Rev. Foster and Mrs. Lovelace Also Please In Musical Program

At the weekly meeting of the Eldorado Lions Club held Wednesday at noon, the feature of the program was a talk on the value of Lionism, delivered by Rev. B. B. Hestir of Brownwood, who is conducting a revival at the local Presbyterian church.

Also featured on the program was Rev. W. H. Foster of Brownwood, song leader of the revival, who gave several songs which were greatly enjoyed and appreciated by his audience. Mrs. Everett Lovelace accompanied on the piano, and also played for several other songs during the session.

The program was very much enjoyed by all present.

Peyton Cain, a teacher in the schools at Alpine, is visiting his father-in-law, A. J. Stevens, in the Bailey Ranch community. Mr. Cain formerly taught at Bailey Ranch. Mr. Stevens' son, a student in Sul Ross College at Alpine, is also at home for the summer.

South Tells Of Plans For Work Districts

A letter received this week from Congressman Chas. South contains the following statement regarding the set-up for public works projects in Texas:

"You have probably learned that Texas is divided into twenty Works Districts for handling projects under the relief set-up. San Angelo will doubtless be your nearest regional office. As I think you already know, Mr. H. P. Drought, Frost National Bank Building, San Antonio, Texas, has been named state director. All applications for projects in Texas should be made to him. Such applications should be submitted as soon as possible.

"Members of Congress were not consulted by Mr. Hopkins in the creation of these districts, or in the selection of the personnel. I am not complaining about this, but giving you the information, believing that the question might be raised by various parties. The idea being to administer the program as free from political interference as possible, in order that each project may be determined upon its own merits.

"I am anxious that the above information become generally known throughout my district as soon as possible, in order that our people may have a fair opportunity to present their various cases.

"Sincerely,
"CHAS. L. SOUTH."

"Using four feed sacks which were given to me, and a card of bias tape, for which I paid two cents, I made a two-piece dress or myself by my foundation pattern. I trimmed the dress by adding a tie of brown material that had on hand, and a brown buckle which I took off an old dress. This dress cost me about five cents, including the thread with which it was sewed," says Mrs. M. Bradley, wardrobe demonstrator for the Eldorado home demonstration club.

County Library Shows Very Rapid Increase

The Schleicher County Library is still growing, according to Mrs. Mabel Parker, county treasurer, who has taken an active part in the organization of the library.

At the time of its first opening about six weeks ago, the library consisted of seventy-five volumes. Thru donations and purchases the number has grown to 235, and others are being added almost daily.

The library committee will hold its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday of next week, at which time a full report of the library's growth will be given.

Texas To Celebrate Railroad Week June 10

Railway activities will be widely publicized all thru the state as a result of a proclamation issued by Governor James V. Allred, designating June 10 to 15 as Railroad Week.

From practically all of the principal cities of Texas and from numerous smaller places come reports of plans for a proper observance of the governor's proclamation. The part the railroads have played in the development of Texas, their importance to the nation as a principal vital industry, and the need for a sympathetic understanding of their problems by the public will be stressed in public addresses, radio talks, and at specially arranged railroad programs.

All of the western carriers are co-operating in making Railroad Week a success, and it will be observed in all of the western states. The governors of a majority of them having followed Governor Allred in issuing proclamations.

"Open house" will be observed at yards, stations and shops, and the public at major railroad points will be invited to become more familiar with the intricate details of railway operation. The luncheon clubs, chamber of commerce and other civic bodies are planning special meetings at which the activities of the railways will be explained.

As a result of a widespread observance of Railroad Week, the carriers hope to focus public attention on the problems of the railways with the hope of creating increased interest in the carriers and thus stimulating railway traffic and increasing railway employment.

FARM HOMES INCLUDED IN HOUSING PROGRAM

Farm representatives of the Federal Housing Administration are attempting to make Better Housing Day June 15, one of importance in rural communities. Although the farmers are busy in the fields at this season of the year, the women's divisions of many localities are sponsoring programs for this occasion.

National Better Housing Day is being recognized thruout the country. Well over one thousand model homes will be constructed, following ground breaking exercises to be held on that day. The model homes, in most cases, will be sold and financed thru the Mutual Mortgage Insurance Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

Presbyterian Meeting Will End Sunday

The final service of the meeting now in progress at the Presbyterian church will be held on Sunday night. Services are being held each day this week at 10:00 a. m. and 8:15 p. m., with Rev. B. B. Hestir preaching and Rev. W. H. Foster as song leader. The interest manifested has been good, and on last Sunday evening the house was packed.

Mr. Wilkinson, the local pastor, has expressed his appreciation to the other ministers and churches for their co-operation. The public is cordially invited to the remaining services.

J. W. Doak, cotton assistant for Schleicher, Tom Green, Irion and Sterling counties, was in Eldorado Thursday for the purpose of checking cotton contracts for Schleicher county. Mr. Doak reports that he found all contracts here in regular order and all records in good condition.

Sees Rise In Wool In A.A.A. Amendments

Much has been heard recently of the proposed amendments to the AAA, which, if they become effective, will mean marked advances in the price of wool, as well as most other agricultural commodities.

