On The DIVIDE

A NEW SIGN

Ed Ratliff has an attractive new sign at his place just north of town. The sign reads: "Ed Ratliff, Breeder of Registered Stock, Hereford Cattle, Rambouillet Sheep."

THEY CAUGHT HIM!

In most instances a patient usually catches the disease, but this is a case where the disease caught the patient.

On top of his manifold duties as superintendent of the Eldorado schools, Supt. J. Carlton Smith has had the added task of dodging every contagious disease that comes along. This, we suppose, is the penalty for not having them when a child.

But he isn't quite as adept at dodging as he is in managing school affairs. He didn't dodge the mumps—and now it's the measles. We're informed that he's entertaining a nice case of them this week. He didn't catch them—he just forgot to dodge one time, and they caught him!

We hope he gets well in time to get "his diploma" at commencement.

THEY GOT BITES

Paul Nixon and son, Lester, Fred Watson and Bill Sanders spent last Friday and Friday night on the Concho river near San Angelo fishing. They reported one mighty good mess of fish.

They also plenty of bites—mosquito bites! In fact, some of them couldn't decide whether they were fishing or mosquito hunting. They were very successful in the latter.

HE SAW WHAT HE SAW!

Postmaster E. W. Brooks was standing on the street Monday, and noticed an ambulance in front of the Ratliff Store.

"Take somebody to the hospital?" he inquired.

"No," was the reply.

"Bring somebody home?"

"No."

"Somebody dead?", and again came the negative reply.

"That your ambulance?" Brooks queried again.

"Yes, it's a new one!"

"Oh! It is a new one!" I thought it was your old one parked there," and Brooks went on down the street, probably wishing he could kick himself for not being a close observer!

IT'S WOOL SEASON

A day never passes that the local wool house does not receive several truck loads of Schleicher county wool, which means that local ranchmen have started shearing in a big way.

A number of ranchmen who have not begun shearing operations expect to start on about the 20th of this month. The local warehouse, which had been almost empty for some time, is fast filling up and soon she'll be stacked plumb to the roof with Schleicher county fleeces.

And at the present price of wool, that will represent no little sum of money!

Eldorado's Funeral Home To Hold Its Formal Opening Saturday And Sunday Of This Week

Mrs. DeLong And Mrs. West To Serve As Hostesses

COLD LEMONADE TO BE SERVED VISITORS

J. L. Ratliff has announced the formal opening of the new Eldorado Funeral Home for next Saturday and Sunday. Opening at noon Saturday, the home will remain open until eight o'clock Saturday night so that everyone will have an opportunity to see the attractiveness of the new home and equipment.

So there will be no conflict with the Sunday morning church services, Mr. Ratliff stated that the funeral home would not be opened Sunday morning. It will be opened to visitors at one o'clock Sunday afternoon and will remain open until nine o'clock Sunday night.

Hostesses Named

Ice cold lemonade will be served to all who visit the funeral home during Saturday afternoon and Sunday afternoon. Someone will be on hand to serve you as you enter.

Mrs. D. E. DeLong and Mrs. C. C. West have agreed to act as hostesses during the formal opening, and they will be present to greet the visitors. Mr. Ratliff will also spend as much time there as possible on Saturday afternoon, and will be present during all of Sunday afternoon.

"We want all of Schleicher county to visit us and see the home and equipment," Mr. Ratliff said. "Phone your friends to (See No. 1 Last Page)

Beneficial Rains Again Make Mud Of Schleicher Soil

Rain which reached almost enormous proportions in some parts of the county again brought moisture a plenty to Schleicher county last Sunday and Sunday night.

Jack Whitley was in from the ranch Wednesday and said he didn't know how much it rained—he was too busy building fence—but he knew it rained a washtub half full.

Reports from various parts of the county estimate the rainfalls from 3 to 6 inches, although some few folks reported less. This rain, coupled with that which fell on Thursday night of last week, places this county in tip-top shape, so far as moisture is concerned.

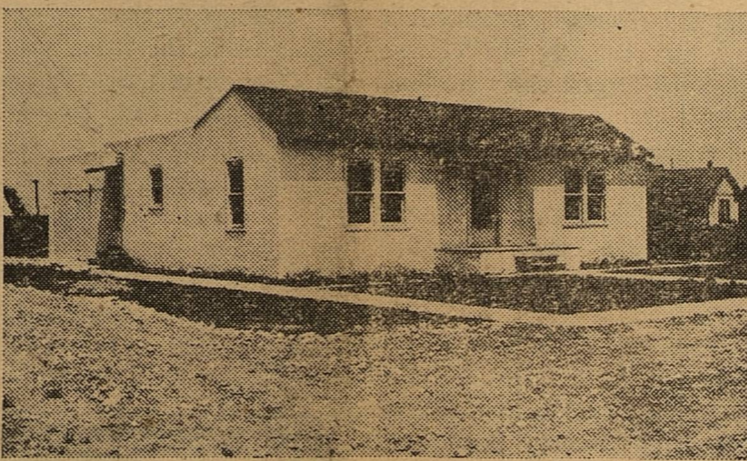

Just a few more showers at the right time will mean a bumper year for Schleicher county.

CANADIAN PASTOR TO PREACH NEXT SUNDAY AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. F. A. Fite, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Canadian Texas, will preach at the Baptist church in Eldorado next Sunday at the eleven o'clock hour.

Rev. Fite is recommended as an interesting and forceful preacher, and the entire public is cordially invited to attend this service and hear him.

DISEASE NOTICE

21 DAY RULE WAIVED FOR STUDENTS TO TAKE FINAL EXAMS

Must Have Doctor's Permit, Or Rule Will Apply

Because of the large number of students who will miss final exams under the twenty-one day rule, students will be permitted to return to take their final examinations if they obtain a doctor's permit to do so. That is, students taking the disease late enough to exclude them from final exams under the twenty-one day rule, may, if they secure a doctor's permit, come back to school a few days early in order to take their final exams. In no case will the 21 day rule be waived except for students who would otherwise miss their exams.

Final exams will be held on June 10 and 11 for students who contract the disease too late in the year to be able to take their final exams at the regular time.

