Program Prepared For Old Settlers' Division of Fete

E. M. Ewen, general chairman of the old settlers' entertainment features in connection with the 44th anniversary celebration of Hall county and Old Settlers' reunion, announced that an interesting program has been prepared for Tuesday, with David Fitzgerald master of ceremonies. Judge A. S. Moss will deliver the address of welcome and old settlers will be called upon for short talks in what Mr. Ewen calls an "experience meeting". He made his report at a meeting held yesterday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce office, participated in by representatives of both the Senior and Junior Chambers of Commerce.

Registration will get under way at the Carnegie Library Park at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, in charge of Kennon Hillyer and his staff of helpers. Badges will be issued to old settlers at this time, which entitles them all the features of the day, without cost. The speaking will start promptly at 10 o'clock and will be followed by a free-for-all boxing match on the courthouse plaza, take part in by a number of dusks from Morningside addition. This part of the program is being arranged by Horace Tarver.

A basket lunch will be spread in the library park at noon. There will be plenty of chairs and tables, according to Henry Read and Zeb Moore, who are looking after this feature. A special invitation is extended Hall county people to come to the celebration, bringing box lunches with them. Arrangements have been made for plenty of free ice water.

From 2 until 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, all are invited to "take in" the free picture shows. Both the Ritz and Palace theatres will present free performances during (Continued on page 8)

LON SMITH SAYS FAVORS PARKER

Claims Terrell and Thompson
Signed Order Without Consulting Him

By Associated Press
AUSTIN, June 20.—Lon A. Smith, chairman of the Railroad Commission, said today that Commissioners C. V. Terrell and Ernest O. Thompson did not consult him before signing an order dismissing R. D. Parker as chief enforcement officer of the East Texas field.

Smith said, "I have not seen the order and have not discussed the matter with other commissioners. I have been for Parker all the time."

Theory Abandoned That Torso Might Be That Of Lawyer

By Associated Press
BRIGHTON, England, June 20.—Chief of Detectives Pelling announced today that an autopsy on the torso of a woman found in a railroad station Sunday showed no operation of any kind ever performed on her.

The announcement eliminated in police opinion any possibility that the trunk murder victim was Miss Agnes Tuferson, mission Detroit and New York lawyer.

Police announced the woman would have become a mother in five months and this "undoubtedly provided a motive for the crime."

'Gold Clause' In Bond Payable To U. S. Is Upheld

By Associated Press
ST. LOUIS, June 20.—Federal legislation abrogating the "gold clause" in about 100 billion dollars' worth of bonds payable in the United States, was upheld by Federal Judge Charles B. Fairs in a decision today.

Judge Fairs ruled that all obligations containing the gold clause may be paid at face value in currency.

DISTRICT 100 OF PICNIC COMES TOMORROW

Numerous Candidates
To Be On Hand For Speaking Dates

Plans for the district Oddfellow picnic to be held at Broome's park tomorrow have been changed, according to W. E. Hill, president of the Hall County Oddfellow association.

At meetings of the Lakeview, Estelle and Memphis Oddfellow lodges last night and Monday night it was decided that the picnic would be a part-day affair instead of the originally planned all-day picnic.

The picnic will be held at 6 o'clock tomorrow afternoon with a basket lunch being served at 7 o'clock.

The Memphis Black and Gold band, directed by Glenn A. Truax, will furnish music for the occasion.

All county candidates for public office have been asked to be present and make speeches.

In addition to the county candidates, a speaker representing Senator Clint C. Small will likely make an address. Walter Woodward, candidate for attorney general, has announced that he will be present at the gathering.

The picnic is not confined to Oddfellows. Everyone is invited to attend and requested to bring basket lunches.

Real Old-Timer May Attend Celebration

One of Hall County's real old timers is expected to attend the 44th anniversary celebration and Old Settlers' Reunion in Memphis next Tuesday. He is D. C. Lane of Turkey. Mr. Lane, familiarly known as "Uncle Dave", has resided in this county continuously since it was organized 44 years ago.

A special invitation has been extended Mr. Lane to be present at the Old Settlers' Reunion, and if his health permits, he will be on hand.

ROTARIANS IN ANNUAL EVENT FOR 'ANNS'

Picnic Is Held At Brookhollow Club
Yesterday

Forty-five Rotarians, Rotary-Anns and their families were present last night at the annual rotary picnic held at Brookhollow Country club at 7:45 o'clock.

Chicken barbecue, coffee and ice cream were served those present.

Music was furnished for the occasion by Gordon and Edwin Gillam, who sang and played during the occasion.

At the conclusion of the barbecue feast, the Rotarians and their families gathered around the barbecue pit on "Dickey's Point" and told tales and sang songs.

Dr. and Mrs. T. L. Lewis of Childress were honor guests at the picnic. Dr. Lewis was formerly a member of the local Rotary club.

BLAZE FOLLOWS EXPLOSION HERE

Damage To Produce Company
And Garage Estimated
At Nearly $600

An explosion of an unknown nature early this morning resulted in a fire and loss estimated at $500 or $600 to the building on the corner of Fourth and Noel streets, belonging to A. D. Rogers and occupied by Joe Rowden's Garage and Produce company.

The explosion, witnessed by an attendant of a nearby filling station, occurred this morning at approximately 2:15 o'clock.

The explosion blew the front door open, it was said, and the building burst into flames.

Most of the damage was done to the roof of the building; however, some of the goods were damaged considerably.

'Jim' Claims East Texas Oil Problem May Pop Wide Open

By Associated Press
AUSTIN, June 20.—Former Governor James E. Ferguson, in the presence of the governor, said today with reference to the Railroad Commission's "hot oil" problem in East Texas field, "if they tell a few more things on themselves, the situation is likely to pop wide open."

When asked if Governor Ferguson contemplated a special session to investigate conditions in the field, the former governor replied, "when a political volcano blows up you can't tell what will happen."