The amendment to which we have reference particularly states as the policy of Congress, the establishment and maintenance of such balance between production and consumption as will re-establish the price of wool at levels which will provide for the wool grower the same purchasing power which he enjoyed during the period from August, 1919, to July, 1929. In other words, the wool man will receive a price for his product in the same ratio to the cost of the commodities that he must buy for living and production as that existing during the base period.

According to our calculations, this would entail an advance in the price of wool to 84.29 cents.

In our opinion, such a policy would be replete with difficulties and dangers. The difficulties would arise in attempting artificial methods of control of production. Wool is a unique commodity in that one is dealing not with acreage, which can be cut readily, but with live animals which cannot be reduced in numbers over a short period of time.

It may be noted that changes in wool production are cyclical, rather than annual. Furthermore, the money received from the wool clip is but one phase of the total income of the sheepman. As far as the regulation of consumption is concerned, that will take care of itself only too well after the price has advanced to any appreciable extent.

As a matter of fact, it is in the effects on consumption that the real danger of such a price-raising policy lies. We have continually stressed the fact that an advance in the price of one fiber to any marked degree without regard to the others invites invasion of the wool textile market by the all-too-ready producers of other and cheaper fibers which can be substituted easily.

This conclusion is based on our studies in which we have calculated the parity prices of the fibers based on their price relationship to competing fibers. No amount of argument can dissuade us from the firm conviction that the debilitation of the wool industry during the past decade was the direct result of maintenance of the price at prohibitively high levels. Yet the price of wool today is still disparately high in comparison with the prices of silk and particularly rayon, and is not very much below the parity based on its relation to cotton alone. The silk industry was quick to realize the potentialities of the new synthetic fiber which was fast being improved in quality and reduced in price, and acted accordingly, but the wool industry remained adamant, and suffered as a result.

The effects of materially higher wool prices, or to levels provided in the amendment, will be felt in the men's wear, women's wear, and general knit outerwear industries.

MORE COTTON CHECKS RECEIVED BY AGENT

Total of $1171 Received In List of 21 Checks Early This Week

County Agent C. Snell announces this week the receipt of twenty-one cotton checks, totaling $1,171.23. This is part of the first payment under the 1935 contracts.

Previous to this week 119 cotton checks had been received and distributed to Schleicher county farmers, amounting to $8789.26. The checks this week bring the total receipts for the county up to $9,960.49 to date.

Mr. Snell asks all farmers who have checks in the present group to come to his office immediately and sign for them, so that they can be delivered.

Commissioners Will Meet Next Monday

The Commissioners' Court of Schleicher county will meet in regular session at the court house next Monday, June 10. So far as can be learned, only routine matters are to come before the court at this session.

4-H Girl Tells How Dressing Table Was Built of Crates

"One part of my demonstration was to provide a dressing unit for my room," says Ouita Cheatham, bedroom demonstrator in the Eldorado girls' 4-H club. "I used two orange crates for the foundation of my dressing table, and put a board three feet long and one foot wide across them for the top. I put a piece of moiré around the top to give it a neat finish. I made a small drawer for the center of it. I bought eight door stops and screwed them on the bottom of the boxes for the legs. I painted the top, drawer, and legs ivory, and papered the boxes to match my walls. I put a rose curtain around each box. From second-hand lumber I made a bench, and draped it with rose color material. I made my vanity scarfs of an old crash blouse. I bought a mirror with an ivory frame and hung it over my dressing table, and now I have a dressing unit which I am proud of."

Glamorous Fashion Show Set To Music

Stunning creations embodying every detail of feminine finery are modeled by the most beautiful girls in America in "Roberta," which shows at the Lone Star Theatre on Sunday and Monday. The fashion show is staged in a vast courtyard setting, in which cherry trees in full blossom and a silvery fountain vie in loveliness with that of the mannequins and their gowns.

Gorgeously gowned, Miss Rogers and Miss Dunne play dominant parts in the fashion show. Astaire acts as master of ceremonies for the brilliant pageant, which is conducted to a great musical program.

More Heavy Rains Fill Many Lakes In County

And still it rains, and then it rains some more.

After our account of heavy rains last week, we had thought that we wouldn't say anything on the subject for quite a while. It seems, however, that a rain of any kind in Southwest Texas is front page news, and a three-inch rain such as we had last Saturday morning is news in anybody's paper in any part of the country.

Practically all lakes and tanks in the county were filled by the rain of Saturday morning, and many were overflowed. Reports from all sections indicate an abundance of water for crops and livestock.

Eldorado received another rain Tuesday night just after sunset. The rainfall lasted until late in the night, and served to delay the planting of crops still further. A small amount of damage is reported from some sections from hail, wind and heavy rains, but few crops are far enough advanced to be hurt seriously.

Stamford Asks Sponsors For Big Cowboy Reunion

Stamford, June 5.— Towns and cities thruout West Texas are being invited to send cowboy sponsors to the sixth annual Texas Cowboy Reunion to be held here July 2, 3 and 4. Letters urging that the sponsors be selected at once are being mailed to chambers of commerce by H. G. Andrews, chairman of the sponsors committee. Sixty-five towns were represented by sponsors at the reunion last year.

