M. P. C. A. HOLDS FIRST ANNUAL MEETING

Several Speakers Ad- dress Stockholders In Session Here

Members of the Memphis Production Credit Association held their first annual stockholders' meeting here Monday. This was one of 621 similar meetings held by production credit associations throughout the United States.

T. M. McMurtry, president, made a brief talk in which he outlined the history of the association. A statement of the activities of the executive committee was made by J. H. Smith, Secretary-treasurer.

After the annual report of the treasurer, made by Mr. Smith, the meeting was addressed by J.
C. Snipes, of the Production
Credit Corporation of Houston,
the parent body which supplied approximately 74 per cent of the association's capital stock. Mr.
Snipes explained the corporate set-up of the Farm Credit Administration of Houston which serves the Tenth district, the State of Texas. He also pointed out the opportunities for service available to farmers through the association and made a thorough explanation of the local association's financial statement.

Other speakers on the program included James A. Jackson, county agent, Hall County, his subject being "Importance of Keeping Farm Records".

Sheriff Joe Colvin Recovers Stolen Car

An automobile stolen from Childress Monday night was recovered in Hall county yesterday by Sheriff Joe Colvin, but no arrests had been made at noon today.
The stolen car was recovered about eight miles southwest of Estelle. It had been stripped of wheels, tires and other accessories, the sheriff reported. It was a Model A Ford delivery truck.

Cosacks chorus at the municipal auditorium in Amarillo Fri-

Tickets that are now available at The Democrat office specify seats in the center sec-

The Don Cosacks chorus has been heralded as one of the year's most outstanding musical entertainments and is seldom presented in cities smaller than Amarillo.

W. T. C. C. SETS CONVENTION DATES

May 13-15 Selected For Meeting at San Angelo

Special to The Democrat
PLAINVIEW, Jan. 16.—Dates for this year's convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce were selected at a meeting of directors here yesterday.

The convention will be held here, May 13-15.

Place of the meeting was selected last year at San Angelo, but the dates were fixed by organization officials in conference here.

The result of recent referendum on important questions was announced. The most important of these was the referendum on taxation, made at the request of Senator Arthur P. Dugan of the Senate tax commission.

On the result of these referendums to directors the West Texas Chamber of Commerce takes a position in favor of a state sales tax.

It declares "for a state sales tax in sufficient amount to enable the state to assume and equitably fund the indebtedness of cities, counties and schools, providing the tax rate of all political subdivisions be reduced in accordance with the amount of debt relief secured."

red back to the complete directorate and executive committee for

Governor Suggests 'Planned Recovery' In Initial Message

AUSTIN, Jan. 16.—Governor Allred today recommended the immediate establishment of a state planning board to coordinate state and national recovery efforts, in his initial message to the legislature.

He said that planned recovery constituted a major hope for the state and nation to emerge from financial morass.

Until the benefits of the program
can be obtained, the governor requested the legislature to authorize the sale of three and one-half million dollars of state relief bonds to carry the relief burden. This amount is all that remains from the 20 million dollar issue.

He also asked the legislature to give thoughtful consideration to the old age pension, which he classified as "inevitable," and to the submission of repeal of state prohibition, strengthening of the state's hand in crude petroleum conservation, the regulation of public utilities, taxation, crime and law enforcement and laws to safeguard labor.

A state liquor monopoly was suggested as a practical method to control the liquor situation.

He specified that messages will be submitted later giving the executive's ideas on taxation, crime control and public utilities and oil regulation.

FDR ASKS WORLD COURT DECISION

Asks Senate To Ratify Ad- herence 'In Interest Of World Peace'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—In the interest of "world peace," President Roosevelt today asked the senate in a special message to ratify American adherence to the world court.

The message also urged that ratification "be given in such form
as not to defeat or delay the objective of adherence."

Senatorial circles interpreted this as representing opposition to the new reservations.

Allred Will Cut Down on Pardons

AUSTIN, Jan. 16.—Governor
James V. Allred "cracked down" yesterday on pardon-seekers.

In his first public pronouncement after his inauguration, Governor Allred said he would place increased responsibility on the State Board of Pardons and Pa-rols and would not act on any clemency application without advice of the board. Allred announced this policy during his primary campaign.

"All applications for executive clemency first must pass through the state pardon board," Governor Allred said. "After the board has been given an opportunity to inquire into the merits of an application and has made its recommendation I will then review the case."

"The pardon policy I intend to pursue as governor will be one of justice tempered with mercy, but

CATTLE BUYING IS HALTED IN COUNTY

Relief Program Def- initely Brought To Close Here

Cattle buying in Hall county by the federal government on its drouth relief program came to a permanent halt yesterday with completion of purchases on a 15-day extension on the "clean-up"
order issued in December.

A total of $102,037 was paid stock raisers of this county during the program, according to information from the office of County Agent James A. Jackson.
Approximately $12 per head was paid for 8,673 cows bought during the period.

Although buyers in this county were authorized to buy 4,000 head on the last quota only 2-108 head were purchased. All stock offered for sale was purchased. Approximately 40 per cent of the stock bought here was condemned and killed while the balance was shipped to government ranges and canning plants.

All quotas for this county were filled except the last one, it has been pointed out. The last quota was not filled because stock raisers had already made plans to care for their stock during the winter or had sold to individual buyers, Mr. Jackson said.

