CARDS WIN THIRD, 4-1

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—
The St. Louis Cardinals opened their home stand in the World Series today with a 4 and 1 victory over the Detroit Tigers to again take a one-game lead in the series.

The National leaguers took the lead in the first inning, scored again in the second and added their final runs in the fifth, driving Bridges from the mound. They collected 10 hits.

Paul Dean turned in the second victory for the brothers. He allowed eight scattered hits, struck out seven and walked five.

Detroit scored in the ninth when Greenberg tripped, driving in White.

ADULT CLASSES TO BE FORMED IN COUNTY

To Offer Free Study
In Half Dozen
Communities

Free adult educational classes will be organized in at least a half dozen Hall county communities within the next few weeks, under the federal government's relief education plan. Decision to apply for the classes was reached in a meeting held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the court house under the direction of Mrs. Roy Guthrie, county school superintendent.

The classes will be open to every adult not now attending any kind of school, and will provide almost every type of vocational and literary training. Classes will be held at times and places suitable to those attending. Teachers will be employed by the government, and must be capable of instructing the classes, but a teaching certificate is not required.

Eleven subjects will possibly be taught in Memphis, including a nursery school, it was decided yesterday. Application for the nursery school has already been sent in, and the teaching personnel selected.

Four or more subjects will possibly be taught at Turkey, three at Estelline, two at Pleasant Valley, one at Buffalo Flat, one at Leslie and single subjects at other points, it was decided in yesterday's meeting.

More than forty interested parties, including teachers and principals from schools in all sections of the county attended the meeting.

Many Visitors Here Will See 'Wonder Train' Late Saturday

The above scene is one that Memphians and hundreds of visitors here will witness tomorrow afternoon when the Burlington "Zephyr" stops for a one-hour visit for inspection by the public.

The "West Wind", as the train is named, will arrive here at 5:10 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and remain for one hour. It will be parked on the main line at the depot. Several thousand visitors are expected to pass through the train during the hour.

The stream-lined, stainless steel train is on its Texas tour. It is to be displayed at Amarillo tomorrow morning, arriving there tonight from the West coast where it has been starred in a motion picture, "The Silver Streak".
Leaving Amarillo, it stops at Claude and Clarendon before arriving here. It will spend tomorrow night at Childress and continue Sunday morning on its trip to Galveston.

Many also will be interested in seeing the train in motion on the track and probably will either meet the train coming in to Memphis or will follow it out of the city as it runs parallel to the highway.

The "West Wind" will not try for speed on its run through this area, although it is the fastest train in the world. It has attained a high speed of 112.5 miles an hour and holds the world record for speed on a non-stop run from Denver to Chicago, during which it attained the high speed and averaged 77.6 miles an hour for the entire distance.

The "Zephyr" is entirely revolutionary in railroad engineering.
It is powered by a 660-horse power, eight-in-line Diesel engine and runs on ball-bearings. It is 197 feet long, carrying 72 passengers, and although it has three cars, there is no "break" in the connections of the cars, making it stream-lined the entire length. It has only 16 wheels, whereas the regular passenger coaches of today would have 54 wheels for the same number of cars.

A special attraction of the accommodations is that each compartment is equipped for radio reception.

The train already has been exhibited before more than a million people.

JURY STILL OUT IN SUIT FOR $28,000

Deliberates on Damage Trial More Than 24 Hours

At two o'clock this afternoon no verdict had been returned by a jury that has been deliberating the $28,000 damage suit of J. J.
Kimbrow against the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway company for the past 24 hours. The case went to the jury at noon yesterday after three days of testimony and arguments in District Judge A. J. Fires court this week.

Kimbrow, a Hall county youth, suffered injuries that caused the amputation of his left foot while riding a freight train near Lelia Lake on December 23, 1933. The foot was amputated just above the ankle.

The suit asked for $25,000 actual damages to the 19-year-old youth, and $3,000 due his father.
He resides on the Dial ranch near Memphis.

Following the completion of the case yesterday afternoon, Judge Fires continued work on the civil docket of the September term of 100th Judicial District Court of Hall county. Pleadings in one divorce suit were heard, and a divorce granted D. C. Hall from Agnes Hall.

