

WOOL MOVEMENT LIGHT THIS WEEK

Reports from wool concentration points in West Texas the past week indicate a light movement. Only a few points report sales and most of the business done apparently has been in the heavier off type wools purchased for top making purposes at prices said to range from 15 cents to 20 cents.

Information from the Eastern markets outlines the situation there as generally dull and featureless so far as actual sales are concerned.

No sales are reported locally this week, the last movement being 350,000 pounds sold several days ago by the Eldorado Wool Company at prices from 25 cents to 26 cents. The local warehouse has sold from its 1935 spring accumulation approximately 725,000 pounds of wool, 60,000 pounds in clippings, 90,000 pounds of mohair and has remaining on hand 300,000 pounds all of which is 12 months wool. For the wool sold this season, the warehouse has obtained an average price said to be 24.92 cents per pound. The range in mohair prices have been 16 cents to 35 cents.

Recent estimates place the amount of unsold wool in Texas at less than 15,000,000 pounds. A U. S. Department of Agriculture inventory as of June, 29th, 1935 indicates the 1935 clip of wool in the U. S. to be approximately one hundred and thirty million pounds under that of 1934.

Eldorado High School Home Economics Teacher Selected

At a recent meeting of the local board of education, Miss Margaret Gates of San Antonio was elected as teacher of home economics for the 1935-36 school year.

Miss Gates is a graduate of the University of Texas, with a Bachelor of Science degree in home economics. Since her graduation in 1932 she has been employed as teacher of home economics in the Fabens High School, where she has taught H. E. I, II, III, and adult classes.

Miss Gates is very highly recommended by her teachers at the University of Texas, by her present superintendent at Fabens, and by the State Home Economics Supervisors who have observed her work during the years she has taught.

Eldorado Bakery Using New Wrappers

The new Home Town Wrappers used by the local bakery has caused quite a bit of comment during the last few days. Mr. Lockett has selected this wrapper to better identify his bread as a home town product, baked fresh daily.

The Eldorado Bakery puts out clean, wholesome and sanitary bread. We have visited this shop and in our opinion Mr. Lockett knows his business.

C. M. Mund was in San Angelo Wednesday on business.

European Affairs Steadily Nearing Actual Hostilities

Students of European affairs have no lack of material these days—material that is both absorbing and appalling.

Top in interest is the Italian-Ethiopian embroglio, which progresses steadily toward war—most observers think actual hostilities will start in the fall. Premier Mussolini does most of his speaking from gun-carriages at present—and his remarks are the most war-like in post-war history. On the other side of the fence, black Emperor Haile Selassie pledges the life of every one of his subject to the defense of Ethiopian independence. In the meantime, foreigners are evacuating Addis Ababa, Ethiopian capital, on the advice of their consular representatives.

If war comes, Ethiopia will have two advantages—it will be able to muster an army of several million men accustomed to the almost incredibly hard country in which they live. (A recent book on Ethiopia bears the title, "The Hell Hole of Creation," and (See No. 4 Last Page)

1. Each girl going to the encampment must register with Miss Lora Farnsworth, county demonstration agent, or with Mildred Mund of Bailey Ranch, or Rosalyn Jones of Eldorado.

HOPKINS EMPHASIZES RURAL PHASE OF WORK PROGRESS ADMINISTRATION PROJECTS

The drive to employ the country's able workers on government jobs and to direct them into available private employment will not miss the country areas and small towns, Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress Administrator, said yesterday.

That there is urgent necessity to care for the Nation's rural and small town unemployed is shown by the fact that approximately 40 per cent of the 5,000,000 families on relief are to be found in the open country and towns under 5,000 in population, Mr. Hopkins said.

"The city used to be a giant magnet drawing unemployed labor from the country," Mr. Hopkins pointed out. "This is no longer true. For a while after the beginning of the depression, the flow was reversed, going from city to country. Now even this movement has slowed down. Unemployed needy people are in both city and country."

"Work is largely the answer for both areas," he said.

This is borne out by the fact that, contrary to the general belief, a majority of the families on (See No. 2 another page)

Six Eldorado Scouts Receive Merit Badges

At a court of honor held at Sonora Monday night of this week six Boy Scouts from Eldorado received 23 merit badges.

