Utilities-Success Cooking School Slated For October 4-5

Rev. A. J. Quinn Accepts Pastorship

Rev. A. J. Quinn of Carlton will begin work with the local First Baptist church on Sunday October 7. Rev. Quinn has preached for the local church several times and is well liked by its members. He was here during the regular Wednesday evening services of the church last Wednesday night.

City Council Tightens Traffic Regulations Cotton Board

Brand new red turning posts now adorn the main street of our city. These were installed Tuesday after a meeting of the Town Council Monday night in which the middle of the street parking practice was the topic of discussion.

In an effort to eliminate this practice, the Council decided to install the new posts with instructions, "no parking in center ot street," painted on them.

Local Cannery Has Busy Week

The local cannery had a rather busy run during the first three days of this week. Ben Hext, who has charge of the work reports that 223 cans of vegetables and 403 cans of meet were canned.

This runs the season's out put by the local cannery to better than

4-H Boys Begin Lamb Feeding

A great deal of interest seems to be manifested in the 4-H Club feeding program this fall according to C. Snell, County agent. Six Schleicher county boys have already begun the feeding of lambs for exhibition display at the San Angelo Fair this year and the Fort Worth Live Stock Show next spring. Others have planned to begin the work

Cecil Moore, one of the two outstanding 4-H Club boys of Texas, is feeding 17 lambs, Gene Koy Is feeding twelve and the Sauer boys, Edgar, Clemens and William, are going into the work on a big scale as they are feeding out a carload Banning Wade and Jimmie Danford are listed among those who will begin the work soon.

LAVING CALICHE ON MERTZON ROAD PROGRESSES

The laying of caliche on the Mertzon highway has been speeded up this week. One rather lengthy block was completely caliched and work on another block was begun. Except for smoothing the rough spots, the work has now been completed pass the school house and grounds. The caliche will be laid for two miles,

Theatre Re-opens

The Lone Star Theater re-opened last night after a few days close down, necessitated to re-arrange the seats. The floor was raised in order to elevate the seats which now makes it possible for anyone to sit anywhere in the building without obstruction of view.

MRS. RICHEY'S BROTHER DIES

Mrs. A. D. Richey left Saturday for Olney, Illinois in response to a message stating the death of her brother, Charles Beard.

Fifty Thousand Pounds Wool Sold

The Eldorado Wool Company sold 50,000 pounds of wool this week at prices ranging from 21 to 221/2 cents a pound. Mr. Hill states that he has around 475,000 pounds left in the warehouse.

Thirty bales of cotton had been ginned this week through yesterday by the Eldorado Gin Company. This makes a total of 560 bales ginned this season by the Eldorado Gin.

Young Conner Child Painfully Burned

Orville Taylor Conner, young son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Conner, was painfully but not seriously burned on the legs and body Tuesday afternoon when he fell into a fire around a washpot at the home of Robers Isaass. Dr. Pennington stated that the burns were rather deep on the child's left leg and that the burns were painful but not serious.

Speeds Work

College Station. -That 160 Texas counties have received their tax exemption certificates under the Bankhead Act was announced by the Cotton Allotment Board after a meeting held at the end of the week. A total of 333,430 applications have been received from 216 counties. Among the counties which have already received their certificates, totaling 489,818 are all the larger cotton producing counties in the State, members of the Board

While the Board was in session a request came from one of the probable loss to Texas if the Bankhead Act is discontinued in 1935. In reply the Board pointed out that the Texas 1934 quota of tax exempt cotton is 3,237,000 bales; that the Bureau of Crop Estimates has placed the 1934 Texas crop at 2,383,00v bales: which leaves Texas with an excess of 854,000 bales for which there is tax exemption but no cotton. Such tax exemption certificates have a sale value of approximately $20 per bale, the Board stat ed, and the total possible loss to the State, therefore, if the Bankhead Act is discontinued and holders of these certificates are not atlowed to realize on them is approximately seventeen million dollars.

will fall first of all on the cotton grower already hard hit by the drouth, whose certificate in its sales value was a measure of crop insurance. It will fall next on the business interests of the State because the farmer would have spent his money for commodities. And in the third place it will fall proportionately on all tax payers because the hard hit man and his family will the sooner be on public relier.

The Board Commented also on the falling off of the cotton market due in part, according to cotton ex change reports in current newspapers, to the conference in Washington and the published statement by Senator Bankhead in relation to suspending the operation of the Act. The loss on a single day amounted

Interpretative Flashes

A New Deal For The New Deal A New Deal for the New Deal is under way in Washington. The NRA is being reorganized and General Hugh S. Johnson, the dictator of NRA policies, is about to be left out. Indications are that the one-man rule of the New Deal is over and the policies of the NRA will be placed in the hands of a board of directors. Moley, head of the braintrusters, is almost sure for a seat on the board of directors. The new policies of the NRA, it any are uncertain; but let us hope that a number of the objectionable features of the NRA are done away

Strikers Back To Work

with and the New Deal gets a rear

Although ill will still prevailed in the textile strike area, the mills were open for work and the prolonged, bloody strike has been officially ended. Many mill owners dia not allow the strikers to come back to work, and charges of discrimination against union-workers were prevalent. It appears that there is likely to be additional trouble in the textile world before all strikers are allowed to return to work.

