CCC CAMP ERECTION STARTS SATURDAY

ACTIVITIES ARE STARTED LAST NIGHT

More Equipment Is Expected; Hire Men Tomorrow

Erection of the Government CCC camp at the Fair Grounds here will get underway Saturday morning, Capt. H. G. Yopp, constructing quartermaster, announced this morning.

Activities started last night and continued today as a dozen carloads of camp equipment were being unloaded and hauled to the camp site at the end of East Noel Street.

Work on Grounds
Further work on the cutting down of the race track was being done today by a soil conservation grader, under the supervision of Supt. George E. Hull.

Two or three more cars of equipment were expected today. All the equipment will be placed at the camp site tomorrow, Captain Yopp stated, and the assembling of the camp buildings will be started Saturday morning.

Captain Yopp estimated "off hand" that completion of the camp will require "possibly a month." He said that the buildings could be erected in about two weeks, but that plumbing and lighting work will take additional time.

To Employ 45 Men
Because of the uncertainty surrounding the arrival of additional equipment, he said it is "impossible to make an accurate estimate" on the progress of erection.

—AND THERE WAS LIGHT!
The West Texas Utilities Co. came to the rescue late yesterday evening when Manager W. R. Cabanera had a flood light installed at the CCC camp site on short notice.

With crews working day and night to unload 14 carloads of material for the camp buildings, Capt. H. G. Yopp found it necessary to provide some sort of illumination for the night crew, and to aid watchmen in protecting the material.

The local light and power concern quickly consented to provide the accommodation, gratis.

About 40 or 45 men will be employed at the outset of erection, Captain Yopp said, and they will be gradually reduced as work progresses. All labor will be recruited locally with the exception of supervisors.

All labor available will be employed through the National Re-employment Service, he announced. However, he is not obligated to employ men only through this service.

To Interview Applicants
H. R. Kerbow, timekeeper, will interview all applicants tomorrow morning at 9:15 o'clock. The Commissioners Court room in the Hall County courthouse has been tentatively set as the place for the interviews. The applicants are to be sent to Kerbow by the NRS. Therefore, Capt. Yopp said, all men seeking employment on the camp erection project should first register with the NRS, located in the local relief offices, and secure a card.

He stated definitely that no labor would be employed on the field Saturday.

Preference to Veterans
He also said that preference will be given to world war veterans wherever possible.

Capt. Yopp could give no information concerning the placing (Continued on page 8)

Mother in Anguish as Son Flies to Doom

The impress of anguish on her face, this Mexican mother stood, a figure of poignant sorrow, straining her eyes to the sky for the last glimpse of a son flying to his death. About her, in reverent salute, his comrades were grouped. Twenty students of Mexico City, exiles from Tabasco, flying back to their native state in a daring protest against the tyranny of Gov. Tomas Garrido Canabal, "red" dictator, were met with a hail of machine gun bullets. Five fell dead, among them Manuel Foucher, the son to which Mrs. Brito Foucher, a few hours before had bidden farewell.

Justifies Italy's Ethiopian Plans

GERMAN PAPERS ATTACK PRESS OF WORLD

Allege Slander, Biased Reporting and Cans Dehydrated

By Associated Press
BERLIN, July 25.—A large portion of the German press today heaped scorn upon foreign newspapers for alleged "slander, biased reporting and exaggeration" of the government's anti-Semitic and anti-Catholic measures.

Catholic editors worried how soon Max Amann, president of the Reich press chamber, would strike against Catholic newspapers which he decided are not edited "in the national socialist spirit."

Political police dissolved steel helmet units in western Mecklenburg. Parchim, Ludwigslust and Waren on grounds of subversive activity.

HIGH POLITICAL TENSION GRIPS MEXICAN CITY

By Associated Press
VILLA HERMOS, Tabasco, Mexico, July 25.—Outwardly calm, this city today was a powder barrel which a spark of indiscretion may explode, as a result of the high political tension.

On one side are the "red shirts," followers of the former political boss, Tomas Garrido Canabal, ousted by the Mexican government. On the other are the students who accomplished his downfall.

Owing to the prohibition of demonstrations, a static kind of peace prevailed, but the spirit of rivalry between the youthful members of both factions continues.

Official figures show 15,000 members of the young revolutionary organization—the "red shirts"—in Tabasco. The students number approximately 200 but appear to be gaining strength daily.

Three Youths Dead, Two Hurt in Crash

By Associated Press
HOUSTON, July 25.—Three men, one identified as Lloyd Smith, Liberty, were killed in the collision of a sedan and a truck on the Beaumont road near the county home for the aged today.

