50 Mile Gale Almost Blows Plane Over

Storm Strikes Fort Worth Airport As Ship Is Landed

FORT WORTH—A 50-mile an hour gale swept into Texas through Wichita Falls and southeast across Tarrant county early tonight, uprooting trees, unroofing sheds and small buildings, and bringing a heavy rain in its wake.

Tom E. Hunter, Wichita Falls and gubernatorial candidate, Thursday wired his acceptance of an "invitation to speak here July 1 during the three day 'Carnival of Values' celebration."

The windstorm struck Wichita Falls at 5:30 p. m. and reached Fort Worth at 7:30 p. m.

The big plane, American Airways ship from Brownsville to Dallas, seemed to bring the windstorm on its wings. The storm broke just as the passengers climbed out and the pilot turned to get their luggage.

When you write about old oil or railroads or something I don't read your stuff much.

Well, honey, if you'd just stop to consider how many things you and thousands of your neighbors in this neck of the woods have received because that old nasty, foul-smelling fluid was discovered under them that hills south of town you might be more interested in it.

Ever stop to think how many silk stockings, how many nice summer frocks, how many new pieces of furniture and things have been provided—directly or indirectly by discovery of oil? We could sit here and pound out a list a column long of different things you've enjoyed because of it.

With oil bringing only 65 cents per barrel and just a handful of drilling rigs on the landscape a lot of you are finding it awfully hard to live on a forcibly reduced budget, if you've got one.

And that reminds us that one thing this "low level" of business has done is multiply the number of budgets by thousands. Budgets used to be something the government maintained to show how everything balanced at the end of the year. Now even the government can't make one out either at the front or rear of the year and make it balance by any method of book-keeping.

Every small town not to speak of thousands of households, are trying at least to operate under a budget. Which may be one good thing caused by this "low level" business.

Time was when cows and field crops represented this town's sole prospects for business. Analysis of your tax rolls now will show you very quickly that neither cotton or cattle in the leading counties of Howard county at this time.

The oil industry pays three times as much taxes to the county than is paid on all non-oil-producing farm and ranch lands in the county. That does not mean that the culture of the soil remains the basic industry of the state. This is a local condition which has brought oil business in its various phases to the top.

On the 1931 tax rolls of Howard county $7 per cent of the property valuations is represented by oil and gas properties—producing leases, royalties, lease equipment, pipe lines, refineries, etc.

Of all property rendered in the county last year thirteen per cent of the valuations is represented by farm and ranch land exclusive of oil-producing property.

Refiners' Orders Increase As Date For Federal Tax On Gas Nears; Price Here 4 3-4 Cents

Belief that only refiners must pay the new government gasoline tax of one cent on and after June 21 is causing an increase of jobbers' orders to refiners in Texas and other midcontinent states, according to local refinery officials.

Further increase in orders is expected until June 21, said E. J. Mary, superintendent of the Cosden refinery here. He added that he expected "just about the same old thing" after June 21. The orders are practically all for immediate shipment.

Price of middle grade octane gasoline, which represents the steady movement, was 4 3-4 cents per gallon to refiners here Wednesday.

Centennial Plans Given Lunch Club

Dr. Spann Speaks; Nominating Committee Named By Pres. Little

Dr. J. Richard Spann presented the matter of the Texas Centennial to the members of the Business Men's Luncheon Club with a very enthusiastic talk, suggesting that Texans need to advertise their state more.

If Virginia or Massachusetts had the historical background of this state declared Dr. Spann every visitor and tourist would know about it. Texans have every reason to be proud of their state and to boost it. Its variation and its promise are greater than any other state's. For this reason, the Centennial is expected to be a great advertising force.

Dr. Spann gave a rapid review of Texas history beginning with the days when the first Spaniards crossed it in search of gold, and the Louisiana Purchase, which opened to the nation all the territory north and west of Texas. He paid tribute to the two Austins and to the high spirit of adventure which characterized the early settlers; he talked of the significance of the battle of San Jacinto and the declaration of Texas independence.

The purpose of the centennial in 1936 is to capitalize this history for the sake of the nation and the young growing Texans who need to know more of the state to appreciate it. The state legislature is being asked, he said, to appropriate funds for the centennial. Statistics have been obtained from other states that encourage the centennial advocates to believe that the gasoline tax fund spent in Texas in 1932 will run into many millions of dollars.