To Conduct Cooking School Here

MISS ILAH MANCHESTER

Miss Ilah Manchester of the West Texas Utilities, shown in the above picture, will conduct a twoday cooking school here on October 4 and 5. She will feature an all electric kitchen and tasty food recipes for the entire family. The school is being conducted for the benifit of Schleicher county housewives through the courtesy of the West Texas Utilities and Eldorado

Presbyterians To Install Pastor

For the first time in its hitsory the Eldorado Presbyterian Church will have a pastor formally installed. This will take place next Sunday evening at 8:00 at the church when a commission appointed by Brownwood Presbytery will install Mr. N. P. Wilkinson as pastor. Mr. Wilkinson has been serving the local congregation for the past four months, but it was thought best to postpone the installation service until after the fall meeting of Presbytery. When that body met in Ballinger last week the date was set and the following men appointed as a commission for the installation service: Rev. B. O. Wood or San Angelo to preside and preach the sermon; Rev. E. W. McLaurin of Ballinger to charge the congregation; and an elder from the San Angelo church, Mr. C. C. Crocker, to charge the pastor.

It is the custom in Presbyterian churches that when a minister becomes pastor of a congregation for him to publicly testify of his willingness and intention of assuming the responssibilities of his office. and for him to be charged, before the congregation, as to his duties as a minister by one commissiones to do so. Also one is present who is commissioned to charge the congregation as to its duties to the Beginning on the Sunday of his installation the pastor will conduct a week of evangelistic services. This special season will begin with the service of Sunday morning, and continue thru the Sunday of Oct. 7th. Services will be held once each day at 7:30 p. m.

A two-day cooking school sponsored by the West Texas Utilities in conjunction with the Eldorado Success is to be held on Thursday and Friday, October 4 and 5 in the basement of the Presbyterian church. Daily lectures and demonstrations will be given each afternoon on those dates beginning promptly at 2:00 o'clock.

The school is being conducted for the purpose of helping Schleicher county housewives to improve their cooking ability and to practice economy in preparing meals. Every housewife in the county who is interested in such a school is given a cordial invitation to attend. There is no charge whatever.

Noted Economist To Conduct School

Miss Ilah Manchester of the West Texas Utilities is to prepare the demonstrations and to give the lectures. She is rated to be among the most efficient home economists. and an able demonstrator. Miss Manchester is to feature an all electric kitchen and is to demonstrate tasty recpes of the highest quality using such nationally known brands as Del Monte products, K C Baking powder, Imperial sugar, Mrs. Tucker's shortening, and Gold Med-

A number of valuable gifts as courtesies of the Utilities Company and the Eldorado Success will be given to many of those who attend the school. Cold drinks will be furnished by the Coca Cola Bottiing Company of San Angelo.

Don't forget, the valuable lessons are your for the asking, coming to you through the cortesy of the Wess Texas Utilities and the Eldorado Success. Make your plans now be attend the school and see the advantages of the all electric kitchen and of tasty, economically-prepared, healthful food.

The date: Cotober 4 and 5; the place: Basement of the Presbyterian church: the hour: 2:00. Everyone is cordially invited.

Humble Drilling At 4, 170 Feet

Humble No. 1 Ike Honig, seeking ordovician production, was drilling at 4,170 feet yesterday morning at 8:00 o'clock. A core test was taken from 4,002 to 4,009 feet rerevealing the formation to be black

Officials state that the 5 inch drill pipe now used will be substrtuted with a 4 inch pipe next ween. Operations were closed down for a day this week for the setting of a new rotary table.

Humble No. 1 Ike Honig is located thirteen miles northeast of Eldo-

Page Well Making Slow Progress

John M. Cooper's No. 1 Bert Page was drilling yesterday morning at 5,670 feet. At this depth the formation changed from hard chert to gray lime. The hard chert formation greatly slowed up the drilting progress for the four days previous to the running into the white

No. 1 Page is located in the northeast quarter of section 40, block L. G. H. & S. A. Ry. Co. sur-

NO INFORMATION ON CATTLE BUYING

No information has been received by County Agent Snell as to the resumption of cattle buying in Srhleicher County. This work was closed down throughout Texas three. weeks ago but has been renewed in several counties.

A large number of cattle are yet listed for sale with the governmen. in this county and Mr. Snell has notified the authorities to the erfect, but no word has been received.

Mrs. Roy Howland of Hext, Texas visited in Eldorado this week.

GOSH, IT'S A SNAKE .

Garland Lewter Eats Lunch. Sitting On Rattiesnake

"A softer seat than duck's down can no one find," but Garland Lewter doesn't like the idea of parking one's self on a rattlesnake. Garland discovered this fact after unconsciously sitting on a very large rattlesnake while he peacefully ate his lunch recently. He discovered the snake only after finishing his lunch. The incident took place at a sheep camp where several men were skinning governmentbought sheep. Sam Roberts, along with several other men who were employed at the sheep camp, corroborates the story. Neither Garland nor the snake were seriously hurt.

One of the party reports that although the snake was unhurt, Garland had a three-day spell of running fits; and another reports that it would have been too bad for the snake had Garland decided to bite it.

Seventeen Cotton Checks Arrive

Seventeen cotton checks amounting to $831.79 arrvied yesterday, states C. Snell, County Agent. These checks are of the first payment or the Government's Cotton Reduction

This leaves a total of nineteen checks yet to be received in the first series of payments.

ELDORADO BAND PRACTICING FOR CONCERTS

With one new member, George Whitley, a cornet player, the Eldorado band has begun practice for various concerts which it plans to render within the near future. The band's work is progressing nicely.

After a week of intensive training following their 30 to 0 victory from Miles last Satudrday, Coach Williamson's Eagles are all set for the BradyBulldogs tomorrow.

