"The Constant Nymph"

Warners present a romantic drama of love and passion with Joan Fontaine, Charles Boyer, Alexis Smith, Chas. Coburn.

On the Sets

With Irwin Allen

Hitler and his henchmen are off the vaudeville circuit. The Fuehrer is through as a funny man and the slobbering idiot who was a Nazi has now taken on more deadly stature. All of which simply means that Hollywood henceforth is casting the enemy strictly to type. He will no longer be comically underestimated but rather molded in a manner which will show him as neither a hero nor a fool. Such action will bring to an end the wild wave of hysteria in the public prints which screamed that Hollywood's version of the typical Nazi was "either a preposterous buffoon, a supersadist, a supergangster, a supercriminal or a superman." Such portrayal, if true, makes for a dangerous practice. Underestimating the enemy is as serious as meeting him unprepared.

Back in the panty waist days of the industry, it was the accepted thing to laughingly exaggerate the "Hun" to make him the foil of riotous burlesque. Picturing the enemy as a complete dope and the Allies as a group of brilliant Dick Tracys was the proper box-office formula. Public opinion demanded such pictures and Hollywood was fast to comply. Times have changed and propaganda has grown up. Movie-goers want the truth and so Adolph is through as a funnyman.

There have been other changes. The Office of War Information has cautioned against picture roles that would show Americans selling out their own country in order to go on the payroll of the enemy as a spy. Such caution is not voiced in fear of the effect on us but rather on our Allies and especially those of Latin America. Seeing Americans as anything but patriotic citizens might be more than a little confusing.

Out at Warner Brothers they're shooting an epic in keeping with the new formula. The picture is "In Our Time" and stars Ida Lupino and Paul Henreid. It's a war story of a Polish family including a son who marries an English girl. The Nazis and their wave of terror play no small part and yet at no time are they unbelievable or too funny for words. Nazis are Nazis. No polish for the sake of box-office.

Hollywood's complete about face will bring screams of despair from High Nazi quarters. Hitler and his henchmen would have liked to lull us into the belief that they were nothing more than clowning idiots and so catch us unaware. But the die is cast and Dr. Goebbels will be obliged to write material along a new theme. His Joe Miller junk is now stale stuff.

Deanna Durbin is now before the cameras at Universal in Olsen and Johnson's "Crazy House."

Reviews of Previews

By Jerry Cahill

Deanna Durbin has grown up, and there's no doubt about it, not after you see her in "Hers to Hold." For in this picture Deanna is quite a sophisticated young lady, suffering from the pangs of love. Her youthful charm is still there, despite the fact that she has grown into maturity, but she has grown with such grace and finesse that she will win new audiences and keep those she has had for these many years with stronger interest.

In "Hers to Hold," Deanna is a young wealthy debutante. While giving blood to the Red Cross, she meets Joseph Cotten, who wanting to meet her poses as a doctor. Before the consultation is over, he has her telephone number, address, and manages to steal a kiss. From then on he becomes her shadow and once her indignation is over, she really likes him—better still she falls in love with him. But Cotten is a flyer, waiting for orders and working at Vega Aircraft factory. He tries to tell her that he is not the kind to be domesticated, but she tells him that she understands, much to her regret when he receives orders to leave and rather than break her heart he just leaves her a cold note.

Deanna is at her best in this picture. Her mature appearance is extraordinary and she sings better. Among the songs she sings are "Begin the Beguine," "Kashmiri Song," "Seguidilla" from "Carmen" and a new and impressive number by Jimmy McHugh and Herb Magidson, "Say a Prayer for the Boys Over There." She has been guided by Adrian and she does mighty well in these gowns which accentuate her figure.

Joseph Cotten, heretofore seen as either an old man or a sinister character plays his romantic role rather well. It's quite a change and it is good. Gus Schilling, playing Cotten's pal, supplies much of the comedy, doing it with such artistry as to win him plaudits from audiences everywhere.

Charles Winninger, Evelyn Ankers, Ludwig Stossel (He's superb as the butler), Nella Walker, Fay Helm and Murray Alper.

An interesting scene shows Deanna's parents showing some films of her as a child, in which some scenes from "Three Smart Girls," "Mad About Music," "Three Smart Girls Grow Up," and "It's a Date" are shown.

All in all Deanna Durbin scores another personal hit and Universal has another box-office hit, a new producer, Felix Jackson and a new director, Frank Ryan.

ANN'S SUMMER TOGS

When Ann Sheridan planned her summer wardrobe she kept a few facts in mind when she made her purchases. First comfort... then clothes that could be easily laundered and cleaned and then because Ann lives on her Encino Rancho she selected styles appropriate for her home life. We've seen La Sheridan's summer wardrobe and here it is.

To wear with black gabardine slacks Ann selected a gay paisley print blouse in shades of red, yellow, gold and black. Another slack outfit consisted of tobacco brown trousers with tailored blouse of coral pink. Then completing her slacks wardrobe Ann has powder blue suit with the fitted jacket featuring shallow revers and hand-picked edges. With this suit Ann wears a blue, green and white print blouse.

For occasions when she wants a costume... in between slacks and dresses... Ann wears a soft green trouser skirt and blouse of dark green splashed, with huge strawberries and leaves. Another ideal culotte outfit is made of brown gabardine topped off with a white blouse which shows huge creamy white magnolias with green leaves and brown stems.

In her dress selections Ann likes her blue crepe pinafore with Irish crochet edges. She wears a white crepe blouse with her pinafore which has a high, drawing neck and push up sleeves.