Friday Set Aside by Mayor as City-Wide Clean-Up Day Here

WIRE WALKER WILL THRILL
CROWD HERE TUESDAY

"Bunny" Dryden, acclaimed as America's premier high tight wire walker and performer, will make two appearances here during the Hall county 44th anniversary celebration Tuesday. He will perform at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning and again at 7 o'clock Tuesday night.

The spectacle will be held on two wires, one four stories high, stretched from the Masonic Temple to the court house, and the other at a height of 12 feet. He will do stunts on both wires.

In the above photograph, Dryden is shown as he walked across the sky ride at the world fair in Chicago last year—683 feet in the air. His feat was proclaimed by every newspaper in Chicago, and much trouble also followed with the fair association.

Friday has been proclaimed city-wide Clean-up Day by Mayor Bascom E. Davenport, who today issued a request that the city be put in its finest trim for visitors Tuesday.

The Carnegie library park, where the Old Settlers' reunion division of the county's 44th anniversary celebration is to be held and where lunches will be spread at noon, is being put into order by the city and will be cleaned and dressed up thoroughly.

To Remove Rubbish
In his proclamation, Mayor Davenport requests that every citizen of Memphis have his property cleaned Friday.

All rubbish should be placed in alleys in movable containers, from which it will be removed by the city.

Mayor Davenport pointed out that the clean-up program should be carried out Friday in order that the alleys may be cleaned on Saturday and Monday.

Urges Active Interest
He urged that all citizens take an active part in this movement. Several thousand visitors are expected here next Tuesday and it is the desire of city officials to have the town looking its best while they are here.

The mayor's proclamation follows:

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, the city of Memphis is to be host to many visitors from over the entire territory on Tuesday, June 26, 1934, for the celebration of the 44th birthday anniversary of Hall county, and

WHEREAS, it is our desire to have the city of Memphis looking its best when these visitors come here, I hereby proclaim Friday, June 22, 1934, as Clean-Up Day in the city of Memphis and request that every citizen so beautify his property on that day as to have it in the best appearance on Tuesday, June 26, 1934.

(Signed)
Bascom E. Davenport, Mayor
City of Memphis

FOXHALL NAMED VICE-PRESIDENT

Elected To Office Of Texas
Cottonseed Crushers Association At Galveston

By Associated Press
GALVESTON, June 20.—B. E. Hulsey of Terrell was elected president and F. N. Foxhall of Memphis was named vice-president of the Texas Cottonseed Crushers association at the closing session of the organization's session here yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Foxhall, president of the Memphis Cotton Oil company, went to Galveston early this week to attend the state convention of the Cottonseed Crushers association. He was accompanied by Mrs. Foxhall and Frank, Leslie and Lewis. They will return home this week-end.

Mr. Foxhall has long been recognized as one of the leaders in the association and is highly regarded by its members.

GUTHRIE, Okla., June 20.—Seven outlaws invaded crescent, near here and held off scores of citizens for nearly one hour today while making an unsuccessful effort to steal the safe of the Farmers Merchants bank.

Failing to obtain the loot, the men drove away with six hostages, releasing all of them five miles south of Crescent.

Cutting telephone lines, the robbers backed a winch-equipped truck up to the front of the bank and swung the safe through a window, meanwhile rounding up everyone encountered.

Unable to load the safe on the truck, the robbers fled.

DONNA of the BIG TOP by BEULAH POYNTER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When Donna is injured by a fall from the trapeze Madeline arranges for her to be taken to GRANDFATHER SIDDAL'S farm to recuperate. To please her partner Donna pretends to be Madeline. She falls in love with BILL SIDDAL, Madeline's cousin, and though she is ashamed of deceiving Bill and Grandfather she is afraid to tell the truth.

Meanwhile Madeline marries CON DAVID, circus animal trainer, and takes part in the animal act.

Amos Siddal has a stroke. In New Orleans Madeline goes into the cage alone with the Bengal tiger. The tiger springs and she is killed. Renfro discharges Con. He is unable to get work and decides to go to the Siddal farm.

From the nearby town he sends a note to Donna. She agrees to meet him the next afternoon.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXV

Mrs. Planter's head was in a whirl. She had just uncovered the choicest bit of scandal it had ever been her luck to come across. Whether Madeline Siddal had gone through a marriage ceremony with the animal trainer or not, whether they had ever been lovers and parted, one thing was certain. The good-looking young animal trainer had come to Lebanon for only one purpose and that was to hold a rendezvous with Bill Siddal's wife.

Women who secretly met men other than their husbands were Jezebels in the opinion of Mrs. Planter and should be ostracized. Madeline might hold her head in the air now, but after tomorrow she would not do so.

At first, Mrs. Planter was uncertain just how to make use of her information. She had visions of following the guilty couple and telling Madeline what she thought of her. She soon dismissed this thought as too trivial a revenge for a terrible insult.

If she had been at liberty for the afternoon she could have spread the news to a few cronies who could be trusted to see that it would kindle and flame like a forest fire before 24 hours passed, becoming the chief subject of conversation at Lebanon dinner tables. But Mrs. Planter knew only too well that the person most concerned in the affair might never hear this scandal. Madeline might meet her lover over and over again and everyone in town be aware of it without Bill Siddal learning what was going on. Hadn't Doc Freeman's wife been traipsing around with their boarder since last June? Everybody for miles around knew about it, but Doc didn't. Poor fool. Mebbe when he found out about Clara, and Bill found out about Madeline, the two men could console each other.

Not that Clara Freeman was as onery as Madeline. She might have some excuse—with a doctor for a husband and him chasing off day and night and never able to take her any place.

Mrs. Planter recalled, with righteous pride, that when the sewing circle of the church had held a meeting to discuss the advisability of telling Doc Freeman he should keep a closer watch on his wife, she had voted against it. That she had voted thus because the minister's wife was opposed to meddling did not rob Mrs. Planter of feeling that she was a kindly, generous soul.

