Newest Fad

The 'hostess pajama,' is Hollywood's latest clothes fad. It is said to be a charming costume for soirees, teas and very informal dinners. And here is Nancy Carroll, a charming hostess, dressed for the occasion. They're of cloth of gold with sable trimming.

Illness of King Permits View Of Royal Home Life

LONDON, Jan. 30. (UP)—The home life of King George of England amidst the splendor of Buckingham Palace is simpler than that of any other rich man among his subjects, it was revealed to newspaper men permitted to remain in the Palace during the monarch's long illness.

Uniformed Retainers

The King is required to keep a staff of uniformed retainers around him, mostly garbed in bright red tunics, but they are for show purposes to uphold his dignity as ruler of the British Empire. About half a dozen personal servants suffice to attend to the needs of the royal family at the Palace, including valets and pages for the King himself, ladies' maids for the Queen and a valet each for the two sons who live at home, Prince Henry (Duke of Gloucester) and Prince George, the young heir Prince.

Continuous Surprises

Continuous surprises of the intimate, homely life of the royal family leads were afforded during a few weeks passed inside Buckingham Palace, providing a contrast with the pomp and magnificence of the King's contact with outside affairs, such as at state functions, receptions to brother monarchs from other parts of the world and other glittering gatherings.

About 20 rooms are used by the King and Queen and their family, although there are many more in the vast royal residence. The royal household arises at 8 a. m., but as a concession the Queen sometimes permits her sons, if they have no pressing public engagements, to sleep a little longer. Breakfast is taken either in the Green Room at the back section of the royal apartments, close to the King's personal rooms, or in the Chinese Room at the front, overlooking both the Mall and Downing street and Charing Cross.

Terrific Hustle

Breakfast finished, the business of the day begins, involving sometimes a terrific hustle. The busiest boys in the world are probably the three Princes who, as declared to the United Press by a Palace official, never stop from early morning until late at night. Demands on their time by social, personal and public engagements are so pressing that

CORRECTION IN MEET STORY IS MADE

Statement As Printed Was According To Information

Some misunderstanding seems to have arisen as the result of a news story published in a recent issue of this paper. In the story in question, it was stated that the county interscholastic league meet was held last year in Estelline and at that time, an admission charge was paid for the various events. That was the information furnished to the paper and thinking it to be absolutely genuine, The Democrat printed it.

It has now come to the attention of the management that the story was incorrect to the extent that no charges were made for the various literary events held in connection with the meet. If this had been known at the time the story was received in this office, a statement to that effect would have been made. It is understood, however, that an admission charge was made to the basketball games and The Democrat was correct in so stating.

Explanation Made

Fred Landers, editor of the Estelline News, tried to explain to his readers that no misrepresentation was intended by this paper, but it is thought to be expedient to re-emphasize that fact. The Democrat would not willingly misrepresent any item of news or any opinion knowingly and if the story has created the wrong impression, the management desires to assure the people of Estelline that nothing of the kind was intended.

Estelline has always shown a spirit of cooperation with Memphis and this friendly feeling should be encouraged. As neighbors and friends, the citizens of the two towns should work together for the mutual interests of both municipalities.

Cordial Invitation

Estelline is extended a cordial invitation to bring its interscholastic league contenders to this city in the spring of the year as the meet will be held in Memphis within a comparatively short period of time. The neighboring town has one of the best basketball teams to be found in any section of the Panhandle and the Memphis cagers will have to be up and doing if they expect to defeat the boys from over Estelline way. Although the Memphis team has gotten off to a good start, their chief hindrance in the march to success rests with the Estelline players. The Memphis Chamber of Commerce has arranged for the meet here this year and is bearing all expenses in connection therewith. All events will be free to the public without any charge whatsoever.

Enter Into Spirit

It is hoped that Estelline will enter into the spirit of the meet just as Memphis did last year, and that a large number of citizens from the neighboring city will attend the various events which are scheduled to take place during the two days of the meet.

Coach Would Try Team of Ten Men

BERKELEY, Cal., Jan. 30. (UP)—Carl Zamloch, University of California baseball coach, is a stock broker in his off hours, but is not as conservative as that calling might make him appear.

Last year he introduced "reversible baseball," in which the batter could run either to first or third base, provided it was not occupied reversely, and he has announced that he will add to it the ten-man team conceived by President Heydler of the National League.

Latest Innovation

Where Zamloch is going to try out his latest innovation, or even train his prospective champions in any kind of baseball, still is a question, however, for the university administration has appropriated his old varsity diamond as a site for the largest academic building on the campus, and the freshman diamond has had a big slice of left garden removed to make way for the construction of a new driveway.

Averts Fires

J. PRICE DUKEMENIER

Utilities Worker Helps Materially In Stopping Fires

J. Price Dukemenier, of Childress, employee of the West Texas Utilities Company, is bearing his laurels more modestly than many men who are situated in similar circumstances. Recently, he probably averted a railroad wreck, saved property of the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad from fire damage, and a few days later extinguished flames which were threatening to destroy the Prairie Hill schoolhouse near Wellington. This became known only recently when Mr. Dukemenier modestly exhibited a letter from an official of the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad, praising him for his fine work.

Saw Burning Bridge

Driving along the highway beside the railroad right of way, Dukemenier discovered the railroad bridge spanning Red River afire. He jumped from his automobile, found water in the barrels alongside the bridge and extinguished the flames before they had been given time to spread for any considerable distance. Had he appeared on the scene a little later, he would possibly have arrived too late to be of any benefit as the bridge would have been a solid mass of flames.

Noticed Smoke

Several days later, Dukemenier was driving past the Prairie Hill school and noticed smoke curling out from under the doors and windows. Investigating, he found fire had broken out in the coal bin in the basement of the building. He had no firefighting apparatus, but called the Wellington fire department. When the engines arrived, the firemen found the smoke so dense that it was difficult to enter the building. Dukemenier donned his gas mask, which is a part of his safety equipment, entered the building and extinguished the flames with chemicals.