This should be one of the outstanding games to be played on the local gridiron this season, as the Bulldogs, under their new coach, Earl Rudder, are doped to go places in their district this year. They have one district game to their credit already, defeating Bangs

High last Friday 26 to 0. Coach Williamson has spent this week's training sessions in trying to iron out the rough spots which were so obvious in team play last Saturday. We note some improvement but the Eagles lack a whole lot yet of being a smoothly clicking gridiron machine

Captain Billie Kerr and Bill

Smith, both of whom saw little service in the Miles game due to injuries, are back in the harnes. this week which lends a brighteaspect to the opening line-up that the Eagle mentor can present. Captain Kerr hasn't fully recovered from his ankle injury and may nos start the game Saturday but it is a rather safe bet that Smith will be in there at a backfield position. Off handed we would guess at a prospective line up like this: ends, Ricard Jones, Captain Kerr of Clayton Trotter; tackles, John E. Rodgers and Felix Susen; guards, Edward Butler and Jack Shugart; center, Harold Susen; backs, Jos Turner Hext, Paul Davis, Bill Smith and R. J. Alexander. Milton Spurgers may get a starting call again this Saturday in the backfield and then there is Ardrian McDan-

We haven't heard from Brady in regard to Rudder's line up but it will probably run like this: Mr-Clean, Barnett or Hallum, ends; Rhode and John Francis Ogden. tackles; Myers and Hurd, guards, Ben Hill Ogden, center; Shorty Steffens, Griffin and Clyde Hall, Jr. in the backfield.

Time of game 3 o'clock/ Place -Fair Park. Winner-we say the Eagles by 6 points.

Five Local People In Hospitals During

Late word has been received, stating that Gussie Nolen died last night.

Five Eldorado people have suffered various degrees of illness in hospitals at San Angelo during the past week. Miss Gussie Nolen, most seriously ill of the group, is reported to be suffering from a severe case of gangrene following an appendicitis operation. It le thought that a second operation will be necessary. Miss Nolen's sister, Mrs. Bertie Needham, is reported to be doing much better following an operation and she is expected to be returned to her home at Eldorado tomorrow. Mrs. Fred Bruton who has been seriously ill for the past week to reported to be much improved. Mrs Fred Mathews who was recently returned to the hospital as San Angelo following an apparent recovery from an operation is reported not doing so well and a sec-

Wednesday afternoon and reports

The government's sheep buying program continued to be very active in Schleicher county the past week. Through September 25, 17,-275 sheep had been sold to the government. This represents $34,550. that will come to the Schleicher county ranchers from the first eight days of buying.

Out of the number thus far sold to the government, only 995 have been shipped out, the others being condemned and killed.

The work this week has been h the Rudd community and in the Best end of the county. There are around 43,000 head of sheep more to be disposed of as 60,000 over the county were listed for sele.

Prominent Local Couple Marry

Market and the second to the

In an impressive home ceremony at the Doyle home, Miss Lucile Davis became the wife of W. C. Doyle at 5:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, September 23, with Rev. J. L. Railiff officiating. Relatives and a harge circle of friends were present for the occasion.

Both the bride and groom have been residents of Eldorado for a number of years, being prominent in the social activities of the younger set. The bride is an employee in the local telephone office while the groom is the proprietor of the City Barber Shop.

Lady Says She Tock CARDUI for Cramps;

Was Soon Relieved

Women who suffer as she did will be interested in the experience of Mrs. Maude Crafton, of Belleville, Ili., who writes: "For several years, I suffered from irregular trouble and cramping. There would be day's when I would have to stay in bed. I would get so nervous, I was miserable. My aunt told me to try Cardui. She believed it would build me up, regulate me and help the nervous trouble. I knew after taking half a bottle of Cardui that I was better. I kept on taking Cardui and found it was doing me a world of good. I am in good health, which means a lot to me."

Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit-YOU, consult a physician. .. Price $1.

Woman's Club Meets

Mrs. Joe Edens was hostess to the Woman's Club which met in a regular meeting session Tuesday at 2:30 pm.

In the business meeting, the Chairman of the Scholarship Board reported that the fund of $300. had been let to Albert McGinty and En McAngus. McGinty is attending Howard Payne College at Brownwood and McAngus is in school as Texas Tech at Lubbock.

Another important topic taken up in the business meeting was in regard to a County Library. Relative to this, the County Library Committee, composed of Mrs W. E. Earon, Mrs. Ernest Hill and Mrs. Joe Edens, was instructed to join with the committee representing the Self Culture Club in a meeting with the County Commissioners to perfect plans for the Library.

Following the business meeting the subject, "Hawaii and PhilippInes" was taken up in discussion. Mrs. D. E. DeLong led the discussion. In this, Mrs. D. C. Hill lectured on the "Cosmopolitan Population and Agriculture and Industries of the Hawaiian Islands." Mrs. W. B. Eaton told of "Honolulu. the City of Moons and Honey Moons"; Mrs. E. C. Hill discussed "Hawaii's Five Mountains" and Mrs. V. G. Tisdate completed the discussion with a subject, "Picturesque Manila, Capital of the Philippines."

Eleven members and one visitor were present at the meeting.

The One Thing

The one main move to end the depression is to restore international trade; and the chief barrier in international trade is prohibitive tariff, avers Peter Molyneaux, Texas' most logical student of economies. Mr. Molyneaux, editor of the TEXAS WEEKLY, thinks, as we do, that the United States, the creditor nation, should take the lead in tearing down the unsurmountable tariff walls. The debtor nations would then be given a chance to do the same thing; and could they have a channe to begin trade with the United States again there is hardly any question but that they would do just that.

Mr. Molyneaux points out that the Democratic Party pledged themselves to lowering the tariff, but because public opinion has seemed to be definitely against it, the Administration has, as yet, done nothing about the tariff. The Administration has, however, done some things which public opinion has not definitely approved, so of all moves for returning prosperity this nation, why not lower the tarify barriers? We have contended all along that tariff should be used with precaution—as a protective measure only in emergencyand never as a source of revenue for the government. Throw down the tariff walls and let a sea of trade roll in! The United States is a part of the world, not just a part of America. If we don't trade with other countries, other countries CAN'T trade with us. We're the creditor nation, the world is our debtor; and we give them no chance to earn enough to carry on a decent amount of trade, much less pay their debts to us. Nationalism? Where do we get the idea that we can live alone - all to ourselves? China once tried it with an actual wall. Where did she get? The United States is trying it with a tariff wall, and where have we got?