"Although we have predicted several times previously that the program in the county had come to a stop, we feel certain the present halt marks the completion of the government's efforts to relieve stock suffering in Texas," Mr. Jackson said this morning. Those who have additional stock to sell have been urged to seek buyers other than the government.

Local I.O.O.F. Head To Go To Wellington

J. T. Kinkade, I.O.O.F. district deputy grand master, will attend a meeting of the Wellington Odd-fellows lodge Thursday night and conduct installation ceremonies
when officials for the new year are installed.

Mr. Kinkade will be accompanied by members of the Memphis lodge who are planning to attend the meeting also.

At last night's regular meeting of the Memphis lodge the second degree was conferred on a candidate from Lakeview by a mixed degree team from Lakeview, Memphis and Eli lodges.

Look Like New Coins? They're 100 Years Old

Two coins that are over a hundred years old but look like they were minted last year are the possessions of Frank J.
Smith, city. Yesterday Mr.
Smith showed the "coin editor"
of the Democrat two half dollar with lettered edge, dated 1830 and 1834 that were practically
"brand new".

Mr. Smith's coin collection also included an 1850 dime, a flying eagle bronze penny issued in 1858 and a two-cent piece as large as a quarter,
minted in 1866.

C. D. Sutton, who resides four miles west of Memphis, also recently exhibited a copper penny issued in 1865. Mr. Sutton found the coin while picking cotton.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
ANN HOLLISTER breaks her engagement to TONY MICKLE the same day that PETER KENDALL tells VALERIA BENNETT, his fiancee, that everything is over between them. Ann thinks she still loves Tony and Peter believes he still cares for Valeria, but when chance brings the two together and Peter asks Ann to marry him she agrees.

They go to Florida and are happy there. Then Peter is recalled home. His family snubs Ann and Valeria tries to make trouble between Ann and Peter. She succeeds finally and Ann goes away, leaving no trace of her whereabouts.

Peter, desperately in love with her by this time, grows lonelier as the weeks pass. His efforts to locate Ann are fruitless.

She has found work as governess in the home of Mrs. TRACY, an artist. ALLAN VINCENT, Mrs. Tracy's brother, is attentive to Ann. One day she discovers that he is in love with her. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY house tonight. The owner and his girl will be there. Will you come with me?"

"I'm sure those people won't want strangers around." Her tone was doubtful.

"They won't know you are there. No—I guess I'm wrong. They couldn't miss you."

There was such eagerness in his eyes Ann hadn't the heart to refuse him.

They drove out early after dinner, but lights were in the house when they arrived.

"I had the electricity turned on," Allan explained, "because we have planned to do some of the work at night. The owner is impatient to have the job finished."

They had driven close to the big gray roadster before Ann saw it. Suddenly her eart seemed to turn over and then he still.

It was Peter's car! No, it could not be. How foolish to think there would be only one big gray roadster in this huge city. There must be scores like it. There must be!

"Whose car is that?" she asked, her voice was low and husky.

"Belongs to the chap who owns this place."

"What is his name?"

"Kendall. I didn't tell you before?"

"I don't think so," Ann said through stiff lips. "And the girl?"

"The dizzy blond, Her name is Bennett."

Allan stepped out and came around to open the door for Ann. She said in a low voice, "I've changed my mind. I don't want to go in, Allan. I don't want to meet those people."

"Don't be silly. You can't stay out here."

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

"I want to. I'll be comfortable out here—more comfortable than meeting—those people. Please go!"

Allan stared at her, but her face was in the shadows, half-turned from him.

"All right. I'll try not to be gone long."

He walked away.

Ann put her face down in her hands, covering it with trembling fingers. It couldn't be true! But it was.

The bookcases with books in warm bindings, the gay chintz hangings, the antiques, all the lovely things she and Allan had planned for this home were for Valeria. The simple curtained windows through which the garden could be glimpsed, the Aubusson rug for the living room, the beautiful old Venetian mirrors—all for Valeria.

She had been helping Allan furnish a place for the woman who had taken her husband's love.

Her head was throbbing terribly. Peter was in there, walking through the rooms with Valeria. Perhaps Allan was telling them about the white chintz with the blue and mulberry flowers, about the ruffled white curtains at the windows.

Allan would be urging her to assist him with more ideas, would be insisting she come over to see the place. Not once, but many times. Not because he needed her help, but because he was lonely. Because he was buoyed up by her imagination and interest, and he thought he was in love with her.

"I couldn't bear coming here," Ann decided. "I've suffered enough already."

She would give up her job. If she had done the week before when she had learned how Allan felt this last terrible hurt would have been spared her.

They were coming out now. A tall young man stood in the doorway. That was Peter, and that was Valeria beside him. Ann felt suffocated.

She heard Allan say, "I'll hurry along. I have a friend waiting for me."

"Why don't you bring him in?" Peter asked.

"It's a girl friend," Allan laughed. "She wouldn't come in. Some crazy notion she might be intruding. Good night."

Peter walked a little way with him, stopping not far from the car. He could see a girl's head silhouetted against the window. There was something vaguely familiar about the way her head was lifted. Suddenly he had a wild desire to see her closer. But Allan was in the car and the motor began to throb.

Peter walked back to Valeria and helped her into his car. They were scarcely off the grounds when he said, "Val, I'm not going on with the house."

