

Lions Club Holds First Session Of New Year

New Officers of Club In Charge of Program; Directors Make Plans

The Eldorado Lions Club held its regular meeting Wednesday noon at the Hotel Eldo, with the newly installed officers for the ensuing year in charge of the meeting.

A musical program was presented by Miss Maxine Wilton, at the piano, and Miss Johnnie Fern Isaacs, who sang. The numbers presented by these talented musicians were very much enjoyed and appreciated.

A medal was awarded to Joe Turner Hext for outstanding work both in athletics and in his classes. The medal was awarded by the Lions Club, and presentation was made by Rev. A. J. Quinn.

All committees of the club reported on the work of the past year, and chairmen will be appointed to select their committees for the ensuing year.

The clean-up committee reported work progressing on the streets in the business section, each merchant paying for cleaning the street in front of his place of business.

The rodeo committee reported work well under way for the rodeo to be held here in July, and stated that definite announcements as to the program will be made soon.

A meeting of the directors was held immediately following the club meeting, at which time plans for the work of the club during the coming year were discussed.

Miss Violet Lee Tuck underwent an operation in a San Angelo hospital Monday. She is reported to be recovering nicely.

CCC Camps To Enroll Only Relief Clients

Selection of Texas boys for enrollment in CCC camps will be confined hereafter strictly to the young men whose families are on the relief rolls, it has been announced by Neal E. Guy, enrollment supervisor for the state.

Federal officials have rescinded all instructions which formerly provided for enrollment of worthy unemployed boys and so-called "border line" cases.

"Henceforth we may admit to CCC camps only applicants who can make a proper allotment to dependents. It has been ordered that those selected for enrollment must in every case represent families on the public relief rolls. This means that in the approaching enrollment period, the 12,000 young Texans taken into the camps should represent 12,000 families removed from the relief rolls."

Counties unable to supply their quotas from relief roll families will not be permitted to select non-relief applicants, but will notify the state allotment officer, who will fill the quota from a county which has more eligible candidates than its quota will allow it to choose.

J. W. Doak, cotton assistant of San Angelo, is in Eldorado this week checking cotton records.

Securities Defined By New State Law

What is a security?

Under the new Texas law regulating the sale of securities, the term includes any form of stocks, bonds, mortgage certificates, any form of commercial paper, any certificate in or under a profit sharing or participation agreement, lease or royalty interest in an oil, gas or mining property. In addition there are many less-known forms of securities.

CITY COUNCIL IN REGULAR SESSION

The city council met in regular session on Tuesday night, with J. L. Ratliff, A. J. Roach, J. S. Loyd, George W. Long and Mayor A. T. Wright present, and L. L. Baker absent.

A sewer system for Eldorado was discussed with a view of trying to secure government aid in installing such a system, but it was decided that it would be impossible to put in a sewer system with the present water system. The matter was passed over until the next regular meeting.

The matter of electing a tax assessor, marshal and pound keeper, or combining these offices into one, was passed over until the next meeting.

The city secretary was instructed to notify Westner & Muller-Davis that unless some definite action was taken to secure commercial gas for Eldorado, their franchise would be cancelled by the city council at the regular July meeting.

It was voted to publish the financial report of the committee, with explanation, in next week's Success, and urge the people to pay up their delinquent taxes.

Men Of Presbyterian Church Hold Supper

The men of the church had their monthly supper and program at the Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening.

Due to the busy season the attendance was small, but the ladies served a delightful supper, and a worth-while program was rendered.

Mrs. Mabel Parker and son have just returned from a short visit with friends and relatives at Robert Lee. Mrs. Parker's mother, Mrs. Bettie Tubb, remained there for a longer visit.

Farmers Go Ahead On Adjustment Program

College Station.— Farmers of Texas are carrying on adjustment programs regardless of all rumors that the recent Supreme Court decision endangers AAA, and more than 70,000 new contract signers have shown up this year in the various commodities, according to George E. Adams, assistant stage agent of the Texas Extension Service.