TWO CENTENNIAL CELEBRATIONS?

We understand that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to contemplating plans for holding a West Texas Centennial Exhibit as Ft. Worth in 1936. In defending this move some of the officials of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce claim that with all other parts of the state making large exhibits at Dallas, West Texas could not be sufficiently well represented.

Such an action on the part of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is absurd for two reasons, primarily, it would appear to out out of state visistors that, with two Centennial exhibits, the state was not working in close harmony—that the house must be divided against itself; secondly, a West Texas exhibit at Dallas, given a chance for comparison with exhibits from other sections of the State, would show up to the advantage of West

The best thing for each section of the state to do is to boost for a state-wide Centennial with a unified, centeralized attraction at Dallas.

THE RELIEF SITUATION

The question of relief in Texas is becoming an acute problem, but it seems that nothing much can be done about it until "jobs for the jobless" have been provided. The $20,000,000 relief bond can not possibly be stretched beyond early spring, and it is seriously doubtfut that it can be stretched that far. To vote another relief bond would be the height of folly. It seems, as it is, that too much relief is having a demoralizing effect upon the energy and industriousness of the people of this state; but somehow those who are without means must be provided for-so what? "Jobs for the jobless" is the only solution. We suggest that a movement might be inaugurated whereby those now employed might be asked to sacrifice just a bit to provide "jobs for the jobless." It would be easier on as all in the long run; it would create more confidence, better business conditions: and, above all, it would raise the morale of this state in that the majority of those now on the relief rolls would be given a feeling of self-reliance. We are all going to have to make a sacrifice reach normalcy again, so why now do it now?

cotton control bill. The law will be left in effect for the remainder on this season because of the unfair position it would create were it completely abolished now.

Cotton production control, we have learned, is not a way of handling the present situation. Opening the cloyged channels of world trade and of world consumption is the logical way of handling the situation. We say again, as we have said before, that should the government have spent its money in finding new uses for cotton rather than in curtailing cotton production, the problem would have been much nearer solution today.

SAGE AND SAGES

We have nothing against Colonel Lindberg, but it makes us sick to see the papers exploiting the Lindberg kidnapping case as the worst crime in America." To say that the Lindberg baby's life was any more than that of any other child who has been kidnapped and killed is to say that America is a land of "caste" in which some people and their offspringss have more right to live than others.

Why does a man, who doesn't believe in advertising, put a display in his window to call attention or those who pass by?

To find the real sordidness of life, a person must go "Back stage" and few average Americans have ever taken the trouble to investigate the matter to that extent.

Smooth advice is often roughly taken.

FIVE POINTED STAR AS TEXAS FIRST USED IN 1835

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 26. (Special)

—The first use of a five-pointed star as the emblem of Texas was in 1835 when a brass button, cut from an overcoat, was used as a seal. The large button came from the overcoat of Henry Smith, provisional governor, elected by the Texans when events were shaping themselves for independence, but at a time when the main issue was as to whether the Mexican constitution of 1824 would be observed.

Smith was named governor at a meeting held at San Felipe (Anstin County). Needing some kind of a seal for official documents, he cut off one of the decorative buttons on his overcoat and it was used as the seal. The present seal of the State features a five-pointed star, and the star is also heed in the Texas Flag.

This historic button may or may not be in existence today. It would be a most interesting relic for exhibition in 1936, when the Centennial of Texas independence is to be celebrated at San Antonio, Houston, Goliad, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville, Dallas, and other cities of the State identified with the early history of the Lone Star State.

Coryell county farmers and ranchmen have been staunch in their support of the AAA program. The county had 1700 cotton contract signers; 2300 Bankhead applications; 166 corn-hag contracts; 1100 applications for the sale of cattle in the drouth relief program; and when the sheep program is underway they are ready to cooperate with that also.

A. J. Hoff who runs a small country stare in Ander, Goliad county, told the farm demonstration agent, "The cotton program is bringing results. Several accounts on my books which had run up to $150 and $200 and gone unpaid for a long time have this year been paid in full. I am in favor of regulated production until everything is normal again."

Some Features of The World Fair

Last week we failed to get around to concluding our trip over she World Fair and we left our readers stranded at the magnificent Ford Exhibit, but we will hurry this series of articles on to a conclusion in hopes that we might induce some of our readers to attend the Century of Progress before its closs October 31.

In addition to being a master mechanical exhibit, the Ford Exhibit shows Henry Ford's great interest in farmers. In connection with the mechanical exhibit, Mr. Ford is exhibiting his ideas for solving the farmer's problems. His soy bean exhibit is particularly interesting. Ford also takes the trouble to show how all industry, particularly the automobile industry, is dependent upon the American farmer. Ford has the most unselfish exhibit of all the Fair.

On the lake front Ford has prepared a garden in which one may sit and listen to the daily concerts of the Detriot Symphony Orchestra. The Ford Museum, with its forty industrial exhibits, is also an interesting place to pass several hours.

On beyond the Ford Exhibit stands the Maya Temple, a reprotuction of the Nunnery of Uxmal Is. Yucatan. Its beautiful architecture and its display of unique arthelesigns gives one an idea of what the lost civilization of America was Beyond the Maya Temple on the lake front, one may visit the Frigidaire house, a small modern home equipped with an all-year air conditioning machine. And then comes the General Motors Building with its interesting display of General Motors products, includiny a complete assembly line of the Chevrolet.

Thousands of people watch the process of assembling the Chevrolet from start to finish.