Students are warned that the use of the eyes too soon after taking measles may permanently injure them, and any review work done perhaps should be done orally with the help of another person. Some allowance will necessarily be made for the fact that students cannot make a thorough review.

J. I. SMITH ENTERS COLT IN SHOW AT FORT RENO; PLACES SECOND

J. I. Smith, well known Schleicher county resident, returned home last Friday from Fort Reno Oklahoma, where he had been attending the Fort Reno Colt Show, which closed there on May 5th.

Mr. Smith entered a colt sired by Village Sport in the show, and his entrant placed second in the judging. The colt's dam was Saucy Sadie.

Rev. and Mrs. F. G. Clark of San Antonio spent the first of this week with friends in Eldorado. Rev. and Mrs. Clark, who moved to San Antonio last winter, are contemplating returning to Eldorado to make their home.

SPEAKER AT SHORT COURSE IN DENTON

Miss Julia O. Newton, Chief of the Family Section of the Farm Credit Administration at Washington, D. C., who will speak on the Short Course program at Texas State College for Women, Saturday, May 21.

San Antonio Man Opens Snipes Baking Company Here

Experienced Baker Is Now Operating Bakery At Old Location

Eldorado has a bakery! The Snipes Baking Co., under the management of Roy Snipes, formerly of San Antonio, opened for business this week.

Mr. Snipes is an experienced baker, having had some twenty years of experience in this business. He comes to Eldorado well recommended in his profession, and as a man who will work for the interest of the town and community. He was formerly employed by the National Biscuit and Bread Co. of San Antonio.

Mr. Snipes stated that his family is still in San Antonio, where his children are in school. They expect to join him in Eldorado as soon as this school term closes.

"We do not solicit your business just because we are operating an Eldorado concern," Snipes stated, "but we want you to try our products and see for yourself that they will compare See No. 2 Last Page

Mrs. T. J. Bailey of Abilene is here this week visiting her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Roach.

Ratliff Returns Sunday With New Funeral Car

J. L. Ratliff went to Mineral Wells last week-end, returning home Sunday night with a new combination funeral car and ambulance for the Eldorado Funeral Service. The car was delivered to Mineral Wells by the A. J. Miller Company of Bellefontaine Ohio.

The car was to have been in Mineral Wells to be displayed during the convention of funeral directors last week, but the company was unable to complete the job in time for the convention.

The car is large and roomy, and is second to none in this section. As an ambulance, it is fully equipped with ambulance cot and all conveniences; and the car can easily be converted into a funeral coach. It is a special build job, being constructed by the Miller Company according to specifications selected by Mr. Ratliff on a Nash chassis.

The new car will be displayed at the formal opening of the Eldorado Funeral Home next Saturday and Sunday.

"The Texas Navy" Is Placed In Library Of Local School

The book written by Jim Dan Hill "The Texas Navy," has just been placed in the school library. Dr. Hill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Hill of Eldorado, and is at present president of the State Teachers College at Superior, Wisconsin.

The foreword to the book was written by Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., from which we quote in part.

"The Half-back who tears down the field with the football tucked under his arm and makes the touchdown gets the headlines. The guard who opened up the hole which made the run possible gets never a sentence.

"This has been the fate of the Texas Navy. . . . Dr. Hill in this book has rescued the Texas Navy from the shadowy obscurity in which it has lurked. He has given to it the importance it deserves, for it is no exaggeration to say that without it there would probably have been no Lone Star Republic and possibly the State of Texas would still be a part of Mexico."

Students are invited to read this interesting and enlightening book on Texas history written by a graduate of Eldorado High School who has made good.

Mexican Is Given Two Years In Trial At Fort Stockton

CONVICTED FOR KILLING OF LOCAL MEXICAN AT SHEEP SHEARING CAMP

Jesus De La Santor Jr., was convicted for the slaying of Aguido Barrera, Eldorado Mexican, in a fight at a sheep shearing camp on April 26th. The trial was held at Fort Stockton last week, and the Mexican was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

According to reports received here, the jurors were disagreed for approximately two days. Some were for a suspended sentence, while one juror was holding out for a 50-year sentence, it was reported. They finally agreed on a sentence of two years.

Pupils Placed On Honor Roll In Piano Tourney

A concert last Saturday night at which Dr. Elliot Griffis of New York presented some of his compositions was the climax to the two-day National Piano Playing Tournament held in the Crystal Ballroom at the Cactus Hotel San Angelo Friday and Saturday.

Dr. Griffis judged the Tourney, which is sponsored annually by the National Guild of Piano Teachers. Rankings were national, state and district honor rolls, according to the number of pieces played by the student, and good, high and highest according to how well they were played.

Miss Mollie Turner of Eldorado entered four of her students; Helen Thompson, Frankie Thompson, Geraldine Blaylock and Horace Rees. All four were placed on the Honor Roll.

Horace Rees won district high, Helen Thompson, Frankie Thompson and Geraldine Blaylock won National high. Each of them won a medal. Frankie Thompson made the highest grades. Frankie Thompson and Geraldine Blaylock made a tie on their certificate rating. Each was marked excellent. Dr. Griffis was lavish in praise of this group, and said they had done good work for the time they had studied. Their grades were sent in to National headquarters, and they will receive their certificates and medals later.

Methodist Revival To Open On First Sunday In June

Miles Pastor To Conduct Revival Will Run Thru Two Weeks

Members of the First Methodist Church of Eldorado have begun to make preparations for their annual revival meeting, which will open here on the first Sunday morning in June.

Rev. J. W. Leggett, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Miles, Texas, has been secured as the evangelist to hold this revival. Rev. Leggett, who is serving his first year as pastor at Miles, is recognized as an outstanding pastor and evangelist in the West Texas Conference.

The revival will continue through a period of two weeks, with both morning and evening services being held.

"AS MAINE GOES—"

Maine is certainly pointing the way for traffic accident control, in at least one respect. That is, curtailing the activities of the drunken driver.

