Ralph Fowler reports that some of his calves topped the market in San Angelo recently. He sold 14 calves, average weight 428 pounds each, for $36.50 per cwt. They were seven and eight months old.

Clyde Keeney has employed out-of-town help on clearing of 150 acres of his land, lying along the highway near the ball park.

He started killing mesquite last year. This winter he has secured the services of a man with a plow which weighs 12,000 pounds, and a tractor weighing 40,000 pounds. The plow is equipped with a heavy thick blade which clips off stumps and roots out rock as though it were an easy job.

Keeney says part of the land has a lot of rocks and part of it very few, but all of it has numerous stumps of mesquite. The plow loosens up the rocks and stumps and then the driver comes along with a 16-foot rake with thick teeth, to bring rocks and stumps to the surface.

"My work isn't all done either when he leaves," says Keeney, who will then have to drag off the stumps and rocks and prepare the land for spring planting.

Because the plow is loosening up the soil 15 inches deep it may be difficult to raise a bumper '51 crop there. Keeney chose cotton, hoping the stalks, planted in furrows, will be able to touch hard ground before going too deep to assure a good plant.

"Anyway, I've decided to put it all in cotton," says Keeney, "although I may not make a good crop the first year."

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Boyer are in Dallas this week, with Larry, and will probably remain there for the rest of the week while Larry carries out his appointment with a doctor in one of the hospitals. They did not know when they left how long the doctor would keep the boy.

The days are already getting longer, and people are beginning to think about spring work. Farmers are finishing their plowing, unhampered by rain, and are making decisions about what to plant and where to plant it.

Ranchers are still philosophical about the continued drought. Don't know whether it's sour grapes or not—but many express the opinion that they don't care right now whether they have a rain or not—that moisture would just serve to decay the dry grass and thus cut pasturage.

Tomorrow, Friday, January 19, is Arbor Day. That's the day we are supposed to plant trees and think about the value of our forest resources.

As Governor Shivers points out in his Arbor Day message, "The welfare of our state is largely dependent upon its natural resources. Among the vast resources with which Texas is blessed, forests and trees have played an important part in contributing to the well-being and the happiness of Texans. The forests provide employment, income, wood products, soil protection, food and shelter for wildlife and recreation."

But it seems we are to be concerned with more than the planting of trees. We should think too about being careful about fire when we are out in the woods or open areas, and taking care of growing trees.

Nebraska, which started out without trees, first observed Arbor Day in 1872, because the first settlers missed the trees of their eastern states. Texas first observed the day in 1889. Later Washington's Birthday was observed as Arbor Day, but in 1949 the third Friday in January was officially designated.

We note that sealed bids are being asked for highway construction of 16.89 miles of grading, structures, base and surface from Midway Lane, 20 miles south of Big Lake, east to SH 163, 15 miles north of Ozona, on Highway no. RM 33. Bids will be opened January 23.

SPECIALIST ADVISES ON CARE OF SHRUBS

Right now is the height of the season for pruning, watering and fertilizing shrubs and shade trees, says Sadie Hatfield, homestead improvement specialist with the Texas A&M College Extension Service. Shrubs that bloom in late summer such as crepe myrtle, vitex, flowering willow, salt cedar, oleander, althea, elaeagnus, should be pruned now.

Of course there are cases where pruning should be done, regardless of the time of year. Miss Hatfield says that dead or badly diseased limbs should be cut off and burned as soon as they are discovered. Sometimes hail storms injure plants, or large animals, such as cows, will run over shrubs and damage them. To promote well-shaped growth, these injured branches should be cut off. Limbs that chafe or rub across each other should be removed, as well as those which tend to sprawl out awkwardly regardless of the season. The Florida jasmine, abelia and similar plants can be made to grow compactly if the tender tips of the limbs are pinched out now and then.

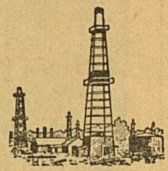

NEW RANCH HOUSES BUILT

SEED ROT kills many cotton seeds before they can sprout

MORE and BETTER COTTON

Why do some of the cotton seeds you plant fail to come up? Seed rot is the answer in a great many cases. Disease organisms in your soil attack the seeds and make them rot or decay, before the seeds have any chance to sprout or germinate.

The rot-producing organisms can attack your seeds in any kind of weather. Their effects are worst in a spell of cold, damp weather shortly after planting time. But even in fine weather, they can cut down your cotton crop before it ever starts to grow.