Next in order are the Chrysler Motors Exhibit and another television theatre. Following these comes the Standard Oil Company's Wild Animal show which the kiddies, especially, and a number or grown-ups enjoy very much eventhough we decided that it was not quiet as good as Frank Buck's (Texas' own wild animal trapper) exhibit.

The Standard Oil show is an exhibition of wild animal training.

The Travel and Transport Building houses a never-to-be-forgotten exhibit of progress in transportation, including the latest in transportation such as Burlington's famous Zephyr, stream-lined, capable of 110 miles per hour. And lass but not least, on the south end of the Fair grounds lies the Farm Exhibits and the Farm Home Exhibits, all that is new and scientific in farming and farm home life, including an exhibit showing the depelopment of farming in America and the part played by agriculture in the development of America.

ture in the development of America.

We rush back to the 12th, street entrance, outside of the Fair grounds to look over the Shedd Acquarium, a wonderful exhibit of all descriptions of fish, and to go through the Chicago Field Museum, a complete display of American natural history. On up in Grant Park, a short distance from the 12 th. street entrance, we visit the Chicago Art galleries where the Century of Progress Art Exhibit 1s displayed. And this, briefly, concludes a trip around the World Fair in Chicago.

This series of articles has done justice to no phase of the Fair. It would be impossible to do so, even in a large volume. Suffice it to say that the Fair is educational, is worth your trip, your careful consideration and study of all exhibits. It is something that every American should see and there may not be another opportunity like it for you.

(A Light Love Story) SYNOPSIS

Faye Gullman and Leon Pearson met by accident during a gala downtown Hallowe'en celebration, and after a few happy care-free hourtogether helping celebrate the traditional holiday's evening, Leon took Faye to her home, only to discover that Fave lived in a large expensive mansion, more gorgeous than Leon had ever seen. Leon. a youg accountant for the Gulf Company, could hardly become absorbin his work the following day for thinking of Faye of whom he has suddenly grown fond. John Morgan, an elderly accountant, advisec-Leon to investigate the matter before falling too deeply in love with Faye, but Leon paid little heed to his admonitions.

> Now On With The Story CHAPTER II

He was with Faye that night, the next night, and every night for more than a week. They enjoyed bills at the Majestic and Metropolitan together. Twice they dined in town, and once they had driven to Sylvan Beach for a dance. They were planning an outing on Galveston Beach for the following Sunday. It was to be a great day for Leon, He could not pass the day withous over-indulging in thoughts of the girl he loved. During the course or the past week, Faye had lost some of her lively, care-free spirit. She was growing more serious—and at times she seemed to grow a lirtle worried, but it wasn't for long. Leon's guess was that she sometimes feared her parents would dislike her friendship with him. She had been very careful not to mention her family to him in any re-

Sunday morning, Faye sat in one of those big, artistic armchairs that seem to bury you when you sit in them. It was only nine o'clock but she was completely dressed. She possessed that air that is so easily seen on the face and in the mien of a person who is awaiting, with resignation, someone's arrival. By her side lay a rubber bag from which stuck part of a blue bathing

Her interest seemed negligible as she glanced from one item to another on the society page of the Sunday edition of The Press, but immediately an apprehensive expression grow on her face as she discovered an announcement that aroused her interest. She re-read the item. Her heart fluttered, skipped a beat-she turned pale. One wouldn't need be a psychoanalyse to see that Faye had found something which was a grave source of worry to her.

"Could he have seen this?" Faye was thinking aloud, but her thoughts were interrupted by the purr of a motor out in the driveway. Hurridly she folded and stuffed the paper behind the cushion of the chair in which she was sitting. She arose, picked up the bag at her side, and hurried to the door.

Leon was waiting for her. It has always been like this. He had never been inside the house as Faye was always ready to go-waiting for him. True it was strange; he had never known another girl to be ready when he called. Maybe it was because he had never known another girl who had as much letsure time as Faye surely must have; maybe it was because she loved to be with him. Whatever the reason might be, Leon didn't worry about it. It may have been for many reasons he thought; -- but true love's only investigations are those brought on by jealous suspicions There was nothing in this to make Leon jealous; on the contrary, he

"Ready?" he greeted. "Let's go," she smiled and took her place beside him with a little movement of the arms-raising and lowering them as if she sought relief from some uncomfortable pos-

It's my first time at Galveston," he announced enthusiastically, but with a little note of shame or embarrasment in his voice the feeling that always accompanies the self- conscious person who hates to admit his lack of travel.

"You'll be a little disappointed, but you'll enjoy it. It wasn't what I expected the first time I saw it, and I've never seen anyone that wasn't disappointed."

It was a pleasant morning. Coo. sea-breezes swept the shell roac. Gulf clouds hurried along near the son to be warm and not winter enough to be cold. Both Leon and Faye sniffed the salty air with deep satisfaction. The scenery was nothing to wonder at, and yet there was something fascinating about the low, flat, grassy land. It was so low in some places that it was almost a marsh. Leon couldn't decide just what kind of grass covered these praries, but the blades reminded thim of alternate long spears and great, flat battle-axes, except of course, they were only six or eight inches tall. It certainty must have strength; the breeze gave it a marching effect—waving spears and battle-axes. Here and there a palm, a magnolia, or a wile oleander grew by the road-side.

"I love this country this season of the year," Faye said, "but it gets terribly hot in the summer."

"It can't be much hotter than Central Texas," Leon Commentea. "Why, people would burn up if it

"But it gets so depressive here. It rains two or three times a day and you almost suffocate after each

'Well, I don't know the country, but the people " Leon turned to Fave with a significant smile.

Fave colored just a little. Alt her mischievousness had gone from her lately—at first Leon has been just company to her, but now it was different—she was growing more and more serious. Leon. however, was left to surmise or guess wildly. She never told him. "Oh, the people are all right-just like people anywhere else." "I had a special peson in mind--just one." Leon was looking at Faye admiringly, affectionately.