Employees of the West Texas Utilities Company are taught in monthly safety meetings first aid, how to resuscitate shocked and drowned persons and what to do in emergencies such as fires, storms, wrecks and catastrophes. These two acts were direct results of safety meeting instructions.

Mr. Dukemenier attended the monthly safety meeting in Memphis recently and makes it a practice to attend every meeting of this kind held in the district. The West Texas Utilities Company commended the employee for the excellent service he had rendered. This company is holding safety meetings in line with

Life Rocket Device To Throw Rope Line 325 Yards Distance

LONDON, Jan. 30. (UP)—A lifesaving rocket apparatus which, it is claimed, will throw a rope line accurately at 325 yards, has been invented and patented by Coastguard W. G. Knight, of Scarborough.

"With the old gun," said Coastguard Knight, "it has never been possible to fire a rocket and throw a line accurately, but with my gun I can fire into the eye of the wind at any elevation and hit the mark."

The gun, three rockets, three sets of wires and 325 yards of inch rope, weigh only 80 pounds.

ANNEX DRIVE IS DRAWING TO A CLOSE

Assigned Quota Will Be Reached Sunday It Is Hoped

According to Rev. E. T. Miller, the annex to be built by the membership of the First Baptist church, will be started it is hoped by March 1. This statement was made, following a checkup on the funds collected at the services Sunday morning which were in the amount of $4,000. This makes a total amount of cash on hand of $10,443, and the total desired is $15,000. Rev. Miller stated that he thought the remainder of the amount would be raised next Sunday morning.

In the event that the necessary funds are forthcoming at the service Sunday, plans now call for the ground to be broken for the new building about the first of March. A number of contractors have been seen and various figures have been submitted for the proposed structure, however, no definite plans have been decided upon. It is not known just when the contract will be let, but it will not be awarded until the amount of cash is reached which was originally agreed upon.

To Cost $30,000

The annex is to cost between $25,000 and $30,000. The remainder of the funds are to be secured through the medium of a ten year loan, which will enable the congregation to construct the building according to the plans originally made.

The Baptist annex will be a model of efficiency and usefulness. It will take care of many of the departments of the Sunday school that have outgrown their present quarters. It is also thought that with a new building, the membership of the church will be allowed to expand, as heretofore this has not been possible due to the lack of room.

Holding Meetings

The annex committee is holding meetings practically every week and the consensus of opinion prevalent among the workers is to the effect that the needed funds will be in hand by next Sunday. An effort is being made to see every member of the church in order that the financing may be undertaken and contributed to by all. Several of the classes have already reached their assigned quota, and other classes are well over the amount they were asked to raise.

Activity Decreasing

In each department of the Sunday school, activity has been decreasing in raising funds to make the annex a reality. Various methods have been resorted to in order to secure the various quotas. Some of the classes have sold canned goods, others candy and sandwiches, still others have sold subscriptions to magazines. At least one member of the church gave a donation of $1,000 and several have given as much as $500, with a number of contributions in the amount of $100 and more.

Recently, the board of deacons of the church employed a secretary to assist the pastor in his work and to take over a large part

Soft Drink Leads To Boy's Arrest

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Jan. 30. (UP)—A youth's penchant for chocolate "pop" led to rapid solution of a robbery in Fairplain, and brought George Altizer, 17, and his chum, Alvin Spears, 19, to court.

A grocery store was broken into and a small amount of money taken. Officers were puzzled until Chief Deputy Sheriff Ray Hall got a hunch—and followed it.

Got Chocolate Pop

The grocer told the deputy that the boys got nothing but the small change and a quantity of chocolate pop.

"Have you any good chocolate pop customers?" Hall asked. The victim thought a moment and then answered: "Yes, there's George Altizer, a young fellow who buys a lot of it."

Hall confronted Altizer with a charge of the theft and the youth soon confessed, implicating his companion.

Late Wire News

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (UP)—Representatives of labor organizations protested today to the Senate Interstate Commerce Commission committee against the confirmation of the nomination of Pat M. Neff, former governor of Texas, as a member of the Railway Board of Mediation.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Jan. 30. (UP)—Martin Jensen, winner of the second prize in the Dole flight to Hawaii today attempted to break the world's endurance flight record. He is one of several aviators planning to start today. Weather conditions are said to be generally favorable, although the temperature is low. The skies are clear and only a slight wind is blowing.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30. (UP)—Direct testimony in the bribery conspiracy trial of Asa Keyes was probably completed today, three and one-half weeks after the trial opening. The last witness for the third defendant, Ed Rosenberg, will be heard today, according to defense attorneys. The state will not call Mrs. Keyes to the stand for cross examination, District Attorney Fitts announced.

DALLAS, Jan. 30. (UP)—Two armed bandits put J. C. McVey, ice station employee, in cold storage early today, and after robbing the cash register of a small amount, escaped in an automobile. McVey was locked in an ice storage vault.

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., Jan. 30. (UP)—The ice breaker, Comrade Stark, battled its way through the ice floes in upper Lake Michigan today in an attempt to reach 130 men marooned on four ice bound grand trunk ferries. The ferries were caught in the ice floe two miles off shore. Each vessel carried a crew of thirty and a few passengers. They were well supplied with provisions and coal.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 30. (UP)—Henry Johnston, suspended Governor of Oklahoma, will not offer a demurrer to impeachment charges when his trial opens before the Senate court tomorrow, it became known today. Judge Thomas Owen, chief counsel, announced that the suspended Governor would plead not guilty to each of the eleven charges. To have asked an early trial on the demurrer would have admitted the charges, Judge Owen stated, but asserted they are not impeachable offenses.

OVEN PREPARED FOODS ARE THEME

Third Day of Cooking School Enjoyed Thoroughly

Increasing in attendance and enthusiasm as it progresses, the third session of the cooking school sponsored by The Memphis Democrat, revealed the fact that every woman present was interested in the subject Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig discussed, that of oven cooking, for pencils and note books were much in demand, and several women were seen to get a fresh supply of the note books furnished through the courtesy of this newspaper.

