwood's Donkey Wranglers as the "goats," donkey baseball comes to Fair park this afternoon at 6 o'clock.

Proclaimed the "craziest and funniest game in the world," the tilt will go five innings. It is being sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, with the proceeds to go to the Black and Gold band.

Admission is 10 and 25 cents. Eleven specially trained burros will be used in the game. All of the fielders are mounted, with the exception of the pitcher and catcher, who are not allowed to field the ball, except in his specially allotted circle.

Large circles are used for bases. A runner is safe if and when he manages to get one of the burros' feet into the ring.

The fielders must ride to the ball when it is hit, jump off and make the throw and remount. He does not throw while astride his steed; neither can he chase the ball on foot.

The batter hits while afoot, but he must mount and ride to first base, or second, or third—wherever the burrow takes a notion to go, if he goes at all. The animals are trained for this sport and are used for no other purpose. They know many tricks (no donkeys pull the same tricks) and it is said they will do exactly as instructed by their trainer. The runner, therefore, never knows what he is getting into.

A huge crowd is expected when this novelty tilt gets underway.

HARRY GRAYSON

Had not the necessity of earning a living become so stringent in his youthful years, Olin Anthony Dutra, the mounting and mountainous Portuguese who captured the national Open golf championship, might have attained corresponding prominence in baseball, swimming, horsemanship, or as a billiardist.

Back in the good old days when Dutras, Mortie and Olin, and the five little Espinosas, Abe, Al, Romie, Henri, and Ray, roamed the hills of the countryside near Monterey, Calif., Olin Dutras displayed all the qualities of a natural-born athlete.

Al Espinosa, now professional at the Portage Country Club, Akron, soaks of his boyhood chum with pardonable pride. The Dutras and Espinosa are distant relations. Their homes adjoining and overlooked glistening Monterey Bay. They graduated from the Monterey high school. None of them went to college.

"Olin was a huge boy with gangling arms and powerful legs," says Al Espinosa. "Even then one would have known that he would have the largest hands and feet of any modern tournament player. He loved to do things that tested his prowess."

"He filled in at all positions on the sandlot baseball club with equal ability. He swam magnificently. He rode broncos bareback with the best of them. And when he grew a bit older, how he could make those ivories click."

Career Delayed By Lack of Finance

But golf, a source of bread winning, occupied too much of the attention of the Dutras and Espinosas to permit what other capabilities they may have had to become pronounced. They took to caddying at the old and windswept Del Monte course, near Monterey. It was there that they obtained their first instruction. Jim Melville and then the veteran Peter Hay gave them all sorts of helpful hints. Four of them, Olin and Mortie Dutra and Al and Abe Espinosa, went on to write history in major tournaments.

The start of the professional career of Olin Dutra was delayed for some time as he found it necessary to accept a job in a Fresno hardware and sporting goods store. The current holder of the most coveted crown in the ancient and honorable game has two fine children, a boy of 9, and a winsome miss of 7.

Practice Putting In Stubble-field

Dutra always has been a stickler for details. In his early years he spent hours experimenting. He watched the good players hit their shots; tried their technique, and added it or discarded the knowledge as it fit his natural style.

"As caddies we spent our spare time in a hayfield knocking the ball through the stubble," smiles

Presbyterians Swamp Christians To Move Back to First Place

With a vicious, powerful hitting attack, the Presbyterians yesterday swamped the last-place Christians 11 to 3, and again moved into a deadlock with the Baptists for number one position in the league standing.

A large number of Christian errors added to the Presbyterian attack. Altogether the victors collected 16 hits, six of which were doubles. Three Christians also hit for doubles. Carl Melear was the only batter to collect more than one hit for extra base, he getting three.

"Snooks" Andis, Burleson, and McNally were the leaders of the Christians' weak offensive. Andis, Maddox, and Mitchell starred for the losers on the defense.

The first five Presbyterians in batting order were the big contributors for that side. They were, namely, Lampkin, Grundy, Thompson, Melear, and Packer. They also showed up well on the fielding department, as did the whole team.

Thursday it is the Baptists' turn to treat the Christians.

Olin. "We planted tomato cans as puns. Whenever I face a difficult putt now on an undulating green, I think of those old stubble-field days and say to myself, 'At least this surface is smooth.'"

"While Olin has improved the technique of his swing he has developed, there is little difference between the free and easy way he hit the ball as a boy and the way he hits it now," explains Al Espinosa.

"Horton Smith is the only player I know who equals Olin with a niblick," beams Brother Mortie.

"You may be something else by ancestry, but there's man a drop of Scottish blood somewhere in your family," Tommy Armour told Dutra, after he had snatched a 69 from the teeth of a 40-mile-an-hour wind to start the U. S. Open at Fresh Meadow two years ago.

Macdonald Smith calls Dutra "the golfer without a weakness."

Heralded as such by professionals who saw him before he first became nationally prominent two years ago, Olin Dutra, "potentially the greatest shotmaker in the business," finally has arrived.

