THE OLD CHURCH BELL

Back behind the Methodist church in Eldorado lies an old church bell, aged, rusty, neglected and almost forgotten. Not so many years ago, that old bell served a purpose in Eldorado. It was the duty of someone to ring that bell on Sunday morning, and its tones could be heard for miles and miles across the countryside, as it tolled out an invitation to one and all to come to the neighborhood church for worship.

We understand that some of the other churches used bells similar to the one mentioned here, but we doubt if very many generation can tell you where they are today. Their tones are no longer heard—their days of usefulness are almost forgotten.

As memory takes us back to childhood, we recall an old church bell. Dad and Mother would prepare their boys—five of them then—for church, have them scrub behind their ears and put on their Sunday's best. Then as we started to town in the old wagon drawn by a team of plow horses, we could hear the old bell clang out its message—an invitation to come to the House of God. As its tones reached us, loud and clear, Dad would urge the horses into a trot so we wouldn't be late for church.

Days passed on, and our family grew into six boys and two girls. We became more modern and went into debt for a "family surrey." We moved away from the little church with its bell; and even though we couldn't hear its tones each Sunday and we had a modern surrey with a lamp on each side, we still went to church.

The older boys soon grew large enough to don long trousers—too large to go to church with the family, and started by themselves on horseback. And as they departed ahead of the "family surrey," Dad's last words would be:

"When you boys get there, go in and find a seat. A boy's place is inside the church, not outside laughing, cutting up and getting into meanness."

We recall our home as a home of family prayer. Dad would always gather "the brood" together at bedtime each evening, read from the Bible and hold "family prayer." Sometimes, Dad would call on Mother to pray. . . we believe now, as we believed then, that those prayers reached all the way to Heaven and were heard by the Heavenly Father. Family prayer continued in our home until "the brood" grew up and departed from the family fireside one by one.

Yes, the memory of an old church bell brings back other memories, many memories. Today, tones of the bell are not heard on Sunday mornings. The bells passed into oblivion, along with the horse and buggy days.

We have high-powered automobiles, and the long stretches of pavement beckon to us; call us out for miles and miles, seeking amusement and pleasure; beckon us away from the little old church where a faithful few gather.

L. Moore And Son Are Building New Gin Plant At Reynolds

MODERN MACHINERY IS BEING INSTALLED; TO BE READY FOR FALL SEASON

Schleicher county's newest gin, a modern structure throughout, is now under construction in the Reynolds community. The gin is being built by Lawrence Moore, formerly of Brownwood, and his son, Henry Moore of Veribest.

A portion of the machinery has arrived and has been installed, and the gin proper and seed house are almost completed. Workmen planned construction of the engine room this week.

Mr. Moore and son are having Murray machinery installed, and the gin will be equipped with four Murray Cleaning Feeders, set in concrete. Mr. Moore says he has received more satisfactory results from the Murray machinery than any other gin machinery, and he plans to make this gin second to none in this territory.

A new modern five-room rock veneer residence is also under construction at the gin site, and Mr. Moore will make his home there.

Mr. Moore comes to this county from Brownwood, where he has followed the ginning business for many years. He and his son are both familiar with every phase of the business, and it is their plan to give the people of the Reynolds community a real up-to-date ginning service. Lawrence Moore will be in charge of the gin, while his son, Henry, will continue to operate the gin at Veribest, it was stated.

There are virtually hundreds upon hundreds of acres of cotton in the Reynolds community which will be served by this gin, and Mr. Moore anticipates a very busy ginning season this fall.

SCHOOL TRANSFER DEADLINE NEARS

Students of Schleicher county who expect to attend the public school in the Independent School District of Eldorado must transfer not later than July 31, in order to benefit from the state apportionment.

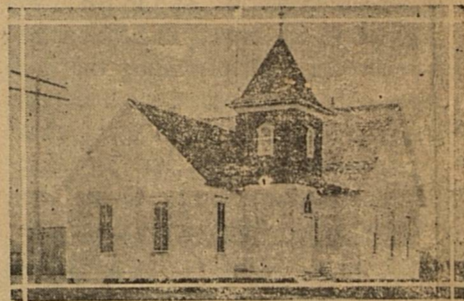

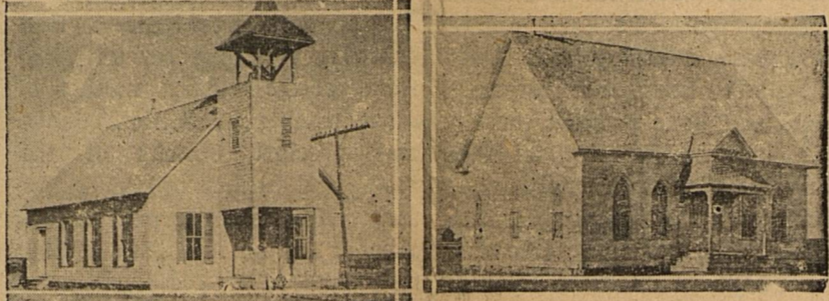

This applies to students living in the common school districts such as Bailey Ranch, Mayer No. 1 and 2, Cliff, Kaffir, and Adams. Students living in these Common School Districts and who expect to attend the Eldorado Public School may do so without cost of tuition, providing transfer is made by July 31. If not, however, tuition must be paid.

It's A Girl—And Jimmie's Happy!

We thought Jimmie West's greeting was more cordial than usual when we met him last Monday afternoon, but we couldn't figure the reason for it. We learned all about it later.

The reason: It's a girl! A seven-pound daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie West last Monday morning. Both mother and little daughter are doing nicely, but Jimmie's been so up in the air that they haven't gotten him settled long enough to help decide on a name for the girl.

Church Get-Together Of Methodists Planned For Saturday Night

A church get-together and social hour for all members of the Methodist Church is planned for next Saturday night, beginning promptly at eight-thirty. This event is being sponsored by members of the Methodist Missionary Society.

These ladies stated that there will be plenty of good watermelon for all who attend, and the entire church membership is urged to be present and enjoy this occasion.

At their meeting last Monday afternoon, special committees were appointed to complete plans for this gathering, and an effort is being made to notify each and every member, by telephone or otherwise, to be present next Saturday night.

JUNIOR POLICE PATROL NOW IN ACTION

Saturday was the first day the Junior Police Patrol, of the Boy Scout organization, worked on the membership drive to the Street-Highway Safety Association.