Musical Numbers

Preceding the lecture and demonstration, Mrs. C. L. Sloan, Jr., charmed the audience with a number of piano and vocal numbers and Mrs. Mac Tarver sang in her always gracious and pleasing manner. This program of having a prelude to the work of the afternoon seems to start things off in the right way and The Democrat has been complimented on securing such able talent that is contributing so much to the unbounded success the cooking school is proving itself to be.

Oven Cooked Meal

Mrs. Ihrig prepared an oven cooked meal that was delightfully tempting and fine food for hungry humanity as any woman present will attest. She stated that it was her purpose in this lecture and demonstration to show the women present how to make their cooking duties lighter than has heretofore been the case. It is not so much the cooking that women seem to dislike, but it is watching the food, once it has been prepared that women often find tiresome, Mrs. Ihrig brought out in her lecture.

She showed what a simple matter it is to get the best results from knowing how to cook properly with the oven at the right temperature and knowing for just how long a time a certain article of food should be allowed to remain in the oven. She stressed in her lecture the value of waterless cooking of vegetables.

Meal Was Rich

The meal that Mrs. Ihrig prepared was a rich one, consisting of meats and vegetables, dessert and bread. For dessert, she prepared the always tempting date loaf, which was highly complimented by all who tasted it. She also prepared what she called "half bread." This is made from whole wheat flour, raisins and nuts and is, in reality, the piece-de-resistance of the oven meal.

Works Unannoyed

The woman who finds the jangling telephone a fatal disturbance when she is busy at cooking, or who has to "shoo" the whole family out of the kitchen when she begins her work, finds in Mrs. Ihrig much at which to marvel, for by dint of her great knack for doing things systematically and well, her refusal to allow small things to annoy her, and her love for harmony at all times, permits her to unfold her lectures and demonstrations with the greatest calm and precision. She lectures as she works, beating, mixing, molding and designing. Some of

Mobile Fox Hunt National Affair

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 30. (UP)—Hounds and hunters of the nation will meet at dawn here February 6 to begin a three-day fox hunt for which entries are being received from all over the United States. The chase will be "Open to the world" and all-age hounds may be entered. Cast will be each morning at daybreak. Other entertainment for riders and masters has been programmed for the afternoons and evenings.

Bring Own Dogs

Visitors will bring their own dogs and a number will bring down their own mounts for the chase. Horses will be supplied to riders not importing mounts.

The local chase is sponsored by the National Hunter's association and the winner of the all-age stake will be awarded the Alabama Challenge cup. Seven other cups will be given in addition to ribbons.

Bright Broadway And Side Streets

BY SAM LOVE

United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (UP)—Maude Adams, darling of another generation as "Peter Pan," is coming back to the stage, although not until February 1935.

Charles L. Wagner is responsible for the announcement—which Miss Adams has not taken occasion to deny—that a contract for the famous star's reappearance has already been signed. According to Wagner, Sir James M. Barrie will be 'interested' in the return of the almost legendary Miss Adams.

She has been, to the public, a recluse for many years, although she has friends enough among a chosen circle and has occasionally been sighted by some long-memoried admirer at openings on Broadway. A sort of Lindbergh of the footlights, who in one gorgeous flight as Peter Pan achieved her immortality, she finally shut herself up with an austere silence that caused New York City editors, when they wished to get rid of a reporter, to command: "Get an interview on anything from Maude Adams—and don't come back until you do."

What has induced her new plans in the way of acting is something of a mystery. She is now in Hollywood. In the spring she will go to India for a picturization of Kipling's "Kim." Her first Broadway offering, according to Wagner, will be "an unusual monologue," with perhaps a play later.

With a belligerent attitude born of having been forced to say many nice things about him, the critics await the production of Eugene O'Neill's new drama, "Dynamo," scheduled for a February production. A competent Theatre Guild cast, with Claudette Colbert in the role of the atheist's daughter, has been in strenuous rehearsal for several weeks. Dudley Digges is playing the atheist and George Gaul the minister. There are also important parts for Glenn Anders, Helen Westley, Ada Fife, and Calhoun Doucet.

"Dynamo" will continue the use of "asides" for spoken thoughts begun by O'Neill in "Strange Interlude," and has been described by the author as "digging at the roots of the sickness of today as I feel it—the death of the old God and the failure of science and materialism to give any satisfying new one."

Broadway has lost one of its oddest characters—its oldest confirmed 'first nighter.' She was Mrs. Matilda Mayer, who was recently overtaken by death in her 84th year and in the midst of the 40th theatrical season in which she had not failed to miss an opening, good or bad, unless two or more on the same night disrupted her schedule. Since the days of 'Diamond Jim' Brady, she and her son, George, a retired manufacturer, have been fixtures at first nights. When their usual seats—A 1-2 or A 101-102, were occupied by strangers recently, there was talk in the lobbies about it. Inquiry revealed that the tiny, white-haired old lady was dead.

Lenore Ulric, star of 'Mima,' David Belasco's mechanistic version of a Molnar hell, celebrated her 1,500th appearance under the Belasco banner. She has not missed a performance in 13 years.

Body Construction Featured by New Dodge Bros. Six

One of the most important developments in the automotive industry in recent years is the Mono-piece body construction featured in the new Dodge Brothers Six.

This new type body is revolutionary in principle and its construction and assembly is entirely different from that used on any other car.

The Mono-piece body is literally one-piece, and is built inflexibly onto the chassis so as to give inherent rigidity. There is not a seam from front to rear.

This unique construction is brought about by the stamping of four major sections and the electrical welding of them into a single unit. In this way all structural noises are eliminated; perfect balance, exceptional riding steadiness and safety are assured, and extraordinary roominess is achieved with a new degree of grace.