CREAM GRADING REGULATIONS INCREASED

Sanitary Conditions Improved at Meeting Of Operators

At a meeting of creamery operators and station men of the Memphis Area, held last night at the plant of the Gate City Creamery, plans were made for more rigid grading of all cream and dairy products and stricter sanitary regulations for cream stations and plants.

The meeting was called and presided over by Chas. A. Taylor of the State Department of Agriculture, stationed at Lubbock.

K. M. Renner, head of the Dairy Manufacturing Department of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, made the principal address of the evening. He stressed the need of a much more rigid system of cream grading than has been in effect in the past, stating that Texas was far from the head of the list of states in this respect.

Arthur Prichard, of the Dairy Department of the college, talked on "Flavors Objectionable in Cream."

Following general discussion by those present, it was decided to inaugurate a program of better grading and sanitation in this district. Operators will conduct an educational program among their customers, stressing the necessity for better preparation and care of cream, and explaining the precautions necessary for delivering same in the best possible condition.

The matter of sanitation of cream stations was discussed at length, and it was the consensus of opinion among those present that all stations failing to observe (Continued on page 8)

Wellington Hospital Work Is Progressing

Special to The Democrat
WELLINGTON, July 25.—The exterior of Wellington's new hospital has been completed, with the walls, roof and windows now taking form. Work on the construction was shelled up this week through lack of material which arrived last Monday. The interior is yet to be completed and the building is expected to be constructed and ready for use by September.

When completed it will be one of the most modern of its kind in the Panhandle according to W. Davis Robinson, architect. The old hospital will be converted into a nurses home.

TEXAS P. AND L. HEAD EXPLAINS 'MYSTERY'

Says Box Contained Cigars, and Paper Held Books

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, July 25.—

Questioned by the Senate lobby investigator whether he recalled giving anyone a box just before the House voted on the utilities bill, John W. Carpenter, president of the Texas Power and Light Company, said today that his son, John, had given a box of cigars to Representative Patton.

He added that the mysterious newspaper-wrapped package which figured previously in the testimony may have been books on livestock.

He explained that his son told him yesterday about giving the box of cigars to Patton because he invited him to go fishing. Upon another occasion Patton bought two books on livestock to the hotel for Carpenter's son and took them out again wrapped in a (Continued on page 8)

PLANS MOVING FORWARD FOR IOOF SESSION

Plans are rapidly being completed for the meeting here on August 21-22 of the Lower Panhandle I. O. O. F. Association, according to announcement made today by M. W. Paschall, Elh, president of the association.

An interesting feature of the meeting will be the program by the children from the I. O. O. F. Home at Corsicana. The children will be accompanied to Memphis by C. W. Couch, superintendent of the Home, and Home Board members, headed by W. A. McIntosh. The Home party will stop at Wichita Falls, Electra, Vernon and Quanah for programs, and will arrive in Memphis Tuesday evening, August 20.

The children will present a program at the Odd Fellows hall on Tuesday night, August 20, to which the public is invited. They will also furnish entertainment at a luncheon to be given at noon Thursday, honoring Grand Lodge officers and the Home party.

According to word received by Mr. Paschall, Bonnie Lou Baldwin, Memphis lodge ward in the Home, will be with the Home party.

The arrangement committee is planning to entertain between 800 and 1000 Odd Fellows and Rebekahs from North Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. Mr. Paschall stated.

Doc Shoffitt Goes to Pen After Long Sojourn In and Out of County's Jail

G. W. "Ole Doc" Shoffitt, of Clarendon, isn't in our midst any more.

He left yesterday afternoon in company with Penitentiary Agent W. R. Crane for the state penitentiary at Huntsville.

"Ole Doc" spent more than a year and a half in and out of the county jail here. He played with the children around the jail and made trips with Sheriff Joe Colvin.

He was an interesting old coddler—one of the early settlers of this section of the country, living in Greer County in the 80's and knowing Vernon and other towns when they had only a few inhabitants.

But a couple of years ago he got frisky and attempted to

A confirmed smoker at the age of two and one-half years, Richard Felix Siczarski of Oakham, Mass., refuses to eat his breakfast until he has had his morning cigaret and sucks lustily at pipes and cigars instead of the proverbial baby bottle. His mother, Mrs. Stanley Siczarski, says that his health seems unimpaired, although he has been a tobacco user since he was 18 months old.

DARIEN, finishing her first college, learns her father's work. Jo hunts a job in part time work in a supply store. There she meets the handsome DOUGLAS who offers her the post at his inn at Crest Lake. This causes a rift with BRET PAUL to whom she is engaged and Jo breaks the engagement.