Adams reported that he traveled thru 26 counties last week, including the lower Rio Grande Valley, and in all of them the farmers are going ahead with the programs.

Confirming them in their confidence, Secretary Wallace issued the following statement a few days ago:

"In co-operation with the leaders of Congress, amendments to the Agricultural Adjustment Act are being perfected which are intended to bring the act's provisions as to marketing and licenses into line with the Schechter case decision, and also to safeguard the farmers' voluntary adjustment program on basic commodities.

"These voluntary adjustment programs were not in the path of the Schechter case decision, and in no event could there be any question as to the government's ability to fulfill its contract with the farmers.

"Nevertheless, we have taken advantage of the decision to seek perfections in the law which will make certain the government's authority to continue processing tax rates in accordance with the amended provisions of the act."

THE RIGHT TO EAT

The human race has come a long way since primitive times, when it was the custom to kill off the old and disabled of both sexes, to drown superfluous babies like so many kittens, and in general to compel everybody to shift for himself regardless of his needs. It was nobody's business whether a man starved to death or not in the old days.

The modern world has been coming, thru the past thousand years, to a more humane view of the responsibilities of society to its unfortunates. The parable of the Good Samaritan, and the other teachings of Jesus Christ, have been a tremendous influence, even upon a world which falls far short of the Christian ideal in other matters. There is a far broader recognition of the duty of everybody to give a helping hand to the sufferers from disease or accident, and to those who for any reason other than their own shiftlessness find themselves lacking in the necessities of life, food and shelter.

We sometimes wonder, however, whether there is not a growing tendency to extend this Christianism too far. We think it is time to give consideration to the words of Saint Paul, in his second epistle to the Thessalonians: "This we command you, that if any would not work, neither should he eat."

We hear from all sides reports of men and women "on relief" who refuse to take jobs that are offered to them preferring to live at the expense of the public rather than to make an effort to help themselves. We hear of others who quit jobs to "go on relief." We do not know how widespread this situation is, but from all accounts it is pretty extensive.

Nobody should be allowed to starve in free America, but nobody who is offered work and refuses to take it should be treated as if he had a right to hold up his head among honest, industrious workers. Such individuals have thrown away whatever right they had, and ought to be regarded as what they are, objects of public charity, and allowed only the bare necessities of existence.

Saint Paul saw clearly the problem which to many well-meaning persons today is blurred by a fog of sentimentalism. —

It takes a great character to

POWER IN CONSTITUTION

In these troubled times, safety should be the keynote of every action. Public confidence is at a low ebb, and whatever is done should tend to build up that confidence.

The American constitution is the basis of our existence as a nation, and is safe. Anything that leads away from it is apt to lead to disorder and trouble. The only departure that has been made has been for temporary relief, but that relief is bought at too high a price if it involves the sacrifice of principles upon which our existence is founded.

The governor of Texas, whom the people of Texas will listen to if not believe, has said substantially the same thing, but in a clearer, more forceful way. Constitutional authority ought always to be the only basis for action, as it is the basis of our national liberties.

Only by close adherence to the powers vested in the departments of our government can the public be sure of their government, thus building up the needed confidence.

We may not prosper so readily and with such ease, but at least we can then be sure of our ground and will not have the foundations of our structure dragged from under us.—Eden

TRANSIENTS URGED TO STAY OFF HIGHWAYS

Transients, particularly those originating within the state, have been urged to settle down and stay off the road by Adam R.
Johnson, state relief administrator.

Federal officials have appealed to railroads and to autoists to refuse free transportation to transients, and several legislatures recently have passed anti-hitchhiking laws.

"Unless they have a job waiting for them somewhere, Texan contemplating hitchhiking trip ought to stay at home," Johnson declared. "Other states and other counties have their own unemployed to provide for, and transients will find conditions no better at distant p ints.

"Transients themselves are exposed to injury and disease in some of the overnight stops along the road. People who offer free transportation are sometimes assaulted before they reach their destinations.

"For these reasons, we urge all tourists to refuse free transportation to hitch-hikers. In like manner we advise against hand-outs and small cash donations to persons making house-to-house canvasses."

