Grandson of Locals Is Member Of Wesleyan Singers

Ben Bounds

Ben Bounds, son of Bob and Debbie Bounds, grandson of Charles and Jean Brazzel of Eldorado and great-grandson of Mrs. Selma Baxter of the Rio Concho Manor in San Angelo, is spending the first two weeks of the New Year touring and singing in Russia. He is part of the 40 member Wesleyan Singers at Texas Wesleyan University in Fort Worth.

The ensemble is made up mostly of students from the Fort Worth-Dallas area and the Southwest, including a number of students majoring in areas other than music.

The group's invitation to appear in Russia came through the International Fine Arts Institution, which was particularly looking for a choral group for engagements in Samara, Russia. Upon arrival in Moscow, the choir will immediately depart for Samara, about 1,000 miles southeast of the capital. Site of a nuclear testing facility, Samara was closed to foreigners under the Soviet regime. The Wesleyan Singers will be the first American choir ever to appear there.

After a concert in the nearby city of Togliatti, the choir will return to Moscow. They will be the first American choir to sing in the services of the Russian Orthodox Church in Moscow. As part of the highlights of the group's 17 day concert tour of Russia, they will perform the liturgy of the church in the Russian language on January 8th, the Russian Orthodox Christmas Day.

There is also a smaller, elite chamber choir, called the Trouveres (named for the traveling Medieval singers) within the Wesleyan Singers. This 16-member ensemble will perform separately during some concerts, combining dramatic presentations with the reading of poetry.

The Wesleyan Singers were selected from many groups nationally that applied for the bookings in Russia. Tapes were submitted by such universities as Brigham Young and the University of Michigan.

Ben sings first tenor in the Wesleyan Singers, as well as in The Trouveres. He is 19 and a freshman at Texas Wesleyan this year. He was quoted as saying that he was very excited about the opportunity, and looking forward to quite a unique cultural experience.

Winds Of Change

by Sergio A Sobredo, Jr., MD.
F.A.A.F.P.

During my recent trip to the southern Tennessee mountains I was able to share notes with some colleagues practicing in the Chattanooga area. The Tennessee medical world has recently seen major third party/insurance reform which has made front page news, and not necessarily good news for anybody. The "TennCare" plan introduced there late last year and now enforce has doctors and patients alike outraged. Among its many mandates, one topic addressed is hospital emergency room coverage for recipients of the plan which includes Medicaid and indigent patients. Under the plan, patients presenting to emergency rooms for treatment are first screened by a nurse who then calls a primary doctor to which the patient is assigned to by the plan. This doctor must then decide if the problem requires management in the emergency room. In essence, this creates the so called "gatekeeper" approach with the sole purpose of cutting costs of administering expensive emergency room care for problems that could be handled in the office or outpatient setting.

Indeed, emergency room treatment costs are expensive and add many millions to the national health care budget. Historically however, emergency rooms are often the site of abuse by patients seeking the convenience of a 24 hour facility which has catered to their every ailment, and more often than not at the taxpayers expense. In Tennessee however, this perceived abuse has now come to a halt as the insurance companies mandate that doctors do not approve emergency room care for "walk-in" or "clinic" problems. If they do, they will not be paid. Thus the task of denying emergency room care to the patient has been placed in the hands of the doctor, with all of its negative connotations. Needless to say, hundreds of doctors in Tennessee have opted out of the "TennCare" plan, creating significant shortages of physicians for this plan.

There is no question that healthcare reform is a heated topic of debate these days. With the example of emergency room coverage reforms which Tennessee residents are now experiencing, we must take a hard look at our own backyard. We may see similar changes here in the future. One can only wonder if voluntary and individual self-restraint will make a difference in our area.

WOBP Annual Dinner Theater Set

by Jo Ann Sproul

The annual Dinner Theater, sponsored by the Chamber Pride Committee and the Way Off-Broadway Players, will be held on Friday, February 12th.

For the first time there will be two shows and two seatings for dinner. This will give more of our friends and supporters an opportunity to experience this popular event.

The dinner will be in the educational building of The First Baptist Church (not the Memorial Building as previously thought). The Chamber Pride Committee has planned a delicious dinner as always and proceeds will go toward their various beautification projects.

The play, "Daughters," by John Morgan Evans, is a wonderful and fast moving drama laced with comedy! It gives you a look at an Italian family as they face life in Mom's kitchen!

You are urged to bring your friends to this special event. Tickets are available at C.R. Sproul's office or at The Golden Oak. Please purchase tickets early to ensure seating.

For further information call 853-3343.

Dear People of Eldorado,

The committee for the Charles Allan Sallee Fund would like to thank you very much for your generous support during the time of Allan's hospital stay and recovering period.

At this time we are asking that you discontinue your contributions. We have enough funds in the bank at this time to cover Allan and Vidette's predictable expenses. If there should be a need in the future we will notify you and feel sure you will pick up where you stopped.

Thank you again for your support.