A survey recently completed by the Maine Highway Safety Campaign revealed that one-fifth of motor vehicle fatalities in Maine in 1936 had liquor associated with them. Even in 1936 Maine had effectively reduced traffic fatalities as compared with the preceding year. However, not satisfied with partial success, she is now setting out to better her own record with special emphasis placed on drunken driving. The motor vehicle division urged better cooperation by the courts in handling cases involving drunkenness, and held certain "legal loopholes" and technicalities to be inimical to effective law enforcement.

Public officials, as well as the citizens of Maine, realize that the drunken driver is a criminal to be handled the same as any other criminal. Both menace society. There is absolutely no excuse for driving while under the influence of liquor. Every person doing so is a potential murderer. In some respects the drunken driver is even worse than the average murderer because the murderer usually commits his crime in the heat of passion. The drunken driver blunders along with callous indifference toward all who are unfortunate enough to be in his path of death.

Maine is to be congratulated, as are all other states that take a determined stand to "wipe out" the drunken driver.

EFFECTS OF SALES TAX IN SCHLEICHER COUNTY

Schleicher County merchants do a total retail business of $505,300 and a 2 per cent sales tax as now proposed in the Texas Legislature would yield $10,106 from this county, while the sales tax burden to be borne by each resident of the county would amount to $3.19 per year.

These figures are based on a recent census of the United States Department of Commerce and are contained in an eight-page pamphlet, "Texas Taxes, A Suggested Solution," being distributed by Rev. J. Earnest Stack of Houston, Editor of the Christian American.

Other enlightening facts contained in the pamphlet include:

"A two per cent sales tax will yield $28,652,300 in annual recurring revenue to the State of Texas.

"The yearly volume of business done by the 70,000 retail establishments of Texas is approximately $1,432,615,000.

"Under a 2 per cent retail sales tax each inhabitant of Texas would be required to pay $4.72 per year.

"Sales tax collections per store under a 2 per cent levy would amount to $417.20 annually.

"Forty-five per cent of the sales tax revenue would come from 10 counties in Texas in which the largest cities are located."

Dr. Stack, a well-known Baptist Minister, recently made the public statement that burdensome and excessive taxes were hampering religious activities in Texas.

"Any man or woman who ever served on a Church Finance Committee knows only too well that 'High Taxes' is too often given as the reason for failure to meet obligations to the Church," Dr. Stack said.

Three hundred sixty-one boys in the Wichita Falls district are working parttime on diversified National Youth Administration highway projects. Under the supervision of the state Highway Department, these boys are completing 4 roadside parks, flattening slopes, filling ditches, constructing ditch retards, graveling mail box turn-outs, and planting trees.

SIGN-UP IN AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION PROGRAM:
VIRTUALLY COMPLETE

The final date for acceptance of work sheets under the agricultural Conservation Program has been set for May 15 by the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee, according to Geo. Slaughter, chairman. The committee has approved an earlier closing date for many counties where the sign-up is well advanced.

Indications are that approximately 240,000 work sheets will be signed for the 1937 program. Of these, some 15,000 cover ranches with a combined acreage of 53,000,000 acres which will take part in the range conservation feature of the program.

The sign-up this year is progressing rapidly, and is three months ahead of the 1936 participation in the program. Slaughter pointed out that due to the advanced stage of the sign-up, it would not be possible for the state committee to accept any work sheets after May 15.

IN MEMORY OF OUR FATHER
WARREN DAVIS

There is no death—the stars go down
To rise upon some fairer shore;
And bright in heaven's jeweled crown,
They shine forever more.

They are not dead, they have but passed
To another land; a home not made with hands,
Just another star added to the crown of glory,
Just another day, and we will meet you.

Where there is no partings or sad goodbyes
Our father gentle, kind and true,
For a while we lose you,
The father we all knew.

Thro happy years, a wondrous father,
In health we heard your laughter ring,
In sickness you bore your cross
Without a word of complaint.

We watched as you went toward the west,
In search of health and bodily rest,
With hopes depressed, draw near the cross;
We knew Christ would lead the way,
Towards the evening of a better day.

You are not dead—You have dropped your robe of clay
To put on your shining raiment
You are not lost or gone, but waiting
At journey's end to welcome us, our gentle, kind father.
A Daughter.

CANNED GREENS

"I canned nine number two cans of greens from three short rows of mustard greens in my garden" said Mrs. E. E. Menges who lives in the Mayer Community but who is a member of the Eldorado Home Demonstration Club.

Mrs. Menges cuts the tender tops from the greens and leaves the roots to produce more tops. In this manner, she can keep the essential green, leafy vegetables producing enough for her use on the table and for canning. By canning them in small quantities the work is not too heavy and she can maintain the Home Demonstration slogan "from garden to jar in two hours," thus producing canned products of better flavor and nutritional value.

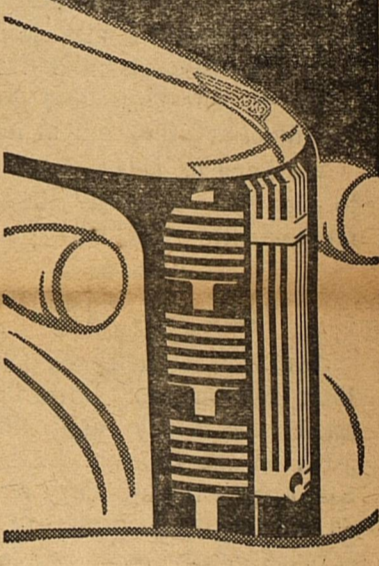

"The National Youth Administration is the American approach to the problems of growing-up youth," J. C. Kellam, acting state director for the NYA told the Texas Conference of Social Welfare at a state-wide meeting hold in Abilene recently.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

Austin.—Veto by Gov. Allred of the commercial carrier bill, written by the legislature in an effort to permit private business concerns to deliver their products in their own trucks without qualifying as common carriers, and a revival of the oft-repeated rumor that Gov. Allred will receive appointment as a federal judge and resign the governorship, were the outstanding developments of the week in Austin.

The federal judgeship rumor, which has been bruited about for more than a year, appeared this time to be backed by significant circumstantial evidence. Altho Allred has maintained discreet silence, his close friends say he is exceedingly anxious for the job. There is before the house judiciary committee in Washington a bill creating an additional judgeship in the South Texas (Houston) district. Inside information from the national capital indicates it probably will be passed at this session of congress.