A charge of ten cents is made for membership, which gives the signer of the application blank one right to drive into any S. H. S. A. Station to have your car checked for safety driving.

Bobby Oliver, Bob Sproul and Jolly Sample were the three scouts at work on the streets Saturday and took in a total of $5.20.

The Boy Scout, as an organization, wish to thank all who have signed up so far, and urge all others to do so in the near future.

John Rae Keeps Up With Scotiand With Farmer Album

1932 & 1937 Editions Brought To Success Office

John Rae, one of Schleicher county's most prominent ranchmen, has a means of keeping up with his native Scotland. He has a number of editions of the Scottish Farmer Album.

Mr. Rae sent two copies of the Album to the Success office last week. These are the 1932 and the 1937 editions, and with this book is incorporated the Farming World Year Book.

Illustrations in the album are of the following: Shorthorn cattle, Lincoln Red Shorthorn, Dairy Shorthorn, Aberdeen-Angus, Ayrshire, British-Friesian, Hereford, fat stock, Calloway, Belted Calloway and Highland cattle. Horses include the Clydesdale, Shire, Hackney, Hunter and ponies. In addition there are illustrations of sheep, goats and pigs, as well as pictures of various people of livestock and agricultural societies, farming machinery, etc.

We enjoyed looking through the album, and we imagine that John Rae gets just a little bit homesick as he turns the pages of this latest edition.

City Council To Purchase Water Site

At a call meeting Tuesday night the City Council, voted to purchase site for water system, and they have several in view.

The people will be asked to sign contracts to use the City water when the plant is built. This becomes necessary, as they have been unable to buy the present plant.

At their last regular meeting they offered the present owner $22,000.00 for this plant, and when this is being written, we have not had a reply, therefore it becomes necessary to build independent of the old system.

If you want an up-to-date water system, one that will give fire protection and save the citizens of Eldorado some $3,000 on fire insurance, alone, at the present See No. 2 Last Page

Schleicher's Lamb Sale Date Is Set For September 22nd

Schleicher Sheep Sales Service Established At Meeting

At a meeting in Eldorado, Friday, September 22 was selected as the date to hold the first annual sale of the Schleicher Sheep Sales Service.

Another meeting will be held, Saturday, July 24, at the courthouse at 2:30 o'clock. All sheep raisers are urgently requested to be present and hear full details.

At that time it is hoped to complete the organization and at same time be in a position to accept consignments for the sale.

Preliminary indications point to a large attendance not only of order buyers but feeders from other counties, especially the Panhandle, at the sale, it was reported. Letters are going out soliciting consignments of lambs from producers. It is pointed out that there is no limit on the number of lambs that may be consigned. If in less than carlots, the lambs will be assembled and graded so as to have a shipment of uniform grade. Consignments of larger numbers of lambs will be broken up in similar size so as to make carlot sizes, if buyers wish.

This meeting was held in County Agent Godwin's office, with A. L. Baugh, Seth Ramsey, Gordie Alexander, Ed Hill, John Rae, Henry Speck, Ford Oglesby, W. T. Whitten, Forrest Runge, and B. E. Moore in attendance. All details in connection with the sale were mapped out at this session.

While the initial purpose of the organization is a one day feeder lamb sale, it is proposed ultimately to establish a permanent year round sales service as the best method of bringing lamb buyers and producers together with least lost motion on the part of both. Pooling and classifying small consignments of lambs should mean larger return to the smaller producer in particular and all ranch operators in general.

Active in promoting the Sheep Sales Service are Ed Hill, vice-president of the First National Bank of Eldorado and operator of the Eldorado Wool Co. and Forrest Runge.

THE SEVEN WONDERS

Nearly everyone has heard of the seven wonders of the world, but probably few could name them and fewer could tell what became of them. Those interested in such things might clip this out for their scrap book.

The seven wonders of the world were no named by Antipater, a writer of Palestine, about 100 B. C., as follows:

The Hanging Gardens of Babylon, destroyed in 484 B. C., more than 100 years before they were listed among the wonders.

The Temple of Diana at Ephesus, burned in 262 A. D.

The Statue of Zeus at Olympus, destroyed in 408.

The Colossus of Rhodes, sold for junk in 653.

The Lighthouse of Pharos at Alexandria, fell in an earthquake in 1375.

The Mausoleum of Artemisia destroyed in 1402.

The Pyramid of Cheops, the only one are the "Seven Wonders" still in existence.

Such were the seven wonders of the ancient world. Many lists of modern wonders have been made, but a recent writer selects not the perishable works of man, but the discoveries and inventions which have revolutionized civilization.

He names the radio, the telephone, the airplane, the antiseptics, spectrum analysis and radium. Whether his list is the best that might be made or not, the wonders mentioned will survive as long as humanity exists, bestowing untold benefits upon mankind.

TELL YOUR STORY

Some sound advice to business men, especially those charged with the management of the larger enterprises, was given recently by H. A. Batten, president of the country's biggest advertising agency, in an address before a national advertisers' association at a convention at Hot Springs, Va.

He declared that the immediate and pressing need of American business is to get back the lost friendship and confidence of the public through advertising.

"If, like the telephone company," said he, "you had told the people of the United States all about your company—your basic policy, your stock structure, your operating methods, your employe relationships, your services to the community—if, like the telephone company, you had done this from the beginning year after year, so that each upcoming generation would learn about it in turn, then you would not today be in the position of having to approach the public as a comparative stranger and to sue for its confidence, for if you had done that you would already enjoy that confidence as a friend.

Many industries and utilities have been following the course Mr. Batten suggests for many years and have profited thereby. But many neglect to tell their story until they are attacked, often by political demagogues, and thus placed on the defensive. The public wants to be fair, but in order to do so it must have all the facts.

FORMER ELDORADOAN BITTEN BY SNAKE

Word was received in Eldorado Tuesday, that Willie Isaacs, Jr., now a farmer of Fife, but formerly living in Eldorado, was bitten on the left hand by a rattlesnake, as he reached under the house for a piece of lumber.

After being bitten by the snake, Willie jumped in his car and started to the Brady hospital, but ran out of gas after about four miles. A traveling salesman picked him up and went a few miles when a tire blew out. Then they borrowed a neighbor's car and reached the hospital in due time.

Two injections of anti-toxin were administered and the last report that he was getting along nicely.

Trench Silos Make Most Economical Feed Storage

One Acre of Grain Sorghum in a Trench Silo is Equal to Two Acres in a Stack

In many sections of the state, recent rains have practically assured an abundant feed crop for this year. The next problem for most farmers to consider is that of saving the crop so that the feed will be available when it is needed and at the same time keeping the cost down. The trench silo is the answer.

