HOME TOWN TALK

By Beddy

THAT the so-called "western extension" area of the pink boll worm restricted district may be completely freed from all regulations within a few weeks is now in prospect.

J. M. Del Cruto, state entomologist, a likeable fellow who conferred with a delegation of Big Spring, Lamesa and Arkerly men in Austin Monday, said a new invention called "gin waste inspection machines" are being attached to gin points in the area. This machine, in initial tests, showed unmistakably that it is far more efficient at determining whether there are any pink boll worms in the cotton than any means yet devised.

It is the intention of the state and federal departments of agriculture to use these machines a month, and if no worms are found to discontinue all regulations.

Charges of price discrimination first made public in The Herald last week, appear to have been well founded, since the state entomologist also has received reports from the state department of agriculture's representatives in the field, that he had to announce more of mills would be designated as eligible to buy cottonseed grown in the restricted area.

We all remember that Ross Sterling, Democratic nominee for governor in his campaign address here last month declared his belief that farmers who have sustained loss because of restrictions placed on them for the purpose of protecting the remainder of the cotton belt from pink bollworm infestation, should be compensated.

Carl Roundtree, member of the house from Lincoln, who we are sure to learn, did not seek a second term, and Penrose Metcalf of San Angelo, representing this district, both are going to fight hard in the next legislature for an appropriation that will repay at least a heavy majority of the losses.

It will be a very opportune if our farmers can receive these cash payments within the next six months. It will mean much at this particular time.

This reminds us of the "Hedy" article in the Waco Times Herald which recently contained an editorial, reported in this column, and in which West Texas was criticized for certain payment for losses incurred because of worm restrictions. The Waco writer showing typical ignorance of West Texas, declared we had been paid. He was a member of the last legislature, and ought to have known attention to the business of being a legislator, he did not notice that a bill seeking such compensation was passed and the appropriation thus authorized vetoed.

The Waco Chamber of Commerce has officially apologized to West Texas for the untrue, unfair, intolerant charges of the Times-Herald editor. West Texas will, of course, receive this apology as silver and gold, since it is a fact that West Texas will understand the article was the opinion of one man—a man whose hatred for West Texas is an obsession.

Bank Robbers Suspected In Plane Theft

Papers Left At Airport By Thieves Point To Robbery

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 18 (AP)—Eugene P. Gum of the Oklahoma Bankers Association, announced today that thieves who stole an airplane at Elk City, Okla., early this morning left papers and maps at the airport there indicating they may have been the robbers of the Lincoln National Bank and Trust Company at Lincoln, Neb., yesterday.

The craft, a Travelair biplane, was taken from the hangar of W. Dewey Mauk at the Elk City airport at about 3 o'clock this morning. The thieves left a motor cycle at the airport. A previously plane had been reported stolen at Great Bend, Kas., near Lyons in central Kansas.

All Oklahoma airports were kept a sharp lookout for the thieves. A plan answering the description of the Travelair landed at Curtis Wright airport here at 7:30 a. m. today. The plane, according to Gum, was in the direction of Wichita, Kas., after being informed it was too early to purchase gasoline.

Mauk's plane is an open type, ship painted blue bearing the license number C 8 L O 8 and the pilot's name.

Gum said Mauk described the papers to him as tracing a route from Lincoln, Neb., Kansas to Oklahoma City.

The bankers' association secretary said the robbers were believed to have taken off from near Omaha in the plane stolen previously from Great Bend.

Loss of more than $100,000 was reported taken from the bank.

The plane stolen from Great Bend earlier in the week was a Swallow biplane, the property of Dale Kavan, airport officials here were notified.

U. S. S. KANE, OFF AMERICAN CUP COURSE, Sept. 18 (AP)—Radio to the Associated Press: The American sloop Enterprise today completed a successful of the historic America's cup when she won the fourth straight race and series, four victories to none.

The white-hulled American sloop finished the 30-mile triangular course at 1:30:05, making the run in 3 hours, 10 minutes and 5 seconds.

It was the thirty-seventh time an American boat had beaten the successive British challengers in the 79 years during which the cup has been in competition.

British challengers have won only three races of the forty contested, two of these going to Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock IV in 1920, when it won the first two races. The other victory was scored by James Ashbury's schooner Livonia, in 1871, she winning by (Continued On Page 12)

New Hearing On Oil Order Case Is Filed

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 18 (AP)—Whether the Oklahoma Corporation Commission acted in violation of the federal constitution in ordering production of oil production may be decided in federal court here September 29 when an interlocutory injunction suit seeking to restrain the commission from enforcing its orders is scheduled for hearing.

The suit was filed in federal court late yesterday by the Champion Refining Company of Enid, owners of prorated wells in the Oklahoma City and Seminole fields, the state's most prolific pools. It attacks the whole scheme of oil prorotation and alleges major companies have used the corporation commission and oil conservation laws as "instruments for price fixing."

The petition charges state prorotation orders of June 20, July 24, and August 30 of this year were in direct violation of the federal constitution which forbids any state to pass laws depriving persons of property without due process of law, or denying them equal rights and protection of the laws.

Judge Edgar S. Yaught and two other federal judges will hear the application for the injunction. Their decision is expected to end a long fight against oil prorotation.

A similar suit, filed by the C. J. Julian Oil and Royalties Company is pending before the Oklahoma supreme court. The Julian suit attacks the prorotation plan and asks a writ of prohibition restraining the corporation commission from enforcing its orders. Of the approximately three score oil companies cited recently by the corporation commission for alleged violation of the prorotation orders, the Julian company was the only one to take direct action until the Shamrock suit was filed.

