

Governor To Call Legislature In September Hundreds Of Veterans Wait In Line For Tickets Home

Big Spring this morning has as guests the men who direct the flogging properties of the Continental Oil company.

Conditions of the past two years have taught a lot of people around here that there is a lot more truth than poetry in this: As the oil business goes so goes Big Spring.

We ought, therefore, to be appreciative of a company whose president is credited with causing the recent advance in the price of West Texas crude oil from 50 to 65 cents per barrel.

We ought, also, to appreciate that a company of this type has invested so many, many thousands of dollars in this county.

Continental paid this year in taxes on Howard county property $14,063.58 or about one-seventh of the total paid on all oil and gas properties including producing leases, royalties, production, pipelines, refinery plants, oil field supply company stocks and other properties existing because of the presence of the oil field.

With sincerity then we say to Mr. Moran and his men that Big Spring and Howard county consider them very valuable citizens of this county, even though they may reside elsewhere. And, Mr. Moran, any time you take another notion to grab the bears, instead of bulls, by the horns and hoist the price of crude again, you can run for any thing from president down (if you become that foolish) and be elected in Howard county without opposition.

The proposition relative to building grade and drainage structures on Highway No. 9 north of Big Spring that has been before the county commissioners court for several weeks soon will be passed by another and more liberal proposal.

The commission has offered and received acceptance of proposal to build No. 9 south of here and erect two overpasses on No. 1.

Both these proposals include agreement that the county pay one-third of the cost at some future, undetermined, date when it can afford to.

But, the commission is preparing to tell the county that if it will provide 100-foot highway, fenced, it will build both No. 9 and No. 1 across the county—without any future obligation on the part of the county.

So our county commissioners now will have more time in which to work out with the highway commission details of the plan, and to determine the best way of obtaining funds to buy the required right-of-way. This money cannot, of course, be obtained at once and not this year, and perhaps not next year. But some plan, we are sure, can be made that will allow for construction of these roads.

We have said in this column that various members of the commissioners court were sort of putting off acting on the No. 9 proposal until after the election. Now, that statement does not mean that we figured these commissioners would wait until after the election and then do something they were afraid to do before the election. It meant merely that it was our idea that had rather no matter of this kind would become a topic of general discussion until after the election. And that would go for every person that is running for any office. All candidates feel that way and, perhaps, reasonably so.

Every precinct in Howard county now is being well represented and well served by its commissioner. They are honest, conscientious men. You can bet on that.

So there is no reason whatever for constituents of any of the commissioners to worry about any action they may take before or after the election.

Our idea has been all along to acquaint the public with the proposal before the commission. But that proposal soon will be invalidated by another and more liberal one and there is no use discussing it further at this time.

It is never unwise for the people to know of matters such as this. When we said the boys were sort of waiting until after the election we said something that could be applied to all candidates and that does not imply lack of faith with the people.

It is our firm belief that when this new proposition is submitted by the state the matter will be worked out in a manner as satisfactory as humanly possible and that is all that any one can ask.

Bonus Army Men Take Up Gov't Offer

Veterans Administration Worked Overtime Providing For Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—The veterans administration was rushed Saturday furnishing transportation to homesick and discouraged bonus marchers.

Long before the offices opened a line of veterans were waiting to take advantage of the $100,000 loan fund appropriated to Congress to pay railroad fare and buy food for veterans wishing to return home.

Officials said they did not know the exact number that had applied, but believed it would exceed one thousand before night. The offices will remain open almost twenty-four hours including Sunday to accommodate ex-soldiers who have been camped here for weeks.

Merchants Of City Approve Carnival Here

Thirty Of Thirty-Three Answering Questionnaire Well Pleased

Thirty of thirty-three merchants replying to a questionnaire mailed by the Chamber of Commerce regarding the recent "Carnival of Values" declare they are in favor of holding it as an annual affair. Scarcely half of the merchants contributing to the affair have replied, C. T. Watson, manager, said Saturday.

A decided majority of those answering by Saturday declared that their businesses registered sharp increases during the carnival. All but a few said their increase in business had warranted the donation they made to the carnival, directly or indirectly. Others said the donation was well spent regardless of increased returns. Only three had absolutely negative answers.

Only a few said they did not have out of town customers not normally trading in Big Spring. Watson said he expected a number more answers during the fore part of next week.

Oil Company Formed Here

Owners Of New Well On M. M. Edwards Land Stockholders

Organization of the Tribal Oil company was effected here Friday and application for a charter forwarded to the secretary of state at Austin.

The company consists of a group of Big Spring men who are interested in the well being completed on the Marion Edwards land in the western extension of the Howard-Glasscock county line, which extends to the Phillips-Coffee pool a half mile.

Dr. G. T. Hall is president, Otis Chalk secretary, Noel Lawson secretary-treasurer and the three with Dr. E. O. Ellington and A. E. Seville compose board of directors. W. B. Currie, who was out of town when the company was formed, also is a member of it.

The company will be capitalized for $30,000.

The company will begin a second well on the Edwards section, as once, it was declared. It will be located west of No. 1 Edwards, 150 ft. from the south and 167 feet from the east line of the 40 acres adjoining the forty on which the No. 1 well is located. This is in section 11, block 33, T. & P. survey, township 2 south.