For general daytime wear, Ann has a three-piece costume which boasts brilliant colors. The tailored blouse is of watermelon red, the skirt of sea green and the waistcoat is of banana yellow.

For informal entertaining she has a matching suit with the slim legs. Of soft putty grey, the blouse has a flattering ruffle set down at the front.

For Sunday night wear at her rancho, Ann's summer costume is one of the most beautiful we've ever seen. It features a blouse of brilliant fuchsia crepe with a flattering deep plunging neckline. The white sharkskin skirt is splashed with bouquets in the fuchsia shades.

Now... if you look like Ann Sheridan... live on a rancho... or even have a small farmyard for that matter... we'd suggest you follow her wardrobe ideas because they're not only smart and pretty... but oh so practical.

SNODS STILL SPOTLIGHTED Are you in the mood for a snood? Well, then, you'll like the special snood creation that Ginger Rogers, star of Paramount's "Lady in the Dark" is wearing these days. It is a special red net hair covering to be worn with both afternoon and evening clothes. This snood is a heavy red mesh with tiny felt daisies of red, white and blue sprinkled over it. A wide band of red grosgrain ribbon holds the snood to the head and ties in a flat bow on top of the head.

BATH OILS FOR HANDS Bath oils were a part of the beauty routine of the ancients and of late they have been getting more and more attention from moderns. Lucille Ball, not only uses a few drops of a perfumed bath oil in her bath water, she also rubs a little on her hands to keep them soft and smooth.

With Dale Drum Q: Betty Brown, Sacramento, Calif.: I would like a short biography of Humphrey Bogart.

A: Humphrey Bogart was born in New York City on December 23, 1906. His father was a surgeon and his mother an artist. He went to school at the Andover Academy until he was thrown out for ducking a junior professor.

Dale Drum is a junior professor and served at the last war. After that he worked on Wall Street for a while and, when this did not suit him, got a job backstage in a theatre. Since then he has never left the theatre. His first bit of acting was in "Ruined Lady" with Grace George. After playing in a number of Broadway successes he worked in several pictures made in New York. His Hollywood screen career dates from the time he made "The Petrified Forest." Since then he has made "The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse," "Virginia City," "They Drive by Night," "Angels with Dirty Faces," "High Sierra," "The Maltese Falcon," "The Big Shot," "Action in the North Atlantic," "Casablanca," and many more. He has been married three times. The first time to Helen Menken and later to Mary Phillips who he divorced in 1937. He married his present wife, Mayo Methot, in 1938. He likes to swim, fish, and go boating (he turned his own boat over to the Navy). He seldom goes to the movies.

Inside Hollywood

With Edith Gwynn

The government is trying to get movie and radio scripts to eliminate gag writing. Its contention is that if there must be jokes about rationing, then the enemy should be the butt of said jokes... People within a radius of five miles of Lucey's could hear Brynne Foy raving about Bill Post, Jr., the other night. Swears he's the best find that Fox or any other studio has grabbed in years... Hear that Abe Lyman is suing mad at MCA because they took Bonita Granville away from his unit to put her into the new Andy Hardy picture... Poor Carole Landis—she replaced that huge Greer Garbo she loved (when he died)—she replaced that huge Greer Garbo she loved (when he died)—she replaced that huge Greer Garbo she loved (when he died)...

What MGM producer lost a fortune to Paddy Dobson the other night? The deal for Humphrey Bogart to buy Errol Flynn's yacht has fallen through. Boat is too big. So therefore Helmut Dantine, who wanted Bogey's boat, won't get it... People around the studio where "Lifeboat" will be made are getting their ears ready for some rare talk when Talullah Bankhead arrives. Since Talu and Alfred Hitchcock speak very much (oh, very much!) the same language... They previewed "This is the Army" down at Huntington Park, and Irving Berlin spent half an hour in the lobby later signing autographs... Ilona Massey has changed plans again and will really be off to South America as soon as her four-week stint at the Roxy is finished... Start sending your Christmas cards and packages to the boys overseas NOW!... Ariane Allen (spouse of the N'Yawker's Harold Ross) is taking a singing lesson every day from Al Segal at the Trocadero... Capt. Jimmy Stewart and Dorothy McGuire, doing the town together, Chapbooked by Margaret Sullivan... Walked into Moombo just as Cobina Wright, Sr., was lustily singing the Matzelleise from the band-stand to the Bastille-day night-spectators... the Lee Bowmans, Phyllis Brooks with John de Baganza, Rex St. Cyr, and Charlie Wrightman, cabobouting alone, in the crowd... Madeleine le Beau partied in her patio same night, with the Otto Premingers, Jean Negulesco, the Vladimir Sokoloffs, the Ralph Biums, Mickey Rooney, Jacques Thiry, Harry Crocker (the Chinese-lantern man), the Reggie Gardiners among Crocker who sat down, to some wonderful food whipped up by Pepsino... and oh, yeh, the Victor Borges arrived and had a grand time for over an hour before they discovered they were at the wrong party! They were reluctantly sent to Vera Gasparri's house across the street.

