STATE HIGHWAY LAW IS HELD TO BE VALID

Judge Declares Law Levying License Upon Autos Constitutional. Police Power of State

Austin, July 17.—The constitutionality of the law creating the state highway commission was upheld today by Judge George Calhoun in the Fifty-third district court in opinion rendered in the injunction case of P. S. Atlains against Curtis Hancock, chairman, and other members of the state highway commission. Judge Calhoun refused to grant an injunction to plaintiff to restrain the collection of the license tax. The court held that in passing this law the legislature acted within its legislative powers and there is nothing in the act repugnant to the constitution; that it is one of the functions of government to maintain public roads "and that over said roads the state by and through the legislature has absolute control" and may rightfully prescribe uniform regulations necessary for public safety and also charge a graduated fee for the registration of motor vehicles. The court held also that the legislature was acting within the police powers of the state in the enactment of the law. Continuing in the opinion, the court says: "And it further appearing to the court that the acts attacked herein by the plaintiff as being unconstitutional, the legislature of the state of Texas was acting under the exercise of police power uniformly recognized as belonging to the states and essential to the preservation of the life, health, safety and comfort of the citizens of the state of Texas." The plaintiff gave notice of appeal to the Third court of civil appeals.

UNIVERSITY REGENTS DISMISS 7 PROFS.

John Lomas, Dr. Mather, Dr. Ellis W. H. Mayes, R. E. Cofer, G. C. Butte and Dr. Keasby

The Board of Regents of the University of Texas at their meeting held at Galveston on Thursday and Friday of last week dismissed seven members of the faculty. These dismissals were made by a vote of 3 to 4, except in the case of Dr. Keasby in which the vote was unanimous, Dr. Fly not voting because enjoined by the court because he was a member of the Galveston exemption board. Dr. Fly resigned from the exemption board and was reappointed a regent by Governor Ferguson and took part in the proceedings of the board at its session on Friday. Had Dr. Fly been allowed to vote the vote on dismissals would have been 5 to 3, the same as the vote of the former board to retain these professors. Regent Brents, an appointee of Governor Ferguson, voted against dismissal. No charges were made against Prof. Butte at the time other members of the faculty were tried by the former board and the reason for his dismissal is not disclosed. The annual financial budget made up by Dr. Vinson was adopted with only minor changes, which, in effect is said to mean that he will be retained, unless he shall resign, which he intimated he would do if the other members, whom he defended, should be dismissed. The reason given for dismissal of Dr. Keasby was said to have been his activity as a member of "The People's Council of America for Democracy and Terms of Peace." Dr. Vinson brought the charges and represented that Keasby's activities were compromising or embarrassing to the University.

Although the session was executive, all voting was by open ballot, according to an announcement after the meeting made by Chairman Goeth. Harmony prevailed throughout the meeting, it was said. The board adjourned at 11 o'clock, after a three-hour session. There were more than twenty towns contesting for the South Texas Normal and the Stephen F. Austin Normal Representatives from a number of these towns were in Dallas yesterday, though none of them appeared before the board, as they had previously been given a hearing at Austin before the board began its trip of inspection.

PERHAPS SUBMARINE PROBLEM IS SOLVED

Statements of Thomas Edison and Other Indications Bear Out Conclusion.

New York, July 15.—There are broad intimations that Thomas A. Edison, the famous wizard, has solved the submarine problem, the best intimation coming from Edison himself, who announced yesterday that "we now have all the rebellious elements under control." He also told visitors yesterday that he would always remember the date as being "contemporaneous with the time when we removed the last jinx from the record."

Three days ago a high Government official said that Edison had just completed a task that would make him the greatest man in the world. There is also some speculation in this respect over the anxiety of the Westinghouse people to secure a thousand experienced workmen who will agree to be locked up in the factory, working on war munitions, for a period of ten months, this precaution being necessary to guard a military and munitions secret of the greatest value.

Today's advices from Germany would also indicate that the spy system is working well and that the German junkers have heard something that has greatly disturbed their equanimity.

Collinsworth Sheriff Appointed

At a meeting of the Honorable Commissioners Court this week, M. S. Carpenter was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of the sheriff of Collinsworth county, on account of the resignation of Sheriff J. G. Neece. Mr. Carpenter is absolutely one of this county's most substantial and upright citizens and goes into the office well acquainted with every detail of the affairs of same, and we predict now, that he will make this county one of the best sheriff and tax collectors it has ever had. Mr. Carpenter was sheriff of Lamar county, Texas, for many years and it is said that that county never had a better officer before nor since.—Wellington Leader.