Agreement Reported

Best information here is that Senators Sheppard and Connally will endorse different candidates, neither naming Allred. That would put the decision up to Vice President Garner, who has always been Allred's close political friend, Garner is known to be willing to go a long way to prevent Allred becoming a candidate against Connally in the future, and, the current story here is that he has definitely decided to back Allred for the judgeship. In that event, Allred would resign. Lt. Gov. Walter Woodul automatically becoming governor for the remainder of Allred's term.

Friends of Col. Ernest Thompson and Atty. Gen. William McCraw, who will both seek the governorship in 1939 are said to have used their influence to prevent this program working out in the past, because they feared that Woodul would feel obligated to seek election as governor, thus complicating the situation next year for their favorites. But close friends of Woodul have recently declared the lieutenant governor would far rather be attorney general of Texas—an ambition to which he has been pointing his whole political career for years—and that even if he served out Allred's unexpired term, Woodul probably would

There is a mistaken idea that the problems of the Texas oil industry are matters of concern only to those engaged in the oil business and related enterprises and to only those sections immediately adjacent to oil production, when as a matter of fact no section of the State fails to benefit from oil and almost every business in Texas gains income by the flow of oil dollars, according to Tucker Royall, chairman of the Board of the First National Bank in Dallas, one of the principal speakers before the annual meeting of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. "That the oil industry of Texas benefits practically the entire population of the State is evident from the fact that more than eighty per cent of its entire land surface area is being actively developed for oil and gas," said Mr. Royall.

then continue with his present campaign for attorney general next year. Upon this assurance friends of the other two candidates apparently have waived their opposition to Allred's appointment, and the thing appears more likely to be worked out on this basis now than at any time since the rumor originally started.

Allred Visits Roosevelt

Two visits by Gov. Allred—one official, to welcome the president to Texas, and the other with an apparent effort at secrecy this week—lend some credence to the reports. The governor's mysterious "trip to the country" to "take a rest" is reported here to have been an unheralded visit to the president near Galveston. Knowledge of this situation is credited by many here with the policy of the group of senators who have blocked action of many important legislative measures supported by Allred, including the race repeal bill. Nobody knows when the Allred appointment will go thru—if it does—but Sept. 1 is the date most frequently heard here in discussions of the subject.

Eight Veto Angers House

Veto by the governor of the bill adopted to permit privately owned trucks to cruise the highways at will drew fire in the house which quickly passed the measure over the veto, with many Allred stalwarts favoring the bill. In the senate, anti-Allred leaders, such as Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth, and Clint Small of Amarillo, rallied to support the veto, and the bill failed of enactment over the veto by the narrow margin of two votes. The governor explained in his message that the bill was so poorly drafted it virtually threw the highways open to trucks without regulation, and raised serious legal questions as to the validity of the whole common carrier truck laws now in effect. The governor took the position that the strict regulation, and that the present good system of regulation for common carriers should not be jeopardized or impaired. Senate action probably killed further commercial truck regulation for this session.

Thompson Favors Advertising Bill

Rallying to the support of Lt. Gov. Walter Woodul's constitutional amendment to permit the state to advertise for tourists and industrial business, Col. Ernest O. Thompson of the railroad commission pointed to Amarillo, the city of which he formerly was mayor, as having proved the value of community advertising by doubling its population within a few years thru advertising. He also cited the California campaign, which has raised the per capita income of that state to twice that in Texas, brought millions of visitors and permanent residents there, and drawn millions of dollars of industrial capital to the coast. The amendment resolution has passed the senate, is threatened with death in the house. It may get a final house test this week.

Session End Nearing

Altho neither house had acted definitely at the weekend on adjournment date, May 22 was most frequently mentioned by senate leaders as the probable time. That would cause solons to work about 10 days at $5 a day, and would probably enable passage of the regular appropriation bills, upon which the house is busily engaged this week. Whether the chief bone of contention—the race-horse betting repeal bill—will get up remains doubtful, with the decision apparently resting in the hands of the senate minority group which has buried it on the calendar.

Students Receive School Annuals

Copies of "The Talon," Eldorado High School annual, were received last Monday, and were distributed among the students. The book contains pictures of most high school students, as well as various athletic scenes and pictures of school activities. Several pages are devoted to the school favorites, and students will enjoy them for many years to come. The annual will afford them much pleasure as they turn its pages and re-live events of 1936-37 school days. The entire annual staff is to be congratulated upon having successfully published this splendid yearbook.

35 MILLION POUNDS
OF TEXAS' FARM
SURPLUSES REMOVED

College Station—Nearly 35 million pounds of farm products were purchased in Texas in 1936 through a national program for the removal of price-depressing surpluses, according to Jack Shelton, vice drector and state agent of the Extension Service. The products purchased were turned over to the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation for distribution, in cooperation with state relief agencies, to persons on relief rolls whocould not buy them in the regular channels of trade, Shelton said. Surpluses removed in Texas last year included 13,236,320 pounds of grapefruit; 21,682,400 pounds of onions; and 120,000 dozen eggs. The grapefruit was distributed in Arkansas, Colorado, Iowa, Illinois, Kansas, Louisiana, Minnesota, Missouri, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas, and Wisconsin; the onions in Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Missouri, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, and Wisconsin, and the District of Columbia; and the eggs in Texas. Removal of these surpluses resulted in no increase in prices to consumers of the products involved in commercial markets, Shelton pointed out. On the contrary, he said that in many cases the program actually operated in the interest of consumers by encouraging continued production and maintenance of the producing capacity.

The growing demand for better-trained, better-paid teachers is attracting an increasing number of male students to the seven Texas state teachers' colleges. Fifteen years ago the colleges enrolled two girl students to each boy. Today boys make up almost half of the total enrollment. In an effort to make college education available to every boy and girl in its area, East Texas Teachers College, at commerce, obtains board and room for its students at an average of less than $20 a month. Books, tuition and other fees bring the total essential expense to $250 a year. The other six Texas state teachers' colleges also approach this low figure.