Entries were also made on the civil docket yesterday, recording an agreement reached recently in the case of H. Baldwin versus Hollis Boren. The suit for title and conversion was filed January 15, 1934.

OPEN CORN-HOG MEETINGS AT LAKEVIEW

Session Also Scheduled Here; Continue Tomorrow

Two meetings of farmers who have signed the government's corn-hog program for the past year are being held in Hall county this afternoon. The first of the meetings was to be held at 2 o'clock at Lakeview and the second in Memphis at 3:30 o'clock.

Purposes of the meetings, according to County Agent James A.
Jackson, are to get local opinions of the program being carried out by the government this year and the proposed plan for next year.
Under the plan now in operation 213 farmers in the county will receive a total of more than $7-000 from the government on the corn-hog program. Checks are expected to arrive soon for the payment of purchases made here, Mr.
Jackson said yesterday.

Although the plan for next year has been altered considerably, it is probable that Hall county farmers will voice their approval of the new plan, Mr. Jackson believes.

Two more meetings will be held Saturday, one at Estelline at 1 oclock and one at Turkey at 3 oclock.

Colonel Is Found After Long Search

CRAIG, Colo., Oct. 5.—Lieut.
Col. Isaac E. Titus of Fort Bliss, Texas, for whom the army and police have been searching since he dropped from sight in Denver, Saturday, was found alive and well at a Moffat County ranch near here yesterday.

The officer, who disappeared at Denver while en route with his wife to visit relatives, was surprised to learn that such a widespread search had been under way for him.

"The first I knew of it was when I picked up a Denver paper at the ranch and saw myself in headlines," he said.

He explained that he left Denver Saturday with a friend to inspect Moffat County oil lands.

HALLETTSVILLE WOMAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 5.—Mrs.
Adolph Bohuslav of Hallettsville was dead Thursday as a result of an automobile accident near here late Wednesday. She was bringing her 19-year-old daughter here for hospital treatment when the accident occurred.

William Cotter of San Antonio suffered a fractured skull. He and B. F. Price and J. D. Peck, also of San Antonio, were returning from a hunting trip when their automobile collided with the Bohuslav car. Bohuslav was injured slightly.

DOSS INSTALLED AS COMMANDER OF LEGION

Plans Advanced for Armistice Day
Celebration

New officers for the Charles R.
Simmons post of the American Legion were installed last night, and plans were advanced for a rodeo to be sponsored by the local post on November 10 and 11. L. L. Doss was installed as Post Commander, succeeding D. J. Morgensen, filling the position left by the resignation of E. H. Whittington, commander-elect.

Roy Mays will have charge of the rodeo being sponsored by the legion post on November 10 and 11. Plans for a complete show were made, and the support of the post pledged by those attending.

At last night's meeting, the legionnaires also listened to an address by the National Commander, Edward A. Hayes, over a national radio hook-up. Following the address (Continued on page 8)

LITTLE THEATRE WORKS ON PLAYS

Rehearsals Being Held on Three One-Act Plays To Be Presented Soon

A comedy, a fantasy and a tragedy will be the next performance of the Memphis Little Theatre. Rehearsals are progressing and the directors of each play reports that the plays could be presented in another week. With plans made for them since last spring and two months rehearsals, they cannot fail to be finished performances.

The cast include members of the Little Theatre. All women, some of the casts will make their first public appearances in Little Theatre shows and others will be remembered for their ability in previous performances.

"All for Glory," a comedy by Mrs. R. S. Greene and under her direction, "My Lady Dreams," a fantasy directed by Mrs. T. M.
Harrison and "Cul-De-Sac," a tragedy, by Essex Dane, under the direction of Mrs. Pete Clower, are the three one-act plays that promise to be the Memphis Little Theatre's biggest hit.

Plans have been made for the Little Theatre season. Following

MADRID, Oct. 5.—Twenty-two persons were killed and a hundred wounded as virtual civil war between extremists and government forces threw Spain into a bloody turmoil today.