"Peter!"

"Millicent was right. It was a foolish thing to do. I'm sure Ann is not coming back. You didn't believe she would, either. You thought it would be good for me to have something to do. I can't go on with it."

"But, Peter, I don't see how you could stop the work now. Things have been ordered, men engaged. There's the time Mr. Vincent has spent in planning."

"I'll take care of all the expense, but I'm going to stop the whole business. I'll close the place, or sell it."

"What in the world has happened?"

"I don't know. I just decided tonight."

Valeria was silent. Peter must not be allowed to put this ridiculous impulse into action. It might end everything for her. It would give her no excuse to be with him.

"Let's not talk about it," she said.

"It's settled," Peter said. "I've been wasting a lot of time when I could have been looking for Ann. And doing things she would like me to be doing."

"What things?"

"In the darkness Valeria's lips curved contentiously.

"Working on a plan I have in mind about Kendallwood—if I can persuade grandfather it should be done."

More of those tiresome plans for building up that horrid factory town, Valeria decided.

"Let's drive a while," she said. "There's a wonderful moon tonight. Had you noticed?"

Peter hadn't noticed. He glanced up now, and thought the moon looked cold, remote, unfriendly.

Valeria was thinking, "He treats me as though I were an inanimate wall beside him instead of a woman."

Would he stop the car so they could look at the river for a moment?

Peter looked at Valeria and smiled a little. But he stopped the car, lit a cigaret and looked at the moon, at the water. It was picturesque. The moon had turned the river to silver. Now and then soft clouds scudded across the sky. Then the moon would appear again and the waves would pick up the silver sheen.

Valeria was dressed in white, a frock with many tiny ruffles blossoming into a little capelet over her shoulders. The tiny ruffles fluttered in the breeze against Peter's coat.

"Cigaret, Val?"

"No, thanks."

"Isn't the moon beautiful," Valeria asked, as the silence continued.

"Yes."

Valeria sighed.

"Tired?"

"No. Not tired."

"What's wrong?"

She did not answer.

Peter turned to look at her. Her eyes met his and he saw they were full of tears. Her lips trembled.

"Val! I'm afraid I've seemed unkind. It isn't that I don't appreciate all you've tried to do for me."

"But I haven't made you any happier. And I tried so hard. I wanted to so much—"

"You have helped. I don't know what I would have done without you the last few weeks."

"Peter!" It was almost a whisper.

The breeze stirred her hair just then. She was so close that some of the loosened hair was blown against his cheek. Valeria leaned closer to him. There was a faint fragrance, faint but strong too, like crushed flowers.

Peter turned again slowly, looked down and saw her soft lips raised to his. The soft, pouting lips he had kissed hundreds of times.

His arm slid around Valeria. He bent his head. Instantly, her arms were around his neck, pulling him closer. Their lips met.

Stoeffen Make Pro-Tennis Debut Against Tilden Heads Houde Co. They're the 'Eyes of the World' at Hauptmann Trial

In a New Deal test of vital importance, Ralph F. Peo, above, vice president and general manager, heads the fight of the Houde Engineering Co. of Buffalo, N. Y., in Buffalo federal court, against a charge of violating NRA section 7-a, in defying an order to deal with the United Automobile Workers' Federal Union.

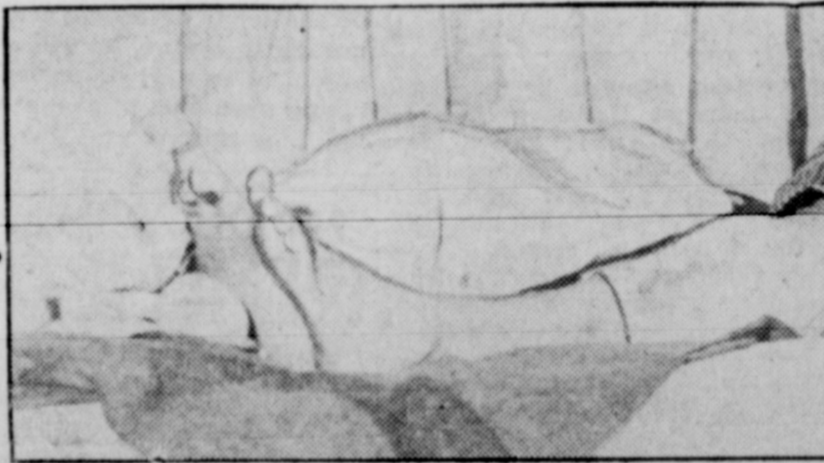

Cameras click a rarely-ceasing refrain at the Bruno Hauptmann trial, as an army of alert photographers make a pictorial history of the dramatic hearing of the Lindbergh murder case. Here, with cameras and flashlights ready, is a typical lineup of the news photographers outside the Hunterdon county courthouse at Flemington, N. J.

proved he still was the king of tennis attractions when he packed Madison Square Garden for the opening of the indoor professional season and the debut in the pro ranks of George Stoeffen. Paired with Vines (on back court), Tilden helped win a grueling 73-game five set match against Lott and Stoeffen (in foreground).