Two offset tests are expected to be made necessary by splendid production which appears to be forthcoming from the No. 1 well of the Tribal company. Success of its No. 2 Edwards would cause two or three more, it is reported.

Tribal's No. 1 Edwards, which topped up at 2112 feet and drilled to 2115 feet, drilled plug Friday afternoon. Oil rose about 1,500 feet in the hole during four hours of drilling and balling. The rig was shut down to await erection of storage.

SENATE OKS RELIEF BILL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate Saturday approved the conference report of the $2,100,000,000 unemployment relief bill, 43-31.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democrats Saturday agreed to support the conference report on the $2,100,000,000 unemployment relief bill. Action at a party conference virtually assured senate approval of the controversial measure, which will send it to the White House.

A veto seems certain. Democrats gave support in view of Speaker John Garner's refusal to modify the provision for loans to individuals to which the president objects.

However, the decision of the conference was not binding and it was understood that some Democratic senators would vote against the report. Expecting a veto, Democrats also considered plans for the enactment of a compromise bill.

World War Really Ended Friday When France And Germany Agreed On Payment Of War Reparations

"It's Done, It's Done, It's Done" Cries Premier Of France At Conclusion Of Meeting

By HARRY FLORY United Press Staff Correspondent (Copyright, 1932, By United Press) LONDON (UP)—The allied powers, victors in the world war, asked Germany to pay $65,000,000,000 for the cost of the titanic struggle.

Germany agreed Friday to pay $23,140,000,000 or one cent on the dollar of the fantastic sum originally asked.

This died at Lausanne today the expectations engendered in the post-war hysteria of a golden German goose that would discharge golden eggs for three score years and ten as a machine gun fires bullets.

Ended Friday The world war really ended at Lausanne Friday. It ended when Edouard Herriot, premier of France, emerged beaming from the conference of statesmen and shouted: "It's done. It's done. It's done."

Then he seized a blond German woman and a brunette French one.

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—The reparations agreement scaling down Germany's bill from the original $64,000,000,000 to $700,000,000 was initiated Saturday by delegates of leading powers.

Almost before the ink was dry, preparations were started for a world economic conference as authorized by the treaty.

Commission Member Gives Views On No. 9

Frank Hodnett Outlines Opinion In Letter To Newspaper

Position of Frank Hodnett, county commissioner for Precinct No. 1 with reference to an offer of the state highway department to build highway No. 9 north of Big Spring if the county will provide the right-of-way and promise to pay one-third of the construction cost at an undetermined date in the future when it can provide the money, has been outlined in a letter to the editor of The Herald.

The letter was prompted by comments in "Home Town Talk" in The Herald upon failure thus far of the court to act on the proposal.

It is generally conceded now that the highway department will offer soon to build both highways No. 1 and No. 9 in the county in return for right-of-way only, not requiring a promise ever to pay any of the cost of construction and that the proposal now before the court will be superseded.

Mr. Hodnett states his position with reference to this No. 9 proposal in the following sentences in his letter: "I wish to say to you that if the state highway department will pave and work over No. 9 as it now exists north of Big Spring, that I will vote for the proposition when we have first made some arrangements for the money to pay for the work being done, but I am unalterably opposed to the running of Highway No. 9 in practically a straight line from Big Spring to Ackerly, and I will vote against any such proposition at any time between now and the first day of January and thereafter if I am re-elected, unless the people in my precinct convince me that it is the will of the majority that I vote otherwise. I will vote their sentiments on the matter and not my own."

Mr. Hodnett's letter also says: "I have seen from your comments in 'Home Town Talk' in your paper dated July 6th and 7th that you have seen fit to commend the Commissioners' Court for the splendid financial condition which the county now enjoys and in almost the same breath, you condemn them because they do not enter into a wild expenditure of finances which we do not have."

"The highway department wrote our county judge and sent him an order which it had passed, agreeing to build drainage structures and grade on Highway No. 9 north of Big Spring of Howard county would give them a 100 foot right-of-way from Big Spring to Ackerly, the right-of-way to be fenced and the county further agreeing that in the future, when it

Relief Chief Subject For Law Makers

Use Of Gasoline Tax For Retiring County Bond Favored

AUSTIN (AP)—An extraordinary session of the legislature, probably in September, was assured Saturday after Governor Sterling's definite announcement to Minnesota Wells of his intention to call the law makers.

The governor has intimated several times recently that he would convene the legislature to consider relief measures. He said he would submit measures designed to reduce the cost of state government and relieve counties of bonded indebtedness incurred in the construction of highways.

It was regarded as certain that the governor would urge the legislature to reduce salaries of state employees.

One of the major proposals he contemplates submitting is to give one cent of the four-cent gasoline tax to counties to create a fund with which to pay principal and interest on bonded indebtedness incurred in the construction of roads now a part of the state highway system.