LOCATIONS SELECTED FOR TWO COLLEGES

Dallas, Texas, 15.—The State normal school locating board, in session in Dallas, last night, voted to establish the new Stephen F. Austin Normal school at Nacogdoches, in Nacogdoches County; the South Texas Normal College at Kingsville, Kleberg County, and the normal school board of regents voted to purchase the East Texas Normal College at Commerce. The institutions were provided for by laws passed by the Thirty-Fifth Legislature. The locating board consisted of Gov. James E. Ferguson, W. F. Doughty, Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the members of the board of regents of the State normal schools, as follows: A. C. Goeth of Austin, president; A. B. Martin Plainview; M. O. Flowers, Lockhart; Walter J. Crawford, Beaumont; Robert J. Eckhardt, Taylor, and Joe S. Kendall, Dallas. All were present for the meeting.

Although the session was executive, all voting was by open ballot, according to an announcement after the meeting made by Chairman Goeth. Harmony prevailed throughout the meeting, it was said. The board adjourned at 11 o'clock, after a three-hour session. There were more than twenty towns contesting for the South Texas Normal and the Stephen F. Good Rain Tuesday Night.

A good rain estimated at about one inch, fell here Tuesday night. The moisture was needed and will insure the continued growth of crops planted since the last rain, on July 2. West and south of here heavier rain and some hail was reported the amount of the damages is not known but was probably overbalanced by the benefits from the rain. To the east the rain was much lighter and more moisture is needed both for growing crops and for late plantings.

When Will the Draft Be Made

No one can answer this question because no one knows when the last returns from the local boards will come in; certainly no number will be drawn until the last board reports and all lists are in the hands of the authorities at Washington, or they have the assurance by wire that they are in the mails. Dispatches from Washington say that all plans for the drawing are completed and that the authorities are anxious to start the work of selecting at the earliest moment. Predictions are made that it may commence tomorrow or Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. A. Baldwin left Wednesday night for New York.

IS YOUR MONEY SUPPORTING THE GOVERNMENT

At this critical period in our history our manufacturers are offering their mills, and our young men are offering their services to the United States Government.

Would you like to do your share and help by putting your money where it will support the new Federal Reserve Banking System, which the government has established to stand back of our commerce, industry and agriculture?

You can do this by opening an account with us, as part of every dollar so deposited goes directly into the new system where it will always be ready for you when wanted.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK Memphis, Texas

Jean's Assignment

By John Elkins

(Copyright, 1917, by W. G. Chapman.)

The elderly man with the iron jaw and grizzled hair shut the door with a bang, and came down the path to the gate in a frame of mind quite obvious to the passer by. Mr. Jacob Haven was both surprised and angry.

Inside in the living room of the small house a girl sat staring at nothing, crumpled up in the big chair where she had sunk down when the door slammed. She sat so long without moving that presently a door opened from the dining room, and an elderly woman looked in rather timidly. Mrs. Warren had always been timid and apologetic about everything; and now, since her husband's death, and Jean had taken the helm, she seemed more than ever to lean on the stronger nature.

"What did he say, Jenn?" she asked. The girl roused from her stupor answered wearily: "He wanted the back interest on the mortgage, which is perfectly reasonable. He ought to have it. If the Pilot hadn't thrown out my copy now for two weeks I could have made it up. I can't understand why they did it. But they've promised for next week. I asked him to extend the time on the mortgage, as we couldn't pay it now—"

She paused, not seeming to know how to go on.

"Well, won't he?"

"No. That is except on one condition."

"Condition?"

"Yes. He wants me to—marry him."

The loathing expressed in the last two words made the mother wail out: "Oh, Jean! what are we going to do?"

"Do you want me to say yes?" asked the girl.

"No, no, Jean, of course not." The two women lapsed into silence.

Mrs. Warren was not resourceful, and Jean was trying to think it out alone. She had contributed from one to three columns every week to the Pilot, the one paper published in the small western town, and this with a slender pension which her mother drew had enabled them to exist with strict economy. The mortgage on their home had been contracted five years previously and was now due. Jean had refused to cancel it by marrying the mortgagor, who like the renowned "Katharine" was "a most unattractive old thing with a caricature of a face," and nearly three times her age.

