INTEREST GROWS IN SANTA FE PROJECT

On the LEVEL a column by William Russell Clark

Keeping pace with the past is as arresting as keeping up with the present. I have never been able to attempt to live over the days that have sunk into passive oblivion.

A chance word, a forgotten phrase, a bit of laughter, a snatch of song, the games of children often focus upon the imagination a fleeting glimpse of a time that was and can never be again.

UTILITIES COMPANY WOMEN HAVE MEET AT CHILDRESS

Women employees of the West Texas Utilities Company in District 10, which includes Hall, Donnell, Collingsworth, Wheeler, Motley and Childress counties, held their regular monthly meeting last Saturday at Childress.

The women were given a luncheon at the Childress Hotel, which was followed by a program in which the study of lighting, eye conservation and economics of utilities were taken up.

Shaw Will Return To Amarillo Work

To Assist in Revival Beginning September 21, Mr. Shaw will have charge of the singing and personal work in an evangelistic campaign to be conducted by Dr. Arthur Long at the First Christian Church at Lubbock.

Fisher Will Leave City October 26th

Lester W. Fisher, minister of the Seventh and Brice streets Church of Christ for more than a year, has tendered his resignation to become effective on October 26, according to local church officials.

During the most of the summer months, Mr. Fisher has been away from this city engaged in evangelistic campaigns. He is expected to return to Memphis from this work some time next week and will continue to serve the church until October 26.

Government Cotton Classer To Locate Here This Season

A government cotton classer will be located in Memphis by the Dallas office of the Texas Cotton Cooperative Association, a subsidiary of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, under the supervision of the Federal Farm Board, according to E. M. Ewen.

Of Advantage to Farmers The work of this cotton classer, Mr. Ewen pointed out, will be of distinct advantage to all farmers who bring their cotton to him, as they will be paid for it at once in place of having to wait for the period of a week to a month for (Continued on page 5)

TELEGRAMS AND LETTERS SHOW ENTHUSIASM

Believe Securing Of Permit From I. C. C. Merely A Detail

Interest is growing daily in the project being sponsored by the Memphis Chamber of Commerce to induce the Santa Fe to consider the construction of an extension of its lines from Canadian through Memphis to Sweetwater, declared J. Henry Read, secretary, in an interview given to The Democrat yesterday.

Intense Interest Shown "Every town and city that will be affected in the event Santa Fe officials agree to the new construction is registering intense interest in the proposal," Mr. Read said. "Encouraging telegrams and letters continue to reach my office, and in every instance other chambers of commerce believe the plan feasible and sure of ultimate success. No other project attempted by the Memphis Chamber of Commerce in the last few months has made such apparent rapid gains in interest and possibilities."

Route Line Will Take The proposed line, as Col. C. T. Matkin, chairman of the railroad committee of the Chamber of Commerce, sees it, would likely run from Canadian through Moberly, McLean, McKnight, Memphis, Hulver or Parnell, Matador, Roaring Springs, Dickens, Spur, Claiborne, Rotan and Roby to Longworth, on the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railway, about 15 miles north of Sweetwater.

By building to Longworth, trackage into Sweetwater would be provided, since the Orient is now owned by the Santa Fe. The total construction would be approximately 270 miles. The Memphis Chamber of Commerce, however, is hopeful that the line could run from Memphis through Lakeview, Turkey and Whiteflat to Matador, in (Continued on page 4)

(Special To The Democrat) CLOVIS, N. M., Sept. 11.—Captain Frank Burns of the Wildcat football squad is leading 47 aspiring candidates for the 1930 Clovis High School football team through stiff workouts each afternoon this week in an effort to be in readiness for their first game at Memphis September 19.

A Team Hard to Beat Coach R. K. Staubus said today that although his men this year were much lighter and less experienced than last year's team, which captured the state championship (Continued on page 5)

MAJORITY OF RURAL SCHOOLS IN COUNTY TO OPEN LATE IN FALL

According to County Superintendent Theodore Swift, the majority of rural schools in Hall County will not open until later in the fall, as the school children are busily engaged at the present time in gathering cotton. This policy of late openings was decided upon at a recent meeting of the trustees of the various districts.

Masterful Sermon Preached By Youth

B. F. Shepherd, Jr., delivered his first sermon at the First Christian church last Sunday night to the largest congregation that has ever filled the auditorium of the new church. B. F. chose as his subject, "Youth in the Church," and directed his remarks especially to the young people of high school and college age.

Stokes of Vernon, who is the presiding judge of the 47th judicial district. Judge Stokes exchanged benches with Judge A. J. Fires. He returned to Vernon Tuesday afternoon and court was adjourned until Friday.

LEAF WORM HAS INVADED SOME DISTRICTS

County Agent Thomas Tells How To Fight Cotton Damage

County Agent E. W. Thomas told The Democrat Wednesday that unless the farmers in the area of Hall County, where cotton is now being attacked by the leaf worm, take immediate action toward protecting the cotton, serious damage is almost sure to result. At the present time, Mr. Thomas pointed out, damage appears to be confined largely to the area between Memphis and Lakeview and south toward Lodge. This area also has the best cotton in the county. Burglar Ransacks Mac Tarver's Home

The home of Mac Tarver was entered by a lone marauder some time Tuesday night between the hours of 9:30 and 11:00. Entrance into the dwelling was effected through a rear window. When Mr. and Mrs. Tarver returned home shortly after eleven o'clock, they found that the entire house had been ransacked. Nothing was found to be missing except a coat and some keys belonging to Mrs. Tarver. It was stated that the coat was found near the house Wednesday. Arriving at home late Tuesday (Continued on page 5)

United Charities Fund Is Depleted From An Almost Constant Drain

The condition of the United Charities of Memphis was made known by Dr. J. Hardin Mallard, president of the organization, this week. He stated that the United Charities have been without a secretary and treasurer since Chas. Webster turned over the books with his final audit at the beginning of his vacation almost two months ago. The books have been moved to the County Treasurer's office and have been temporarily cared for by Dr. Mallard.

Funds Fall Below $200 In speaking of the condition of the organization, Dr. Mallard said: "The funds have now fallen below the $200 mark and the calls for help are increasing at a time when it was expected and believed that calls would be few. Most of the requests for help are coming from people who have never before asked for aid and who have been good substantial citizens of the community."

Three Union Shops Cut Price Of Work

The three union barber shops in Memphis have announced a reduction in all barber work to become effective immediately. Announcements to this effect have been posted in each of the union shops. The standard price will be 25 cents for all barber work, which includes shaves, haircuts, tonics, shampoos, massages, and steams, and anything else in the barber line.

The cut in prices has come about as the union barbers' contribution in helping conditions to readjust themselves. It is believed that the public will appreciate receiving high grade barber work at a reduction in prices. The same quality of work will be given as heretofore, the only change being in the price paid for it. The three union shops which have made this reduction include the Greenhaw Barber Shop, the Southside Barber Shop, and the J. O. Johnson Barber Shop. The price of 25 cents will remain in effect indefinitely.

Memphis Day To Be Wednesday, Sept. 24 At Tri-State Fair

Word was received this week from Wilbur C. Hawk, president of the Amarillo Tri-State Fair that Memphis day at the exposition will be Wednesday, September 24, rather than Friday, September 26, as previously announced. A special invitation has been extended The Democrat for the editor to make a short radio address over Stations WDAG and KGRS on Memphis Day. The invitation has been accepted and the address will deal primarily with the resources and advantages found in living in this section.

JUDGE STOKES SPEAKS AT ROTARY LUNCHEON

Judge N. W. Stokes of the 46th Judicial District with headquarters at Vernon was the principal speaker at the Rotary club meeting Tuesday at noon. He was introduced by Sam J. Hamilton, and spoke interestingly on the subject of "Judicial Reform." He pointed out the court procedure that made the business of trials lengthy and oftentimes tedious.

He stated that holding court was a business just as any other enterprise is, but the difference is that the court is bound by tradition, opinions and the English common law, whereas other businesses are not. He insisted that judges should be given more freedom and that a superior court would do away largely with the expensive practice of jury service, especially in civil cases.

Agriculture Will Be Big Feature Of Fair In Amarillo

(Special To The Democrat)

AMARILLO, Sept. 11.—With new exhibitors announcing daily that they will display their products, every indication is that the 1930 Tri-State Fair exposition at Amarillo, September 22 to 27, inclusive, will far outstrip any similar exposition in the history of the Panhandle. That is the enthusiastic prediction of Wilbur C. Hawk, president of the Fair association.

Stressing Agriculture

"Anyone obsessed with the idea that this great country of ours is suffering any so-called 'depression' will soon have his mind changed when he witnesses the fine types of agriculture produced in this area this year," says Mr. Hawk. "As usual, we are putting great stress upon the agricultural feature of the Fair. More farmers than ever before will show their products, both individually and with their respective county exhibits."

This year for the first time, the automobile show will be held in the newly completed $25,000 automobile building. Already all space has been sold in this building and dealers are going to distributing centers as far away as Kansas City to get the very latest models of their respective cars.