But no meeting to determine whether or not Bill should be kept in ignorance need be held. In the first place, neither Madeline nor Bill attended the same church as Mrs. Planter. In the second, Mrs. Planter intended to get the information to Bill in some manner—and with proof that could not be doubted.

To telephone him would be out of the question. She knew Bill's habits too well to believe he might be in the farmhouse to answer the phone himself. If his wife answered she would see to it that he did not get the message.

The information must reach Bill in less than four hours if he were to witness the meeting between his wife and the circus performer, as Mrs. Planter intended. She would have to get busy at once. Going out to the farm to talk to him was not to be thought of. Mrs. Planter knew Bill's temper. Eventually he would thank her for opening his eyes to the fact, but she could hear his recriminations when he was first told that Madeline was unfaithful. Mrs. Planter had no wish to take part in such a scene.

Studying over the problem, she went about preparations for the noon-day meal. Janie Sabar, one of the chambermaids, assisted with the cooking—peeling potatoes, onions and carrots, opening cans of beans and peas, and slicing the bread.

Always at noon the Commercial House offered roast beef, roast pork and a choice of two kinds of pie, but on the day after Thanksgiving there was cold turkey and mince pie left, and Mrs. Planter's tasks were light.

She was no nearer the solution of her problem when Rader came into the kitchen to see if the meal were ready. "There's a crowd in there," he said. "Better fry up some steaks, in case the turkey runs out. Got enough pie?"

"Yes."

Clerks from the drug store, Blaney who was the lawyer and Dempster the postmaster, beside some drummers who had arrived on an early train filed into the dining room. Mrs. Planter was busy dishing up food for Mabel's trays, and momentarily put Madeline and Bill Siddal out of her thoughts.

It was the waitress who brought them back again. "Hurry up, Miss Planter," she said. "Lem Holden's in there and he's anxious to get going on his delivery."

Lem Holden was the rural postman. He delivered mail to the Siddal farm. If Mrs. Planter wrote a letter to Bill and gave it to Lem it would be delivered before Madeline went to meet Con David! Of course there was a chance the letter would fall into Madeline's hands, but she did not know Mrs. Planter's writing and the older woman knew also that Madeline never opened her husband's mail.

"Janie," Mrs. Planter mumbled, her voice thick with excitement, "dish up a minute, will you? I gotta go upstairs."

Considering her "rheumatics," she showed amazing agility as she sprinted up the stairs to the third floor room she occupied with Mabel. It was when she sat down to write that it occurred to her that, for her own safety, it would be better not to sign the letter. She would ask Mabel to give it to Lem. She had a good excuse, as she was not supposed to go into the dining room anyway. If questions concerning the letter arose later Mabel would be the one questioned. Mabel was too stupid even to remember the incident after a day or so.

At best Mrs. Planter's handwriting was a scrawl. Now her hand shook so that the letters were all awry and blots of ink smudged the paper.

"As a friend I am writing this to you. Maybe you won't thank me now but some day you will. Your wife is a bad woman. If you want proof be at the Baptist church cemetery today, Friday 27, at three o'clock. She is going to meet an old sweetheart who used to travel with the circus. His name is Con David. He is stopping at the Commercial House now and came to Lebanon to see her—Your Well Wisher."

Mabel was plump, had a big appetite and an exceedingly sweet tooth. Whispering that she would save an extra piece of mince pie for her if she would give the letter to Lem, Mrs. Planter slipped the envelope into the waitress's hand.

Then Mrs. Planter peeked through a crack in the swinging door and saw the envelope pass hands. Knowing that the stamp she had placed on it insured its arrival at its destination, she hummed "Saving Grace" under her breath and continued to dish up the food with a zest that amazed her assistant.

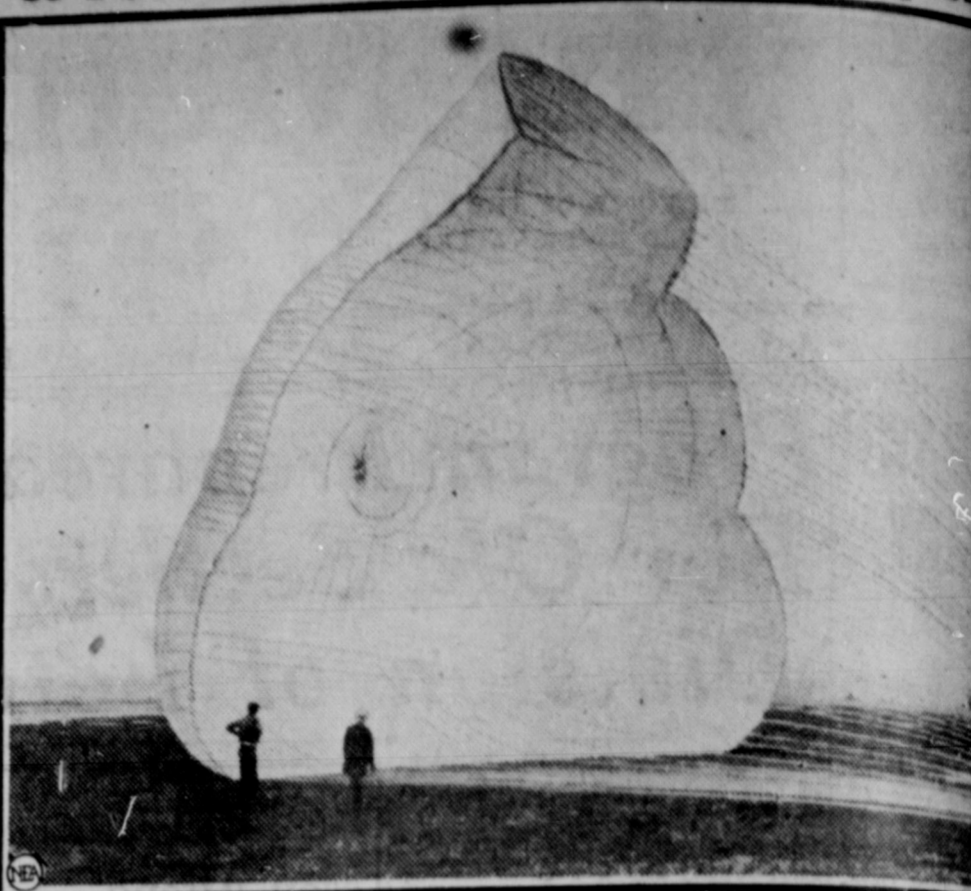

It happened that Lem Holden had promised a friend to drive him to the country when he went on his delivery and that the friend delayed him about 45 minutes. After that, being late already, Lem decided to wait until the 2:25 train arrived. Thus the letter that might or might not have brought Bill into Lebanon and to the cemetery was not delivered until after three o'clock.