"Oh, by the way-" she was consciously avoiding anything further on the subject and what it would inevitably lead to,"-did you read The Press this morning?"

"Well, I glanced over it." Leon's tone was casual. It did not give Faye the desired relief. She hardly knew how much or what he would

"Did you see the society page " "No, it doesn't interest me very much. Why?"

"Oh, nothing especially. I thought maybe you had seen the marriage announcement-my girl friend, you know." Faye sighed as a sign of her relief but Leon evidently failed to notice it.

"Speaking of marriage

"No, let's not talk about any such thing." Faye was parrying him. Like all women she had her reason for it, but inwardly she was glad to see him so interested in the subject. It was a sure sign to her. day-let's not spoil it.'

The day was not spoiled. After lunch, the pair sought recreation in the water. It was a little colo but they did not mind. The breeze had grown brisker and the water was rough. Waves completely overpowered Leon until Faye, laughing heartily at his dismay, taught him to ride them abreast. A jellyfish caused Leon no little discomfort, but he drowned his troubles in the salty water while he and Faye rode out beyond the ropes on a float, laughing, playing, and splashing water. When they were tired or the water, they busied themselves picking up shells and pebbles and teasing the beautifully colored crabs which unfortunately strays out or the water onto the beach. Leon spent almost an hour looking for a star-fish but his search was in vain. After a ride on an excursion boat, two happy lovers spent the rest or the afternoon learning to run . rented motor-boat. Faye proved to be the better engineer at first, but Leon quick to learn.

At sundown a tired and hungry, but enthusiastically happy coupted lunched hurriedly on sandwiches. They had had a "swell time." The day's galety was ended with a pleasant drive home and a bill at the Majestic. It had been a perfect day for Leon-and for Faye, too, but she was more restrained in her expressions. It is a strange paradox; women always freely express their feelings to everyone but the person whom they love, while men rarely express their feelings to anyone except the person whom they love. Thus while Leon took great pains and many words to describe what an enjoyable day he had experienced, Faye was content to say, 'I enjoyed it too." But should there have been a girl friend present in whom she could have confided after Leon was gone, Faye would have bubbled over.

Faye awoke with a start. It was Monday morning and it must be late. Glaring sunlight flooded her room and hurt her eyes. She had been dreaming—it was terribly distasteful to her. She had dreamed that she had lost Leon. When she was fully awake, she felt relieved it had only been a dream.

Still there was an uncertain, dissatisfied feeling. Was it a premonition? Was her subconscious mind worrying? She couldn't account for it. There was nothing in his actions yesterday to even suggest such a thing. She smiled faintly at the worried thoughts that raced through her mind. She would like to tell herself that she did not love Leon, but deep in her heart was a feeling that wouldn't leave her. She knew

The strange dissatisfied feeling kept her uneasy all morning. She heard the postman .on the poren. Before he could finish putting the mail in the box, she opened the door. There were two letters audressed to Mr. D. M. Calloway, one to Mrs. D. M. Calloway, and one to Miss Faye Gullman. Faye walked to the massive library table, pulled open the drawer, and

and Mrs. Calloway inside. Hesttantly she tore open the letter to her. The handwriting was strange. Her usual impulse was to get a letter opened and read as quickly as possible, but now, she was in no hurry. Somehow she felt that she did not want to read the letter as all. Her hands were trembling; her heart thumped.

fense through out the game, featured by a scintillating 40 yard run by Joe Turner Hext in the third quarter the Eldorado High School Eagles ushered in the 1934 football season here last Saturday by defeating the Miles Bull Dogs 30 to 0

It was easily Eldorado's game from start to finish, Coach Little's boys were unable to present a single serious scoring threat during the entire play. Their defense was likewise poor as they permitted the Eagles to break through for long yardage at will.

Coach Williamson's charges reached pay-off dirt first early in the first quarter. After Hext had returned J. Ray's punt to Miles' forty yard line, the Eagles unleased a running attack which carried the ball over on ten successive plays, R. J. Alexander making the touch down. Alexander also tried for the extra point from placement but failed. Hext, Milton Spurgers, Paul Davis and Alexander were all participants in the ball carrying on this drive.

The second Eldorado score came late in the second quarter. At this stage the Eagles had the Bull Dogs back deep in their own territory. After a Miles running attack had failed to pick up yardage, J. Ray elected to punt. His kick was blocked by Edward Butler and Richard Jones recovered for Eldorado on Miles' 14 yard line. On six plays, with Hext and Alexander alternating in carrying the bah, the Eagles went over for a touchdown. Hext made this score. Alexander failed to convert a place kick into extra point. Eldorado scored twice in the third period. The first one coming immediately after the quarter got underway. It was Mile's ball on their own 20 yard line when Bill Smith kicked over the goal line on the kick-off. After three running plays were futile, J. Ray attempted to punt and had it blocked for the second time during the game. Alexander broke through and blocked the kick with John E. Rodgers

Some of the highlight plays or the gridiron the past week end:

The 94 yard run for a touchdown against Texas Tech by Bohn Hillard, sensational half back for the University of Texas Longhorns. The all around playing of Bill Couser, backfield star for the A. & M. Aggies against the Sam Houston Bearkats, Couser gained 100 yards on running plays, did some very potent passing which led for touchdowns and kicked two extra points after touchdowns.

The ball carrying of Robert Wilson and J. R. Smith, backfield stars for S. M. U.

Bill Wallace's 60 vard run for a touchdown in the Rice-Loyola game, Wallace is counted on to do bis things for the Rice Owls this year. The T. C. U. Horned Frog's could go no where on running plays, so they went to the air and surprise. even themselves with such productive passes.

Eastland High surprising every one by taking a 19 to 6 game from the San Angelo Bobcats own field.