$18,000 For Premiums

More than $18,000 has been set aside for premiums for the 1930 Fair, one of the greatest premium lists ever offered at any Texas exposition. Of this amount $5,000 will go to the Hereford cattle division alone. Noted breeders of the Panhandle who have never before shown their fine blooded stock are expected to be right in there competing for this prize money.

Midway Attractions

Of course there will be Beckmann & Gerety's "World Best Shows" with 20 shows and 14 rides, which will be the main attraction on the midway. There will be a rodeo every afternoon. At night Ernie Young's musical extravaganza "Spanish Nights" will hold the center of attraction.

Here and There IN SPORTS

BY ADRIAN ODOM

The Cyclone will play their first game at Spur Friday. This is not a regularly scheduled game, but was arranged by Coach Walter last week after Spur had met the Pampa gridsters. This will be a fast game, and as an opener, will show just what the Cyclone has in reserve. Go to Spur. Help the Cyclone win their first game.

Although Spur dropped their game last Friday to Pampa, they gave a fight that the victors will long remember. Pampa will still be feeling the results of that fight for several weeks. Spur has one of the best Class "B" teams in this section of the state, and have been picked for intersectional winners this season.

The Cyclone goes into the game as the underdogs because they have not played a game while the Spur gridsters have seen action, and real action it was. The Cyclone may not win, but they will offer a fight that will be worth seeing. Strong games before the season opens means stronger teams during the conference games. It is better to lose hard fought pre-season games than to take easy victories.

Next Friday, the Cyclone meets another strong team when they go into action here against the grid champions of New Mexico. This too, will be a hard fight for the local gridsters, and, although they may not win, they will be getting invaluable experience. To win this game will add much to the confidence of the players and to the respect of other teams that the Cyclone will meet.

Back the Cyclone, win or lose!

Norman Raney left Monday for his home at Los Angeles, California, after a visit with his cousin, Otho Fitzjarrald. He will stop at Vernon for a visit with relatives.

Misses Johnnie Wilson, Flossie Rogers, Mabel Godfrey, Marietta Martin and Ola Mae Jones visited in Estelline Sunday.

Frank Houston of Childress was a Memphis business visitor Tuesday.

In the Texas League Fort Worth seemed to have a slight edge on the Spudders before the series started. Memphis is leading the Southern Association, and Chicago and Philadelphia will probably meet in the big time.

Football is gradually pushing interest in baseball out of the sport light for another season, but baseball makes its final rush in the headlines as the big series come on. Fort Worth and Wichita Falls are now playing for Texas League honors. The Dixie Series will follow very soon, and the National Leagues have their bout before long.

Ringling Bros. And Barnum And Bailey To Be In Shamrock

Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey, heralded as the greatest show on earth, which is unquestionably true, will give two performances in Shamrock, next Sunday, September 14, at two o'clock in the afternoon and at eight o'clock at night.

Only 5 Ring Circus
The only five-ring circus in the world with a "big top" or main tent seating more than 16,000 persons will this year offer more new and startling features than ever before. Foremost among these is the weird Nabangi tribe of men and women say from Africa's darest regions who will appear for the first time in any civilized land. No people like these have ever before been seen by the average white man or woman and their appearance has been the signal for interest on the part of great scientists.

Sensation of Europe
Albert Powell, a sensation of the circuses of Europe during the past winter, is to be seen in Shamrock with the Big Show. And countless other European novelties have been brought to make of this the greatest circus season in history. Hugo Zacchini, the Human Projectile, fired bodily from a cannon at each performance, will play a return engagement by popular demand and the distance over which he is hurled has been lengthened.

Largest Traveling Zoo
The menagerie of the Ringling-Barnum circus is largest traveling zoo in the world and contains 1,009 rare animals while with the circus there are also 700 horses, beautiful and sleek in appearance at all times. Forty-three giant and baby elephants appear in the Big Show. There are 26 camels and an equal number of zebras. These are but a few of the wonders to be seen when "The Greatest Show on Earth" exhibits in Shamrock on Sunday, September 14.

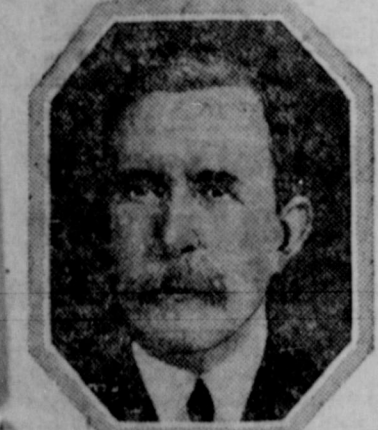

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Williams of Georgetown were guests of Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Hicks Saturday night and Sunday en route home from a vacation spent in Colorado. Mr. Williams is head of the Sociology Department in Southwestern University.

Again Konjola Shows What It Can Accomplish

Prominent San Antonio Man Eager in His Praise of New Medicine

"I'm glad to endorse Konjola who suffer as I did," said Charles Oliphant, well-known San Antonio railroad man, 423 Lamar street, San Antonio.

CHARLES OLIPHANT

"At a year ago I suffered a breaking out on my skin. Little patches of pimples appeared and were called water-blisters. They itched and burned severely, and though I tried many remedies I gained only temporary relief. From Konjola, I gained what I consider miraculous results. The breaking out disappeared within three weeks after I began taking Konjola. I had kidney trouble but the pains in my back and the swelling under my eyes have disappeared also. I feel better in every way and have gained weight. I think Konjola is a very fine medicine."

Konjola is recommended over a six to eight weeks period and is designed to relieve ailments of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis, and syphilis.

Konjola is sold in Memphis, at Barrett-Williams Drug Co., and all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.

No, We Are Not In The Grocery Business Today

Perhaps "50,000 Housewives Can't Be Wrong," as Amarylus flour is advertised, but at least a thousand people who have passed The Democrat office in the last few days are dead wrong. No, The Democrat is not selling flour.

When The Democrat's front show window was dressed with an Amarylus flour display last Saturday scores and scores of people began stopping in the office to ask us if we were selling flour. In order that all minds may be set at ease, we herewith deny the allegation.

The reason for the windowful of Amarylus is simply because it is a creditable product manufactured in the Panhandle, advertised in The Democrat and sold by your local grocer. Waples-Platter Company is the local wholesale distributor.

MALLARD TO CONSIDER CALL FROM JACKSBORO

Dr. J. Hardin Mallard, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, has received unexpectedly an invitation from a former pastor at Jacksboro, Texas, to consider a call to the Presbyterian church there.

Regardless of reports that Dr. Mallard has submitted his resignation here, this is without foundation, as no action has, as yet, been taken on the matter of the call to the Jacksboro church.

Mrs. Lloyd Phillips and Miss Ruby Thornton went to Canyon Tuesday for a visit with friends.

Mrs. Cora Moahier, of 601 North New Orleans Ave., Brinkley, Ark., writes: "I was so constipated until I was just sick. I could not stand to take strong medicine, so I decided I would take Black-Draught, and I found it to be all right. "I would have such dizzy spells, and such bursting headaches, until I could hardly go. But after taking a few doses of Black-Draught I would feel just fine. It is a good medicine, and I recommend it to all who suffer as I did. It is very easy to recommend a medicine that has done as much for me as Black-Draught has done."

Utilities Company Is Selling Stock

ABILENE, Sept. 11. (Special)—The sale of West Texas Utilities Company $6 Preferred Stock, as reported by the Treasury Department of the company at Abilene, amounted to a total of 1,305 shares during the month of August.

Employee-purchases accounted for a considerable number of the shares sold. In April of this year approximately 9 per cent of the regular company employees were holders of stock certificates. At the close of August, 42 per cent of the regular employees were owners of stock. The company has set a goal of 70 per cent employee-ownership for the year 1930.

Employees of the company engage in friendly competition for highest rank in the sale of stock. For the month of August, Taylor Rowe, San Angelo Superintendent, earned high sale honors with a total of 350 shares. Tom G. Wilbur, also of San Angelo, placed second with 158 shares. V. Van Zandt, Santa Anna local manager, 126 shares, and P. P. Shepard, Cisco Superintendent, 46 shares, finished in the order named.

West Texas Utilities Stock has been sold in 40 of the states and the District of Columbia, the Philippine Islands, Mexico, Canada and England, and with each sale of stock has gone forth the message of West Texas—its advantages, its future, and the romantic story of its development.

Miss Mary Ennis Hicks left Tuesday morning for Amarillo where she went by aeroplane where she took an aeroplane for New York where she will teach English in the Greenwich High School.

DON WRIGHT IS WITH NAIL GIN THIS FALL

Don Wright, who managed the Farmers Co-op Gin at Lakeview last season, will be associated this year with Jim Nail in the operation of Mr. Nail's gin, recently purchased from Beaty & Dishman. Mr. Wright will be in charge of the office.

fully and deeply. Years are such terrible things to the young, such precious moments to the old. Terrible they are in that they seem to pass so slowly. Precious, beyond all value, because there is so much to be done when the lamp-light of life begins to wane. Days are golden alphabets to the aged and infirm, but to the young they are merely periods of building blocks of time that tumble down through neglect and disrepair when the play season of life has ended.