With almost 6000 trenches being used during 1936, the trench silo is no longer an experiment. Trench silos have been dug in all types of soils in every part of the state and in every case they have proved satisfactory. With very little effort a trench can be adapted to almost any set of conditions.

Grain sorghums constitute a majority of the crops that are used for silage. Corn usually makes a little better quality silage than other feeds but the heavier yield obtained from the sorghums more than offset this advantage. Legumes such as cowpeas, hay alfalfa, soybeans, and peanut hay make excellent silage when about 50 pounds of molasses is added to each ton of feed. Molasses should also be used when grass hay is put into a silo. The molasses is diluted with water at the rate of one gallon of molasses to 5 gallons of water and sprinkled on the feed.

Furthermore feed stored in this manner cannot be destroyed by weevils, rats, fire or storm. It can be left in the silo for 10 years if not needed and it will be as good the day it comes out as it was when it went in.

BUILDS NEW HOME

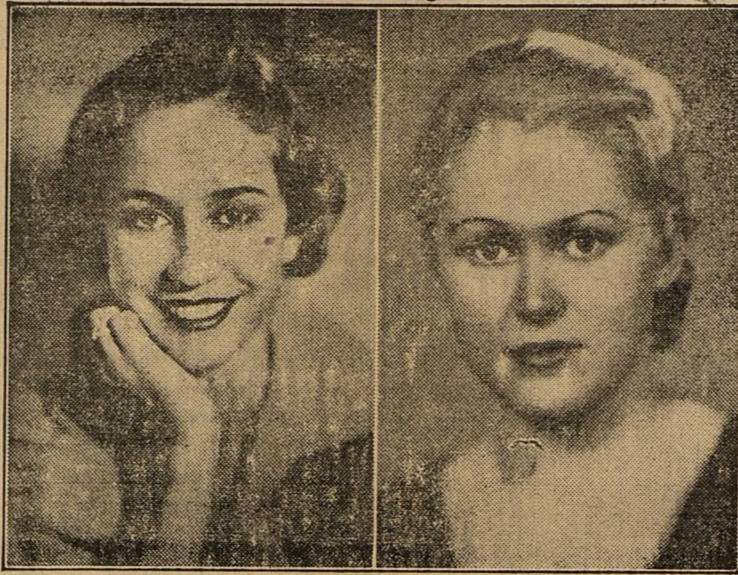

The new home of Mrs. Ora Davis, located at the intersection of Popular Street and Murchison Avenue, is nearing completion and if nothing happens to prevent it, she plans to move into the new home the first of next week.

The home is a seven-room frame building, consisting of living room, dining room, kitchen three bedrooms, bath and front porch, also a double garage.

The home when completed will cost around $2,500.00. The West Texas Lumber Company furnished the material.

Which Is the Beauty?

First glances at the Most Beautiful and Most Popular girls at Texas State College for Women leave some doubt as to which is which, since both could well qualify for beauties. However, facts reveal that Miss Irene Pyle, left, is the lovely lady, and Miss Judith Stegman, right, was elected most popular. Miss Pyle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pyle of Celeste, is a senior English major. Miss Stegman, whose home is in Brownsville, is active in college dramatics and will receive her degree in Speech this August.

Miss Bowen Gives Recipe For Canning Three Kinds Corn

So many requests have been given the county home demonstration agent concerning the canning of corn that it is thought best to publish the following information in the hope that the interested parties may be able to make use of it.

Sweet Corn: Much depends upon careful selection of tender, juicy sweet corn, before it reaches a starchy stage. It should never stand longer than an hour after being taken from the stalk to retain that sweet good flavor. Shuck, silk, and clean carefully.

Whole Grain Style Corn: Simmer in water 4 to 5 minutes. Cut from cob deeply enough to remove most of the kernels. Do not scrape the cob. Add 1 teaspoon of salt and 2 teaspoons of sugar to each quart of corn and half as much into boiling water as corn by weight. Heat to boiling and pack into containers at once. Process immediately at 10 pounds pressure at 240 degrees F., quart glass jars 70 minutes, pint glass jars 60 minutes, enamel No. 3 tin cans, 65 minutes or no. 2 cans 50 minutes.

Cream Style Corn: Without precooking, remove the corn from the cob by shallow cutting through the grain and scraping. Add 1 teaspoon of salt and 2 teaspoons of sugar to each quart, and half as much boiling water as corn by weight. Heat to boiling. Fill into containers at once. Process immediately at 15 pounds pressure 250 degrees F., pint glass jars for 75 minutes and No. 2 C enamel tin cans, 70 minutes.

CLUB WOMEN OF COUNTY ARE BUSY IN VARIED IMPROVEMENTS

In addition, there were 282 pints of unspecified vegetables reported canned from one club.

In the wardrobe demonstration, there were 55 dresses; 14 slips; 2 shirts; 2 aprons; 12 boy's suits; 27 children's garments; 5 remodeled garments; 1 sweater scarf; 2 cup towels; and 4 pairs of pillow cases made.

In the Home Improvement phase of the work, 2 new Electroluxes; 4 quilts; 1 inner spring mattress; and 1 bedspread were added. Also, in the home improvement phase, 8 rooms were repapered; 5 floors were refinished; 1 linoleum added; 1 house repainted; woodwork of 4 rooms was refinished; and 1 bedroom, 1 kitchen, and 1 closet was added.

HIGHWAY EXPENSIVE PASTURAGE FOR STOCK

(O. P. Schnabel, Branch Manager Jefferson Standard Life Ins. Co., San Antonio, Texas.)

We hear of many road accidents, and every day new causes are found. One of the most dangerous hazards is in connection with stray animals which wander on the road at night.

Upon checking our list of Double Indemnity claims, I find that numerous accidents have occurred as a result of an automobile hitting an animal. Our laws should be more strict in regard to permitting animals to run loose on the highways. My Company would have had to pay out many thousands of dollars less if cattle had not been allowed to wander wherever they pleased.

I recall one incident which happened in San Benito about 2 years ago. A young chap 21 years of age had a policy of insurance delivered to him one morning. That night, when returning from Port Isabel, when rounding a curve his car struck a cow. His car was turned over and he was killed instantly. This is only one of the many claims that our Company has had as a result of the negligence of stock owners who permitted their cattle to roam at large.

