Cotton Marketing Ouota Referendum Scheduled Here

he following information has en released from the local Triple A office, of which Eddie Brown is manager, with regard to the cotton marketing quota referendum to be held here next Thursday, Dec. 15.

Freedom of choice by popular election is one of our most zealously guarded American traditions. The cotton marketing quota referendum is a perfect example of American democracy in action. Through the referendum, each cotton grower helps to decide what action will be taken to solve his production and marketing prob-

But this is true only if he makes his voice heard, if he takes an active interest in farm affairs in the local community, and only if he does vote in the cotton marketing quota referendum on Thursday, Dec. 15, 1949.

WHAT IS A COTTON MAR-KETING QUOTA? A farm marketing quota represents each farm's fair share of the National marketing quota. The national cotton marketing quota for 1950 is the amount of cotton, which under normal conditions would be produced from 21 million acres of cotton. In general, the farm marketing quota is the production from the farm acreage allotment. A farmer who plants within his farm acreage allotment in 1950 may market his total production plus any carry-over cotton produced prior to 1950 penalty free. If a producer exceeds his allotment, he must pay a penalty on the "farm marketing excess." This is the normal production of the acreage planted in excess of the acreallotment. But if a grower establishes his actual production to the satisfaction of the county PMA committee, the "farm marketing excess" is limited to the amount by which the actual production on the farm exceeds the normal production of the acreage allotment.

WHY HAVE QUOTAS BEEN PROCLAIMED? The Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 as amended provides that when the total supply of cotton for a marketing year exceeds the normal supply for the year the Secretary of Agriculture must proclaim marketing quotas for the next crop. Such a proclamation was made by Secre-bry Brannon on October 13, 1949. aking his proclamation, the etary found that total supply for the marketing year beginning August 1, 1949 would amount to around 20,659,000 bales The normal supply for the same period is estimated at 16,250,000 bales. Thus "total supply" exceeds "normal supply" by 4,409,000 bales or 27.1

Young Veteran's Death Receives Nat'l Publicity

Nationwide publicity will be accorded the late Joe Stanley Smith, whose untimely death in the crash Schodules 3 Cam of an American Airlines plane at Love Field, Dallas, last week, shocked relatives and friends, who remember his fight to regain his health after his release from a Japanese prison camp.

Prominent among the hordes of photographer-reporters who covered the story of the funeral at Carlsbad, N. M., Friday, were representatives of Time and Life. It is understood that Life will run a feature in an issue to be published soon, featuring him as their original G. I. Joe. Photographers were in Carlsbad Thursday and Friday, taking pictures of his parents, old home, boyhood scenes, and the funeral. They also took pictures of the burial in the National Cemetery at Santa Fe and of the crash victim's wife and children (the youngest two or three days old at the time of Joe Stanley's death), and of the home Play Lakeview which they had recently bought. Photographers were in evidence everywhere, even on the tops of How to find help from Bible reading:

1. Read carefully and unhurriedly. "Time exposures", not snapshots, should be the rule.

2. Read thoughtfully and prayerfully. Try to imagine the scenes.
3. Read expectantly and reflectively. Look for the personal message for YOU in each day's passage for YOU in each day's

4. Read till a verse strikes fire. Your inner response to God's message is vital. When He condemns, bow penitently. When He offers help, place your hope on that assurance. When He commands, obey. When He guides, follow.

5. Copy out a key verse daily. Carry it with you, refer to it, and repeat it again and again throughout the day.

6. Set aside and keep a regular daily time for reading.
7. Make it a habit. Enter the New Year as a daily reader of the
