Soviet 'Brain Trust' Celebrates 17 Years of Rule

JAPAN SEEKING AID TO BREAK TREATY

Proposes Union With France and Italy, It Is Learned

TOKYO, Nov. 27.—An authoritative source today said that Japan had proposed to France and Italy that they join her in abrogating the Washington naval treaty.

Tokyo has decided to denounce the treaty before the year's end, and Italy and France diplomats were invited to visit the Japan foreign minister, Koki Hirota, today.

It was said that a similar proposal was made to England and the United States at the current tri-power London negotiations, but the two countries gave it a cold reception.

At London it is expected that neither France nor Italy will agree to the denunciation.

At Washington official circles considered the move a diplomatic gesture designed to strengthen Japan's position.

Only 24, Landis Runs for House

Kenesaw Mountain Landis II, above, is only 24, but he seeks the House seat made vacant by the death of his father, Fred Landis, a few days after the latter's election in the Second Indiana district. Young Landis, namesake of the baseball czar, his uncle, says he would delay taking his seat until he reached 25, minimum Congress age, if the House would consent.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Newt Baker and H. R. Marks, Paris policemen, were released near Antlers, Okla., early today. They were held prisoners for 24 hours by an armed pair.

The officers were not hurt. They said they were held in a wooded section between Harris and Antlers.

The released officers, said their abductors, believed to be Ambrose Nix and Arthur Gooch, who escaped the Holdenville, Okla., jail a month ago, continued their flight in the officers' patrol car.

Officers in four states had made a wide search for the abducted policemen.

The policemen were taken captive at 3:30 a. m. yesterday when they went to a service station to question two men thought to have been involved in a $110 sandwich stand holdup near Tyler Sunday night. The suspects suddenly covered them with pistols and forced them into the patrol car, then sped away to the north.

The abductors abandoned a stolen car here, identified later as having been taken from Oscar Caldwell of Durant, Okla., on Oct. 31. In the car were found narcotics and some hypodermic needles.

A physician's case containing narcotics was stolen from a Holdenville doctor shortly after Gooch and Nix, along with two other men and women, made their escape Oct. 25.

Two men in a car such as was abandoned here robbed a lunch stand two miles north of Tyler late Sunday night, kidnaping the owner and a negro porter. They were tied to trees about a mile from the place. They freed themselves and reported the robbery to Tyler officers.

The car the robbers were in was believed to have been the same one that was abandoned at Paris. Officers said that Baker and Marks are certain their kidnapers were Nix and Gooch. The kidnapers abandoned an automobile definitely the one stolen at Durant, Okla., Oct. 31.

The abducted policeman said they rode a hundred miles with the kidnapers, always covered with guns and in danger of being shot. Department of justice agents joined the hunt for Gooch and Nix today. Officers said the fugitives faced federal charges for taking the policeman across the state line. They are also being charged with violation of the federal automobile theft act.

BRIDE, PRIEST ARE SHOT IN HOTEL ROOM

Husband Confesses Killing, District Attorney States

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—A man identified as a New Jersey priest and a honeymooning bride from Hollywood were shot to death late yesterday in the cleric's hotel room by the woman's husband, a former Bible school student.

All had been drinking heavily, assistant District Attorney Saul Price said.

The slain man, Price said, was the Rev. Joseph L. Leonard, a Catholic priest at the Morris Hall Home for the aged at Lawrenceville, N. J.

The bride was the former Ruth Tiles, 17. She had sought a career in the movies under the name of Ruth Mary Armstrong.

Her husband, Joseph L. Steinmetz, 22, was found beside the bodies, collapsed. Price said he orally admitted the slayings. He will be arraigned on a charge of homicide.

The district attorney's aide said Steinmetz told him: "The priest asked my wife down to his room to hear a confession. . . I followed them. . . my mind was in a whirl. . . I shot them."

Steinmetz met Miss Armstrong on the West Coast while he was (Continued on Page 8)

Tabulate Bids on Highway Projects in Donley County

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—The Texas Highway Commission yesterday tabulated bids on $2,032,020 in Federal emergency and state highway construction.

Contracts on $1,616,890 in Federal projects will be formally awarded when the bids have been approved by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads. Work orders will be issued on the state jobs when the highway commission approved the contracts.