Memories command a triumphal exercise of the mind. Without the one, the other is absent. Memories are the cathedral theme song of existence. Without effort, devoid of excuse, lacking in pomp and circumstance, they rise, now and again, in an undeniable refrain linking the ever-living present with the half forgotten past. They keep humanity company through adversity and defeat, prosperity and triumph.

However glorious or gloomy memories may be, they help make all men brothers under the skin. We have run the gamut of human emotions and experiences, and the memory of them makes understanding possible. Memories carry with them and through them the pulsating throbs of a world's heart. We may feel often that it is an unseeing, unfeeling, uninterested world, but if the curtains of human experience could be drawn apart, if only for a moment, the picture that would unfold before us would be primarily the same. Unfolded there would be life, love, hope, ambition, charity, selfishness, selflessness, greed, jealousy, despair, beauty, ugliness—in fact, all the human emotions and feelings.

On rare occasions, I like to go through yellowed albums that tell a story of the far off days of long ago. I have laughed at the poses, at the physiognomy of those depicted there, of certain characteristics caught by the camera. Many of the originals of those pictures have long since embarked upon The Great Adventure. What memories some of the faces recall, and how potent is recollection!

If the memories of the rich and poor, the great and lowly could be combined in one volume, what a wonderful book it would be. They would be different, certainly, but basically the same, just as life has a sameness about it in its great moments. The person I pity most of all is not the one inordinately wealthy or the one surpassingly poor, but the one who looks with disdain upon the practice of going through the lavender and old lace of memories for fear of finding there a bolt of beauty or a pot of gold in the dusty pages of the past.

night, Mr. and Mrs. Tarver found the house in disorder and immediately notified police. The only result of the investigation made Wednesday morning was to ascertain that the intruder had entered the house through a back window. Tracks outside the window showed that only one man had entered the house, and that he was apparently of medium size. Officers are at work on the case, but no arrests have been made, it was stated.

Approved Method Given. St. Thomas stated that, according to R. R. Reppert, Extension Service Entomologist for the A. & M. College, dusting with calcium arsenate is the approved method of leaf worm control, using from three to five pounds per acre. Where dews are not experienced, spraying with the same material, using about two pounds to fifty gallons of water, will be the best method, keeping the mixture well agitated during application.

Paris Green Unsatisfactory. As long as calcium arsenate can be obtained, the advice is given not to use Paris Green, although where necessary, this can be used. In the case of dry dust, the addition of at least four or five parts of hydrated lime to part of poison should be used. In the case of a spray, at an equal amount of the same material should be added. County St. Thomas advised against the use of white arsenic, mixtures of white arsenic and sal soda, or of stock dips. For further information concerning this matter, farmers should see Mr. Thomas.

4 Letter Men Back

Only four letter men will be in the line-up this season. None of them have had more than one year's experience. Several men with more experience, however, have moved in from other towns, and are making strong bids for places on the team.

Plenty of Reserves

Coch Staubus did not state today how many men he would take with the squad to Memphis, but intimated that he would take plenty of reserves to replace any regulars who are injured. His men are going into their first game with the intention of winning what they believe will be one of their hardest games of the entire season.

the money it might bring. The farmers will also be able to sell their cotton on class and staple, something that they have never been able to do before in Memphis, according to Mr. Ewen.

Arrangements Incomplete

Although arrangements have not been completed for the offices of the cotton classifier, Col. C. T. Matkin, manager of the Memphis Compress Company, has offered to furnish an office at the compress, and in all probability, this offer will be accepted. Plans are being made to keep the cotton classifier in Memphis throughout the entire ginning season, and the farmers of the county are asked to assist in making this possible.

have been reduced to $1.50. All reductions are to be in effect immediately. In the ginners section of this issue, the statement appears several times that the price of ginning will probably remain the same as last year. These stories were secured several weeks ago which explains why the statements appeared, for at that time, it seemed to be the consensus of opinion among the ginners that no prices would be reduced.

A meeting of the county board of school trustees has been called for the early part of next week, at which time it will be decided just when those schools not now open for work, will begin their activities.

THE DEMOCRAT'S PROGRAM FOR 1930
(Check Mark Indicates Project Has Been Realized)

1. Less selfishness and more selflessness in the business, professional and social life of Memphis and Hall County.
2. The placing of agriculture on a higher plane, with emphasis being put on diversification, live at home movement, and the cow, sow and hen route to contentment and general well being.
3. A better understanding between Memphis and the towns and communities in Hall County.
4. More respect for city ordinances in connection with parking of cars in the downtown district, observance of fire rules and regulations, and keeping the streets of the city in a clean condition.
5. More general cooperation in all movements seeking the betterment of Memphis and Hall County.
6. A municipal auditorium.
7. More paved streets.

"PEOPLE WHO LIVE IN GLASS HOUSES—"

Our neighbor from up the way, J. C. Estlack, editor and owner of The Donley County Leader, allows a considerable amount of righteous indignation to drip from his pen in writing one of the editorials appearing in his paper under date of September 2, 1930. The Clarendon editor writes under the caption, "Bonds and Poverty," and we quote below what he has to say concerning Hall County:

Hall county presents an object of what may happen to a people when they go "hog wild" on bond issues. At this time members of worthy citizens in that county are asking aid of the government that they may secure food and feed because of a drought period of a few months. Any section of country that is not resourceful enough to tide over one crop failure has no need of a big bonded indebtedness even for road building. If that's the way with our roads, we had better use dirt roads and play safe. We need and want more food and feed first.

No attention would be paid to Mr. Estlack's editorial if it did not depict the situation in anything but its true colors, but since it is certain that some few copies of The Donley County Leader find their way outside the county in which it is published, we cannot allow this insult to pass unnoticed.

Estlack says we have gone wild—hog wild—over bond issues. To begin with, that statement is utterly false. Hall County is generally recognized as the most progressive county in this immediate section of the Panhandle and generally just about as prosperous as any of them. It is true we have voted bonds for good roads. People here have long ago passed that stage of ignorance where they want things as they were thirty or forty years ago. Compare our roads with those of Donley County; ask tourists wherein lies the difference; consult any fair-minded person as to the progressiveness of the two counties—Hall and Donley—and see what the inevitable answer is. Surely, we have good roads, Mr. Estlack. We are proud of the fact. We are only sorry that Donley County has not seen fit to break the traces of backwardness and to try to keep step with other counties in the Panhandle in the onward march of progress.

Commenting further, Mr. Estlack says: "Any section of country not resourceful enough to tide over one crop failure has no need of a big bonded indebtedness even for road building." Again, our Clarendon friend shows his utter ignorance of local conditions. It is not due to our good roads that Hall County is not as affluent and as well off financially as she might be, but to a number of causes: the drought, short cotton crop, poor price for cotton, and general business depression. The trouble with Mr. Estlack is that he is so accustomed to Hall County staying far ahead of Donley County in every way, that he sees a chance to get even by calling attention to the fact that steps have been taken to put the county on a strong financial basis again.

Up in Donley County where most any kind of a cotton crop is a good yield, where time and time again, road bonds have been voted down, where progressive spirits have tried to lead the people out of the wilderness, but to no avail, there comes a modern Moses who attempts to tell Hall County what is wrong. He is sending a few stones down our way, but he had better watch his own windows. They have been known to rattle more than once.

PHILP TO THE RESCUE

It may not be very long until Memphis has a federal building, and then again, it may be a considerable length of time. The last recruit of the formidable number who have interceded with Congress in behalf of Memphis is Hon. John W. Philp, former postmaster at Dallas and now Third Assistant Postmaster General. Mr. Philp has promised to use his influence in getting the appropriation for a federal building here approved during the next session of Congress which convenes in December.

If Mr. Philp is successful, he will be able to do more with Congress than other men who have tried. Our Congressman and at least one United States Senator have put in a good word for Memphis and still no action has been taken. If the federal government is really in earnest and we believe it is, it would be a mighty fine thing to start actual building operations early in the new year. At that time, jobs will be even harder to locate than they are at present, and if local labor is employed, many men will be cared for who would otherwise be without employment.

THE OPENING OF SCHOOL

Last Monday, Memphis Public Schools opened for the new school year. Conditions are such that we believe the year ahead will be vastly successful and The Democrat, on the sidelines, wants to do what it can to further the interests of the schools. We are again publishing the high school section under the caption of "The Whirlwind." As has formerly been the case, the news for this department will be reported by high school students.

Anything that we can do, collectively, or as individuals, to promote the welfare and general well being of the school system, will be undertaken gladly. We recognize the fact that one of the most important institutions in any city is the school system and it is going to take cooperation on the part of all to make the year ahead a success.