The search is on again for a comedy for Garbo—with a time-limit on the find of same... Pat O'Brien will star in "Phantom Lady," which Joan Harrison (the only femme producer besides Harriet Parsons) will make for Universal... The fan-mail on Lon McCallister is so terrific since the release of "Stage Door Canteen" that Sol Lesser is preparing special ads to take advantage of it... Margie ("Bombardier") Stewart will pose (at the Govt's request) for two special color posters for the Public Relations Office in Washington. To be used for a morale-lift and circulation overseas... Hear that Vincent Youman's throat ailment is so serious that his medicos don't want him to talk for months!... Shriely Temple a sensation with the lads at the Hollywood Canteen. And those bistro-buddies, Benchley and Butterworth, bus-boyed and bounced around... Vivian Marshall, Jimmy O'Brien, Bill Hoffman and Ed Reher (all of "Blackouts") are being well enough to dash to the Canteen to do a show—even though they have three to do at the theatre that day! Kay Francis of the NAA will bring over 12 wounded sailors from the Naval Hospital, and Merle Oberon will be on hand to cheer them up.

Meet the Stars

With Luis Rosado

One of the few players on the screen today who admits that success came to her the easy way is Claire Trevor. "There was no struggling, starving in garrets or hanging around producers' offices," said Claire, "As I look back at it, it seems to me all I had to do was decide I wanted to be on the stage, and everything else followed by itself. I think I'm a very lucky girl and certainly I'm a grateful one."

When she decided she wanted to study drama while still at Columbia University, her parents, who wished only to see Claire happy, sent her to the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York City, which is her home town. During the summers she joined fellow-students on the strawhat circuits, playing at Ann Arbor, Southampton and other Little Theatres. It was while she was appearing with the famous Hampton Players that a Broadway producer saw her and signed her up for "Whistling in the Dark," after she lied a bit about her experience.

This was the beginning of a long series of lucky breaks. For despite such critical comments as "she gets along beautifully by the simple expedient of not acting at all" and "she played the role like a shiny debutante," Claire still wonders what this meant. This performance led to several others on Broadway. Before long Hollywood heard about the successful young actress. In 1933 she was signed to a long-term contract by Fox.

And she considers it a very lucky break that the first screen actor she met—and played opposite—was George O'Brien. For George gave her a bit of advice then which has been a great help in the last few years when she has been working in picture after picture, with hardly a breathing spell. Noticing Claire's over-enthusiasm about everything in and around the studio which kept her in a constant whirl of activity, George counseled, "sit down, Claire. Rest. Conserve your energy and strength for the camera." Claire has never forgotten that. This picture with O'Brien was followed by "The Mad Game," with Spencer Tracy, which attracted so much favorable in Claire that she became a prominent star on the Fox lot and played in more than thirty pictures there, including many with Shirley Temple. She was soon borrowed by other studios for important roles.

Then came the most memorable of all, her part opposite John Wayne in John Ford's masterpiece, "Stagecoach." This was not only a tremendous success for her personally, but started her on a new career as had girl with a heart of gold, a part she played with such artistry in "Dead End." It also revealed her as a perfect Western heroine—no other actress can wear dance-hall-girl costume and the bustles of the period equally well, and with such charm. Since then, Claire has been cast in almost every important Western made. Her latest is Harry Sherman's "The Gunmaster," which she just completed and which promises to bring her an added bit to her career. Claire doesn't mind being typed as "the perfect Western heroine" or even "the good-bad girl." For Westerns are more popular than ever, and now they have been taken out of the "B" class. Claire thinks it's a privilege to be considered tops in her own province.

Etten Hits 3 Homers For Yanks

New York Team Wins Twice Over Bengals; Cards Wallop Dodgers

By The Associated Press
The New York Yankees keep rolling along towards their third straight American league pennant and seventh in eight years.

They lost the first game of the series to the Tigers on Saturday, but turned around yesterday and beat the Bengals twice, 5 to 4 and 2 to 1, to chalk up their 21st victory in their last 27 starts. First Baseman Nick Etten personally accounted for both triumphs by whacking out three homers.

The White Sox stayed in second place, 8 1-2 games behind, by sweeping both ends of their twin bill from the Athletics, 5 to 1 and 15 to 9. In stretching their winning streak to four, the Sox outscored the A's in both games behind the eight-hit pitching of Buck Ross in the opener and Joe Haynes' relief twirling in the nightcap.

In the National League the first place St. Louis Cardinals increased their lead to 11 games by walloping the collapsing Brooklyn Dodgers, 7 to 1 and 5 to 4. The Cards won the first easily behind Harry Breechen's six-hit pitching, but had to come from behind with a four run outburst in the sixth to win the afterpiece.

Rip Sewell came up with a three-hit mound performance for his 17th victory to save the day from being a complete flop for the Pittsburgh Pirates. Sewell's feat beat the Braves, 7 to 1, after the Bos' club won the opener, 6 to 3, in 10 innings.

Cincinnati pulled within one-half game of the third place Dodgers by beating the New York Giants twice, 5 to 3 and 3 to 2 in 13 innings. The Reds came from behind in the ninth inning of the nightcap to tie the score and won out in the 13th on Bert Haas' long fly that brought home Eric Tipton from third.

Washington walloped the St. Louis Browns twice, 5 to 3 and 20 to 6 in an old-fashioned slugfest. Ray Scarborough scattered 10 Brown hits in taking the opener, his last game before entering the navy as an ensign. The Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians split their twin bill. The Indians won the first game, 8 to 6, and the Red Sox the second, 4 to 1.

The Phillies stopped—the climb of the Chicago Cubs towards a first division berth by whipping the Bruins twice, 4 to 1 and 5 to 3.