'The Perfect Program' New Entertainment Idea Offered By Ritz Today

Intending Patrons To Be Barred At Certain Hours During Presentations Here Sunday And Monday

The road show department of R & R Theatres has conceived a new idea for the delectation of amusement seekers, as a consequence of which there will be presented at Ritz Sunday and Monday in regular performances, a program deemed perfect by Manager J. Y. Robb, and as such called "The Perfect Program."

The inspiration for this program is the fine dramatic action and subtlety found in the Columbia picture "Attorney For the Defense" by the reviewing committee of R & R Theatres in Dallas, who term it a perfect picture. The punch of the story's drama hits out in the very first sequence, and the action mounts in crescendo from then on, never being stilted by dialogue, padding or what not, and marching to a climax that for dramatic intensity and startling surprises has seldom been equalled and never exceeded. And it has numerous subtleties of direction and acting and character analysis that mark it as an altogether superior film.

The story is that of an ambitious district attorney who becomes ruthless in his zeal for victory; in a climax he works his transformation. Well-chosen scenes bring out the change in the man's character. And then—the bitter irony of it—conscience makes him defendant in a murder trial. The chair to which he had sent many men beckons to him. And the prosecutor, his successor, is relentless in seeking not only a conviction of his predecessor but his deep and lasting humiliation. This is enacted in a climax of such intensity and such amazing surprises that no one will be permitted to enter the theatre while it is on the screen. To preserve the surprises of this climax and the keen suspense of the drama leading to it, also to guard persons already in the theatre from being disturbed and having their attention distracted from the screen, there will be no tickets sold between the hours of 2:55 and 3:12, 4:55 and 5:12, 6:55 and 7:12, 8:55 and 9:12 p. m.

Besides "Attorney For the Defense," the Perfect Program will include the newest comic outburst of the famous Stan Laurel-Oliver Hardy team, "The County Hospital," also a Silly Symphony, "The Bird Store"; a Curiosity reel and the indispensable News. Five units of unquestioned excellence comprise the program.

Signs Of Improvement

PAUL MALLON, writing for the National Whirligig, asserts that Washington's private opinion is that business is better than at any time in six months.

The belief is based on a number of factors, including the slipping out of the country of a glut of French gold; improvement in the condition of banks; increased revenue coming into the treasury; and credit stimulation brought about by open-market operations of the federal reserve system.

This last really is important. Last week credits increased $75,000,000. That is only a drop in the bucket, but its importance lies in the fact that credits increased rather than declined. Since 1930 they have been on the wane. They shrank from $2 billion to about $1 billion in two years, crippling the commercial facilities of the nation. Now credits are on the upgrade once more, and as about ninety per cent of the country's business is based on credit, the rise is significant—and indicative of better times.

The biggest fly in the ointment of national well-being is unemployment. Unemployment will cease to be a problem when the nation's factories begin turning wheels when commodity prices make the farmer once more an employer of

Family Life Film Topic

Problems Of Younger Generation Strongly Presented

A simple, honest, straightforward story of family life and the problems of the younger generation is which will open Tuesday at the Ritz theatre for a two day run as a filmization of John Van Druten's play, "After All," which enjoyed a successful run on Broadway last season.

Here is depicted the age-old struggle between parents and their children. A boy and girl resolve to lead their own lives, defying conventions and the wishes of their parents whom they consider to be old-fashioned. For the boy, who are gay nights in the celebrated Latin quarter. For the girl, there is a clandestine romance and a run-labor when construction projects get under way. Every last one of these factors depends on credits, and plenty of 'em.

away marriage. In the end it is shown that the younger generation always steers back to the course of sanity, even as their parents sowed their "wild oats" but turned out all right before them.

The discerning direction of Charles Brabin and the acting of a uniformly excellent cast has much to do with making this picture an unusually effective and touching piece of screen drama. Robert Young, in the role of the son who goes to Paris only to fall into the maelstrom of night life and cafes, gives a brilliantly sympathetic performance, as does also Margaret Perry star of the original New York production, who enacts the same role in the cinema version. As the daughter who defies convention for the man of her choice, she plays a difficult part with skill and a fine sense of feeling.

Lewis Stone's performance as the old-fashioned father is as usual flawless and the role of the mother who refuses to understand her wayward daughter is admirably played by Laura Hope Crews. Others who deserve credit for excellent work in supporting parts include Myrna Loy, David Newell, Jean Hershall, Ruth Selwyn, Kathryn Crawford and Louise Clouser Hale.

TEXAS RAILROADS PAY SUBSTANTIAL PART OF STATE'S TAX BURDEN

● Taxes is one of the large fixed charges connected with the operation of Texas railroads. From the standpoint of the welfare of state, counties and communities, railroad taxes are of much importance. This annual obligation must be met from the earning capacity of the rail carriers.

In 1931 the railroads of Texas paid a total of $8,303,108.47 in federal, state, county, municipal and miscellaneous taxes. The distribution of this amount to the various tax funds is shown below:

	Amount Paid	Per Cent of Total Tax Paid
U. S. Government	$ 61,270.13	.74
State	1,954,435.47	23.64
County	1,146,669.97	13.81
Roads	1,699,764.15	20.47
Improvement Districts	175,606.87	2.12
Schools	1,437,152.74	17.31
Cities	1,792,994.61	21.59
Miscellaneous	35,214.59	.42
Total	$8,303,108.47	100.00

It can thus be seen that railroad taxes represent an important and indispensable factor in the economic life of our state. They help in a large measure to pay the expense of our state, county and municipal government, build and maintain highways, pay the cost of drainage and other improvements, and support our schools and educational institutions.