After a Dark Horse Kicked the Champ

Here's what happens sometimes when the champion is matched with a soft touch—he goes to bed for an extended period with a broken knee cap. The champion is Middleweight Teddy Yarosz of Pittsburgh, who received the injury in a recent bout with Babe Risko, the comparatively unknown battler from Syracuse, N. Y. As a result of this upset, Yarosz' reputation and drawing power took a drop, while Risko is in great demand by promoters.

For the first time in 60 years, a graduate will assume the head football coaching duties at Harvard when Dick Harlow, former Western Maryland mentor, takes over the reins. Harlow, shown above, is 44 years old, played tackle at Penn State, and is a World War vet. His coaching career includes regimes at Penn State, Colgate and Western Maryland.

CONNIE AND THE BABE

Connie Mack thinks Babe Ruth is one of the greatest players ever to hold a baseball—but he has fond hopes the babe lie's holding will surpass George Herman Ruth one of these days. The boy is Connie Mack III, grandson of Connie and son of Roy Mack, right, who is connected with the Portland Club of the Coast League. Connie dropped in for a visit on the way back from his tour of Japan.

Time Out for a Few 'Drags'

A little smoke during recess allows relaxation from the strain of the Hauptmann trial to the prosecutors who are leading the fight to send the carpenter suspect to death. Attorney General David T. Wilentz of New Jersey is shown at the left with District Attorney Samuel Foley of the Bronx as they enjoy a few soothing "drags."

Calles Ill; Flies to U.S. Hospital

An emergency flight by plane brought Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, above, former president of Mexico, from Mazatlan, Mex., to Los Angeles, where he is receiving hospital treatment for a serious abdominal ailment. His son and three doctors accompanied Calles on the trip.

Fights Grimly for Hauptmann

Portly, aggressive, booming of voice, Edward J. Rolly, famed Brooklyn criminal lawyer, beats relentlessly at the testimony of the state which brands Bruno Hauptmann guilty of the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr. Here are two poses of the chief of the carpenter's defense counsel in the Flemington, N. J., courtroom.

Offensive Drills Preparing Cyclone for Week's T

ESTELLINE WILL INVADE GYM TOMORROW

Lakeview Eagles and Tourney Complete Week-End

Following a tough workout yesterday afternoon, which included a long scrimmage session and hard offensive drill afterwards, the Cyclone cagers calmed down a little today before a full week-end of battles.

The club goes into its third clash, seeking its initial victory, tomorrow night at the high school gym here when the Estelline Bear Cubs return a visit.

On the following evening, Coach Arthur Howard takes his crew to Lakeview to entertain the Eagles for a few periods.

Goes to Tourney

Saturday, the Cyclone goes to Wellington to participate in a one-day tournament "just for the practice".

The drills this week are plainly indicating that Coach Howard is attempting to whip his offense into some comparison with his already strong defense. Although it is unlikely that a great deal of progress can be made in the two or three days allotted to this work, the Cyclone probably will show better here tomorrow night than it did in its opening tilt with Wellington last week.

Coach Howard probably will send Bales and Smith or Childress or Malone onto the court at the start tomorrow night with instructions to do more shooting; Springer, with instructions to work harder on offense, and Chester Grimes and McAbee with instructions to get the ball in there to the forwards—and he's been showing them how to do these things.

Doubleheaders

Both tomorrow night's and Friday night's games will be doubleheaders. The second strings will open the affair at 7:15 o'clock, with the main performance starting immediately after the close of the first set. Admission for the game will be 10 and 25 cents.

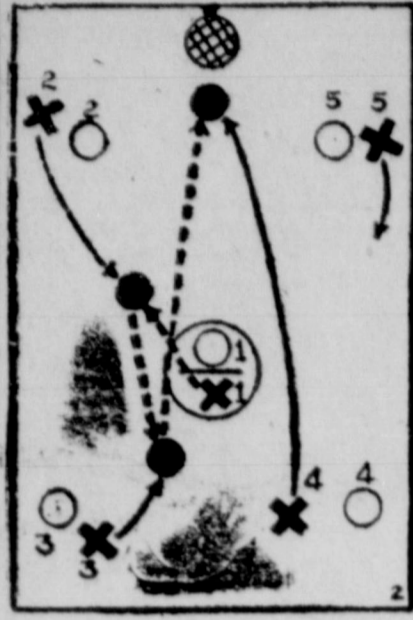

After the Cyclone went out on the large floor at Estelline, played a bang-up defensive game but, in turn, could not break through the Cub defense, the locals are given a fair opportunity to break into the win column tomorrow night, what with their added offensive drill and advantage of having Estelline in a small, undersize gymnasium.

However, the club may not be quite ready yet, and Estelline may know more about the half-pint floor than they are being given credit for.

At Lakeview, the Cyclone is expected to have a real fight on its hands to keep the score down—and

Estelline Cubs Defeat Quitaque Cage

What About City Cage Loop--Or All-Star Basketball Team

How many former basketball players or otherwise in Memphis are interested either in forming an independent team or city cage circuit?

There has been some talk here of forming such a team, and to get up a league if possible. Jack Boone, who managed an independent team here last year, has requested all who are interested in such an organization—either team or league—to get in touch with him at Miller and Miller. He is interested in getting the ball to rolling in one direction or the other. If an independent club is formed, it is planned to follow the same procedure of last year, to obtain the high school gymnasium for practice at night when it will not conflict with the Cyclone schedule.

