

Centennial Plans Are Discussed At Meeting Here Monday Night

Plans Under Way To Draw Tourist Trade To Schleicher County

A meeting of the general committee in charge of Schleicher county's part in the Texas Centennial was held at the Hotel Eldo on Monday night, May 27, at which time further plans were discussed for the big celebration.

Judge A. J. Whitten, general chairman of the committee made an interesting talk on the possibilities arising out of the Centennial, stressing the fact that many thousands of tourists will be attracted to every part of Texas, that they will spend and invest a large amount of money in the state, and that those communities which present the best and most attractive appearance to the visitors can expect to reap a larger harvest of tourist dollars in consequence.

Committee chairmen present and reporting were F. M. Bradley on the sheep and cattle industry; Mrs. Dollie Edmiston on home demonstration club work; Mrs. Ernest C. Hill, local member of the State Centennial Committee; J. Carlton Smith who takes Supt. Holt's place in directing the work of the Parent Teacher Association; E. C. Hill, highway beautification work; C. S. McKinney, publicity, and A. T. Wright, directing the work of the churches in the Centennial program.

The next meeting of the committee will be held on the last Monday in June, at which time the various chairmen expect to have definite progress to report in their respective lines.

LIONS DISCUSS PLANS FOR RODEO IN JULY

At the regular weekly meeting of the Eldorado Lions Club, held Wednesday noon at the Hotel Eldo, further plans were made for the annual rodeo, the date for which has been set as July 25.

E. C. Hill, who has successfully directed the rodeo for the past two years, was again named general chairman in charge of all arrangements. Mr. Hill named as his assistants Don McCormick and Joab Campbell, who will assist in the general arrangements. Other committees will be appointed in the near future to look after various details of the celebration.

A big barbecue is being planned, with all the usual rodeo attractions, and the event will be widely advertised thruout this and neighboring counties. It is expected that this year's rodeo will draw one of the largest crowds ever assembled in Eldorado, and the Lions Club is preparing to offer the best entertainment ever presented here.

Other matters discussed included the presentation of medals to students of the Eldorado schools who made outstanding records during the past year, both in athletics and in school work. County Agent C. Snell, chairman of the medal committee, announced that suitable medals have been ordered, and will be presented to the winners at a future meeting of the club.

Plans were also made for the installation of officers for the ensuing year, which will be held on the night of June 11. Ladies' night will be observed at the same time.

An official visit to the club was made by Blackstone Smith of Junction, group chairman, who gave an interesting talk and offered valuable suggestions to the local club on plans for the rodeo.

remodeling and painting jobs in the vicinity shows an encouraging increase.

Among the projects on which work is going forward is the Eldorado Wool Warehouse, where the roof is being thoroughly repaired and painted. L. B. McClary is in charge of this work.

The residence of Sam E. Jones in the northern part of Eldorado is the scene of remodeling, repairs and painting, which will add much to the appearance and the convenience of this attractive home.

On the Thompson Bros. ranch the residence occupied by Dick Lawhon is receiving a coat of paint in the interior. The work is being done by Joe Chitty.

The home of A. K. Bailey, west of Eldorado is being remodeled, the work including a new roof, painting and papering.

A number of other homes and business houses are to be remodeled and painted in the near future, and local lumber yards and workmen are looking forward to a busy season.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Watson and Miss Amelia McCartney visited in Abilene the first of this week. Miss McCartney will remain for a visit with her sister there.

Teachers For Local Vacancies Elected At Board Meeting

Home Economics Dept. Head To Be Selected At Later Session

At a called meeting of the local board of education on Tuesday night, May 28, existing vacancies in both the grades and the high school were filled.

Helen Connell of Brownwood was selected as the first grade teacher. Mrs. Connell will receive her B. A. degree during the coming summer, majoring in education and primary education. She has taught near Ballinger for the past two years, and has had a number of years of teaching experience in first grade work. Mrs. Connell comes highly recommended by those who know of her college work, and by her local and state supervisors who know of her teaching experience.

Miss Annie Herbert, now teaching at Alexander, comes into town as the fourth grade teacher. Miss Herbert has had long and varied experience in teaching grade work, and has taught the fourth grade seven years. Miss Herbert formerly taught at Bailey Ranch, and local patrons are familiar with the work she has been doing during the past few years. She has been very successful in the past with coaching Interscholastic League work.