Exhaustive Tests
Exhaustive engineering tests over thousands of miles of country driving have proven that this new type of body is of such sturdiness that the old-time squeak and rattle is a thing of the past.

Steel for this body is rolled at the mill to the exacting specifications formulated by Dodge Brothers engineers, and there is just enough ductility to permit easy forming in the dies of the mammoth presses. Lock seams, shoulders, flanges, beads, depressions, hollow pillars, bridge arches, and curves build strength into this body that is unknown in any other form of body construction.

Graceful Curves
The graceful curves of this body satisfy a two-fold purpose. They contribute to the pleasing appearance of the body and also act as braces, adding greatly to the sturdiness of the steel structure. Raised reinforcements add to the stiffness and strength as well as appearance. The mouldings at the belt lines are raised in the panels instead of being separate pieces of metal.

Another feature of the mono-piece construction is the long appearance that is given the car due to the fact that body sills are eliminated and the body is built directly onto the chassis. The elimination of the body sills not only adds beauty to the general appearance of the car, but it is a real safety feature. By constructing the body directly onto the chassis, the center of gravity has been lowered, thus minimizing sideways.

Finishing Touch
As a finishing touch to this new type construction, the bodies have been given a luxurious interior appearance. Details of appointments have been carried out to a point where beauty is one of the predominating characteristics. The various models are richly upholstered and fitted with artistically designed hardware. The deluxe models are fitted with smoking sets nicely designed and silk assist cords to harmonize with the upholstery. Arm rests, foot rests and robe rails are also conveniently placed.

"Probably no feature of any car has caused so much favorable comment at the automobile show as this mono-piece body construction," said Charles W. Matheson, general sales manager of Dodge Brothers, in commenting on the interest that is being shown at their booth by the large show crowds. Reports from the dealer organization show that the same enthusiastic reception is being given the New Dodge Brothers Six all over the country. We believe that this car will set new sales records."

Simplicity Makes Refrigeration Of Outstanding Value

"A practical electrical refrigerator, yet simple and trouble proof, was the aim of the General Electric Company in developing their latest product, the General Electric Refrigerator," says Frank Fore of Ballew & Fore, distributors for this new, efficient machine.

"Years of research, unlimited time, money and money power were spent in preparing this machine for the public.

"The General Electric Refrigerator needs no attention and does not even have to be oiled. Women will appreciate this feature for once the Refrigerator is connected to the light socket, they can forget it, insofar as the mechanics of the machine are concerned.

"The coils need no dusting or care, as the circulation of air through them drives the dust away from the top of the refrigerator.

"All foods are kept fresh and wholesome, sound and delicious. New delicacies are easily made in the General Electric Refrigerator. Every woman likes to entertain when she is sure her salads will be crisp and tempting, and her drinks cold and refreshing."

According to Frank Fore, much interest is being shown by the public in this new scientific refrigerator. The enthusiasm of satisfied owners knows no bounds and many sales have been made through this source of recommendation.

New delicacies from left-overs quick!

Empanada Chilean

Latin countries are famous for good—and inexpensive—food. You will understand why, when you taste this native casserole dish from the slopes of the Andes, adapted for American kitchens and improved—with Crisco. Yes, vastly improved, for no other fat in the whole world lends a sweeter, fresher flavor to the foods cooked with it.

- 2 cups finely minced cold beef or veal
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1 green pepper, chopped
- 1 1/2 cups brown gravy
- 1 dozen raisins
- 2 hard-boiled eggs, sliced
- 1/2 cup ripe or green olives, cut
- Crisco pastry dough

Sauté chopped onion and pepper for a few minutes in Crisco. Mix with cold meat, raisins, eggs, olives and brown gravy. Place in Crisco casserole and cover with rolled pastry. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 30 minutes, or until pastry is nicely browned. This makes an appetizing dinner dish which will serve 6.

Brown gravy: Brown 2 tablespoons flour in 2 tablespoons Crisco and add 1 1/2 cups meat stock or milk.

Crisco pastry: Blend 1/2 cup Crisco with 1 cup flour sifted with 1/2 teaspoon salt and add 1/2 cup ice water slowly.

Honolulu Sauté

Even in romantic Hawaii, land of sunshine and flowers, housewives face the eternal problem of Left-Overs. And solve it, too, with Crisco. It's a nice thing to be familiar with a shortening like Crisco which keeps fresh and sweet in any climate and without the aid of an ice-box.

This is an economical recipe, and a good one, for using bits of "day before" food in the frying pan with Crisco. And Crisco frying is frying for Crisco itself is sweet and fresh to the taste just as it comes from the can.

- 1 1/2 cups cooked, left-over rice
- 1/2 cup chopped ham, left-over
- 1 small onion, chopped fine
- 3 tablespoons Crisco
- 3 eggs, beaten well
- salt and pepper

Sauté onion and rice with Crisco in hot skillet. When lightly browned, season with salt and pepper and pour in beaten eggs (to which the ham has been added). Cook from 3 to 5 minutes or until the egg is done and serve on hot platter garnished with parsley. This is an excellent dish for luncheon and especially attractive for Sunday night supper.

Simplicity Croquettes

"She can make something out of nothing" (the test of a true housewife) can well be said of the woman who originated this recipe. Just cold mashed potatoes and left-over ham go into it. But when deep-fried in Crisco they become this real "no-noisy dish," croquettes, golden brown and crisp on the outside (thanks to Crisco) and well-seasoned and well-flavored within. And when we stop to think about it, should any of us be willing to fry food in a fat that hasn't itself a sweet, fresh flavor? No—and that's one reason I use Crisco for frying—it tastes wonderfully sweet and fresh just as it comes from the can.