Basketball is a great game. It is thrilling and it is fast. It offers not only good exercise for those who take part, but it also offers an interesting diversion for the players.

There are a lot of former cage stars here and in surrounding communities, who probably would come into town to practice and to play—enough of them to form a league, Jack believes. All that is required is a little backing from either individual business houses or groups of such houses in order to put a league over. If the backers went in as groups, there would be little cost to any of them.

If an independent team is formed here, it will have to be done in a hurry. Tournament time is approaching, and the local club should be preparing for it. Jack received a letter this week inviting the Memphis club to enter an independent tournament at Estelline on the last day of the month and the first two days of February. Other invitations probably will be coming in soon.

It is Jack's desire, and also the wish of The Democrat, merely to start the ball rolling. If those interested in the formation of the team or league will let their interest be known by reporting to Boone, he will call a meeting as soon as possible and organization may be perfected according to the desires of those taking part. But someone has to take the lead in order to get the thing started, and this Jack has done.

TAKE 29 TO 24 VICTORY LAST NIGHT

Come From Behind in Last Minutes of Thrilling Tilt

Special to The Democrat ESTELLINE, Jan. 16.—Flash- ing into the lead just before the game ended, after they had led most of the way only to see the margin vanish in the last period, the Estelline Bear Cubs defeated the Quitaque Panthers in one of the most spectacular cage battles of the year here last night, 29 to 24.

After the visitors had taken the lead by one point at the opening of the final session, the Cubs came back to take possession of the ball for two field goals and a three-point margin.

A minute before the game ended, Berryman, Estelline guard made a beautiful shot almost from the center of the court, to make up the winning margin.

The Cubs took the lead in the first period of a thrilling defensive battle and held a 9-5 margin at the end of the first eight minutes. The teams progressed about evenly during thesecond session, with the Cubs holding a five-point margin at half-time, 14 to 9.

During the third period, Quitaque showed a burst of basket-tossing that all but overcame the Cub margin. Early in the final session, the Panthers completed a successful offensive attack to claim a one-point lead.

It was then that the Cubs took possession and slowly marked up the winning margin, topped by Berryman's long shot that erased Quitaque's hopes of overcoming the slight margin.

Estelline was also victorious in two other games played here last night. The Bear Cub second-stringers defeated Leslie, 20 to 12, and the Estelline All-Stars downed the Quitaque All-Stars in a one-sided tilt, 39 to 16.

Takes Top Spot in Tenn

RECEIVED TOP RANKING FOR HIS FINE WORK AGAINST FRED PERRY IN THE NATIONAL SINGLES FINALS LAST YEAR.

By HARRY GRAYS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—The return of racing to this city after an absence of 25 years rounded out the most complete sports program the coast has had in many a day. Perhaps some of the stuff offered isn't quite Grade A. and scarcely to be boasted about by the renowned Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, but it's all there, anyway.

The Santa Anita Park horse track is, as has been mentioned many times already, a beautiful spot, and the lads who brag about its setting aren't stretching a thing. They got the horses, too, which is something Agua Caliente couldn't do, in spite of a $100,000 race.

Professional football was the second newest venture. A league was started early in the season and came out a mere $7000 minus, due mainly, so the locals tell me, to mismanagement. Trouble here is the lack of cities close together with any amount of biscuits. Los Angeles and San Francisco are the only spots able to support much of anything, and a football league couldn't very well exist on such a basis.

The fog end of the season found Paul Schessler's Chicago Cardinals invading the home grounds to meet the locals. The Cards had no trouble in dumping an aggregation of former U. S. C. Trojans, and repeating against Ted Shipkey's Braves.

Rose Bowl Hero Ted Shipkey, by the way, played in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1, 1927, with Stanford against Alabama. The score that day was 7-7, and Shipkey emerged as great a hero as Dixie Howell and Don Hutson out, relying on early pace to slip time from the records. Had he been allowed to complete the mile and three-quarters he undoubtedly would have broken that record also. His last eighth of a mile was run in 12 1-5 seconds, and he would have had in the added eighth in only 10 1-5 seconds to set the same world mark made eight years later by Reigh Count.

Man o' War Thrilled in Lawrence Realization

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of articles telling of the outstanding feats of horse racing.

BY MAX RIDDLE
NEA Service Turf Writer

Unquestionably, the greatest exhibition of speed ever given by a horse was that of the immortal Man o' War when he raced for the Lawrence Realization Stakes in 1920.

While it is true that almost any of his races might be used as an example of supreme speed—"Old Red" broke five world records—the Realization race in many respects was the greatest of all.

The history of Man o' War is too well known to require repeating here, but just to brush aside the cobwebs of nearly 15 years, here are a few salient features of his career:

He started in 21 races, winning 20. He carried 138 pounds as a 3-year-old and broke a track record. At no time, not even in his first race, did he even pay as much as even money, and in three of his races, some of or all the book-makers quoted him at odds of 1-100.

His five world marks were no index of his ability, for he always won under a pull. And moreover, he broke at least 16 intervening marks, as for example, in racing the mile and an eighth of the Dwyer Stakes, he made a pace faster than world record time for six furlongs and for a mile.

Only One World With these facts in mind, vision him coming up to the post for the Lawrence Realization Stakes of a mile and five furlongs on Sept. 4, 1920. With him was only Hoodwink, the rest having retired before his greatness. The odds on "Old Red" were 1-100. Facing him was a world mark of 2:42 3-5 made by War Mint with only 78 pounds in the saddle, and an American record of 2:45 made by Fitz Herbert in 1909.