"Are you Miss Warren?"

After a time the mother broke the silence by asking: "Do you suppose we could borrow it?"

"No," said Jean. "But I'll tell you what I am going to do. You know Grace Baker is always asking me to come down to the city and visit her. Well, I'm going to accept. It won't be exactly a visit, it will be one big hustle. I'm going to see if I can't get something to do on the papers down there. I'll get three times the pay I get on this little sheet, and more to do."

"Oh, but Jean, you have no influence, they don't know you, they won't give you anything to do," objected the mother.

"Well, I'm going to see. I wonder what ever became of Guy Hastings? You know he went to the city seven or eight years ago. He had ambitions to write, said he was going to write a big novel. But I guess he never did, or we would have heard of it."

"I can just see Guy drawing you on his sled to school!" mused the mother. "He must have been fourteen or fifteen, when you were about ten. Yes I wish you could find him. He might be some help."

"It would be like looking for the needle in the haystack," said Jean.

The next thing the girl heard was that her services were no longer required on the Pilot. When she further heard that Jacob Haven was the principal owner, the reason was explained.

So Jean went to the city. Mrs. Baker, well married and prosperous, received her with open arms, but neither she nor her husband could be of any use to her in her search for work on a newspaper. If she gained entrance to the managing editor, she was invariably told that their staff was complete. No, they really did not want anything on "space." They had more than they could use. Jean went back each evening, exhausted from the elbowing of crowds, the traversing of great spaces, and the awful din of the big city. But she did not give up, she felt the urge of "must," and she did not mean to stop till every office had been visited.

One day a kindly middle-aged man, a managing editor, told her to bring in something. She asked what he wanted.

"Go out, look about the city. Take some phase of life that you see, and look at it with a fresh view."

"I will," said Jean. "How much can you use?"

"About half a column. But remember we don't promise to take it."

Jean said she understood, and thanking the editor departed. Her story was accepted, and she was told to try again. She was doing better each week, and sending home money. One day she was told to see the city editor about an assignment. She went into the office, and as the man wheeled around in his chair she noticed he stared.

"Are you Miss Warren?" he asked. On her assent, he added: "From Easton?"

"Yes," she answered.

"Why, don't you remember Guy Hastings?"

How could she have recognized in the well-groomed, efficient-mannered man in the editorial chair the village lad who drew her to school. But she soon let her delight at the meeting be known, and was glad when he asked to come and see her.

"If you are married," she said, "I would be glad to see—"

"Oh, I'm not married," he laughed.

"I haven't had time to think about it."

Guy Hastings found his way more than once to the Baker apartment, and then Jean Warren made the rather tragic discovery that she was hanging upon those visits as the great, beautiful events in her life. If they meant only to him the renewal of a girl-and-boy friendship, it would indeed be tragic to her.

One evening she met him in the dining room.

"There is someone in there," she said hurriedly. "I must ask you to excuse me."

Her worried, excited manner made him wonder. She saw his look, and lest he should misunderstand, explained. It was Jacob Haven. He had come to tell her he meant to foreclose the mortgage at once, unless she consented to marry him.

"Stay here," said Hastings. "Let me settle him."

"Well?" she asked breathlessly when he returned.

"He'll get his money tomorrow," said Hastings.

"Oh, will you take up the mortgage?" she asked.

"Oh, I hadn't thought about the mortgage. I shall not foreclose if you say no. But, oh, Jean! I wish you'd say yes."

The answer might have been obvious to even the most casual observer.

SIKHS' ARE FIGHTING CREED

They Had Their Origin in Battle, and in Battle They Have Maintained Themselves Ever Since.

The origin of the Sikhs is a good indication of the kind of men they are. The creed had its birth in comparatively recent times, when the Punjab was chafing under the heavy hand of the Mongol conquerors. A certain man of pugnacious temper grew weary of the oppression and decided to raise a small band to fight for freedom. He drew his sword and stood shouting in the market place, calling for volunteers. The people thought he was mad and feared him, but at last another fighting man, tired of servitude, volunteered.

The first man concealed him in a secret place and returned to the market place, after smearing himself with the fresh blood of a sheep. Again he called for volunteers, but the people thought he had killed the first one, and fled. But at last he got another volunteer.