Not only is it hazardous for people driving automobiles, but it is also expensive to the cattle owners. About a year ago I had an experience which brought home to me the fact that stock on the highway is a hazard to automobile drivers and an expensive practice for stock owners. A mule walked on the highway right in front of me. I tried to miss him completely, but his head struck my windshield. The mule's neck was broken and killed instantly. The only damage to my car was a broken windshield. The mule was a beautiful animal and undoubtedly cost the owner $100. It seems to me that this was very expensive pasturage for this particular owner. I think that if owners of livestock would look at the matter from the angle of loss to themselves, they would be in sympathy with safety organizations throughout the country who are trying to keep animals off the highways.

The stray animal hazard is a big one in the United States, but it is a hundred times worse in Mexico. I have just returned from Mexico City and it is very unsafe to drive on any of the Mexican highways after dark. It seems, without exaggeration, that in some parts of Mexico you run into cattle, donkeys, and horses every few miles, and it is absolutely impossible to make any speed when driving at night.

CAUTION!

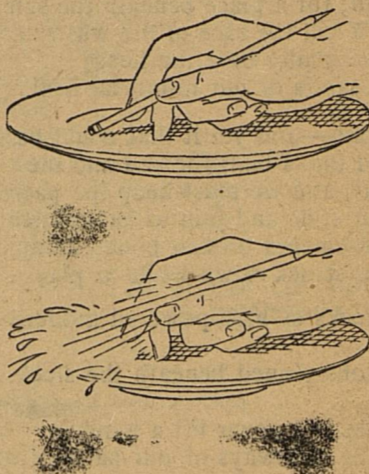

Running the engine in a closed garage is merely inviting death. The carbon monoxide in the exhaust of an engine is a deadly gas. It has no odor and is colorless, so there is no warning of the danger. Keep the doors wide open when the engine is running.

Many a good man has accidentally ended his life by not doing such an easy thing as opening a door or window.

Many other good men end the satisfactory operation of their engines by failing to take equally easy and simple precautions.

Follow the few commonsense rules for operation in cold weather. Keep your motor warm and your engine oil free from

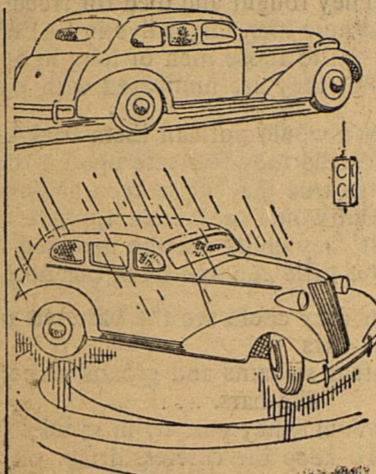

FUN with FACTS

THE FUN

Place a clean, dry saucer or platter upon a table. Take a pencil eraser end down, and hold it against the platter at an angle of about 45 degrees. Push firmly in an endeavor to move the pencil across the platter. You will find that the platter moves and may even push the table-covering or table itself.

Place a small quantity of water in the platter and repeat. You will find the pencil eraser now moves across the platter with very little effort. We might say that it "skids" across the platter. There will be no tendency to move the dish.

THE FACTS

On a clean, dry pavement, your tires exert a very strong push. It is this push which moves your car forward. When the pavement is wet, your tires have a tendency to repeat the eraser and wet platter performance. This may prove to be dangerous if you try to stop quickly or change your direction suddenly. Other conditions which tend to cause similar results are wet leaves, car tracks, oil, ice and snow. Under such circumstances, whenever you feel impatient, just remember the wet eraser.

HAPPINESS OR MISERY? ? ?

"What of a deficit?" This was the question asked of a Western governor. The laconic reply was: "It's the difference between happiness and misery."

It is a tragic fact that more public officials are not farsighted enough to envision the consequences of a program of bigger and bigger deficits.

Not long ago the Federal government attempted to make a slight reduction in the relief rolls. What happened? Governors from six states "marched" on Washington with the demand that Federal largess be continued unabated. Surely these governors realized the necessity of getting the Federal financial house in order. Surely they realized that the public debt has doubled in a few short years. Surely they realized that "deficit financing" by the Federal government cannot continue indefinitely. And surely they must have realized the plain fact, as so aptly stated by the Western governor, that continued deficits will only result in misery—misery for all the people.

Saloons start to come back but find practically all the old corners occupied by gas stations.

Oklahoma City tries to scare 'em out of careless driving. Floats in a "horror parade" shows the lengths to which public officials and others are going in their attempts to hold down rising death toll throughout the country.

Atlantic City teaches 'em to be better drivers. Prospective motorists voluntarily attend night school to learn the job at the wheel and what happens when they manipulate the controls.

E. F. Grice For Safety Campaign

Mr. E. F. Grice, manager of the G. & G. Sales Co. of San Angelo, is very much in accord with the safety campaign now being conducted in Eldorado.

Mr. Grice states that he has always endeavored to select for his lines the safest possible equipment for automobiles. His two representatives travel the Eldorado territory and are cooperating with local dealers by supplying them with all kinds of parts and equipment for the safety of automobiles. Call for these parts by name when you have your car inspected: Amco brake lining, Anco windshield wipers, Tang-Sol auto lamps, Better tube patch, Shaler hot patch and Do-Ray clearance lamps.

Mr. Grice states that it is a pleasure to cooperate with the Eldorado Lions Club in this effort to reduce the alarming toll of auto highway accidents.

Patrolmen Inquire About Sentiment Of Eldorado People

SAY DRINKING & DRIVING ON HIGHWAYS PRACTICE THAT MUST STOP

Two highway patrolmen who were in Eldorado Wednesday made inquiries of county officials here regarding local sentiment toward driving on the highways while intoxicated. The patrolmen called at the office of County Judge C. S. McKinney after having made two arrests in this county.

The patrolmen stated that they had received orders to file charges against anyone being drunk in an automobile, regardless of whether that person is driving or not.

"Drinking and driving on the highways of Texas must stop," they said. "There are entirely too many accidents from this cause alone."

In reply to their query regarding local sentiment on this practice, Judge McKinney stated that there were a lot of people here who were interested in curbing the practice, but so far very little had been accomplished toward this end. He stated further that something should be done, and was being done, throughout the state of Texas to reduce the alarming toll of accidents from this cause alone.

Other states have rigid laws in regard to drunken driving, and they are being enforced. The highways are patrolled, and you are "called on the carpet" for just one driving error. It goes pretty hard with those who are in error and have evidence of having partaken of any sort of alcoholic beverage.