It was "bargain day" as far as the highway commission was concerned. Bids on the Federal projects were $272,000 below the engineer's estimates, while bids on the state jobs were $84,869 under the estimates. In some instances the successful low bidder was 40 percent below the figure set by the commission as the reasonable cost.

Final rites were held at the Methodist church at Lakeview, conducted by the Rev. G. H. Gattis, assisted by A. D. Odom and I. T. Hoggatt. Interment was in the Lakeview cemetery, with Kings' Mortuary of Memphis in charge.

Mrs. Henry was born June 19, 1849, in Arkansas and was married to W. D. Henry on October 27, 1889. She has resided in Hall county for the past seven years.

Besides her husband and son, she is survived by one step-son, 11 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Final services were held at the Methodist church at Lakeview, conducted by the Rev. G. H. Gattis, assisted by A. D. Odom and I. T. Hoggatt. Interment was in the Lakeview cemetery, with Kings' Mortuary of Memphis in charge.

More than 1,800 delegates from 200 Texas counties are expected, Corbin said. Noted speakers have been secured for the meeting and indications are that the meeting will be the largest farm gathering ever held in Texas, Corbin said.

Farm speeches will be held each of the three days with the election of officers scheduled for the last day.

BABY IS 'DOING NICELY'

Memphis "Mystery Baby" was reported this morning as "doing just fine" at the Memphis Hospital where it has been since a few minutes after its strange birth Sunday morning.

The tiny five-pound boy was found at about 2 o'clock Sunday morning underneath the house of R. D. Starkey, at 517 North Fifth street in Memphis. Attending physicians declared that the baby was less than an hour old when it was discovered.

The baby's tiny unclothed body was found in the early morning hours by Delmer Starkey, a resident of the house, when he was attracted by the baby's cry. Starkey summoned officers who found the child lying naked in a pool of blood. It was carried to the hospital where doctors said that the child was only a few minutes old. The baby was suffering from exposure and improper medical attention, but rallied and has been resting fine since Sunday morning.

Members of the sheriff's department are at work today in an effort to find the parents of the child, but at noon today were not ready to make any statement.

Numerous enquiries are coming in to the hospital as well as county and district officials about adopting the child, but no formal application for adoption had been filed this morning in the district clerk's office.

Meanwhile, a fine cooing baby boy waits for somebody to offer him a home. If one is not offered, he will probably be placed in an orphanage when he is a little older, officers believe.

COTTON MEETS CLOSE HERE TOMORROW

To Hold Final Session of County-wide Study

With a meeting in the district court room tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, a series of community gatherings in the county to discuss the government cotton control program will be brought to a close.

Meeting are being held today at Eli and Parnell. All of the meetings have been well attended, according to County Agent James A. Jackson, who is assisting county committeemen in the drive (Continued on page 3)

Renew Buying of Cattle in County

Purchasing of 500 additional head of drouth stricken cattle in Hall county began this morning under the direction of Dr. John A. Phillips, of Miami, veterinarian purchaser for the government. Josh Lamb, of Memphis is the appraiser.

When the government's last appropriation of 500 head of "distressed stock" will remain listed on the rolls for sale to the government, according to word from the office of County Agent James A. Jackson. More than 4,000 head were listed for immediate sale when the present purchasing order was received some two weeks ago.

"Only the most distressed stock listed will be bought, and it is probable that we will not be able to buy some of the cattle that are likely to suffer this winter," George Sagar, cattle buying assistant, said this morning.

The present purchasing order is likely to be the last quota for this county, it is the belief of relief officials. When purchases are completed this week-end a total of 6,560 head of cattle in this county will have been sold to the gov-the Upper Red River Valley will know that Memphis meets Matador Thanksgiving for the football championship of District 4B.

The Democrat's football edition comes off the press tomorrow, full of praise and encouragement for the Memphis Cyclone, the Queen City's first winning football team since 1930.

Merchants who have not yet arranged for advertising space in the edition should telephone The Democrat before 10 o'clock tonight.

The issue will be widely circulated throughout the Memphis Area.