M. C. Laird completed tests for which he received four badges. He also completed work for the Eagle Scout badge, which will be presented in the near future. J. T. Ballew received five merit badges, Bob Bradley three, Joe Ed Hill four, Gordan McCormick two, and Will Bridgeman five.

E. W. Brooks, F. M. Bradley, and J. A. Whitten went along with these Scouts, all taking part in the ceremonies.

Special Sermons At Presbyterian Church

Four 'Nature Sermons', one to be preached each Sunday night during August, will be part of the program of the Presbyterian Church for this month, according to Mr. Wilkinson, the pastor. The different subjects to be discussed are The Sky, The Trees, The Grass, The Rain. These will fall in line with people's interests during the summer, and present the divine aspect of these things. The first of these will be given on next Sunday evening at 8:15. To make the setting appropriate these sermons will be delivered out-of-doors on the church lawn, if the weather permits.

Sheep Moved Here From Brady Section

Wednesday of this week the A. J. Burk Trucks moved 1200 head of sheep from the Harry Miller ranch near Brady to the Ed Willoughby ranch.

The sheep belong to Mr. Willoughby and he is having them moved back to his ranch after having them pastured in McCulloch county for a few months.

Eldorado High School Receives Affiliation In Home Economics

Notice has recently been received from J. W. O'Banion, Chief Supervisor of High Schools, that the local high school was granted affiliation credit in Home Economics for this accomplishment, of course, should go to the former superintendent of schools, Mr. R. D. Holt, and to the teacher of home economics during the 1934-35 session, Miss Marvel Ford.

In her report, Miss Ruth Huey, State Supervisor, recommended that the clothing laboratory be moved down stairs across the hall from the foods laboratory. The local Board of Education has authorized the necessary construction work to convert the two rooms across from the foods laboratory into an acceptable clothing department.

Miss Huey commended the work of our past home economics teacher by saying: "Miss Ford is an enthusiastic teacher who has been most interested in developing a home economics program (See No. 3 Last Page)

Three Eldorado Boys Will Attend Jamboree

M. C. Laird, Joe Ed Hill, and Gerald Nicks, local Boy Scouts are planning to attend the National Jamboree to be held at Washington, D. C., from August 21 to August 30.

M. C. Laird, has completed work for an Eagle Scout; Joe Ed Hill and Gerald Nicks are First Class Scouts.

The Nation's Capital promises to be the scene of the greatest assemblage of boys in the history of the United States. Plans are going forward for the encampment of 30,000 or more boys during their ten-day National Jamboree.

A camp is being laid off in typical Army fashion on Columbia Island, adjacent to the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway, near Four Mile Run.

Another camp site is in process of completion on the lower portion of Haines Point across from the War College. General Scout headquarters, located near the Fourteenth Street bridge on Columbia Island, are in the course of construction.

Now Is The Time To Make Sure Your Child Is Ready For School

Now is the time, according to Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, that every parent should ask himself if his child is physically ready for school. A visit to the family physician and dentist will answer this question and give time for the correction of minor defects before time for school to open.

A child with defective vision cannot be expected to do the required work in school until this handicap is removed. Inflamed, watery eyes, granulated lids, chronic styes, nervous actions as habitual winking, may be caused by defective vision and should be attended to immediately.

The far reaching effect of infected tonsils on the system has been recognized by health workers for many years. Many of the ills of later life, as heart disease, arthritis, deafness, etc., are directly traceable to tonsils that became infected during childhood and were allowed to remain untreated.

Dental defects are found in more children than any other imperfection, and for this reason children should be taken regularly to the dentist for examination and cleaning of the teeth. This precaution keeps the mouth clean and makes it possible to discover dental defects as soon as they appear.

Postural defects appear in the life of a child much sooner than we formerly suspected. Have your family physician see if your child's shoulder blades project and if his arches are low. Simple exercises, diligently adhered to when the child is young, will prevent later serious development in many cases.

H. R. Ahmore returned Wednesday from Santa Anna where he has been with his son, H. R. Jr., who was operated on for appendicitis last Saturday. The patient is convalescing at the Seeley hospital.