It is the desire of Texas railroads to extend this helpfulness to Texas counties and communities in carrying this heavy burden. However, their ability to meet these obligations as they become due depends upon their ability to earn sufficient revenue with which to pay this and other heavy expenses connected with their operation.

● RAILROADS HAVE ALWAYS SHOULDERS THEIR SHARE OF RESPONSIBILITIES TO THE NATION, THE STATE, AND THE CITIES AND COMMUNITIES THEY SERVE, AND WILL CONTINUE TO DO SO TO THE EXTENT OF THEIR ABILITY.

O'Brien Comes Here Friday

Mystery Ranch, Outstanding Western, Here Two Days

With George O'Brien, one of the most popular stars in motion pictures, playing the leading role; with a company of 200 carefully selected players to support him and outdoor scenes that are said to stand out in pictureque beauty, "Mystery Ranch," a Fox production, comes to the Ritz Theatre next Friday for a run of two days. The film, based on the novel, "The Killer," by Stewart Edward White, was directed by David Howard.

Cecilia Parker, who made her screen debut with O'Brien in "The Rainbow Trail," enacts the leading feminine role and others in the cast include Charles Middleton, Noble Johnson, Forrester Harvey, Russ Powell, Roy Stewart and Charles Stevens.

"Mystery Ranch" tells the story of a handsome young ranger, who attempts the rescue of a beautiful girl held captive by a half-mad rancher and cattle thief. To accomplish this, he becomes involved in a series of exciting adventures that are said to provide many thrills new to the screen. The role is reported as the best ever played by O'Brien.

'Society Girl' Stars Dunn

Peggy Shannon In Title Role With Lovable Youth

Life's hard knocks and its language learned as an automobile salesman and the adventures of a roadside lunch wagon, are said to have been of immense help to James Dunn in each of his screen characterizations, particularly in his latest Fox hit, "Society Girl," coming Thursday only to the Ritz Theatre.

As the articulate but conscientious husband in "Bad Girl," Dunn made screen history with his realistic portrayal of the East Side radio salesman. In "Sob Sister," his language was that of a modern reporter. "Dance Team" brought the idiom of small-time booters and cafe entertainers to the screen. The vivid, racy slang of the ring and its hangers-on, talk heard around the training quarters, contrasted with the sophisticated of Southampton's elite, is the dialogue medium of "Society Girl."

Big Spring Net Men In Angelo

Dunagan Lost For Season; W. Mann as May Substitute

The Big Spring four-man tennis team, crowned champions of West Texas during the annual tournament here June 30, July 1 and July 2 will invade the courts of San Angelo Sunday afternoon for a dual meet with the netters of that city.

SPORTS ON PARADE

By CURTIS BISHOP

The Pittsburgh Pirates are still setting the pace in the National League. Their latest exploit was taking four out of five games from the New York Giants and holding their advantage of two and one half games over the Chicago Cubs.

year, will play No. 2 singles and Bishop No. 3. San Angelo will offer D. W. Clinton, Southwest Conference singles champion in 1928, Tom Williams, former Baylor University star, and J. J. Pettus, San Angelo veteran.

teams. Bearing the bulk of the catching is Dick Grace, who could not be a regular for the Chicago Cubs. On the mound Larry French, Steve Swetonic, Heine Meine, and Tom Swift are doing most of the work. None of them have ever been stars before.

Lately a chap named Chagnon, formerly of Fort Worth, has been doing real relief work. Barbee, the left fielder, is an unheralded recruit who is smacking the apple lustily. Evidently this Gibson fellow is something of a miracle man, for on paper it is the weakest Pittsburgh club in years.

The Big Spring racketeers, who hold the title of West Texas champions, will visit San Angelo Sunday afternoon for a crack at Clinton, Williams, and Pettus, the three stars of the Concho country. The locals will be considerably weakened by the absence of H. B. Dunagan Jr., who left yesterday for Austin, where he will undergo a major operation.

Reports of a polo team to be formed in Midland during the summer brings to mind that Robert "Cherry" Lawrence, a candidate for some sort of office during the last political campaign, was a member of Texas A. & M.'s championship quartet not so long ago. Lawrence lives several miles north of the city.

Leroy Mensing, sports columnist for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, recently said that according to the moving pictures of the affair Jack Sharkey clearly held an advantage over Max Schmeling in their heavyweight championship fight earlier in the month.

Now the boxing commission has ruled that in the future only boxing experts approved by the commission will be allowed to broadcast the battles. To which the National Broadcasting Company has replied that they have always chosen their own announcers and always will.

What constitutes a boxing authority? Gene Tunney, Jim Corbett, and Howard Mensie were among those who said Schmeling clearly held the advantage throughout the fifteen rounds. Evidently such men are not to be trusted to express their views upon a battle.