The playing of R. J. Alexander and Joe Turner Hext in the Eldorado-Miles game. In our opinion, Alexander was the outstanding man on the field last Saturday. His work both on the offense and defense was great. Hext's 40 vard run for a touchdown was a gridiron honey. The Eagle quarterback was a consistent ground gainer through out the game.

WHAT THE FIRST GAME DOES FOR THE FOOTBALL TEAM Jack Hext

Many teams have a successful or a very poor football season because they either lost or won the first game.

To a bunch of boys who are fun of enthusiasm, confidence in them selves and willingness, the first game is an index to what they must do later in the season. A team of that type may be beaten badly in the first game but come back to win the state championship. Stufr like that is what makes champions and champions must have it. An they need is an idea of what they must do to come through.

On the other hand a member or of a team may not have the stufr required of champions and if beaten badly in the first game, they give

If the team should win by a large score it might think it could keep on winning that easily and soon the team would let up and start loafing in practice. Such a team would be worse off by becoming ragged and losing its enthusiasm. Other teams about them that have worked hard would soon be beating such a team. A team of this type that has won the first game by a score, should work that much so that they their stronger opponents by a larger score. As they go along, they will gain more confidence and the coach will not care how cocky this team may get.

The first game gives the fans and papers a line on the team and district champions are picked at the end of many first games, only to have the dope up-set in a big way later on,

The coach sees exactly what to do with his team; he gets his first view of what he has done and muss do. He may find some new man that will make a great player or find out that some one he thought was good was not so good.

The first game should be of more value to the members of the team itself to show them what they can or can't do and what it needs to do.

The Pep Squad this year elected a brunette and a blonde for leaders. The leaders who were elected were Imogene Evans and Margaret Pow-

This year the Pep Squad has forty-eight members. This is the largest Pep Squad Eldorado has ever had.

Miss Ford and Miss Knight are the Pep Squad sponsor. Miss Ford has had some real experience with the Pep Sqhad. She was Pep Squad leader of the Austin High School. Miss Knight has also had experience with the Pep Squad. She was one of the Pep Squad sponsors last year.

The school intends to adopt a uniform suit for the Pep Squad and the Drum and Bugle Corps. The school will buy the uniforms and a fee is charged to each member for the use of the uniform. The suits are to be used from year to

The Pep Squad and the Drum and Bugle Corp have united and they will be of very much help to each other on the football field.

Ray Long, who was painfully cut about the head recently through an accident which occured while he was away on a trip with his parents, is reported to be up and about again. The cut required several stitches to be taken in the boy's head. Ray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Long.

FOUR NEW TEACHERS IN ELDORADO SCHOG Louis Kerr

Eldorado has four new teachers this year. At least they are new to us. They are; Miss M. Ford, Mis-Hyde, Miss Taylor and Mr. Cook. Miss Ford teaches Spanish and Home Economics. She graduated from Austin High (It doesnt matter what year) and attended the Texas University. She has a B. S. degree and majored in Home Economics. Her home is at Goldtawaite, Texas, and she spends the summer there.

(No not at home but in Goldthwaite) Miss Ford saps that she has no favorite color-except red Miss Hyde has a B. A. degree from Howard Payne. She is teaching the fourth grade this year. Miss Hyde majored in history. From 1928 until 1932 she taught at San Angelo, Miss Hyde is a ved good teacher for she has had several years of experience. She attended Howard Payne last year where she spent part of the time teaching. She taught history last summer and she was also secreta-

Teacher. Her home is at Brownwood. Texas Miss Taylor is teaching the fifth grade and she is also in charge of the Bugle and Drum Corpe. She graduated from the Amarillo high school and afterwards attended the Amarillo Junior College. She also attended the University of Kansas and the West Texas Teachers' Corlege at Canyon, Texas. She has &

school musir. Mr. Cook is the Vocational Agriculture teacher here. He graduared from John Tarlton and from A. C. M. He has two degrees a B. S. degree and a M. S. degree from A & M. Mr. Cook majored in vocational Agriculture. His home is at Lampassas, Texas. With the exception of last summer, he spends all his summers there. Last summer, he went to A & M. Mr.

Cook is a very fine teacher. - Eagles' Screams -WHY I LIKE TO WORK IN THE LIBRARY Lois Whitley

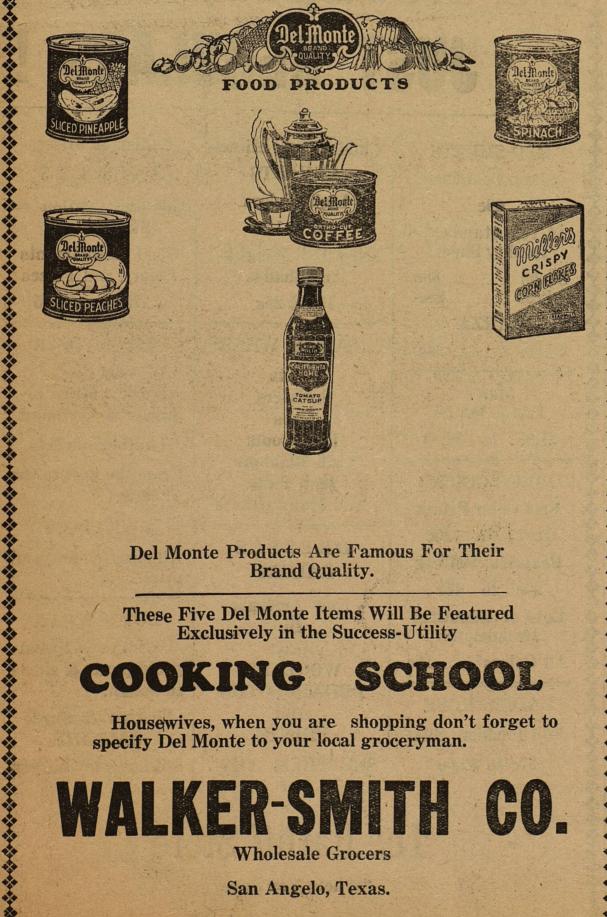

The high school library is just off the study hall in a small room about the size of a nice cloack room. Both walls are lined with book cases and a double book case stands in the center of the small floor space. A large table fills one corner and part of the wall space a chair is provided for the librarian. Students check out books at any time of he day when the library is

This year the high school girls take time about keeping the library. each having a period a week to do duty. It is one of the reliefs of school work. The girls enjoy the privilege of reading any of the books, and working on Home Economics Projects in the library which, of course, is not granted to any of the students in the library.

