preparation to teach in this department when school opens here this fall.
 The vocational industrial department of the high school is operated in the same manner as the home economics and vocational agriculture departments, receiving both state and federal aid to augment funds appropriated by the local school board to carry on the work.
 According to Mr. Delaney, pupils enrolling in this new department have the choice of studying a number of industrial studies in their class room work, in laboratory, and practical study. The businessmen and merchants of Memphis have granted the school the privilege of sending pupils in this department to their shops, stores and places of business for practical laboratory study in the type of work the student is studying.
 Through this procedure, according to Mr. Delaney, the student will be trained in his chosen line of work in theory in the class room and also will have the opportunity of getting a working knowledge of the business from actual experience in the field.

FARMERS FIGHTING THE 'HOPPERS'

THE RATE at which farmers in Hall and near-by counties continue to spread poison mix in an effort to halt the grasshopper infestation exemplifies cooperation to the nth degree. That is the spirit that makes it possible to put over great projects in this section of Texas.

The natives of China fought the great droves of locusts in an entirely different way, but in much the same spirit. If you saw the film "Good Earth," or read the book, you know how the locust covered the ripened grains to near destruction before organized fighting and a strong wind brought victory.

The battle is now in full swing but the tide hasn't turned. It will take additional work, according to those who know, but splendid headway has been made.

GOOD NEWS FOR TEACHERS AND ALL

IT WAS good news last week when it was announced that every rural school in Hall County had been approved for standardization. Good news not only for the teachers, who will receive five dollars extra per month, but for the county as a whole.

It is a remarkable record when fifteen rural schools in one county can rate better than 800 points each on the basis of curricula, standard of work, management, equipment, suitability of school building, sanitation, etc. It speaks well for the board members and the entire citizenship. It exemplifies that head-strong desire for better education is the objective in this county.

Another nice feature comes in the additional state aid to result from the standardization. Each school will receive aid on the basis of nine-months rather than the usual eight-months terms. Just as the rural schools passed the state's inspection 100 per cent, The Democrat is for them 100 per cent.

PAYING FOR JULY 4TH PLEASURES

EACH YEAR finds the few days following July 4th filled with reports of untimely deaths by accidents and carelessness. This year is no exception.

The cost of a joyous holiday in these modern times continues to climb, in representative numbers of deaths. But, traffic has replaced the fireworks in the higher danger-brackets. Men and women at the wheels of fast automobiles have done more to raise the costs of American holidays than anything else. Adult drivers, who should have more reason than the average youngster has about firecrackers, have taken more lives than all forms of holiday indulgence.

Needless to say, it is too late to editorialize on the subject now, but The Democrat wonders if this won't do about as much good as it would have last week. The average American pays little attention to the advice of newspapers, other than to agree that the warnings are sound ones.

Regardless of what is said, the cost America must pay for July 4th pleasures is too high.

oooOooo

PIONEER PICTURES FOR PIONEER EDITION

FOR SEVERAL weeks The Democrat has been asking for pioneer pictures, scenes preferred, to be used in the forthcoming Pioneer Edition. At first the response was slow, but last week a renewed effort was made which resulted in an avalanche of pioneer pictures.

It must be pointed out, however, that still more of these early day pictures are needed. As many of them as possible will be used. All of them will be returned to their owners.

Many columns of pioneer copy have already been set into type for the edition, but pictures can tell more than a thousand words. Pictures enrich and add to the atmosphere so desirous of such an edition. More pictures are needed.

oooOooo

Many a man plays a better game of golf in his sleep than he does on the course.

A holiday on July Fourth is in celebration of the independence of the United States but how about one on the Fifth to recuperate from sunburn, antbite, poison ivy, indigestion and other evils contracted on the Fourth?

CLAUDE'S Comments

J. C. W.

With such noted men as Col. E. P. Smyth of Plainview, Senator Tom Connally and Congressman Marvin Jones appearing on the program of the Hall County Old Settlers reunion here July 27 and plenty of music and other entertainment, the people who attend the affair will be amply repaid.