Again he concealed him, again he smeared himself with blood, again he called for recruits. By this system he only got those who thought they were going to certain death and did not fear it. When he had collected a dozen men by this system he put himself at their head and they sallied forth to rout the Muslim oppressors.

Thus the Sikhs had their origin in battle, and in battle they have maintained themselves ever since. They furnish today some of the most loyal troops in the British empire.

Tribute of a Prisoner of War.

The nuns were very nice to me. One particularly, a sweet old nun with marked Silesian accent, always tried to get me into conversation with her, writes Lieutenant F. S. in the Atlantic.

I did not understand all she meant, for I was half deaf, and in her conversation she was not always loyal to high German. She used to insist good-naturedly on my eating some of the fare that was provided for us—soups so thick that the spoon could stand erect in the plate, potatoes half washed by too much boiling, sauerkraut with sausage, and, at eight in the morning, a horrid mixture passing by the name of coffee and milk. I simply could not absorb any of that stuff, much to the disappointment of the sister, who used to shrug her awkward shoulders affectionately, sigh deeply, insist again, and finally go to the kitchen, and bring back a pint of milk instead of the food which I could not eat.

LIVE STOCK

WAR'S CALL TO THE FARMER

Live Stock Breeder's Opportunity as Well as Duty Presented by Big Food Shortage.

The present food shortage, which threatens to become much more serious, is the live stock farmer's opportunity as well as the call to the patriotic duty.

In view of the grave situation, the division of animal forestry, University Farm, St. Paul, offers the following suggestions to the live stock farmers: Keep all live stock off pastures till the grass has a good start, and the sod will withstand tramping and retain the moisture in the soil. Much more feed will be yielded and hay saved in the long run by this method. "A week too early to grass in the spring means three weeks less pasture in the fall."

Do not turn out steers about ready for market; they will shrink more than they will gain, and other stock needs the pasture.

Raise all calves for which there is ample feed.

Save high-priced feed by providing hog pastures, and labor by self-feeders and crops to be hogged-off.

Rebreed sows that have farrowed early for fall litters wherever concentrates are available for feed.

Substitute and supplement oats in the rations of farm and city work-horses by brewers' grains, oilmeal, molasses and alfalfa hay, thus releasing the oats for the horses in army service.

Breed all suitable mares to the best stallion available.

Keep chickens on city lots. They utilize kitchen waste, require only light labor such as children, old folks, and convalescents can supply, and make quick and economic returns in meat and eggs.

Observe all rules of stable hygiene and sanitation to control animal diseases.

SUMMER PASTURE FOR SWINE

Green Food Is Required for Best Development of Pigs—Alfalfa Is Relished by Animals.

(North Dakota Agricultural College Bulletin.)

Pasture should by all means be provided for the pigs. This is the cheapest food that can be provided, and good development in the pigs requires green food. Alfalfa is one of the best pastures. It is relished by the pigs, is nutritious and provides feed during the whole pasture season. Many report splendid success with sweet clover where neither bromegrass nor winter rye is available. Oats, barley and rape can be sown in the spring and will produce green feed till the hogs can be turned into the corn. If no alfalfa is available on the farm for pig pasture, this spring will be the time to sow it. When the pigs are on pasture they should be fed some grain, and the pigs will get along with less grain when on alfalfa than on most any other pasture.

DOMESTIC HORSE IN DEMAND

Instead of Looking to Europe for Animals We Are Now Sending Our Surplus There.

For a good many years the imported horse has been the standard, and it has seemed that most breeders would not buy a high-priced animal unless bred in Europe. Now the day has come when we are not only satisfied ourselves with the home-bred horse, but the best breeders are looking to foreign fields as an outlet for the surplus, as soon as they are able to supply the home demand.—Twentieth Century Farmer.

KEEP SOWS BY THEMSELVES

Not Safe to Allow Pregnant Animals Free Run of Horse and Cattle Lots—Permit Exercise.

It is altogether too common to allow pregnant sows a free run of the horse and cattle lots, and to force them to occupy crowded quarters with a large number of hogs. Occasionally heavy losses result from such a practice and must be avoided if best results are to be expected.

Brood sows should be allowed the run of a well-drained lot by themselves where they have ample room for the requisite amount of exercise.