Six villages and cities, including Eibar, captured by the forces of anarchists, communists and socialists, were recaptured in gun battles by soldiers and police.
Airplanes bombed the rebels.

MADRID, Oct. 5.—Batting forces of Spanish extremists, attempting to overthrow the government, today captured Eibar, fire arms manufacturing center of Spain and the first town that rebelled when the monarchy fell and Spain became a republic.

At least 10 men were killed in street fighting when radicals swarmed the town.

Some were killed in Madrid, but the worst fighting occurred in Catalonia where various villages were reported under the domination of anarchists, communists and socialists.

A red flag waved over several city halls.

The radicals were reported assembling in the mountains of As-turias to gather fighting equipment from caches already established there.

The capture of Eibar is expected

149 School Books Are Received Here By Superintendent

A total of 149 books were received yesterday and today by Mrs. Roy Guthrie, county school superintendent, for use in Hall county schools. Twenty-seven books were received for the circulating libraries now in use in the 27 schools in the county, and 122 text books were included in the shipments.

The textbooks are to replenish the supply in the superintendent's office, and consists principally of spellers.

Negro Confesses Alabama Slaying

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., Oct.
5.—A 43-year-old negro in jail on an assault charge confessed, Sheriff S. E. Juden said yesterday, the slaying of a policeman at Huntsville, Ala., in 1928.

Sheriff Juden said the negro,
John Wesley Harris, alias Bill Robison, admitted he killed Policeman Crawford Drake at Huntsville after an argument over a debt. Huntsville officers are enroute here, the sheriff said.

In his statements, Sheriff Juden said the negro maintained the officer shot him during the argument. The negro feigned death and shot the officer in the back as he turned to leave the scene.

OTT BEVERS UNDERGOES EMERGENCY OPERATION

Ott Bevers, of Weatherly, underwent an emergency appendix operation at 8 o'clock last night at the Odum sanitarium here. He was reported "doing nicely" this morning.

Miss Besse Jeffries of Pleasant Valley, who underwent a similar operation Tuesday night is also reported improved.

Everything in Readiness for Negro Minstrel Next Week, Says Director

Everything will be in readiness for the opening of the Junior Chamber of Commerce negro minstrel in the auditorium of the Senior High school on Wednesday evening of next week at 8 o'clock, according to William Russell Clark, who is directing the production. The minstrel will be presented both Wednesday and Thursday evenings of next week.
The advance ticket sale has already started and popular prices are being charged, 20 cents for adults and 10 cents for students and children.

In point of interest, of scenic effects, costuming and melody—to say nothing of the humor—this production bids fair to outclass any similar effort along this line in a long time in the opinion of those who have watched the cast rehearse. The costuming, particularly, will be effective, and the director and his large cast have been keenly alert to all possibilities in making of this show one of the fastest and most riot-provoking ventures of its kind.

Cary Grant Reported Poisoned, but Doctors Treat Him for Alcoholism

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 5.—Cary Grant, movie actor whose domestic difficulties with Virginia Cherrill, actress, were made public a few days ago, was treated for alcoholism today by emergency doctors who responded to a call that he had been poisoned.

When the receiving hospital physicians arrived, they said he told them he had taken poison tablets. Phial poison tablets were found on a table nearby.

After Grant's stomach was pumped, officers found that the Phial tablets were unopened, and the actor told officers he had been drinking heavily, because of despondency.

Miss Cherrill rushed to his apartment, but when she found he was not poisoned, she turned on her heel, saying: "If you want me, you know where to reach me," and went back to her mother.

BEACH CLUB GIRL

By MABEL McELROY

BEGIN HERE TODAY
BOOTS RAEBURN, 18 and pretty, elopes with RUSS LUND, handsome swimming instructor. Russ goes to Miami, promising to send for her later, and Boots gets a job in a New York department store.

Russ does not write. Months pass and then word comes that he had been killed in a motor boat accident.

Boots meets DENIS FENWAY, young author, and EDWARD VAN SCIVER, wealthy and socially prominent. She is in love with Denis and jealous of beautiful KAY CHILLINGFORD.