The main reason I like to keep the library because you get a good rest from the common study hall desk and is more restful in there. It affords protection from study hall keepers, as it is next to impossible for them to watch you while you chew gum, eat candy, or even talk to those in the study hall in your range of vision. Many of the girls (last year, before the new library rules were made out) enjoyed lengthy conversations with some particular football hero or the moment (in the girls estimation of course), and regular parties or four and five have assembled in the back of the library on some pretense or other to talk and make merry in a general (most generally noiseless) way.

This year I enjoy the library most because it is quiter than the study hall and since I have learned from past experience that study periods are more valuablle spent in studying and not talking, (or writing, notes from the always present Hi-School Beau, I like the work in the library this year best of all the three years that I have worked he the high school library, and all the girls are looking forward to morfun in the library when it is moved from the present nidhe to one or the big rooms down stairs.

Reaches Fame At 21

At the early age of 21, Paul Dean, younger member of the Dean brothtrs pitching of the St. Louis Cardinals, last week placed his name high in the Hall of Fame of Basball by pitching a no-hit, no-run game against the Brooklyn Dodgers. This is a highly coveted hono, which every big league pitcher strives to attain but few reach the goal. Some pitchers star in the big show year in and year out bue fail in the achievement of pitching the no-hit game. In so doing, young Dean adds another record to baseball history, in that he is the youngest pitcher to ever pitch a no-hit game in the big leagues. Another spectacular feature of the achievement is that this is Paul's first full season in the majors.

Dean's no-hit, no-run game is the first pitched in the big leagues since 1930 when Wesley Ferrell or Cleveland and Bob Burke of Washington turned the trick. Amongothers who have coveted the honor are: Teddy Lyons, Christy Matneson, Walter Johnson, Charley Robinson, Grover Cleveland Alexander and Ed Walsh.

recovering for Eldorado on the Bult Dogs' 10 yard line. From this stripe Hext and Smith carried the ball over on three line plays. Hext made the touchdown. Smith failed in attempting goal.

The second score of this quarter came on the high light play of the afternoon. After Miles had punted to their own 40 yard line, Hext, cut back over his own right tackle, and raced 40 yard for a touchdown.

The final marker came right after the fourth quarter got under way. Ardrian McDanials, subbing at a halfback position, intercepted J. Rays pass on Miles 35 yard line where he was downed. On the next play McDanials got loose with a brilliant 30 yard run around left end. This placed the ball on Miles 5 yard line. From there, McDanials, Hext and Alexander carried the ball over on four plays, Alexander making the touch down. Hext attempted a pass for the extra point but failed.

Beside the fine exhibition of ball carrying by Hext and McDanials, the work of Paul Davis, R. J. Alexander, and Milton Spurgers stood out in the Eagle backfield. Richard Jones and Captain Billie Kerrwere rather impressive at the wing positions, Harold Susen played a steady game at center while Fellx Susen, Edward Butler, Jack Shugart and John E. Rodgers all played a big part in the win at the tackle and guard positions.

For Miles, J. Ray in the backfield and McDonald at center were outstanding.

In looking over the game play by play we note that Eldorado ran 40 running plays for a total of 200 to be given away.

yards. Miles, in this respect used 18 running plays which netted them only 23½ yards. Eldorado tried 6 passes, one was completed for 5 yards and 5 were incomplete. In the aerial route, Miles tossed 14 passes, 6 were completed for 37 yards, 2 were intercepted and 5 were incomplete.

Eldorado piled up 16 first downs from the line of scrimmage to only 4 for Miles.

In the matter of penalties, Eldorado drew six for a total of 30 yards and Miles four for the same number of yards.

INTERMEDIATE B. T. S. TO ....
WORK IN TWO DIVISIONS

The Intermediate B. T. S. of the First Baptist church in Eldorado has been divided into two groups, arcording to age. The 13 and 14 year olds will be placed in a group lead by Mrs. Joab Campbell white the 15 and 16 year olds will be placed in group lead by Mrs. Geo. Williams. Each group will hold separate meetings but will use the same program outline. The divisions will be known as class A and class B. The two groups will hold different socials henceforth.

Last Sunday evening the two groups met jointly for the last time. There were about 25 young people present at the joint meeting sunday evening.

Young people of the ages 13-16 who are not attending religious services of this nature elsewhere are cordially invited to attend the Intermediate B. T. S. each Sunday evening.

Four Teachers Available For Adult Classes

Four teacher have signed applications for teaching adult education courses here according to Superintendent R. D. Holt who is in charge of the local project. Only three people, interested in furthering their education, have signed up for the class work according to Mr. Holt.

"If we can get enough people interested in continuing their education, we can get the word under way in the near future," Mr. Holz

The Federal government is paying the teachers who are employed on the project, and adults who have not had the advantages of a college education are urged by the government to take advantage of this unusual offer. There is no expense attached to the work, and it benefits are manifold. Persons who are interested in enlarging their earning capacities through further education should see Superintendent Holt at once. The classes are open to all who are not now enrolled in some other school.