PATRIOTISM DAY FOR STATE FAIR PLAN

Authentic Scenes From War Zone to Be Exhibited to Visitors

With a keynote of patriotism predominating in every effort of the State Fair of Texas, President R. E. L. Knight has worked out plans for utilizing the immense educational value of this exposition to increase and emphasize love of country and desire for service.

Realizing that many hundreds of thousands of people will assemble at the State Fair this fall, President Knight believes that no other occasion during the year will give so great an opportunity to remind the people of their patriotic duties.

That the greatest number may be reached with this message of patriotism, a special day will be set aside during the Fair for a mammoth patriotic rally and special programs will be held each day, when the principal theme will be love of country and duty to our Government.

As a member of the Texas State Council of National Defence President Knight has taken up his plans with the Bureau of Patriotism Through Education of the National Security League and the fair will have the active co-operation of these organizations throughout the entire fifteen days of the exposition. Speakers of national and international reputation will be present on the special Patriotism Day and on numerous other days during the fair.

Supplementing the big rally to be held on Patriotism Day, these speakers will be heard each afternoon and night in the Coliseum, where, as a part of the regular program, ten-minute talks on patriotism will be made by some national character.

During these periods Thaviu's Band will render programs of music appropriate to the occasion, and war scenes will be projected on the curtain of the stage. Special arrangements are being perfected to procure authentic pictures direct from the battle fronts in Europe, and with the landing of United States troops in the war zone these views are expected to prove of exceptional interest. Discussing the plans for the patriotism programs President Knight said:

"The whole purpose of the plans of the State Fair of Texas along these particular lines is to put before the people not simply patriotism and public duty and backing up the Government, but also a clear statement of the sufficient reasons for going to war and sticking to the war until victory is reached, as it is absolutely sure to be reached. It is vital to make clear what can be done by the individual man, woman or child, the church, the lodge, the community, the society, for the common good.

"Addresses will be made during the State Fair by leaders of thought in every branch of activity related to the war. The relation of the war to agriculture, labor, business, finance, medicine, military and naval needs and every phase of endeavor will be explained.

"Every individual citizen of the United States must be aroused to a realization of the meaning of the war and the importance of personal service.

"The people of no country are imbued with more patriotic spirit than the people of Texas. While this is true, it is yet a fact that even we, sometimes, need to be reminded that patriotism means more than mere demonstration of this enthusiasm.

"In my opinion no agency in Texas or elsewhere could more comprehensively direct this patriotism into real service than the great State Fair of Texas. While these people are gathered together in multiplied thousands, we want to bring home to them clearly and forcibly a complete realization of the meaning of this war and a clear understanding of the great economic, industrial and international problems that are confronting and will confront this country during and after the war."

FAIR WILL ENTERTAIN 750 BOYS AND GIRLS

Five hundred boys from farms of Texas and 250 farm girls of this State will be guests of the State Fair of Texas during the encampment to be held in connection with the 1917 State Fair. The encampment for boys will be held Oct. 15-20, inclusive, and the encampment for girls will be held Oct. 22-27, inclusive.

Scholarships for the encampment will be awarded on a competitive basis to members of boys and girls' county clubs, those making the highest scores in their respective counties being awarded scholarships. These contests will be under the direction of the extension service of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas, in co-operation with the United States Department of Agriculture. H. H. Williamson of A. & M. College will be superintendent in charge of the boy's encampment and Miss Jessie Harris, State agent in charge of home demonstration work, will be superintendent of the girl's encampment.

Free quarters, good, wholesome meals and numerous other special inducements will be offered those boys and girls who attend the encampments. Special amusement features, athletic meets and other form of entertainment will be arranged for each encampment and personally conducted tours for educational purposes will be mapped out so as to include every department of the fair.

Liberal prizes will be awarded winners in a number of departments especially scheduled for these boys and girls.

FIREWORKS AT THE FAIR.
Dallas, Texas.—Fireworks display on a scale never before attempted in Texas will be a feature of the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 13-28. Secretary W. H. Stratton recently signed up a contract for the most elaborate display of pyrotechnics available.

She—Are you interested in botany, Mr. Philip?
Mr. Philip—Sure, every time I see a daisy, I think of you.

Coal Oil Use.