Boots gets a job in a book store and goes home to live in order to help her parents financially. On Christmas Eve Denis calls, but Boots tells herself she must forget him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
 CHAPTER XLII

Mrs. Raeburn came out into the hall. "Mr. Fenway gone, dear?" She managed a smile. "I just shut the door after him. You must be dead."

"I am a bit tired. You don't want to unpack that hamper tonight, child? Never mind—the morning will do as well. We'd better set it in the pantry. It's marked perishable. I'll lock Kitty down cellar so she can't get at it."

They mounted the stairs together. Miss Florida was splashing happily in the bathroom. They could hear her thin voice above the roar of the caucet, singing "The Palms."

"Daddy's asleep," the mother said contentedly after a glance into the big front bedroom. "He sleep well—that's a great mercy, I must say. He had a good day."

"I'm a fool and an ingrate to bother about Denis Fenway, Boots told herself passionately, when mother is content with so little. Just a roof over her head and enough food to eat and the assurance that all of us are alive and moderately well. . . .

There was a square, squat box on her dressing table, addressed in Edward's angular hand. Boots regarded it drearily. Dear Edward! He would always do the correct thing; send her lovely presents for her anniversaries; remember her preference in food and scent. She would never have any heartaches with Edward, probably. He was the faithful type.

Thousands of Women Benefited By Cardui

The benefits many women obtain from Cardui give them great confidence in it. . . . "I have four children," writes Mrs. J. L. Norred, of Lagrange, Ga. "Before the birth of my children, I was weak, nervous and tired. I had a lot of trouble with my back. I took Cardui each time and found it so helpful. Cardui did more to allay the nausea at these times than anything I have ever used. I am in very good health and believe Cardui did a lot of it." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

He had said so, himself. This other—this dark-browed, nervous-fingered young man with the deep voice—was the sort after whom women always ran. You never knew where you were with the Denis Fenways of this world, thought Boots savagely. She stepped out of her wrinkled woolen frock and stood, slim, deliciously curved, in her tailored slip. She frowned at herself in the oval mirror. She wasn't repulsive looking, she reflected, yet Denis seemed never really to see her. Even when he had kissed her he had been thinking of Kay, punishing Kay.

At the thought, her heart-shaped face, framed in its pale gold hair, flushed rosily. The flush ran down over her creamy skin, to the little hollow dipping between her breasts. She flung a hand over her eyes.

"Aren't you going to open your box?" Her mother's voice recalled her to the present. "Child alive, you'll catch your death. The furnace has been banked for half an hour. You know how cold the house gets."

Boots snatched her wooly robe and flung it over her shoulders. Yes, she would open Edward's gift —for her mother's delectation, at least.

The box lid, laid back, revealed a creamy string of small pearls, perfectly matched. Mrs. Raeburn's faded eyes lighted at the sight of them.

"Barbara, they're beautiful! You lucky, lucky girl!"

Miss Florida had to come in then, her thin, homely face glowing from its recent scrubbing. She had to be shown the treasure and echoed the sentiment.

"You're a very fortunate child. I declare. I never say anything more handsome."

Alone in her room later, Boots stared at the rosily tinted globules slipping through her fingers. She would have rarer things, finer things than these from Edward's generous hands. The pearls were a symbol of her life to come. She knelt down by the bed. "Please, God, make me worthy of him. He deserves something better than this. But him as much as he night. First for Edward. But she is out of her head was the only way. Boots wakened Christmas dawn, he ly, in snatches and (Continued on

"Grocery Anagrams"

What Is an ANAGRAM?

An anagram is merely a rearrangement of the letters of a word. For example, EFFOCE is an anagram of COFFEE; again, CORREG is an anagram of CER. Note that the anagram contains the same letters of the regular word, the only difference being that the letters are placed in different order.