Control Screw Worms In Shear Cuts

Stock owners are cautioned that it is important to prevent screw worms from building up a big population in injuries resulting from shear cuts, earmarking and docking. These operations are well ahead of the early occurrence of cases of screw worms and it is very important to continue to keep them in advance of the pest. Stockmen are urged to use dehydrated pine tar oil on all wounds to prevent infestations from gaining a stronghold on any ranch or farm.

Mr. Noel Weatherby, Screw Worm Control Supervisor of the U. S. Department of Agriculture Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, reports that he is obtaining splendid cooperation from stockmen and county agents in Schleicher, Tom Green, Concho and Menard Counties. He says that a little extra effort on the part of every stockman to prevent screw worms at this season of the year will avoid serious trouble later on.

County agricultural agents and persons employed in screw worm control work are being provided with lists of manufacturers of and wholesale dealers in benzol and pine tar oil. Dealers who care to handle these products in different towns may obtain the lists and learn of a number of places where they may purchase these materials.

Vacationists Urged To Avoid Dangers Of Typhoid Fever

Austin Texas.—As the summer season approaches, a word of warning is timely to prospective campers, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and others who enjoy getting out into the open, relative to the possible dangers that may be encountered from the standpoint of contracting infection under the changed environment. This is especially true of disease that may be transmitted through food and water supplies.

Typhoid fever is a disease the amount of which is greatest, as a rule, where there is the least sanitation. It is an unnecessary and preventable disease. It is spread from person to person by water, milk, fingers, flies and food. Every case is contracted by taking into the mouth some substance contaminated with typhoid organisms, and these occur only in nature in the bowel and bladder discharges of persons sick with typhoid or from carriers, persons who have had typhoid and who after recovery still harbor the germs in their systems.

Persons planning a vacation or trip where sanitation may not be rigidly enforced or where food handlers are not regularly examined should protect themselves against this disease by being vaccinated. Three inoculations with typhoid vaccine, a week apart, are necessary to secure protection against this disease and the immunity established is good for two years. The purity of water or milk cannot be judged by looking at it. Play safe and have your doctor protect you.

RIVERSIDE CLUB HOLDS MEETING WITH MRS. JIM STOCKTON

The Riverside Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. Jim Stockton on Tuesday, May 4th. Miss Bowen gave a talk on line, color and design.

Mr. Chapman, the Singer sewing machine agent from Menard, gave a demonstration with the different attachments for the new machines.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Damon Evans, Mrs. Mary Swift, Mrs. Marvin Baker, Mrs. John Haley, Mrs. Jim Pullen, Mrs. W. H. Whitworth, Mrs. C. J. Murr, Mrs. L. L. Tisdale, Mrs. Jake Thom, Mrs. Geo. Rogers, Mrs. Frank Pullen, Miss Bowen, Mrs. Palmer West, Mrs. Herman Morgan and Mr. Chapman.

The next meeting will be with Ms. Geo. Rogers on May 18.

THE WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS ON TUESDAY WITH MRS. GUNN

Members of the Woman's Club held their regular meeting last Tuesday afternoon, May 11, in the home of Mrs. F. B. Gunn.

A review of Barry Benefield's "Chicken Wagon Family" was beautifully given by Mrs. Joe B. Edens. A round-table discussion of "Travels in South Texas" was held, and diction drill was led by Mrs. E. C. Hill.

Refreshments were served to the following members and guests: Mrs. D. E. DeLong, Mrs. Joe B. Edens, Mrs. E. C. Hill, Mrs. W. E. Eaton, Mrs. N. P. Wilkinson, Mrs. A. J. Atkins, Mrs. T. K. ## HOME ECO. CLUB HOLDS WEEKLY MEETING

Wednesday, May 5, the Home Eco. Club held its weekly meeting. Many of the club members were not present because of a choral club meeting. All of the officers were absent, therefore Kathryn Montgomery acted as president, Charlene Mund as vice-president, and Flois Duncan acted as secretary.

There being no business Norma Lynn took charge of the program. The following gave interesting talks: Charlene Mund, "Beauty Brush Ups"; Maurine Parks, "Care of your Hands and Fingernails"; Annie Mae Chadwick, "A College course in Charm"; Carmen Warren, "Making Gift Linen"; Thelia Luedicke, "Brushing Up of Your Hair"; and Leola Sauer, "How Do You Look When You Say Good-bye?"

TYPING STUDENTS RECEIVE PINS

When a student has typed a net of 50 words per minute for fifteen minutes with 5 or less errors, he receives a pin.

So far only two students, Genevieve Ramsey and Alice Mund, have received pins.

The pins are bronze with a white banner engraved "Expert Typist" over a star and wings carrying a marker with an arrow set in a half-circle.

These pins are not only something to be proud of as a token, but speak of efficiency in the part of the winner. Many students are striving to earn such pins before the school year closes.

National Youth Administration boys working in Falls county are assisting the county agricultural agent in a pecan budding project. These youths have been running terrace lines, but when planting began, they were employed giving farm pecan demonstrations, and listing numbering and budding trees for Falls county farmers.

Congratulations

The opening of the new funeral home in Eldorado exemplifies faith in the future growth and development of Eldorado and Schleicher county. We take this means of extending our congratulations to this firm on its formal opening next Saturday and Sunday.

GROWTH

The growth of the Eldorado Wool Company has not come about as a result of our own efforts, but through gaining the faith and confidence of Schleicher county people. We appreciate this confidence, which has enabled us to expand from year to year.

Our aim is to maintain a service that will continue to merit this faith and confidence, and our purpose is to serve our people better from year to year.

