Insurance Companies Have Expanded And Now Offer Insurance For Every Need

Many people are prone to overlook the most important element of insurance, which is Risk, the chance of loss, that has ever been the bane of human existence. Since Adam and Eve traditionally were expelled from their Eden paradise to shift for themselves, man has had to run the risk of losing his possessions in one way or another. At first these were limited to simple requirements of the primitive life but with the development of modern civilization its enormous creation of wealth and the establishment of property rights thereto, the individual's belongings have increased a thousand fold and his chances of loss have multiplied as his property has accumulated. Since risk may be defined as the chance of loss, it naturally follows that where there is no chance there can be no risk.

There are dozens of chances of loss which nearly everybody runs daily, and it is entirely practicable for such risks to be assumed by insurance carriers, and the chief advantages of insurance are: 1. The substitution of certainty for uncertainty. 2: The equitable distribution of cost among those subject to the risk. 3: Credit otherwise unobtainable is made available through insurance protection. 4: Security of dependents is made possible through life insurance. Protect what you have with insurance. If at any time there is any information desired in connection with insurance come in to see us.—W. McFarland Insurance Agency. (adv.)

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

What you do with the time given you in the year 1946 is largely up to your own will and decision. But we all need to keep in mind that the past achievements and success will not meet the responsibilities and duties that are ours now and those in the future. The accomplishments we have made in the past in the fields of science, literature, and professional life have far surpassed the gains in religious and christian life and experiences. Someone has said that it is no longer safe to make further progress in the material lines until we have caught up with the spiritual living, that will add influence to man's behavior and direct his ways and influence his life for what it was intended.

Through all generations the greatest influence for good has been the churches and religious people. The churches and christian people are still the great influence to bless the world and lift human lives. Will we not accept the challenge that is ours today and dedicate our living to the great christian principles and noble ideals that the world needs today? The world will no longer accept lip devotion, but it will take christian action on the part of those who call themselves christian. We must be faithful to church attendance and religious living in the strictest of meaning to make the progress and influence the world.

Our services: Sunday school and worship: 9:45 and 11 a. m. Training Union and worship 6:30 and 7:30. Our mid-week service each Wednesday evening 6:30. Women's Missionary Union each Monday afternoon at 3:00.

Our board of deacons has recommended to our church that we sponsor an organization for our laymen. This is a most worthy undertaking for any church, and I hope our men will see the need of such an organization and will put forth every effort possible to make it go.

Shopping Hangover

SHOPPING is hard work at best—hard on the feet and hard on the pocketbook. Stores are crowded with buyers, goods are still scarce, and bargains aren't always easy to find.

Except electricity! Lady, you don't have to stir one step outside your home to get a whopping big bargain in comfort and convenience—at low pre-war prices.

Electric service is always right at your fingertip—plentiful, dependable, ready 24 hours a day to lighten your household burdens and make your way of living more pleasant.

And it's cheap! As a matter of fact, the average family is getting just about twice as much electricity for its money as it did 15 years ago.

Yes, electric service is a rare household bargain. But not by accident. It's the result of the hard work and experience of the men and women in your company.