Donna had hung up the telephone receiver feeling utterly trapped. Slowly it was being forced upon her that Con David was not the man she had believed him to be, and that Grandfather's money was what had brought Con to Lebanon. There had been nothing of the lover in the tone of voice he had used, nothing that indicated a friendly desire to see her again.

Unquestionably he believed she wanted Grandfather Siddal's money and, just as surely, he would stop at nothing to circumvent any plot he fancied she might have on foot. Only the fear that he would come to the farm to demand an audience with Grandfather Siddal had made her promise to meet Con.

Once the promise had been given she could not break it, much as she regretted it. Donna torn between "the devil and the deep sea," Bill would not forgive a meeting with Con if he learned

85-Foot Parachute Tested for Stratosphere

This mammoth parachute, 85 feet in diameter, believed to be the world's largest, for an emergency drop by Maj. W. E. Kepner and Capt. A. W. Stevens in their trip from the Black Hills of South Dakota late in June or in July. Here it is shown in Dayton, O., being tested in the wash from an airplane propeller. The parachute to the side of the balloon, to be released if disaster threatens.

She Wishes She Were

about it. Neither would he forgive her continued deception when she had had ample opportunity to confess.

Why hadn't she told him the whole story? Oh, why hadn't she told it all to him after their marriage? Bill would have overlooked a great deal then that he could not overlook now. Suppose he, too, should believe that money had played a vital part in the scheme! And her silence about the real Madeline's death seemed even worse.

One moment she was ready to run out to the barn where Bill was busy with some baby lambs and tell him everything, sparing neither herself nor the dead. The next moment she was determined at all costs to defend her happiness and, if necessary, to lie in the face of all evidence. She paced the hallway, nearly insane with worry.

Some excuse to get into town must be invented. What could seem plausible when Grandfather was so ill that only an hour ago they had despaired of his living through the day? No excuse was better than a poor one. Perhaps something would take Bill out of the house after dinner and she need say nothing at all. With a wordless prayer in her heart, she watched her husband as he cut across the snow-covered field and came toward the house.

J. D. Griffin Defeats Rabb Harrison in Only Match Yesterday

MEETS SEEDED PLAYER TODAY AT NET CLUB

Consolation Play To Start In Championship Tourney

With play cut to one game yesterday because of other attractions, J. D. Griffin was the only player to advance in the city tennis championship tournament in progress at the Memphis Tennis Club.

Holding a one-set lead over Rabb Harrison in a pre-round match that started Monday, Griffin split sets with his opponent yesterday, winning the decision, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3.

Plays Oren Today

This match brought the last remaining position to within one game of the semi-final round along side the three top-seeded players.

Leading the play this afternoon, Griffin will oppose the third-seeded star, Kenneth Oren, in a regular

BALDWIN WINS!

In a match reported late this morning, Russell E. Baldwin defeated Allen Grundy in the first consolation singles match in the city championship tennis tournament at the Memphis Tennis Club.

Overcoming his opponent in the toughest battle thus far in the tournament, Baldwin won 24 games to win the second set, 13-11, after taking the first, 6-3.

first round tilt. The winner will go into the semi-final opposite Alfred Burks, the defending champion and No. 1 player.

Start Consolation

In the lower bracket, Irvin Johnsey, ranked second, and Kinnon Hillyer, the No. 4 player, are already paired, awaiting for other matches to advance further in the standings.

This afternoon's play will be given over mostly to the continuation of consolation play that failed to get underway yesterday. Play is to start at about 5 o'clock.

Four Matches Slated

Two singles consolation tilts are expected to be played. The first places Harry Delaney opposite Max Nail, and the other sends Allen Grundy against Russell E. Baldwin.

Two doubles matches are also slated in order that the tournament may regain the ground lost yesterday. The team of Grundy, Russell MacMillan meets the combination of Delaney and Hubert Dennis, and Nail and Carl Nuhn goes against the upset, second-ranked team of Oren and Hillyer. The winners will meet in the championship bout.

One Year Ago Today—George Dunlap, U. S. golfer, and C. Ross Somerville, Canadian, advanced in the British Amateur tournament by scoring victories in the third round.

Five Years Ago Today — Big Bill Tilden entered the semifinals of the London tennis championship tournament at Queen's Club, London.

Ten Years Ago Today—Johnny Dundee lost his 130-pound title to Kid Sullivan of Brooklyn, in a 10-rounder.

If Great Britain doesn't find a way out of paying the installments on its debt to the United States pretty soon, the United States will have to find one.

HARRY GRAYSON

Sidney Wood, the frail youngster with the fast service, is the makings of a really great player. So asserts William T. Tilden II, who ought to know.

Tilden is the kind of man a sports writer loves to interview. Like Rogers Hornsby, Jack Dempsey, Sir Malcolm Campbell, and Fritz Crisler, the Princeton coach, the Old Master says something.

"Wood has a tennis brain and a beautiful all-around game," explained Tilden. He classes the others, Francis X. Shields and the equally tall Lester Stoefer and George M. Lott, as good but not top flight performers, and surely not good enough to return the trophy to this country.