THE RULES

1. The letters in each of the accompanying anagrams when arranged properly will spell the names of ten well-known food and grocery items. Invited to solve the anagrams and try for a basket of groceries or one of the Ritz Theatre tickets are offered as prizes.
2. To the persons who send in the best entries in accordance with these rules, The Democrat will award a free basket of groceries and ten tickets to the Ritz Theatre. Two tickets will be offered as prizes and one ticket each to the next eight contestants.
3. This offer open to all except employees of The Democrat and their families. You pay for your own groceries.
4. Awards will be made to the persons who solve the ten anagrams to spell the name of a grocery item. After you have solved the anagrams, check the food and grocery ads in today's Democrat and place a cross mark in the square if you find the item advertised in any of today's grocery ads. If the item is NOT advertised make NO mark.
5. All entries will be considered by a committee appointed by The Democrat. Contestants accept the decisions of the committee as final. Payment will be based upon suitability of words, accuracy in checking, time submitted and number of entries. No special consideration will be given to entries. In case of ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded to tying contestants.
6. All entries must be received at the Democrat office by four o'clock Saturday afternoon.
7. You need not purchase the Democrat to participate. You may use the handy blank supplied here. You may submit your entry on a separate sheet of paper.

Winners will be announced in Sunday's Democrat.

her. "We'll go places and do things. I'll be so proud of you."

Her mother came in and there were effusive thanks for the game and the jellies and the fruit cake and the avocados. Boots, sitting apart, admired his manner with the older woman, his quiet deference.

"He's good. He's kind," she assured herself. "What more does any girl want?"

It would be a haven for her—this safe, wise honorable marriage. Sylvia would never look past her unseeingly again, nor would Boots' mother worry over bills. The girl clung to these thoughts. They steadied her.

Presently she and Edward went for a walk in the chill air. The early morning promise of sun had faded and a slow fog was seeping in from the shore. The horns blew unceasingly.

"Funny Christmas weather!" Boots shivered in her coat, huddling the fur collar closer under her chin. She had an indefinable sense of unrest. Her nerves were stretched at high tension.

"You're cold." Edward gave her a concerned look. "Better take you back." He had one big, gloved hand under her elbow, piloting her. The sidewalks were filmed with the faintly oily dampness the fog always brought. They stopped at an intersection and a car zoomed past them with eerie quiet in the gray swirl of mist blowing in from the Sound.

"This—is this terrible," the girl said on a note of hysterical laughter. "I never saw such fog. And on this of all days."

People loomed suddenly close to them as they crossed. A father steered two red-capped and mittened children, chattering excitedly.

"Good thing we didn't drive," Edward muttered. "You can't even see the turns." A headlight flashed close to them and was instantly swallowed up in the mist.

Presently, Boots thought, chattering with relief, they would turn in at Isabel's doorway. All this darkness and dimness would be swallowed up in the warmth of candlelight and firelight. There would be reassuring laughter and brimming cups.

"I don't know why I mind this so," she said in a shaken note, "but I do. It makes me terribly nervous."

"Careful there!" She hadn't even altered the curb. Houses, shrubs, fences, gates—all were swallowed up in the horrible, all enveloping grayness and blankness. She heard the shrill sound of brakes; saw Edward's arm flung up to shield her. It seemed then that she was slipping, slipping, slipping downward.

Denise came in a moment later. The color came up in Boots' face. "Where's Edward?"

"At the New Martin Hospital," she told him simply. "He—he was very brave, Denis. He saved my life."

He was watching her intently. "He—Edward and I are going to be married soon after the first of the year," she went on rapidly. "I—I thought I ought to tell you."

There was a brief silence. "Thanks. I'm glad to know it. It—it simplifies things, somehow."

She did not glance his way nor ask him what he meant.

"So will you, after you take me home, go down to the hospital and see exactly how things are? See what he needs and then let his people know? His mother—his mother will be simply furious," Boots finished, tears standing at last in her eyes. "She's not—particularly wild about me anyhow, although she's been decent enough. But she will be bound to think it's all my fault."

"Of course I'll go," Denise said, answering the first part of her sentence and politely ignoring the second. "Think you can stand?"

She tried it, giddily. Dr. La Farge's mirror showed a blue bruise on her forehead. "I'm a—pretty sight for Christmas."