There are several kinds of harmful bacteria or fungi that can live in your soil. You can not see them without a microscope. But you can see their effects all too clearly, by scooping up some dirt from a spot where you planted seeds that never came up. Just by looking at them, you can plainly see how the seeds have decayed. Fortunately you can prevent much or most of this seed decay, and at a low cost for the chemical—less than 10¢ per acre. Just treat your seed (or have it treated) before planting, with an organic mercury dust. This will protect your seed from the bacteria that cause decay. Ask your County Agent about the value of this treatment and where you can get your seed treated.

Any fortune teller will tell you that palm reading is tricky stuff. Because no two hands are exactly alike. The hands shown above, for example, reveal different temperaments and tempers and abilities. Most American hands, however, have this similarity: they belong to owners of business-managed electric companies like the West Texas Utilities Company.

Several million Americans, in every walk of life, own the securities of these companies.

And some 72,000,000 are indirect owners, through their life insurance and savings accounts. For when banks and insurance companies accept your money, they must invest it wisely, and much of it goes into electric light and power companies.

Value Your Health More Than Riches

Some folks think that fine clothes and fine, big houses are the most important things in life, but these things really don't mean too much if a person doesn't feel well enough to enjoy them. Most folks don't realize this, but Mrs. Lucy Braswell, of Route 2, Stone Mountain, Ga., realizes it very well. Mrs. Braswell takes HADACOL, and by taking HADACOL she found she is helping her system overcome deficiencies of Vitamins B, B<sub>12</sub>, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Here is Mrs. Braswell's own statement: "I have been sick for some time with stomach disturbances. I began taking HADACOL and I have been taking it about six weeks. I am so much better and much stronger. I will continue to take HADACOL. It sure has helped me. I tell my friends about HADACOL. I can't praise HADACOL too much. I am 59 years old."

Miss Ellington's third grade presented an original skit that they wrote from their daily health lessons in the schoolroom. Mr. Reynolds stressed the importance of health at all times, and especially as applied to school attendance. He remarked that since school revenue from the state is based on the percentage of daily pupil attendance instead of enrollment, our local school lost the equivalent of one teacher last year because of illness among the pupils. Mr. Reynolds then introduced one of our local doctors, Dr. Maginot, who gave an interesting and informative talk on scarlet fever. Subject was chosen because of the present local scarlet fever scare. Dr. Maginot stressed that scarlet fever is in no way the dread disease it was even as recently as 10 or 15 years back. It is now easily controlled with sulfa and penicillin drugs and there is no need for anyone to be overly concerned about the mild case in town, though it is well to keep a watch on their school children for any signs of illness and if any appear to have them checked immediately by a doctor.

In the business session Mrs. Williams welcomed the new parents and members. After the reading of the minutes and the treasurer's report it was voted on and passed to invite the Sixth District Spring Conference of Parent Teacher organizations to meet in Eldorado in 1952. This conference is meeting in Big Lake this spring and invitations for next year's meeting place must be extended at this spring's meeting. It was also voted and passed to make a donation to the County Library and to the March of Dimes.

The February meeting was scheduled for the afternoon of the 20th but due to the fact that it is a Founder's Day observance it was voted on and passed to change it to a night meeting so that a larger number of patrons, especially the men, can attend.—Reporter.

Toy Dishwasher Works Just Like Mother's

This pretty model is showing off the Jet-Tower, Jr. automatic dishwasher, a plastic miniature of the new Youngstown Kitchens Electric Dishwasher. Originally designed as a display and demonstration device, it is also being made available as a toy. The miniature actually operates, washing tiny plastic dishes racked in two wire baskets. The jet tower, a chrome tube which extends through the center of the tub, spins and throws water on the dishes. Water is furnished by a hose connected to a faucet. Unit is 10 inches high and has a plexiglass lid.

Handle Pressure Cooker With Care

Pressure cookers are familiar items in the homemaker's kitchen equipment. Bernice Claytor, home management specialist with the A & M College Extension Service, emphasizes cleanliness as being the first rule in the care of a pressure cooker.

For safe operation, she says, the vent tube must always be unclogged. At each washing it is advisable to see that this tube is clear. A pipe cleaner is a handy gadget for cleaning the tube.

Mrs. Claytor cautions against ever immersing in water covers that have pressure gauges or weights for controlling the pressure because bits of food or grease may get into the tube. The gasket needs thorough washing because it will deteriorate if grease accumulates on it. Some gaskets can be removed for washing. Rims of the lid and cooker should be saved from raps and knocks, Mrs. Claytor adds, because they are the sealing surfaces. If a dent is made on the rim, a leak will develop and it would be almost impossible to build up steam pressure in the cooker.