Fans who remember the boxing and wrestling matches at the Casino dance hall will be glad to know that Woodie Windham, the Anson boy, who either fought or grappled, it didn't matter which, is now a promoter and fighter in Fort Worth and doing fairly well.

Roasting Ears Cause Arrests

R. L. Hughes and O. D. Jackson, taken into custody Friday night by Deputy Sheriff Andrew Merrick and Bob Wolf, were held Saturday to face misdemeanor theft charges. Merrick and Wolf were patrolling the Elbow vicinity Friday night when they spotted the pair.

Hawaiian Swimmer Through Here With Olympic Aspirations

Duke Kahanamoku, Hawaiian swimmer who has won many official titles and world-wide acclaim for his prowess in the water, heads a party of swimmers from Los Angeles making an aerial dash to the Olympic try-outs in New York, who passed through here Saturday on the eastbound American Airways plane. There are eight swimmers in the party and three of these accompanied Kahanamoku, on the day plane through here, the remaining four following Saturday night on the overnight plane operated from the west coast to Ft. Worth.

The party in the lead will wait overnight in Fort Worth for the arrival of the second group and together they will board the east-bound American Airways plane there for Cleveland where they will rest overnight and hold swimming practice before completing their trip to New York City Monday. The Olympics are to begin in Los Angeles on July 30 and the try-outs are scheduled to be held in the east within a day or two after the arrival of the swimmers. The group of masculine swimmers follows closely a group of five women who anticipate being selected to represent the United States in aquatics at the Olympic games who passed through here a few days ago. They were made up of Buster Crabbe, Frank Booth, John Paulson, Tom Blankenbush, Frank Walton, Curtis Cummings and Arthur Lindgren.

"BUCK BARRY"

Edited by Jas. K. Barry (Southwest Press) This is another of those books that the Southwest Press is issuing in its praiseworthy endeavor to preserve the flavor of early Texas civilization while there are still those living who recall or who have possession of important facts regarding the state's development.

Buck Barry, whose full name was James Buckner Barry, came to Texas in the forties shortly before Texas became a republic. He was one of the early citizens who helped to protect the frontier against the Indians and organize that group of men who were to go down in history as the Texas Rangers.

The book goes behind the scenes and relates actual facts concerning Indian warfare, as Buck Barry had recorded them in his diary. The young adventure seekers of today who lament the passing of the thrilling frontier days will be surprised at the monotony of constant Indian fighting. Buck had hardly time to farm or to raise cattle and horses. After a short interval at home he would be ordered out to a section of that state, sometimes many days travel from home, to stay until he had cleared up the trouble.

He might return to find the Indians had driven off his best horses or that his crops were ruined. He might have made a fortune for his family if he could have stayed at home, and looked after his own affairs. The Civil War was responsible for a good deal of the trouble given by the Indians. The war withdrew troops, otherwise engaged in protecting the frontier, and caused a change of federal attitude toward the Indians that was not conducive to the protection of the citizens. Local men like Mr. Barry, were forced to arm themselves and sometimes to take matters in their own hands for their preservation.

The books deals with such varied topics as Hay's Texas Rangers; experiences as a sheriff, trailing horse thieves; scouting with the Texas Mounted Rifles and many and various Indian fights.

KALEIDOGRAPIH The July issue of the Kaleidograph is off the press and filled with many interesting interpretations of verse. We believe Texans will enjoy most of all Ethel Osborn Hill's "Yucca Blossoms." The author's home is in Fort Arthur.

I would wake in a sea of beauty— Each gully and rocky crest, And miles of the far-flung foothills In yucca blossoms dressed; Tall and stately, and shining With a kind of mystic glow, Like friendly angels watching Lone cowboys here below.

"Lanterns of Jesus," they called them, And the Spanish herdboys said They were meant as lamps for the living And candles for the dead. God! How old memories gather— Buffaloes, Indians and fights, And a matchless peace of the prairie. On silent, moon-lit nights.

And when my spirit rides the trail Across the Great Divide I want the Jesus Lanterns To light the path I ride. And when I'm in my final bunk, God's earth my winding sheet, I want the yucca blossoming At my head and at my feet.

California Still Expecting Hoover To Open Olympics

LOS ANGELES, Cal. (UP)—A case of typical Southern California optimism is the apparent belief President Herbert Hoover will open the 1932 Olympic games here July 30. This belief still held out today in the face of the president's statement last month he probably would not be able to make the trip to Los Angeles.

To an inquiry at Olympic headquarters it was said no substitute speaker had been arranged. "Last October," one Olympic official remarked, "President Hoover accepted an invitation to open the games. Since that time we have had no official word to the contrary. Accordingly, we have made no plans for another speaker."

Daughter-in-Law Of Mexia Founder Dies

DALLAS (UP)—Funeral services were held here today for Mrs. Mary D. Mexia, 73, widow of Clarence William Mexia, son of General E. A. Mexia for whom the city of Mexia was named. She died yesterday and is survived by a son, Clarence W. Mexia, two daughters, Miss Max Mexia and Mrs. Henry Eggehoff, and a sister, Mrs. T. G. Midgett, all of Dallas.