- 3 cups mashed potatoes
- 1 1/2 cups minced left-over ham
- 1/2 cup bread crumbs
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1 tablespoon water
- 1 tablespoon Crisco

Blend potatoes with Crisco, shape into balls, hollow out center, fill with ham and cover with potato. Make round by rolling in palms of hands. Roll in crumbs, dip in egg diluted with water, and roll in crumbs again. Fry in hot Crisco (350°-375° F.) or when a small piece of bread browns in 40 seconds. Drain on absorbent paper and serve hot either plain or with sauce poured around (never on) the balls. With the addition of a salad this is an adequate luncheon.

Crisco is the trademark of a superior shortening. The Homer & Handy Co.

Crisco is used in the Cooking School now being conducted by this paper
Mrs. Leona Rusk Ibrig, in the Democrat Cooking School, makes a point of modern methods in cooking. Naturally then, she uses Crisco, the modern shortening. Not only is Crisco easy to use; in addition it helps you secure better, surer results.

ed such wrecked enterprises, are alleged to have been ruthlessly made the victims of a cruel, inhuman, and heartless conspiracy on the part of such corrupt government officials by which conspiracy they have been treacherously mistreated and hurriedly rushed to the penitentiary, to their great shame, humiliation, and disgrace, and which has resulted in great, permanent, and irreparable damage to them and their families.

He Travels

Here is little Frank T. Stanton, Jr., pictured as he arrived in New York recently from Europe. There is nothing unusual about his arrival, however, for Frank has averaged two round trips to Europe every year of his life. He is 5 years old and has made ten trips abroad.

to immediately inquire diligently and thoroughly into the history, records, and facts concerning the various Federal prosecutions of independent oil men who have promoted and developed valuable oil projects in Texas, and the manner of liquidating their properties thru conveniently arranged Federal receiverships and otherwise, during the past ten years, which has resulted in widespread financial loss and bankruptcy of countless individuals scattered through out the United States of America, the wrecking and despoilation of Texas concerns owning valuable oil properties, and determining by what method or channels such properties have found their way into the hands of the major oil companies, and also probing into the manner and means whereby independent and pioneer oil men have been ruthlessly and treacherously prosecuted on alleged, manufactured, and perjured evidence in United States courts by which men are alleged to have been unjustly sent to the penitentiary, and also determining the underlying cause for all of these unusual, unjust, and unreasonable matters.

Be It Further Resolved that the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Forty-first Legislature of Texas cause to be forwarded copies of this resolution to both the United States Senators of Texas and each of the Congressmen of the respective congressional districts of the state of Texas.

Washingtonian Is Afraid of Flood, So He Builds Ark

OLYMPIA, Wash. Jan. 30 (UP)
—The 'Ark of the Pacific Coast' built to carry followers of the Lord to higher lands when He floods the Pacific coast, rides on Puget Sound under the shadows of the dome of the state capitol.
The 'Ark,' built by a hermit named William Greenfield, is one of the strangest ships ever constructed.

Youth, middle-aged and aged are following in the paths of sin says Greenfield, who has termed himself captain of the queer craft, and who has built the 'Ark' in answer to God's revelations, to carry him and non-sinners across the ocean to higher lands when he invokes the penalty on sinners.

'Captain' Greenfield is aided in his work by one known to him as Michael. The 'Twentieth Century
Noah' says that God named Michael to assist him in preparing the vessel.

The vessel floats peacefully on the harbor awaiting the call which Michael says will come in two years, and which Greenfield says will come in one year, apparently neither knowing just when the deluge is to inundate the Pacific coast.

Not for Animals

Greenfield has made it plain that he will not carry any animals with him when he takes the journey.
He plans on making only a short voyage with the ship.

The hull of the craft was constructed by Greenfield at an Olympia mill in 1922, and floated to its present location, where at low tide it rests in a specially constructed cradle to keep it clear of mud.

The boat is anchored near the end of the one of the arms of Puget Sound approximately a mile from the dome of the new capitol.
One inspired by man and the other by God, says the 'prophet.'

A 100-horsepower motor is in the hull. Installation of the motor has not been completed. The craft carries no propeller.

Piano for Hymns

The first deck of the 'sin-saver'
is fitted up for living purposes, where the modern 'Noah' spends much of his time, probably pondering over the present state of the world. The tiny room, in which he meditates, is jammed with odds and ends. A small piano, in need of tuning, fills one corner. It is to be used by Greenfield after the 'Ark' has landed on dry land, for singing hymns of praise.

The room is lined with sheet-metal and painted white. Toward the stern another room is located, to be used as a guest room for visitors. A narrow walk is provided along the rail of the stern where a ladder leads upward to the top of the deck. The deck is roofed over to keep the rains, that are slated to fall during the tidal wave, back.

Greenfield is of slight build, medium height and about 60 years of age. He is of English descent, speaking with an English accent
but was born in Illinois.

Make it safe to be hungry!

Breathless youngsters bounding in from school. What healthy appetites they have!
By all means give them plenty of nourishing food to fill that between-meal
"emptiness." Just be sure of one thing
. . . that the food you give them is thoroughly fresh and wholesome. And you can't be absolutely sure unless you have scientifically correct refrigeration.

Milk and meat, fruits and vegetables must be kept at a temperature below 50 degrees at all times if you are to check the growth of bacteria. The General Electric Refrigerator maintains a constant, dry cold, several safe degrees below 50—under all conditions.

This "years ahead" refrigerator is different from all others. It is automatic—surprisingly quiet. All its mechanism is sealed in an air-tight steel casing, so that you never even have to oil it. It makes plenty of ice and uses remarkably little current.

The cabinets stand well above the floor on sturdy legs, with ample broom room underneath. The top-coils radiate a rising current of air which prevents dust from settling. Come in and see the wide range of models. We will arrange deferred payments if you wish.

CHAS. H. BRICE

Chas. H. Brice was born in Cave Springs, Georgia, October 1, 1870. He received his early education in private schools for boys in his home town. In early manhood he came with his parents to Memphis, then in its infancy, where he has resided continuously for 36 years. His father, mother, two sisters and one brother preceded him in death. Two sisters only survive him, Mrs. R. I. Leslie and Miss M. D. Brice, both of this city. He was never married.