A handsome special-made saddle, similar to the one awarded to Mrs. Ardeth Copeland of Blackwell, Nolan county, winner of the first prize last year, will be presented to the girl taking first place in the judging this year. The saddle is being made by Frank Mitz of Dallas, an artist in leather working. It has a padded seat, quilted with silk thread of different colors, and is hand stamped. The saddle will be contributed by the Salesmanship Club of Dallas.

Second prize will be a pair of boots, given by the Bryant-LinK Company of Stamford; the third prize, a pair of spurs offered by Nocona Boot Company of Nocona, Texas; and fourth prize, a pair of bits, contributed by W. R. Boone of Lubbock.

In the awarding of prizes, the appearance, horsemanship, and riding apparel of the girl, and the appearance, performance and equipment of the mount will be considered by the judges. The judging will take place in the rodeo arena of the reunion grounds on the mornings of the first and third days of the celebration. The winners of prizes in past years will not be eligible for awards at the 1935 reunion.

Sponsors are required to furnish their own mounts and equipment, but grooms and forage will be provided by the reunion.

The girls will ride in the parades to be held during the reunion, and will be guests at a round of social affairs in their honor, including dances, teas and receptions.

Supt. and Mrs. R. D. Holt returned Thursday from a visit in Coleman county.

The Redfern Legend Grows

Stories that Paul Redfern is alive somewhere in the jungles of South America have been so persistent one is tempted to believe the latest and most explicit version, which comes from the Canal Zone.

Tom Roche, described in dispatches from Colon as a German-American adventurer, claims to have found Redfern, alive but hopelessly crippled, living with Indians on the upper Amazon River. To corroborate his story, he exhibits a battered diary with entries telling of his meeting with the American aviator who took off from Burnswick, Ga., in August, 1927, on an attempted flight to Rio de Janeiro and vanished from sight.

Redfern carried no radio sending set, and the last authentic word of him was from the captain of a steamship who reported that he saw the plane 100 miles or so off the north coast of South America.

The possibility that he was forced down somewhere far from civilization heretofore had depended upon nothing more substantial than vague stories attributed to jungle Indians. But Roche's story is either a veracious first-hand account or it is a pure fabrication. There is an odd craving in human nature which not infrequently impels people to invent strange stories in order to draw attention to themselves. Sometimes there is a mercenary motive, though none seems to have been revealed in this case.

Roche's yarn isn't wholly implausible. Stranger things have happened. The map of South America contains immense blank spaces in which a white man could live for years without knowledge of his existence becoming known to the outside. It is credible that superstitious natives might refuse to permit or further the escape of a stranger who arrived among them under such astonishing circumstances as Redfern did, if the story is true.

If the story is a fraud, no doubt flaws will be discovered in it that will readily expose it as such. Should it stand up under scrutiny, it may be assumed that an attempt will be made to rescue the hero of the strangest adventure in the annals of aviation.

Just ramblin' around town, up and down the streets and across lots, brings to mind sometimes a good many things needed in Eldorado. Let's list them, and maybe Uncle Sam, or Santa Claus, or some other good fairy, will happen to read the list and come across with the necessary cash.

First of all we'd list a system of fire protection. The present small chemical tank is tragically inadequate for the needs of the town, and we're likely to have that fact impressed upon our minds most any day. One of the 500-gallon tank-pumper combinations advocated by the San Angelo chief, it seems to us, would be an ideal solution of the problem in Eldorado, as it has proved to be in a number of West Texas towns. In high insurance rates, we are more than paying the cost of adequate fire apparatus. Why not have it?

The next suggestion, one closely allied to the first, is an adequate water and sewerage system, with low domestic water rates. A municipal waterworks we believe to be the answer to this need. Waterworks systems are about the only utilities which we believe should be municipally owned, but we're strong for such ownership in this instance. Eldorado is going to grow, and that in the near future. We're going to need a considerably more extensive water system than we have, and it's time to begin to plan for it.

Then next we'd like to ask the aforesaid good fairy for a dependable supply of natural gas, piped into Eldorado and distributed at rates that would encourage industries to locate in this city. Power and fuel are the two things industry must have, and we ought to be ready to supply them. We understand that there is a good chance of getting gas into town from the Page well, so maybe this item will be marked off the want book before long.

Next we'd like to see a whole lot of hard surfaced streets in this city. Of course we'd rather see concrete or asphalt or brick, any kind of permanent pavement, but not wanting to ask for too much at one time, we'd be well satisfied to see caliche laid on all the streets. Just anything to keep our large and graceful pedal extremities from sinking up to the knees in mud at every step. Of course folks here are always glad to see the ground wet. Seeing it is all right, but having to walk over, or thru, it is something else again entirely.