Transients already on the road are advised to go to their homes or to the nearest transient division camp. These camps are located near the division depots in all the larger cities of the state.

The Gran Chaco War ended last Friday, but the 100,000 dead Paraguayans and Bolivians did not require official confirmation.

A few rainless days have passed, and Texas is beginning to take stock of the damage done by the flooded rivers during the past ten days. From all accounts it has been plenty. Sometimes a location up above the head of the water courses has its advantages, after all, even if it does interfere painfully with the fishing.

C. Snell wanted us to figure out in this column how many mosquitoes per square inch would be produced by the lakes around in the neighborhood of the city during the next few weeks. It's just a little bit beyond our powers, as we've never learned to use fourth dimensional mathematics and we don't believe any other kind has enough figures for the purpose.

We're pretty sure that our room was jammed to the limit of its capacity with skeeters for several nights last week. The pesky crit-ters don't even notice a "Standing Room Only" sign; they just keep packing in. And every one of 'em gets a bite, too. We wonder what'll happen when the real main army gets here, since folks say there are only a few on the job now.

We hear talk of controlling them by putting oil on the lakes. We don't claim to know, but it looks to us like it would bankrupt the state to cover all the water in sight in and close to town, not to mention the lakes further out in the county. And we believe that those skeeters from the rural districts are just as carnivorous as the city-bred ones.

It's our impression that somethin' oughter be done about it, but we don't know what that something would be. We'll leave it to the proper authorities.

In the Melvin Enterprise, edited by our friend T. W. Parker, we noticed an item last week the like of which we haven't seen in a number of years. It stated that everybody was at work, and that labor was being imported to take care of the work that had to be done on the farms. Now does that sound like prosperity, or are we just imagining things?

And in the Brady papers we notice that over a hundred thousand dollars has been spent in that city since the first of the year on new building and remodeling. It looks like West Texas is really coming out of the depression and showing the rest of the world the way.
Isn't it about time for Eldorado to start something along the line of building and remodeling? It's a mighty good way to start money to circulating.

Seems like the wool market is coming to life right considerably during recent days. We don't claim to know much about wool, or anything else, for that matter, but considering the number of sheep that were victims of the drouth last year in one way and another, and the short lamb crop reported in many sections this spring, we sort of look for a real good price for wool within the next twelve months. If we had any spare cash we might even buy us a sheep, we're that optimistic.

TIRES MAY LOOK ALIKE ON THE OUTSIDE ON THE INSIDE THEY ARE DIFFERENT

HEAT on the inside created by friction is the main cause of blowouts. Firestone Tires are different on the inside—they are built with the patented extra process of Gum-Dipping that soaks every cord and insulates every strand with pure liquid rubber, preventing internal friction and heat. No other make of tire is Gum-Dipped.

Firestone performance records again emphasize the undisputed evidence that Firestone Tires are not only blowout-proof, but give greatest protection against skidding. There are three questions and answers that will solve the problem of what tires to buy:

QUESTION 1—"Will the tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"
ANSWER—Recent tests by a leading University show that Firestone High Speed Non-Skid Tires stop a car 15% quicker than any other of the leading makes. For eight consecutive years Firestone Tires have been on the winning car in the dangerous Pike's Peak Race where a skid means death. This is undisputed evidence that Firestone gives car owners greatest protection against skidding.

QUESTION 2—"Are they blowout-proof?" ANSWER—Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have the most amazing records for being blowout-proof of any tires ever built. In the gruelling 500-Mile Race at Indianapolis, May 30th, every one of the 33 cars was equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. Not one of the 33 drivers had any tire trouble of any kind.

Ab Jenkins drove his 5,000 pound car on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires over the hot salt beds of Utah, 3,000 miles at 127.2 miles per hour, with temperatures as high as 120°, without tire trouble of any kind. These are most amazing proofs of blowout protection ever known.