Young Memphis Sees Free Show at Palace As Guests of L. E. R. and Hollis Boren

How do you like this bunch of fine looking boys? L. E. R. claims the distinction of having more boys than anyone else in town. Most of them are shown above, although 75 or more arrived too late to get in the picture. The occasion of the stampe on The Democrat, three weeks ago, was the announcement in This and That that L. E. R., through special arrangements with Hollis Boren, owner of the Palace, would give every boy under 15 a free ticket to the Palace if it didn't rain within a given time. Sure enough, it didn't rain, and 264 Memphis boys made L. E. R. keep his promise.

THIS AND THAT

by LER

Next Friday, September 19 L. E. R. will join the multitudes who are trekking toward the cotton field. I have accepted a wager that requires me to pick 200 pounds of cotton from 6 o'clock in the morning until 7 that night.

Because of the condition of this year's crop, Jess Rosenwasser claims I can't pick 200 pounds in one day. I claim I can without a struggle. If I win, Jess has to buy a full page advertisement in The Democrat for Rosenwasser's Emporium, and if I lose I have to buy it for him.

If you are curious to know how a one-horse publisher looks in a pair of overalls picking cotton you are invited to visit me in the cotton patch next Friday. I'll be there—no foolin'. This is all serious. I don't know yet just where I'll pick. I have my choice of farms belonging to Charlie Stout, Ott Bevers and Grover Moss. I originally intended to pick at E. T. Montgomery's, but the recent hail ruined 51 of his 54 acres of cotton, and I'm afraid I couldn't get 200 pounds off of just 3 acres. I'll let you know in next week's paper just what field to find me in.

Jess has very graciously offered to give me a pair of overalls to pick in. I may have to have help to get into them because I haven't had a pair on in 5 years. But I need more than just a pair of overalls. I've got to have a cotton sack, a pair of knee pads, a straw hat, a handanna handkerchief and a plug of good and juicy chewing tobacco. I don't like to hint, but I wouldn't mind at all if five enterprising Memphis business firms would loan me those five items I need. I'll return all of them, except the chewing tobacco, in good shape.

If I fail to pick 200 pounds in 12 hours then I'll admit what Jess contends, that the cotton crop in Hall County isn't so good this year.

I don't know what I'm going to do with that young smart-aleck editor, Deck Wells, who lives in the inland and isolated town of Wellington, and who publishes the Wellington Leader, paper and ink for which have to be hauled over red sand hills by ox cart from Memphis, a railroad center where the Santa Fe will soon cross the Fort Worth and Denver.

Deck just keeps on nagging me. He's very apparently trying to arouse my ire, and he's just liable to do exactly that if he continues adding insult to injury. Here's his latest, appearing in last week's Wellington Leader:

The word book says you ought to spare the fallen foe, but it doesn't say anything about Lyman Robbins. Do you remember the time he gave me such a rawdining because the barbers in Wellington reduced the price of haircutting? He claimed it was an admission of defeat—an admission of hard times. Well, the barbers in Memphis have started cutting prices. One shop advertises in the Memphis Democrat as follows: "Because of existing conditions, we have reduced barber work to—Shave 20c. Haircut—25c." And next to it another shop advertises haircuts at 25 cents because the farmers are faced with a bad season. I wouldn't mention it at all if Lyman hadn't hinted in on my town's business a few months ago. It only goes to show that a person should be careful in criticizing a neighbor, because you never can tell when you may be in a similar predicament. Please notice that I am not saying one word against Memphis, I am simply trying to show Lyman that he ought to talk about his own town and love ours alone. My, my, revenge is sweet. Last week I told you about Lyman trying to hide his disappointment over Memphis' failure to get a railroad by starting a campaign against noise, particularly train noise. Well he is continuing that campaign, proving the truth of my statement, but look what he is doing on the other hand. Here is part of a news item clipped from the Amarillo News: "According to an announcement made this week by Lyman E. Robbins, president of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, a concerted effort will be made to interest the Atchinson, Topoka & Santa Fe Railway to build in this section of the Panhandle." Now I hope Memphis gets that railroad. But that certainly does look like, as far as Lyman is concerned, an example of not letting your left hand know what the right hand is doing.

I suppose even mongrel dogs have to have their day, and Deck seems to be having his. He's just caught me with my back turned—I might as well admit it. I'm at a loss to know what to say in rebuttal. Deck's just trying to make people think that Wellington amounts to something. He's getting worse than Fred Haskett used to be about Childress. About the only way I know to get revenge on Deck is to challenge him to a good, old-fashioned county fight in front of the Santa Fe station—in Memphis.

I'm not going to say anymore about the boy because I really feel sorry for him. Goodness knows it's handicap enough to live in Wellington.

And, oh yeah! I was quite mistaken about Lon Chaney, quite mistaken. He had had two wives. Isn't there some prominent movie star who has been married just once and is still living with his or her first choice?

A Memphis minister had this to say in the course of his sermon last Sunday (ah ha! Proof that I go to church occasionally): "If we had so, we could do without automobiles and Fords." I wonder how he'd classify the new Austins.

Which reminds me that I drove an Austin yesterday, all by myself. I didn't have to have a can opener to get out of it, either, as long legged as I am. Really, there's a whole lot of room in one of those midget gas bugs. The reason I drove one of the bantam cars was to find out if people who ride in them feel as silly as they look. I felt silly, all right, but I couldn't find a thing wrong with the Austin's riding qualities or performance. (Joe Webster is pay-

The Electric Man Explains the New Home Comfort Rate

Initial rate
12¢

2nd rate
7¢

Low rate
4¢ & 3¢

"As I told you last week, the new Home Comfort rate follows the wholesale discount system.

"Simply explained, this is a method of rate structure which divides the investment expense proportionately among customers according to the amount of demand upon the production and distribution capacity of the system, and upon the duration of such demand.

"In an average five room home, the first 4 kilowatt-hours per room, or the first 20 kilowatt-hours, would be at the initial rate of 12c per kilowatt-hour; the following 5 kilowatt-hours per room, or the next 25 kilowatt-hours, would be at the second rate of 7c per kilowatt-hour; all subsequent kilowatt-hours, or all in excess of 45 kilowatt-hours, would take the low additional service rate of 4c per kilowatt-hour, or 3c per kilowatt-hour in homes where service is also used for heating or cooking, one fourth the initial rate.

"Just think of the additional service possible with this new schedule. The normal necessities of your home should use more service than that covered by the first two rates, and then you can operate any of the multitude of time and labor-saving appliances on the Low Rate, or use a large amount of additional lighting service without a material increase in your total bill.

"Next week I plan to tell you more about the advantages of the new Home Comfort rate, so watch for me on the pages of this newspaper."

Dear Erin:

I have time to spare and so many things to tell you about that I have decided to write you a letter or probably you will think it is a book before you get through reading it for I'm going to tell you about all the new fall styles in Memphis since you can't be here to see for yourself. Honestly, I believe I would be telling the truth if I said the Memphis stores have more beautiful clothes this season than I have ever seen before. The quality is better and the prices are reasonable, so reasonable that even we working girls can afford them.

You should see the beautiful flat crepes at Little Mercantile with tiny pleated jabbo fashioned collars and the two-piece suits in both solid colors and prints, all dressed up in bows, buttons and pipings of various colors. Tight hips are all the rage here. One especially struck my eye is designed for the Miss. It was a mingled printed crepe of blue and tan small figures and the material was of excellent quality. The waist was of solid tan crepe and the neck was trimmed in a narrow collar, tied with a red and blue tie. The hips were close fitted with a yoke effect and a row of blue buttons made of the flat crepe down the center of the front. It had the jacket effect in the front and straight lines in the back and the skirt was pleated in the front in tiny pleats. There are so many beautiful dresses in different colors and such different materials that one hardly knows which they had rather select.

Now in the coats, it seems that we must like the high belts and flared skirts for they certainly are going to be good this fall. But the large shawl fur collars are still good and I certainly am pleased with them. Coats made of broadcloth seem to be in the lead. Not only do you find dressy dresses here but the housekeepers can look in the stock at the Little Mercantile and find the prettiest house dresses in the Virginia Harts. New prints, dots and small figures in guaranteed fast colors.

With all these pretty new styled dresses they have gorgeous hats in velvets and felts, hats that correspond in color that you might put them on and be classed with the well dressed women. Even beads, handkerchiefs and purses to match. And in hose and shoes you would be simply carried away with them. Slippers of the very latest styles and leathers.

From there I went on down to Wood Brothers and found the most wonderful bargains in slippers and shoes for the whole family. One Oxford especially that had crepe soles, the newest in sports wear. You could get these in brown and tan. In ladies shoes they carry a very good line in the newest fashions, straight lines, long vamps and high heels.

At Greene's you can get the most beautiful coats, coats that any woman would be proud of. Large Manchurian wolf dog fur collars and fox. Materials used in the majority are broadcloths and velours in black and brown and you can get mountain lynx furs, too. One surely does look classy in them. They have dresses in the cantons, flat crepes, satin back crepes and travellers crepe. Yes, they still have the crepes that won't wrinkle. I saw there one gorgeous black flat crepe dress that was almost plain except for the flared skirt. The sleeves were long and tailored with narrow stitched-on cuffs. But around the neck were rich flower-colored of the blue, yellow and rose—colored wool thread and on a narrow stitched piece down the front of the dress. And when I went to look at the purses, I found just the thing to match any dress that you might wish to put on.