When not engaged in his regular work, Mr. Brice used some of his spare time in his favorite occupation of making violins. He was stricken with paralysis, April 9, 1928. After lingering some months he was stricken with a second stroke which resulted in his death January 28, 1929 at 7 o'clock. He will be laid to rest in Fairview cemetery.

He lived a quiet, peaceable life and had many friends and loved ones to mourn his death.

Funeral services are being held this afternoon at the home of his sister, 815 Harrison street at 2 o'clock, the Rev. E. T. Miller, pastor of the First Baptist church, conducting the services.

Silent Woman Now Cause of Action For Divorce Decree

LUBBOCK, Jan. 30. (UP)—The "Silent Woman," sometimes derisively classified as a mythical person, figures in a petition for divorce filed here.

The petitioner, a Lubbock man, stated that he had been married since 1894, a period of thirty five years. Early in his married life, the wife developed a violent, irritable temper and often used vile and vitriolic language at her spouse, the petition recited. Then, suddenly, the wife changed and for a period of seven years refused to utter one word to her husband although living with him constantly.

The petition further stated that after the seven years the woman relented and for a while became pleasantly communicative. Then followed another five year period of silence. For the past fifteen years, the wife has refused to live with her spouse, the divorce plea continues.

All in all, talking or silent, the husband decided he had a divorce coming.

WELLINGTON VISITOR

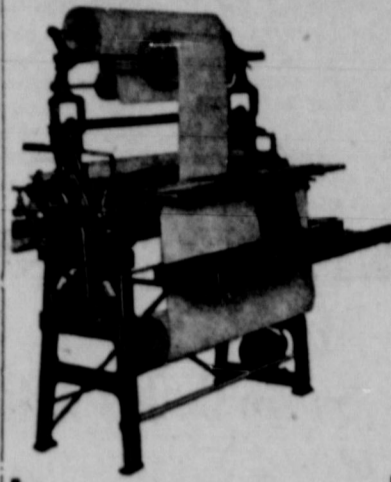

J. A. White, with the White and Dukeminier Transportation Co., of Wellington, was in Memphis Tuesday afternoon on business. Mr. White said his business called for him to travel all over the Panhandle country, and that he thought the lower road between Wellington and Memphis was the roughest he had ever traveled on. This is not a very creditable report for either Collingsworth or Hall county and shows very plainly the urgent need of a state designated, paved highway between these two county seat cities.

5. An adequate public library.
6. More paved streets.
7. Better police and fire protection in business and residential districts.

PREACHERS AND POLITICS

REPRESENTATIVE J. Lewis Thompson of Houston has declared that recent activities of "political preachers" have reflected no credit to the state or church. He would seek to bar political activity of the clergy by legislation. He has introduced in the house of representatives a joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment, which would bar any pastor or priest from being eligible to serve as Governor or as a member of either branch of the Texas Legislature. The proposed amendment would be submitted to the people for a vote in a special election to be called by the Governor. The measure provides that the sum of $5,000 shall be set aside for expense in issuing the proclamation of the special election. The resolution has not been acted upon, as yet.

The wearers of the cloth, as leaders of their respective flocks and as public spirited citizens, are entitled to all the liberties of free and unhampered citizenship. They have a perfect right to express their views in any manner they deem expedient, provided the pulpit is not used for such utterances. So far as we know, there is nothing to prevent them from making use of the house of God to carry on affairs of a political nature, but as Mr. Thompson says, those wearers of the cloth who are generally looked upon as "political preachers," do not reflect any too much credit upon themselves, the cause they are espousing or the church they are attempting to uphold.

Personally, we like preachers. We recognize that without them this country would lose much of its greatness and goodness. But more than anything else, we like them in their places; we feel that their job is administering to the poor and weak, the sick and afflicted, the dead and dying, and in carrying the message of the Gospel is a large enough task of itself, without borrowing trouble from the outside. It seems to us to be out of their pale to actively engage in the business of politics.

Several preachers are members of the Texas Legislature at the present time. One of them has brought forward an anti-evolution bill. Now, why on earth was such a course necessary? Evolution is being taught in Texas, is has been taught in the past and it will be taught in the future. It is logical; it cannot be controverted, all the religionists in the country to the contrary notwithstanding.

We desire to continue our respect for ministers of the gospel, but we also desire to have something to respect. If the pulpit does not provide a job big enough for preachers, they should go into something else—for a mixed religion is not overly conducive to soul salvation.

SAYING WHAT WE THINK

It is the policy of The Democrat to be constructive and not destructive. That policy may be said to be expanded a notch or two beyond that statement by adding that this paper does not choose always to take the popular side of a question, but the side that seems inherently fair, logical, and as nearly right as we are capable of ascertaining.

Long ago, we have learned that it is impossible to please all the people all the time, and therefore, no real effort is made to do so. We would not say here that we are always right and we will not admit that we are always wrong. Whatever else may be said of this newspaper, let it be known that we do have a policy. Our purpose is to deal fairly and squarely and to "shoot straight."

It is not always easy to state pertinent convictions when it is realized public sentiment is on the other side of the fence. It is not pleasant to take the gaff of ridicule and criticism, but this paper is trying, ever so hard, to rise above the littleness of the moment, to stamp out prejudice, to unseat hate and to make of the territory it serves not necessarily a better place in which to live, but a finer place in which to achieve.

Both sides of any question in which the public has a general interest will be presented in our columns. Regardless of our attitude on a particular matter, we believe in justice and try to live up to this belief. As human beings, we err, but in that illusive final analysis we hear so much about, we believe we are not so very different from our fellows. "To err is human;" that is certainly true in our own case and we imagine we are not a particular exception to the general rule.

Some of our good readers seem to think we have it in for them if we change the substance of a story or if they fail to get the amount of publicity they feel is their portion. The demands imposed upon newspaper workers are many and the time is generally limited. In every respect, we attempt to evaluate the news stories for their true worth and to publish them in the order of their importance.

