AN ECONOMIC TREASURE

The statisticians of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics and the Department of Labor have got it figured out that the average American farmer's income for 1934 was 20 percent higher than for 1933. 8 percent, that is to say $8 of every $100 of farm revenue, was benefit payments made by the Federal government. But according to these same statistics, the cost of the merchandise which the farmer has to buy average 8 percent more in 1934 than in 1933, so that the net gain in farm income figures out at 12 percent.

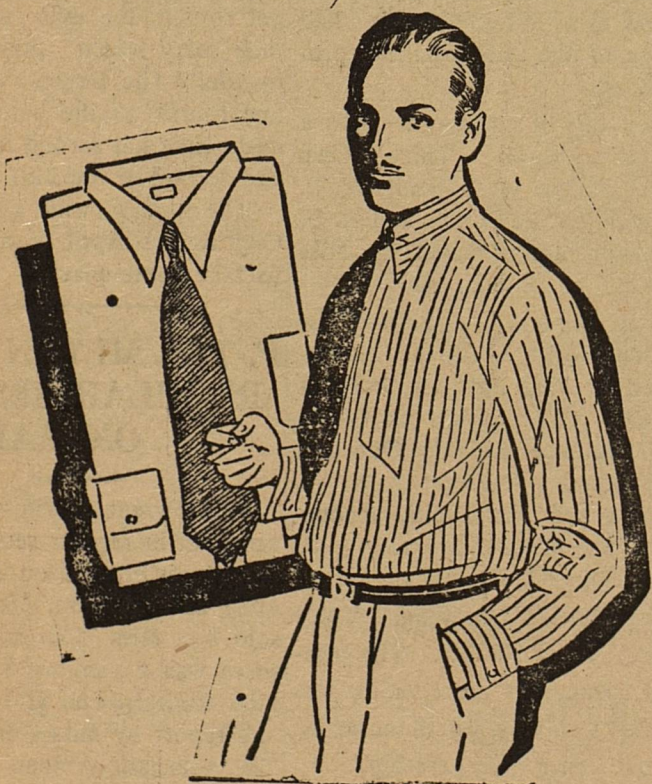

On the other hand, from other government sources come figures which indicate that the average net cash income of the people who have to buy farm products is down about 2 percent below the income of a year ago. We are somehow reminded of a year ago. We are somehow reminded of the philosophy of the late Wilkins Micawber whose sage advice to David Copperfield is one of the treasures, not alone of English literature, but of economic philosophy: "Income, 20 pounds, outgo 19 pounds sixpence; result, happiness. Income, 20 pounds, outgo 20.00 result, misery," said Mr. Micawber. It seems to us that an increasing number of town and city folks are finding themselves in Mr. Micawber's unfortunate predicament. The alphabetical combination which touches consumers more closely than all the rest of them is the familiar old H. C. L.—high cost of living.

We are certain that some folks are book lovers, judging from the way they hold on to ours. The rules some motorists need are the ones we used to get at school and in the same place. Success is often wrung from failure, but we must climb one rung at a time.

Texas Lady Tells How Black-Draught Laxative Helps All Her Family

Here's how Black-Draught fills the needs of a family laxative in the home of Mrs. J. S. Stoker, Fort Worth, Texas: "The grown-ups in my family," she writes, "have always taken powdered Theodor's Black-Draught for biliousness, headaches and other ailments (due to constipation) and found it a reliable remedy. I was very pleased when I saw Syrup of Black-Draught advertised. I bought it and gave it to my little daughters, ages 6 and 4. They needed something to cleanse their systems and Syrup of Black-Draught acted well." . . . Your druggist sells this reliable laxative in both forms. "Children like the Syrup."

SENIORS TO PORTRAY "ABSLOM HAWKES"

Absolom Hawkes is one of the leading characters in the Senior play, "The Ghost Parade," for 1935. He is a cantankerous old fellow about sixty, domineering and quarrelsome, but is not so bad underneath. He wears an old suit that was out of date 15 years ago and carries a heavy walking stick which he uses to emphasize his remarks.

Absolom is very much interested in buying a certain hotel from the heiress for "sentimental" reasons although he never was sentimental. He knew that his half-brother had a buried treasure on the place, and . . . watch for other characters of the play!