Those are the principal things that we'd like to put in for. We think a few million dollars would be ample for all of them, and we hope Santa and Uncle Sam will get their heads together and consider our application for the necessary amount. Of course there are other things that we'd like to see such as imposing fire-proof buildings on every available lot in the downtown section, and lots of shade trees and green lawns in the residential districts, an airport, and an east-and-west highway. If we'd sit down and try to, we could probably think up just lots of things that we'd like to see in Eldorado, but we've just elaborated on a few of the most vital ones that we believe could be secured pretty easily.

CHANGES URGED IN BANKING BILL

Business Men and Bankers Agree
in Objecting to Political Control
Over Banks.

AMENDMENTS ARE SUGGESTED

Political Domination of Federal Reserve Board Declared to Be Undesirable for Depositors as Well as Their Banks.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Business men and bankers alike who have appeared before committees of Congress to present views regarding the Banking Act of 1935 have found common cause for criticism in those provisions which they agree would create the means for undesirable political control over the Federal Reserve System and thereby over individual banks throughout the United States. They have made the point that this undesirable condition would affect depositors in banks even more than the banks themselves.

This view has been stressed in criticisms by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and the question of partisan control over banking was the central theme of a statement presented by R. S. Hecht, President of the American Bankers Association, who appeared before the Senate Sub-Committee on Banking and Currency hearings here. Mr. Hecht declared that his organization is actuated by a desire to be helpful to Congress "in enacting effective and workable banking legislation in the interests of all our people." He said in part:

"It is finally decided that it is necessary to carry this legislation through at this session, we are strongly of the opinion that special care should be taken to keep our credit control and banking mechanism free from any sort of political considerations.

"In making this statement I do not wish to appear to question the propriety of the Government's exerting a certain amount of control over banking operations so far as they affect the nation's currency and general monetary policy. Nor do we object to broad powers of supervision over the operation of our banking institutions because of the semi-public responsibilities they carry. But when it comes to such matters as the granting of credit and the making of investments by our banks, these are questions of business policies that surely should not be under the sole control of a board so constituted as to be dependent upon partisan or political considerations under any administration.

The Basis of Sound Credit

"The real conditions that create the necessity for the expansion or contraction of credit arise from the needs of agriculture, industry and trade themselves, wholly independent of the administrative policies of the party which happens to be in power. We feel that the financial requirements of the nation's business constitute a continuing economic process that is not related to political changes. The fundamental principles of sound credit do not vary with variations in public thought. All experience teaches that the quality of credit is sound only so long as it is based purely on the requirements of sound business. It is not sound when any other considerations or motives enter into its composition.

The Banking Act would centralize in the Federal Reserve Board at Washington means aimed to control the supply of money in the country, which term includes the sum total of currency in circulation and demand deposits in the banks which become current through checks. The powers which it is proposed to give the Board are intended to enable it to influence the quantity of this deposit money through open market operations, the discount rate and reserve requirements.

The Need for Independence

"That is the reason why we are so strongly in favor of making the Federal Reserve Board a body of such independence and prestige that it would be definitely removed from all political thought, influence and dictation. Its members should be free to study and to act in accordance with the needs and conditions of agriculture, industry and trade. The policies of the board should have no reference to the politics or the changes in politics of the national administration.

"In our studies of the bank bill, we have been strongly impressed with the fact that it would set up a situation under which the Federal Reserve Board and its policies might be subject to control from the political administration of the country. In saying this I do not charge that it is the intention of the present administration to bring about any undue control over the nation's banking mechanism. The point is that if the bill passed as now proposed, opportunity for control would be there for the use of the present or whatever future administration might be in power.

"Our criticisms of the bill are not aimed, therefore, at the motives of the present administration, but they are wholly impersonal and non-political and are aimed entirely at the basic principles involved."

Desirable Changes Proposed

Careful study by his organization, Mr. Hecht said, had resulted in a number of suggestions for constructive revisions in the bill which he submitted to Congress. On the other hand, he declared that many of the changes proposed by the act in existing laws "are of a constructive nature and should have the support of bankers, if the method of appointment and the tenure of office of the members of the Federal Reserve Board, in whose hands it is planned to concentrate greater power than ever before, could be so altered as to insure, as far as possible, the absolute independence of the Board from partisan or political considerations." He added:

Supreme Court of Banking

"Since the passage of the Federal Reserve Act over 20 years ago, opinion in Congress and among bankers has been striving towards the ideal of making the Federal Reserve Board a body of such independence and prestige that it might be described as the Supreme Court of Finance and Banking. We believe there is greater need now than ever before for realizing this ideal."

R. S. HECHT

Mr. Hecht emphasized that it is "the genuine desire of the banking fraternity to be helpful and constructive in making suggestions in connection with this pending legislation. The changes we are urging are we believe essential to the continued independence of the Federal Reserve System."

"We have made it clear that we do not object to a measure of public control in the national interest for proper coordination of our manifold credit operations," he said, "and we do not believe the sponsors of the legislation desire any political domination over these activities through our Federal Reserve System."

"Under such circumstances we feel that our recommendations should be favorably acted upon because they would enable the reconstructed Federal Reserve Board to function freely as a nonpolitical body actuated only by the dictates of sound financial and economic policies conceived in the interest of all of our people."