AND THAT CLASS SHOWS HANDIWORK

One of Most Interesting Displays Being Shown Here

One of the most attractive window displays made over the past week-end by Memphis adult education classes was that made by the students of Mrs. W. B. Funk, sewing class instructor.

The attractive display was arranged in a show window at the Bryan Drug and contained work that easily points out the benefits being derived from classes of this nature.

Outstanding in the display was a child's dress, smocked embroidered and beautifully tailored. A crocheted doilie and a dresser scarf beautifully crocheted in colors were featured in the display as were a flower garden quilt, a friendship quilt and scores of other items that reflected painstaking efforts.

In a show window on the north side of the square, Mrs. Robert Dupan arranged an attractive placard explaining the benefits of her public speaking class. The placard was cleverly arranged and likely will increase attendance at these classes.

A display was also arranged at the Democrat office by Mrs. J. W. Bragg, instructor of a literature class in the city. The window was featured by a recently printed booklet of poems by Mrs. Inez Baker. The booklet is being offered for sale at 50 cents each, with the proceeds going to the new high school cafeteria.

CENTENNIAL IS ASSURED FACT, SAYS KRAMER

Dallas To Have Celebration Worthy of Occasion

DALLAS, Jan. 16.—"Whatever doubts may have prevailed in the minds of some people with respect to the celebration of the Texas Centennial in 1936 definitely may be cast aside," asserted Arthur L. Kramer, Chairman of the Master Planning Board of the Texas Centennial Central Exposition, in announcing that the Board would welcome suggestions aimed to assure the success of the Centennial's observance from any interested citizen of Texas.

"The celebrations of the Centennial may be accepted as an assured fact," continued Mr. Kramer, "and Dallas, as the site of the central exposition, is committed definitely to a program, which will insure an observance commensurate with the dignity and importance of the occasion."

"The Master Planning Board, of which I have the honor to be Chairman, recognizes the magnitude of the task before it; it recognizes that it must proceed rapidly in order that the finished exposition may be ready to welcome the multitudes, who will visit Texas in 1936.

"It recognizes also that this is to be a Statewide celebration and that there are many people in Texas, who for months and perhaps years have given intelligent thought to what phase of Texas history and development could be emphasized properly in the Centennial's celebration.

"The Master Planning Board therefore cordially invites, and will earnestly welcome, and suggestions made by any interested citizen of Texas. Manifestly, every suggestion made cannot be accepted. There are limitations of

Better Business Conditions Seen By Ford Company

Improved business conditions throughout the United States are indicated by figures given out today by the Ford Motor company showing the reception the American public gave the new Ford V-8 car for 1935.

When, late in 1927, Ford, after standardizing for years on the Model T, brought out a new Model A, more than 5,000,000 persons visited the show-rooms of Ford dealers, the country over, on the two days on which the new model was on exhibition.

Final reports, covering the whole country, show that visitors at dealers show-rooms to see the new Ford V-8 totaled 8,683,900—an increase of approximately 73 percent over the reception given the Model A.

Reports show sales volume greatly improved, especially in the agricultural states and in the small towns generally. A considerable number of dealers reported that, in the two days on which the new cars was on exhibit, they sold, on the floor, from 40 to 50 percent of their total sales for the year 1934. A characteristic of the showing all over the United States was that persons not previously considered as prospects are buying. The rural areas of the South and time and space and finances, which of necessity must be reconed with; but every suggestion received, will be given due and appreciative consideration by the Board.

"It is hoped sincerely that there will be a liberal response to this invitation for suggestions in order that the exposition at Dallas, as far as is humanly possible, may reflect the highest ideals and the most ambitious inspiration of the entire citizenry of Texas.

"Suggestions should be sent to: The Texas Centennial Headquarters, Dallas, Texas."

REVIEWS OF CURRENT MOTION PICTURES

RITZ

If you're in the entertainment market for a landslide of laughs, you've a rare treat in store in "The Affairs of Cellini," starring Constance Bennett and Frederic March, which showed for the first time locally yesterday at the Ritz Theatre.

Fredric March, making his debut under Joseph M. Schenck and Darryl F. Zanuck's 20th Century banner, as the fiery, passionate 16th Century Florentine Goldsmith and lover, Benvenuto Cellini, is again the mad, impetuous March of "The Royal Family."

The film, which Bess Meredyth adapted from Edwin Justus Mayer's New York stage hit, "The Firebrand," which was, in turn, based on the sensationalist frank "Autobiography," concerns itself with the amorous and beautiful Duchess of Florence and with his beautiful but dumb model, Angela.

Miss Jessie Evans of Wellington arrived yesterday and will spend until Thursday here with her sister, Miss Alpha Youre.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Jones of Paducah were Memphis visitors yesterday and were guests of Miss Katie Sue Reed.

Llewellyn Stout returned yesterday from a visit with his uncle H. E. Howell, at Oklahoma City.

Mrs. George Kimbro of Sherman spent Monday and yesterday here with her sister, Mrs. W. S. Montgomery and her brother, R. T. McElreath. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kimbro. They were enroute to Sherman from Amarillo.