When a cooker is not in use, keep it open to the air to prevent off-flavor or taste that it may acquire if tightly covered. The home management specialist also advises having a safe place for storing the removable gauge or weight. If no special storage place is designated, the homemaker or cook may lose valuable time in trying to locate the gauge whenever it is needed.

Soil Conservation District News

The Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation District completed its ninth year of operation in December 1950. During these years an increasing amount of interest has been shown in soil and water conservation and interest continues to increase as the district gets older. Conservation farming and ranching is a "must" with a considerable number of businessmen as well as farmers and ranchers.

Upon completion of its ninth year of operation 227 applications had been received by the district for assistance in planning a well-rounded soil and water conservation program on the land. These applications covered 432,034 acres of the districts 851,000 acres. There have been 207 conservation plans prepared and signed by the district supervisors for a total of 387,132 acres. Of these 207 plans, 170 still have active plans with the district totaling 339,237 acres. Change in ownership and operators account for the reduction of the 207 plans prepared and signed to the 170 figure. Of the 170 active conservation plans 21 of them have completed all of their planned practices and are maintaining them. There have been 26,379 acres of crops planted on the contour, 1,059 acres of legumes planted for soil improving and grazing, and 26,676 acres of crop residue management reported. There have been 377 miles of broad based, level types, terraces and 12 miles of diversion terraces constructed in the district. 183,928 acres of range improvement have been established and reported by the district to date. This means that the above acreages have been managed so as to let the better grasses re-seed, establish themselves, and keep a good cover on the land for soil and water conservation.

Some 25 water facilities have been planned and established within the district to give better grazing distribution on the range and as well as being beneficial to livestock.

Increased Acreage In Cotton Expected

Encouraged by prospect of bumper prices and unlimited acreage, Schleicher County growers are expecting to put in more cotton than usual this year.

While actual acreage planted will be determined somewhat by planting conditions this spring, it is expected that enough acreage to assure the country of thousands of bales will be set aside for the growing of cotton.

In the cotton grower's favor is the fact that a supply of bracero labor will probably be available, the price may well go above 40 cents (always considered a high price), the plant withstands drouth well, and the county has ginning facilities.

SPINDLETOP'S ANNIVERSARY

This year, Texans are celebrating the 50th anniversary of the discovery of the Spindletop oil field—the fabulous strike which ushered in a new era in the petroleum industry and started Texas on the road to being the greatest oil state in the nation. On Jan. 10, 1901, Capt. Anthony Lucas completed the Spindletop well, a booming gusher which during its first nine days produced 75,000 to 100,000 barrels of oil a day. The petroleum industry was not new to Texas, but development and production up to that time had been slight. Close to 50,000 people descended on nearby Beaumont and its 9,000 residents to launch a wild search for oil that eventually spread over the whole state. Within a year 138 producing wells were brought in at Spindletop alone. Some of the industry's leading companies were born in the spectacular period of development.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Woodward visited Tuesday and Wednesday in Brownwood with relatives, and bought stock for their nursery while there.

Mrs. D. C. Hill had an eye operation Monday in San Angelo.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Hawkins have moved to San Antonio, where the former has employment. He has been parts man at the Charlie Trigg Motors business for some time.

Enlistment Forbidden If Induction Started

AUSTIN — State Headquarters for Selective Service and some local draft boards in Texas are being swamped with pleas of many young men of draft age to permit them to join the service of their choice after the induction process has begun.

"We are forbidden by law and regulation to permit enlistment in such cases," commented Brigadier General Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director. "We have no authority to act favorably on such requests."

The state director said that Section 15 of the Selective Service law states that no person shall be accepted for enlistment after the induction process is once started.

"This prohibition against enlistment has been interpreted by the Department of Defense to mean that no person shall be accepted for enlistment after he has been notified to report for armed forces physical examination by a Selective Service local board," General Wakefield said.

Local draft boards were advised of this interpretation by official publication under date of November 15, 1948, and the official advice has been in force and effect since that time.

Before order to report for pre-induction physical examination is issued there is no prohibition of any kind against the enlistment of any man registered with a draft board.

"If the individual is acceptable to the service concerned, he can be enlisted before he gets his order for physical," General Wakefield said. "Under such circumstances, there is no need to consult the local board, as the permission of the board is not required."

"If the man waits until the physical notice is mailed, then it is too late. The draft board cannot, because of the prohibition against it, release the man to join a service of his preference," the state director concluded.

Recruiting stations of the different armed services ask men of draft age to sign certificates that they have not received orders for pre-induction examination. Those who sign false certificates can be charged for fraud and then inducted.