An old established custom is telling an editor how to conduct his paper. We appreciate advice, but we have made the publishing business our business and under the circumstances we feel that we know slightly more about it than some who would have us believe that we are "all wet." We may be; but a little water goes a long way, sometimes, to clean the atmosphere.

WHEN GREEK MEETS GREEK

YESTERDAY, Alfred E. Smith, a private citizen hailing from the state of New York, called on President-elect Hoover. Both men are supposed to be resting and basking in the sunlight of balmy Florida, the one golfing and the other fishing. Several months ago, these same two men were telling the voters of the nation their qualifications for the Presidency of the United States.

The United Press report, giving an account of the meeting, states that Messrs. Smith and Hoover recounted the days of the campaign and various incidents of it. Their conversation would have been highly entertaining if this writer had been privileged to "listen in" and find out just exactly what Al said to Herb and what Herb said to Al.

We are inclined to the belief that Herbert Hoover is a pretty good sport after all. One thing is sure, he likes to fish and thereby has the sporting instinct. We know for a fact that Smith takes things with a smile. Both men are big enough to forget the campaign rumpus and to remember that they are both American citizens, living together in a country where freedom is worshipped and sometimes achieved.

This meeting in far away Florida recalls to memory another of the famous meetings in history. It took place at Appomattox Courthouse in the year 1865. The Confederacy had fallen and General Robert E. Lee, as commander-in-chief of the Southern armies, was face to face with General Ulysses S. Grant, the Federal commander. Lee offered Grant his sword as was the custom in those days, and Grant, charitable in victory, asked that he keep his blade.

Possibly this meeting in Florida will not stand out in the pages of written history as did that meeting in Virginia, but it will nevertheless be an inspiration for members of both great political parties in the United States to remember that our country comes before parties, cliques, groups, or measures and principles.

Al Smith was reported to be wearing his famous Brown Derby when he went to call on Hoover. The latter was possibly attired in white flannels. Florida, in winter, is conducive to such things. These men joined hands. Both are great Americans, statesmen of the first magnitude and "brothers under the skin." Greek met Greek upon this occasion, the Protestant Hoover, the Catholic Smith. If these men are big enough to do a thing like this, surely we should be generous enough to bury the hatchet of discord and work together in a spirit of cooperation and fellowship to enhance the well being of our nation, and to reflect new credit upon Americans everywhere.

Panhandle Press Paragraphs

Most stealing is done by young fellows, who seek to escape work. Any town with a large proportion of men making a living without visible means of support is going to have a crime problem to deal with sooner or later. It is the part of the officers to stop an influx of these gentry and keep them moving.—Quanah Tribune Chief.

Nearly every household boasts volumes hardly ever used. These could be given to the library without sacrifice since the books would still be available. If every household in the city would furnish a half dozen books, the result would be astounding.—Pampa Daily News.

Now that Turkey is promised a marked improvement in telephone equipment, numbers of new subscribers no doubt will be added to the directory. Expansion along all lines will bring about the necessity of putting on delivery wagons and the installation of local bus cars. Won't we applaud swim?—Turkey Enterprise.

Why not pay your poll tax today and be a free man as to a right to vote. There might come up a road bond issue or something else in which you would be very much interested but cannot vote because you have no poll tax.—Claude News.

The 1928 Chamber of Commerce passed into history with the banquet of Tuesday night. The accomplishments performed by the organization the past year were many and constructive. The old board of directors with its president piloted the body through to a noble victory. The achievements wrought by them in 1928 are on record, plainly visible to the eyes of all who care to investigate. They were not performed without indefatigable effort upon the part of the president, secretary and members of the board.—Graham Leader.

Nothing will build a city like a responsive trade territory. For instance, look at Dallas. And while you may not believe it, Lubbock has a larger natural trade territory than Dallas has. For proof—consult a map.—South Plains Farmer.

An engineer has to take several years' training in the shops and firing on the road before he is allowed to run or take charge of an engine on the railroad, which can follow only the steel rails, yet children are allowed to drive an automobile, which can be run in any direction and even into the ditch and that, too, without a month's practice at the steering wheel.—Claude News.

The country has been aroused in recent months, as it never was previously, to the importance that agriculture bears to general prosperity. Public opinion will see to it that some adequate relief measure is passed. Constructive aid is needed in the marketing and warehousing of farm products in such a way that the farmers will be assured of getting a fair return for their labor and receiving their share of the general prosperity to which their contribution is so great.—Canyon News.

Heirs of General Fremont Begin Fight in Congress to Regain Property

The name of General John C. Fremont, colorful, impulsive "Pathfinder" of the '50's will be heard once more in Congress when the next session opens. Not, however, as in the past, when he was a popular figure of the new west, nor as an impetuous member of the Senate, when he came to blows with a colleague.

His name will be used by his grandchildren who will revive a long fight to have turned over to them a part of Fort Mason, overlooking the Golden Gate at San Francisco, as property taken from Fremont while he commanded union forces in the Civil War and which was never returned to him.

Thus is called to mind the amazing career of the man who has no counterpart in American history, unless he is accepted as a sort of frustrated George Washington. The two have many things in common. Both devoted many of their early years to surveying large tracts of government land; both were army men with valorous records, Washington was president, while the Pathfinder had to be content with the nomination for that office when Buchanan won the election. He was California's first United States Senator.

Shunted to New West
Fremont's colorful career began soon after his marriage to Jessie Benton, daughter of Senator Tom H. Benton—known as "Old Bullion," and for 31 years a senator. Benton objected strenuously to the marriage and never forgave Fremont. Even when fame and honor came to Pathfinder, Benton

THE NAME OF GENERAL JOHN C. FREMONT will be heard in Congress during the next session when his grandchildren, led by Benton C. # RISING SPIRIT SHOWN BY AMERICAN DAILY PAPERS

By HARRY W. FRANTZ
United Press Staff Correspondent

Spirit of South America, as reflected in the spirit of the great newspapers of the Southern Hemisphere, is being marked by every member of President-elect Hoover's recent Good Will Tour. The Latin republics are lands of Manana, and are being thoroughly belied by the imperiousness of the South American press for speed in the of English parliamentary debates, and such rare items as the daily journals of the French revolutionary period.