Few drops of oil on cloth moistened first with water polishes windows, mirrors, removes dust from furniture and paint. A tablespoonful in a boiler of clothes is equal to washing powder. Equal parts linseed oil (boiled) and coal oil polishes oiled furniture and floors; also cleanses painted floors. Coal oil removes lice from poultry and cures scaly legs; two-thirds milk, one-third oil for hair tonic, rubbing in scalp thoroughly with ends of fingers, applying at least once a month. The odor quickly passes away. Nothing better for cleaning zinc.

Almond Sandwiches.

Almond sandwiches of all varieties are delicious for the tea table. Cut the bread in thin slices, spread with butter and put on a layer of finely chopped almonds, to which has been added a light sprinkling of salt and a dash of lemon juice; lay over another slice of buttered bread, cut into small ovals and press a blanched nut in the center.

Submarine Practice.

Submarine practice is a daily feature on board English and American passenger ships crossing the Atlantic. A small black box, flying a black flag, is lowered and allowed to float a certain distance away from the vessel. Then the gunners open fire on the "Kaiser," as the black box with its piratical flag is named.

Movie in One Reel.

"You're a picture," ventured the fresh youth, taking a seat beside a pretty girl.

"A moving picture, at that," she responded as she transferred herself to a place across the aisle.

Unselfish Ideal.

"Do you want to vote?"
"Only incidentally," replied the superior woman. "My desire is to reform politics in our community so that its influence and associations will be proper for my husband."

In the Mud Zone.

"Leather is likely to be very scarce."
"I don't much care," replied Mr. Crosslots. "Out where I live there isn't much use of bothering about anything except rubber boots."

Restful Slumber.

"Good morning, Judge," said the prisoner, cheerfully.
"You seem in a good humor for a man who has spent the night in jail."
"So I am, your honor. I had a good night's rest and that always refreshes me. You see, my wife is a timorous woman, and when I sleep at home I'm compelled to investigate many strange noises. No doubt there were burglars all around me last night, but I didn't have to get out of bed and look for them."

Making Up.

Hubby—I've made up my mind for a nice comfy evening at home.
Wife—And I've made up my face for an evening out. So come along.

Summer Fashions

There is something new under the sun of feminine attire! The agitation for simplicity in dress which has been interesting certain designers and many women of fashion is responsible for a new type of frock which is adjusted without buttons, hooks and eyes snaps or any kind of fastenings. This sounds almost fabulous, but it is easily explained. These dresses slip over the head, and the opening at the neck and the adjusting of the waistline by an elastic permit the slipping off and on to be an easy matter. The elastic gives and the neck opening is sufficiently large, so that it requires no special feat of agility to get in and out of these dresses, as was the case with some of the first types of slip-on frocks.

If you have the least doubt as to the smartness of such frock look at the dresses pictured here. Certainly, you would never suspect them of being differently constructed from any other of the smart, simple dresses that are now in vogue! The model above is developed in black satin with a white pique collar, and facings of white satin for the long pocket extensions at the sides of the skirt. The belt of black satin is adjusted separately over the casing on which the dress is drawn up at the waistline. Although the lines of the dress have been absolutely straight, for the most part, the bouffant effect at the hips seems to be growing in importance more and more. Sometimes it is acquired by soft drapery cleverly handled, and sometimes by pocket extensions as in the model shown here.

In the second sketch is a morning dress of chambray with collar and cuffs of white pique edged with hand-embroidered scallops. This is another of the simple slip-on dresses. The skirt is pleated at the waistline in soft, unstitched pleats. In some models the straight gathered skirt is featured.

Very interesting in development are some of the tub frocks for general country use. There is quite a rage for combining two materials such as voile and gingham, or organdy and gingham. The most popular development is a waist of white voile with skirt of plaid or striped gingham, and collar and cuffs also of gingham. The appearance of separate waist is given but it is in reality a one-piece dress developed in two materials.

To go with the gingham dresses that everyone is wearing this season the very newest thing is to have your hat trimmed with gingham to match the costume, or you may even have the hat made entirely of gingham. Such a combination of matching hat and gown is most refreshing for informal wear in the country.