"The adoption of our suggestions would both place operation of the Federal Reserve System wholly and distinctly apart from the fluctuations and vicissitudes of political conditions and free from undue influence by banking opinion only. Such a solution would thus have a stabilizing and confidence inspiring effect on the entire business situation."

Banks Rapidly Reduce Debt

Although the sum of $1,860,000,000 has been advanced to banks and trust companies by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation since it began operations in February, 1932, down to April 30, 1935, these institutions have repaid no less than $1,340,000,000, or more than 72%. This rate of repayment is reported as being considerably in excess of that made by any other type of borrower.

Loans were authorized by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to 7,396 banks and trust companies in an aggregate amount of $2,350,000,000, but of this sum $345,000,000 was withdrawn or cancelled and $140,000,000 has not yet been taken out by the borrowers.

Simplification of Bank Checks

New York.—In a bulletin issued by the Bank Management Commission of the American Bankers Association, plans are described for carrying on the simplification of bank checks, notes, drafts and similar instruments in respect to size and uniformity of arrangement of subject matter.

Detailed recommendations for this end were formulated by the association about ten years ago, the bulletin says, and promulgated by the United States Department of Commerce among banks, business houses using large numbers of checks, commercial stationers and lithographers. As a result about 85 per cent adherence to the recommendations was brought about. The present bulletin, which describes the standard specifications in full, is issued to maintain this high level of adherence to the recommendations.

National Bank Notes

Changes in our money on the scale of about $800,000,000 are now going on through the retirement of national bank notes. This is reflected in increasing deposits in the Treasury of lawful money to replace bonds held against outstanding notes which will require some time for withdrawal from circulation.

The change in the currency will require a considerable shift of bank funds in many cases, but it is doubtful if so large a volume of currency has ever been retired and replaced in any country with so little disturbance.

We believe in a government of the people by the people. Yet the dominion of the many is no more safe than the domination of the few.

This record is an astounding demonstration of tire efficiency. To go 500 miles in less than five hours on this rough and bumpy 26-year-old brick track demonstrates the strength and blowout protection that Firestone builds into their Gum-Dipped Tires.

AB JENKINS ALSO RECENTLY DEMONSTRATED the stamina, efficiency, and blowout protection built into Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. He drove his 5000 pound car over the hot salt beds at Lake Bonneville, Utah, 3000 miles in 23 1/2 hours. This was an average speed of 127.2 miles per hour, and although temperatures were as high as 120°, he had no blowouts or the trouble of any kind.

These records are made possible by special construction features built into Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

Among the firms which have contributed to the growth and upbuilding of Eldorado and Schleicher, one which deserves special mention in this period of renewed interest in building and remodeling operations is the West Texas Lumber Company, a business concern which has been closely identified with the history of the county.

The West Texas Lumber Company has been one of the business institutions of Eldorado for about twenty-five years, but Mr. B. B. Hail, the president of the company, has sold lumber in Schleicher county for more than forty years, and was well known in this section of Texas long before Schleicher county was organized.

The headquarters of the company is located in San Angelo, and all its business and investments are in this section of the state. This makes the company truly a West Texas institution, serving only West Texas. This company has grown up with West Texas, and has done as much as, or even more than any other one company, toward the upbuilding of this section of the state, realizing clearly from the beginning that the progress of the company depended on its cooperation in every effort looking toward the progress of the people it serves, and that the interests of the company and the section are closely allied.

The company has always held to the policy of handling the best merchandise in all the various lines which they carry. Such standard merchandise as Aermotor windmills, Cook cylinders, Glidden paints and varnishes, and building materials from well known mills and manufacturers. The company also carries three of the best known lines of farm machinery. No line of merchandise of any description is stocked by the West Texas Lumber Company until it has been tried and stood the test of service under West Texas conditions; consequently any purchase from them is not an experiment, and their goods can be depended on to give the service that the purchaser desires.

All employees of the company are taught to be fair and square with their customers, giving a courteous, prompt and dependable service to all alike. Every order, from the largest to the smallest, is filled with equal care and with the best of material. All these considerations summed up give a form of insurance that money cannot always buy.

Four managers have served the company in Eldorado during these twenty-five years. The present manager, Clarence E. Knight, has been in charge of the local office and yard since the latter part of 1929, and during this time has closely identified himself with the civic, religious and social life of the city, taking an active part in every move looking toward the progress and upbuilding of Eldorado and its trade territory.