Visitors of the club included Mrs. John D. Birdwell and her daughter, Miss Maedell, of San Antonio, former residents, who are visiting in the city.

James Little, president, appointed on a nominating committee, V. H. Fowellton, W. D. Cornelson and Dr. Chas. K. Bivings.

C. T. Watson made a plea for citizens to attend the night reception planned for the first night plans on June 15 at 9:30 at the airport.

Mr. Watson also announced that the Carnival of Values would be held on June 30, July 1 and, instead of dates previously announced.

J. B. Pickle and Harry Rix were named on the committee to prepare a program for next week's meeting.

Plans Formed For Jamboree Of Three Days

Three days packed full of fast moving entertainment will feature the "Carnival of Values" to be staged here June 30, July 1, and 2. Dates were moved up from the second week of July at a meeting of committee chairman Tuesday.

Another meeting of chairman has been announced for Thursday 2 p. m. at the chamber of commerce offices in the Bettles Hotel. Interested business men are to sit with the group.

Tentative plans call for a prolonged jamboree. Outstanding features are to be baseball games, tennis tournament, bathing beauty review, old fiddler's contests, exhibition golf matches, gun club contests, motorcycle polo, baby show, and horse races.

All candidates for state offices have been mailed invitations to be present during the celebration. It is intended to race the animals on each of the three days, holding a championship race the last day.

House Passes Bill By Vote Of 216 To 182

Hawley's Plea For Administration Relief Plan Fails

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Rep. Tilson, Connecticut, former Republican house leader, said Wednesday he was sure the Garner relief bill will be voted should it reach the White House.

Tilson's statement was made following a talk with the President, but he explained that he had not asked Hoover's intentions with reference to the bill.

WASHINGTON—Quickly overriding a republican attempt to obtain sanction of President Hoover's relief program, the democratic house today approved the $2,300,000,000 Garner plan for helping the unemployed.

Bound by the caucus rule and aided by insurgent republicans, the democrats sent the speaker's bill intact to the senate by a vote of 216 to 182.

Hawley Plea Loses Action came after a motion by Representative Hawley (Rep. Ore.) to send the bill back to committee.

BOND ISSUE FAVORED WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate banking committee Wednesday approved the Democratic unemployment relief bill providing $500,000,000 bond issue.

The bill also provides $1,500,000 for loans on self-liquidating construction projects. The president had opposed the Democratic $500,000,000 bond proposal. The committee gave no consideration to the Garner bill, which passed the house Tuesday.

with instructions to adopt the administration proposals was defeated 218 to 182.

Ten democrats bolted their party on the final vote while 21 republicans and the lone farmer-laborite, Kvale of Minnesota—cast their votes for the Garner program. An omnibus amendment proposed by Majority Leader Rainey to perfect the measure and permit the reconstruction finance corporation to lend funds to corporate bodies for the erection of dwellings was approved.

As the measure went to the senate it provided $100,000,000 to be distributed by President Hoover for direct relief; an increase to $3,000,000,000 in the reconstruction corporation's capital, and a $1,200,000,000 public building and waterway construction program to provide employment.

Drastic legislative procedure to insure favorable action on the $2,300,000,000 Garner plan was clapped onto the house by the democrats 205 to 289 after a bitter struggle. Eight democrats bolted the party's caucus but 12 republicans and one farmer-laborite swung to the majority support.

A group of mayors headed by Frank Murphy, Detroit, representing 31 important cities, placed before Vice President Curtis and Speaker Garner and party leaders in both houses petitions urging a $5,000,000,000 bond issue for federal aid. These were read to both branches.

Mills' Proposal Secretary Mills advocated the president's proposal to expand reconstruction finance corporation capital $1,500,000,000 before the senate banking committee, and backed with Senator Wagner (D. N. Y.), and others over merits of the democrats' proposed public building program, charging it would be a drain on the treasury.

Earlier the senate banking committee approved the $300,000,000 section of the democratic relief bill for loans to states to prevent defaulting on public works. It is like setting up a system of home loan discount banks to ease credit on long term securities.