"Shields, Stoefer, and Lott do not do the required work," elucidated Tilden. "Shields fails in the mechanics of the game. His ground strokes are faulty.

"Lott never was an outstanding singles player. He is a great doubles player. Why some play doubles so well and singles so poorly, I can't tell you. Answer me that, and I'll tell you why some men can lead and other simply cannot. It's the nature of the critter, I guess."

Aussies Too Tough

Tilden predicts that the United States contingent will be eliminated by Australia at Wimbledon on July 21, 23, and 24. He can't imagine the men from down under, Jack Crawford, McGrath with his two-handed backhand, Adrian Quist and Turnbull, falling before France, minus Cochet and Lacoste and with an aging Jean Borotra.

Fred J. Perry, the steady Henry W. Austin, George P. Hughes and Lee will keep the cup in England another year at least, in the opinion of Tilden. This is the United States' seventh attempt to life the trophy.

How long did Tilden believe it would take to regain it? "Under the present system," he didn't know, but he suspected it would require a long, long time.

Training methods were criticized in 1932 and 1933, but not this year. Had Tilden anything to suggest that might expedite the return of Yankee supremacy?

Yes, but he would have to sit down with me for at least two hours, go over the situation with pencil and paper, draw charts and whatnot, to make that clear. Why waste the time? But one gathered that he didn't think much of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association or its Davis Cup committee.

"Amateur tennis is not nearly as fast in this country as it was several years ago," declared Tilden.

German Best Amateur

Is there as much zest in the professional end of the sport? "More, as amateur tennis is conducted now," answered Big Bill. "At least we professionals do not have to contend with officials." Tilden considers Baron Gottfried von Cramm, the 24-year-old leader of the German Davis Cup array and French hard court champion, as the coming world's best amateur.

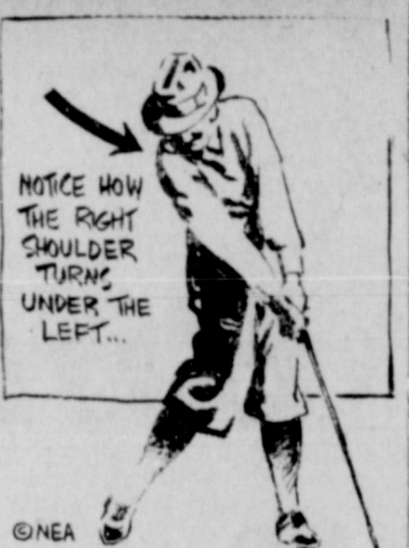

ball. This must be avoided or a pronounced hook will result if the right hand is being turned over at impact, closing the club face, or a slice if the hand is turning under, opening the face of the club.

Nearly all wuffers and beginners hit from the outside in.

Big Train Bows to Cupid

Walter Johnson hoped that his son, Walter, Jr., would become as good a pitcher as he was. But young Johnson elected with his high school sweetheart, Jean W. Duval, and was secretly married at Ellicott City, Md. This convinced Johnson, Sr., that his eldest son was not interested in professional baseball. Young Johnson starred as a pitcher in high school. His famous father's hopes now are Eddie, 16, a second baseman, and Bobby, 12. The above photograph of the 18-year-old Johnson and his bride was taken shortly after their marriage was revealed.

LOAFERS JUMP INTO LEAD FIRST GAME OF JUNE

BURRO BUSTERS BADLY BEAT BENTLEYS

Donkey Daredevilry Displayed During Diamond Duel

Harry Deaney's Burro Busters won in a buck from Joe Chitwood's Donkey Wranglers in a donkey baseball game played at Fair Park yesterday afternoon before one of the largest crowds to enter the park this summer.

The final score was 4 to 1. Finding the imported burros hard to handle, with the exception of one dark colored steed that was termed the "home run" mount, the players found the going rough at times but furnished the fans with many laughs.

Delaney's nine jumped into a lead in the first inning when Turner, astride the "home run" king bumped his ward around the diamond for a tally while the Chitwood outfielders "moseyed" along after a hard-hit ball that was thrown to several sections of the diamond before it finally reached a suitable destination, entirely too late to head off Turner in his wild dash home.

Walker and Crawford added points in the second frame, jogging around the bases at a fast clip while outfielders made a frantic dash for the ball.

Crawford became the hero for the day as well as being the best bronc buster in the outfit when he slid home for another tally in the fourth.

Bryan of the Chitwood gang, which was headed by Bentley, reached home plate. He was tagged, but it's still a question of whether the run counted. That, however, is neither here nor there for the umpire was unable to produce a rule book and at the insistence of the trainers (of the burros) called the man out. Since the tally did not affect the outcome, they let it go at that.

But Walker found himself on the upper deck of the by now renowned home run mule in the fourth frame and jogged home amid the cheers of a frantic audience—of teammates.

The Black and Gold band, for whose benefit the affair was staged, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was on hand following a downtown parade. The band realized $27.35 from the affair.

"As a matter of fact, his record gives Baron von Cramm, my best friend in tennis, No. 1 ranking for this year to date," beamed Tilden. "He bested Crawford, and repelled Stefani after the Italian turned back Perry. He conquered Christian Boususs following the left-handed Frenchman's victory over Austin. He finished in front of Andre Merlin in his losing team's Davis Cup series with France.

"Baron von Cramm has the inclination, time—and money," concluded the perennial Philadelphiaian, stressing the latter.

Samuel Insull was far away from Chicago in 1933 and missed the first year's edition of the World's Fair, but he made up for lost time by his enjoyment of the sights when he paid an early morning visit to the 1934 exposition. The former utility monarch is shown here as he was wheeled about the grounds by Guide Joseph Ross.