Grieve for Two Girls Slain

The solicitous attention of her husband and twelve surviving children are unable to console Mrs. E. R. Hill (seated), grief-stricken by the terrible tragedy that stamped out the lives of her daughters, Alice, 13, and Ellen, 6. A Negro, alleged to have confessed murdering the girls, was spirited away from Clifton Forge, Va., to prevent lynching by the irate neighbors of the Hills.

er questions the girl. She tells them the man who impersonated Cathay was PETE MALONE and that he frequently telephoned to FRANK BLISS, Cathay's chauffeur.

Griff started in fixed concentration at the patterned carpet of the hotel hallway. "I think," he said slowly, "that I see what you have in mind."

men—that it is by no means improbable Mrs. Malone is the one who is to profit by the years of preparation which have been made by Peter Malone; that it is not inconceivable that Malone was prepared to make it appear that he and Cathay were one and the same person, and that Mrs. Malone, her marriage once having been established, is, in fact, the surviving wife of Frank Cathay.

Bleeker's eyes sparkled with sudden understanding.

"Good heavens!" he said, "that must be it! But can it hold up in view of the testimony of this young woman?"

"That," Fisher said, "remains to be seen. But, of course, that is the thing I'm trying to do—to thwart this conspiracy. I think, gentlemen, it will be better if I go to see Mrs. Malone without having you along. The interests of my client are vitally involved. I pledge you to make a complete disclosure of whatever I find out. After I have talked with her you may talk with her, but I think you will agree it may be much more possible to get a complete statement from her if I talk with her alone than if I have an audience."

Griff nodded. "That," he said, "is fair enough."

"Where," asked Bleeker, "can we get in touch with you after you have finished your interview with Mrs. Malone?"

"I would suggest," Fisher said "that you go to Mr. Griff's office and wait there. I will telephone as soon as I have discovered anything of importance."

"My office," Griff said, "is where I live. It's a combination of bachelor's apartment and office. I will give you one of my cards and I will assign you to an unlisted telephone number. Whenever you call on this telephone I will know that you are one who is speaking."

He took a card from his case, scribbled a telephone number on the back of it, handed it to the attorney.

"Now," said Fisher, "we're commencing to get somewhere."

He jabbed his finger against the call button on the side of the elevator shaft.

The men rode down in the elevator in silence. Fisher strode toward the door.

"I'll call you," he said, and then caught the eye of the doorman. "Taxi," he called.

Old Furniture Is Used In Filming 'One More River'

What is said to be the most valuable collection of old furniture ever used in a motion picture is seen in "One More River," Universal's John Galsworthy drama now showing at the Palace theatre, with Diana Wrayward in the starring role.

In the dramatic story of "One More River," the greater part of the interior scenes take place in a stately mansion many hundreds of years old. Chinese Chippendale, Tudor, Duncan Phyffe and Heppelwhite pieces are distributed throughout the rooms and tapestries of rare value as well as real Ming vases are among the decorations. Several Aubusson rugs and tapestry chairs are also used.

Lovers of Sir James Barrie's whimsical romance, "What Every Woman Knows," are to receive a thrill with the picture version to be shown on the Ritz screen today and Wednesday starring Helen Hayes.

Months of careful testing before actual filming began resulted in one of the most notable casts of the year. Brian Aherne, English stage star, who appeared recently in "The Fountain," was chosen as John Shand, the leading man; a most unusual departure in screen roles was attempted by Madge Evans, who changed from recent unsophisticated portrayals to do Lady Sybil, English "siren"; Lucille Watson New York stage heart breaker of a decade ago, who recently scored a sensational comeback in "No More Ladies" on the Broadway stage, makes her talk-

One Newspaper Solved Problem of Dealing With Drunks

When it is a case of a first offender, Spencer agrees to withhold the story from print if the individual will sign a pledge in which he agrees to do his best to keep away from liquor in the future, and in which he agrees to the right of the paper to publish the fact if he "breaks over" again.

There have been more than 100 signers of the pledge, according to Spencer, and only three have broken it.

"Unfortunately," added Spencer, "one of the three was a rather important advertiser."

The pledge follows: "The undersigned, having been arrested for drunkenness and fined in the police court of Independence, wishes to have no mention made of the incident in the Daily Reporter.