In one such case in federal court at Houston the induction of a registrant was upheld after the registrant was discharged for fraud in connection with signing a false certificate.

Cotton Yield Upped By Insect Control

COLLEGE STATION—1950 was a bad year for the cotton grower from the standpoint of production because of acreage restrictions, insects, and unfavorable growing seasons. However, where early season insect control was practiced, McLennan county cotton growers produced more lint cotton in 1950 than they did in 1949.

County agent J. C. Patterson reports that 15 farmers in the Bolten Bend community had an average yield of 304 pounds of lint cotton per acre in 1950, while their average yield was 287 pounds in 1949. Their total 1950 acreage was limited to 517 acres, but this produced 157,411 pounds of lint. Their total yield in 1949 was 133,945 pounds from 616.5 acres.

Records of the cotton produced on these farms were kept by the Farm and Home Administration and the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine.

On six untreated check plots of 204 acres in the Bolten Bend community, the average yield per acre was only 192 pounds of lint. This is an average loss of 112 pounds of lint cotton per acre from insect damage.

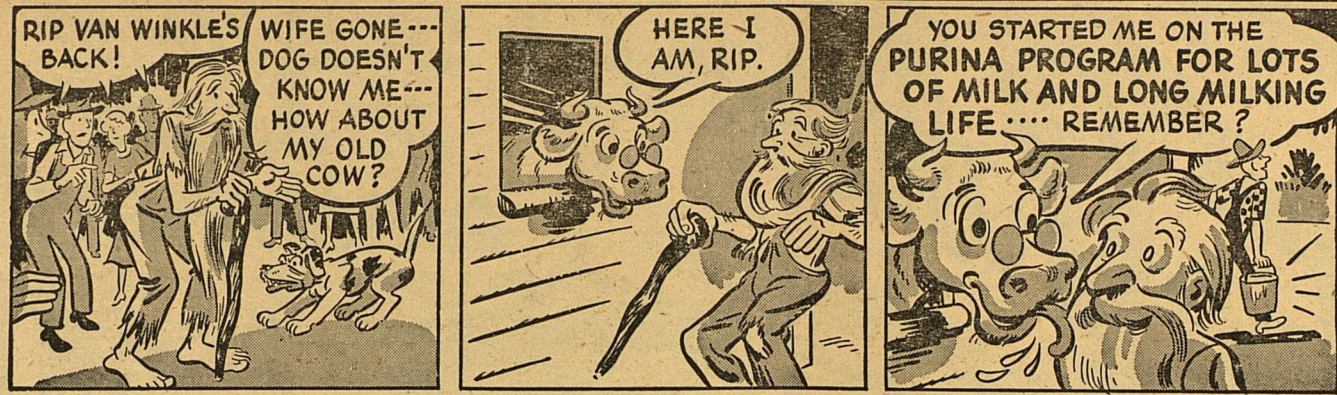

An average yield of 502 pounds per acre was obtained on 1542 acres of early season treated cotton in the Asa community of McLennan county. The yield was only 289 pounds per acre on 425 acres of untreated cotton in the same community. This shows an increase of 213 pounds per acre from practicing early season control.

The average increase from insect control in both communities was 204 pounds of lint per acre.

Patterson estimates that an average increase of at least 125 pounds of lint per acre was obtained by practicing early season insect control on one half of 50,000 acres of McLennan county cotton.

Mr. Olen L. Fenner, District Conservationist, and Forrest Runge, chairman, Board of Supervisors of the Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation District, attended a meeting of the Central Colorado River Control Authority held at Menard last week. The purpose of the meeting was to assist the district in flood control work.

Built in Texas . . . and helping build Texas

*Ford is the only Automobile
Manufacturer Building Cars and Trucks in Texas*

ALL THE FORDS made are not built in Detroit. There are plenty of them built right here in Texas—last year over 128 million dollars worth of cars, trucks, parts and products were made at Ford's Dallas Assembly Plant. What's more, 1,722 Texans put them together or followed through with their consignment to dealers in the Dallas, Houston, Oklahoma City and New Orleans Sales Districts.

The folks who work in Ford's Dallas Assembly Plant and District Sales Offices earn over $7,000,000 every year. They spend it mostly in Texas. Texas benefits from Ford in other ways, too. For example: during 1950 Ford bought over $1,000,000's worth of material and supplies from Texas merchants and manufacturers and paid over $7,500,000 for incoming and outgoing transportation. Then, too, there is a total of over $148,000 paid by Ford in local and State taxes.

Yes, Texas is building a lot of cars and trucks for Ford . . . and in the process Ford is helping to build Texas, too!