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE) Incorporation An issue of the Big Spring Herald on December 14, 1926, carrying announcement of increasing sentiment for incorporation in Big Spring, pleaded with the people to forget the heated campaign and hoped that "all the citizens will be united for the upbuilding of the town and country." In another place The Herald admonished its readers to "Forget what you said during the past few weeks and let all be friends once more."

Sentiment may run high now with two national political conventions approaching and with rumors of wet planks being inserted in two major party platforms. But feeling will not express itself until some one writes a poem.

Sibly G. Hartzog did it in 1926 with the ringing chorus bells to inspire her. In true Victorian style the first few lines of her work ran: "In accents loud and strong Sound forth o'er hills and dells. That you oppose the wrong."

The annual low-scoring for the year in the Ski-Hi Bridge Club were hostesses to the high scorers Tuesday afternoon for a lovely party at the Crawford Lounge.

The hostesses were: Mmes. Robert E. Lee, Raymond Winn, Alton Underwood, E. W. Lowmire, J. E. Fort.

Delicious refreshments were served to the hostesses and the following guests: Mmes. H. L. Bohannon, J. A. Lane, L. E. Maddux, D. C. Hamilton, P. W. Malone, Jimmie Mason, Alton Underwood and Cecil Floyd.

Mrs. Bohannon will entertain the club next time.

Mrs. Littler Conducts Auxiliary Bible Study The Presbyterian Auxiliary met at the church Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock for Bible Study conducted by Mrs. J. B. Littler. After a short devotional, Mrs. Littler spoke on the topic, "God Hath Spoken."

Bishop Sam Hay Favors New Vote On Pro Question FORT WORTH, (UP)—Submission of the prohibition question to a popular vote was advocated here by Bishop Sam Hay of the Central Texas Conference, Methodist Episcopal church, South.

"I believe the time has come for the people to again express themselves on the prohibition question," Bishop Hay said regarding the stand of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. for repeal of the 18th Amendment. "I have no fear the people will again endorse prohibition."

DALLAS (UP)—Senator Thomas B. Love, dry leader, said he opposed a referendum on the prohibition question in Texas.

"The way to have a referendum on prohibition is to vote only for congressmen and congressmen at large on their prohibition stand," said Love.

"I'm not going to vote for a candidate for either a regular or an at-large place who favors repeal of the 18th amendment."

Howard

It is therefore, to the advantage of Howard county and Big Spring and all her farmers that the tax bill on these lands is no higher.

The greatest evil that may come from the impoverished state of the farmers of this section of the country is that after struggling so long to make a few dollars above living expenses, so many of our farmers and their sons will, seeing that men on salaries in the employ of oil companies and other concerns along a great deal better leave the farm and seek employment elsewhere, thus quickening the pace at which people are flocking from country to town throughout the nation.

Yes, sister, if your hubby is working on a salary at all, even if it is 20 to 50 per cent lower than it once was, you can still doll up, step out and enjoy life a lot more than your equally worthy sister out on the farm.

After all, you can buy things for much less than before salaries were cut.

So, if these big oil companies would stop importing a quarter of a million barrels of petroleum and its products every week and every penny in the land hopped around on U. S. produced and refined gasoline and lubricating oil, you'd soon be having such a big time you'd again blow in the shekels faster than ever high oil prices could produce them and—pretty soon Old Man Depression would hit you again.

Which reminds you that its awfully hard for anybody, especially a woman, to learn that you can't have your apple and eat it too.

H. G. Hayward has returned from a business trip.

West Texas Tennis Association Tournament to Be Held Here As 'Carnival Of Values' Feature in July

The West Texas Tennis tournament, official championship test of the West Texas Tennis Association, will be held on the local courts July 7, 8 and 9 as a part of the "Carnival of Values," sponsored by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today.

The three-day tournament last year attracted fifty odd entries, only six of them registered from Big Spring, and was the largest tournament staged in Texas by an independent club. Tom McCarty of Wichita Falls won the title over Theo Ferguson of Midland in the final.

Invitations will be sent to Wichita Falls, Midland, Denton, Carroll, New Mexico, Colorado, Sweetwater, Abilene, Lubbock, Amarillo, Pampa, Brady, Lamesa, Alton and other cities representing the West. Entries from San Angelo, Fort Worth, Eastland, and Miles are expected to be on hand.