A 1994 Thought For The Year

A Wise Person Once Said:

Somewhere along the line someone has said that negative aggressive behavior is appropriate.

But, whatever happened to, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you" as a guideline to basic human relationships and kindness.

Remember, words are lethal and once they come out of your mouth you can never take them back. Taking responsibility for your individual behavior is a virtue.

Webster's Dictionary Definition: Virtue (ver-chu)
1. Morality 2. Moral Excellence 3. Strength or Courage 4. A Commendable Quality

TOP OF THE DIVIDE

by Thomas Giovannitti

When I read the paper last week I looked at my article and noticed I had used the incorrect "brake" instead of the commonly used "break". What a trauma that must be for English teachers to see. I think what threw me off was the form of "broken". Since we don't say or write "breakened" or "breaked," the "broken" (which is something that is "broke") made it easy for me to use "brake" when I meant "break".

English has too many words that sound alike but mean different things and are spelled differently. There are "here" and "hear"; "where" and "ware"; "there" and "their"; "bare" and "bear"; and many more. Either someone should have come up with a different sound for these words or we should get to spell them one way only.

Look at "to", "too", and

"two". Now usually in context we all know which one was meant to be used, that is, what meaning the author was trying to convey. If I wrote, "It is two cold", you would all know that I meant "It is too cold." So why the need for three spellings of the same sound. May years ago back when William Shakespeare was a kid these words sounded different but they don't anymore.

Actually, I wasn't completely in error when I used "brake" for "break" since in archaic usage "brake" meant to smash into small pieces to stop something. Now, I'm not broken up about this, but it can be a real problem to figure out which (Oops!) which word I should use!

Dr. Logan Retires

Editor's Note: The following article is being reprinted by request from the 12/8/93 issue of the Ozona Stockman.

by Scotty Moore

Dr. Joe B. Logan DDS (Doctor of Dental Surgery), and longtime Crockett County resident, has decided the 50 years is long enough and has retired his practice and has donated his equipment and supplies worth $40-50,000 to the Champion Tooth Club of El Paso.

Dr. Logan was born in Sonora on July 14, 1916 where he attended school. He enlisted in the Navy after he graduated from Baylor University School of Dentistry in March of 1944, and was stationed at Farrgut, Idaho. From Farrgut he attended the U.S. Naval Dental School at Bethesda, Maryland. After completing the school Dr. Logan sailed for Japan from Treasure Island in September of 1945 for a four month tour of duty before returning to Seattle on December 31, 1945. He was discharged from the Navy in May, 1946 at San Diego.

Dr. Logan opened an office in Sonora with Dr. Tom White where he practiced for 10 years before moving to Ozona in September of 1946.

Dr. Logan's father, Joe F. Logan, lived south of Ozona on the Moss Ranch (later the Marge McMullan Ranch) before the county was organized in 1891. His father pumped water with a steam engine for the Moss cattle. He did this for 12 to 18 months and then moved to Kimble County.

Joe B. and Mary Logan have two children, Richard Ben and Sharon Leigh. Both children graduated from Ozona High School and now reside in Austin.

The Logans have both been involved in community and church activities over the years. Dr. Logan served as president of the Ozona Chamber of Commerce, Ozona Lions Club, steward of the Ozona United Methodist Church and was a member of the Ozona Masonic Lodge. Mary K. Served at one time as Worthy Matron of the Ozona Eastern Star.

Joe B. has served as past president of the San Angelo District Dental Society, and the West Texas District Dental Association. He was a member of the American Dental Association and the Academy of General Dentistry.

Dr. Logan said in response to his retirement, "I want to take this opportunity to thank everyone for the years I have practiced dentistry in Ozona. Ozona is and always will be special to me and my family. The greatest people live here and in the surrounding towns. Thank you for letting me serve you these many years."

Navy Airman Apprentice Jamie L. Sanchez, son of Eppy Sanchez of Eldorado and Nancy Sanchez of Eldorado, Texas, recently completed basic training at Recruit Training Command, San Diego.

During the cycle, recruits are taught general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 occupational fields.

Studies include seamanship, close-order drill, naval history and first aid.

Although the Navy is getting smaller, the state-of-the-art ships, aircraft and high tech systems in today's fleet require bright, talented young men and women to operate them. The Navy has over 60,000 job openings this year, most of which include guaranteed training.

The 1993 graduate of Eldorado High School joined the Navy in July 1993.

Operation Orphans

Operation Orphans, Inc. has recently completed the whitetail doe hunt portion of the 1993-94, "Take a Child Hunting" program. During four hunts, 340 boys and girls from child care facilities throughout Texas harvested 311 whitetail does. The deer meat which the homes receive from these hunts helps to relieve some of the burden of their rising food costs for the year.

Since 1982, in cooperation with the Exotic Wildlife Association, Operation Orphans, Inc. has organized an Exotic Hunt. This seasons hunt will be held on January 29, 1994.