Mr. Don Q. Adams of Navasota, who is at present coach of Navasota high school, was selected as head athletic coach for the ensuing year. Mr. Adams has his degree in Spanish and history from Southwestern University at Georgetown, and has done graduate work in the field of physical education at Missouri University, Southwestern University, and at Texas A. & M. College. Mr. Adams has coached for the past six years at Hull-Daisetta, Prairie Lea and Navasota, in both Class B and Class A football. He has attended coaching schools at Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois; Missouri University; and two schools at Texas A. & M., one under Bell and one under Norton. Mr. Adams comes very highly recommended as an excellent coach and teacher.

The science department will be in charge of Mr. Tom D. Riddle, who for the past five years has served in the same capacity in the Merkel high school. He has his B. A. degree in science from Hardin-Simmons University, and in addition has done two summers of post-graduate work. Mr. Riddle comes highly recommended by his teachers in the science department at Hardin-Simmons, and by his present principal and superintendent. He is a married man with three children.

Action was deferred in selecting a teacher of vocational home economics until further investigation is made into the records of one or two of the highest-ranking applicants. A teacher was tentatively selected, subject to recommendations and suggestions from the state department.

A special effort was made to choose the most highly qualified and experienced teacher for every existing vacancy, and the new teachers selected, together with the present members of the school staff, should give the local (See No. 1, Last Page)

LOCAL SCOUTS ENJOY CAMP AT LOUIS FARR

A group of Eldorado Boy Scouts left Sunday for Camp Louis Farr, the Scout camp near Mertzon, where they are spending this week in gaining actual experience in camp life.

The local boys made a high mark on camp inspection, which was held at 8:30 Monday morning, and also won table honors at the noon meal on Monday.

Advancement and merit badge tests will be given to each Scout, as well as one or two of the degrees in the new four-year camping program which is beginning this year. Those who attend the camps this year will have a wonderful opportunity to learn real Scouting. A good time is not forgotten, but the entire week's program is so arranged that not an idle hour is to be found.

The boys will have plenty to eat, and the camp food, as always, is of the very highest quality obtainable. The diet is carefully arranged to insure that no necessary element is lacking.

Regular hours for recreation, work and sleep are another most important feature of the camp routine.

M. C. Laird was appointed as acting Scoutmaster, Bob Bradley, assistant, and J. T. Ballew, secretary. One of the troop committee will be with the boys each night, as it is planned to give each of the committeemen the benefit of coming into personal touch with real Scout work.

The Eldorado Scouts at camp are of the following ranks:

M. C. Laird, Bob Bradley and John T. Ballew, Life Scouts; Willie Bridgeman, Star Scout; Joe Ed Hill, first class; Gardner McCormick and Hugh D. Craig, second class; Abrau Millar, Marshal Bailey, tenderfoot.

Scouts from several other towns of the Concho Valley Council are at Camp Louis Farr during this, the first week of the encampment, and other towns will send their troops in succeeding weeks of the period.

Pension Amendment Draws First Place On Official State Ballot

The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to provide an old age pension system drew place No. 1 Wednesday at a public drawing held in Austin to determine the order in which the amendments to be voted on August 24 should appear on the ballot.

The drawing was held in the office of Gerald C. Mann, secretary of state, in accordance with a law passed by the last session of the legislature.

The amendment authorizing commitment of persons to state hospitals for observation without trial by jury drew place No. 2, and that modifying constitutional prohibition of alcoholic liquors received place No. 3.

Other amendments and their places in order on the ballot are as follows:

Authorizing the submission of constitutional amendments at special sessions of the legislature.

Authorizing trial judges to extend suspended sentences, place defendants on probation, and revoke suspended sentences for cause.

Abolishing the fee system as a basis of compensating public officials and substituting the salary plan.

Authorizing the state to supply free text books to private as well as public schools.

In the past the secretary of state has certified the amendments to county election officials in the order he chose, and the officials, in the absence of a specific mandate by law, have followed the certification or disregarded it as they chose.

Miss Lodice Putman, who has been attending school at Santa Rita, is at home for the summer months.

Wool Being Sold At The Local Warehouse During This Week

Market Active At Price Averaging 25 Cents; Rain Delays Shearing

The Eldorado Wool Company sold during this week and at the close of the previous week approximately 200,000 pounds of wool. Among the purchasers were listed Tom Richey, 50,000 pounds; Jos. Walker, 50,000 pounds; and Max Robin, 100,000 pounds. Prices are reported to range from 24 1-2 to 25 1-2 cents per pound.

Shearing has been delayed by rains, and it is estimated that the Schleicher county clip is very little over one-third shorn. The local warehouse has received to date of the 1935 clip approximately 400,000 pounds.

Presbyterian Meeting Now In Progress Here

Wednesday evening marked the beginning of the revival meeting at the local Presbyterian church, with a good congregation present.