Each year the reunion has been held, there has been plenty of entertainment, and the coming event promises to be still better, if such a thing is possible. So lay your plans to spend and enjoy a full day with the old-timers.

One by one the old-timers of Hall County pass away. It seems like The Democrat records the death of some one who had a part in carving out a home in a new country and helped to develop a community life that is unexcelled anywhere. This week the death of Mrs. A. G. Powell is recorded. This great woman was truly a pioneer, for she came to Hall County in 1890, and had no little part in the development of Memphis. Her third child was the first to be born in Memphis.

It will not be long when all the early day pioneers of Hall County will have gone from our midst, and much of the history that becomes more valuable as the years roll on will have been buried with them.

Easy Profit

Trail Dust

Hot sand would burn my grime-shielded feet as I used to carry heavy pails of water up the hill for my mother on wash day and there was no great incentive for haste in the noon meal with its menus of corn bread and lamb-quarter greens; conditions were friendly to oblivious lethargy. Often I would find pleasure in releasing a drop of blueing into a tub of clear water and watching that tiny fault may discolor an entire existence.—Douglas Meador in Matador Tribune.

No Sales Tax

Texas vacationists return to the state, almost without exception, thankful that the state has no sales tax tokens. The gasoline sales tax (camouflaged as an occupation tax) is taken for granted by the tourists. But when they encounter sales tax and tokens they take notice.

State Comptroller George Sheppard had a communication that showed how general the token pian is elsewhere. An Oklahoma City miss, Louise Hodges, wrote that she is making a collection of tokens. She enclosed a penny and a self-addressed envelope with a request for a sample of each one. She received the penny back.—Odessa News-Times.

We've never been able to understand why women as pretty as those in the washing machine ads can't marry men who are able to hire the washing done.—The Sandhill Sage in Paducah Post.

Quack Advertising

Randall County candidates are being solicited by several Amarillo so-called labor papers for advertising. Every two years a flock of these publications make their appearance for the purpose of working the candidates. There are possibly 25 to 50 union voters in Randall County. The publications are not distributed among other people. The price is too high considering what the candidates receive.—Canyon News.

Expose of Nazis Shows Espionage to Be More Than Fanciful Bogey

It was something of a rude awakening, but the United States has finally realized that espionage activities are not entirely fictitious fare dished out for the benefit of thrill-seeking readers and movie fans.

When a New York City special grand jury suddenly and dramatically announced indictment of 18 German agents, a large part of the American citizenry learned that their nation is pretty well mixed up in a web of foreign intrigue.

BACK of the moral indictment of Germany is a story that reads like an adventure novel, a tale which had its beginning in Dundee, Scotland, and came to a climax in America.

Last January British secret service agents who arrested Mrs. Jessie Wallace Jordan in her Dundee beauty salon discovered that she served as a relay between three suspected Nazi spies in the United States and the home land.

In February the passport bureau in New York received a mysterious telephone call. In the name of a phony undersecretary of state, the caller ordered some blanks delivered to his hotel. Officials sent a dummy package, trailed it, and arrested Guenther Rumrich, deserter from the U. S. army.

Then a red-haired beauty operator on a German liner—Johanna Hoffman—was found with a letter offering $1000 for information on U. S. aircraft carriers. At Mitchell Field, L. I., Erich Glaser, who had been watched for six months, was discovered carrying letters from Mrs. Jordan. The mass of information grew until 18 men and women, only four of whom remained on U. S. shores, were indicted.

The Nazi case has thrown a spotlight on spy activity. But according to Thomas M. Johnson, war correspondent and writer and authority on international espionage, it is only a pin-prick of light compared to a wider beam which could be focused on many other agents.

There are more foreign spies from more foreign countries in our land today, says Johnson, than ever before in peacetime history.

In the main, says Johnson, spies from Fascist countries seek information about devices and inventions which foreign powers

Or they may be American citizens, recruited from the ranks of antagonistic factions or lured by the jingle of foreign coin. The elaborate systems of communication which they have built up make them difficult to follow.