Complete Archives
Prensa's section of archives also was a revelation to the North American visitors. The personnel of this section challenged the Americans to name any topic whatever, and were able in practically every instance to find well-documented references to it. Racing is a favorite sport in Buenos Aires and the Prensa has a complete record of all famous race horses of the world including photographs of most of them.

Generous Treatment
In Guayaquil, Lima, Santiago, Buenos Aires, Montevideo, and Rio de Janeiro, the most generous treatment was accorded with visiting newspapermen with luncheons, or dinners, receptions, special automobile trips, and every conceivable effort by South American journalists to demonstrate their desire for fraternal relations with their North American confreres.

Photographs Praised
Cameramen with the Hoover party were impressed by the fine technique of press photographers in South America. Pictures of the Hoover party shown in Buenos Aires were very striking, especially those which showed enlargements of individual figures in the midst of the crowd. One of the papers printed full-page photos on the afternoon of arrival, remarkable for clearness.

Plant a Marvel
The plant of La Prensa, visited by newspapermen who accompanied the Hoover mission, was found to be a marvel of organization and efficiency. There are more than 300 persons on its complete editorial staff, and the office roster at Buenos Aires, including mechanical personnel and chauffeurs numbers nearly 1,400. A magnificent building on the famous Avenida de Mayo houses not only the editorial establishment, but special services of general social utility such as the free public library which caters to workingmen seeking a better education.

All Space Taken
If the present space in reservations is maintained, all stall space in the three large livestock barns at the Central East Texas Fair grounds, where the show is to be held, will be taken far in advance

A Study in Warfare Contrasts

The old and the new in warfare is graphically illustrated by this remarkable air photograph of the Navy PN-12 patrol flying boat soaring over the navy's graveyard at San Diego, Calif. Scores of decommissioned battleships can be seen anchored in the harbor below.

of the actual opening, reports Bryan Blalock, secretary-manager of the show. However, if necessary, three large general dairy exhibit buildings are available and can be quickly made ready for the dairy cattle, it was said. Assurance was given that ample accommodations are available for all possible entries.

Premium List Large
Although the premium list of $2,365 is a big attraction to the numbers of out-of-state breeders who will exhibit at the East Texas Dairy Show, the opportunity to sell high-grade animals at a good price and to a good demand likely is the stronger influence, in the opinion of Guy A. Blount, of Nacogdoches, chairman of the agricultural committee of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, and president of the dairy show.

Aviation Committee of West Texas Body Meets In Ft. Worth

STAMFORD, Jan. 30. (UP)—The Aviation Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will meet at the Texas Hotel in Fort Worth February 5, at 10 a. m. After perfecting the organization the committee will consider legislation protecting and regulating aviation in West Texas.

In the afternoon of the 5th, the members of the committee will be the guests of the Texas Air Transport Company, and will be given a free ride in one of the large planes. There is no question in the minds of the people of West Texas as to whether aviation is going to be the leading means of transportation in the future. Almost every town in the western section of the state is maintaining an airport, building one, or doing its best to get the proper people interested in designating one, regardless of the fact that in the majority of cases the operation of an airport will be an expense for a number of years.

Many Reservations For Dairy Showing

LONGVIEW, Jan. 30. (UP)—Early reservations for stall space indicate a record-breaking first-year for the East Texas Dairy Show, to be held at Marshall, March 4-7, under the sponsorship of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. Heretofore already assured for the show include the show animals of an exhibitor who is probably the largest breeder of Jerseys in the United States, and the Southwest's most noted herd of Ayrshires. Holsteins and Guernseys also will be liberally represented, the large premium list having already attracted herds of those four principal dairy breeds.

If the present space in reservations is maintained, all stall space in the three large livestock barns at the Central East Texas Fair grounds, where the show is to be held, will be taken far in advance

they arrive at the Palace just in time for meals and leave as soon as possible. Each evening dinner is served at 8:30 o'clock. Usually the Princes arrive at 8:25 p. m., allowing themselves five minutes in which to struggle into their tuxedos and be promptly at table in order not to incur their royal mother's displeasure, which sometimes can be very keen.

They are usually at the table on time.

Greater Liberty

Given greater liberty since he moved some years ago to St. James Palace, Wales now strolls into his father's home whenever it pleases him and obviously enjoys the change. He never fails to chat with the old servants in his father's employ when he meets them in the corridors and as he is whisked aloft in the elevator to the royal chambers on the first floor he jokes with the attendant he has known since childhood.

Since his sons have grown up, King George, always a home-loving man, has been relieved of many public functions enabling him to spend much of his time as he likes best, particularly poring over his collection of foreign stamps, his favorite hobby.

On the Level

The money that was collected in the drive will not last for so very long, the way cases have been coming in to the United Charities. If the supply of funds becomes exhausted, other methods will have to be resorted to. An organization can go just so far and do just so much with a limited bank account. I might add that every case coming before the charity body has been thoroughly investigated, and no funds were expended without the approval of at least two members of the board. That thought may be comforting to some.

Bulletin Issued

Each Sunday, a bulletin is issued, which sets forth the progress being made in the annex drive and details the amount of funds still necessary before the drive will have gone "over the top." The bulletin also contains state and local news of interest to Memphis Baptists, showing what is being thought and done by other congregations over the state of Texas.

Rev. Miller urges all Baptists who have not made their pledges to do so at once in order that the drive for funds may be brought to a close without any unnecessary delay. He stated that he was of the opinion that one more Sunday would be all that was necessary for the congregation to have the necessary amount of money raised, so that the attention of the annex committee could be turned in the direction of securing proper plans and beginning the construction.