Tentative Program Eighth Ranchmen's Round-up Aug. 6, 7.

All of the interested public is invited to attend the entire function of the 8th Ranchmen's Round-up.

The educational topics for discussion during the occasion at the Ranch Experiment Station, 30 miles south of Sonora, are expected to be of the greatest importance to the stockmen of the Edwards Plateau. Men who are specialists in the various subjects listed have been secured for the discussions. It is felt that special interest will be manifested in "Blow-fly Control", by Dr. F. C. Bishopp and Roger Gillis, "Contagious and Parasitic Diseases of Sheep," Dr. I. B. Boughton, Veterinarian, "Mineral and Vitamin Requirements for Livestock," by Dr. H. Schmidt and W. T. Hardy, and "Range and Moisture Conservation" by the various speakers. It is intended that these discussions will give some light on what may be planned and done to control the blow flies, symptoms to look for and procedure to follow in diagnosing contagious and parasitic sheep diseases, the ailment shown in livestock when minerals and vitamins are deficient in their feed, and the benefits to be derived by proper range management to retain moisture and grass cover. The other subjects listed also have a very important bearing on the ranching industry.

Besides the educational features of the program there is entertainment planned for the evening of August 5th and 6th so that visitors may have the opportunity of a general get together for pleasure and profit. There will be picture shows, dancing and swimming.

Excellent camp grounds are available for the occasion. However, it will be necessary to bring camping equipment and provisions for morning and evening meals. For those who do not care to do their cooking there will be a short order counter available for their service. Free barbecue dinner with all the trimmings will be served on both days.

The Eldorado Parent- Teacher Association

This article makes no pretense of being anything but a brief and incomplete summary of the history of parent work in the Eldorado Independent School District. All the facts contained were gleaned from word of mouth information from charter members of the Parent-Teacher Association. Past records of the organization have not yet been uncovered, and without the kind assistance of a few local women this summary would not have been possible. Although errors in fact may exist, an earnest effort has been made to present the actual information as accurately as possible in the light of the information now obtainable.

COTTON FIELDS IN COUNTY GET SPRAY OF INSECT POISON

Farmers of this section are busy spraying their cotton fields for leaf worms.

The spread of the leaf worm is not expected to be great, as many of the farmers were quick to get busy in their fields to stop the insect damage.

The Eldorado Wool Company was on the job and got a shipment of poison here early this week.

Garage Being Built On Stewart Property

THE USEFUL CITIZEN

Speaking in behalf of that multitude of thrifty Americans who constitute the financial backbone of the nation. When money is saved only two things can be done with it. It may be hoarded or it may be invested. "Hoarded money returns no benefits to anyone." "The useful citizen is the investor. He is justified in demanding a fair deal from the Government. The investor class must be considered in all future legislation affecting business.

WHAT BUSINESS NEEDS

What business in general needs right now is an opportunity to consider long-term planning on a basis of reasonable profit yield. This is impossible so long as the national Administration insists upon legislation of doubtful constitutionality affecting business. The interests of the investor are inseparably linked with this economic dilemma.

STOP THE NATIONAL WASTE

The best way to balance the national budget is not by taxing the people poor—it is to reduce government expenses. Stop the waste of billions of borrowed dollars in foolhardy undertakings.

WHAT GETS SOAKED?

"Soak-the-rich" legislation may play havoc with a few very large estates, which is what it is intended to do, but in the end it is always the frugal middle class that really gets "soaked."

CASH IN ON BIG FEED CROPS

The late Col. Frank P. Holland often remarked that no matter what the price of cotton, years of large yields of food and feed were prosperous years in Texas. Col. Holland did not say that feed crops rotting in the fields or destroyed by weevils or rats contributed to prosperity, but foodstuffs utilized to the best advantage in the fattening of livestock for home use or for the markets; feedstuffs consumed by work animals to keep them healthy and in condition to render service and feedstuffs stored in silos, bins and stacks for use in periods of shortage and high prices was an important factor in the measure of prosperity of this State.