Stratosphere Flyers to Soar From Natural 'Bowl'

Out of this sheltered bowl, known as Moonlight valley, in the Black Hills of South Dakota, Maj. William Kepner and Capt. A. W. Stevens will soar on their stratosphere flight in June or July. The bowl was chosen because it is so well protected from contrary air currents by surrounding high wooded hills. New roads have been built, old ones repaired, and accommodations arranged, for 15,000 spectators who are expected to witness the start of the epochal journey. In the cleared space is shown the cabin where the balloonists will have their headquarters.

Restores Peace In Union Clash

A peacemaker at the stormy strike conference of union steel workers in Pittsburgh was Father Casimir Orlemanski, shown above at the convention. He entered the hall as a riot threatened, calmed the disputants, and urged them to acquaint the public with their demands and win sympathy for their cause.

ARE WE PROFITING BY BOOSTER TRIPS?

WITH the series of booster trips sponsored this year by the Junior Chamber of Commerce about to draw to a close, the questions arise, "Have we really profited by the trips? Have they been worth what they cost in time and money?"

The first trip consisted of a caravan of 20 cars on a jaunt to Estelline and Weatherly. Another was made to Pleasant Valley, with a number of citizens taking cars. A still larger group went to Hedley. And Monday night a fair representation journeyed to Lakeview, Leslie and Eli.

Friday night the affair will be brought to a close with a band concert and another entertainment at Turkey, which will mean a trip of almost 90 miles for those who make the journey.

Why do we waste all this time and take the expense upon us? After all, we merely do these things to entertain those whom we visit for a little while.

Every place local citizens have taken the band within the territory they have been met with a hearty response from the people. The trips were made to give them the best entertainment of the nature we have, and they enjoyed it.

The feeling the visits have aroused will not be forgotten soon. If Memphis is interested enough in the neighboring towns to pay them a visit occasionally, they, too, will feel inclined to return the good will. That in itself, we feel, is worth all that the trips have cost.

More than this has been accomplished. Those who made trips made personal contact with many of their potential customers and acquaintances. They not only helped the community, but they also aided their own work, for no one is going to forget readily that this business man or that professional man came out for a visit and had a delightful chat while the band was giving its entertainment.

Aside from the benefits these trips bring to Memphis from the standpoint of encouraging trade here, everyone is inclined to take business matters too seriously, and personally we are strongly in favor of anything that looks like enjoyment that does not come through the cut and dried channels of searching always for a livelihood.

DESPITE TALK, WAR ISN'T INEVITABLE

WAR talk has deluged the world during the last year in a rising flood. That fact in itself is probably a greater factor in the possibility of war than any other thing.

The professional observer, the political adventurer, the armament manufacturer, the propagandist, all these thrive on war talk. You would think, to read their outpourings, that there was no escape from another world war.

It is perfectly true that war armament is greater than it was before the World War. It is perfectly true that the government of states like Russia, Italy, France, and Germany consider it good policy to ferment war talk because it helps to unite their peoples politically.

But underneath it all there is a growing conviction on the part of the inarticulate millions that it is all needless, useless, that it must not be. And, further, that there is nothing to be gained by it.

Because they speak for a growing number of people in every country in the world, the still small voices of a few who speak of peace and hope should get a wider hearing than they do. For instance, Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state, now nearly 80, doesn't believe at all that war on a world scale must come.

"I see no probability of a World War again," the co-author of the Kellogg-Brand anti-war pact says. "Nations and peoples have come to their senses, and have not forgotten and will not soon forget the awful horror, misery, and beastliness of the last conflict, which still has the world prostrate. . . . There has been a lot of war scare talk, but we haven't war yet."

"I came home from Europe a year ago to hear people predicting war within 30, 60, or 90 days. There is no war yet. . . . Every year that passes without war brings the world closer to the ultimate goal—universal peace."

There is no use in sticking our heads in the sand, in kidding ourselves that war can be no more. It can, and it may. But it is equally silly, and far more dangerous, to let go unchallenged the talk that it must come.

PLENTY OF GOOD SUBJECTS

HEALTH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

The approach of July 4 again impels me to warn you against the dangers of fireworks, and urge you to make this holiday safe for yourselves and your children.

The effects of the campaign for a safe Fourth of July, that was waged throughout a past generation, are gradually disappearing. Thirty years ago, you would awaken to the sound of a gun fire. The day was made hideous by noise; the night brilliant by fire.

On July 5 the morgues of great cities contained the bodies of children; hospitals received cases in which eyes had been lost and other portions of the body shot away. Severe burns tortured the bodies of both children and adults, and some weeks later deaths from lockjaw began to multiply.

That was not the way of sanity in celebration. . . .

A great campaign, in which newspapers and magazines did their part, brought some help to the situation, and during the last 10 years the number of accidents and deaths became much less.

Nevertheless, a gradual relaxation of effort is promptly followed by an increase. Cities and towns have passed laws against dangerous fireworks, but they are regularly bootlegged on the outskirts and motor cars make across to the bootlegger easily.

Even the simplest type of fireworks may be harmful to a child who is not familiar with its use. There are certain precautions to be used under all circumstances:

Don't hold fireworks, even the smallest in your hands. Never attempt to throw fireworks at any one. Do not attempt to carry any kind of fireworks in your pockets.

Guns and revolvers should be reserved for hunting and not used for celebration. Dynamite and dynamite caps should also be limited to their individual uses.

Toy pistols have a way of exploding and spreading gun powder that is most likely to result in injury. Any powder burn is dangerous, principally because of the possibility that lockjaw or other types of infection may follow.

A powder burn should be treated immediately by a doctor. He will open the wound, make certain that infection is prevented, and

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
The Democrat's Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 20.—Don't make any mistake about it. Professor Tugwell is all washed up as a major issue in the fall campaigns.

In retrospect, it seems a little silly that this bright young man threatened to become just that.

But he definitely faded out as a firebrand of political contention when Senator Charley McNary, Republican leader in the Senate, voted to report favorably his nomination as undersecretary for agriculture.

Only one Republican on the Agriculture Committee voted against Tugwell, and but one Democrat—of 18 voting.