Mrs. Mexia was the daughter of the late Major Albert Denning who moved from Alabama to Freestone county with his slaves before the Civil war. She and her husband were married in 1879 at Groesbeck, Mexia, a banker, died 35 years ago in Mexico City. His father had been a famous army commander and civil official in Mexico.

The skit was greatly enjoyed. In the freckle contest Harshell Freeman won first prize and received a hair cut from the Service Barber Shop. Betty Womack was given second place.

Touring Students To Be Here Tuesday

University of Tours, a summer school on wheels, is scheduled to stop here Tuesday night, C. T. Watson said Saturday.

Sixty people under the supervision of Oklahoma City University will travel in two buses, it was understood. The party is something similar to the Omnibus College which stopped here last summer. Watson has not heard definitely from the management of the party recently. He was asked previously to furnish a list of tourist camps that they might submit bids. It is presumed the itinerary has not been changed since no notification of such has been received.

Is It a Gamble, or Is It a Habit? We know of a case where six different physicians in a neighboring town were called by a family during the past few months. Inquiry proved that not a single one of these physicians had received pay for his service. Further investigation developed the fact that this is a very common practice with a surprisingly large number of families and that although our physicians have long tolerated this situation steps are now being taken to remedy it. CHAPTER XXXVI

Dan Phillips looked up from the typewriter. "We've been at this thing for two hours, Brenda," he complained. "and I haven't even written half a page!"

The typewriter table stood a few feet from the davenport in the living room of Brenda Vall's apartment. A lamp made of a Chinese vase with a taffeta shade illuminated the young man's face.

Brenda Vall turned. She had been standing before the open window and now she turned one hand against the casement. It was a pose that was becoming as Brenda Vall very well knew. Her figure was silhouetted against the black sky. She wore her favorite costume—pajamas. They were made with trousers of black velvet, and a tunic of gold brocade.

"Miss Vall frowned impatiently. 'What is the use?' she said. 'I have told you that when I am out of the mood I simply can not work. I am tired. My head aches. This trying to build up action, to plan entrances and exits—oh, it is maddening!'

"So sorry!" Phillips' tone was apologetic. "I didn't know you weren't feeling well. It's only that you know we promised ourselves we'd have the first act done this week. You should have sent me away long ago."

She arose but the woman put out a hand to stop him.

"No," she said. "Don't go. Stay here and talk to me and maybe the head will feel better. I am as anxious to have the work finished as you are. A little rest and perhaps I'll be able to get at it again."

She sank to the davenport. Her titan head was pillowed against a cushion of jade satin.

"Sit here beside me," she went on. "You're comforting, Dan. I feel as though I'd known you a long while, yet what is it? Only about two weeks. Most of that time we've been talking about gunmen and gangsters and other terrible creatures. Talk to me about something else, won't you?"

He dropped to the seat beside her. "Wouldn't you rather I'd go?" he said unseeingly. "If you're tired rest is what you need."

For an instant the gray-green eyes met Dan's. "If you go I'll be lonely," Brenda Vall said softly. "And I am lonely so much of the time."

Phillips smiled. "That's an odd thing for you to say. You have so many friends, Brenda. Why, you're the last person in the world I'd expect to be lonely."

"You think so? Ah, then you are not as clever as I thought. Loneliness comes from the heart. What do you know of a woman's heart?"

"Why—why I don't know. I don't spend much time reading those love-lorn columns if that's what you mean. I've always had the idea men and women are really pretty much alike."

Miss Vall leaned her head back. "Cigaret?" she said idly. Phillips held the box for her and flicked the automatic lighter into flame.

"Men and women are alike," Brenda Vall said slowly. "And yet they are different. Each of us, I suppose, is doomed to much loneliness. It is only when a man or woman meets another who really understands that the loneliness is lifted. But there—I have myself for company all day. I want you to talk now."

Phillips smiled. "As looked very boyish and very attractive when he smiled. 'I'm sorry, but along, 'if that can be right?' Since there was no one to answer the question went without reply. Cherry took up the scissors and began to cut around the paper pattern.

It was her first experiment in dressmaking. Mrs. Moreau had been making her dresses and had promised Cherry that she might use her sewing machine. The pattern was one of those labeled "for beginners." Cherry had read the directions half a dozen times but the result of her work, as it lay before her, was more puzzling than any problem she had ever encountered in school days.

Slowly and laboriously she cut around the last bit of paper. The sections of cloth did not seem to look like much but when Cherry held them up she thought she began to understand how they fitted together.

"She was gathering up the last of the strips of yellow cloth when a key sounded in the lock. Cherry scrambled to her feet.

"Goodness, Dan, I didn't know it was so late!"

The young man looked down at the floor. "Say, what's going on here?" he demanded. "What in the world—?"

Cherry laughed. She held up a long piece of cloth. "My new fall outfit!" she said. "How do you like it?"

"Well, it don't look like much to me. What's the idea?"

"It doesn't look like much to me, either," Cherry admitted. "But wait until I'm through with it! It's going to be a dress, Dan. You didn't know I was a modiste, did you?"

"Do you think you can make a dress out of that?"