Summer Lingerie

There is a great deal of interest in lingerie, even though it is long past January, the month that is usually devoted to thinking about it. Nowadays there is so much that is attractive in new lingerie that in early summer the shops display as many tempting things in the line of lingerie as it is their rule to do in the first month of the year. French underwear is the thing this season, and everyone knows how utterly charming this fine lingerie always is. The sheerest materials are used with quantities of fine Valenciennes lace insertion and edging, as well as the most exquisite hand embroidery. Lace is sometimes applied with hemstitching at the edge and this gives a much daintier effect than the plain stitching while it is just as practical. Other telling details such as rows of tiny tucks above the hems of nightgowns, and lace insertion applied in several rows at even distances apart and finished with edging, contribute to the unusual charm of the French lingerie. Of course, there are delicately colored pink and blue ribbons to give the finishing touches to these fascinating garments.

Developed in Chambray with Pique Collars and Cuffs

Beige and Sand-Colored Dresses. At every turn these days one is confronted by numbers of beige and sand-colored dresses. These are in lightweight wool fabrics, chiefly gabardine wool jersey and the very closely knitted fabrics. It is very seldom that they are not trimmed with soutache, beads or the machine chain-stitch embroidery, and in most cases these trimmings are in self color. Sometime a contrasting color appears, however, and dark red is one of the most effective against sand color. When dresses of this type are not trimmed with embroidery in any of the popular forms, their only finish is a collar of white satin or organdy and sometimes a patent leather of suede belt.

Speaking of popularity of soutache and chain-stitching, both of these now appear on hats. There are some new tam-o-shanters of satin with crowns covered with either soutache or the stitching.

RAISE RABBITS FOR MEAT

Production of Belgian Hares or Other Rabbits Possible in City Back Yards.

Rabbits, which have proved a valuable source of food in Europe during the present war, may well be raised more extensively in America by the way of reducing the drain on the ordinary meat supply, according to biologists of the United States Department of Agriculture. The business of growing rabbits, the specialists point out, can be carried on by youths and adults not engaged in military service, or in regular industrial employment. The animals may be raised in back yards of cities and towns as well as on farms.

The Belgian hare says a statement by the department, breeds rapidly, matures quickly, and produces a palatable and highly nutritious meat. The cost of production is less than that of any other meat, not excepting poultry. The supply can be greatly increased within a few months without requiring space that may be needed for the production of crops. Practical experience has demonstrated that rabbit meat can be produced in unlimited quantities at a cost of about 6 cents a pound and by utilizing lawn cuttings and other vegetation that would otherwise be wasted the cost can be made even lower.

The Belgian and Flemish giant rabbits are recommended for meat production, as the ordinary tame rabbit is smaller and develops more slowly. Stock of Belgian hares may be bought from breeders in nearly all the States at $1 to $3 each. They may occasionally be had from pet-stock dealers. Fancy pedigreed stock is not required for meat production.

Rabbits are easily kept. They eat hay grass, lawn cuttings, and green vegetation of many kinds. Females should be allowed to breed when 8 or 10 months old, and during the year should raise four litters of about six young each. Well fed, the young reach marketable size when three to four months old and average from five to six pounds live weight.

The department has published a bulletin on raising rabbits which will be helpful to those who wish to engage in this pursuit.

FOOD TRAINING CAMP AT STATE FAIR URGED

N. E. L. Knight Tenders Use of Grounds to Government During the War

The State Fair of Texas, to be held Oct. 13-28, has tendered its services to President Wilson as a food training camp, to assist the Government in its efforts to increase crop production and reduce the waste of food, which is known to be enormous.

"Our directors offer the services of our fair as a food training camp," wrote President R. E. L. Knight of the State Fair of Texas, in part, to President Wilson. "Military training camps are being established everywhere in the country, where men in increments of half a million each are to be taught the principles of military tactics. However, as you have pointed out many times, there is just as much responsibility for the successful prosecution of the war resting upon the shoulders of the 100,000,000 persons in private life as there is upon the men who are called to the colors, for it is essential that working American labors hard to furnish our allies with food and clothing.

"The men whom you are calling into service are being concentrated in central military training camps, because it is found to be much more efficient to train them in that way than by establishing camps in every little town or village. It appeals to the directors of our fair that there is just as much necessity for calling the great rank and file of food producers and food users into central food training camps for a short course in the more efficient methods of food production and food conservation. It could hardly be done now, for the Nation is working hard to care for the crop already planted, but if we could hold such a food training camp during the lull following the harvest season wonderfully efficient instruction in food production and conservation could be given.

To Raise More Live Stock.