Much later, in her own room, with the lamps lighted and Miss Florida fussing over her gently with hot water bottles and milk toast, Boots recalled the look Denise had given her at that moment. Recalled it and put it quickly away. It was Edward she must think of now. A hip fracture, the X-rays showed, Edward was resting comfortably but it would be a full six weeks before he would walk again.

REVIEWS OF CURRENT MOTION PICTURES

PALACE Theater goes who went to the Palace last night to see "We're Rich Again" as advertised in yesterday's Democrat were not disappointed when they found that the theater was showing "The Black Cat" instead.

If you have ever read the story, "The Black Cat," you will realize that no one could have written it except Poe, and if you see the picture, you will also realize that no one could correctly portray the leading parts except Karloff and Lugosi.

The picture follows the plot of the novel fairly closely, the few changes adding to the story instead of detracting, as is often the case. The story, for instance, has its setting in an ultra-modern European home, instead of an old castle.

If you like Edgar Allan Poe's works, if you like Karloff or Lugosi, or if you like a weird thriller, you will surely like "The Black Cat."

Mrs. Claud Johnson and Mrs. W. R. Cabaness and son, Ralph, Jr., are leaving in the morning for a two-week visit at Stephenville and Cisco.

Mrs. R. F. Curry and Mrs. T. E. Bengo of Wellington were guests in the homes of Mrs. George Greenhaw and Mrs. Pete Clower here Tuesday.

Mrs. J. J. McMickin returned first of the week from Lawton, Okla., where she had been on account of the illness of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Wrotten. She reports Mrs. Wrotten some better but still in a serious condition.

H. Baldwin returned to his home at Tenaha yesterday after spending several days here with his daughter, Mrs. Roy Leverett, and transacting business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Browder of Mineral Wells are here for a visit with her sister, Mrs. J. A. Whaley, and his daughters, Mrs. Murray Dodson, and Mrs. Frank Foxhall, and to look after property interest.

With all the European mock wars in progress, tourists can only be certain as to war's validity by asking Sir Basil Zaharoff.

"Paris Interlude," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture now showing at the Ritz Theater, is a surprisingly interesting picture. It is not at all the fast, fiery production we had been led to expect, but it is a story of deep love and deeper friendship.

Co-starring Madge Evans, as Julie, a Paris fashion writer. Otto Kruger, as Sam, ace foreign correspondent of a large newspaper, adventurer and one-armed reporter, and Robert Young, as Pat, on the surface a happy-go-lucky "tourist guide" and would-be writer, but underneath this surface a true friend and helper, the picture is the story of a little group of Americans in Paris.

The only objection to the picture is that most of it is filmed in a Paris saloon, where the Americans gather quite often. However, this is not an hilarious gathering. The picture revolves around the antics of the two reporters, with Kruger fading out of the picture for a long time and with the action centering around Young and Miss Evans. Una Merkel, Ted Healey and Bert Roach add much to the cast.

"Paris Interlude" is a comedy romance adapted for adults and young people, but a little too deep for children.

 OCCASION—First conference game, first home game under lights.
 LOCATION—Fair Park stadium.
 ADMISSION 25 and 50 cents.

The Estelline Cats, boasting a squad of 32 "pretty good" footballers who are intent upon upsetting the Memphis Cyclone in the first conference battle of the season here, invade Fair Park stadium tonight to inaugurate night gridiron battles in Memphis.

After a week of intensive drills on the weakest points in the Cyclone game—blocking and tackling—the local gridders are ready to meet this big rival from "across the river."

This game lightly. They expect to go far in the district race this season, and an upset by the Bear Cats would practically destroy all these plans.

Chester Walker has made three changes in his probable starting line-up, results, apparently, of the way the boys have shown in drills this week.

Dedicate Stadium

Five hundred or more fans, many of them from Estelline, are expected to be in the stands tonight at 7:50 o'clock, when the stadium, with its lighting equipment, will be dedicated. The dedication program will last only 10 minutes, with the kickoff coming immediately afterward. The Memphis Black and Gold band and the High school pep squad as well as the two ball clubs and leaders of the organizations that made the stadium and equipment possible, will take part in the dedication.