Rev. B. B. Hestir preached on the subject of "Revivals," urging his hearers to follow the course by which revivals come, and emphasizing the need of a revival.

Rev. W. H. Foster led the song service, and as a solo sang "Out of the Ivory Palaces." He will sing at each evening service and at some of the morning services.

Services are being held twice daily, at 10:00 a. m. and at 8:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited.

RAIN OR SHINE

It is our experience with summers that they are either unusually hot, unusually cool, unusually dry or unusually wet.

A summer that is normal in every respect apparently doesn't exist; in fact, it is difficult to think of one that is normal in any respect.

Summers have been fairly consistently unusual, with the result that in the summer at least there is generally something to talk about. Winters, on the other hand, grow more and more staid and uninteresting, with the unfortunate result that people are unable to converse with each other during the cold months, and probably go to the movies.

We are unable at this time to supply a commentary on fall and spring. They come and go so fast that they are scarcely more than punctuation marks between our rather dull winters and fairly exciting summers.— Miles Messenger.

WHEN?

America will attain greater prosperity than ever before.

More individuals and families than ever before will share in this prosperity.

More families than ever before will own their own homes.

Our present total of 21,500,000 automobiles will be doubled.

Our 13,500,000 telephones will be more than doubled.

Such little-used conveniences and comforts as air conditioning equipment, sun lamps, and television receivers will be commonplace in the home.

Much better provision will be made for caring for those temporarily out of employment.

In short, a better day will dawn—certainly!

That is not the opinion of a professional optimist of the "prosperity is just around the corner" school. It is the opinion of B. C. Forbes, the realistic financial analyst, who expresses it in a recent issue of Cosmopolitan Magazine.

The natural question to ask, then, is when are all these blessings going to come to us? And that, in Mr. Forbes' belief, is very largely dependent on the activities of government. He is confident that the pent-up natural forces of recovery are rarin' to go, and that only man-made obstacles are standing in their way.

Fear of inflation, stifling taxes, government competition with all private business, industrial regimentation, bureaucratic regulation of our great business enterprises—these are the friends of depression and the enemies of recovery. What is needed, according to Mr. Forbes, is "a sensible get-together between government and governed; a pact to work in harmony rather than at cross purposes."

A tremendous responsibility rests upon our political leaders to bring that about. The American people are in no mood to let politics continue to interfere with the course of recovery.

BANKHEAD ACT EXTENSION

Approval by the president and Congressional agricultural leaders of extension of the Bankhead Act thru 1936 definitely settles a question about which there has really been little doubt. Regardless of the wisdom of going into the Bankhead program in the beginning, it is something that is difficult to back out of. This applies to the problem in both its economic and its political aspect.

Congressional leaders are quoted as saying that continuation of the 12c loan was agreed on, and the president is quoted as saying that the subject was not mentioned. It probably will be continued, because it is something else that is difficult to back out of. While the market is in somewhat better statistical position by virtue of the reduction of more than a million bales in the carry-over, the withdrawal of the support of the government loan would undoubtedly let the market sag. This would bring protest from the farmers, and would bring loss to the government, which holds more than 4,000,000 bales against which loans have been made.

There is no denying the efficacy of the Bankhead measure, if only the immediate results are taken into consideration. The problem ahead is one of discerning emergency from long-term objectives, and being guided by such discernment. As artificial stimulants, the 12c loan and the Bankhead measure with its processing tax will eventually call for increased doses, or abandonment. When this time comes the national administration and the cotton growing industry should be in position to give up the emergency program and return to a normal status.

Secretary Wallace is considered by some as a radical and a dangerous experimenter, but all such criticism overlooks the difficulties that have confronted him and the dire need of emergency action. He has recently said that the permanent cure is a return, in so far as possible, to foreign markets. If he does not meet too much interference from politics, his future operations will be in that direction.—Dallas News.

I LIKE BUSINESS

It has often been said that "to make a success of one's business, one must like the business he is in." Here are some reasons why the business should be liked, according to one man:

I like business because it compels earnestness. Amateurs and dilettantes are shoved out.

I like business because it requires courage, because it demands faith.

I like business because it is the essence of life. Bread must be baked today, trains move today, payrolls be met today.

I like business because it rewards deeds and not words.

I like business because it does not neglect today's task while thinking about tomorrow.

I like business because it undertakes to please, not to reform.

I like business because it is orderly.