H. H. Williamson, Director of Extension in Texas, calls attention to the fact that last year the farmers were out picking up tumble weeds, burning the spines off cactus, and cleaning the fence corners to gather the weeds to grind up for feed to keep their cattle, sheep and goats from starving to death. Several million dollars were borrowed in Texas with which to buy feed. Over 2,000,000 head of cattle and 1,080,000 head of sheep and goats were sold to the Government because their owners did not have the feed with which to keep them alive. "This year," said Mr. Williamson, "we have produced in Texas not only a full supply of feed for winter but if we harvest the crop as we should, we will have almost another year's supply on hand," and he asks farmers that they are going to do with it.

The Extension Service, the Breeder-Feeder Association, the cotton mills, the Hardware and Implement Club, the Texas Bankers' Association, and all other agencies interested in agriculture, because their prosperity depends directly upon that of the farmers, are as one in urging not only full feeding of livestock for home consumption, but the feeding of cattle, lambs and hogs to a complete finish for the market. In addition, they urge the storing of that feed which remains and cannot be consumed, in silos, stacks and bins, for the time may come unexpectedly when this surplus will save many dollars to those who have conserved it.

The Breeder-Feeder Association kept alive its interest in the development of producing and finishing of livestock in the Southwest even during the period of drouth and shortage of feed, believing that the balanced program with livestock is the safest and most profitable kind of farming. The production of an exceptionally heavy crop of feedstuffs again centers interest in the work of this Association. Recently a meeting was held in the office of its president, Fank P. Holland Jr., many interests being represented, and there it was decided that an emergency existed and that Texas could easily make a profit out of its feedstuffs corps, or, through indifference and inattention, it could suffer a great loss. As a result, every agency interested in a profitable development of agriculture has combined their efforts with that of the Extension Service to work out a program of feeding and conservation. Every county agent in the State of Texas has been put on notice that merchants, bankers, oil mill interests, and others stand ready to cooperate with them in organizing and in putting over a program for feeding and saving the bounteous yields of grains, sorghums, and other feed crops.

It is realized that if farmers attempt to harvest and sell this crop on a cash market, that prices will decline far below the cost of production. It is believed that if livestock are fed for the market and properly finished, that a handsome profit will be realized, for there are no signs at this time that the livestock market will decline materially. One-half the crop on a cash market will bring more than all get if an attempt were made to market it. With these facts in view, the Breeder-Feeder Association and the Extension Service, together with other agencies, urge upon business men and bankers to render such aid as may be necessary to provide the animals and facilities for the finishing of beef cattle and lambs, and to encourage every farmer, owner-operator or tenant to provide himself with a sufficient number of cows, hogs and poultry to provide his family with an abundance of meat, milk, poultry and eggs. It is also urged that work stock and breeding animals be fed liberally. Any animal of good breeding, properly fed with our cheap feedstuffs, should bring a good price for the feeds consumed. Texas farmers should take advantage of the opportunities thus presented to balance their program with livestock. Should the Supreme Court of the United States sustain the findings of the United States Circuit Court and declare the processing tax unconstitutional, it will become all the more necessary that farmers, again thrown back on their own resources, should have a profitable program which will permit the voluntary control of their cotton acreage.

THE LETTER BOX

(The Success welcomes expressions of opinion on any subject from our readers. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers, and are not to be taken as expressing the sentiments or policy of this paper. All communications for this column must be signed by writer.)