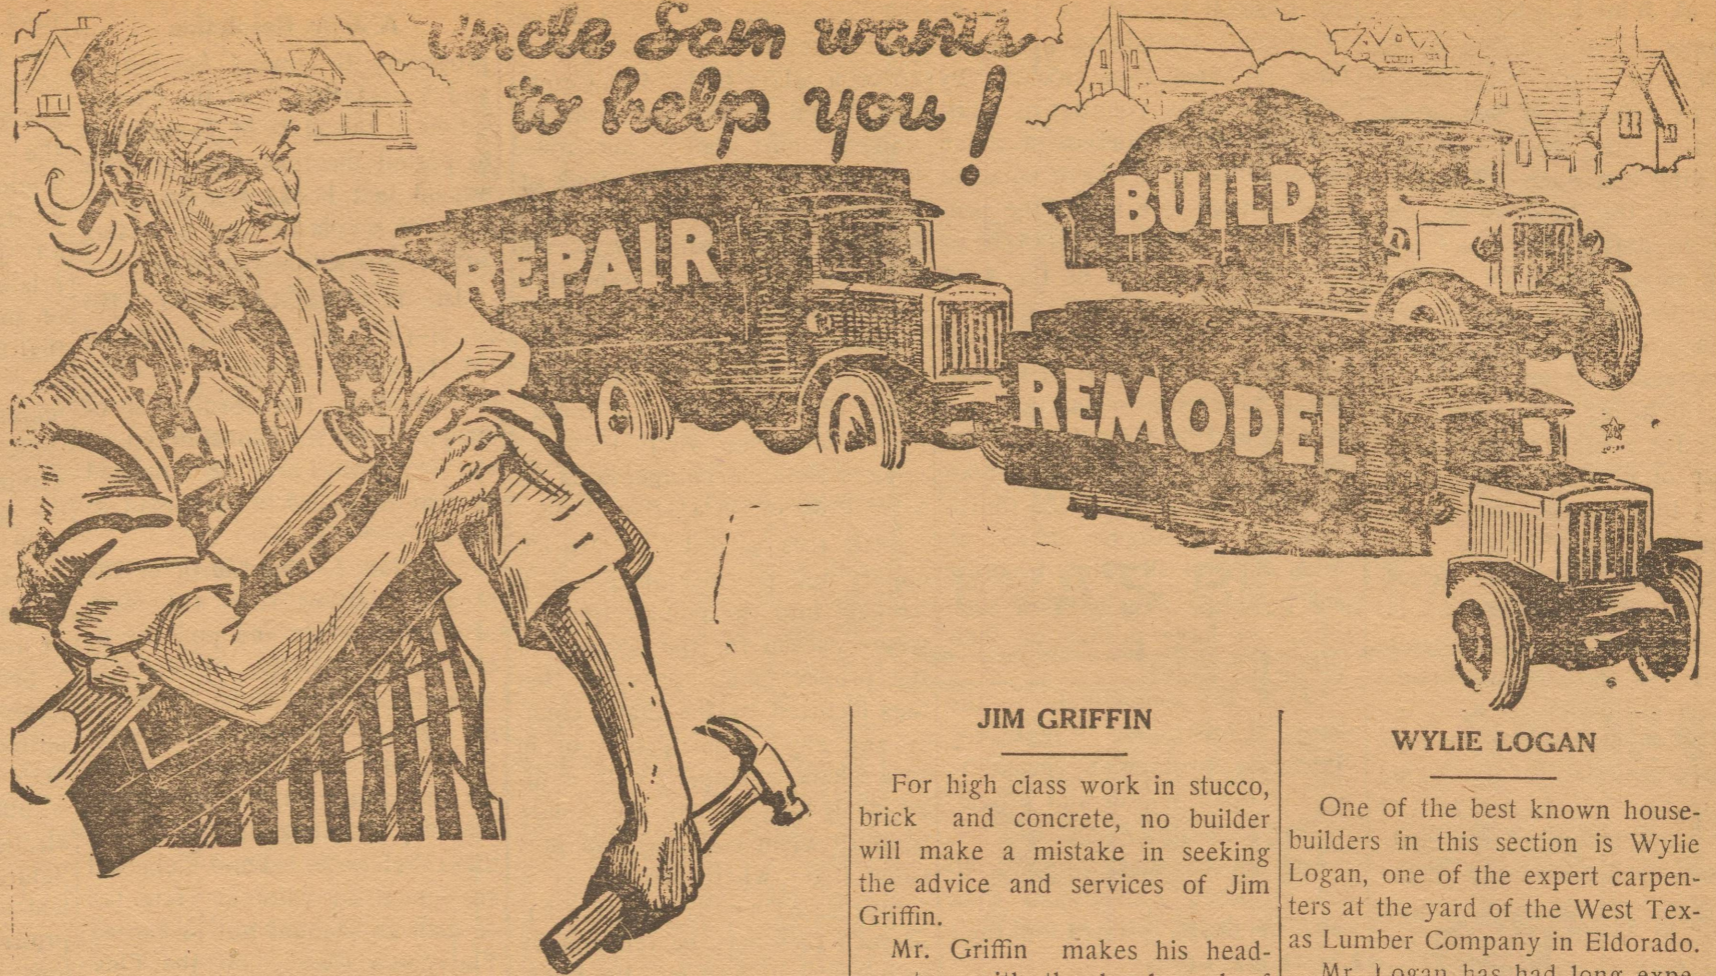

The carpenters and other workmen connected with the lumber company, many of whom are mentioned elsewhere on this page are skilled and competent workmen, with a background of years of training and experience in their respective trades.