Now, when anyone seeks votes by roasting Tugwell, the obvious and effective will be that the G. O. P. leadership gave him its okay.

New Deal Views Vary

The Writ and Tugwell sensations turned into flascos principally because those who promoted them were incompetent and ignorant. The New Deal ranks here contain many who hope for drastic revision of the profit system and a greater or lesser extension of government control and ownership.

And many who would like to return to pre-New deal Days. And still others who cling to the Brandies theory that Big Business should be broken up into smaller units.

An honest symposium of private beliefs among New Dealers would be of great interest. But not terribly important, because Roosevelt has shown he can make his own decisions and keep close to the middle of the road.

The most spectacular attacks have come from special interests seeking to preserve large profits in the stock market, in processing and distributing foods, in public utilities.

Since such profits are unpopular when the issue is directly presented, they are forced into wild accusations of plots to thwart recovery or bolshevize the country. Such charges are easily knocked down—and the attackers retire disgruntled.

Nevertheless, it's too bad no senator was sufficiently willing or adroit to draw from Tugwell his real views as to regulation of profits and protection of consumers. He has quite a few.

Hand Of Alice Seen

The fine hand of Alice Longworth appeared visibly at the latest Tugwell attack. She conferred for nearly half an hour with Senator Josiah Bailey of North Carolina before he began his long questioning of the professor. And then she sometimes seemed to be

BOYS, I'VE FOUND CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE GALORE. THE LANE'S GARDENER WAS NOT ONLY AT THE MURDER SCENE, BUT WAS IN AN UGLY MOOD! WHAT'S MORE, HE'S SKIPPED TOWN!

HUM! LOOKS SUSPICIOUS.

YOU BET IT DOES! BUT HERE'S THE GREATEST FIND OF ALL—AN EMPTY .22 SHELL FOUND IN HIS ROOM.

I AM POSITIVE, GENTLEMEN, THAT THE BULLET WHICH KILLED J.J. LANE CAME FROM THIS VERY SHELL.

I HATE TO, COLD WATER YOU, GRADY, BUT WE'VE BEEN LOOKING AROUND, TOO.

AND WE FOUND AN EMPTY .22 SHELL IN LANE'S CUSPIDOR.

BAM!

AW, C'MON...TELL ME WHAT KIND OF A COSTUME MIG IS WEARING !!

CAN'T YOU FIND HER?

WITH ALL THESE MASKED GIRLS AROUND HERE, IT'S HARD FOR ME TO PICK HER OUT...AND I'M NOT VERY QUICK AT FIGURES!

MIG HAS ON A RED MASK, AND SHE'S DRESSED AS A SIREN...

YOU MEAN ONE OF THOSE THINGS THEY HAVE ON A FIRE ENGINE?

NO, YOU DUMMY! A VAMP...ONE OF THOSE SLINKY GALS WHO SIT AROUND ON BEAR RUGS AN' MAKE GOO-GOO EYES...THERE SHE IS, OVER THERE!

THANKS, SATAN, OLD TOP !!

OH, FRECKLES, I'D ADORE HAVING YOU SHOW ME SOME OF YOUR NEW STEPS! ARE THEY HARD ONES?

YEAH, BUT I'LL TRY AND FIND A COUPLE OF SOFT CUSHIONS!!

THIS IS MY CHANCE!

IT'LL TAKE THE DEACON TWO HOURS, SO WE CAN GUZZLE A SODA, AND I'LL STILL HAVE TIME TO CATCH HIM

I'LL UNSCREW THIS VALVE, JUST ENOUGH T'GIVE IT A SLOW LEAK

AND, AFTER HIS SKULDUGGERY, WINDY JOINS THE CROWD

HERE'S TO YOU, BOYS! AND REMEMBER THAT BET WE'VE GOT, WINDY

IT'S A WHEEL WITHIN A WHEEL—DA YA GIT IT?

I'LL TAKE BEER!

HERE'S HOW, CHICK! AN' MAY THE BEST MAN WIN!!

Round of Social Events Precede Marriage Of Miss Wherry, Mr. Fitzjarrald Tonight

The marriage of Miss Florence Wherry to John Otho Fitzjarrald will take place this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wherry, 914 West Cleveland street. Following a reception the couple will leave for a wedding trip.

Miss Wherry has been complimented with a number of lovely pre-nuptial affairs during the past week.

The first of a series of entertainments was a dinner given by Miss Shirley Greene Monday at her home at 305 North Eleventh street.

Wednesday afternoon a lovely miscellaneous shower was given at the C. R. Webster home on Memphis Heights, with Mrs. Webster, Mrs. S. T. Harrison and Mrs. Byron Baldwin joint hostesses.