With the added strength that this week's drills have built up, the aerial attack of Norman to Springer and Grimes and Baskerville and Powers is expected to work better than against the last strong opposition. Lead by Co-Captain Champion, center, the defense is also expected to click to greater effectiveness. The running attack, too, will be more open.

Roy Forkner of Amarillo is here this week visiting his father Sam Forkner.

Although the Cyclone is not expecting to meet too strong opposition from Estelline—that is opposition they cannot overcome—the club certainly is not taking

Mrs. V. O. Williams of Chillicothe spent Tuesday here as the guest of Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard.

Linwood "Schoolboy" Rowe today is Detroit's hero of the hour. It was the masterly pitching of this former Texas leaguer, getting stronger as the World Series battle stretched farther into extra innings yesterday afternoon, that allowed the American league champions to even the count with the St. Louis Cardinals. Although he allowed the Cardinals to take an early lead and was saved from defeat in the last half of the ninth inning, the Schoolboy went all the way—12 innings—outlasting a brace of Cardinal hurlers. He allowed only seven hits and struck out as many batsmen, fanning two in the 11th inning and another in the 12th. Except for Pepper Martin's double in the 12th, the Schoolboy was never in trouble after the Tigers sent the battle into a tie.

Liggett & Myers, the people who make Chesterfields, have about 4 1/2 miles of storage warehouses where they age the tobacco.

Down South where they grow tobacco folks say...

It's no wonder so many people smoke Chesterfields. The tobaccos are mild and ripe to start with, and then they're aged the right way to make a milder, better-tasting cigarette.

'ZEPHYR' REVIVES 'IRON HORSE' INTEREST

SPANNING many years and exemplifying railroad advancement, the Burlington "Zephyr", latest of all railroad engineering and the fastest train on wheels will visit Memphis tomorrow afternoon. It is a far cry from this ultra-modern achievement to the days when Memphians soaped tracks to get the passenger train to make this a regular stop. The people are still just as interested in railroads as they were when the first "iron horse" plowed its way westward. There will be thousands of visitors from the Memphis Area and points more distant along routes the "Zephyr" will not traverse here tomorrow afternoon to witness the new, just as hundreds gathered from over the country to view the old "iron horse".

This interest—the Burlington train has attracted worlds of attention everywhere—would indicate that the trouble from competition the railroads have experienced in recent years has been as much the fault of the railroads as it has any lack of proper government control.

For a long time the railways did practically nothing to combat this competition. They used old equipment in the same old manner. They adopted steel coaches to replace the old, wooden affairs, but this, although a great advance in safety, did not solve the problem. Now the railroads are stepping forward, meeting the competition of fast-moving, spacious motor buses and trucking vans and airplanes. They are not only equaling the speed of this competition, but they are improving on the comforts and safety.

First, air-conditioning; now, the "Zephyr" and its colleagues. Truly, railroading is pioneering a new and greater period of passenger transportation.

RADICAL THEORIES WEAR DOWN WITH TIME

IS the United States going radical? Is this country being ushered into Socialism through the back door?

Every political discussion you hear these days hinges around those questions. But nobody knows the answer. And one of the reasons is that people forget to ask first, What is radical? What is Socialism?

That depends. Let's dig into the dusty files of the Library of Congress and retrieve a forgotten document. It is the Socialist Party platform for 1912. The socialist Party then was radicalism par excellence. Socialists were then what "Reds" are today.

The Socialist platform of that pre-war campaign of 22 years ago starts out with the familiar Socialist thesis that there must be war between the classes, and that Socialism must replace the present capitalist economic system in toto. But, in the meantime, here are some of the demands proposed pending the day:

Public ownership of railroads, telegraph and telephone lines, wireless telegraph (sic), express and all transport lines, grain elevators, stockyards and distributing agencies, mines, quarries, oil wells, forests, and water power. Conservation of natural resources; reclamation; development of water power projects. How much of that is coming true today, every day's newspaper will tell you.

Collective ownership and democratic management of the banking and currency system was demanded. Government relief of the unemployed "by the extension of all useful public works" was proposed.