Rigid Football Code Is Set Up By Navy

NEW YORK, Aug. 2 (AP)—A new set of Navy sports rules all but wipes the 1943 football schedule of the Iowa Seahawks, threatens the all-star grid game at Chicago and makes impossible a duplicate of the 1919 Rose Bowl contest in which the Great Lakes sailors walloped the Marines, 17 to 0.

The regulations, issued by Navy Secretary Knox at Washington last night prohibits Navy teams from going outside the National Collegiate Athletic association district in which they are located to meet a sports foe. The Seahawks, stationed at Iowa City in district 5, are scheduled to play Illinois, Ohio State, Marquette, Minnesota and Notre Dame, all in district 4.

Another rule says that "individuals in the Navy who have been or are prominent in sports will not be permitted to engage in contests or sports away from their stations except as members of a team representing the activity."

That would remove numerous names from the all-star roster for the game at Chicago Aug. 25 between collegians, many of them already under Navy control, and the Washington Redskins.

The new code added that V-12 trainees would participate in intercollegiate sports as representatives of the college to which they are assigned and not as Navy representatives.

The U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., is not affected by the rules.

Jinx Is Broken By Lubbock Team As Big Spring Loses

Turning on a blistering barrage of hits, the Lubbock Army Flying School managed to break a jinx Sunday at Lubbock and win its first game over the Big Spring Bomberdier School in five starts.

The victory—a 19-7 bombardment—followed a Big Spring win by a 18-8 count Saturday behind the pitching of Lieut. Arch Shelton.

While Lieut. Shelton allowed 14 hits—one more than his mates got—he managed to scatter them out so that Lubbock batters could do little damage. While this was taking place, Pfc. Bill Ramsey led the Big Spring attack with three doubles and a single in five times up. S/Sgt. Dixon Kirk was almost as effective, getting three for five, including a double. Pfc. Fred Westenberg hit three for five. Sam West, the "doddering" old gent who once was a fixture for the Washington Sens, headed up the Lubbock parade with one for two.

Big Spring scored its most effective punch in the ninth when Gold was driven from the mound in favor of Wilson during a four-run outburst.

Cpl. Ray Szymanski started out well enough for the Bomberdiers Sunday, but Lubbock sluggers mistook him for a cousin in the third and he was spirited away in favor of Pfc. Bill Rudolph. Nine runs crossed the plate in that inning, and it was more than enough although LAFS hitters continued their habit of slamming the ball over the South Plains.

For the Bomberdiers, Lieut. George Hallahan had a triple and a single in four times up. Kirk hit two for four to maintain a good series average. For Lubbock, West had a homer and two singles in four times up.

Lin scores:

Lubbock . . . 103 020 110— 8 14 2

Army Trainees Could Provide Baylor Team

By The Associated Press
If Army trainees are allowed to play intercollegiate football Baylor University will have a team, thus bringing the Southwest conference to full strength for the 1943 campaign.

This information comes from President Pat M. Neff of Baylor today as the first of the conference academies—Texas A&M—opens the training grind.

At the present time, Neff said, Baylor is not planning a team because of lack of material, but there are 400 boys in the army specialized training program at the school, most of them sent there from Illinois and Wisconsin and among the group are a number of capable football and basketball players.

If the present status of these boys regarding competitive athletics is changed, as has been suggested by a petition of congressmen to the president, and they are allowed to play football, then Baylor will have a team, but until this matter is cleared up nothing more can be done about the situation, Neff explained.

The Southwest conference voted last week to suspend the Sept. 5 opening date for practice and to allow the teams to start now. However, it will be informal training until Aug. 20 when regular practice can be begun.

A&M, Arkansas and Texas have announced when they will start work. While the Aggies open today, Arkansas says it will not begin formal drills until Aug. 20, although several players in summer school may engage in touchball before then, while Texas will start either Aug. 20 or 23.

Southern Methodist, Rice and Texas Christian have not announced definitely when they will open practice.

Texas Youth 600 Schools Will Be Participants In Gridiron Tilts

By The Associated Press
In one more month the Texas schoolboy gridiron legions begin their march—and when they go to the post the state championship field will boast 104 teams.

Each division—class AA, class A, class B and six man—has taken a cut in numbers, but indications are that around 600 schools will participate.

Class AA—the only division playing through to a state title—is dropping three teams that took part last year. They are Berger in District 1, Colorado City in District 3 and Conroe in District 14. One school is picked up with Kingsville returning to District 16 after an absence of a year. Colorado City will not quit intercollegiate league football entirely as are Berger and Conroe but will be in class A this season.

Masonic Home of Fort Worth, which announced last winter that it would not play this year, has now decided to do so but will not engage teams outside its district in the regular season, Supt. Tom Fletcher announced.

Class A, which plays to regional championships, has 261 teams lined up while 20 that participated last year have not indicated their intentions to R. J. Kidd, athletic director of the interscholastic league. Seven schools are dropping out. They are Clarendon, Paducah, Iowa Park, Granbury, Kirbyville, Junction and Brackettville.

Class B, which decides bi-district championships only, has 122 schools officially entered but 84 have not yet reported either way and 12 are uncertain. The latter plan to play if they can obtain coaches—scarce with the young men going off to war. Twenty-eight schools have dropped out. They are:

Follett, Higgins, Estelline, Iraan, Fort Hancock, Robert Lee, Spee Springs, Tolar, Desdemona, Anna, Collinsville, Tioga, Joshua, Emory, Tatum, Crandall, South Bosque, Coolidge, Kosse, Marquez, Normangee, Flatonia, Blanco, Pflugerville, Hardin, Stockdale, Bishop and Edcouch-Elea.