Spoiler

A new star has risen to grab the spotlight in British tennis. She is Peggy Scriven, above, who recently defeated Helen Jacobs, U. S. No. 1 ranking player, to win the French women's singles crown at Paris. She is on the way to a greater career than that of Mme. Suzanne Lenglen, it is predicted.

MONDAY WILL BE DERBY DAY AT AMARILLO

Many Race Fans Of Entire Panhandle To Be Present

Derby Day at the races in Amarillo next Monday, June 25, will bring together some of the best 3-year-old thoroughbreds in the entire Southwest American Red, a horse that was once considered for the Kentucky Derby this spring, will head the list of great horses entered in this event. American Red will soon go to the major tracks where he is expected to hold his own with most of the present crop of colts.

Plans are being made to make Derby Day here one of the year's greatest events and to lay a foundation for the continuance of the running here each spring.

There is nothing hippodrome about the Tri-State meeting. The jockeys are first class riders, most of the horses are registered thoroughbreds, and the officials in charge are known throughout the world of racing for their ability.

Besides the Derby, six other races will be run Monday in a grand ending of the nine days' meeting.

The races have been successful in every way. Thoroughbreds from many states have vied for glory and cash purses. Patrons have kept up a steady file to the pari-mutuel windows to buy certificates on their favorite bangtails. The races will be held every day with the exception of Sunday until Monday night.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SECRETARY

THE DEMOCRAT wishes to join many others in congratulating the Senior Chamber of Commerce upon the selection of William Russell Clark as its new secretary, succeeding J. Henry Read, who resigned recently to become acting postmaster here.

Mr. Clark was selected over two other applicants, which made the honor greater since both of the others are well fitted for the position and are outstanding civic workers.

While we believe any of the three would have made an excellent secretary, we also believe that the selection of Mr. Clark to this responsible position could not have been improved on.

For seven years as a resident of Memphis, Mr. Clark has been associated with many civic and other enterprises of a constructive nature. Throughout his life here he has been devoted to public service.

Having kept abreast of all enterprises planned for the advancement and development of Memphis and Hall county, he is well prepared for beneficial service in his present position. And since this service has long been utmost in his mind, he is ready to give himself over entirely to this work, looking at all times to the good that he might render the community as a whole.

PARENTS SHOULD KNOW WHAT YOUTH THINKS

A REVIEW of reports from all over the country, covering the views of boys and girls being graduated from high schools, should be more embarrassing than surprising to the generation that is passing.

For although those reports reveal a seriousness toward life which we older persons used to feel in our teens, they also point to the fact that youth today is much more frank and liberal and sophisticated than their parents cared to be. And it is in the matter of the relationship between the sexes that this freedom of thought and expression is most prevalent.

Only recently a prominent lecturer before high school students and parent-teacher associations finished a speaking tour of the country, in which she collected a number of highly illuminating questions that the girls and boys put to her—in writing, of course—after each of her talks.

The questions revealed a frankness, a seriousness, an endeavor to know what life is all about, that opened the eyes of even this experienced lecturer.

For instance, she found that the great majority of girls asked her about the mysteries of marriage and childbirth.

And the boys asked why they must not pet, why girls can't be as good sports as their boy friends, and why parents must always know what their children do when they're out late.

In other words, the general run of questions seemed to direct both a challenge and an indictment toward the older generation. The challenge—that youth today stands as ready to face the problems of life as their parents did in their day. The indictment—that fathers and mothers have failed, as did their own parents, in the proper mental and physical development of their children.

It is most embarrassing to find youngsters of high school age revealing the fact that they have been thinking things that their parents had planned to tell them some years hence. It is embarrassing, too, that these youngsters should go to a stranger for information that their parents should have given them.

But it is encouraging and stimulating to know that youth does think seriously along a line that promises a much better generation to come.

Whistling through the graveyard is nothing to what some of the candidates for governor are doing. One of them says in a poll by a newspaper in a Central Texas county with a voting population of perhaps 20,000, he received 137 votes, and because no other candidate received that many votes he is sure he will carry the county.—Henrietta Independent.

Of all the unheard of things in the way of pardons, Governor Ferguson springs a new one by issuing a proclamation that Bob Silver will be pardoned in 1936, about 18 months after she leaves office. That is absurd, and if allowed to stand, the Governor could issue pre-dated pardons to every man in the penitentiary before retiring next January. Clint Small says that if he is elected, the Silver so-called pardon will be revoked. It is about time that Texas elects a Governor who will treat criminals as criminals treat members of society.—Canyon News.

HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
 Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

The mind of man predominantly demands study.

The dynamic psychology of Sigmund Freud, the investigations into behavior, the adjustments of human relationships do much to assure greater happiness in the future.

The efficiency engineers have accomplished marvels for industry increasing output, shortening the hours of work, and making simpler the task of every worker. Yet you, as a human being, are still a mass of living tissue, highly complex in construction and dominated by a mind which may at the same time represent you soul.