The same laws can be applied in Texas, and even more strict ones will be applied before our highway accidents are reduced to a minimum.

Mrs. W. G. Price and son, of Dallas, have been visiting in the homes of Mrs. Ben Isaacs and Mrs. L. L. Baker. Miss Nell Price, Jack Moore and Miss Pannie Norman, Miss Celeste Lee, joined Mrs. Price here and they left Wednesday for Calrsbad Cavern on their return trip to Dallas.

Irvin Lane, wife and baby, of Abilene, Texas, were renewing old acquaintances in Eldorado Wednesday. It has been 20 years since he left here and he could note many changes in the city, and when he began making inquiries of former friends and acquaintances he discovered many had passed away during his 20 years absence. It was like Rip Van Winkle's sleep. Mr. Lane lived on the Ovid Wade farm when here.

COUNTRY WOMAN'S HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB

Two programs, one on sandwiches and one on cleaning, were given at a meeting of the Country Woman's Home Demonstration Club on Wednesday, July 2, in the home of Mrs. Herman Glenn.

Miss Frances Bowen, Schleicher County Home Demonstration agent, gave a demonstration on sandwiches which included the making of a checkerboard sandwich, school sandwiches and a ribbon sandwich loaf.

Mrs. Richard Cheatham gave a list of mopping and cleaning tools, sweeping and dusting tools, polishing and cleaning tools, and several cleansers, and then uses and accessories that should be used in cleaning.

Mrs. Claud Alexander is going to the Short Course as alternate for Mrs. Herman Glenn.

The recreation program was a swimming party immediately after the club adjourned.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Truett Stanford, Mrs. W. C. Parks, Jr., Mrs. Richard Cheatham, Mrs. Bill McSwaine, Mrs. Gordie Alexander, Mrs. Rae Alexander, Mrs. Ward Parks, Mrs. Jack Wade, Miss Frances Bowen and Mrs. Herman Glenn.

Foundation Formed For Traffic Safety

MOTOR CAR INDUSTRY ORGANIZE TO BATTLE ACCIDENTS

President of Body Demands Aid of Government To Enable Effective Program Against Mishaps

DETROIT.—A fight to the finish against traffic accidents which take an annual toll of 36,000 lives is being waged today along three major fronts—engineering, educational and law enforcing.

The battle, gaining impetus from the daily increasing number of highway accidents and deaths has drawn educators, police authorities, finance companies and of course, manufactures to the front ranks.

Auto Builders Join

Latest recruits are those who pioneered automotive safety—the builders of motor cars. Confident that their engineers and craftsmen have built every possible ounce of safety into the modern motor car, the manufacturers are turning their efforts to educational channels.

Last night their organization directed to this end—the Automotive Safety Foundation. Its officers and trustees represent a veritable "who's who" of the motor car industry. Its objective:

SAFETY IS THE NEED

By Nora Beth Main

Upon the Alamo today, the sun is shining bright, Where one short century ago men bravely fought for right. They fought and died for freedom; for a place beneath the sun Where men might live in SAFETY till the race of life was run. And to those men of long ago we gladly bare the head; For they are numbered with the saints of our immortal deal.

We would not call them back again—and yet it that could be, Would they feel safe upon a road that's built for you and me? It's true that life is keen and swift, and we must keep the pace. But would these men approve our style and join us in the race If they could see the mangled forms and broken bones today. Of little children from our homes struck down while at play.

If they could see the battered wrecks of high-powered modern cars Hear screams and groans of persons pinned beneath the steel-like bars. . . .

Would they pass by in rapid stride and never lift a hand To keep the careless driver off the roadways of our land?

I wonder if they wouldn't rather face the bitter foe That shot them down within the walls of the sacred Alamo Than meet a car that's driven by a maniac for speed Upon the highways of our state where SAFETY is the need

SHERIFF'S SALE

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
County of Schleicher

BY VIRTUE of a certain Order of Sale issued out of the Honorable District Court of Schleicher county, on the 25th day of May, 1937, by John F. Isaacs, Clerk of said District Court against G. B. Shoemaker & Sons, Incorporated et al for the sum of Six Hundred Seventy five and no/100 ($675.00) dollars with interest thereon from the 5th day of October 1936 at the rate of eight per cent per annum, and costs of suit, in cause No. 545 in said Court, styled J. L. Mays, Trustee of the Bankrupt Estate of Thompson and Simpson et al, No. 598 in Bankruptcy, versus G. B. Shoemaker and Sons, Incorporated et al and placed in my hands for service, I, O. E. Conner as Sheriff of Schleicher es: "To foster the general welfare and to promote the mutual interests of the public and the automotive industries by encouraging the safe and efficient use of streets and highways; by stimulating research into the causes of street and highway accidents; and by disseminating information on the safe use of motor vehicles, on effective methods of preventing accidents, on ways and means of relieving congestion and facilitating traffic with safety, and on other matters affecting the motor vehicle and its use."

Eight-Point Program

"Effective control of traffic and accidents will not be achieved until government—federal, state and local—fully recognizes its responsibility by exercising the authority it now has to deal with the problem," Paul G. Hoffman, president of the foundation and head of the Studebaker Corporation said. "Every state can have as much or as little safety as its citizens insist upon getting."

The foundation disclosed that through it, the motor car industry will expend almost $500,000 on its 1937 safety program. In addition, the individual companies will spend hundreds of thousands of dollars for safety literature, educational films and other materials.

Another approach to the traffic problem—and one which can be carried out in the near future—was voiced in Detroit this week by Dr. Miller McClintock, head of the bureau for street traffic research at Harvard University.

Speaking before the national planning conference, Dr. McClintock charged American city planners with the task of determining the ultimate fate of the automobile—whether, he said the motor car will develop into "a malignant growth or a pearl of great price."

SCABIES ERADICATION REPORT IN DISTRICT

There was employed in San Angelo District for the month of June, three state men, and three county men who spent their entire time in an effort to eradicate scabies infection, and a total of approximately $459.85, was expended by this Department in its regular Eradication Program.

152 herds, and a total of 82,908 sheep or cattle were inspected or dipped. 130 sheep were classed as exposed on account of being imported into Texas and dipped to comply with Texas Scabies Law.

All exposed or infected live stock were systematically treated.

The Livestock Sanitary Commission of Texas will continue the work in the San Angelo District from imported infection, and affording the necessary scabies certificates demanded by other states on live stock moving from Texas.