It will be the sixth annual West Texas tournament held on the local courts. No player from Big Spring has ever been able to capture the championship, and only one representative, Rayburn Brown in 1920, reached the final round. The singles title has never been captured twice by the same player. O. H. Mallory of Sweetwater, Roscoe Eiter of Lubbock, Leo Brady of Abilene, M. S. Ballard of Abilene, and McCarty have all won legs on the championship cup, which must be won three years in succession. A small, duplicate trophy is given permanent each year to the winning player.

Last year M. M. Ballard and Elmer Lowe of Abilene won the doubles title over Charles Cook and Raymond McPhail of Wichita Falls.

All three defending champions are expected to be on hand to defend their championship laurels this year.

New System of Taxation Hunter Plea

Wichita Man, At San Angelo, Attacks Ferguson, Sterling

SAN ANGELO—Tom Hunter took a slash at Jim Ferguson and Governor Ross Sterling here last night as he set up a plea for a new tax system in the state court of the utilities, abolition of commissions and bureaus, adequate taxation of the state's natural resources and abolition of chain stores.

Hunter, who is running in his campaign for the governorship, spoke to a crowd of nearly 500 on the courthouse lawn after Clyde Vinson, county democratic chairman, introduced him.

Vinson first questioned the capabilities of Sterling as he declared he first knew he could not support him when he learned of the Red River bridge contract and Sterling's testimony that he had signed the agreement costing the state thousands of dollars without knowing what he had signed.

Hunter then declared that he would not support Sterling in his bid for the governorship because he believed that he had signed the agreement costing the state thousands of dollars without knowing what he had signed.

Hunter picked up this gauge of battle by questioning if any one could look into the records and find out how James C. Ferguson had secured the Red River bridge by the parents of the slayers of two young women. He questioned the $400,000 received by Sterling from the Humble Oil Company for royalties which were almost valueless, terming this a contribution to a campaign.

Hunter then declared that he would not support Sterling in his bid for the governorship because he believed that he had signed the agreement costing the state thousands of dollars without knowing what he had signed.

AUSTIN—His decision to open the way for all candidates to file in the primary ballot for the place he vacates means that Former Gov. Pat M. Neff has sacrificed from $1200 to $1500 of income.

Plans had been made for operation of Baylor university's summer school, with Acting Pres. Allen at the head. Mr. Neff had originally intended resigning Sept. 1, the date he is likely to assume his duties at Baylor. . . . But when it was finally determined the state executive committee could not select his successor, he decided to resign before the ballots close June 9.

Former Gov. Neff confirmed in an oral statement the reports that he had intended, and possibly may still make one parting speech reviewing the railroad commission's differences of policy. . . . If made, it will, of course, be made before Mr. Neff takes up his duties with Baylor, but it may be after he actually has retired from the commission. However, the decision to this week give up his state duties and a long list of non-political speakings and other engagements, may prevent fulfillment of the purpose of submitting the issue before the voters.

County governments, goaded by their citizens toward tax relief action, that will be effective this week, all will be called on by the Jones county commissioners' court in a questionnaire now being sent out to join in an official appeal to Gov. Ross E. Sterling for a one-day session of the legislature this fall to pass the assumption of county road bonds law which Gov. Sterling favors, and which the legislature already has attempted, by passing a defective form of the same.

In many instances, this tax relief would amount to 20 to 50 cents, or equivalent to all the taxes raised for state government purposes, and a considerable margin besides.

Rural Schools Classified For 1932-33 Session By Trustees In First Meeting Of New Term

Rural schools of Howard county were classified for the 1932-33 session last week by the County Board of Education in its first meeting since the April trustee elections.

Million Is Spent By A. A. Final Improvements Made For Night Schedule, Opening June 15

The improvements that have been made to the airway between the Pacific Coast and Dallas, along which American Airways will commence night passenger and mail service between San Diego and Los Angeles, will be completed by June 15, in addition to the present day service, represent an investment of nearly $1,000,000 by American Airways and government agencies in ground construction and not including the value of the eight bi-motored planes used on the portion of the transcontinental route, according to Jesse Maxwell, local traffic representative.

A considerable portion of this amount was expended in building 197 beacons and 55 lighted fields to prepare the airway for night operation, giving passengers an hour service between San Diego and Los Angeles and New York. Being the southernmost route across the Rockies in the United States it was anticipated that it would ordinarily be open to airplane travel even during the winter months when the higher altitudes to be found over the mountain farther north might prove a handicap.