Now the hats in this store were found to be small, close-fitting tailored felts, with small bows, in black, brown or tan. There was one that was long in the back and scalloped around the bottom with only a narrow bow of felt for trimming. But now the plainer the better. There are some that are trimmed in pretty ornaments and some are trimmed in different colored felts.

The gloves are going to be worn long here this winter. Long slip-on gloves of the finest kid and suede that will add to one's class. And handkerchiefs of chiffon with lace for dress wear and tinted shades for sport.

Greene's has an excellent line of hoisery in the newest colors, the allure, desert tan, and meteor instead of the usual gunmetal to be worn with dark dresses. You can buy some of the prettiest beads here too in the crystal, glass in the black and white, and brown pearls.

I am very glad that long vamp slippers are to be worn this winter for some people have such a terrible time getting the long vamp in a dressy slipper but we need not worry this fall. They have them in the best kid, either brown trimmed in tan, or black trimmed in reptile.

I was very anxious to get to Hanna-Pope's and see what they had in the new fall clothes and I wasn't one bit sorry when I did get there, either, for I found some of the most gorgeous coats. Erin, there was one there that I know you would have just loved. It was made of new material called the silver lace trimmed in the American knit fox fur. A cape cut to a V-outline individualized a very attractive sports coat which was richly trimmed with a shawl fur collar of off-shoulder contour, crepe lined.

Dresses are of the cut-away style, some cantons with pleated ruffles and jet buttons. I noticed as I went into the store that they had one of the most beautiful little dresses in the window. The dress was made of canton crepe and the neck was of the cowl effect. The sleeves were of the cape effect, flared skirt, fitted waist and the gaylak trim collar and cuffs.

You remember the Nellie Don dresses that Hanna Pope carries?

You can still get them in very pretty little wash dresses with long sleeves and made sporty for winter. Not only do they carry these dresses in wash materials but they carry them in lovely little sport dresses and even dressy dresses. I'll tell you about two of the sport dresses that especially caught my eye. One was of the canton crepe with a plain scalloped collar trimmed in red and a strip down the front of the same material with a row of buttons as trimming. Tucks make the waist-line fit nicely and the skirt is pleated. The sleeves are tailored. Another one is of the printed Du Ray Kana and the manner in which the collar is woven down the front of the waist makes the dress very attractive. The sleeves are tailored with turn-up cuffs and the waist is slightly bloused. Fitted hip line and flared skirt finish marking the attractiveness of this little dress.

J. R. Jones & Co. carry a beautiful line of dresses, coats, hats, shoes, hose and all the other accessories that you might wish for.

There was one brown flat crepe with deep bloused sleeves and all-over cream lace cuffs, draped neck line with bow tie lined with cream flat crepe and the over-skirt effect. In the sports dresses, I found one black flat crepe suit with the tuck-in effect, fitted coat with black patent belt. Egg-shell brocade waist with accordion pleated ruffle about the neck added much to the beauty of this little dress. They have one bottle green dress with the pleats in the front and back. It has the jacketer effect, button trim with a touch of eggshell in the neck and on the sleeves. The thing most noticeable about this dress was the godette sleeves. In the hats, I found just the exact shade of felt to match this very dress. The hat was poke-shaped with tucked crown and a small bow in the back. There were more hats, too. The black Gage in berett with black grograne ribbon trim. There was one beautiful brown close fit Fay hat with three large gardenias of felt across the back. You also find the divorcee hats here too. For beads and handkerchiefs all you have to do is look through their stock and select those corresponding in shades with the dress that you wish to wear them with. One may buy the very latest styles in slippers here. The long vamps in black kid with baby louis heel and straight line. And the sport slipper in the brown or black. The brown with lizard trim or the black with reptile trim.

At the Popular Dry Goods Company, I found a dandy good looking dress of the brown printed wool crepe with the straight coat. The waist was of the tan with a drape from the shoulder across to the side seam. Large buttons trimmed the front of the skirt about the hip line that was fitted very close and a pleated skirt. One lovely jersey crepe was viewed that would be the very thing for the young Miss who is going away to college. It was the tan and brown princess effect with the brown and tan kid belt and the neck-line was finished with scarf of black, brown and tan crepe and the sleeves were long (Continued on page 3) and tailored with straight turn-up cuffs. To carry out the very new shades of brown they had one lovely brown canton crepe with the all-over ecru lace waist, the ston jacket tied with streamers tipped with pearl ornaments. A close fitting hip-line marked the smartness of the dress with the over skirt and pleated hem line. Medium sized buttons trimmed the V-line in the front of the skirt.

Not only did I find this very complete line of dresses but I found that they carried a line of shoes that were excellent in quality and rated among the first in appearance. Beads were found in all colors and fashions, just the thing to go with any black or brown outfit.

At C. E. Stone's there was a lovely navy blue flat crepe sport dress with a cream satin crepe blouse. A straight ensemble coat added much to the smartness of this dress and made it very practical for the young college girl or even the young Miss in high school. The hip-line was fitted and the skirt was full. A narrow belt was about the waist, giving the tailored effect. For dress wear, I found a beautiful brown flat crepe, just the right size and made just right. The front of the waist was draped and was trimmed with a showing of cream all over lace in the neck. The sleeves were long and tailored and the hips were a close fit with a full skirt. A narrow tailored belt circled the dress just at the top of the wide hip belt. When it comes to hats, you can buy any style or color felt at Stones, blue, brown, black and green. Some were trimmed in wide velvet ribbons and others were trimmed in different colored felts while still others were trimmed in the same colored felt but all having that mark of smartness that every woman or girl wants when she goes to purchase her new fall clothes. On display was a pair of genuine kid slippers of the oxford effect and trimmed in the reptile, were long vamps and high heels and another pair kid pump, straight cut and baby louis heel.

For accessories, nothing could be more beautiful than one of their black georgette handkerchiefs, trimmed in black silk lace about one inch wide and with little designs worked of the narrow crepe ribbon and tiny rosebuds. There were just two of them, Erin, one for you and one for me. I wish every woman could have one just as pretty as these, they would add so much to one's dress.

They also have in their new fall hose in the moonstone shade, a shade between gunmetal and grey. They certainly are lovely and just the very thing for dark dresses and the new slippers.

From C. E. Stone's I went on around my tour and came to Rosenwasser's where I found some wonderful bargains in matron's dresses. For the woman who works in an office or teaches school, there is the tailored dress with pleats in the skirt, a narrow patent leather belt with two silver buckles. The neck is filled in with white flat crepe and the whole material of the dress is a mixture of grey and white.

For the young miss they have a very attractive little dress of the hunter's green traveller's crepe with a short button-on jacket, close fitting hips with tailored pleats in the skirt. The collar was of the hunter's green, egg-shell and cerise flat crepe.

Rosenwasser's have a complete shoe line in the genuine kid with reptile back and front and high heels. Slippers can be had either in the brown or black. They have some of the latest slippers in the college heels both straps and pumps and long vamps. Erin, if you could just see their new boudoir slippers you would want all of them and wouldn't know which pair to pick. They even have bridge slippers in cerise and black crepe. They look like they would be the most comfortable slippers to play bridge in.

At Frank's, on the corner, you can dress the junior miss up to a fare-you-well in their new fall dresses, coats, hats, slippers and even slickers. Tams are still coming in, and some that are simply beautiful. One that they call the Angora really does remind me of the large angora cats, you know the ones that have such awfully long fur. These tams have a mixture of colors in them and makes them all the more beautiful.

Not only can the juniors dress well in this store but the young lady as well. Their dresses are so practical and tailored for the young woman who is working in an office. She can dress in their travellers crepes and be dressed "for the occasion." They also carry a very good line in the latest styled slippers, handkerchiefs, beads, purses and hats.

I stopped and visited Baldwin's on my way and found that they had not yet received their fall coats and dresses but had some very pretty hats and slippers. But even if they had no coats and dresses to show me they had wonderful fall materials. Flat crepes, satins, cantons and woolen materials. Their window was dressed in beautiful crepes in the black, brown and blue and hats that corresponded in color. And the display of accessories set everything off at a good pace.

The Marilyn Shoppe, near the post-office, ended my journey and Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Croft seemed anxious for me to see their new fall dresses. They showed me something that I have never seen before, a genuine buck skin coat in green with the tam to match. Just to look at this suit, dove season with its guns and shells, was suggested and made one wish to put them on and go hunting. You can get these in four colors, green, tan, red and blue.

I found a finale crepe dress there, too, with a collar of the peccot georgette petals and fagoting trim. A balera back added to the beauty of this little dress, with small tailored buttons of the self material, and a full skirt to finish the attractiveness of this garment.