The above work was conducted under the supervision of H. H. Cosper Supervisor of Scabies Eradication Work, San Angelo, Texas.

MRS. H. C. TUCKER GREATLY IMPROVED

Mrs. H. C. Tucker, who has been seriously ill for the past two weeks, was greatly improved the first of this week, according to a report of Dr. H. Z. Pennington, the attending physician.

Mrs. Tucker suffered an attack of ptomaine poisoning on the trip to Eldorado two weeks ago, and was in a serious condition for several days. She is the wife of H. C. Tucker, who is employed by J. L. Ratliff at the Eldorado Funeral Home.

CORN SPOILAGE

The county home demonstration agent has had more appeals for help concerning the matter of corn spoilage. The following suggestions are offered in the hope that further losses from spoilage may be avoided:

1. Do not scrape or cut a second time after it has been cut for the whole grain style. This practice may free the starch in the kernal and so cause spoilage if a tight seal has not been obtained.
2. Make sure of a tight seal.
3. Check time and pressure carefully and be certain to follow directions.
4. Check the maturity of the corn. Corn that is too mature is difficult to keep.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cunningham and daughter of Austin, and Mrs. J. D. Bordon and son of Junction are visiting in the T. W. Johnson, R. L. Sample and Walter Ramsay homes this week.

Why Bad Drivers Continue To Drive

Says Westbrook Pegler in the New York World-Telegram:

"Nothing can control the bad driver but to keep him off the road, and so many motorists in the land are bad drivers that to rule them off would inflict great loss on the automobile industry in all its branches. The campaign to save human life will never be carried to the extreme."

Precisely! In our opinion, Mr. Pegler has hit the nail right on the head. Practically nobody dares to come out and tell the whole truth about highway transportation in all its aspects. The fact is that as a nation we are spending a great more than we can afford for highway construction and, not only that, but there are thousands upon thousands of people driving automobiles who cannot afford to do so, and whose families would be better off if they were spending the money for food and clothing and decent homes. If the operation of a car or truck or a bus carried with it the requirement that owners would have to pay all costs of running it (not only highway construction and maintenance costs but adequate insurance against injury to others) there are a lot of people on the roads now who would have to give it up.

The damage done to innocent victims of automobile accidents is a charge which ought to be borne by motor vehicle owners and not left to the victims of their carelessness. Compulsory insurance is required of every car owner in Massachusetts, the same is true in England.

The answer to the bloody toll on the highways is to reduce and slow down the traffic on them. The fair way to accomplish this is to close the highway to incompetents and to those who are unwilling to pay their full share of the cost of highway transportation, including damages to third parties they injure; and to divert from the highway all traffic which can be more safely, and just as economically handled by other form of transportation.

Straightening out roads and improving their grade and surface is no answer. Such roads simply tempt drivers to greater speeds and increase fatalities.

One of the great categories of highway fatalities is that of pedestrians being struck while walking down the pavement—because there is no other place for them to walk. Every modern highway ought to have a paved footpath alongside it. This would eliminate most of the casualties to pedestrians. It would also enable people to use bicycles in safety. And if bicycles could be used safely, there is many a family which now feels that a car is necessary would be able to dispense with it and use a bicycle instead—to the great advantage of its health, and leaving a little money to be spent for food and clothing and better homes and a decent education for the children.

An automobile is a convenience and even a necessity to many people who are competent to drive and can afford it, should be encouraged. But even a good thing can be carried so far that it may become a nuisance, an extravagance and a danger.

THE FUN

Fasten one end of a three or four inch piece of elastic or string to a key or other object of similar size and weight. Taking the other end of the elastic, draw the key slowly across a desk or table. Draw it across rapidly. Now draw it slowly in a direction following the circumference of a circle a foot or so in diameter. Draw it around this arc rapidly. In this last case you will see that the weight goes tumbling out of the circle. Try it at various speeds, and over the imaginary circumference of circles of varying widths.

THE FACTS

Inertia is the tendency of bodies in motion to remain in motion in a straight line. On a curve, the car, tending to continue in a straight line, exerts considerable force in the direction of the outer edge. At low speeds there is more time in which to change gradually the direction of the car. At high speeds the car continues in a straight line and goes off the road at the curve. There is no way of evading the laws of inertia.

THE ONE-EYED CYCLOPS

The cards are stacked against you when you drive at night with inadequate headlights. Also, you take unfair advantage of all other users of the highway.

Test your lights frequently. Make sure the vibration of the car has not changed the tilt or focal adjustment of the lights; that it hasn't loosened one of the bulbs.

Turn your lights on at night and then walk down the road 50 or 75 feet. Turn around and look at them, then ask yourself, frankly, how you would like to meet those lights out on the highway.

If they glare, if one is stronger than the other, or if they are too dim to light the road adequately, something is wrong.

Night driving is a gamble, at best. But you can remove much of the risk by keeping your lights in good condition and by driving at moderate speeds.

$17,000,000 TO $1

Let's say that you have 17 million dollars and I have one dollar.

Will you bet your vast fortune against my lone dollar that you can toss this paper in the air and then catch it as it falls? Of course you won't. The odds are all out of proportion to the risk.

Perhaps you think nobody in his right mind would take such a chance.

If so, you are wrong. Thousands of apparently sane Americans do it not once but many times each day. Only they wager years against minutes.

Actuaries tell us that an average adult of 35 has 17 million minutes yet to live. Everytime he takes a chance in traffic to save one minute he wagers all his remaining years. When you gamble in traffic, You Bet Your Life!

There's a saying that trouble comes when least expected. That was found out by many drivers last year. Perhaps only their relatives and friends learned the truth of the saying, "beware of the unexpected."

One hears it said frequently, that all a driver has to do on the cross-country highway is to step on the accelerator and hold "her steady." But last year the rate of death per accident on the highways was more than 100 percent greater than the average for all accidents combined. So the highway after all, is no place for a driver to be asleep at the switch.

What does a driver think about when he goes around a curve too fast or on the wrong side of the road? If he thought about the probability of an accident, surely he would be more careful. Last year the rate of death per accident on curves was 131 percent worse than the average for all accidents combined.

The latest government mortality statistics show that the rate of death from automobile accidents continues to mount faster in rural territories than in urban.