Kidd said to date he had not received enough information on six man football to announce a roster of teams. This division plays to bi-district titles. Schools have until Sept. 15 to file their entries.

TOURNAMENT IS ENLIVENED BY TRIPLE PLAY

WACO, Aug. 2 (AP)—Play in the state semi-pro baseball tournament was enlivened by a triple play and other oddments as Ellington Field ousted Camp Wallace and Waco Army air field defeated Houston's Shipbuilders 10 to 4 yesterday.

Ellington was leading 9 to 7 when an argument started and Umpire Curtis Hatter ended it by declaring a forfeit, making the official score 9 to 0 for Ellington.

Ellington was seven runs ahead at the end of the third, but Wallace tallied five in the fourth. Wallace got Katchmer, starting pitcher, out of the box, and Scoggins came in from the outfield to pitch good ball. Smiley of Wallace relieved Peters.

In the eighth, Shadle was on first for Wallace and two were out. Szuch hit a double. He was

To Steve O'Neill: Your Expensive Pitcher Doing OK In The Outfield

AP Features
NORFOLK, Va.—The Detroit Tigers, who have one of the shortest mound stints in the majors, will be glad to know that their $75,000 pitching plum—Freddie Hutchinson—is as good as new again.

The Tigers, too, might be interested to know that big Freddie is proving capable at a new position in baseball besides whipping them across the platter from the little hill.

Of course, Manager Steve O'Neill and the Tigers aren't going to break down and celebrate because whatever baseball chores Hutchinson performs at present won't be for Detroit but for the Norfolk Naval Training Station or some other post the Navy might have for the star hurler—or rightfielder, sir, if you please.

Hutchinson came along nicely during the Sailors' spring conditioning season—which like their baseball games must come after they finish the work Uncle Sam cuts out for them during the daytime.

Came the first game with the neighboring Norfolk Naval Air Station nine, and the husky Hutch was on the mound. It was the ninth inning, and the score was tied up at 2-2.

The first batter was out. . . Hutch wound up again, let the ball loose. . . Pain shot through the pitcher's arm, and a cry from Freddie's lips could be heard by his teammates. . . Hutchinson tried to throw another one across, but it was no use.

Hutchinson, who has won 25 and lost only one game as a Norfolk Navy pitcher, obtained a leave from the Navy, went to Daytona Beach, Fla., for a week and had his arm worked on. Physicians said he strained a muscle in his elbow.

Mutchinson is back now and pounding the ball better than any of the hitting parade leaders in either the National or American Leagues, and he's playing right field regularly. Occasionally, he does a little relief flinging, and he says his arm is in the groove again and feels great.

He's batting a nifty .367, having rapped out 29 hits, including seven doubles, in 79 trips to the plate. He smashed out five hits in six times at bat against Camp Pickett and got four out of five against the Heurich Brewers of Washington.

And in case you're wondering, Mr. O'Neill, Freddie Hutchinson, your $75,000 pitcher, likes roaming around in that outer garden just fine.

FAMILIAR CAN GREETS SOLDIER

SUFFOLK, Va., Aug. 2 (AP)—A can of spinach and a soldier held a reunion recently in North Africa.

The soldier was William Simpson, former head of the labeling department of a local cannery, and he recognized the can as one of a batch he labeled in the spring of 1942. He mailed the label to his company here with the inscription, "Good spinach but unappreciated by the soldiers."

Activities At The USO

Sunday has proved to be a different type of day for the volunteer staff and regular workers at the Big Spring USO club. From 8 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. their hours are spent performing services for the men and women of the Big Spring Bombardier School, soldiers from troop trains and visitors from nearby camps. Early Sunday morning a troop train stopped at the station filled with soldiers on furlough. They swarmed into the local soldier center to mail letters, buy all the cold pop and milk on hand and to relax from long rides. Women of St. Thomas Catholic church served as hostesses during hospitality hour, and sandwiches, cake and lead tea were served to visiting soldiers. Around 394 service men with 26 WACs visited the club during the day and hostesses included Mrs. W. E. McAllen, chairman, Mrs. Charles Vines, Lynn Barlow, Mrs. Earl Corder, Mrs. G. B. McAllen, Mrs. M. Tankersby, Mrs. John L. McAllen, Mrs. W. C. Ryan, Mrs. L. L. Freeman, Mrs. C. W. Deats, Lillian Jordan and Mrs. Martin Dehlinger. Desk hostesses included Mrs. Mary Locke, Mrs. J. E. Hardesty, Mrs. R. V. Dunivan and Mrs. Ross Clarke. A service most sought by service personnel on Sunday morning is information concerning the church services of all faiths. Scores are directed to the church of their choice each Sunday morning and in some instances transportation is provided. If various church groups could arrange to send just one car to the USO just before their service each Sunday it would be appreciated. C. C. Noyce, regional supervisor of the USO, who visited the local club last week, stated that the collection of finger paintings here were the best he had seen in the entire southwestern region.

Gunfire Unable To Faze Farmer

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (AP)—The entertainment world's tradition that the show must go on had an agricultural counterpart on the Tunisian battlefield, an eyewitness said. Capt. Caryl Dufresne, home after seven months on the African front as a commander of an ordnance maintenance company, gave this account: During the height of the Tunisian fighting, American infantry patrols took positions on one hill across from German patrols on a nearby hill. In the valley between the hills plodded a farmer behind his plow, pulled by a single horse. The patrols opened fire. Tank reinforcements arrived and sent shells screaming across the valley. The tanks called for artillery. The din was deafening. Yet the man in the valley went on with his plowing. Then a stray bullet killed the horse. The farmer unhooked the plow and walked out of the valley. The battle continued. The tanks maneuvered for position. From up the valley, a short time later, two figures approached. The farmer, still intent on plowing, was leading another horse.