I notice an article in the Success July 12, entitled Schleicher and its progressive people, it is fine or most of it. Yes Schleicher has moved up in the last thirty-five years, and has some fine homes, good stock, good farmers and the best people in the world. But, when it comes to the roads I will have to differ with the one who wrote the article. Now my friends you must not have traveled over these lateral roads you speak of or mabe you have traveled them and don't know what goods roads are. I am sure you would not have spoke of them as good roads if you had known what goods roads are. They are not only bad in rainy weather but even when dry they are a disgrace to any county I know we have had three or four years of drouth and depression and it hit us all hard, but how about the other thirty-one or two years before these hard times hit as it seems to me that at least we could have kept up with the adjoining counties in road building. We all know there is not a road in the county you can travel when it is raining—except the State Highway. And I am not telling any fairy tales when I say our Schleicher county roads are just a joke to the people that don't live here, and I'll be darned if they are any joke to us who have to travel them. I am not mad at our commissioners, don't get me wrong for I like them all and think they are the best men in the world, but I do wish they would wake up to the fact that we can travel in all sorts of weather. We have to eat when it is raining the same as when it is dry, but there are times (not after) for weeks when we are compelled to go to other towns to get our supplies and if we happen to need a doctor in rainy weather it is just too bad. Now people just don't act like these roads are good enough for us as the one who wrote the article referred to but for God's sake wake up and demand better roads and keep on demanding until we get them. I believe if it was left to a vote to leave the roads as they are now or to do away with the lanes or the graded roads and let us go through pastures as we used to do, so when there was a mud hole or bad place we could go around ninety percent would vote to go through the pastures. Lets hear from some one else about our roads some one who lives out in the country not on the Highway or in town.

about 1912, twenty-three years ago. Mr. F. B. Bennett was superintendent of the Eldorado schools at the time of the organization of the club here, and Mrs. W. B. Silliman acted as temporary chairman during the organizing meeting. The official organ of the Mothers Club in Texas was the Mothers Magazine.

Mrs. Phil McCormick was the first president, but she resigned after only two or three months of service because of ill health, and Mrs. D. C. Hill was appointed to serve as president for the remainder of the 1912-13 school term. Mrs. R. P. Hinyard acted as secretary for the two years existence of the club in Eldorado, and Mrs. D. C. Hill was elected as president for the second year. Some of the charter members of the Mothers Club were Mesdames W. B. Silliman, R. P. Hinyard, D. C. Hill, D. E. DeLong, Elwood Tisdale, W. N. Ramsay, J. A. Whitten, Phil McCormick, and William Whitfield.

The Parent-Teacher Association

At the close of the 1913-14 school year the name of the organization was changed to the Parent-Teacher Association. During the first year of the new organization Mrs. J. N. Davis was president, and she later became the first delegate to attend a state meeting as a representative of the Eldorado P. T. A.

Among those who have served as president of the Parent-Teacher Association since its organization, in addition to those already named, are Mesdames A. O. Beavers, R. P. Hinyard, Elwood Tisdale, G. L. Lewis, Joab Campbell, V. G. Tisdale, Bert Page, E. W. Brooks, O. W. Alexander, J. L. Neill, A. J. Atkins, R. D. Holt, and Robert Milligan.

Although the men have never been very active in Parent-Teacher work, Messrs. W. T. Conner, W. B. Silliman, and C. C. Doty were staunch supporters of the association during the early years of its existence in Eldorado.

Accomplishments of the P.T.A.

The association has always given liberally of its time, efforts, and money in bettering the school plant. The first project, undertaken during the first year of the existence of the association, was the construction, with some financial aid from the school board, of two concrete drinking fountains which are still in use.

The second project of the P.T.A. was the purchase for the school library of an encyclopaedia, World Histories, and other volumes. The school still has the encyclopaedia set, although of course its use has largely been supplanted by more recent publications.

The association was active in agitating movements for the addition of the eleventh grade to the high school work, and for obtaining affiliation with the Texas State Department of Education. Through the efforts of the organization, women were placed on the school board, and the independent district was enlarged during their term of office.

In 1920, during the presidency of Mrs. Bert Page, the association purchased for the school with the assistance of the school board a merry-go-round and the steel swings which are still in use.

In recent years the P.T.A. has done much to improve the school and plant. The organization bought shrubs which now beautify the old school building, it purchased the new drapes for the auditorium stage, and donated fifty dollars toward the installation of a water heater in the bath house. In addition, the association has been active in raising the health standards of the school children, and has brought health nurses to Eldorado to examine, vaccinate, and immunize the children.

The Texas Outlook for July, 1935 contains an editorial pointing out the rapid growth of the Parent-Teacher work in this state: "Membership in the Texas branch of the Congress of Parents and Teachers for 1935 has reached its highest point. The total enrollment is now 96,537, which represents an increase of 15 per cent for the year. This rapid development indicates a growing interest on the part of parents in the work of the organization which is contributing so much to the development of a closer relationship between the home and the school. Such an accomplishment is gratifying to every friend of public education, which has profited so largely from the organized, cooperative efforts of parents and teachers."

relief in the open country are those whose economics heads, whether men or women, are not farm operators. They comprise a group of workers who maintained themselves in the past by working at a great variety of trades and jobs.