In one year the death rate from primary automobile accidents increased 6.4 per cent. In urban territory it increased 4.5 per cent. From 1923 to 1933 inclusive, the total rate increased 58.7 per cent, and in rural territory 101.9

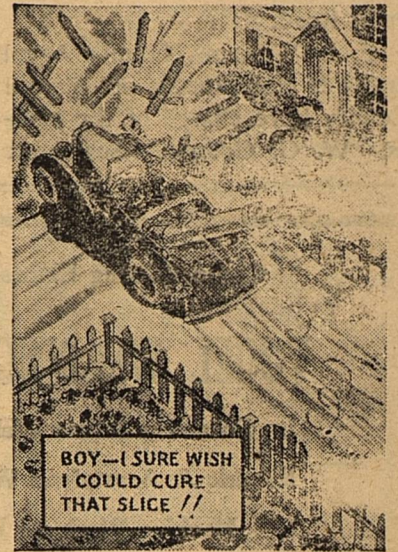

The person who always drives at a reasonable rate of speed saves gasoline, trouble, money and human lives.

"Carriages without horses shall go" predicts famous fortune teller, Mother Shipton, who didn't know the half of it: 1560.

And how about this for a slogan for a tire shop: Next time you have a blowout, invite us over to your flat.

In the Rough

(Travelers Safety Service)

Inattention fills more hospital cots than almost any germ in the medical index.

The absent-minded gentleman who kisses the umbrella goodbye and takes the baby out in the rain has no place on the highways.

Inattention may serve some useful purpose when wife wants help in hanging the curtains or demands that the collar be cleaned up.

But the man who gets lost in reverie while driving is likely to be found in a ditch.

Daydreams behind the wheel often become nightmares in a wheelchair.

If you are in the throes of a post mortem on last night's bridge game, wait 'til you get home to figure it out.

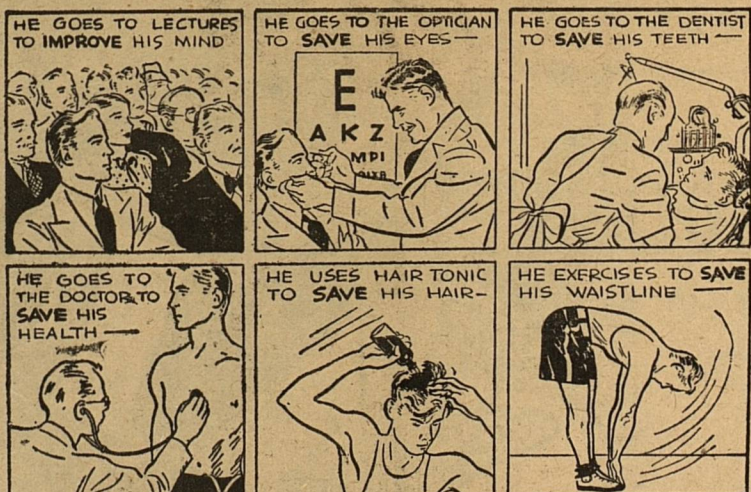

Good drivers don't slice—on the highway or on the highway.

It's easy for a driver to blame some defect in his car for an accident. Don't be misled by these flimsy excuses. NOBODY'S BUSINESS

Austin. — The long-sleeping Blanton mystery sprang back into the newspaper headlines this week, and became the center of news interest in Austin, as well as thruout Texas. Last November, Luther Blanton and his son, John, Willacy-co farmers, living near San Perlita went onto the former King ranch property near their home, persumably to hunt ducks. They never returned, and no trace of them has been found since. Local officers failed to find any clew. Texas Rangers were sent to the scene, the governor offered a reward, Safety Director Carmichael personally visited the scene. Months went by, and the case remained as complete a mystery as ever. Public interest died out, the newspapers ceased to mention the case.

Then it flared up again this week, when Ranger Power Fenner, Game Warden Morgan Miller, Sheriff Howard Cragg of Willacy-co, and his deputy, Mal-lie Brownfield arrested Louis La-Madrid, a deputy constable who claimed to be nearing a solution of the Blanton case, on a charge of illegally carrying a pistol, and impersonating an officer. They spirited LaMadrid to Brownsville despite a pending writ of habeas corpus. The quartet of officers were cited for contempt, found guilty by Willacy-co Judge F. E. McCharen, given nominal fines. After the hearing, Ranger Pan-ner drew a pistol on a valley newspaper photographers seized his camera, tried to destroy the plates.

Rangers Passing?

LaMadrid came to Austin, in-terviewed the governor. There it developed Col. Carmichael, safe-ty director, had hired him months ago as an undercover investiga-tor, and given his $150 expense money. After the conference, Gov. Allred issued a statement saying LaMadrid apparently had no information on the case that was worthwhile, Carmichael sus-pended Ranger Fenner pending "investigation." Miller was or-dered to Austin to make a per-sonal report to the game com-mission of his part in the affair.

People of the valley section were deeply aroused. Judge McChar-en wired the governor, asking removal of Fenner "in the inter-est of the public peace."

The incident was in keeping with a series of similar affairs in which the Rangers have partici-pated during the last four years. The Ranger force, "problem child" of the state government, apparently is slowly but surely writing its own death warrant thru its inability to adapt itself to changing conditions. It resist-ed amalgamation with the state highway patrol, when the legis-lature created that body, dem-anded and received separate offices, separate commandants, and other favors.

Fail On Case

The Rangers of today are a far different group from the storied heroes of the Texas pioneer days. Their failure to get any-where with the Blanton case, after eight months, together with their apparent resentment of the efforts of any other investigator to solve the case, has caused eye-brows to be raised thruout the state. Their mistreatment of the photographer, their political alliance with a certain group in the Sheriff's association which has tried to dictate administra-tion of the Rangers, their illegal seizure of a political newspaper Wichita Falls recently, are all part of a series of indictments which many here believe indicate clearly the Ranger force has oul-ived its usefulness, and that in the near future the legislature may turn the state police job en-tirely over to the highway pat-rol. The highway patrolmen are picked thru competitive axamina-tion, thoroly schooled in police work, and they have made an enviable record. The Rangers like the hairy mammoth of a by-gone age, are threatened with extinction because they seem wholly unable to adapt them-selves to new conditions brought about by the process of evolution.