Thaw Waters Are To Be Utilized

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 2 (AP)—A project to capture thaw waters from Mexico's famous snow-covered volcanoes, Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatl, and utilize them for irrigation and power generation was announced by the federal irrigation commission. Aqueeducts will be constructed to carry away the melted snow and ice. The water will be placed into elevated tanks and released from a height of about 5,000 feet. It is planned to utilize the electricity in Mexico City and in the nearby states of Puebla, Morelos and Mexico. The project may also supply Mexico City with drinking water.

Texas Population Shows Slight Drop

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2 (AP)—Texas' population is only slightly below its level for April 1, 1940, the bureau of the census reveals, because its war factories have brought in almost enough people to balance the number of men who have gone off to war. The nation as a whole dropped 2.4 per cent in population, Texas seven-tenths of one per cent. The net loss to the state was 45,308, leaving a current population of 6,336,554, the bureau said.

DOWNTOWN STROLLER

The WAC dance Saturday night came out on top financially so we hear, although perhaps didn't make as much money as its backers hoped for originally. But it was a success from the standpoint of those who attended, for everybody had fun. Next on the schedule of dances for the girls and soldiers is the USO dance Thursday night. Wonder who Miss USO for the summer season will be. The soldiers are going to name her at the dance. According to Mrs. ANNE HOUSER, the women who are learning finger painting at the USO center get so interested in their art that they stay on for hours daubing their fingers in the paint and making designs. Another bride this week is ALTHA COLEMAN, who married S/Sgt. DON TRUPP Sunday afternoon. The couple is going to live here since Sgt. TRUPP is stationed at the AAFBS. It sounded like it was a pretty wedding. Another resident to leave this week is Mrs. ROY VEATCH, who is moving to Lubbock. Her friends got together at Mrs. FRED BECKHAM'S house the other day to give her a farewell party and send-off.

Funds Are Raised For WAC Dayroom

Special service section presented a floor show at intermission highlighted with a WAC chorus which sang several numbers. Mrs. Gardner, representing the American Legion, presented Lieut. Miriam W. Hawthorne, commanding officer of the local WACs, with a bouquet from the detachment. Mrs. Gardner, representing the American Legion, presented Lieut. Miriam W. ## Air Force School Scene Of Some Fancy Fishing MATAGORDA PENINSULA, Foster Field, Aug. 2 (AP)—A rod and reel came in right handy at this Army air forces advanced flying school. For one thing, there's nothing to do at this womanless outpost but fish and swim and swim and fish, says Lieut. H. C. Alexander, ordnance officer at the range. And then trout, red fish, including 15 pound fighters, mackerel and other edible varieties abound in the blue gulf waters that lap Matagorda peninsula. When personnel of the gunnery and bombing range feel the urge for a fish dinner, a detail of a dozen men goes to the beach with a seine secured by their commanding officer, Lieut. Col. Charles A. Miller, makes a few hauls and returns to quarters with $500 worth of fish. Catches run as high as 1,500 pounds a day, says Lieut. Alexander.

Civilian Women Invited To Learn The Inside On Life With The WACs

When Lt. Mary F. Goldmann, the new WAC recruiter in Big Spring visited the air base she was met with overwhelming hospitality. It seems the WAC groups assigned to the post have "Won Their Wings." Each of the 71 women assigned throughout the area have not only replaced a man, and given him a chance of real action, but she has proven beyond any doubt that she can do the job efficiently. Lt. Miriam Hawthorne, the WAC C. O., has issued an invitation, through the recruiting office, to any eligible civilian woman to come out and visit the WAC's. The guest may eat with the girls at evening mess stand retreat with them, and see how the military maids work, play, and live. Those who are interested can make arrangements with Lt. Increase in working capital, $437,528; increase in plant and property, $83,805; decrease in long term indebtedness, $140,968; decrease in first mortgage bonds, $80,483.
 The company paid no dividend during the year directors deciding that working capital should be conserved in view of radically changing conditions in refining methods, the need of reducing long term indebtedness and fixed charges, and the development of oil producing properties.
 A net profit, after deduction for taxes, of $298,631 was shown. The report showed a loss of $71,413 on abandoned leases and wells, but since the end of the fiscal year a pool-opening producer has been completed in northwest Howard county in which Cosden holds half interest. The company also owns considerable acreage in the vicinity of this well.

Both the Big Spring and Graham refining plants operated continuously through the year, and while profit realized on crude oil processed was less than in the previous year, both plants earned a profit each month.
 The report showed that gross tank car revenue amounted to $590,414 as compared with $404,103 in the previous year. The increase was the result of the cars being used on longer trips and faster freight schedules because of the tank car shortage. The major part of Cosden's tank car fleet has been used in handling products from its refineries and other Texas refineries to des-

Handy Service—Patriotic people, conscious of the need of conserving tires, find the Southern Ice sub-station, operated at Ninth and Main by Tom Keith, a handy service indeed. Moreover, Keith maintains other services such as lead watermelons, ice cream, cold soft drinks, bread, basic grocery items and a stock of confections. (Kelsey Photo).