"It is plain that the country and small town problem is not predominantly a farm operator problem but essentially one of finding work for non agricultural workers, just as it is in the city," Mr. Hopkins declared.

"Plans are being made under the $4,000,000,000 Works Program to take care of the rural unemployed who were on relief rolls as of May 1935," he continued. "One of the main features of this program will be an extensive secondary road-building program. A substantial sum will be spent by the Works Progress Administration for this purpose."

About two-thirds of the roads in the United States are not State highways subject to Federal funds. It is these roads which will come under the Works Progress Administration.

In addition to the secondary road program, other measures designed to alleviate the unemployed problem in the rural areas include the following:

Construction projects of various kinds, such as small dams, levee building, rebuilding streets, waterworks and sewage disposal, extension of lighting systems, community sanitation projects, recreational projects, stream pollution control, and sanitary surveys. The Resettlement Administration will also have a program for rural areas to aid farm families.

Mr. Hopkins pointed out that attempts were being made to provide employment for as many types of skills as possible.

"We have found that to meet the employment needs of the rural relief population," Mr. Hopkins said, "the Works Program must provide for a wide range of occupational skills. That is, we must as nearly as possible put people to doing the work they have been used to. This is important to keep human talent and abilities from deteriorating.

"When they get opportunities to resume private employment we don't want them demoralized from the dole. Our people don't want a hand-out, but something to help them hold their heads up. This is what the Works Program is attempting to do."

Figures from the research studies of the Works Progress Administration show that there are nearly 2,100,000 rural and small town households receiving relief. Of this number, a total of 1,500,000 families, or 71 percent, were families with other than farm operator heads. This number includes farm laborer families.

About 600,000 households, or 29 per cent of the total, were families whose heads were classified as farm operators. Of this number, about 48 per cent were tenant families, 38 per cent were farm owners, and 14 percent were families of farm croppers living in the southern states.

The great majority of the 1,500,000 non farmer heads of rural and town households on relief are unskilled laborers. One-third of them are unskilled industrial laborers, while more than 350,000 are farm laborers. Another 350,000 are skilled and semi-skilled industrial workers. "White collar" workers, including professional, proprietary, and clerical workers, include 100,000 heads. There are 60,000 servants in the group.

The above were based on proportions revealed in 138 sample counties selected as representative of the nine major agricultural areas. These counties contained eight percent of all rural and town families in the general population of the areas they represented. The areas, in turn, contained 54 percent of all such families in the United States as a whole.

The States included in the study were Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

State Teachers Association Opposes Free Textbooks for Private Schools

Senate Joint Resolution No. 24, commonly known as the free textbook amendment, will be submitted to the voters of Texas on August 24. On the ballot will appear these words: "FOR OR AGAINST THE AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF TEXAS PERMITTING THE FURNISHING OF FREE TEXTBOOKS OF EACH CHILD OF SCHOLASTIC AGE ATTENDING ANY SCHOOL IN THIS STATE."

"The Texas State Teachers Association bears no ill will toward private and denominational schools. It has no desire to antagonize them. The officers and executive committee feel, however, that the proposed amendment should be defeated, for the following reasons:

1) It would compel the state to spend tax money for textbooks to be used in schools over which the state has no control, either as to the subject taught, standards of instruction, or as to the qualifications of teachers employed. The resolution reads any school.

2. If this amendment should carry, the funds used to purchase textbooks for private and parochial schools would be taken off the available school fund of the state.

3. The proposal would set a dangerous precedent in that it would violate a well established policy of both the state and the nation, viz., the policy of refusing to subsidize, even indirectly, a private or sectarian educational enterprise. It is argued that every scholastic in Texas is entitled free textbooks. True, provided he exercises this right under the regulations set up by the state. Likewise every scholastic is entitled to free tuition, provided he avails himself of the privilege upon the terms prescribed by the state. If it is proper to spend public funds to provide textbooks for pupils who do not attend public school, it must logically follow that these same pupils, not in public school, have a right to have their tuition paid at public expense."