PALACE

Charlie Ruggles and Ann Dvorak form screenrom's newest comedy team. They were cast together for the first time in the Warner Bros. picture, "Friends of Mr. Sweeney," which is now showing at the Palace.

Ruggles has been a well known comedy character for years, but Ann has been known almost entirely for her dramatic parts. She is said to show rare ability as a light comedy actor in this picture, which is based on the hilarious novel by Elmer Davis.

Miss Lena Melear went to Clarendon Sunday for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Ed Duncan. She spent Monday in Amarillo.

Mrs. T. N. Copeland and Mrs. G. C. Ewing of Estelline were Memphis visitors yesterday.

Miss Alice Marie McKelvy of Wichita Falls spent Monday and yesterday in Memphis visiting friends. She was the house guest of Mrs. James McKelvy while here.

James McKelvy went to Oklahoma City Sunday for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McKelvy.

Howard Wilson has returned to his home at Gladewater, after a visit here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Thompson and children of Hedley visited Mr. Thompson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Thompson, here Sunday.

Elward Pritchard of Wellington visited his mother, Mrs. Maud Pritchard, here yesterday.

Home Ec Studes Make Field Trip In Home Nursing

After completing a course on home nursing the Home Ec. II students were given the opportunity of making a field trip to the Memphis Hospital to observe Mrs. Winifred Wilson, as attending nurse, give a demonstration lesson on how a bed bath is given and the bed linens changed. One of the students, Mary Miles Hall, acted as the patient. The pulse, temperature, and respiration were taken and students examined a chart on which a record of the patient is kept.

The Home Economics students and their teacher, Miss Marie Martin, are greatly indebted to the Memphis Hospital for their cooperation with them in teaching this unit. Also this course in home nursing proved a very practical one to the students since only the phases of the course were studied that could be applied to the home.

This line of thought is right up my alley, if I may be permitted to resort to the vernacular. People who can take it on the chin time after time and still come up smiling—and fighting—are the salt of the earth, make no mistake about it. I'm thankful that those kinds of people live in Memphis and Hall County—and all the Pinhandle, for that matter. My faith in the future of our community and its environs is based primarily on the faith I have in our people who can "take it", survive and fight back. Depression, crop failure, drought—nothing can defeat that kind of spirit.

A NEW GOVERNOR—WHAT NOW?

TEXAS again left the regime of Jim Ferguson behind and stepped out under the leadership of a new chief executive—James V. Allred, who after four years as attorney-general, swept the state with his fiery attack on almost everything last summer. The state again has cast its lot with a "boy governor". Allred is only 36 years old. Now, we are asking the question, what are we to actually expect of Governor Allred? If he carried out a portion of his campaign promises, then we can expect and will receive plenty. But, then, that is true of every candidate, elected or defeated. There are few of them who will not promise almost everything before the election. However, Allred is a fighter and a man who is not likely to stop working until he has accomplished his own purposes. Whether or not these purposes are in accord with our personal ideas, of course, depend upon the individual. He probably will get things done, and get them done in a hurry. In his inaugural address yesterday, the new governor pledged his administration "to close co-operation with the national government in its recovery program and to rigid enforcement of state laws". Later he declared that Texas' main problems were of recovery, "but its six million people with their great natural resources had nothing to fear and were ready for the 'new cycle of progress'". On these points, we heartily agree with Governor Allred. Whether we believe President Roosevelt is on the right track or completely off at an angle in his recovery program, we must admit that the state should cooperate in order to keep from throwing the entire machine out of gear. We are all ready for a "new cycle of progress", but we want to know by deeds and not words that a "new cycle" is actually at hand and that it is one of "progress".

PRODUCERS ENJOY NEIGHBORHOOD MOVIE

SOMEHOW or other the people of the United States, the common people who go no farther than the neighborhood movie house for their entertainment, seem to be a class entirely apart from those great industrialists to whom they look for their future welfare and morals. Take the movie industry, as an example. High up in the steel towers of New York, or out in the guarded studios of Hollywood, sit the Mayers and the Warners and the Goldwyns with no other contact with the millions who daily enjoy their products than the money that comes streaming to them through long devious channels. All they know about the likes and dislikes of their patrons comes to them only through reports of their hirelings or criticisms in the newspapers. Direct contact with the people themselves, where they may hear and feel the truth about their pictures, these potentates of the screen rarely if ever attain. For it is only through the neighborhood movie house in the larger cities, and the one or two theatres in the smaller towns out in the country, that the reactions of the American people to the new productions can be gauged properly. Such little theatres are in the majority in this country and these most of us common folk attend. Let one of these chief executives visit a neighborhood movie theatre on a Saturday or Sunday afternoon or any evening of the week, and he will have a far different feeling than any he might have had at the premiere of his latest production on the city's leading screen. The reason is that children attend these neighborhood shows, with their parents, and children are the most natural and outspoken of critics. They give vent to their emotions by yelling and applauding and booing; and if you will just analyze these reactions, in the light of the pictures presented, you will find that the young ones are pretty fair judges, at that. You will find that the children boo down the pictures which their elders have been trying to have outlawed or restricted in deference to the moral education of these same youngsters. You will find that pure entertainment, with a loud and hearty laugh, is most to be desired. And you'll find finally what Hollywood only lately has discovered, that those undying children's classics like "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and "David Copperfield" and "Little Women" are far more enjoyed than any picture Mae West could give us.

HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine
Any condition associated with an inflammation of the bones and joints is called arthritis. Rheumatism, on the other hand, is a condition of inflammation which may affect nerves, muscles, fibrous tissue, or any other tissues of the human body. Not all arthritis is the same. There may be sudden inflammations or chronic conditions lasting many years. There may be forms of arthritis in which there is simply a condition of fluid in the tissues, others in which there is overdevelopment of the membranes. Furthermore, inflammations of bones and joints may vary according to the kind of germ associated with the inflammation, or the manner in which the inflammation comes about. In cases in which there is sudden inflammation of a joint, the first signs are usually pain with limitation of movement, swelling and redness, and a feeling of heat in the joint. Moreover, the muscles around the joint may be affected by spasm, because they endeavor to limit the movement of the joint. All sorts of germs may be involved in such inflammations, including the typhoid germ, the germ that causes pneumonia, the general pus-forming germs, and even those associated with venereal diseases. Just as soon as the cause of the condition is definitely determined, the condition may be attacked through the cause. Thus, for certain forms of germs, vaccines or serums may be of value. In other cases it may be necessary to remove the infectious material from the joint by surgical procedures. Associated with such measures it may be desirable to apply heat, massage, and similar physical procedures to encourage the blood supply of the tissues, which will result in bringing the forces of the body to bear in overcoming the condition. As the healing occurs, the joint may be gradually moved and su-

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—One of those disturbing New Deal family affairs such as in the past have turned NRA and AAA upside down is now demoralizing the sector ruled by Secretary Ickes.
Efforts to smooth off the waters made turbulent by the Burlew affair have been strenuous and unsuccessful. Despite a stalemate, the chief characters retain a nervous where-do-we-go-from-here attitude and find themselves unable to relax.
Occupants of the Interior-PWA building, with its countless bureaus and commissions, merely went through the motions of work for at least three days after public reports appeared that the White House sought removal by Ickes of two of his most trusted and powerful aides, Administrative Assistant Ebert K. Burlew and Chief Investigator Louis R. Glavis.
Nearly everyone and everything were distinctly upset. Ickes, Burlew, and Glavis sought desperately to learn who had "leaked" the story. What they really wanted to find out was that the yarn hadn't been spilled out of the White House by Mrs. Roosevelt and Louis Howe.
The more they investigated, the farther they seemed to be from finding out anything of the sort. And that didn't make them feel any better, either.
Ickes "in the Grease"
So Ickes sent Burlew and Glavis off for a few days of rest, apparently hoping that the tension would die down and that nothing very terrible would be happening. But the doctory "Honest Harold" continues to be bedeviled. Despite flat denials from all quarters, he is known as the fellow who defied the wishes of the Roosevelts.
His enemies have gleefully sharpened their pitchforks. Some of his friends have come to tell him that Burlew is a handicap whose activities and continued presence are personally injurious to him.
And the unpopularity of Burlew and Glavis among subordinates has boiled over into the light now that many of them, emboldened by the thought that the White House is on their side, feel free to air their opinions.
Burlew Holds Trumps
But Burlew has acquired such a grip on the affairs of PWA, Interior, and other Ickes assignments that it probably would be impossible to replace him adequately. Ickes, aside from his confidence in the man, feels that keenly.
No one recalls any close parallel for the situation. For it has Duggan's estimate was that a 2 per cent tax would equal present state collections from ad valorem taxes amounting to $20,559,737.71. It would be based on net retail sales in Texas in 1929.

The membership of the association consists of borrowers who are also the stockholders, and as stockholders are entitled to one vote each at the annual meeting. It was reported at the conference that the association has made 129 loans for $58,736.49 to farmers of Cottle, Childress, Collingsworth, Donley, Foard, Hall, Hardeman and Wilbarger counties, the territory served by the association.

The association makes short-term loans for from 3 to 12 months for almost any agricultural production purpose including the production of crops, livestock, and livestock products. Interest is 5 per cent per year at present and is paid only for the time the borrower has use of the money.

Applications are handled by J. H. Smith, secretary-treasurer. However, local correspondents have been appointed in each county to accept applications. The local correspondents in this area are: H. S. Car Registrations Decline Last Month

(Special to The Democrat) AUSTIN, Jan. 16.—Registrations of new passenger cars for December in 15 representative counties totaled 2,011 cars, a decline of 29 per cent from the previous month but an increase of 11 per cent over December a year ago, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

(Special to The Democrat) AUSTIN, Jan. 16.—Capitalization of new companies granted charters in Texas during December totaled $4,323,000, an increase of 238 per cent over November and 330 per cent over December a year ago, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. The number of new corporations totaled 122, against 104 in November and 94 in December, 1933.

For the entire year 1934, however, total capitalization of the new corporations aggregated only $22,380,000, a drop of 21 per cent from that of 1933, and the total number of new companies was 1,441, a decline of 8 per cent from the year before, the Bureau's report said. Judge Pacht revoked his previous order giving the children to Mrs. Cusack and sharply criticized her. The boys are Charles, Jr., 9, Thornton, 7, and LeRoy, 5.

Judge Pacht read a telegram from Mrs. Cusack from Cuero, Tex., which said she was "powerless to appear" in court here. He had previously ordered that the children should not be removed from the state.