QUESTION 3—"Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"
ANSWER—Firestone High Speed Tires not only give you more than 50% longer wear, but also lowest cost per mile due to the tough, wear-resisting tread built with higher shoulders and a wider, flatter contour. This rugged tread is held securely to the Gum-Dipped cord body by Firestone's patented construction of two extra layers of cords under the tread, a special construction feature not used in any other tire. Unequalled mileage records by thousands of car owners add undisputed evidence of longer wear and greater economy of Firestone High Speed Tires.

Nervous, Weak Woman Soon All Right

"I had regular shaking spells from nervousness," writes Mrs. Cora Sanders, of Paragould, Ark. "I was all run-down and cramped at my time until I would have to go to bed. After my first bottle of Cardui, I was better. I kept taking Cardui and soon I was all right. The shaking quit and I did not cramp. I felt worlds better. I gave Cardui to my daughter who was in about the same condition and she was soon all right."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

THE SAME COUNTRY

By ROBERT V. FLEMING
Vice President, American Bankers Association

R. V. FLEMING

The Greatest Difficulty

I think the greatest difficulty we have to overcome in America today is due to our impatience with the progress we are making towards recovery. We must realize that while the Government can help by directing some measures for relief and recovery, we must help ourselves by doing our share to give impetus to the Government's efforts. We have the same country and basically the same businesses, factories and people we had prior to the depression, and business initiative must step forward if real recovery is to be achieved.

The theory we often hear expressed that banks create business activity is wrong. Banking can only make a supplementary contribution to business activity. Bankers have the facilities and the desire to extend credit, but business must initiate activity by seeking the credit which is readily available to all worthy borrowers.

Let it be said for business, however, that business men are as eager as bankers to contribute towards recovery. I think some of the trouble lies in the fact that too many legislative measures have been proposed for reform which leave an uncertainty in the minds of business leaders as to their eventual outcome and effect. Consequently, they hesitate to expand until the probable effects of such legislation are known.

MAKING IT HARDER FOR BANK ROBBERS

Mechanical Devices That Impede the Work of Bandits Described by Bankers Association Official.

The impediments which the hard working bank robber now meets in plying his trade among small as well as large banks are described by James E. Baum, Deputy Manager American Bankers Association in charge of its Protective Department, in an article in "Banking" published by his organization.

"Protective equipment will minimize if not prevent loss," Mr. Baum says, "such as the silent automatic type of alarm, approved tear gas systems, several styles of bandit resisting enclosures and time locks, or safes equipped with time locks, which can be set for intervals of a few minutes.

"The silent automatic alarms operate in the beginning of a holdup and through actions carried out by the bank employees in obedience to the bandits' own commands. They are adaptable to the smaller banks which continue to be easiest targets for bank robbery.

Tear Gas Systems

"Tear gas systems have their advantages as self-contained protective units where outside aid is inconvenient or too remote from the bank to be effective. One objection to the use of tear gas in preventing holdups is the need of pressing a lever or button to discharge it. Although this necessary action seems too much to expect of the victims in a crisis where their lives are in jeopardy, the fact remains that tear gas systems have defeated bank robbery. Its deterrent value is also important.

"Different styles of bandit resisting enclosures are available. The lock manufacturers also produce time locks which can be set to open at intervals of five minutes or longer. These locks are especially adapted for attachment to small safes or chests for safeguarding surplus funds while the bank is open for business."

Stock of Central Banks Usually Privately Owned

Of all the central banks at present existing there are only four whose stock is owned by the government. The newest central bank is that of Canada, which opened its doors only a few months ago after a most exhaustive study had been made of the experience of all nations with the result that the stock of the Bank of Canada is privately owned.

Agriculture and Industry

Returns for the first quarter of 1935 for industrial corporations publishing quarterly reports show net profits 21 per cent more than for the same in 1934. The total farm value of all important crops, exclusive of livestock, rose in 1934 to $4,732,423,000, as compared with $4,114,265,000 in the previous year and $2,882,195,000 in 1932.

GOVERNMENT BANK UNSUITED TO U. S.

Would Serve Politics Rather Than Business Needs, Says R. S. Hecht, Citing Previous Experiences.