To go with this dress, I found a lovely black felt poke hat with a velvet bow across the back which gave it a youthful line. Also a french felt with a navy gro-gran trim a suggestion of biege grograne, and slightly drooped brim.

The Marilyn has put in a wonderful line of hosiery. The Blue Rose, Sheer Marquissette, Boulevard, Sun Bask, Crystal Biege, Light Gunmetal and Biege Clair. Also the Mojud and Country Club in all fall colors.

But the thing that struck me most was the kitchen pajama suits in different colored polka dots. The hip pockets and large bows in the back of the balkan blouse and the bell bottom trousers.

Memphis' Only Exclusive Ready-to-Wear

FALL STYLES FORECAST COLORFUL NEW SEASON

The so-called "hard times" have little effect on styles of the moment. They come into being regardless of conditions and there are plenty of people in Memphis and Hall County who are ready to take advantage of the unexcelled values offered by local merchants. This year, more than ever before, is a good time to show loyalty to home merchants. The old practice of buying materials and clothing out of the city or from mail order houses should be relegated definitely to the discard, and instead, what purchases that are made should be made in Memphis.

Exceptional Values
To the person of moderate means, and that apparently includes a very large number this season, local merchants have an exceptional line of values. Clothing and accessories are priced right in keeping with the times. New clothes are not considered luxuries by the many, but necessities. A person should try his best or her best to look well groomed and to do so entails some expenditure of money.

Values this season are to be had in every line. Take for instance, men's clothing. Wherever it is sold in the city, you will find that it can be purchased at "live and let live" prices. The same is true in women's apparel and clothing for the boy and girl is equally moderately priced.

To Be Colorful Season
Predictions of local merchants are borne out in their goods and clothing that this is to be a colorful season. So often, the very fact that the fall of the year is upon us and the winter season just around the corner leads designers to follow the rather drab and dull line of colors. This is certainly not the case this year. Color speaks for itself in gowns and suits modishly cut and designed to wear long and well.

OFF TO A GOOD START

(An Editorial)

Our schools had every appearance of getting off to a good start Monday when school took up for the first time in the new year. If all the students were as glad to "be back in harness" again as those in Senior High School, the forecast of a successful year ahead is entirely justified. It felt good to be back in the same old seats in the same old auditorium. We were really happy to see our teachers again and we hope they were happy to see us.

We believe that the mere fact that times are not what they could or should be will make us "buckle down" all the harder to the tasks in hand. We are appreciative of the concessions that have been made in our favor. There is nothing to keep the school year from being the most outstanding in the entire history of the public school system in Memphis.

We are of the opinion that the best way to keep up the showing that was made at the opening of school is to take things as they come, do our best all the time and let the future care for itself. In a comparatively short time, those of us in junior and senior high school will have graduated. The privilege is still ours to enjoy our work and enjoy our play on a fifty-fifty basis. Our parents, our teachers, our friends are expecting much of us. Let's live up to these expectations and really accomplish something that is worth while for ourselves and for those who have confidence in us and want to see us succeed.

Former Editor Of Whirlwind Leaves To Attend T. C. U.

Jerry Sifton, editor of The Whirlwind, during the last school session left Memphis last Sunday for Fort Worth, where he will enter Texas Christian University this year. During the summer months, Jerry had complete charge of the editorial department of The Clayton (New Mexico) News and gained invaluable experience in this work. At T. C. U., he expects to major in journalism.

While a student in high school, Jerry did work for The Democrat for some two years in the editorial department. He has shown himself to have unusual ability in journalism and the prediction is freely made that he will make a success in his chosen profession.

In addition to editing The Whirlwind, Jerry made the Cyclone football squad in his last year in school and took an active part in all school activities. He was a member of the Hi-Y Club and in the cast of the Football Follies both years they were presented. He also took part in the Junior Play in 1929 and in the Senior Play this year.

28 Aspirants For Cyclone Team Are Showing Good Form

Monday morning of last week, 28 aspirants for the Cyclone grid team reported to Coach Nolan Walter for the initial practice. The coach put the boys through some calisthenics and a light workout. With eight letter men back and with the new material that is coming out for practice, Coach Walter hopes to shape up an even better team than the Cyclone squad of last year. Several new players have been added to the list of eligibles and they will offer plenty of competition for a place on the squad.

Promising Group
Hammond and Pearson are the only letter men returning to the backfield this year, although there is a promising group of men to pick for their running mates. J. D. Jackson and J. W. West will be back on end positions. Jewel Meacham, a transfer from Turkey, will offer plenty of competition for a position on the first team.

Two Practices Daily
Throughout last week, the coach sent his hopefuls through two practices daily and the boys are pointing for the game with Clovis here on Friday, September 19. The practice game with Spur Friday of this week should put the "old pepper" back into the team and get the newcomers lined up properly for the games ahead.

New Football Gridiron
The new football gridiron is located at Owl Park, which is one and one-half miles northeast of town. A new race track was installed at the Fair Grounds, necessitating the removal of the football field from that location. The new location is one of the best in the Panhandle. The bleachers are being set up this week and fans are promised some exciting home games this fall. At the present time, prospects for a winning team are very good, but the boys will need the support of every student in the Junior and Senior High Schools, as well as the town, in order to go into the championship class.

Miss Mary Nail left Sunday for Pampa where she will teach in the Pampa Public schools again this term.

Miss Clara Steinman arrived Friday from Fort Worth to resume her duties in the Memphis Public schools.

J. H. Read went to Fort Worth and Arlington Saturday to take his son Ted Read and Homer Shankle where they will enter N. T. A. C. for the coming term.

H. A. JACKSON HAS GREETING AT OPENING

Extends Welcome To Old Students And New In Statement

Superintendent H. A. Jackson, of the Memphis Public Schools, has issued a statement, coincident with the opening of school, in which he extends greetings to the old and new students, the faculty, patrons and the football team.

None More Loyal
Mr. Jackson's statement is as follows: "To the old students, we welcome each one back to the school work and I am sure the faculty will receive good, close cooperation that we have always had in the past. I have never known more loyal students than the ones we have had in the Memphis schools and I expect that loyalty to exist throughout this school year. I am sure I am speaking the sentiments of the entire faculty as we welcome each one of the old students into our system."

"As we are going to have one hour recitations this year, I will certainly be disappointed if we have failures. However, we can always expect a few students to neglect their work and because of this neglect they will fail. I truly hope that the failures will be minimized."

New Students Welcomed
"To the new students of the Memphis Public Schools, they are cordially welcomed into our system, and I am sure that all the old students are glad with each member of the faculty to have them come to our schools. If they do not feel welcome at this time, I am sure they will feel welcome within the next few days, for that is the spirit that exists among our student body."

Has Faith In Team
"To the football team of 1930, I am expressing my belief and faith in the work of the team this year. I expect the team to be victorious in our section, and win the district by defeating Wellington, Shamrock, and by all means, Clarendon. There is no reason why we should not be victorious, for we have the coach and we have the material with which to put out this team. I express the hope that every student, old and new, will fall in line and back the gridiron with all their power and support."

No Superior Faculty
"To the faculty of the Memphis Public Schools, I truly believe there is none superior in any of the schools of West Texas. I believe the best work of teaching will be done this year in our system of schools. I do not have a single member of the faculty that I, in any, feel are not qualified and capable of putting over a good school program."

Close Cooperation Needed
"We have always had that close cooperation and fellowship with the patrons of the Memphis Independent School District in the past and I am sure that we will enjoy that fellowship and friendship of cooperation this year. It takes this close cooperation with (Continued on page 8)

Nine Teachers Are Added To Schools For Ensuing Year

Nine new teachers have been added to the staff of the Memphis Public Schools for the ensuing school year, it was announced by Superintendent H. A. Jackson. Four have been added to the Senior High School faculty, four to the Junior High School, and one to the West Ward School.

The new additions are as follows: Senior High School, Margaret Ainsworth, Latin; Nolan Sherman, History; Kathleen Wood, History; Velma Mae Shorbutt, study hall, Librarian and Physical Education; Junior High School, Ruth Granberry, study hall, Librarian and Physical Education; Carolyn McNeely, History; Janice Miller, Geography; Mrs. Lon Montgomery, History and Reading; West Ward, Ruth Pendergrass, Reading and Arithmetic.

Each of the teachers fills a well defined need in the public school system, and will make for a better and more complete system of instruction, according to Mr. Jackson.

Jake Davis, Frank Jarvis and Jake Leggett of Lakeview are attending the Memphis High School this year.

Jewel Meacham, a three year letterman in football, two years in basketball, and one year in track has reported to the high school this year.

FIRST PRACTICE GAME WILL BE WITH SPUR

Cyclone Is To Invade Enemy Territory In Initial Contest

The first practice game of the season will be played Friday afternoon of this week at Spur between the Memphis Cyclone and the strong Spur eleven. Arrangements for the initial football contest were made over long distance telephone Sunday between the Spur coach and Coach Nolan Walter. The boys, some 22 in number, will leave Memphis at about 7 o'clock Friday morning. Some five cars are needed to convey the players to Spur. Those who will help carry the players are asked to communicate with The Democrat either Thursday afternoon or Thursday night.