Local Concern Proves Service Station Enjoys Ice Refrigeration To Good Business As Year Be Unexcelled Method At New Location Ended

The cool tinkle of crystal clear ice in a goblet of tea—beads of icy moisture on the glass—nothing better on a hot summer day.
 Somehow, this picture, fondly familiar to millions, says more than all the other technical reasons why there is really no substitute for "iceman's ice."
 Manufactured here by Southern Ice Co., ice is one product that is always "fresh" and keeps foods the same way. Moreover, it is the perfect refrigerator, for its moist air circulates naturally, preserving the crispness and freshness of vegetables, fruits and meats.
 With ice, there are no defrosting worries and best of all, in these times when replacements are virtually impossible, there are no mechanical failures.
 One of the big advantages of "iceman's ice," as any housewife knows, is that it provides a copious supply of ice for any and all occasions. Because it is made from city water—already purified to a fine point—and then treated further until it almost approaches distilled water in quality, ice produced by Southern Ice is free of any "icebox" odors or taste. The aerating process during freezing makes every piece one of crystal cleanliness and purity.

 Consequently, there's no taking the place of a product such as this when company drops in these hot days. Too, there's nothing that supplants Southern Ice Co.'s chipped ice when a freezer of home-made ice cream sounds mighty appealing.
 There's really no substitute for quality "iceman's ice," and thus it is that more and more people are returning to it this season as never before. People are demanding the real thing.
 With current production of warplanes passing the 6,000-a-month mark, it is recalled that only one American-made airplane reached the fighting front in the first year of the last war.

After a year in business at its present location, Wilkerson and Son, 215 E. Third street, formerly the McDonald Service Station, is enjoying good business in spite of gasoline rationing.
 Operated by C. M. Wilkerson and his son, H. L. Wilkerson, the station maintains service for A, B, and C card holders from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. daily except Monday. Twenty-four hour service is also available for T card holders and emergency card holders.
 Washing, greasing and oil changing are the main services of this up to date station, but in addition Wilkerson's furnishes storage and cattle trucking.
 The storage, located downtown where hotel patrons and others find it easily available, has proved a popular feature of the station. The storage is protected and fire proof and offers the advantage of the 'round-the-clock hours of the station.
 Farmers are finding out that the cattle truck service of Wilkerson's is to their advantage, too. The station has four trucks which are kept busy hauling cattle to various destinations in and out of the state.

Cleanliness A Weapon To Be Used On Infantile Paralysis

Dr. George W. Cox says there is too much excitement about polio. But Governor Stevenson receives a request to send health workers to Fort Worth to clean up admittedly unsanitary conditions.

Dr. Cox is strongly opposed to disease and apparently is strongly opposed to too much public discussion of disease, a South Texas newspaper editorializes.

We know definitely that the disease isn't going to be hidden. The slightest suspicion of a case is magnified many times. That has happened in Big Spring, where "talk" has created cases where physicians have found none.

Dr. Don W. Gudakunst, medical director for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis of the major epidemic years for this malady.

That's enough to put us on the alert, though as Dr. Cox says we need not be alarmed. There is bound to be some fear, however, because medical science apparently knows little more about the cause of the disease than it did back in the horse and buggy days of 1914. If we knew the cause we would have something definite on which to work.

As war has brought science to its aid in perfecting instruments of destruction, so may this war against polio now bring our health services to the greatest perfection in combatting it.

Cleanliness apparently is the greatest safeguard, and we in this country have the means at hand for sanitation. We have in our own hands the tools which are the best combatants of all maladies, and if the public does its part in that regard there won't be any undue burden on the health services.

Rehabilitation Of Area In Ecuador Is Aided By U.S.

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—When it became apparent that El Oro province in Ecuador might become an economic desert or a disease-ridden agricultural jungle as result of the border war between Ecuador and Peru, United States "Good Neighbor agencies," with approval and cooperation of the local government, moved in.

Nelson Rockefeller's Office of the Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs set aside half a million dollars for the task, and the Export-Import Bank lent the newly organized Ecuadoran Development Corp., formed to develop the economy of Ecuador as a whole, $5,000,000.

Rockefeller's office appointed a commission of men with practical experience in equatorial medicine, rehabilitation, agriculture, and economics. This commission was assigned to the Ecuadoran Development Corp., an insurance against overlapping activity and authority.

vegetables the Oroneese never heard of before. There also now are dairy cattle, beef cattle, hogs and poultry raised in the province. Cabuya and other fiber plants that grow wild in that area are being domesticated and seedlings prepared for wide distribution.

In the uplands, where wild rubber is found in commercial quantities, machetes have been "sold" to the natives, with the understanding that they may pay for them with their first 15 pounds of raw rubber.

Behind all this is one primary theme—the training of the Ecuadorans and the Oroneese to take over and carry on when the Rockefeller office commission and the other agencies pull out.

El Oro is small indeed compared to the vast areas that will have to be rehabilitated as the Nazis are recaptured from the Nazis, but the blueprint, minute as it may be, is there just the same. Give them medicine, food, health, and an opportunity to work out their own destinies with the best of modern knowledge.

William Trenk Could Kid Goebbels

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—Imagine for a moment that the United States, after winning the war, suddenly found its government seized by Hitleresque politicians. Bob Hope, among other liberal-minded actors, makes his escape to a neighboring country, say Mexico, and from there broadcasts nightly to keep the American people, now deprived of their free press, informed of what is really going on in their own country and the world.

That will give you an idea of the kind of work that William Trenk, 39-year-old European star, did as the Germans annexed his native Austria.