Flashes from the 1,400 mile chain of beacons between the California coast and Dallas, where the night route ends, have become familiar sights to the people of the Southwest, but the intricate ground organization that has been found necessary to coordinate with the beacons is less obvious and less well known. The government has established weather reporting facilities over the entire route as a part of its national system for aiding aerial navigation, and American Airways has built and building fourteen radio stations between Dallas and the two Pacific Coast terminals to relay government weather data to furnish operating instructions.

In addition to the beacon and weather facilities provided by the government, the company has established additional intermediate fields and airports of its own to further facilitate its operations, and municipalities along the route have added special equipment at their airports to make them safe for night operations.

The portion of the airway lying between El Paso, Texas, and Dallas, was first lighted by the government in preparation for night service and this was followed in 1931

New Cast To Tangle Tackish Problems In G.O.P. Convention

By RAYMOND CLAFFER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Tackish problems confronting the Republican national convention, Chicago, will be handled by practically a complete change of cast from that which conducted the 1928 convention.

Relatively new figures have been selected to steer the proceedings through the party's first real fight over prohibition in years. The decision also has raised new problems. Republicans particularly will devote considerable attention to shaping explanations which will take into consideration the promise of continued prosperity, conspicuous in the 1928 campaign.

The expected renomination of President Hoover, and the Vice-President Curtis only leaves the delegates more time to become excited over issues.

Among the persons who will be assembling at Chicago a week from today will be these ranking members of the cast:

Senator L. J. Dickinson, Iowa, the probable temporary chairman and keynoter. This is his first major convention role. None dry, long a leader in the farm bloc in congress, he will attempt in one composite oratorical effort to represent what he believes to be Mr. Hoover's views on the general party view, and his own.

Rep. Bertrand H. Snell, New York, the probable permanent chairman. Long chairman of the house rules committee, he was one of the famous triumvirate which under the late Speaker Nicholas Longworth ran the house with an iron hand. He is a parliamentary expert.

Joseph L. Scott, Los Angeles attorney who will place President Hoover in nomination, is unknown in national politics although he did some campaigns speaking for Mr. Hoover four years ago. It will be his job to present a glowing picture of Hoover the man, and the statesman.

Nominate Curtis

Charles L. Scott of Kansas, who will nominate Vice-President Curtis. He has been a newspaper editor for years, formerly was a member of congress and is now attached to headquarters of the Republican national committee here. He is a veteran in Kansas and national politics, but has not appeared in a prominent way before any recent national conventions.

Political celebrities and important figures of former conventions will be on hand in large numbers. Charles G. Dawes, president of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois will be delegates from Illinois.

William S. Vane of Pennsylvania, who started the break in Mr. Hoover at Kansas City four years ago, will be present again as chief of the Pennsylvania delegation.

The most prominent women in the convention will be Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, the dry Joa of Arc in 1928, but since then the attorney for grape concentrate manufacturers. She is a delegate from California along with Louis R. Mayer, the motion picture producer.

Holder Out Of R. R. Race

Lancaster Publisher, Member Of Legislature, In Statement

DALLAS—Ray Holder, Lancaster publisher and state legislator from Dallas county, who announced for a place on the railroad commission two months ago, today gave out a statement that he was withdrawing from that race. In his statement Holder said, "I have received much encouragement and firmly believe that I would be elected to a place on the railroad commission, but personal business affairs would require me leaving Dallas county if I were elected. I believe that a man elected to an office like the railroad commission should be able to give all of his time and efforts to it, but for the next two years my personal business will require me to live in Dallas and at home."

"I want to thank my many friends for their support," said Holder, "and say to them that I shall be ever mindful of the many friendships I have formed and the many services rendered me in the past."

In commenting on his probable place in politics for the future, Holder said, "I shall always be interested in public affairs. I feel that by my service in the state legislature I have served my state and my country. I have been especially interested in the public schools; and the welfare of the school children is very near and dear to my heart."