Jo goes to Crest Lake. Her mother takes a dislike to her. BABS MONTGOMERY, school acquaintance who is the innkeeper PETER FRAGONET, film actor, and his wife meet Jo for a sail on a speedboat, crashes into a rock and Jo is hurled into the water. She is not injured but from shock, Marsh comes to her and later Fragonet.

ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVII

Nurse has taken your tray, Fragonet replied. He held the girl's arm in a hand. "Jo—I'm a fool to talk to you like this when I know you're not. But I'm trying to make you understand how important it is. I've been waiting long enough to give up even now." He released her arm, and she controlled his emotion. "You're a girl then, and now you're a woman. I've watched you grow into a woman in the short time I've been at Crest Lake. You're years older now than you were and stood looking down at her. "Jo, if only you wouldn't be so afraid," he said. "If only you'd let down your shield. I—"

He broke off suddenly and dropped to his knees beside the bed, taking her in his arms. "Peter! You—"

But Fragonet's lips cut off her words and he held her helpless in his arms. Weak with fury, Jo held her clinched fists against his shoulder, and as he released her she struck him across the mouth with all the strength at her command. She was about to speak when another voice bit like acid into the silence of the room. It was Edna Fragonet's, and just beyond her Jo saw Mrs. Marsh!

"A very pretty performance, Miss Darien," Edna Fragonet was saying, "but it would have been more convincing if you hadn't seen me first."

Poor Jo could only sag there helplessly against the pillows, her mouth foolishly open. Between her anger at Fragonet and astonishment at the sudden appearance of his wife she could find no words at all. But instantly Fragonet faced the two women in the doorway.

"Let's not have one of your scenes, Edna. I assure you I'm entirely to blame!" He managed a very smile, and in that moment Jo saw the Fragonet who was the actor. He was acting now, just as she had seen him dozens of times on the screen.

"I've no intention of making a scene," his wife answered coldly. "Mrs. Marsh and I had intended to pay a sick-room visit, and we were quite unaware that we'd be interrupting."

Mrs. Marsh had glanced at Jo only once, and now her manner seemed to say that as far as she was concerned Joanne Darien did not exist. Turning her back upon Jo, she addressed Edna Fragonet in a voice as cool as if it were commenting on the weather.

"Please don't let this disturb you, Mrs. Fragonet. I'm sure that, like most men, Peter is unduly divalrous. I haven't been entirely asleep the past few weeks and I know where to lay the blame. I'll have Douglas take care of the matter in the morning."

She started from the room, but Fragonet detained her. "Just a moment, Mrs. Marsh. It will do you no good to talk to Doug. I'm going to give him the whole story." He whirled desperately toward his wife. "What's the use of pretending any longer? I'm damned tired of pretense. This has got to be the finish, Edna!" He stopped suddenly, then went on in almost a whisper. "I don't suppose anything I can ever do or say will make up for what I've done to you, Jo." He seemed about to add something else, shrugged helplessly, and was gone.

Jo lifted herself upright, trembling in every fiber. "Mrs. Fragonet, you must listen to me a moment. I—"

But Edna Fragonet's eyes were points of ice. "Listen to you, Miss Darien? I'm afraid it is you who must listen to me. Perhaps you think you've done it at last, but you're wrong. You'll get nothing. Nothing at all out of this, do you hear? And I'll drag your name into every newspaper from here to Hollywood!"

The door of the bedroom slammed shut with a resounding crash, and Jo closed her eyes tight against a sudden, throbbing pain at the back of her neck. But only one thought was in her mind now—to make Edna Fragonet listen, to make her understand.

"I've got to talk to her," Jo said aloud. "I've got to make them all listen to me..."

She stumbled toward the bed, rushed toward the closet where her dressing robe was hanging. The room seemed to whirl madly, and the floor seemed to lift but Jo knew only that she must get down the hall to Edna Fragonet's room. She must make her see the truth, make her see that truth to Mrs. Marsh and her son.

How Jo reached the outer door she never knew, but suddenly she was in the half-light of the hallway. And then the hallway became darker and darker still, and the evening lighted obliquely in a long green flash to strike her hand across the cheek.

All at once, despite the throbbing of her head and the new pain where her cheek had struck the floor, Jo felt terribly weary. She raised her head once, then let it fall gently against her arm. She thought oddly that it was too cold to be sleeping there in the hallway with only her thin pajamas and her robe over her. She

THE VOICE OF THE UPPER RED RIVER VALLEY

DOING THE WORK AT HOME

SEVERAL Texas organizations interested primarily in agriculture and livestock in Texas are conducting what is known as a feed-at-home campaign.