WILL TEXANS REMEMBER THE ALAMO AND GOLIAD AUGUST 24TH?

The citizens of Texas will decide on Saturday, August 24, 1935, whether state funds raised by taxation shall be used to supply text books free to all school children within scholastic age who may be attending any school—private, or otherwise.

The Texas Legislature, at its recent session, submitted this question to the voters in the forms of an amendment to the state constitution. It came up with little advanced notice with other proposed amendments, it is claimed; and only a few members availed themselves of an opportunity to debate the issue.

Free text books are now provided for pupils who attend the public schools of Texas. It would seem only fair that state funds should be made available for the distribution of free school books to all children alike, irrespective of the schools they attend. However, it is pointed out that such liberality by the state raises the old issue of Church and State. A state cannot use public funds for the support of sectarian schools to any extent whatsoever, it is declared, without becoming involved in the establishment of a State and Church regime.

There has already grown up in many of the states, almost imperceptibly, two competitive school systems—one public and the other sectarian or parochial. In a few communities of some of the states, the sectarian or parochial school has crowded out the once flourishing public school with the natural result that public funds have been demanded for the support of the Church school.

The opponents of the proposed school book amendment are concerned directly with the question of the continuance of the separation of Church and State. They maintain that every dollar of public funds that goes to the direct or indirect support of a sectarian or parochial school only tends to destroy the force and value of public education to our democratic institutions, but aids efforts to reestablish the old relationship of Church and State. They hold that every citizen in Texas is confronted, not with the simple, beautiful sentiment of supplying every child in his state with free text books from funds of the state treasury regardless of the character of the school the child attends, but with the momentous question as to whether he is willing to discard the American principle of keeping separate the relations of Church and State.

The opponents, aware of the sentimental appeal for the child in the proposed amendment, point to liberties of the people to be conserved and made stronger through the development of a finer and better public school system. That development, they say cannot take place if the enemies of public education be given the right to drain away the means of public education.

A MODERN DUODECIMIO OF HEALTH

Of every 100 persons that are now alive, 36 will die from preventable diseases before they reach sixty-five years of age. If you want to be one of the sixty-four who reach the age of sixty-five follow these rules, part of which are Dr. Thomas D. Woods' creed of keeping fit:

1. Eat less, chew more.
2. Smoke less, breathe more.
3. Ride less, walk more.
4. Bundle less, bathe more.
5. Worry less, work more.
6. Hurry less, read more.
7. Idle less, play more.
8. Talk less, think more.
9. Go less, sleep more.
10. Waste less, give more.
11. Scold less, laugh more.
12. Preach less, practice more.

Scold less and laugh more, for there are far too few "morning faces" seen today in our thorough-fares, instead there is a worried tired look as though people had forgotten how to smile. The depression has taken much cheer out of the world. Stocks and bonds can go, but the radiance must not go from our every day living. Let us not forget the healthful exercise of laughter. Some one has said it takes fewer muscles to smile than frown.

Childhood loves laughter and life. Children exercise. They are always moving and growing. They are happily busy and busily happy. This is why they live abundantly.

Health is the greatest asset of the human race. Daily are we beginning to wake up to the fact that physicians are for the purpose of keeping us well rather than getting us well. Not only is individual health kept constantly before the public mind with its health column in the newspapers, cautioning over-eaters, the radio answering diet questions, outdoor summer camps for younger children, and health books and magazines, but community health is being brought to the laity also through cities' safe water and milk supply, cleanliness of streets and new methods of sewage disposal.

Health at its best means resistance to disease, relaxation from mental tension, calm from anxiety, regularity at all times, recreative power through play, temperate living and thinking, spiritual enthusiasm for one's work. Health brings a radiance in our living and gives us and others life abundant.

COURAGE

Advertising tests character, because to succeed in it a man must have faith, courage and trust in himself.

When James B. Duke, the tobacco king, died, he was rated as worth ninety million dollars.