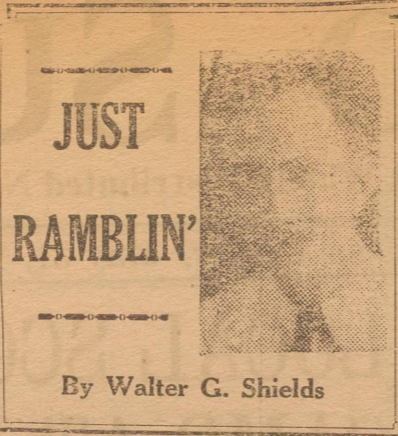

I like business because it is bold in enterprise.

I like business because it is promptly penalized for its mistakes, shirtlessness and inefficiency.

I like business because its philosophy works.

I like business because each day is a fresh adventure.—Denton Record Chronicle.

We never exchange a going social order for a better one, if we can help it. We invariably wait until the old order is completely wrecked before we even begin to think of changing it.—Ex.

JUST RAMBLIN'
By Walter G. Shields

Have you had enough rain yet? We don't know about the rain, but Tuesday night we sure heard enough wind and hail to last us for quite a spell. Seemed like to us that our roof was going to pick up and join the bird gang, just any minute. And when the hail started hitting the house we were greatly tempted to join the said gang ourselves. We like to watch a good, lively electric storm, and we're not particularly nervous about a wind storm, but when the elements start chunking big slabs and hunks of ice in our general direction, we confess to a decided desire to be elsewhere, and that right immediately.

We noticed where they had a regular cloudburst up in the Panhandle, close to our old stomping-ground, last week-end. Reports were of five inches of rain in half an hour, and plenty of hail. That ought to be water enough to satisfy the worst drouth-stricken country in the world. Glad that Schleicher county didn't get its supply all at one time like that.

The Success force has about recovered from the strain of moving, and are ready to settle down once again to the regular job of giving our readers the best newspaper in any town of this size in Texas or any of the rest of the states. We know that's a big order, and that it will take time and lots of co-operation to put it over in the way we hope to. But we know we've got the time, and we believe we've got the co-operation, so we just aim to do our part here in the office and the shop, and show the rest of the state just how good a paper can be published in Eldorado.

We appreciate the interest shown by the large number of visitors who have visited our new location during the past ten days. If you haven't been in to see us, we want you to come and get acquainted, and see how nicely we are fixed for publishing your paper. We'll show you the working of the shop, and if we happen to growl a little while you are in here, it will be at the machinery, and not at you. Printing machinery is like a mule—it sometimes requires quite a lot of strictly confidential conversation to keep it moving on as it should.

And if your vocabulary is any better than ours, and if you have any special pet names that seem to get results when applied with proper vigor and emphasis to a balky piece of machinery, we'll appreciate the loan of them long enough to find out if they improve the manners of a linotype. The language which makes a tractor or a shearing outfit get up and do its stuff might not work at all on our machinery, you see.

But, all joking aside, we'd be glad for every one of you to come in and let us get acquainted with you. The entire staff of The Success are new citizens in this county, but we intend to be permanent citizens, and we want the friendship of all of you. We notice that the boss is already becoming known as "Mack" to lots of folks around town, and, thank goodness, mighty few folks ever call this column "mister." We'd rather be called "Walter," or "Sim," or most anything you happen to think is appropriate—only, like the character in "The Virginian," maybe you'd better smile when you say it.

NATURAL FORCES AID BUSINESS RECOVERY

By R. S. HECHT
President American Bankers Association

ALTHOUGH, as official studies of business conditions show, business is still far from having struck its full stride, nevertheless, I believe that it is undoubtedly true that the natural economic processes which have always brought the nation out of a slump are now and have been for some time steadily at work laying the foundations for more active and normal business conditions.

The Fundamental Cure

Like a doctor, the administration can help nature. But the fundamental healing processes will come from natural causes and not from political remedies. Despite the slackening of business now apparent, despite expressions of disappointment we hear from various quarters, nevertheless I am confident that these fundamental healing processes, if not spectacular, are none the less surely at work.

Gradually our business leaders are showing greater confidence in the future and are assuming a more forward looking position. I firmly believe that if we will make up our minds to replace fear-psychology with confidence-psychology the results will fully justify such a new attitude.

BANKERS' ASSOCIATION STIMULATES ADVERTISING

The American Bankers Association's Advertising Department reports rapid progress of the use by banks of the informative bank newspaper advertising prepared by it for members to assist them in rebuilding public confidence and good will in their communities.

The central theme of this advertising service deals with the "essential line of economic and social service that all sound banking inherently renders the depositor and the public," the report says, showing that "it is not banking laws which make banking useful and safe, but that fundamentally it is honesty and skill in management under private initiative."