Seniors Take Trip To Carlsbad Caverns On "Senior Day"

The Seniors left Eldorado, Friday morn at 7:00 o'clock. They went by Sonora, Ozona, and Sheffield. They say there were some pretty bad detours. There wasn't many things of interest to see. Between Fort Stockton and Sheffield, Andrew Nixon's car ran out of gas. They borrowed some from a Mexican, but ran out again, about a mile and a half from town. That caused the people in this car to miss seeing the Comanche Springs, one of the prettiest sights on the trip. They traveled a very rough road from Fort Stockton to Pecos. From Pecos on to Carlsbad the road was very good. They stopped at Malaga, New Mexico, the port of entry. Here they ran their watches back one hour. The only town they went through from Malaga to Carlsbad was Loving, a small town with practically all the houses made from adobe. They arrived in Carlsbad at 2:00, mountain time, which they found to be a much prettier town than they expected. Large cottonwood trees lined the streets on either side. Practically everything had a 1c or 2c tax on it, which kept your pockets full of pennies. The cost to go to the show was 31c. They looked Carlsbad over Friday afternoon and later went to Black River Village, 19 miles on the Cavern Road, where they had already made reservations. They went in swimming in the Black River swimming hole on arrival and that night they went back to Mayor Edward J. Kelly, honorary chairman of Chicago's Charter Jubilee, receives two official Jubilee cars, an Oldsmobile Six and Eight, which are to make a 12,000 mile tour to invite visitors to attend the various activities marking the 100th anniversary of the adoption of the Chicago Charter. One of the cars will draw a specially built trailer carrying a troupe of entertainers. The cars, finished in gleaming white, bear the "acorn-oak" emblem of the Jubilee. F. Q. Murphy, (left), central regional manager for Oldsmobile, is presenting the cars to Mayor Kelly.

Carlsbad. There were many pretty girls from other schools and the boys all had a large time.

They started in the Cavern at 10:30. 1,368 people went through the Cavern. There were people from 28 states, 2 foreign countries, and 1 possession. 46 school groups from Texas, 23 from New Mexico, and 4 from Oklahoma. There were over 1,000 school students from different states, representing seniors. Of the 100,000 people who visited the cavern last year, 52,000 were from Texas.

They spent about 2 hours getting down into the Cavern and to the lunch room. About 12-

30 they had lunch. They stopped in the auditorium and there they listened to a speech made by a guide on the rules and regulations and something about the history and the geological make-up of the cavern. On the walls they saw a lot of smutty places where Jim White, the explorer of the Cavern had marked his way, when he and a Mexican went down the first time. They carried their lunch and ate it on tables prepared for visitors in the lunch room. Jack Hext and Pancho Bradley ate lunch with two girls from Littlefield. They rested 45 minutes and then went on to the King's room and Queen's room. From there they went to the Big Room and saw such wonders as the Bottomless Pit, Frozen Waterfall, Green Lake, Elephant's Ear, and the Rock of Ages. At the Rock of Ages, the party all sat down, lights were turned out, and the Cavern was thrown in total darkness. Lights were thrown on in sections as 4 girls sang Rock of Ages. Then they listened to a talk by the Chief Ranger of the National Park on the make-up age, etc. of the Rock of Ages. He said it was about 60,000,000 years old. This estimate was made by a group of noted geologists, who estimated it grew a cubic inch a century. From there they saw several more sections of the Big Room, and then went back to the Lunch Room. Here the party split in 2 groups, those who wished to walk out, and those who rode up on the elevator. The elevator is the second longest elevator in the world. They walked out of the Cavern about 4:30, a very tired group.

Everyone was almost starved for a good drink of water, after drinking the gyp water of Carlsbad. They followed a sign that said "Follow the sign to the old spring." They did and found an old rusty automobile spring. From there they went on to a filling station, which had a rattlesnake den. They then went back to Black River Village, ate supper and those who weren't too tired went to Carlsbad to the Midnight Preview.

Sunday morning they left Carlsbad at 7 o'clock, mountain time, before eating breakfast. They drove to Pecos, 105 miles, and stopped there for a swim and a combination of dinner and breakfast. From Pecos they went through some small oil towns to Monahans, then on to Odessa. From Odessa they went to Midland, Stanton, Big Spring, then on to San Angelo. At Angelo they hit rain, which lasted on into Eldorado. They arrived at Eldorado at 7 o'clock. Mrs. D. Davis came back by Wink, Texas. An enjoyable time was had by all, as well as an interesting one. The Senior Class of '37 think it worth while for future Senior Classes to make the trip.

HELPS THEIR GARDENS

The 4-H Club Garden demonstrations in both the Junior and the Senior clubs find that this recent rain is a great help to their green leafy vegetables which are now ready for use as well as for the newly set out tomato plants.

Dorothy Dell Bruton from the Junior club and Iva Delle Lewis of the Senior club are both very proud of their gardens. They plan to can their own products and enter the new contest for girls "Judging Canned Vegetables."

In this contest, the girls enter two jars of a vegetable such as corn, squash or beans. They judge one jar according to flavor, texture, color and pack. The judges (who have previously scored the products) score the girls according to their products, ability to judge, reasons, appearance and working ability.

Two hundred National Youth Administration boys in Bexar county are beautifying San Jacinto and Pittman-Sullivan parks in San Antonio and converting an adjoining dumping ground into a recreational area, Willard Deason, district supervisor, has reported to J. C. Kellam, acting state director.

Bernard and Aris Carr spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Carr, near Comanche, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Richey were visitors in Santa Anna last Sunday.

A Good Enterprise

The First National Bank joins other business firms of Eldorado in extending congratulations to the Eldorado Funeral Home on the occasion of its formal opening in Eldorado.

The expansion of this business is an example of faith in the future development of our town and county; and rapid development, we believe, is an outstanding possibility for us.

This Bank--

This bank welcomes new enterprises, and the expansion of our present business enterprises. To us it means that our people are keeping in step with the times—just as we endeavor to keep in step with the times as your financial institution.

"TEX LANG"

Black shadows of evening began to creep across the wilderness. To the west, the cliffs and pinacles were tingled with the rainbow colors of the sinking sun. Towering ridges became dark blue masses on the horizon. Dusk came lingering—then the black sheet of darkness.

How homelike and safe seemed the little town of Skelton with its mountain sides, its sentinel trees, and arch roof of jeweled sky! even the night seemed kindly, and friendly the stars as Tex Lang strolled down the dusty street. He was dressed in range clothes, batwing chaps, spurred cowboy boots, faded pants and shirt, and brilliant kerchief hung loosely around his neck. He strolled across the street, step-ed up to the porch and went inside the saloon.

"I'll take one straight," he told the bartender.

Dick Tebo put bottle and glass in front of the man and rested his broad stomach against the bar. It was as smooth and gentle a voice as he had ever heard—a voice with the sing of melody in it.