If the advance in the science of medicine has established any one fact, it is that no two human beings are alike and that your retention of the status of the human being as an individual is of vital significance to you in times of suffering and disease.

The 19th century marked the beginnings of research. The 20th century finds mankind accumulating information faster than it can use it. The 21st century should find order introduced into chaos and more health and happiness for all.

Problems of distribution in medical care make it difficult for many people to avail themselves of all that medicine now offers. It seems vital to establish the fundamentals of good medical care and to assure every individual of at least these fundamentals.

For centuries the service of the medical profession to the poverty-stricken has been proverbial as the fulfillment of human ideal. A profession with thousands of years of such traditions behind it must keep this point of view for the future.

The medical profession is capable of developing plans whereby the magnificent service that it can render will become increasingly useful to greater and greater numbers of people.

In the great Century of Progress exposition of the 21st century, medicine again, no doubt, will be outstanding in its contribution.

We shall see the majority of mankind approximating the three-score years and 10 which is the normal biological cycle of man. We shall see a beginning of some control over reproduction of the unfit and the degenerate.

 HARRISON served from March 4, 1889, to March 3, 1893. His grandfather was William Henry Harrison, the ninth president. Wyoming's constitutional suffrage to women came when it was made a state, July 10, 1890, although as early as 1869 Wyoming's first territorial legislature extended the vote to women. The revenue cutter service, organized by act of Congress, operated under the secretary of the treasury, and for six years and 11 months formed the only U. S. armed force afloat.

 More infectious diseases will be eliminated. The bodies of little children will be better nourished. The better utilization of more leisure time will decrease the nerve strains and stresses now associated with both mental and physical breakdown.

The frontiers of disease move onward as the control of diseases makes progress. Germs change their nature. New generations of men lose their immunities of the past.

New machines, new chemicals, and new methods of living bring new hazards, which must be investigated.

The medical profession is a forward-looking, eternally vigilant, and ever hopeful body of men to whom science is a god and service an ideal.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 The Democrat's Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 19.—The brain power of the Brain Trust still goes unmeasured.

Secretary Wallace has been heard to suggest that Dr. Rex Tugwell hasn't any more brains than some of the other fellows who run AAA—though he credits the young man with the warmest, most sympathetic heart.

More light on that point might now shine if the senators who took Tugwell over the jumps before the Agriculture committee, prior to his approval as under-secretary of agriculture, had been competent to match wits with the handsome smooth professor from Columbia.

"Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina, Byrd of Virginia, and Bailey of North Carolina led the assault. They floundered about in a maze of Tugwellian quotations and the doctors' verbal answers on the spot, tried vainly to put words in his mouth, made heated stump speeches in sheer desperation, and spent so much time hickering and getting all mixed up that Tugwell didn't have to be brilliant—not even once.

He needed to be only cool, patient, polite, and helpful. He might as well have left his brains at home.

The whole silly show was terribly unfair because the brighter committee members—Norris of Nebraska, Bone of Washington, and Wheeler of Montana—were on Tugwell's side and had fun shooting barbs into the exposed hides of his critics.

Painful sensations of the latter began when "Cotton Ed" learned to his surprise that Tugwell's "dirt farming" experience compared favorably with his own.

Bailey said at one point that he "couldn't see much difference between a scientist and a politician," but others could.

Quite a few people who think Tugwell is too cocksure, too ivory tower, too supercilious—or worse—were badly disappointed.

Rivalry Crops Out
 Behind Smith's attempt to block Tugwell's confirmation is his rivalry with South Carolina's other senator, Jimmy Byrnes, Smith, gruff, rugged, walrus-mustached and on the verge of 70, has been in Washington 25 years—sharing with Fletcher of Florida the longest service record as a Democratic senator.

Byrnes, an ex-representative, fast on his feet, still in life's prime, was elected to the Senate only three years ago. But when Roosevelt took office Jimmy Byrnes turned out to be the administration's fair-haired boy in the Senate, a liaison man with the White House.

Tech Enrollment Is Record For Summer

Special To The Democrat
LUBBOCK, June 19.—With 1,511 students registered for the first summer term at Texas Technological College, all records for summer school attendance have been broken. This represents practically a 50 per cent increase over the first term last summer, when 1,082 registered. The previous high mark for first term enrollment was in 1932 when 1,368 enrolled during the first term, 143 less than have already enrolled this term.

Tom Connally—

the people of Texas are unwilling that he should be penalized for remaining at his post of duty, loyally supporting the President of the United States and aiding in the perfection of the New Deal, instead of leaving his constituency unrepresented in order to further his personal political fortunes.

"My contacts with thousands of Texas citizens in every walk of life during my recent state-wide tour have convinced me thoroughly that the people of Texas are overwhelmingly supporting President Roosevelt and his program for the recovery of our nation."