QUOTES PRESIDENT JACKSON

Extent and Diversity of This Country Presents Different Situation From Europe and Makes Regional Banking Necessary.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A refutation of arguments in favor of a government-owned central bank system for the United States is presented in a statement by R. S. Hecht, President of the American Bankers Association, based on exhaustive studies of European central banks. He also points out the disastrous consequences of previous central bank experiments in the United States.

"Our present regional Federal Reserve System under private ownership is infinitely better for this country than would be a government-owned and controlled central bank," Mr. Hecht says. "If history teaches us anything, it is that it is almost certain that a central bank so owned would be run to meet the varying exigencies of the government in power rather than to serve the commercial needs of the country."

Central banking has been tried twice in the United States, but was finally abolished because the credit control which the central banks exercised became objectionable and unpopular, he goes on to say.

What Andrew Jackson Said

"The continued existence of the Second Bank finally became a bitter political issue and President Jackson succeeded in abolishing it," Mr. Hecht says. "Permit me to quote from his farewell address: 'The immense capital and peculiar privileges bestowed upon it enabled it to exercise despotic sway over the other banks in every part of the country. From its superior strength it could seriously injure, if not destroy, the business of any of them which might incur its resentment. . . . If you had not conquered, the government would have passed from the hands of the many to the hands of the few; and this organized money power, from its secret conclave, would have dictated the choice of your highest officers. . . . The forms of your government might, for a time, have remained, but its living spirit would have departed from it.'"

When the Wilson Administration considered banking reform it carefully kept away from vesting central banking powers in a single institution and instead introduced the regional idea by creating twelve reserve banks located in different economic and geographical sections of the country, Mr. Hecht says, a plan that has worked exceedingly well because the separate banks are under the guidance of men chosen on account of their intimate acquaintance with the problems and needs of their respective territories. He continues:

"The great size and diversity of America tends to make a central bank undesirable. The central banks of Europe such as the Banks of England, France and Germany, cover areas not as large as some of our states. A central bank in the United States on the other hand would be called upon to administer the financial policies of an area larger than all of Europe, in which there are quite a number of central banks.

Subservient to Popular Demands

"Moreover, history has proven that any banking system entirely owned and dominated by the government usually demonstrates much greater ability in aiding expansion of credit than in putting on the brakes at the right time to prevent undue inflation by restraining and contracting credit. This is easy to understand because in times of depression everyone is urging the government to make money and credit easy and to encourage expansion.

"On the other hand, it always has been and always will be a difficult task for any government to call a halt in time of apparent prosperity because in the very nature of things the government would be very sensitive to public criticism and would hesitate to take any action which would tend to curtail business activity. It is such undue susceptibility to popular demands which makes government banking inherently weak.

"Our studies show that of all the central banks at present existing there are only four whose stock is owned by the government. The newest central bank is that of Canada, which opened its doors only a few months ago after a most exhaustive study had been made of the experience of all nations with the result that the stock of the Bank of Canada is privately owned."

The American Bankers Association, Mr. Hecht says, is convinced that a central bank would not be in the interest of the public or the banks. This position, he added, is "well understood by the President and the leaders in his Administration for we have been absolutely frank with them in all of our discussions and have missed no opportunity for emphasizing that in our opinion no banking system will, in the long run, be sound if it is dominated entirely by the ever-changing political administrations. We should do all we can to keep our banking mechanism as far removed from partisan politics as possible."

ELECTRIC POWER

An Item that has not Increased

Through the American principle of private initiative in business, electric rate reductions have been continued along with improvement in service. According to the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics electric service costs for the United States as a whole are now 39% lower, while the cost of living now is 38% higher than in 1913.

According to the National Industrial Conference Board, food is now 25% higher than 1933, clothing 22% higher, and rent 8% higher. Total taxes, including the numerous Federal taxes the consumers pay indirectly, have increased at an alarming rate and for the average family now amount to more than ten times the cost of electric service.

Net average rate for all the 160 communities served by the West Texas Utilities Company is today more than 60% below that of 1923.

Electric service is cheap. You should use more of it.