The Advertising Department is supplying about a thousand members of the association with newspaper and other advertising material. The newspaper material totals about 50,000 advertisements annually. The growth of the work of the department is shown by the following figures: On September 1, 1934, the number of banks being served regularly each month was 623. The total number on April 1, 1935, was 921, an increase of 301 regular subscribers, or 49 per cent in a period of seven months.

WARNS ON BANK ROBBERS

National Bankers Association Pressing Active Steps to Protect Members—Losses Cut

Imprisonment or death of many desperate bank criminals the past year has brought no appreciable reduction in attacks on banks, James E. Baum, in charge of the American Bankers Association Protective Department, has reported to its organization.

In the six months ended February 28, 1935, he says, banks were targets for 169 daylight holdups and 40 night burglaries. He added that although banks that are not members number only about half those enrolled in the association, they suffered a far greater rate of attack, namely, 51 per cent of all the bank robberies committed during the period.

Losses Show Decrease

During the period under report, bank burglars and bandits exacted tribute amounting to $943,551 compared with losses totalling $1,257,000 a year ago, he said. This reduction in losses is attributed to the time-locking restrictions and other limitations in the exposure of surplus cash imposed last year by und-rivers and several bank supervisory authorities.

The sharp reduction in the material loss of money and securities resulting from bank robbery this year was "overshadowed by the killing of 2 bank employees, one bystander and 5 arresting officers," and since last August bank robbery also cost the lives of 16 criminals and caused physical injuries to 10 bank employees, 12 bystanders, 9 arresting officers and 8 bandits, a total of 62 casualties.

Investigations by the association's agents resulted in the arrest of 36 forgers, 42 bandits and one burglar, or 79 of the 141 bank criminals reported being apprehended during the period.

RETIRED ASTRONOMER SAYS BIG DUST STORMS FORECAST RAIN CYCLE

No more drouths in the world for seven years, is the prediction of Captain T. J. J. See, retired United States Navy astronomer, of San Francisco.

Even recent dust storms in the Middle West were regarded as a good omen by the astronomer, who for 36 years has been engaged in studies of climatic cycles, which he attributes to variations in the sun's radiation.

The drouth period throughout the world ended in August, 1934, declares Capt. See in a written report. He viewed the dust storms as evidence that the winds which bring rain to the earth have returned.

"The rain cycle, which will last seven years," Capt. See said, "began in the latter part of 1934 and has now largely relieved the suffering from years of drouth in every continent of the globe."

He declared the "rain cycle" will correspond in general with the increase of sun spots recently noted by various astronomers.

"The sun has been too hot since 1930," the veteran Navy astronomer and mathematician asserted, "with maximum heat in 1933-34, when the sun spots almost disappeared." He asserted the returning spots would cool the sun, and that storms on earth would follow.

Explaining his cycle theory, Capt. See asserted observations disclosed that during drouth periods the sun has a widely expanded corona, under super heat incident to the absence of darkening spots. He said he noted this during the 1921-22 drouths in Russia, China and the United States.

"Then during 1930-34," he added, "I carefully verified the great law of nature that the rainfall of our globe is regulated by the 11-year waves of sun spots, by showing graphically, for the past seventy years, that the level of Lake Erie regularly rises and falls with the wave of sun spots."

Dust whipped over the earth shows, Capt. See stated, that the high winds which fertilize the world with rain have returned.

The man in a hurry to catch a train rushed into the depot, and was dismayed to find that the depot clocks, one in the waiting room and the other in the office, were twenty minutes apart in the time they showed. He said to the porter:

"Boy, one of these clocks says it's three-fifty, and the other says it's four-ten. My train is due here at exactly four, and I want to know which of those clocks is right!"

The boy scratched his head. "Cap'n," he said, "I don't know which o' dem clocks is right, but hit don't make no diffence; je train goes at fo' o'clock in spite of 'em bofe!"

STOCK SWINDLERS TO BE DRIVEN OUT OF TEXAS

A concerted effort to drive out of Texas the fraudulent and swindling dealer of stocks and securities will be made under the terms of a new law to be known as the Texas Securities law. This measure replaces the present outmoded Blue Sky Law.

Under the terms of the new legislation every dealer and salesman of securities must be registered with the secretary of state. The licenses of dealers and their agents or salesmen may be revoked for cause by the secretary of state after a hearing. No salesman will be permitted to use his license in an attempt to influence a customer into believing that the state endorses the stock which he is selling.

Before securing a permit the salesman will be required to tell something of his past history and associations. If it can be established that he has been guilty of fraudulent practices no license will be issued.