P.-T. A. MEET

next year: Mrs. Robert Milligan, president; Mrs. Elizabeth Hefley, first vice-president; Mrs. Payne Robinson, second vice-president; Mrs. John Williams, third vice-president; Miss Willie Allen, secretary; Miss Chris Enochs, treasurer; Mrs. Luke Thompson, chairman of the Publicity Committee; and Mrs. H. W. Wiedenmann, parliamentarian. The officers were unanimously elected.

In a very interesting program the theme of which was "The Adolescent Child," Mrs. Mattie Royster opened the discussion with a very valuable talk on "The Adolescent and His companions" in which she pointed out the good effect of group companionship and the importance of the careful choice of companions for the adolescent. Mrs. Royster emphasized that the tendency of adolescent boys and girls to get a "crush" on only one person was a bad one.

Miss Grace Hyde next gave an interesting report on "Why Do Boys and Girls Play Truant?" Miss Hyde brought out the fact that too often we fail to notice that in many cases the truant child has truant parents who are just as irresponsible as their children and who encourage their children very little. She gave as some of the causes for truancies: fallacies in the school organization, the personality of the teacher, the overaged pupil and incompetent mothers and irresponsible fathers.

Mrs. Milligan, president of the organization gave a very valuable report on the Child Welfare Conference which she attended in Austin. Mrs. Milligan brought out in a brief summary the high points in the talks of all important speakers. In conclusion, Mrs. Milligan told a story which Dr. L. H. Hubbard, President of the Texas State College for Women, told at the conference the main thought of which was that in our great hurry through life we fail to notice the needs and wants of the little child and leave him to take care of himself. There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

NEWLY MARRIED COUPLE HONORED WITH SHOWER

Mr. and Mrs. Hayne Graves were honored with a party and shower Saturday afternoon at the Baptist Church. Before her marriage Mrs. Graves was Miss Marie Harrison of Uvalde. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Graves of this city. The couple is at home here where Mr. Graves is an employe of the Texaco Company.

The church was decorated in Easter colors of pink and green and spring flowers. The Y. W. A. had charge of the program. C. F. Jones gave a musical selection, "Jolly Darkies". "Comedy in Errors" was the reading given by Anna Florence Page. Ruby Quinn gave a musical selection, "Longing". Several contests were played at the conclusion of which the judges announced the winners. The honored couple were named and presented with a key. They were told to find the door which the key would fit. When found the room contained gifts of all descriptions to help the couple begin housekeeping.

After the gifts were opened refreshments of punch and cake were served by the hostess Mrs. O. E. Conner and Mrs. John Davis to a number of Eldorado guests and Mrs. E. L. Garvin and Mrs. Floyd Duncan of Sonora; and Mrs. Clifford Taylor of San Angelo.

BIBLE CLASS

ENTERTAIN

The men of the Bible Class of the Presbyterian Sunday School paid a debt on last Tuesday evening. Last summer they were losers in an attendance contest with the ladies, and as losers had to assume the responsibility of providing a supper for all the class. They proved what good losers they are by the supper they gave Tuesday night in the basement of the church. Four gallons of oysters, served 'according to your taste', and with all the trimmings, were provided for the forty guests present. There are reports that as many as seven dozen were eaten by one person. With Lark McClary as 'head cook' and Edwin Jackson as 'head waiter' and general supervisor, and a number of active committees the entertainment was carried out in fine style, and the ladies say, "it was the best time we've had yet."

MRS. MILLIGAN HOSTESS TO SELF-CULTURE CLUB

Possible Reorganization of the Household was the subject of the program of the Self-Culture Club at a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Milligan.

After the business session, Mrs. Reuben Dickens as leader, lead a discussion on the program topic. A round table discussion was held on the following questions: "What are the most satisfactory financial relations between husband and wife?"; "Can a Woman who has to ask for money be a free moral agent?"; "What is the effect of economic dependence upon character? Mrs. Bill McSwain read a paper on "What is the effect upon family life of having control of family finance in the hands of the husband and father?"

Miss John Alexander conducted a parliamentary drill. The roll call was answered with a news item.

Refreshments were served to 14 members and Mrs. J. L. McElory a guest.