Tex Lang poured his jolt, drinking it in a quick, relishing way. He was a tall and supple man with muscles whipped flat by riding. Sun had bleached his eyebrows, and sun had bronzed his skin. He was young, tough and good looking.

Letting his eyes wander over the saloon, they fell on a scared-faced man sitting at a card table by the window. He was Bullet King, an outlaw whose picture was in every sheriff's office in the state. He was smiling at Tex in a mocking way, as if to remind him not to forget that bank job tonight. Tex turned back to the bar with a curse on his lips. Why had he ever gotten mixed up with King anyway? His mind wandered back when he was just a kid, cold and hungry, nowhere to go, and Bullet King had taken him in. Now he was demanding his pay.

In spite of his youth, Chorkee McGuire knocked open the swinging doors of Tebo's and walked straight in. He was red-headed; it showed under his floppy Stetson with a half-dozen holes in the crown. His clothes looked as though they had fought a losing battle with a barrel-cactus.

"Hi, Chorkee!" Tex greeted him. "What you doin' up this late at night?"

"Hay!" shouted fat Mr. Tebo. "You take and get out of here, kid. What you mean sashayin' into my saloon this time of night? You go and fetch yourself out of here!"

"Leave him to me," Lang told the bartender as he paid for the drink. "I'll take care of him."

"A-a-aw, you go jump in the lake, you big bully," Chorkee began, "I guess I got a right—"

"Come on, kid," Lang said clapping a kindly hand on the shoulder of Chorkee. Let's get out and get some fresh air."

The night was soft and cool, its mysterious riding the silver-sparkling shadows. Coyotes on the ridge were making their mournful medicine. As Tex and Chorkee strolled down the street they passed the dance hall, where Mexican guitars and castanets provided melodious rhythm for the men and the dark-eyed girls in mantillas and filmy Spanish shawls who danced the tango on the wide floor.

A silence drifted over them, then Tex asked, "What do you aim to do, kid?"

"A-a-aw, hell! I dunno. Won't any the ranchers hire me 'cause they think I'm not big enough." Chorkee answered. "I get so mad every time I think about it until I have a hell of a time keepin' from cussin'."

"You mustn't cuss," Tex told him.

"You cuss," Chorkee said.

"Yeah, but I'm gonna quit."

"Right now?"

"Yeah, right now."

"OK, I'll check up on you," Chorkee promised.

"How would you like to ride with me, Chorkee?" Lang asked. "We could be pardners, and, well—hit for Texas in the mornin'."

"Gee! that would be swell," he told Lang. "I'll make you a good pardner, or bust a gut."

For the first time in many months Tex grinned. He looked at this little redheaded jigger who talked like a man and cursed like a trooper.

"What do you aim to be when I grow up," Chorkee answered proudly, "somebody big and strong and honest as you are, Tex."

The word honest made Tex flinch. The kid would never know that he would soon rob a bank, he decided. They would start for Texas tomorrow and he would go straight.

"Chorkee," he said, "will you do something for me?"

"Sure, anything."

"Promise—"

"Yeah, promise anything."

"Go home to bed."

"A-a-aw, Tex, I won't do that."

"I've got your promise."

A long, whispering sigh passed the lips of Chorkee. "All right," he said, "all right—I'll go—so long, Tex."

He remained for a half-second, filling his eyes with the sight of the hero, and then disappeared behind the tall buildings with one hand pressed to his head, and instinctive gesture that sympathized with the bandage about the brows of Lang. To Chorkee, no golden crown of empire was ever half so glorious as that white circle with the little stain of red creeping through the cloth above the temple.

Tex watched Chorkee disappear with a smile on his face. Strange how these little jiggers could get in your heart. He started to cross over to a saloon, but stopped suddenly. Two shots broke the stillness of the night. Lang whirled and started on a run toward the bank.

Was King robbing the bank now? It lacked two hours being time. Was he double crossing Tex? These questions raced through his mind as he drew near the bank? He saw three men race from the bank to their horses. One was dressed just like Lang. He was about the same weight and height, and anyone looking at him from a distance would mistake him for Tex.

With a quick glance Lang saw all of this. He knew that Bullet King was double crossing him. He drew his gun and fired twice, and two of the men fell from their saddles.

Bullets were flying around him; several had hit him, but didn't mind. He didn't mind dying, but he intended to take Bullet King with him when he went.

A bullet struck him in the right shoulder, just above the heart. He shot blindly as he started to fall. He knew his bullet had hit its mark, for he heard King scream and saw him fall with a last blurred glance. He slumped to the ground. The light whirled before his eyes as a whirlpool of black darkness gathered in his senses.

Then a voice, childishly high, small and sweet came like sunshine through the darkness surrounding him. He could hear it now as plain as he heard it not long ago, the voice of Chorkee McGuire saying: "I'm gonna be somebody when I grow up—somebody big and strong and honest as you are, Tex."

The darkness turned blacker, and somehow the boy Chorkee was in there, crying through his set teeth, and Lang thought he felt the touch of his hand. Though he could no longer be there than birds could be in the depths of the sea.

He sighed. A smile lingered on his face. Then it was over, and Tex Lang went riding into the far beyond, perhaps on a horse of silver and a saddle of gold.

So long folks,
Smilin' Tex.

We Furnished The Material

—FOR—

Eldorado's New Funeral Home

The material which went into the construction of Eldorado's new funeral home was furnished by the West Texas Lumber Company, and we're glad to congratulate this firm on the formal opening of the new home next Saturday and Sunday.

You Can Build, Too

The unusually low finance plan which is available to you through our firm makes it possible for you to build, too. It does not take a great outlay of cash to build a home of your own.

We'll be glad to figure the costs and explain this plan to any of you who are contemplating the construction of a new home or business house.

meet you there, visit with them and stay as long as you like."

Considerable work has been done in preparing the place for the formal opening. Visitors will find an attractive new building, attractively decorated and with equipment conveniently arranged. There are two separate display rooms for caskets, one for adult caskets and one for baby caskets.

Large crowds are expected to visit the home and see just what has been done in order to give Eldorado and Schleicher county a real up-to-date funeral service.