The new law is designed on the theory that stocks or securities in themselves do not commit fraud, but salesmen sometimes do. The law seeks to regulate and control the human element.

In no case does the state attempt to say to an investor that "This is a good stock," or "This is a worthless security." The law recognizes the fact that all investments are speculative in varying degrees.

The public is cautioned against the smooth talking, suave type of salesman who does not present satisfactory and sufficient credentials. The files of the secretary of state will be open for public inspection to determine whether or not salesmen and dealers are registered. This information is to be available to those who seek it.

In certain cases the advertising matter used in connection with the sale of securities must be submitted to the secretary of state. Virtually every type of security commonly used in business comes within the scope of the new law, by virtue of its extensive definitions. No longer will it be possible to evade the law by avoiding the common names of securities. Among other things, oil and gas leases are defined as securities.

"The heart of the bill is the control given the state to hold dealers and salesmen accountable for the representations made in the sale of securities," said Gerald C. Mann, secretary of state.

The law was passed by the legislature at the insistence of Governor Allred and Secretary of State Mann, and was authorized by Representative W. O. Reed of Dallas, and sponsored in the Senate by Senators John Hornsby of Austin and Davis of Brownwood.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Tinning, Jr. returned last Friday to their home at Hutto, after a ten days' visit in Eldorado.

PROTECT YOUR LIFE AND THE LIVES OF OTHERS!

THERE are three questions you should ask yourself about the tires you buy:

- 1—"Will the non-skid tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"
- 2—"Are they built to give me the greatest blowout protection?"
- 3—"Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

Answer No. 1—Harvey S. Firestone early realized the value of tire traction and safety and was the first to design an All Rubber Non-Skid Tire. Through the years Firestone has led the way in the design and development of tires with most effective non-skid treads.

Firestone does not depend solely on traction and non-skid tests made by its own engineers—it employs a leading University to make impartial tests for non-skid efficiency of its tires, and their most recent report shows that Firestone High Speed Tires stop the car 15% quicker than the best of all popular makes of tires.

Answer No. 2—Blowout protection must be built into a tire. Friction and heat within the tire is the greatest cause of blowouts. Firestone protects its tires from friction and heat by a patented process which soaks every cord and insulates every strand with pure liquid rubber. This is an additional process known as Gum-Dipping, by which every 100 pounds of cotton cords absorb eight pounds of rubber. This extra process costs more and is not used in any other make of tire.

Leading race drivers investigate the inbuilt qualities of the tires they use, because their very lives depend upon their tires, and they always select Firestone Tires for their daring speed runs. In fact, Firestone Tires have been on the winning cars in the gruelling Indianapolis 500-mile race for fifteen consecutive years, and they were on the 5,000-pound car that Ab Jenkins drove 3,000 miles in 23½ hours on the hot salt beds at Lake Bonneville, Utah, at an average speed of 127.2 miles per hour, without tire trouble of any kind. These amazing performance records are proof of the greatest blowout protection ever known.

Answer No. 3—Thousands of car owners reporting mileage records of 40,000 to 75,000 miles, is proof of the long mileage and greater economy by equipping with Firestone High Speed Tires. Let these unequalled performance records be your buying guide.

Go to the Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store or Firestone Tire Dealer and let him equip your car with Firestone Tires, the safest and most economical tires built.

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'do-less.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pains disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me."... Laxative combination folks know is trustworthy

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Theford's Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The crown folk stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets. Mrs. C. W. Adams, of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Theford's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

DEALERS AND GROWERS TO PRESENT VIEWS ON MARKETING OF WOOL

College Station.—A proposal to license dealers in wool and mohair, under which certain trade practices which act to reduce returns to growers would be prohibited, is being considered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Hearings on the proposed license will begin on July 2.

One hearing has been scheduled at San Angelo, for July 29 and 30, and other hearings will be held as follows:

July 1 and 2, Boston, Mass.; July 8 and 9, Denver, Colorado; July 11 and 12, Billings, Montana; July 15 and 16, Portland, Oregon; July 18 and 19, San Francisco, California; July 23 and 24, Salt Lake City, Utah; August 1 and 2, Kansas City, Missouri; August 5 and 6, Columbus, Ohio.

Texas ranks first among the states in the number of sheep and goats and also in the production of wool and mohair. Sheep on Texas farms numbered 7,644,000 on January 1, 1933, according to an estimate of the United States Department of Agriculture. This was approximately 14.7 per cent of the sheep in the United States. Texas also has about 83 per cent of the Angora goats of the United States, and produces a like percentage of mohair. Figures from the United States Department of Agriculture for 1934 show that 7,608,000 sheep were shorn in Texas in that year and that 60,485,000 pounds of wool were shorn.