This is the 33rd year of this very successful program. To date, 13,018 youngsters have participated in the "Take a Child Hunting" program. The main objectives of this venture are to get youngsters in the field for an outing, teach them gun safety, inform them of hunting, tracking, and outdoor skills, adult companionship, and provide an opportunity to harvest a deer.

Landowners and individuals with leases participate in the program by allowing these children to harvest animals to get buck and doe ratios in order, to harvest excess exotic game, and just to share the experience of the great outdoors to kids who otherwise may never get the opportunity.

Operation Orphans, Inc. will house and feed the kids on Friday night at the base camp of Camp Gene Asby, located on the Llano River in Mason County. After receiving breakfast, the kids will be transported to the host ranches before daylight Saturday morning. Operation Orphans, Inc. is able to provide guides, rifles, and the noon meal for the day of the hunt.

If you have an excess number of exotic game, or if you just want to help these children, please contact Jerry or Lyla Crouch, Camp Supervisors, (915) 347-6745, P.O. Box 535, Mason, Texas 76856.

Anyone interested in hosting children for the 1994-95 whitetail doe hunts should also contact Jerry and Lyla Crouch at the above address and phone number.

Angelo Community Hospital Achieved Re-Accreditation

Angelo Community Hospital, 3501 Knickerbocker Rd., has achieved re-accreditation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations as a result of its demonstrated compliance with the Joint Commission on-site survey of ACH took place Aug. 30-31.

"Above all, the national standards mandate that attention to quality be a top-level activity that permeates the entire organization," said Kenneth Hermann, Pharm. D., vice president for accreditation surveys at the Joint Commission. "As an example, the quality improvement and assessment standards expect health professionals to use indicators of quality to monitor and evaluate all areas of clinical care. This community should be proud that Angelo Community Hospital is focusing on the most challenging goal -- to continuously raise quality to higher levels."

ACH President Robert Butler spoke of his pride in a staff whose members asked what needed to be done to be accredited by the Joint Commission. "In addition, they appreciated the educational aspect of the survey and the opportunity to interact with the team of surveyors."

Butler called the accreditation, "proof of an organization-wide commitment to provide quality care on an ongoing basis."

"We chose to be reviewed by the Joint Commission because it stands for quality health care, and so do we," Butler added.

Formed in 1951, the Joint Commission is dedicated to improving the quality of the nation's health care through voluntary accreditation.

Grants Available For Homeowners

Most homeowners are unaware that regardless of their income there are Federal, state and local programs that will help them repair and remodel their homes.

Government at all levels recognizes that neighborhoods are the basis of life in our country. When a neighborhood deteriorates, many things happen both physically and socially. Homes that are shabby seem to make a neighborhood more attractive to crime and criminals. An area in decline is like a spreading cancer. As homes become rundown and in need of maintenance, the residents lose their desire to keep up the neighborhood. Streets become receptacles for trash, schools lower their standards and very quickly the selling price of homes in the area drops sharply. This accelerates the cycle of degeneration.

In order to keep and maintain the nation's housing and neighborhoods, government at all levels have programs to give homeowners money (that does not have to be repaid) for repairs or to lend them money at below market levels or at not interest. In many areas utility companies will do energy conservation work free or at low cost and in other places will lend homeowners money at no interest to pay the contractor of their choice for the necessary work. In addition there are tax incentives to promote efficient energy use.

These programs are not restricted to low-income people, slum areas or urban neighborhoods. Owners of single or multi-family dwellings are eligible for some programs regardless of income. Most of the loans offer long terms and low payments.

Some of the other home improvements covered under these programs are: attic and wall insulation, new windows, outerwall siding, security doors and locks, window guards, sidewalks and masonry work, bathrooms and kitchens, electrical and plumbing work, new roofs, gutters or downspouts.

Consumer Education Research Center, a national non-profit consumer group, has just published CONSUMERS GUIDE TO HOME REPAIR GRANTS AND SUBSIDIZED LOANS, a 208-page book which lists over 8,500 sources of loan and grant programs offered by all levels of government, utility companies and others, typical programs offered and eligibility requirements. Form letters for inquiries to these loan and grant sources are included as well as detailed instructions on determining your debt-to-income ratio for eligibility. The book can be obtained for $12.95 plus $3 shipping and handling form CERC GRANTS, 350 Scotland Road, Orange, NJ 07050 or by calling 1-800-USA-0121 for credit card orders.

Robert L. Berko of CERC, tells us, "Some of these programs have no income ceiling and others allow income of as much as $100,000 per year. There are even programs for which tenants are eligible and many allow loans or give grants to poor credit risks. One of the authors of this book received a $5,000 N.J. grant plus a $4,000 interest free loan from his utility company. In many areas, people with disabilities can receive grants to pay for needed repairs such as access ramps and widening of doorways."

Since it is important that the work be done properly, the book describes in detail how to pick a reputable contractor, negotiate a contract and insure that work is done properly and for a fair price.