G. L. BALLEW

A citizen of Eldorado for the past fourteen years, and one of the leading carpenters of the city for eight years, G. L. Ballew is too well known here to need any introduction to Schleicher county people.

Mr. Ballew owns his home and has brought up his family here. He buys at home and depends on the good will of the home folks who know his skill and reputation as an expert carpenter.

Mr. Ballew works out of the West Texas Lumber Company's local yard, and can always be located by calling there.

A new room, a new porch, a modern bathroom or kitchen — any permanent home improvement can be paid for under the Government Insured Modernization Credit plan. This includes new floors or refinishing old ones, installing built-in kitchen cabinets, book cases, new electrical outlets, modern plumbing — a hundred and one things that make the home a more comfortable place to live. Any home owner with a regular income and a good credit reputation can arrange to borrow up to $2,000 for these permanent home improvements. No down payment. No security. Pay the loan back out of income over a conveniently long period.

Good Materials, Workmen Are Essential

You will want to consult local contractors for information, advice and estimates before you proceed with rebuilding or remodeling your home, or building your new home. Any of them will be glad to give you the benefit of their experience in the home field, tell you about new materials, make suggestions for carrying out your plans in a practical and economical manner.

JOE CHITTY

Joe Chitty gives as his occupations, "painter, paper hanger and fisherman." Joe makes his headquarters at the West Texas Lumber Company's yard so far as his two first named occupations are concerned, and for the third, headquarters are just any old stream where the fish happen to be biting when Joe feels the fishing mood coming on.

Joe is thoroughly experienced in interior and exterior painting, paper hanging, and interior decorating. In all of his work he uses the best quality of materials obtainable, and this combined with his high quality workmanship produces a job that is guaranteed to please and to last.

Fresh new paper in the modern style, and newly painted interior woodwork, make a new and attractive room out of an old one in the shortest possible time and at very little cost, and this is a form of modernization which is within the reach of everyone. Even if you do not contemplate any more extensive remodeling of your home, you will be well repaid for having the interior refinished and modernized in this way, and Joe Chitty will welcome the opportunity to discuss your painting and papering problems with you, and suggest the most appropriate treatment for your home as a whole or for each individual room.

His work is not confined to homes, however, for many of the attractive store fronts and interiors in the downtown section are products of his workmanship.

E. M. WILLIS

E. M. Willis, plumber and sheet metal worker, has been a citizen of Eldorado since April 1929, and has made an enviable reputation for competent and careful work in his line.

Mr. Willis' family consists of his wife and two daughters, one of whom, Miss Aurora Lee, is the wife of Charlie Buie.

Headquarters of Mr. Willis is the West Texas Lumber Company's yard in Eldorado, where the greater part of his material is secured. He has had many years of experience in plumbing and sheet metal construction and repair work, and his long list of satisfied customers gives testimony as to his expert craftsmanship.

Mail order houses and out-of-town salesmen take a loss when they make any effort to enroll Mr. Willis or his family among their customers, for he is a home town man and believes in trading with those who help to build up and improve his home town. He too spends his money with those who patronize him.

If your remodeling and modernization plans call for the installing of new bathroom fixtures or a new sink in the kitchen, Mr. Willis invites you to call on him for estimates on the job, and for advice as to the best and most economical methods and plans. You incur no obligation, of course, by asking for estimates and suggestions, and any work entrusted to Mr. Willis will be done with the best of materials and workmanship.

JIM GRIFFIN

For high class work in stucco, brick and concrete, no builder will make a mistake in seeking the advice and services of Jim Griffin.

Mr. Griffin makes his headquarters with the local yard of the West Texas Lumber Company, from which company he secures the first-class materials used in his work.

Mr. Griffin specializes in the construction of tanks, and has had ample experience in this class of work. His ability in all branches of concrete work is well known thruout this county.

Mr. Griffin is an advocate of trading at home, and believes in keeping his money at work in the town in which he earns it. He is loyal to Eldorado and all its institutions.

Brick or concrete work is a necessity in any new building and has an important part in many rebuilding and remodeling plans.

It will pay you to talk this part of your plan over with Mr. Griffin. From his long practical experience he will be able to offer suggestions that will save you money and give you a better job. His estimates as to cost will be found fair, and the quality of materials and workmanship to be found in work done by him is of the best.

R. V. JENKINS

Well known among carpenters in Eldorado is R. V. Jenkins, who has been a resident of this city for the past ten years.

Mr. Jenkins is an experienced carpenter, and also specializes in the refinishing and painting of furniture, guaranteeing high class workmanship and the best of materials in every job turned out.

Making his headquarters at the local yard of the West Texas Lumber Company, Mr. Jenkins keeps in close touch with all new and improved ideas relating to his trade, and is competent to give expert advice on any job of remodeling or repair work that may be contemplated by any of his customers.

Depending as he does on the patronage of Eldorado people for making his living, Mr. Jenkins believes that turn about is fair play, and patronizes home merchants for the things needed in his home. He makes a policy of spending his money where he makes it instead of sending it out of the community.