The girl nodded. "Mrs. Moreau promised to help me," she told him. "Of course I don't expect it to be very beautiful out the color's pretty. Don't you think so? It'll do to wear around the house. Besides, I wanted to see if I could really do it. The pattern and cloth together only cost $1.75."

"You're getting to be a miser," Dan told her grinning. "Pretty soon you'll be wanting me to wear homemade shirts and crocheted neckties."

"I'll have to learn to crochet first. Are you hungry? Dinner's almost ready. I can have it on the table in 10 minutes."

"No hurry," Dan said. "What do you say we go over and pay a call on the Caseys tonight? He was asking last week when we could

Ward Asks More Time To Take Out Debris On Main St.

J. L. Ward, owner of the building destroyed by fire this spring at Second and Main, has written City Manager E. V. Spence asking more time be allowed him to clear debris and pump water from the basement.

Ward said he was attempting a settlement with insurance companies and as soon as it was effected he would remove the rubbish. Previously he had written a similar letter when notified by the city that he would be compelled to remove debris on the grounds that the ruins were unsanitary and constituted a fire hazard.

He said he had delayed straightening the ruins because he might need them if suit against the insurance companies was necessary. It was understood that Ward's request would be turned over to the city commission on Tuesday when it meets in its regular bi-monthly session.

"You must let nothing stand in the way of your work," she told him. "No-hing—do you understand? You must go to New York. You must travel. You must have freedom and you must be with those who understand."

"I'll do anything you say," he assured her eagerly.

"Ah—you are a dear boy!"

From a radio in a nearby apartment came the strains of a waltz. It was softly played, melodious. As the song reached the chorus the violinist took the melody, sent it forth throbbing as a lover's plea. The rhythm of the music caught at the senses. The song reached its climax, ended on a high note.

Dan looked at his watch. "Why it's almost midnight!" he exclaimed. "I had no idea it was so late. Cherry will be sure I've been murdered."

"But this isn't late!"

"It is for Wellington," Dan told her with a grin. "Anyhow, I'll have to dash along. Are we going to be able to work tomorrow?"

"I'm not sure," Miss Vall told him. "You can telephone me at noon."

She always spoke as though anything another person did for her was a favor to themselves. Somehow Dan admired her for it. It gave her a very sophisticated, very much a part of that outer world.

"I'll call you about 1 o'clock," he promised. "And I hope you'll feel better in the morning."

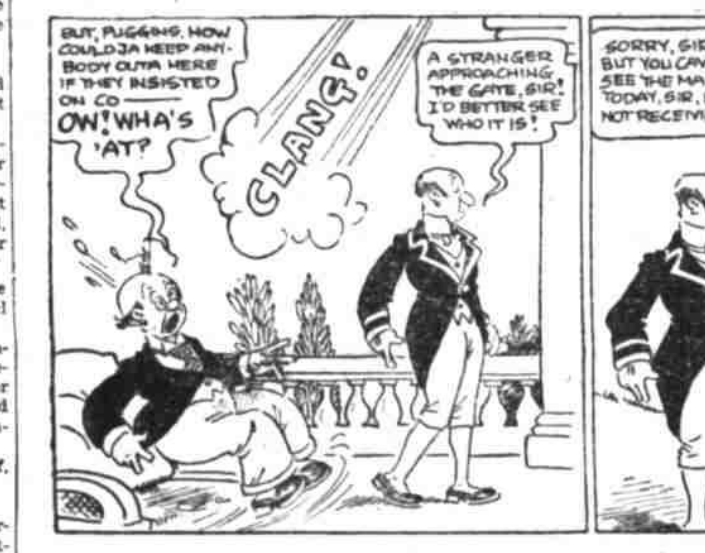

The door closed after him. Brenda Vall crossed the room with a determined stride. She took another cigarette from the box, lit it and dropped comfortably to the davenport.

"He's a fool," she said to herself, "but useful—and amusing!"

Cherry sat on her knees surveying the stretch of yellow cloth. It was spread on the floor before her and laid on in curious fashion were oddly shaped pieces of yellow tissue paper.

There were lines in Cherry's forehead. "Now I wonder," she said

Campaigns Here

O. C. FUNDERBURK, above, seeking election to his first full elective term as associate justice of the court of civil appeals, at Eastland, was here Saturday meeting voters in behalf of his campaign. He was accompanied by Henry T. Teocot of Eastland, who resided in Big Spring many years.

Reserve System Claims Progress In Aiding Business

WASHINGTON (UP)—Federal Reserve officials said the reserve system was making progress in its constant battle to bolster bond prices, enlarge credit and stimulate business through open market purchases of government securities.

Since Feb. 27 and 12 reserve banks have purchased $1,161,000,000 (B) worth of government securities, bringing their total holdings to $1,801,000,000 (B) the largest amount ever held in the system's history.

Weekly purchases ranging from $14,000,000 to $113,000,000, have been made since Feb. 27. During this period, prices of long-term government bonds have increased $4 and other government securities approximately $3.50. Both now sell around $94 instead of about $89 to $90.