"We intend to give the people of Eldorado the very best in bakery products. We believe that Eldorado people will support a good bakery and we intend to make our products second to none in this territory.

"Upon this basis, we solicit your patronage. We want to meet all of you, make friends with you and work with you for the advancement of the town and community."

MAP OF ORIGINAL TEXAS TO FIND PLACE IN AUSTIN MUSEUM

Austin, Texas, May, 4.—A map of the original domain of Texas, as it was when a republic painted and traced upon the outer surface of a large wooden salad bowl, has been given to the are collection which will find a place in the Memorial Museum of the University of Texas, a building now under construction. It was presented to the museum authorities by Malcolm R. Jameson of New York City, son of Mrs. Hamilton Ward of Austin. Mr. Jameson traced the map with a red hot ice pick and tinted it with mercurochrome.

In the recent twenty-first annual exhibition of the Society of Independent Artists held at the Grand Central Palace, New York City, Mr. Jameson exhibited two groups of these bowls, which he prefers to call "seg-maps," and they were highly praised by celebrated artists, newspaper and magazine critics, and others who viewed them. These published criticisms are regarded as especially outstanding because of the fact that of the great number of displays by various artists his was one of the few given specific newspaper and magazine mention.

Mr. Jameson is employed by a private business concern and makes art his hobby. His painted chopping bowls are valued at $400 to $1,000 each.

He is a native of Austin and the son of the late Joe Lee Jameson who was a prominent member of the administration of Governor Joseph R. Sayers. He is a former student of The University of Texas.

WEST TEXANS MOVE TO IMPROVE FARMS AND RANCHES

Conservation of natural resources in various lines is the key note of the operations of many West Texas farmers and ranchmen, according to county agricultural agents in that section.

Level terrace lines were run on an 80 acre field of William Allison in Sutton county and the terraces have been built. Most of the field is new land and Allison will use it for the production of feed, part of which is to be cured for hay and the rest stored in a trench silo.

A 24 acre field belonging to Bryan Hunt of Edwards county has been terraced. The terraces are 24 feet wide with a six-foot crest and are 12 inches high. Red top cane will be drilled in strips to aid the terraces in controlling erosion.

Terraces are not the only conservation measures practiced in West Texas. Three years ago, Roger Gillis started to develop game on his Val Verde county ranch. The 32,000 acre block was trapped three years ago and poison for predatory animals was put out during the next two seasons. Several plots of grain sorghums were planted to supply feed for 100 pheasants that were released in the fall of 1936. Some 500 quail have been placed on the ranch.

The need for green manure crops in Bandera county was demonstrated through a series of soil tests which showed that the soil was lacking in phosphorous, magnesium and nitrogen. All samples showed an excess of calcium.

Until we are willing to spend a little more money for education we must be reconciled to spend more for crime.—North Carolina Education.

Motoring Public Shows Interest In Future Of Roads

Intense interest in the future of the road system on the part of the average motorist is reflected in returns from post card questionnaires distributed during the motor vehicle registration period by the State-Federal Highway Planning Survey. J. T. Barton, director of the financial unit of the survey, said today the returns covered 31.7 per cent of the motor vehicles registered, an unusually high percentage.

The returns from Texas motorists, he said, are greatly in excess of the questionnaires returned by motorists in other states.

Information given on the card is being tabulated and will play an important part in determining the future road program. The data included the residence of the owner, whether rural or urban, the mileage traveled during the past year, the gallons of gasoline consumed, and the number of miles per gallon.

Starr county led in percentage of returns with 89.1 per cent. Lamar county was second with 73 per cent, Jefferson county, third, with 72 per cent, Shackelford county, fourth, with 69.2, and Andrews county, fifth, with 67.6 per cent. Several counties reported returns in excess of 60 per cent while nearly a score exceeded 50 per cent.

Schleicher county's percentage was not given on the tabulation sheet sent to the Success Office.

AFTER FINNY TRIBE

Several Eldorado fishermen got together the first of this week and decided it was good fishing weather. They all agreed on Devils River, and within a short time they were off after the finny tribe.

Those reported in the bunch are: Marvin McDonald, Edgar Spencer, H. B. Rees, Irvin Munda, Claude Meador, Ford Oglesby, Sam Oglesby, Mr. Barbee and Lester Henderson.

IN APPRECIATION

The Woman's Club, at their last meeting, offered words of appreciation, highly commending Miss Mollie Turner for her untiring efforts to instill in the minds and hearts of our people an appreciation for music of the highest type.

The junior division office of the National Reemployment Service at Dallas placed 89 Texas youths in private industry during its first month of operations in cooperation with the National Youth Administration, John I. Beauduy, acting supervisor, reported.

Shell Employees Enjoy Barbecue On Tuesday Night

A barbecue supper honoring Dr. Baker of Saint Louis, company physician for the Shell Pipeline Co., and Mr. Sanders, district superintendent, was held last Tuesday night at the Eldorado pump station.

All local employees of the company, together with their families, were present to enjoy this feed. Two goats were barbecued and served with other edibles which went to complete the meal.

Thirty-five persons were present for the barbecue.

LATIN AMERICAN NATIONS PREPARING EXHIBITS FOR FAIR

Dallas, Texas.—Fourteen Latin American republics and one American province have been allotted exhibit space in the Pan American Palace, at the Pan American Exposition, which will be held here June 12 through October 31. Venezuela, the last of the nations to announce participation, accepted space Wednesday, April 21, and Frederic D. Grab, attache, department of commerce, cabled from Caracas that his country will bring a display of mineral and agricultural products to 1937's international fair.

Participating nations with announced programs are: Mexico, Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru, Uruguay, Venezuela, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, El Salvador and Cuba. Porto Rico is Uncle Sam's province that has joined with the Latin American nations in Exposition representation.

Brazil announces an extensive exhibit of natural resources and a coffee plantation. Colombia's exhibit will include cacao trees and natural resources. Mexico will bring an exhibit, natural resources, industrial and an historical exhibit from its post office department.

Cuba's display will include sugar and tobacco and a similar exhibit will be offered by Porto Rico. The other participating nations will bring archaeological of natural resources. Peru will present a very famous archaeological collection.