As with the other contractors and workmen mentioned on this page, Mr. Jenkins is always glad to make estimates on the cost of any work you may have in mind, and will offer suggestions as to the best and most economical methods of obtaining the effects you want to secure.

Mr. Jenkins' prices are moderate, and he takes pleasure in giving a guarantee of high quality materials and first-class workmanship. He will be glad to figure with you on that modernization job at your home or store. No job is too small, and all receive the same careful handling.

WYLIE LOGAN

One of the best known house-builders in this section is Wylie Logan, one of the expert carpenters at the yard of the West Texas Lumber Company in Eldorado.

Mr. Logan has had long experience in every phase of building, and has been in charge of the erection of many of the attractive homes in this county. His reputation in every detail is of the best, and no prospective home-builder will go wrong by calling on this workman.

Mr. Logan knows lumber and its uses and possibilities, and his knowledge enables him to offer valuable advice on how to obtain the most suitable and attractive results in building. He is careful in selecting the best material that can be purchased for each job, and this, combined with his expert craftsmanship, is a guarantee of satisfaction in every building constructed by him.

In expecting home folks to make use of his ability in the line of building, Mr. Logan does not lose sight of his obligation to return their good will by trading in Eldorado, and no outside dealer secures his patronage for necessities which he can purchase in his home town stores.

Mr. Logan has built up an enviable reputation thruout this entire section, and his services are always in demand. A contract entrusted to him is sure to be fulfilled in a satisfactory manner.

R. W. KING

A tax-payer in Eldorado for fourteen years, and well known as a carpenter here for the past eight years, R. W. King needs no introduction to the people of this community.

Mr. King is a carpenter and contractor, making his headquarters with the West Texas Lumber Company. He is experienced in estimating on both large and small jobs and whether you want a new house built or an extra shelf added in the kitchen, your job will receive the same careful attention if entrusted to him.

As a loyal citizen of Eldorado, Mr. King is a believer in supporting home institutions, and spends his money with home town merchants. He is active in all movements looking to the progress and advancement of his city and county.

Mr. King uses only the best of high-grade materials in his building activities, and the quality of the material is matched by the high grade of workmanship with which they are made into the finished product of new house or new fixtures.

All work turned out by Mr. King is fully guaranteed, and his motto is that the customer must be pleased before the job is considered complete.

Mr. King and his family are valuable citizens of the community, and are helping in many ways in the upbuilding of the city and improvement of the county.

THE NRA DECISION

There is no doubt but that the NRA is unconstitutional; there is not even a minority opinion to say a few words of regret at its passing.

But despite its unconstitutionality, there are many things about it that should be observed, regardless of the fact that the legislation itself has been called unconstitutional.

We should not need a law to force a minimum wage scale of $12 to $15 a week. We should not need a law to tell us that it is neither humane, fair or equitable to work employees long hours. We should not need a law to tell us that we can't all sell merchandise at less than cost.

The NRA should have taught us at least two things. First, that our wages were too low—and perhaps are still too low—and second that it is impossible for government to regulate everything.

We have always felt that a minimum wage law that could be enforced would be of great benefit to the country, but that any law that attempted to fix prices would eventually result in paralyzing business.

Employers should announce now that they expect to hold to the same hours of work which they have been under for the last year and do not propose to decrease wages. Every employer should recognize the need for wages to keep pace with the increased cost of living. For the last six months especially, this has not been done.

LADY TO THE RESCUE OF WOOL INDUSTRIES

The vigor with which Associated Wool Industries is attacking the problem of promoting greater consumption of wool products, should command the enthusiastic interest of every family living in a wool growing district or making their living either directly or indirectly through wool. This cooperative promotion organization has the support of every branch of the industry—wool growers, wool dealers, processors, spinners, weavers, knitters and sales agents.

There is every reason to believe that the intensive drive now being made to educate the public concerning the advantages of wool and to stimulate manufacturers and retailers to create new styles and greater values will accomplish its purpose. Wool should not and must not lose ground in competition with other textile fibers. Wool has for thousands of years possessed qualities not found in any other fiber; wool can and should enjoy constantly growing acceptance by American consumers. Wool is soft, beautiful and durable. It has great elasticity and strength. It is light in weight and is an excellent protection against both heat and cold. During the past few years tremendous strides have been made in the production of lovely sheer fabrics, ideal for summer wear, and low enough in price for the average woman to afford.

The activities of Associated Wool Industries, planned to increase the importance of wool, should result in substantial increase in the volume of sales of wool merchandises. This in turn should directly benefit the vast wool growing district of the United States.

It is especially up to women in wool families to aid in promoting the use of wool. These are two to three million women in families directly dependent upon wool for income. These women must do their part in the concerted effort which has been launched through Associated Wool Industries. They can, if they will, be a powerful influence in creating more prosperous conditions in the wool industry. They should wear wool, talk wool, demand fabrics of wool in retail stores and last, and most important, see to it that their men folk wear wool. Women know that wool is essential in smart wardrobes the year round—and if they try they can quickly convince men that this is equally true for men's wear. The industry is counting upon women in wool growing districts to help make America wool conscious.