The two provisions of the license that are of particular interest to growers are the one requiring a licensed dealer to confine his transactions either to consignments or to outright purchases, and the other which would base deduction for 'tags' and other off-sort wool on actual condition of the lot, and not on a flat average basis.

The first provision would remove the grower's fear that the products to which he has title may not be marketed as advantageously as products to which the dealer has acquired title. The second would remove the dealer practice of giving arbitrary flat average deductions from the basic price for 'tags,' but would require them to base any deductions on the actual condition of each lot of wool.

UNIVERSITY TO TEACH COURSE IN PLANNING

Home planning for the layman will be taught in the University of Texas this summer. A non-technical course in domestic architecture will be offered in the department of architecture during the first term of the summer session.

No drawing will be required of students in the course, but those who so desire will have the opportunity to trace plans. Reading, research, and lantern slide lectures will be included.

The course, open to all students of at least junior standing in the university, will deal with the selection of property, the planning of the house for property and for family purposes, the uses of various rooms and how each should be planned, the types of design, the quality of construction, and cost.

Prof. Goldwin Goldsmith, the chairman of the architecture department, will teach the course.

TEXAS FLOODS CREATE NEW RELIEF PROBLEMS

Austin, May 29.—Officials of the Texas Relief Commission this week moved to meet an emergency created by current flood and storm conditions in six of the eleven administrative districts of the state.

E. A. Baugh, assistant director of the commission, said that numerous calls for additional funds have been received from widely scattered sections of the state. He instructed administrators in these counties to have case workers investigate all applications for aid by reason of destruction from storm or flood.

Each county was requested to report at once any increase in case load caused by the emergency condition. On the basis of the reports showing additional needs, increased funds will be made available above the present allotments to these counties for this month.

"In no case," said Mr. Baugh, "will suffering or hunger be permitted. To prevent such an occurrence, available funds in the counties may be used. Administrators must bear in mind, however, that existing regulations determining eligibility for relief must be applied in all cases."

$100,000,000 SOUGHT FOR HIGHWAY WORK IN STATE

Austin, May 29.—In a determined effort to obtain $100,000,000 for gap-closing on Texas highways before the Centennial and the opening of the Mexico City road, Harry Hines, new chairman of the State Highway Commission, will head a delegation of Texas leaders to Washington in mid-June, he has announced.

His hope is to impress the federal administration with the fact that the building of modern highways in Texas can provide more and better and quicker employment than weed cutting, ditching or many of the other former CWA activities. It can do this, he contends, with a minimum of waste or abuses, and the result will be useful, permanent, revenue producing facilities.

Accompanying Chairman Harry Hines to the capital will be the other commissioners, Gibb Gilchrist, state highway engineer; Col. Ike Ashburn of the Texas Good Roads Association, and envoys from many other groups.

Governor James V. Allred utilization of road building as a means of unemployment relief in Texas, and has wired his view to President Roosevelt.

"Well over ninety per cent of the Texas road dollar goes to labor, either on the job or in the factories, mills and pits behind it," Mr. Hines explained, "and this is why we hope to get some of the money from purely temporary relief projects shifted to it."

"Texas should get over $50,000,000 for roads and grade separations from appropriations already made, and we will ask for $40,000,000 more. We have the plans all ready for badly-needed roads that will exceed this amount, and we can get them underway swiftly."

The highway chairman explained that he has no thought of disturbing the many worthwhile city and community projects to be presented thru PWA, but only random and unplanned work relief projects.

COURSE IN RECREATION GIVEN AT UNIVERSITY

A new course on organization and supervision of public recreation methods will be offered in the department of physical education at the University of Texas this summer during the second term. Several visiting instructors will serve on the staff of the department.

PICNIC IDEAS FOR YOUNG AND OLD

As soon as warm weather appears picnics again take the spotlight. For young folks they are apt to be meals prepared in the rough and ready fashion of the camper, while older folks sometimes prefer the delicacies of the home carefully packed away in the picnic kit deluxe. But regardless of the kind, a picnic is a picnic, and is sure to bring a good time for all.

For the "camper style" picnic, frankfurts or weiners have long been a favorite, not only because they are easily roasted on a pointed stick over the fire, but also because there is something about their flavor that just seems to fill the bill for the outdoor meal. These placed between the halves of buns, with mustard or ketchup for added zest, prove quite satisfying in themselves, and need only fruit and cookies to finish the meal.