New Highway Engineer

Who will be the successor of Gibb Gilchrist as state highway engineer interested political ob-servers thruout Texas this week. Gilchrist will become dean of en-gineering at A. & M. college Sept. 1. Because of a joker, in-serted in the highway appropria-tion bill by Sen. John Redditt of Lufkin, and overlooked until now, it is possible no successor may be named until after the legislature meets in special ses-sion in September. Redditt's joker provides for hiking the pay of the engineer from $6900 to $7750 a year, but it also pro-vides that unless the engineer shall have had five years experi-ence in the department, he will receive 20 per cent less, or $6,200. This provision will tie the hands of the highway commis-sion in seeking Gilchrist's suc-cessor, limiting them to men now in the department, since a com-petent outsider probably wouldn't want the job at $6200. Seeking to give the commission the same freedom in seeking the best man possible for the job, Gov. Allred may merely name an acting en-gineer until the legislature meets, then ask the solons to repeal the requirements mentioned before an engineer is named. Among those discussed for the job are T. E. Huffman, division engineer at Lufkin; Eddie Arneson, former chief engineer for the WPA, of San Antonio, and D. C. Greer chief engineer of design and con-struction in the department.

May Change Policy

Many small towns in Texas are watching with extreme inter-est the outcome, since the policy of the engineering department in the past, of by-passing small towns and leaving them off main highways, has virtually spelled the economic doom of many such communities. Altho Chair-man R. L. Bobbitt, Commission-er Harry Hines and Gov. Allred are all on record against by-pass-ing the little towns, as a matter of policy, the by-passing has continued as a matter of engi-neering expediency. Half a doz-en small towns in Dallas-co are the latest to raise loud protest at plans to leave them off the high-ways. They have recently cited figures to show that 75 per cent of the highway traffic in that county is local, and led by W. H. Bradfield, Garland publisher, are making a determined fight to retain their location on the main highways.

Woodul To Run

Chief political announcement of the week was that of Walter Woodul, of Houston, lieutenant-governor, who announced that he will be a candidate for attor-ney general next year, and will not run for governor under any circumstances. Many persons have believed if Woodul became governor thru resignation of Gov. Allred, he would seek elec-tion as chief executive. His state-ment set these rumors at rest.

MEASURED IN SAVINGS

Take an individual, or a business, or a successful enterprise of any kind. Examine the reasons for success. . . and you'll find saving among them. It may take the form of preparedness for emergencies. It may be for improvement. It may be for any of a hundred purposes. . . but saving must always be present where success and growth are found.

er each Sunday to worship. Somehow, we feel that the ding-dong of an old church bell would again awaken us to the realization that our places are still in the church. We believe its ring would rebuke us, if we could hear them as we started away on a Sunday's journey, away from church.

We'd like to see that old bell reinstated at the Methodist church. We'd like to hear its welcoming invitation as it rang out each Sunday morning for miles and miles across the countryside.

water rate with a greatly reduced rate on quantity supply, then sign the contracts the city will present to you and they can build whether they purchase the old system or not.

Mr. Atkins, City Secretary, will call on you for your signature to the contract.

The purpose of the contract, and the value of the contract, is to guarantee that you will use the cities water when in operation and piped to your premises.

Let's be one hundred percent in this matter. These contracts must be signed before we can proceed.

Give us your co-operation.

ELDORADO GIRL MAKES HONOR ROLL

Roberta Milligan of Eldorado was one of twenty-nine students listed on the honor roll of the School of Education of The University of Texas announced by Dr. B. F. Pittenger, dean of the school, for the spring semester of the 1936-37 long session.

Roberta is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Milligan, prominent ranch people of Schleicher County, and was graduated from Eldorado High School with the class of 1933. She attended the University of Texas four years and received her degree from that school in June of this year.

Rev. and Mrs. N. P. Wilkinson will return on Friday from a three weeks trip through the southern states. While away they spent a week at the Presbyterian Assembly at Montreat, North Carolina. Mrs. Wilkinson attended the Women's Conference while there.

Vacation Church School Will Close
Friday Morning

The vacation church school which has been in progress for the past two weeks will close Friday morning.

Parents and friends of the children who have been attending the school are invited to visit and observe the children from 10 a. m. to 11 a. m. Friday in the different departments.

The Beginner's group has followed the text, "Beginners in God's World" and have enjoyed a variety of activities from the planting of flowers to blueprinting. Parents who visit this group on Friday will participate in an informal program of songs, verses, stories, games, and dramatization. Those arriving at 10 o'clock will be invited to the children's regular morning lunch.

The Primary children will present a display of posters and books, which they have made, giving their theme song "God is Near," and saying memory work learned, Psalm 100, "Learning to Know God Better" was the theme of their course.

The Juniors have planned the following program for their guests:

visitors a program which is more ornial for the ones to be observed in the younger department.

Class song: "God of the Earth, the Sky, the Sea.

How We Got Our Bible: Betty Jo Bryant.

Books of the Bible: Venita Davis.

Song:
Beatitudes: Eloise Watson

Story: S. E. Jones.

Review of Work Done: An-nice Green.

The teachers of the school were: Misses John Alexander, Eloise Whitten, Celeste Tisdale, and Mrs. Elton Ellis in the beginners department where there were 22 students enrolled; Mrs. W. E. Eaton and Miss Maxine Wilton had charge of the Primary, which had an enrollment of 7; Mrs. Bert Page and Miss Oma Ford were in charge of the Juniors where 15 were enrolled; Miss Norene Ellington and Miss Johnnie Fern Isaacs were teachers in the Intermediate department where there were 14 students.

The total enrollment was 58, with 7 visitors. Sixteen of the 58 students had a perfect attendance up to Wednesday and 11 of the remaining 42 had only missed one day.

It has been a splendid, interesting school and parents should be most grateful to those teachers who have faithfully served in this activity each morning. I appreciate their fine, consistent help in making our school a success.

Pioneer Of County
Urges Citizens To Boast New Road

C. C. Doty of Ozona was a guest at the regular luncheon of the Eldorado Lions Club last Wednesday.

After hearing a report on possibilities of an east and west highway through this county, Mr. Doty made an interesting talk urging people of this county to work for this new road.

"We all need to pull for this road," Mr. Doty said. "I say 'we' because I still call Schleicher county my home, although

I've been visiting in Crockett county for the past two years.

"We have the best county in Texas," he continued, "and there's nothing that would help this county more than this road. It would also help us folks over in Crockett county.

"When the highway commission holds its next regular meeting, let's have someone down there who is not afraid to talk and fight for this road," Mr. Doty urged.

Doty reviewed the progress made since he came to this county 57 years ago, stating that the next thirty years will see far greater progress than have the past thirty.

Dr. L. J. Moore left this week for Dallas, moving his family with him, where he plans to make his home. He plans to work in his brother's office there.
