Babson Cautiously Optimistic Over New Year Prospects

theory of most economists—that business will fall off 10% in 1954, with a greater decline in net earnings. My feeling is that everyone will unite forces to hold up business, at least during the first half, to its approximate 1953 average. This can be done by expanding research, increasing advertising appropriations, extending further credits, and obtaining labor's co-

But, I say something much more important than the above; namely if business should slump 10%, the decline would probably NOT STOP at 10%. Too many business concerns and individuals are working on a very narrow and slim margin The decline in employment, with resulting business losses which a 10% decline in gross would cause could result in millions of families being unable to pay their bills and installment obligations. This could set off a chain reaction, which ers. could send business down 10% to 30% more, with a corresponding decline in the stock market, commodity prices, and real estate. In this latter case, the Eisenhower Administration would suffer as did the Hoover Administration.

Due to the results of this survey, I believe the chances are ten to one that at least the first half of 1954 WILL BE FAIRLY GOOD.

Below are 25 definite forecasts which, in any case, should prove correct for the first six months of 1954. My forecast for the second six months will appear in this paper next June.

1. There will be no World War in the first half of 1954.

The Dow-Jones Industrial Stock Average will be less on June 30, 1954, than on January 1, 1954. 3. Taxes will be lowered by

8. Interest rates during the first six months of 1954 should average about as at present, except on the renewal of low-rate loans.

9. Farm lands, except near cities, will sell for less during the first half of 1954, when farmers' profits will begin to decline.

guests during the holidays, the England, the planters of the South

It was because the founders of our country had an abiding faith that enlightened citizens could be entrusted with the job of governing themselves. If they could have an unfettered opportunity to read the history and to learn the lessons of the past, to understand the never-ending clash of ideas, to read about what forces are alive in the world, to check on their government as to its activities, its successes, its failures and its abuses, and to write and speak unimpeded—then they could not be made slaves.

The framers of the Constitution believed that freedom of the press would aid in enlightening the people. The competition of ideas would point out the choices of the people. With this freedom, they could decide their own problems better, with more resulting happiness to themselves, their families and their communities. The men who wrote the Constitution knew intimately of those countries across the seas whose governments controlled thought, censored information and made political, economic and religious decisions for their subjects. They believed in the principle of competition and the value of permitting every citizen to develop himself to the limits of his abilitiies, and they insisted that this right of freedom of the press be recognized by the fundamental law of the land.

Of course, all rights entail conrelative obligations and duties. Freedom of the press is not unlimited. It does not permit license, libel, violation of the law of interforence with the orderly running of the government.

With but a few insignificant exceptions, the press of the free world has admirably justified the faith of the philosophy of the framers of the Constitution. From the Western Hemisphere, and in the free countries of the Old World, the "fourth estate" has fearlessly accepted its responsibility and has aided in preserving freedom and in checking tyranny and dictatorship.

CAN YOU PASS?

Are you fit to drive? Safe driving depends on many factors. You must know and obey the traffic laws, of course. But what about your ability to drive—to handle a car safely?

Traffic accidents are zooming and the public is aroused. Public officials are grim. Some states are already tightening their driver licensing laws. The time is not far distant when all drivers must pass periodic reexaminations to determine their continued fitness to operate a motor vehicle. The fact that you have a driver's license today doesn't mean you will have it a few months or a year from now.

So give yourself that tougher test right now—

How about your accident record—good or bad? How about your police record—good or bad? How about your physical and mental condition?

Don't gamble. Drive safely, obey the law, and be sure you are fit