Childress to Stage Big Golden Jubilee Affair This Month

Pioneers and Residents of Area Invited to Assist in Celebrating July 17-18-19

CHILDRESS, July 6.—The most spectacular wild-west rodeo ever staged in Northwest Texas will be only one of the features on the three-day program July 17-18-19 when Childress celebrates its 50th anniversary at a gigantic Golden Jubilee celebration.

All pioneers of the Childress area will be honored at the event and residents of the entire territory are invited to join Childressites in their gala birthday party.

Eighty-two head of the best rodeo stock available, $600 in cash prizes, plus added money, and top-notch western specialty acts offered as rodeo attractions, and the cream of rodeo contestants from all sections of the west are scheduled to compete.

Three rodeo shows will be presented—at 2:30 Monday afternoon, July 18, at 8:30 Monday night, and at 2:30 Tuesday afternoon, July 19. Popular prizes will prevail for the shows, which will be presented at the Childress Fair Park.

An old-timers dancing contest, with $120 in cash prizes to the winners will be staged at the high school auditorium Tuesday night, July 19. Prizes will go to winners in the schottische, new shoes, heel and toe polka, pop goes the weasel, rye waltz, waltz, two step and square dance set.

A hand contest, with $25 in cash and two loving cups as prizes, will attract some eight or ten bands from the Childress area. The competing bands will engage in both marching and concert competition.

A pioneer parade, an old fiddlers contest, addresses by nationally famous speakers, including the feature talk by U. S. Congressman Marvin Jones of Amarillo, a free program throughout the day and night from a mammoth sound stage in the business section of Childress, dances, a sacred singing convention Sunday afternoon, special church services and numerous other events will be included on the three-day program.

All programs will go over the sound system, which will give every person within a radius of ten blocks an opportunity to hear, clearly, every word spoken.

Except for the rodeo and square dance contest, all entertainment will be free.

SOME FISH—If you came home from a fishing trip with a bass like that pictured above, you'd have the laugh on the doubters. On second thought, maybe you'd just as soon let O. L. GERALD C. MANN

Gerald C. Mann Is Visitor in Memphis

Bringing his vigorous campaign here, Gerald C. Mann, dynamic Dallas attorney and candidate for attorney general, spoke before a crowd on the courthouse lawn Friday pledging the relentless prosecution of all law violators and strict enforcement of the laws.

"I shall be relentless in the prosecution of all law violators whether the law breaker be the largest corporation or smallest citizen. On the other hand I shall not prosecute a man or set of men for the purpose of gaining public favor nor shall I fail to prosecute for fear of losing it."

"When I am attorney general the laws are going to be enforced. I shall work in harmony with all other state officials. We will work as a team but all are going to play according to the rules of the game. I am going to see that the laws are obeyed not only by the governed but by those who govern."

Scoring rackets existing in the state, Mann declared the "most insidious, the one most damaging to the state, is the political racket."

Mann invited a comparison of his record as a lawyer with that of any of his opponents and he reviewed his outstanding past service to the people as an assistant attorney general, secretary of state and Washington representative of the Texas Planning Board.

He told of his work in coordinating state and federal projects in Washington to secure millions of dollars for Texas in relief and WPA projects.

"While secretary of state I wrote and secured passage of present Texas Securities Act which has driven the fraudulent stock broker and racketeer from the state."

"I whipped the racketeer then and I'll do it again."

Sunday morning the pastor will bring a message on the question, "What Seest Thou" with Jeremiah 1:11-19 as the scriptural background. This question was asked of the prophet of old, but we might well ponder it today. What do we see and what effect does our vision have upon our actions?

The subject for Sunday evening will be, "Full Priced Christianity" taken from I Chronicles 21:18-25. Are we ready to pay the full price?

Come to each of the preaching services, Sunday school, B. T. U. and the mid-week prayer meeting. We believe you will enjoy all the services. "Neglect not the assembling of yourselves together as the custom of some is."