"In case no mention is made of this incident we promise to do our best to leave liquor alone, and in event we do not and we get into police court again for reason of 'breaking over,' then the Reporter has our consent in advance to publish a news story concerning the same, as well as to mention the particulars of the case, which caused us to sign this pledge, and likewise the fact that we signed it."

G. M. Thompsons Have Homecoming Of Children

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Thompson enjoyed a homecoming of all of their children and a few guests Sunday.

Gathering at 1 o'clock in the dining room of the Memphis hotel the company of 34 found places at one long table, where a three course turkey dinner was served. The long table was attractively laid with appointments in silver. Autumn leaves and fruit formed the centerpiece.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, hosts; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Thompson and children; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Thompson and children, of Hedley; Mr. and Mrs. Byron Baldwin and son; George; Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Thompson and son, Chauncey, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson, Jr., and children, of Quannah; Mrs. J. G. Brown of Mineral Wells; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gilpin; W. S. Thompson of Amarillo, and Mrs. Nancy Lovett.

An unusual coincidence of the occasion was that W. S. Thompson of Amarillo, who was present, was 30 years of age, and the youngest grandchild, Betty Jane Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson, Jr., was only two months.

Increase Workers On Red Bluff Dam

By Associated Press
PECOS, Nov. 27.—The number of men employed on the $2,600,000 Red Bluff dam project is increasing steadily, having reached the 150 mark.

Work on the dam at present consists of bridging the Pecos river at the dam site, 40 miles north of Pecos; in erecting housing accommodations for workmen; and in excavating for spillways.

Contractors at work on the dam, a public works project, are S. J. Grove and sons, Minneapolis, Minn., Lundin Brothers of Mankato, Minn., and C. E. Armstrong and sons of Pecos. When the dam construction reaches full swing it is expected that around 600 men will be on the job. That will be about six months from now.

Mrs. Preston Bethel of Conway, Ark., arrived Sunday and will spend three weeks here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Caviness, at 1107 Robertson street.

A. Womack went to Amarillo yesterday and will spend until tomorrow there on business.

Mrs. Jesse Posey spent Sunday and yesterday in Oklahoma City visiting relatives.

WE COULD PROVIDE FOR ALL

THE depression wouldn't look so bad if it were not silhouetted against a bright sky.

Back of the unemployment, the privations, and the lost profits of the last few years there rises a picture of what we might have done if only we could have found some way of keeping all the wheels turning.

This picture has now been given definite form by the report of the National Survey of Potential Product Capacity, authorized by the federal government last March to see just how far our actual production and consumption fell short of what was possible.

The report submitted by this group is one of the most important documents offered the American people in recent years.

It states bluntly that the wants of every citizen could have been met without the necessity for capacity production. In other words, what some of us have long suspected is proved to be true—there is no physical reason why anybody in America should lack for anything.

In the banner year of 1929, for instance, we produced food worth nearly $27,000,000. But because 59 per cent of our families get along on incomes of less than $2000 a year, they were forced to consume diets containing too little meat.

It we had produced $3,000,000,000 more of food products, every family could have had a proper diet.

In 1929, also, we bought 29,000,000 men's suits, 173,000,000 dresses, 9,270,000 men's coats and 614,900,000 pairs of women's stockings.

But the clothing industry was capable of producing between two and three times as much, in each of these groups; every citizen could have had plenty of decent, well-fitting clothing without calling on the industry for capacity production.

If all our unemployed doctors and nurses had been put to work, every person in America could have had perfect medical treatment for $42 a year. If our building industry worked at capacity, every family in America could be occupying a pleasant, up-to-date home inside of 10 years.

Our transportation system could be expanded enormously and run profitably; we could easily spend $12,000,000,000 a year on education, instead of approximately $3,725,000,000, as we do now.

How is a Utopian picture like this to be realized? The board remarks that each of our 27,000,000 families must have a buying power of $4700 a year—which, as they say, is a good trick if you can do it.

But however difficult the attainment of that goal may be, the importance of the report as a whole can hardly be overestimated. Everybody can have enough of everything, if we can just find the secret.