Scheduled for 3:30
The game is scheduled to be played at 3:30 Friday afternoon, but Coach Walter expects to try and have this hour changed to 2:30. If that can be accomplished, the players should be back in the city long before midnight Friday. The Spur coach is to furnish the officials and Memphis has been promised a nice sum of money for playing this game.

Spur Has 3 Year Team

Improvements And Repairs Are Made To All 4 Schools

General repairs and improvements of a substantial nature have been made to the physical properties of the Memphis Public Schools, according to W. F. Sitton, superintendent of buildings and grounds. Mr. Sitton stated that the wainscoting has been gone over in the several buildings and improvements made to the plumbing system. New flues have been installed throughout the high school boilers, and most of the desks and seats have been varnished.

The roofs of every building have been inspected and repairs have been made where needed. The school yards have been cleaned and leveled and present a spick and span appearance. Mr. Sitton will be assisted in his work this year by Dick Baker at the Junior High School and R. S. Stroud at the West Ward building.

SCHOOL YEAR IS STARTED WITH ASSEMBLIES

Appropriate Opening Exercises Held At Four City Schools

After enjoyable summer vacations, students fell in line Monday morning at the respective schools which they will attend, for the opening exercises which ushered in another school year. Appropriate programs were given at each of the four schools. At the high school, the program was in charge of Superintendent H. A. Jackson. The entire high school faculty marched onto the stage and Mrs. Elmer S. Shelley led the singing of America, and the singing of America, and the high school song, "The Spirit of Memphis High." Prayer was offered by E. E. Walker. M. E. Mc (Continued on page 8)

Here's the reason, Federal engineers weren't content with the old bulky balloons. You know and I know that excess bulk never made any tire ride easier. In view of this they eliminated all superfluous weight in the new Federals and increased the air cushion 12%. What a difference it made! More than that, they designed a new, rim-wide full contact tread, longer, stronger yet more flexible side walls and added thousands of miles' wear! Sounds too good to be true, but it

Miss Ruth Harrison Presented In Piano Recital By Teacher

(W. R. C.)

Music, like many of the other arts, is sometimes overworked. By that I mean, it is parceled out too flagrantly and inopportune. As an example, I will cite some of the recitals I have attended. Often, the long program has had a sameness of sound, a oneness of color, vague interpolations, all but meaningless movements and rhythms. I have attended other recitals where the effort had been made to advance the pupil too fast with the result that the music lost its soul and was little less than an effort on the part of the recitalist to strike the proper keys, without feeling, without poise, without understanding.

In the period of a few short weeks, it has been my good fortune not only to "sit through" two recitals, but to enjoy both of them. Honest enjoyment can only come through adequate interpretation, depth of emotion, a sense of balance, of fitness of the theme for the player. It is no wonder then that I was sorry, rather than glad, when the recital of Ruth Harrison came to an end Thursday evening of last week. Miss Harrison, an advanced pupil of Mrs. Margaret Morgan-Andrews, of the Amarillo Piano Conservatory, more than fulfilled the requirements I expected of her when I went to the recital. The setting itself was conducive to good music.

Mrs. Andrews' recital parlors were suffused with the soft glow of shaded candelabra. The large audience of musicians and music lovers, awaited with expectancy, each new movement, each detail of musicianship and none were disappointed. Playing the Peer Gynt Suite No. 1 by Edward Greig, Miss Harrison seemed to forget entirely the world about her. She was in another world where fancy is more stable than fact, and where beauty is its own excuse for being. She transported her hearers from the realm of the unreal, and unfolded before them a page of life made beautiful by Henrik Ibsen's story and wonderful by Greig's music.

The initial number, Troll Dance, typified the Scandinavian character. The movement delved deep into an almost forgotten folklore and rose to heights of baldray, far from the conventional conception. The movement becomes less intense, less excited, more fullsome near the end, and trails away into the peace of a dawn, inspired by early morning freshness and withal fully alive with joy at God's one quiet hour.

The second number of the Suite, The Death of Ase, is as utterly forlorn, as remote from joy, as far removed from happiness, as is life from death. An air of funereal gloom suffuses the tones, and the plaintive notes of a dirge are noticed throughout. Nothing saves the intense beauty of the movement from perennial, or even, everlasting despair.

Anitra's Dance, the third number, awakens to realization that life is still sweet to those who would partake of it freely and wholesomely. Light, fantastic, it almost sways the body as it tempts the mind to action. The setting of the dance comes before one, the danseuse in the glory of her raiment, her desire to embody through her movements the moods she feels, the thoughts she thinks, the songs that only her feet may sing.

The final number in the Suite, Morning Mood, is by far the most musical of the four movements. It has the courage to be lyric. It is joyous, gay. Melody takes its distance to recur over and over again. Not boisterous, but sweetly monotonous, as pleasant to the

Gives Recital

Miss Ruth Harrison, advanced pupil of Mrs. Margaret Morgan-Andrews, was presented in piano recital at Mrs. Andrews' recital parlors, 202 North Tenth street, Thursday evening, September 4, at eight o'clock. Miss Harrison played Peer Gynt Suite No. 1 by Edward Greig with Mrs. Andrews at the second piano. Miss Mazie Perkins gave the dramatic sketch and descriptive analysis incident to the music.

ear as far flung echoes rushes this movement to the final climax, and then trails away into the witchery of a new-born day.

Miss Harrison's playing was marked by its ease, lack of nervousness, a vivacious and pulsating accuracy, intensity of expression and feeling and expressive powers commensurate with those of any musician in the city. She should go far in music if her recital may be used as a criterion for accomplishment.

Mrs. Andrews at the second piano added the warmth and feeling that gave such a fine color to the recital. Ever at her best, she again demonstrated her thorough musicianship, her knowledge of the art in all its many vagaries and conditions.

Adding much to the enjoyment of the evening was the dramatic sketch and descriptive analysis given by Miss Mazie Perkins, who, in her own inimitable way, gave the background of the four numbers in the Suite.

Ernestine Walker gave a reading and Mrs. McNeely and Caroline McNeely gave "Witches' Flight," as a piano duet. After these numbers, Dr. J. To stick with every undertaking until it is finished is the secret of success." After the opening exercises, the classes assembled in their separate rooms and registration was begun. Regular class work started at both the Junior and Senior High Schools Tuesday.

Frank Phelan Has One Of Most Complete Coin Collections In Entire Southwest; Has Been Following Hobby For 25 Years

BY ADRIAN ODOM

Collecting old and odd coins holds an interest that only those who have collected them can understand. Frank Phelan, of Memphis, has gathered these coins for a period of over twenty-five years, and now has a collection that is valued at over three thousand dollars. He has not gone out in search of these coins as many people have done, but has collected them as he ran across them. He has also learned the history of each coin as he got it. His greatest interest has been in the collection of United States coins; however, he has secured a small collection of foreign coins. These coins of Mr. Phelan's represent one of the most complete collections of American coins in the Southwest.

Has Unique Piece

In his collection Mr. Phelan has what he believes to be a unique piece. It is an old buffalo nickel, on which the Indian head has had the benefit of an expert engraver. A high collar, tie and coat have been added to the figure, and whiskers to his face. On his head the engraver placed a derby hat that fits well over his ears. In this manner the Indian had been changed into a perfect reproduction of the conventional Jew. Mr. Phelan has sent this coin to many engravers in an attempt to have the likeness on the coin reproduced, but each of them has answered that it was impossible for them to do the work.

$50 Gold Piece

Every piece of American money is to be found in this collection. They range from a fifty dollar gold piece, the largest coin issued by the government, down to the half penny, which is the smallest ever produced in the United States. They represent species from the first coins ever minted in this country in 1787 up to the present day.

The first of his collection that Mr. Phelan discussed was the Columbian half dollar and quarter. "When the first world fair was held at Chicago during 1892-93," he stated in discussing the coin, "Congress issued 5,000,000 Columbian half dollars, and 40,000 quarters. The half dollars sold at a premium of two to one and the quarters, four to one. The proceeds of this sale helped to pay the expenses of the fair. These coins were made in commemoration of the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America."

Recognizes Foreigner

"One thing of interest about this coin," he continued, picking up the half dollar, "is that it is the only coin ever produced by the government that recognizes a foreign monarch. On the face of it is a picture of Queen Isabella of Spain, and on the reverse side, the ship in which Columbus sailed to America, and not the Mayflower as many people think."

Other commemorative coins that have been issued by the government and that appear in the collection are the Lewis and Clark dollar that bears the image of Lewis on one side and Clark on the other, and was issued in memory of the first two men to enter the Oregon country, and the Pilgrim half dollar, which bears the image of a Quaker on one side and the Mayflower on the other, and commemorates the one hundredth anniversary of landing of the pilgrims. These coins were issued at the second world's fair at St. Louis in 1904.