His father, Washington Duke, founded the business of which James B. Duke was at the head at the time of his death. It is related that while father and son were both living and partners in the tobacco enterprise, the younger man pledged the firm's credit for $750,000 to be spent in advertising during a period of twelve months. When the old man was informed of this, he lay awake for three nights worrying over what he regarded as certain ruin, for the company's entire assets didn't equal the amount contracted for to be spent in publicity.

Finally, when the advertising began to pull, orders poured in so fast they could hardly take care of them. At the end of the twelve months every cent of the advertising was paid for and assets of the firm were several millions.

STATE ACT FOR DISTRESSED DEBTORS UNCONSTITUTIONAL

The Court of Civil Appeals for the Eleventh Supreme Judicial District of Texas, in an opinion just rendered, has held the Texas counterpart of the Federal "Frazier-Lemke" Act void. The law, declared invalid, was passed by the Forty-Third Legislature, Third Called Session, entitled "An Act for the Recognition of Distressed Debtors." The Court held the law impaired the obligation of contracts in contravention of the Constitution of Texas, and the United States.

The opinion is the first interpretation of the statute by an Appellate Court. In construing the Act, the Court stated that "this Statute turns the contract and security for debts over to the Court for it to make a new contract for the parties and to parcel out the assets of the debtor when and as it may deem advisable. Under this Statute, the rights of the creditor under the contract, and under the law at the time of the execution of the contract, in the event of default by the debtor, to have the personal property described in the chattel mortgage and the real estate described in the deed of trust sold and applied on the debt, and the further right, if the property did not sell for enough to satisfy the debt, to obtain a personal judgment against the debtor for the deficiency therein, or not only delayed, but are permanently taken from him. This cannot lawfully be done."

Attention was called, in the opinion, to the similarity of the provisions of the State Act, and the Frazier-Lemke Act (Federal Farm Moratorium Act), which was recently declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States.

FEDERAL AID FOR RURAL SCHOOL TEACHERS

Checks for paying approximately 8,000 rural school teachers of Texas under the federal aid program which enabled nearly 1500 schools this year to complete normal terms are being prepared and will be in the mails shortly, State Relief Director Adam R. Johnson has announced.

Unwillingly to see rural schools close two or three months short of a normal term at the penalty of the rural youth of Texas, the FERA early last spring agreed to pay a portion of teachers' salaries in schools in towns and communities under 5,000 population which were unable to complete a full term on their own finances.

CARE OF MEAT IN HOME IMPORTANT

In summertime, much depends on the proper storing of foods so that they will keep and keep with as little deterioration as possible. Meat, either cooked or uncooked, of course, should be stored in a cool place. But what about the way it is stored? Should it be covered or uncovered?

According to Inez S. Wilson, home economics, meat which is to be used within a few days, should be lightly covered, so that there is some circulation of air around it, but still not enough that it becomes hard and dry on the surface. Placing the meat in a loosely covered refrigerator dish, or wrapping it loosely in wax paper and placing it in the refrigerator gives the best results.

FOR VACATION MEALS

Vacation days should be lazy days even for the one who prepares the meals, whether the vacation is spent at the cottage or en route at tourists' cabins. In any case, a generous supply of canned meats is a big help in preparing meals, says Inez S. Wilson, home economics.

Canned meats, besides being cooked and ready to serve when no more than reheated, have the added advantage of being easily stored. So you can order enough at one time to last throughout the entire vacation.

The canned meats may be reheated and served as they come, or they may be combined with other foods, just as you wish. Quickly cooked foods such as eggs and bacon often furnish the addition, although vegetables such as green beans and peas make splendid "one-dish" combinations with the canned meats.

visitors to Ethiopia say that description is not exaggerated.) On the other hand, it has no artillery worth of the name, only a few out-of-date airplanes, and even lacks modern repeating military rifles.

Italy is of course equipped in up-to-the-minute military style, with the latest in machine guns, tanks, field guns, rifles, gas, etc. Military authorities are confident she will win—though at a terrific cost of life, and over a longish period of time.

The problem is further complicated now by the appearance of Japan with a warning to Italy that Nippon intends to keep her Ethiopian markets. Japan is as much a first-class military power as Italy—and Mussolini doesn't want trouble with her.