Both livestock and sheep are shipped out of Texas each year to be fed elsewhere for market, a dispatch from this organization stated.

The Breeder-Feeder Association kept alive its interest in the development of producing and finishing of livestock in the Southwest even during the period of drouth and shortage of feed.

It is realized that if farmers attempt to harvest and sell this crop on a cash market, that prices will decline far below the cost of production.

Texas farmers should take advantage of the opportunities presented to balance their program with livestock. Should the Supreme Court sustain the findings of the United States Circuit Court and declare the processing tax unconstitutional, it will become all the more necessary that farmers have a profitable program which will permit the voluntary control of their cotton acreage.

RIOTS CLOAK GRAVE DECEPTIONS

IT is like turning the pages of history back for a quarter of a century to read of the recent anti-Jewish riots in Berlin.

To be sure, outbreaks of anti-Semitism in Germany are no new thing, these days. Perhaps we ought to be case-hardened to them by now.

The worst thing about an outbreak of this kind is not its brutality. That is something which this imperfectly civilized human race of ours never entirely succeeds in quelling.

What makes a performance of this kind especially dismaying is the fact that it represents a case of self-deception. In order to rouse yourself to the point where you want to go about the streets beating people whose religion or race is not like your own, you have to persuade yourself to believe something which obviously is not so—to wit, that the mere presence of these people in the same community with yourself is somehow a threat to your well-being.

Nor is that all. While you are giving way to this delusion, you may depend on it that off in the background, unseen, someone is getting away with something that he wouldn't get away with if you were keeping your eyes open.

The programs of the old Czarist government remain the classic example of this sort of thing.

THE GENIE AND THE BOTTLE

HEALTH BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

When a person gets moody, depressed, and morbid, he is probably approaching the condition called "nervous breakdown," which doctors dignify by a scientific term, like "asthenia."

Sometimes the victim develops a fear without any definite conception of the object feared. In certain cases the fear is attached to some organ of the body. Thus the person concerned is afraid that he will get cancer or that he will suddenly drop dead with heart disease.

Naturally, there is loss of interest in life. A husband may lose interest in his wife, or a wife in her husband. There is lack of desire for food or tobacco, or opportunity of being with other people.

Side Glances By George Clark

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Current hot-weather battles featuring spiders, snakes, tarantulas, and other unpleasant forms of animal life are tame stuff alongside the grinding test of strength between the administration and the utility holding companies which still goes on.

No one recalls any parallel for this attempt to change the fate of a major bill, gone into conference, by exposing the extraordinary tactics of the big "power trust" lobby which defeated Roosevelt in the House when it persuaded members to vote against the so-called death sentence.

Seldom has a rising pitch of excitement here seemed more dramatic. Will congressmen feel that they have been browbeaten and bamboozled by a flood of telegrams—many of them signed with names taken from city directories or gathered by telegraph messenger boys and other canvassers?

Will they feel revulsion against high-pressure tactics of lobbyists who flooded the capital, bringing personal friends from their districts to exert their influence and claim to represent widespread sentiment?

And will the net effect be a repudiation of an erstwhile "master's voice" which will turn Roosevelt's smashing defeat into victory?

More Sensations Coming Sensations continue while pro-administration conferees hold off action until the evidence is heard and has time to sink in. Privately, "power trust" foes are predicting that the conferees—perhaps after another vote by the House—will eventually produce a bill satisfactory to an administration which insists on reducing holding companies to regulatable size.

If half the underground reports you hear are correct, you haven't heard anything yet. The billions of dollars behind the holding companies could command the highest priced talent available.

ALLEY OPP

As long as we let him sit there, he'll refuse teat--will only stare! We've got to get him away, right now, and that'll be some job--and how?

Well, hafta tie a lot of vines onto him and drag him away--I think there's enough of us--

S'no use, boys--he won't eat a thing!

What'll we do? We can't let him starve!

THE NEWFANGS (Mom 'n POP)

Give her the old soft soap, Swiggins--she's a tough customer, but there's a bonus in it for you--so, do your stuff!

Van Swagan, Motor Co.

Leave her to me--she'll think she's got things on Gretta, when I go to work on her!

Well, sq, this is my lucky day? It isn't often I have the pleasure of such a delightful company on a demonstration, Mrs. Kuhn--notice the emergency brake on this model--years ago, it used to be on the left side--you probably don't remember--it was before your day!

Oh, Mr. Swaggins--you're just an old flatterer!!

I can understand why Windy fell for you, Mrs. Kuhn--you have the most bewitching eyes!

Mr. Swaggins will you do me a favor? Drive up and get my husband!

Sit back, Mrs. Kuhn--and take a lesson!