TO KEEP CHILDREN ERECT

IF the infantile paralysis serum developed by Dr. William H. Park, of the New York city health department, proves as effective as he believes it will be, humanity will be indebted to that gentleman about as deeply as it is ever indebted to anyone.

Dr. Park has found a serum which he believes grants immunity against this dreadful disease. Approximately 25 people have been inoculated with it so far; all have received immunity.

Further tests, of course, will have to be made to see whether the immunity is permanent, and to make sure also that there are no unforeseen faults in the process; but the present outlook is exceedingly encouraging.

In any case, it will take some time before this serum can be made available to physicians outside of New York. But if present expectations are fulfilled, a tremendous achievement in preventive medicine will have been made.

EXAMPLE OF INFLATION

THOSE who feel that inflation of the currency would be a good thing for the country ought to get together with the Texas colored man who decided to go in for a little inflation of his own.

This chap took a one-dollar bill, touched it up with a bit of green paint, and made it read $1,000,000. Then he took it to a bank and tried to deposit all except $200 of it, which he asked for in cash.

Unfortunately, it was just at this point that he fell foul of the law, and he probably will have no chance to make any further experiments. But his effort was not so different from that of the inflationists, even so.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Democrats' Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Over at the Treasury and up on Capitol Hill you'll find a lot of folks wistfully rolling sheets of paper in cornucopias.

It seems they're making dunces caps for Attorney General Homer Cummings and Senator Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee.

McKellar undertook last session to rid the alcohol tax unit of 700 experience civil service employees who he said were Republicans. These men were the carefully selected remnants of the old prohibition service, badly needed in the Treasury's attempt to make the legitimate liquor industry as successful as the still flourishing bootleg trade.

Everything had gone completely haywire and even cabinet members are in one another's hair as a result of an idiotic tragedy of errors beginning with that attempt.

McKellar's rider to a deficiency bill threw hundreds of jobs open to competitive examinations for about 10,000 hungry job-seekers. The senator thought he had carefully exempted recent green Democratic appointees—who hadn't had to take competitive exams—from the scramble, but it seems he didn't even succeed in that.

Cummings Gums It Up
The rider so worded that everybody became balled up and Cummings barged in with an attempt to decide just how many of the ATU's 3600 employees were to be affected.

Morale of the liquor law enforcers, already disturbed, has been shattered ever since.

First, Cummings formally ruled that 1800—not merely McKellar's 700—must be fired.

Secretary Morgenthau, who had solemnly sworn to "lick the bootlegger," flew into one of the season's bitterest New Deal rages. He stormed into the White House, which already had begun to hear from congressmen who were victims of a terrific kickback from important constituents.

Friends of civil service, meanwhile, were shrieking themselves hoarse.
So Cummings, under pressure, gave another decision, which said only 900 need be fired.

Everybody's Sore Now
Then it appeared that such rulings weren't under the Cummings jurisdiction at all and just didn't count. The decision was up to Comptroller General McCarl, who went ahead and marked 1200 agents for the ax.
It wouldn't have been quite so awful if McCarl hadn't carefully

HEALTH

By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Science has gone far enough with treatment of tuberculosis to be able to tell why some people are likely to get this disease while others are not, and what there is in the physical structure of a person to make him more predisposed to this disease than are others.

Of course, you know that each person has a constitution which is individually his own. In other words, no two of us are made up exactly alike.

By makeup we refer not only to the structure of the body, but also to the powers which it has in its blood and in its tissues to resist disease.

There seems to be some evidence that all of us inherit our constitutions largely from our ancestors and that some types of people can resist disease better than others.

It is known also that the germs vary in their makeup and that they must find soil to which they can accommodate themselves. The germ of tuberculosis that affects birds will not live in the body of a human being. On the other hand, the germ that affects cattle will.

Therefore, in considering how people get tuberculosis, we have to know the structure of their bodies, the number of kinds of germs of tuberculosis with which they come in contact, the kind of foods they eat, the homes in which they live, and many other similar factors.

Today we recognize not only that the constitution of the body has a good deal to do with the question of whether a person develops tuberculosis, but that the quantity of germs to which he is exposed may also be exceedingly significant.