"There is a movement on foot to draft me to again offer for the legislature next month. I have many letters and telephone calls asking me to run again. What I shall do about running for the legislature I do not know. I could spare the time from my personal affairs, but unless I am convinced that my services are urgently needed, I shall not run. I have, however, some of the best business men in Dallas are urging me to run again saying, 'the times demand a man like you with experience and whose record is one of economy as you proved when you lowered the license tax on automobiles. We need some of the same kind of energy and ability on other forms of taxation now and we know Holder has both.'"

Duty On Oil Retained In Revenue Bill

House-Senate Conference Agree Finally On Measure

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The revised bill agreed upon by the senate and house conferees in last night's recording-session, provides for the retention of the duty on oil and lumber and the repeal of the duty on sugar.

The conferees accepted the senate's higher individual and corporate income tax rates and the rates on oil and lumber were retained.

The new income tax schedule is up to the 1921 level with 4 per cent over the first $4,000.

Joe Pickles has returned from Baylor University with his sheepskin. Mr. J. B. Pickles attended the graduation exercises, and visited relatives in Waco.

FURTHER REDUCTIONS IN DAILY NOMINATIONS BY PIPE LINES IN HOWARD-GLASSCOCK EXPECTED

Well-founded reports here Friday were that the 18,000-barrel monthly production of the Howard-Glasscock pipeline companies serving the Howard-Glasscock counties prorated oil fields were preparing to further reduce their daily nominations, which were to have been effective June 1.

The monthly prorated sheet, just issued by W. R. Bowditch, midland district gas supervisor for the railroad commission, prorates production of 516 wells into nominations totaling 18,000 barrels.

Friday's reports were that the Shell Corporation was planning to cut its nomination further, perhaps 1,500 barrels per day.

Stable nominations of 6,500 barrels provided it would not have to make any new connections to take that amount. The prorated sheet, however, as worked out by the railroad commission, will not make possible taking of that much by Humble without some new pipe connections to leases.

It was, therefore, expected that the actual daily runs from this field this month would not amount to more than 14,000 barrels.

This would represent a reduction of 7,000 barrels daily or 33 1/3 per cent, since the crude oil price for production here was raised from 50 to 65 cents per barrel.

Sixty days ago the daily allowable (nominations) totaled 20,000 barrels.

Three years ago it was 18,000 barrels.

Sweetwater Linkmen Take 24-20 Victory From Big Spring Sunday

The Big Spring Country Club golfers dropped a close decision to the Sweetwater linkmen 24 to 20 on the Sweetwater course. The matches were finished in a downpour of rain.

Unaccounted to the lack of greens on the fairways and the soft and green links, the locals dropped five single matches but broke even with the Nolan county players in low ball aggregates.

Shirley Robbins, ranking No. 1, defied the wind and rain to shoot a 78 to win one up over Charles Wix, Sweetwater star. J. C. Southworth, Sweetwater No. 2 player, turned back Ome Eristow, Big Spring, 2 up and 1 to play, and his advantage enabled the Sweetwater pair to win low ball.

O. D. Hennig, Sweetwater High golfer, defeated G. R. Porter, Big Spring, and Moses Newman, former national trap-shooting champion, won from L. Coffey, Big Spring, in the Nos. 2 and 4 singles but Coffey and Porter tied the Sweetwater pair in low ball and won the total.

Al Lowe, Sweetwater Coach, lost to Theron Hicks, in the No. 5 singles but Dan Ritter defeated Doc Aiken and the Sweetwater twosome captured low ball score.

Fred Stephens, Big Spring, won from Bill Whaley, Sweetwater, 3 up on the nineteenth green but Cecil Wasson, Big Spring, lost to E. Lovorn, 2 up and 1 to play. Stephens and Wasson captured low ball.

Crude Import Duty Will Be In Force Soon

Upper House Sanctions Compromise Measure, 46 To 35

WASHINGTON (AP)—The $1,118,500,000 tax increase bill was signed into law today by President Hoover while congress dug into the economy and relief disputes during its a forlorn prospect of winding up its task before the republican national convention meets Monday.

Believing the higher levies should take effect as soon as possible, to benefit the stricken treasury, the president attached his signature within an hour after the bill reached his desk.

Dawes Resigns

Word of his action was made known by one of the White House secretaries simultaneously with another formal announcement that Charles G. Dawes had resigned as president of the reconstruction finance corporation.