"To make this food training camp unusually instructive, an effort is being made to induce breeders of purebred live stock to exhibit in larger numbers of such type and breeds as will assist the Nation in meeting the demand for more meat, milk, butter, cheese, leather, wool and horse power. Manufacturers of farm machinery are being urged to exhibit all of their latest models and improvements, that farmers may learn how to produce a maximum crop at a minimum effort. All the territory tributary to our fair is being scoured to find superior specimens of the varieties of grain, vegetables, fruits, forage crops and corn best suited to our soil and climate, that encouragement may be given to the production of as much of these crops as possible.

"Since the economical use of food is of just as much importance as the production of food, our woman's department is to offer a series of demonstrations and lectures by food specialists of national and local reputation, to instruct wives and mothers how to prepare and conserve food, and check the extravagant waste of food, for which our country is condemned in every other country in the world. In an effort to enlist the children in the cause of food production, the work of children in the schools and fields is to be exhibited, and demonstrations of interest to children are to be conducted.

"Our board of directors sincerely trusts that the National Government, mindful of the good which can be done at such a food training school, will operate to the fullest extent in furnishing lecturers, demonstration and exhibits, to assist the fair in accomplishing the mission it has undertaken. There could be no better way of reaching the people in this territory with Government propaganda for the increased production and conservation of food."

CALLED HER FAMILY TO HER BEDSIDE

Six Years Ago, Thinking She Might Die, Says Texas Lady, But Now She Is a Well, Strong Woman and Praises Cardui For Her Recovery.

Royse City, Tex.—Mrs. Mary Kilman, of this place, says: "After the birth of my little girl...my side commenced to hurt me. I had to go back to bed. We called the doctor. He treated me...but I got no better. I got worse and worse until the misery was unbearable...I was in bed for three months and suffered such agony that I was just drawn up in a knot..."

I told my husband if he would get me a bottle of Cardui I would try it... I commenced taking it, however, that evening I called my family about me... for I knew I could not last many days unless I had a change for the better. That was six years ago and I am still here and am a well, strong woman, and I owe my life to Cardui. I had only taken half the bottle when I began to feel better. The misery in my side got less... I continued right on taking the Cardui until I had taken three bottles and I did not need any more for I was well and never felt better in my life... I have never had any trouble from that day to this."

Do you suffer from headache, backache, pains in sides, or other discomforts, each month? Or do you feel weak, nervous and fagged-out? If so, give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a trial.

The encampments for farm boys and girls are attracting much attention from rural districts and are expected by those in charge to prove big drawing cards for the 1917 exposition. Five hundred boys and 250 girls will be guests of the State Fair, and, in addition to receiving invaluable educational service, will be awarded prizes of material worth.

The offer of free exhibit space and increases in prizes to be awarded are expected to bring to the 1917 fair the largest number of county exhibits yet listed. Correspondence already on file with Secretary W. H. Stratton indicates that a number of counties which have never yet shown their products will be represented this year.

DON'T NEGLECT CHILDRENS KIDNEY WEAKNESS

Memphis Parents Should Not Overlook the Little One's Kidney Ailments.

One of the most annoying ailments of childhood is weak kidneys and inability to control the kidney secretions. Not only is this a discouraging trouble and one that every mother is anxious to get rid of, but it is in many cases a signal of danger, of trouble that will get worse constantly if not attended to. If your child is frail or listless, doesn't run around or play like other children, complains of backache and of feeling tired—suspect kidney weakness. Doan's Kidney Pills are very effective for kidney weakness in children and are perfectly safe. Memphis parents recommend them.

Mrs. R. Frazier, Orient Hotel, Memphis, says: "One of the younger members of my family suffered for quite a while with weak kidneys. The kidney secretions passed to frequently. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Madden-Rushing's Drug store were used with good results. They are a good reliable kidney medicine and I advise all mothers, whose children are subject to trouble with Doan's Kidney Pills."

Mrs. Frazier is only one of many Memphis people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Mrs. Frazier recommends, the remedy backed by home testimony. 50 cents at all stores. WHY YOU ARE NERVOUS

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body. In a perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, tiredness, dreamful sleep, irritability and unless corrected, leads straight to a breakdown. To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutriment gets into the blood and rich blood feeds the tiny nerve-cells while the whole system responds to its refreshing tonic force. It is free from alcohol. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.