Bank credit has been expanded by some $118,000,000. This increase has been somewhat nullified by heavy withdrawals of gold which took place until three weeks ago, and by member banks using balances created through these operations to write off indebtedness to federal reserve banks and to withstand a series of runs.

Last week the Chicago Reserve bank purchased $78,000,000 of government securities from member banks to provide them with ample cash funds to withstand heavy withdrawals by depositors.

Foreign withdrawals of gold ceased three weeks ago and since then the reserve system has added $12,000,000 to its gold stock. Today's statement shows the Federal Reserve banks holding a total of $2,200,000,000 of gold.

The policy of buying government securities was adopted by the reserve banks in February as a means of helping pull the country out of its business slump.

In April the campaign was intensified, with $581,000,000 of government securities being purchased in six weeks.

Following these purchases, the system decided to buy in smaller amounts.

Federal Reserve officials believe the full benefit of open market operations will not be apparent for several months.

Trinity Rises To Above Flood Stage

DALLAS (UP)—The turbulent Trinity River threatened low lying areas along its banks here as it passed flood stage of 28 feet and gauged 29.9.

U. S. weather observers, however, predicted an immediate drop, and little damage was anticipated.

Burglar Seeks To Enter Casket Room

TERRELL (UP)—Police puzzled today as to what prompted a burglar to Jimmy his way into the storage room of Anderson Clayton Undertaking company here.

The proprietors reported the robbery today, saying caskets and a hearse are the only objects kept in the room. Nothing was disturbed.

County Delegations Not To Be Heard At Next Commission Meeting

AUSTIN (UP)—No county delegations will be heard by the Texas Highway Commission when it meets here July 13 to let contracts for approximately $2,500,000 road and bridge work, it was announced.

The next open meeting of the commission will be August 1 and 2.

Tarrant county officials had planned to call on the commission to release road building funds that have been put in escrow to assist in road work. This course, the Tarrant county officials say, should be taken since the commission has voted not to require further county aid.

Carroll Barnett, who has been visiting his parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Barnett, is leaving today for Bartlettville, Okla.

ROOKIES HELP PUT TIGERS IN PENNANT CHASE

ANOTHER WESTERN CUP FOR HAIG

A huge crowd greeted Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York as the democratic nominee for President alighted from his plane in Chicago to address the convention. He is shown waving his hat in greeting to the throng.

Helen Hayes, stage and screen actress, says her roles in Hollywood movies probably will keep her away from Broadway next season. She is shown in Pasadena, Calif.

For the first time in several seasons the Detroit Tigers are close to the top in the American league pennant chase, and these four rookies have played a big part in raising the team's standing. ICE BOX BAGS

At the best—or worst—an ice box will accumulate a considerable variety of foods. Even electric refrigeration does not guarantee order. However, the celery and lettuce, being present almost 365 days these years, can be snugly stored to themselves and they will come out on demand as crisp and fresh as when bought. Mullet bags are the thing for keeping them and we are offering the two bags already cut and stamped with designs and letters so that they can be made and embroidered with very little effort.

FOR QUICK-RESULTS USE Classified Ads

THE BIG NEWS is on the inside page too. Probably you read the front page of your paper first. But think how soon you forget the "news of the day"—and how long you enjoy the things you buy because of some item in an advertisement. Almost always, there is big news for you somewhere in the advertising columns of this paper. Look for it. Here's a piece that tells how to make a nicer angel cake—a note on the new models of the car you hope to buy next—news of fashions and furnishings, of hardware and hats... Interesting, intimate, often dramatic news that really concerns you and yours. Remember that size alone is not a measurement of value. Often an advertisement in small space will offer just what you want at a saving. So form the good habit of reading the advertising section of this paper carefully. It will save you time and money. It will make your home healthier, wealthier, happier. Read and you will find!

Man Without Party—Borah

Won't Vote For Hoover, Won't Bolt, Third Party Ignored

By THOMAS L. STOKES
 United Press Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, (UP)—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho is fast becoming a "man without a party" in the presidential campaign. The Idaho senator announced recently to the senate he could not support President Hoover because of the Republican party's prohibition re-submission plank. He made it plain he would not, on the other hand, bolt and support the democratic ticket headed by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, the course which has been taken by one of Borah's associates, Senate George W. Norris of Nebraska. The Idaho senator will make known in a few days just what course he will pursue. He turned down the prohibition party's offer to head its ticket. There were reports the senator would take the stump for dry candidates for congress in the coming election. But he said he was more interested in economic issues. All talk of a third party built around economic issues revolves around the magic name of Borah. The Idaho senator indicated he was paying little attention to a party talk, though he said "people are disgusted with the old parties."

"Since my speech in the senate saying the Republican platform fell head at the feet of the American people," Borah told the United Press, "my secretary tells me I have received 13,000 letters suggesting action of some kind. Of course I can not read all of these, but they have been read all of them relate to economic questions as well as to prohibition." "Would it have been possible for you to have supported Governor Roosevelt if the Democratic platform had not been wet?" Borah was asked. "No, I don't know anything about him."

"How about the democratic platform?" "Oh, there are things in that that don't mean anything either; the agricultural plank, for instance," Borah replied.