If you are looking for something a bit different, tho, Inez S. Wilson, home economist, suggests that you split the frankfurts before you start on the picnic trip, spread the cut surfaces with mustard, insert slices of cheese, and wrap with bacon. Fasten with toothpicks so that there is no danger of the bacon slipping into the fire during the roasting. The toothpicks are removed, of course, before the cooked frankfurt is made into a sandwich.

Lamb lends itself well to camp cookery, and is a little unusual, simply because not so many people in this country have tried roasting it over the open fire. It is said, however, that lamb on skewers is a favorite meat dish in the Near East, and that it is always cooked in camp manner. So let us take a lesson from our foreign friends.

Lamb, Hunter Style

The lamb is cut into 1-inch squares. This is then threaded on wooden skewers at the market or on green sticks at the picnic site. Bacon may be skewered with the lamb, or if you wish, onion slices, tomatoes or mushroom caps may be used. These then are broiled over the hot coals.

Ribbon Sandwich Loaf

6 slices baked ham, rather thick.
1-4 cup ketchup.
2 teaspoons prepared mustard.
1 cup grated cheese.

Place a slice of ham in a baking pan and spread sparingly with ketchup and mustard which have been mixed together. Sprinkle liberally with grated cheese, and spread another slice of ham over this. Spread with ketchup and mustard sauce, sprinkle with the cheese, add another slice of ham, and continue until all ingredients are used.

LET INDUSTRY ALONE

"Industry, let alone, is the only thing that can bring about recovery," said Governor Eugene Talmadge, of Georgia, recently.

"Industry, let alone, is the only safety for our government. 'You cannot reform a scared, discontented, idle people. The first steps to reform are to let business recover.'"

That comes from a man in a high public office. If the attitude it represents would swiftly spread to other officials, in both state and federal government, the nation would be considerably nearer to better times.

WOOL -- MOHAIR SUPPLIES

It is a fact recognized by the wool trade that the most desirable Texas wools are produced in a relatively small area, only a few hundred miles in dimensions in South Central and Southwest Texas.

When your wool is stored here it sells on the merits of the wool of this section and is not co-mingled with the widely varying types and grades of wool characteristic of those sections where less vigilant production methods are employed.

HAZARDS GALORE IN "WEST OF THE PECOS," STARRING RICHARD DIX

Manufactured thrills, the kind that go into the making of a motion picture, can be just as potent as the spontaneous variety.

Take, for instance, the river fording sequence in "West of the Pecos," starring Richard Dix, which comes to the Lone Star Theatre in Eldorado on Friday and Saturday.

The stream that doubles for the Pecos River of Texas is in the California mountains, not far from Hollywood. For the purposes of the picture, it was necessary to show the river being forded by a covered wagon train, a herd of cattle, and cowboys on horseback.

Director Philip Rosen felt that he had photographed plenty of thrills when he showed the cattle, horses, mules and men swimming the swirling waters. But when the mules of the lead wagon became snarled in the harness and started to drown, the cattle were swept by panic, and the wagons overturned, there was more excitement and danger than he had expected.

Altho only fifteen feet from the shore, it was more than an hour before the last of the train's livestock had been brought to safety. Sore muscles and exhaustion were the lot of many of the rescuers, among them Dix himself.

SUPREME COURT ENDS AUTHORITY OF N. R. A.

By a unanimous vote, the Supreme Court of the United States early this week declared the NRA unconstitutional, and all codes set up under that act unenforceable. The decision of the highest court stated that the president was given too much power, and that Congress was without authority to give such power.

The end of the NRA has caused much speculation as to the legality of many other sections of the "New Deal," and the final effect of the decision, as regards industry and labor, is still in considerable doubt.

EDUCATION OF THE CRIPPLED CHILDREN

There is in the social security bill now before the Senate a provision for the physical care of crippled children. The state superintendents of schools, thru their National Council, have urgently recommended to Congress to include in this bill provisions for the education of the physically handicapped.

State Superintendent Vierling Kersey of California, chairman of a special committee of the National Council asked the endorsement of the U. S. Commissioner of Education, Mr. John W. Studebaker, for the additional social security provisions, which are as follows:

"Appropriation of $2,850,000 annually for allotment to the states in proportion to their population, for providing education and educational facilities for the crippled and otherwise physically handicapped children; provided that no allotment to any state shall exceed the sum of all the amounts made available for the purpose by a state and by its political subdivisions."

Under the present wording of the security bill, the appropriations for the physical and educational care of crippled children would be administered by the Children's Bureau of the Department of Labor.

It is pointed out that the public schools in many places are carrying on the exact kind of service contemplated in the security bill, but very inadequately. It is recognized in this connection that education and treatment of crippled children must be carried on very largely at the same time and often by the same people.