Four Coins Introduced

At the world's fair in San Francisco, four coins were introduced and a specimen of each is contained in the collection. The smallest was a silver half dollar which bears a design that is symbolic of the setting sun and of the riches of the state of California. Another is a fifty dollar gold piece, the largest amount of money ever issued in one coin by the government, that is copied from the California gold slug. On its face is the head and crown of Minerva, and on the back, the Owl of Minerva that represents good luck.

Gold Dollar Unique

It is up to the county individually and collectively to take advantage of every opportunity offered to better conditions.

machinery employed. He was invited to come back when the ginning season had opened up in earnest; and see how the cotton is handled, and the invitation was accepted. There is nothing shoddy about this gin. Every piece of machinery showed the result of proper handling, which is a good reason why breakdowns are things almost unknown at the plant.

survey were made of the entire state, no county or locality could possibly boast of better outfitted gins or more experienced ginners.

Cotton season has officially opened in Memphis. Renewed activity will soon become apparent on all sides, as cotton is brought into town. Business should then "pick up," and it is the opinion of The Democrat that it will.

Frank Phelan Has—

forward a coin that was issued during the Panama-Pacific Exposition. "It is the only coin that has ever countenanced the working class of American people. On its reverse side is the picture of a mechanic's head. There were only 5,500 of them issued."

"This $2.50 gold piece is very striking," he continued, picking it up, "in that it was made less than a year before the United States entered the World War. It shows, in itself, the contemplation of the American Government of entering the war. On the one side, it has Liberty riding a dragon—there has never been another American coin with the figure of the dragon on it—which symbolized the fighting spirit of the people. On the reverse side it shows the American eagle in a fighting pose—all other coins have the eagle sitting in the peaceful position of flying."

The only coin made for the United States in a foreign country was that of the Louisiana Purchase commemorative dollar that was made in Paris, France, in 1903. These coins have the reproduction of the heads of Jefferson and McKinley on the obverse side of every other one, but the reverse side of all are the same.

Lafayette Memorial Dollar
 One of the most interesting pieces in Mr. Phelan's collection was that of the Lafayette Memorial dollar. In 1899 the youth of the United States asked congress to permit them to erect a monument to General Lafayette in Paris and to allow them to issue 50,000 silver dollars with which to build the monument. These dollars sold two to one, giving $50,000 to pay for the silver and $50,000 with which to erect the monument. On the obverse side of these dollars is a picture of Washington in the foreground and Lafayette, and on the reverse side is a reproduction of the monument erected. The monument bears this inscription: "Erected by the youth of the United States of America to the honor of General Lafayette—1900 A. D."

"It was to this monument that General Pershing went when he reached Paris at the beginning of the war," Mr. Phelan stated, "and said, 'Lafayette, we are here!', and," he smiled, "although it was never printed, the doughboys answered in one voice, 'And so are we'."

Coin Is Striking

"There is also something very striking in this coin," he continued, picking up a $20 gold piece that was issued in 1904. "When Roosevelt was president he passed a law through congress that stopped the printing of 'In God We Trust' on them, but the next president got this law repealed. This one species is the only one since 1861, when this inscription came into use, that does not have it on its face."

When Mr. Phelan had given the history of nearly every coin that he has in his collection, he began to talk about some interesting facts about American money.

"In spite of the fact that gold money seems to be very scarce," he said, "out of every four dollars issued in the United States, three of them have been in gold and one in silver, nickel, copper, and bronze."

Comparative Figures

"If every person in the United States had an even amount of the money that has been coined in the 128 years of American money making," he continued, "each one of us would have two pieces of gold worth $26, eleven pieces of silver with a value of $7.73 and 27 pieces of nickel, copper and bronze worth fifty six cents, or a total amount of $34.29. This is for 128 years ending with 1915."

"There has been 6,215,105,542 pieces of money coined in the United States with a value of $4,439,067,448.35. The Double Eagle ($20.00 gold piece) has a value of about one third of all money coined, which is $2,415,146,120.00, and the one cent piece is second with 2,345,481,667 pieces issued.

"For the fifty dollar gold piece," he said, reaching for it again, "there is one of them to every 213,000 people in the United States."

Why Is The Dime

"There is one thing that I would like to know that I have never been able to find out," he continued as he put away his coins, "and that is how the people started to call the ten cent piece a dime. No dictionary gives it, but says that a dime is an American ten cent piece. One cent pieces are often called coppers because they are made of copper, five cent pieces are called nickles because they are made of nickle, but there is no reason that I can find why the ten cent piece is called a dime."

Mr. and Mrs. Angus Huckaby and daughter Mary Sue and Mrs. L. M. Grundy were visitors in Wichita Falls Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. B. E. Davenport and daughters Anna Katherine and Bobbie Clara returned Thursday from a visit with her parents at Dallas.

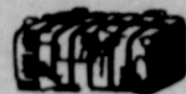

Mrs. H. H. Burnett and daughter Mildred of Dumas are here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. McMurry.

Short Crop --- Bad Staple --- Low Price
Farmers MUST Be Cautious

This year, more than ever, farmers must be cautious. Crop conditions demand that the strictest of care be taken in the ginning of every bale. Turnout must be as nearly perfect as it is humanly possible to make it, in order that cotton will bring the highest possible market price. Competent ginning of seed cotton is more important this year than ever before.

Gerlach doesn't claim to have the best gin on earth. He does claim, however, (and comparison of samples will prove) that the best turnouts last season came from Gerlach's Gin. Perhaps the secret lies in the fact that our machinery is the best that can be bought, that our employees are all skilled ginners, that careful attention is given every customer and that we pay the highest market price.

for BETTER GINNING

I have purchased the Beaty & Dishman Gin and will be personally in charge of its operation this season. Don Wright, formerly connected with the Co-op Gin at Lakeview, will have charge of the office and will be glad of the opportunity to serve his Lakeview friends who find it convenient to gin in Memphis.

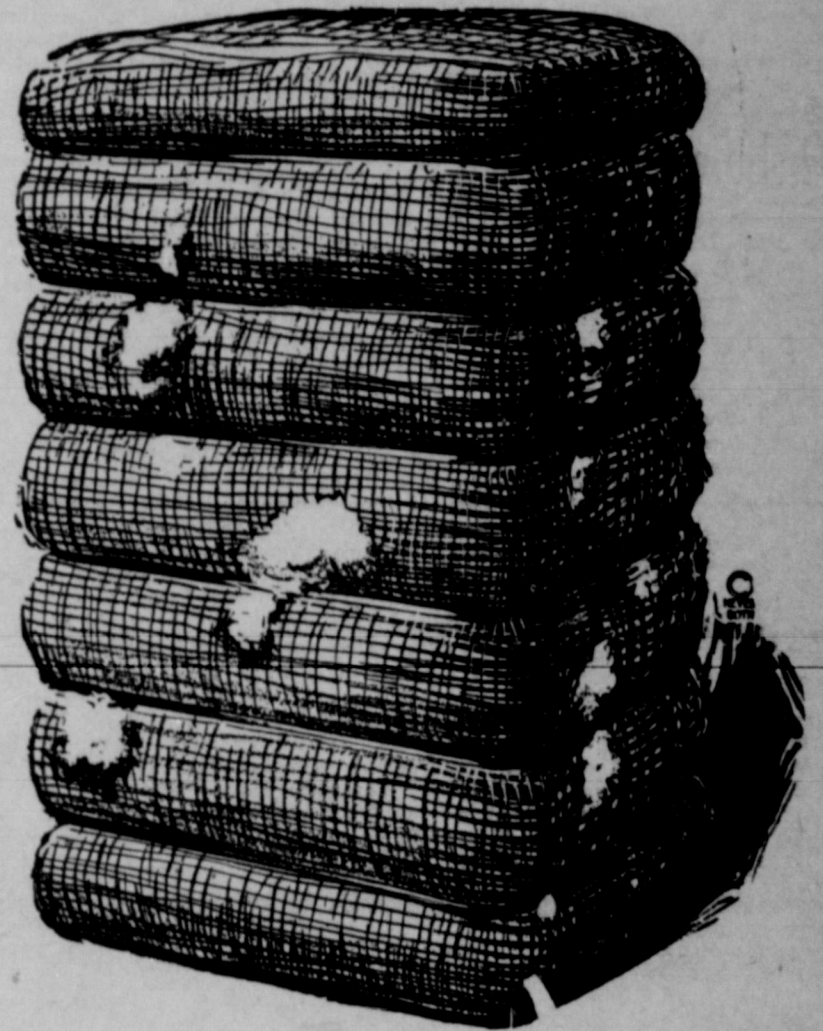

Our plant will be found in first class shape throughout. We have gone over it thoroughly, from the ground up, and believe it is now in better condition than ever before to produce the kind of turnout that has made and kept business for us. Bring us your next bale.

After Your Cotton Is Picked, Ginned and Sold What Then?

There is still another process before your cotton is ready for export and the final channels of trade. It must be properly compressed. Though of little direct importance to you, as a cotton farmer, it is vital that this service be rendered efficiently and speedily. This we strive to do.