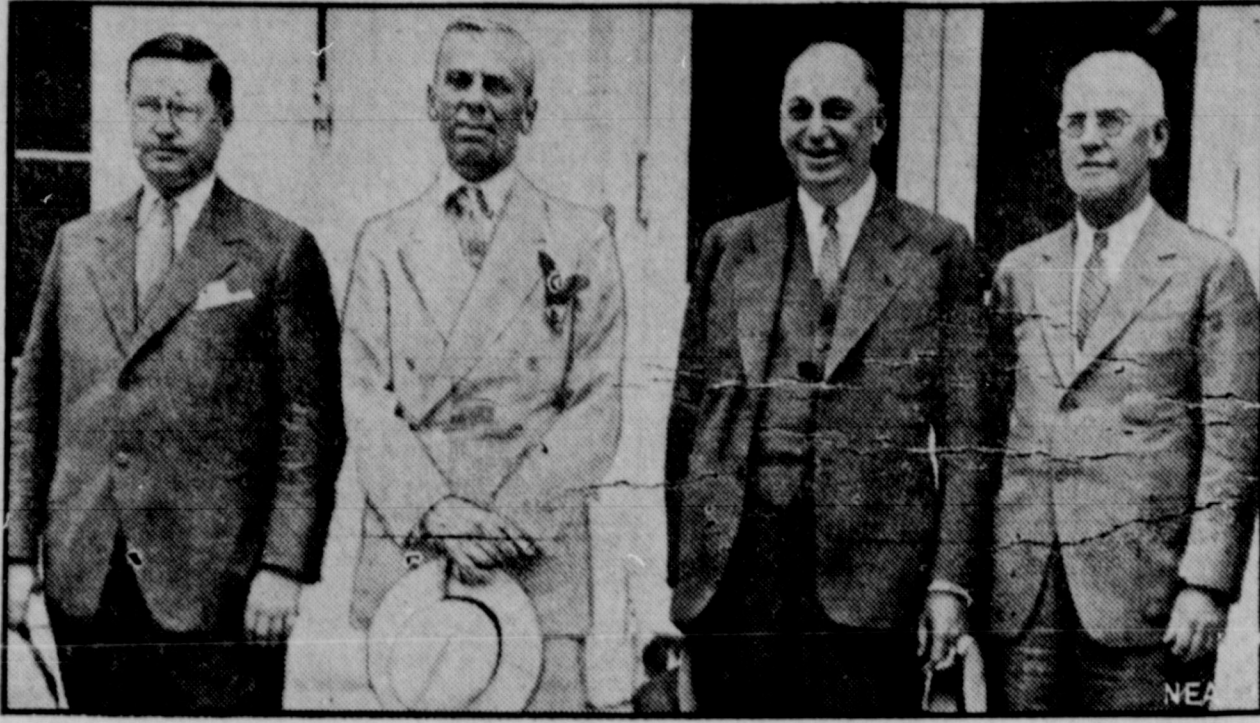

Orchid and gold, colors chosen by the bride-elect, were effectively carried out in all the appointments.

The guest list at the shower included Mesdames B. E. Davenport, A. Baldwin, H. B. Estes, J. L. Barnes, G. D. Beard, Pete Clower, Hollis Boren, C. W. Crawford, S. S. Davis, John Deaver, H. D. ## CENTRAL WEST TEXAS LOSING TO DROUTH

Scorching Weather Is Destroying Crops Rapidly

By Associated Press
STEPHENVILLE, June 20.—Crops and range in Central-West Texas fast are giving way to the extended drouth and scorching weather. Corn, cotton, garden stuff and other crops have reached the point where wilting leaves are not revived by continued cool nights.

All of Erath county and the Hamilton, Hico, De Leon and Comanche sections are feeling the effects of the dry, hot weather. Crops in the area have continued to grow because of bottom moisture from rainfall early in the year. Central-West Texas has received approximately 10 inches of rain this year, the majority coming in the first three months.

Cotton, some of it very young, is suffering less than other crops. Corn is in silk and tassel, a stage susceptible to greatest injury by drouth. Farmers report that rain within the next few days would save the corn from total injury.

50 Girls Expected In Bathing Review At Childress Fete

Special To The Democrat
CHILDRESS, June 20.—Scores of the most beautiful girls in the Childress section will parade their charms before the judges in two bathing girls' revues when the second annual fireman's rodeo and frontier celebration gets under way here July 3-4. The big event is being sponsored by the Childress fire department, and arrangements are in charge of T. J. Midkiff, Jr., assisted by other members of the department.

The first revue, scheduled for the evening of the 3rd, will consist of local beauties, and Childress merchants will compete for the honor of entering a winner to become "Miss Childress", and there-by enter the bigger revue on the evening of the 4th when she will vie for honors with beauties from other cities of this section. Invitations have been extended to scores of other cities within a radius of 100 miles of Childress, and already Memphis and Vernon have accepted the invitation and promise to send entries which they are confident will carry off the beautiful loving cup which goes to the winner. Fifty beautiful girls are expected to take part in the big revue, which will be among the most attractive features of the two day celebration.

Beeves have already been donated by Ivey and Son Dairy, and by Lon Hassell, a big free barbecue with all the trimmings will be served at noon July 4. Other attractions will be a gigantic fireworks exhibition Wednesday night, cowboy dancing each night and a cowboys' basketball game played on horses each performance.

Childress Votes On Retirement Of $4,000 Of Bonds

By Associated Press
CHILDRESS, June 20.—At a special election June 26, voters of the Childress independent school district will decide whether to retire $4,000 of $15,000 bonds voted on a special election last November for a ward school building.

This has been found necessary because the state board of education can purchase only $11,000 of the amount and a portion of the entire amount voted cannot be sold.

It is planned to start work on the six-room modern structure as soon as the voters give their approval at the polls.

WT Students Find Many Attractions

Special To The Democrat
CANYON, June 20.—From 7:30 in the morning until 6 in the afternoon the entire plant of West Texas State Teachers College is as busy as the proverbial bee-hive. With 1048 students enrolled, the class rooms are crowded to capacity and the college library has overflowed into the corridor of the main building.

Students have come from long distances. Many of them have not visited the Plains region before and are surprised at the comfort in which they work, though natives of the region consider the weather unusually hot. Not all the time is spent in studies however; swimming, field games, horse-back riding, hiking, book reviews, and week-end trips are recreational features.

Many students come in their own cars and find it easy to visit the Panhandle oil fields, Carlsbad caverns and even the mountain region of New Mexico during their week ends.

To Study Unsolved Problems Between U. S. And Mexico

By Associated Press
MEXICO, D. F., June 20.—A first-hand study of the physical aspects of the two outstanding unsolved diplomatic questions between the United States and Mexico—the Chamizal dispute and the problem of international water rights—will be made within the next few months by Dr. Jose Manuel Puig Casauran, Mexican minister of Foreign Relations, and American Ambassador Josephus Daniels.

No date has been set for the trip but it is believed Daniels will return shortly to this capitol from his home in North Carolina, and sometime in early September will accompany Puig on an inspection tour of the Rio Grande and Colorado river valley, and to the El Paso region.

Their joint findings will provide a basis for subsequent negotiations which have been agreed upon.