"The willingness of our people to accept this added burden during these times is order, ungrudgingly to establish the credit of the federal government, is a great tribute to their wisdom and courage. While many of the taxes are not as I desired, the bill will effect the great major purpose of assurance to the country and the world of the determination of the American people to maintain their finances and their currency on a sound basis."

While the increased income taxes carried in the bill will not be felt until the new fiscal year begins July 1, the excise levies including the oil import tax go into force June 21, 15 days after signing.

From the noon meeting hour until 3:15 p. m. the senate argued before sanctioning by a 46 to 35 vote the compromise tax bill agreed upon by conferees of the two branches. Previously, 41 to 33, it had refused to repudiate the conference decision to transfer the 3 per cent electricity tax from the power companies to the consumer.

Enforcement -Not Repeal

WE CHALLENGE From the South Come These Challenges Voiced by S. F. Conrad, Charlotte, North Carolina

We challenge the advocates for a return of the legalized liquor traffic to prove that the manufacture and sale of distilled liquors, as they existed before they were abolished, were not a source of moral degradation, corruption and ruin to the whole nation.

We challenge the liquor forces to prove that under the changed conditions of the present time, of hard-surfaced roads and the use of automobiles, buses for travel and great trucks for business, would not make the open, licensed sale of alcoholic liquors a menace to public safety.

We challenge the liquor forces to prove that the open, licensed sale of alcoholic liquors has not always been a foe of progress, to morality, good citizenship, to the home, and to scores of millions a source of impaired health, a depleted family purse, and discord in the home.

We challenge the liquor forces to prove that if it is right to tax liquor drinking for revenue for the government that it would not be equally right to tax the sale of liquor for revenue for the government.

There was a time when gambling halls were licensed, when houses of prostitution were licensed and under city control.

We challenge the liquor advocates who want to put a tax on beer and licensed saloons for government revenue, to prove that it would not be equally right to put a tax on adultery, houses of prostitution, racketeering and the lottery for revenue to the government.

We challenge the liquor forces who are seeking the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to prove that if it were right to abolish slavery by constitutional law that it is not equally right to abolish the liquor traffic by law.

From the book of the Prophet Isaiah, chapter 41:11-14, we are told "from the drinking of wine hell was enlarged and opened wide her mouth without measure, and multitudes descended into her, and as a result the whole nation was carried into captivity."

We challenge the liquor forces to prove that if hell was enlarged by drinking wine that it was not more enlarged by the drinking of beer, wine and the distilled liquors of the days of license in our country.

We challenge the advocates of the state control of liquor business to prove that state control will not bring back the same conditions that existed before the liquor business was outlawed by the national gov-

'Cyclone' Davis To Speak Here June 25

J. H. (Cyclone) Davis, candidate for congressman-at-large from Texas, will speak in Big Spring June 25th at 2 p. m., according to announcement made here Saturday. It is thought he will speak at the courthouse lawn.

Personally Speaking

R. C. Williamson, who has been in Edgewood, has returned to Big Spring.

R. W. Jacobs, formerly of the Big Spring Herald, has been a visitor in Big Spring for the last few days.

Miss Zelma Chadd left Sunday morning for Brownwood, where she will be the guest of her sister for a few days.

Dress Contestants Notice

Mrs. Lee A. Greene of Route No. 2 and Mrs. L. E. Rooser, of Big Spring, have not called for dresses entered in the recent Cotton Week dressmaking contest. These dresses are at The Herald and it is suggested that the women call for them or send someone.

We challenge the liquor forces to prove that lying, vulgarity, profanity, drunkenness, deception, demoralization, debauchery, moral degradation, poverty, profligacy, worthless and the destruction of souls are not the legitimate fruits of the legalized liquor business.

The laws of this country make one who aids and abets another in crime a partner of the criminal.

We challenge you, Mr. Citizen, to vote for the law and force not the organized liquor forces for a return of the legalized liquor traffic that is the evil of the liquor business.

We challenge anyone to prove that an officer who takes an oath to enforce the law and does not do it, is not criminally responsible with the man who violates the law.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt has publicly declared for a repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment and for state control.

We challenge him to prove that state control of the liquor business does not put us back where we were before the liquor business was outlawed by the Eighteenth Amendment.

We challenge him to deny that he is basing his hope of election on support of the liquor forces.