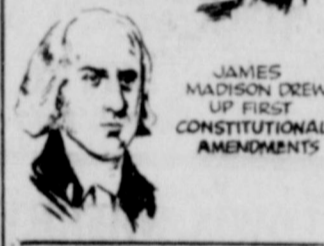

To state this matter in another way—both the constitution, or heredity, and environment are important in considering the likelihood of one's developing tuberculosis.

Of course, we can change our environments. We can provide people with proper nutrition, including a sufficient amount of mineral salts and vitamins. We can make sure that they get enough sunlight and fresh air, enough outdoor exercise, and enough rest.

We can make certain that the jobs at which they work do not bring in irritating factors, because we know that the constant breathing of dusts of a certain type may be associated with an increased amount of tuberculosis.

We can endeavor to find work and conditions of work which are congenial, because even such factors as these may be associated with a lessening or increasing of resistance.

We know also that a human body that has been infected with influenza or measles is in a state in which tuberculosis is more likely to occur. Therefore, particularly after such conditions as these, we must see that the patient has enough rest before getting up and going back to work. We must see also that his blood is built up to a normal state.

If society does its utmost to control these factors that it can control, it will probably do a great deal to lessen the total amount of tuberculosis that occurs in any community.

Four Dances for Allred Inaugural Party January 5

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—Austin's official welcome to the incoming administration, its governor's inaugural ball and reception, will be staged Jan. 15 with four dances. A citizens committee planning the event to honor on the night of their inauguration Gov. and Mrs. James V. Allred and Lieut. Gov. and Mrs. Walter F. Woodul decided on the four-dance plan. The main ball and reception will be Gregory gymnasium on the University of Texas' spacious dancing floor. There will be the receiving line and the grand march. Other dances will be conducted in the senate chamber and capitol's main floor, and in two local hotels.

Special Venire of 150 Drawn in Waco Slaying on Nov. 17

WACO, Nov. 27.—A special venire of 150 men was drawn yesterday for the trial of Roy Curry on a charge of murder for the slaying of James Malcolm Stewart last Nov. 17. The trial was set for Dec. 3.

Joe Bailey Averett, also charged with the slaying, had his trial set for Dec. 6. State attorneys said the death penalty would be asked for both defendants. Stewart was shot to death after he had picked up Curry and Averett on the highway near Waco and given them a ride in his car. Robbery was the motive. Stewart's body was left in his car, parked on a country lane, and his assailants fled in a car stolen from a rural mail carrier.

Gonzales Ships 40,000 Turkeys

GONZALES, Nov. 27.—Forty thousand turkeys had been marketed here with 30,000 of this number being dressed and shipped out in car load lots to northern and eastern Thanksgiving markets.

Movements of the birds to market had been retarded by the prevalent rainy weather, and with clear skies during the remainder of this week the total number of turkeys marketed here should easily reach the 100,000 mark before the buying season ends.

Release Convict on U.S. Robbery Charge

FORT WORTH, Nov. 27.—After a brief habeas corpus hearing before Federal Judge James C. Wilson W. S. (Shilo) Scrivnor was ordered released from the custody of the United States marshal.

Scrivnor, who turned state's evidence in the Jackson street postoffice robbery and murder cases about 11 years ago, was arrested by federal agents at Huntsville last week just as he started on a 30-day furlough. In the hearing Judge Wilson held that in as much as Scrivnor is under state conviction the state has a prior claim over him and the government should not at-

FORMER RELIEF HEAD GOES TO TRIAL IN FORGERY CASE

AUSTIN, Nov. 27.—W. W. Cox, former relief administrator of McCulloch county, was charged with embezzlement in a complaint on file with United States Commissioner George B. Hufford yesterday. Cox allegedly misappropriated $868 in government relief funds between Nov. 16, 1933, and Feb. 7, 1934. The complaint was signed by J. L. Adkins, government secret service agent. Cox was released on bond.

Very Much Improved After Taking Cardui

"I have suffered a great deal from cramping," writes Mrs. W. A. Sewell, Sr., of Waco, Texas. "I would chill and have to go to bed for about three days at a time. I would have a dull, tired, sleepy feeling. A friend told me to try Cardui, thinking it would help me—and it did. I am very much improved and do not spend the time in bed. I certainly can recommend Cardui to other sufferers." Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.