As Willy Trenk-Treibtsch, he was a high favorite in the theaters of Central Europe before Hitler came into power, and on the air retained his popularity even after that. On the Berlin stage, as the Nazis were rising, he wrote and acted in satirical plays kidding Goebbels, the drama critic who became Hitler's mouth-piece.

MURDER IN TIN

By CARL A. PETERSON

Chapter 13
Chevalle took another sip out of his Martini glass and frowning, said.

"Senor Mollinedo."

"Oh him I know little," Chevalle said.

We had, however, tracked Sam Taggard's lawyer, Mollinedo through Velasco, through a German lawyer, called Grisman, long retired.

"My advice, senorita, is the lawyer, those keepers of the secrets," Chevalle said.

"Who was Mr. Taggard's lawyer when you were investing your money, Senor?" I asked.

"A Senor Lathrop. An Englishman."

"Lathrop?"

"Yes, I recall him well. An Englishman with an English father and a Spanish mother."

I didn't recall a Lathrop in our list of Taggard's lawyers. I filed the name away for future checking.

"What was his first name?" Chevalle took another sip.

"The first name? Je ne sais pas, monsieur. I regret I cannot help."

Miss Taggard put down her Martini. "Let's go," she said to me. "I am sorry, Senor Chevalle, to be so abrupt—"

"I understand. To both of you, congratulations."

I drained my Martini. "Thanks." I put my arm around her shoulder. It was as cold as a stone.

He ushered us to the door and we walked out to the Paseo de la Reforma. Her teeth were chattering, her lips were twisted. She shook my arm off. In the semi-darkness, I stared at her face. In Chevalle's house it had been smooth as a sheet of metal. This transition startled me. "Lila," I said. "What's the matter?"

"Come, let's go."

We hurried down the avenue. "You—" she snapped at me.

"You—"

"Are you angry at me for pretending that you and I—"

"You—Oh, you're stupid! What do I care what you pretend?"

"What's wrong? You ran out so suddenly."

"Lathrop!"

"Lathrop?"

"The lawyer, Lathrop! Oh, God!"

"What's the matter?" The mountain wind sailed down the Paseo de la Reforma, and above us in the back sky the stars were sharp and close. I looked at them,

Illiterate Soldiers Obtain Educational Background

By HERMAN B. ALLEN
AP Features Writer
CAMP PICKETT, Va. — The major asked the sergeant to send Corporal Wong into his office.

"Wong," he asked the snappy looking soldier after an exchange of salutes, "where did you live before you came into the army?"

"In Brooklyn, sir—New York City."

"What was your address there?" The corporal told him.

"Thank you, Wong. That's all." Corporal Wong saluted, about-faced and stepped out.

The major—Maj. W. H. Gifford, a Vermont psychiatrist—turned to me.

"Two months ago," he said, "that man couldn't speak a word of English. He lived in a Chinese section, worked in a laundry, had no contact with English-speaking people. Now we're using him to help teach English to other Chinese."

Corporal Wong (that's not his real name) is only one of 700 non-English-speaking draftees who have been given a working knowledge of English since the course was started in the Medical Replacement Training Center in September, 1941. In addition, about 1,300 native Americans have been taught to read and write.

"I on the blackboard! you do this with your tongue and teeth—" he made a "t" sound.

From there he went to the other consonants, and in a few minutes the class was recognizing words like sat, get, go, sit and red. Then the teacher took up double consonants, and they read house, ear, moose and enormous.

These men—they included an Egyptian, a Pole and a French-Canadian—will be useful soldiers when they finish their course. Heretofore illiteracy was a cause for rejection, and many a splendid physical specimen was lost. The thing is that in modern warfare a certain irreducible amount of education is absolutely necessary. A man must know how to read instructions on his first aid kit, for example, and how to interpret simple maps. His own life, and the lives of his buddies, may depend on it.

That's why the Army, here and at other posts, has set up these quick primary courses. Of the 65 percent who have survived Camp Pickett's course so far, 35 percent were transferred back to regular medical units and 60 percent improved to such an extent that they were useful in limited service jobs such as cooks, bakers and mechanics.

Here's a letter written by an Arab "educated" here and since sent to another post:

BLACK CATS ARE TO WEAR BELLS

FRENCH LICK SPRINGS, Ind., Aug. 2 (AP)—Friday, Aug. 13, will come in with bells on, by decree of the local town board—bells on every black cat in town, that is.

Theorizing a black cat with sound effects can be more easily sidestepped, the board on Friday, Oct. 13, 1939, voted to bell all ebony cats in town on subsequent similar day-date combinations.

Recently the juvenile population has been taking a census to be sure there'll be enough bells to go around.

Story

"You feel that your father would contact some one of the men he had made rich, even after so many years?"
"Yes. When dad spoke of the men he had made rich, he sometimes said that if he ever was in an emergency, he could call on one of them for help. He said that some of them would have short memories and wouldn't help him a centavo's worth, but if the law of averages held up, one of them could be relied upon."
It made sense, what she said. It jibed with her father's character, but the edges were all too smooth.

"Dear Sgt. I received my wach and I am feelg fine here. Since we came here the temperature has risen to 120. That's pretty hot Sgt. isn't. Well I must close my letter and to good night with deep appreciation and my friendliest always. Yours for victory."
Crude, yes. Mistake-ridden, yes. But deggones it, the fellow is writing, and when he came here English was nothing but a mass of hentracks to him.