In industry, a shortened work day with a day and a half of rest each week for every workman (the 10-hour day, or at best the eight, was standard in 1912). No child labor under 16 years of age. Minimum wage scales. Unemployment, old age, accident and disease insurance at employers' expense.

Creation of a Department of Labor (one of Wilson's first acts on being elected). A Department of Education. Curbing of the injunction power, and calling of a convention to revise the Constitution.

Those were the important planks of the most radical platform presented to the people in 1912. You may judge how radical it sounds today, and how far we have come along the road it points out.

Look Away, Look Away, Look Away, Dixie Land

HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Distinction between a mentally defective child below the age of 3 and a normal one is exceedingly difficult. If a child hears no sounds or words for a considerable length of time, it may seem to be a deaf mute.

Some of the mental defectives we see are children who are born mentally defective because of insufficient development of the brain.

Such defectives have to be clothed, fed, housed, and waited on throughout their lives. About this type of mental defectiveness there can be no doubt.

There are, however, various degrees of mental defect, from complete failure of the brain to develop mentally to minor degrees of inferiority.

Therefore, mental deficiency is not a disease, or any combination of diseases, but an indication that portions of the brain have not developed as they should.

The inferior brain development of these defectives makes them usually undersized, below average weight, and diminishes also their general resistance to disease.

Most mental defectives do not live long. They do not react to disease as do normal children. Occasionally, however, there are cases which seem to live beyond the average expectancy, perhaps because they are given excellent care.

Most mentally defective children also show signs of imperfect speech and of insufficient development of their vocabulary. If they develop speech, it is usually very late as compared with a normal child. Such children are also very late in development of clean habits in relationship to their bodies.

In many foreign countries, and in some of our own states, there are now wide discussions on the subject of sterilization of the mentally defective, to prevent multiplication.

There seems to be some evidence that certain types of mental defects are hereditary. Nevertheless, the decision as to who should be sterilized and who not is far from being established unequivocally.

Voluntary sterilization certainly is inefficient, since but few of those who should be sterilized volunteer. Compulsory sterilization has not been adopted in most countries.

At present, the problem of the mental defective is usually turned over to an institution in which these unfortunates are cared for and given opportunity to make the most of such brain power as they possess.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY WILLIS THORNTON The Democrat's Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—"Retain the good—throw out the bad!" That was the administration promise of proposal when most of the present emergency legislation was taken on for trial a year or two ago. Now, as the winter session of Congress looms, there are frantic efforts on all sides to comb through the alphabetical agencies and see what can be thrown to the critical lions as bad, and what may be defended as undoubtedly good.

NRA, which is floundering badly, like a ship without either rudder or engines, is making such an examination of itself. The real NRA organization isn't the one that was made the other day (into legislative, executive, and judicial branches).

It's the one that's coming, the one to which advisers such as Moley, Swope, Johnson, Richberg, and possibly, Baruch, have been quietly bending their energies.

It's one that will come this winter, and you may be pretty sure that whatever is done before then is temporary.

Government airplanes flew over Eibar and two regiments of mountain troops as well as assault guard companies from San Sebastian and Victoria were sent to rescue the city.

With the capture of Eibar, the revolutionary movement reached proportions of civil war.

Mexicans Charged In Death of Two Brothers Tuesday

By Associated Press
FALFURRIAS, Oct. 5.—Four Mexicans were charged with murder today in connection with the slaying of Homer and Virgil Dobbs, brothers, as they returned to their San Juan home from a trip to San Antonio with a truck load of vegetables Tuesday night.

Assessed Death in Slaying of Deputy

Special to The Democrat DALLAS, Oct. 5.—Laroy Lane was sentenced to death Thursday for the slaying of Cecil Chapman, a deputy sheriff, after a series of robberies north of Dallas Sept. 8. His brother, Eugene Lane, was killed as the robbers ran toward a car containing Chapman and Bryan Peck, another deputy. Peck was the chief state witness at Lane's trial.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hampton were business visitors in Clarendon Wednesday.

Mrs. B. F. Shepherd of Amarillo is here visiting old friends and looking after property.