Boulder Dam Construction Inaugurated

$165,000,000 Structure Named By Wilbur For Hoover

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Sept. 18 (AP)—The $165,000,000 Boulder Canyon dam project, for more than 10 years the dream of the arid southwest, today was officially underway. A spike of vanda all sledged into a railroad by secretary of the Interior, Lyman Wilbur, started the first numerous construction steps yesterday.

Secretary Wilbur said to the assembled representatives of six Colorado river basin states:

"I have the honor to name this dam after a great engineer, who really started this greatest project of all time—the Hoover Dam."

The spike driving ceremony marked the start of construction of the 22-mile Union Pacific branch line, which will run from Boulder Junction to the dam site.

Actual work on the dam proper will not start for a year.

Dr. Edward Moran, head of the reclamation bureau, who will supervise construction, was taken ill just before the ceremony.

Representatives of California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico, the six basin states which signed a compact allocating water and power, were present. There was no official representative from Arizona, the seventh state of the Colorado basin.

Arizona is preparing to file suit in the United States supreme court to halt the project.

Ely Cheered By Officials Of Counties

FORT WORTH, Sept. 18 (AP)—Adoption of a plan of financing a connected system of Texas highways that will relieve individual counties of their share of the highway tax burden, and pay for bond issues already contracted for, was the building of state roads, through bond issues, was advocated in an address by W. R. Ely Abilene, a member of the State Highway Commission, before the Association of County Judges and County Commissioners of Texas here today.

"The Democratic platform plan for the state's highways does not specify the voter of a $250,000,000 bond issue, but does specify opposition to the present antiquated plan of financing our roads and urges the legislature to adopt the bond plan of device a better one," Ely said. "Personally, I am in favor of the bond issue and feel sure that the legislature will find no better plan for correcting our present situation."

"There is one feature of the bond plan which I am sure many counties have not seen and realize. Voting of the bond issue would mean the transferring of any existing county bond issue in indebtedness to the state, thus relieving the counties of that burden."

"I have always contended that it is not right to ask home owners and farmers to bear the road building tax burden but that the burden should be placed on the highway traffic, the people who use and wear out the roads."

Ely's remarks were greeted with applause. The convention passed a motion thanking him for his address and endorsing his statements and proposals.

Ambassador Morrow Rides Toward Home

Benediction Of Mexico Follows New Jersey Senate Nominee

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 18 (AP)—A train twining northward today through the Mexican cordillera carried Dwight W. Morrow, retiring ambassador, toward his own country, where in November he will stand for election to a senatorial term.

The miles of unending cañon and purple mountain ranges echoed the farewell of the thousands who gathered last night at the Colonia station to see him and Mrs. Morrow off; the farewell of Mexicans to those whom they like and respect: "Vaya usted con Dios señora"—"May you go with God."

His three years of service below the Rio Grande ended, Mr. Morrow, who came to Mexico from a partnership in the Morgan banking enterprises, took with him today the official thanks of President Ortiz Rubio and Foreign Secretary Genaro Estrada. Both in official pronouncements lauded his work, detailed his accomplishments here, and hoped he would be back again soon.

"He has shown himself to be a great friend to Mexico," the president declared.

The foreign secretary, recalling that before Mr. Morrow, Mexico maintained a "constant attitude of defense and unconfiding vigilance," commented: "Now there remains none of the troublesome problems which existed at the time of his arrival."

Mr. Morrow's last official act was as dean of the diplomatic corps, when in company with other diplomats, the president and members of the cabinet he reviewed the massed colors of the Mexican army as they paraded past the golden-winged monument to independence on the beautiful Paseo de la Reforma. Tens of thousands watched the ceremony, which was the final act in Mexico's celebration of the 120th anniversary of the fight for independence.

Mr. Morrow's route was across the mountains of Guanajuato, Zacatecas, Durango and Chihuahua to Ciudad Juarez and El Paso, Texas, to a ranch near Dawson, N. M., where he will spend a few days before going to Washington to present his resignation as ambassador to President Hoover. He will go from Washington to Englewood, N. J., to press his candidacy for the United States Senate.

EVERETT, Wash., Sept. 18 (AP)—Fifty persons were injured, one seriously, and property for miles around was damaged by an explosion of 5,000 pounds of dynamite which destroyed the Puget Sound and Alaska Powder plant yesterday.

The most seriously injured was Mrs. Harold Boushaye, whose jugular vein was nearly severed when her three-room cottage was demolished. Bernice Lamb, 14, lost an eye. Archie Gopeln, a half mile from the scene of the explosion suffered several broken ribs when thrown across a room.

The blast followed a fire which originated in the nitroglycerin mixing vat where three of the plant's forty-five employees were working overtime. They ran to safety before the blaze reached stored dynamite.

Nearly all windows in the town of Mukilte, a mile distant, and many in Everett, seven miles away, were shattered.

The fire spread to the timbered sides of the gulch in which the plant was located.

The plant was valued at $500,000.

Arrested As Vagrants

AMONG the odd and interesting news items of the day is a dispatch from Chicago remarking that two gangsters have been sent to jail for six months on charges of vagrancy.

The old axioms held by our grandfathers get new proof every day. This item, undoubtedly, proves conclusively that there are more ways than one to skin a cat. If you can't send a gangster to jail because he is a dangerous man, a hittacker, a bootlegger and a murderer, you can at least—under certain circumstances—lock him up temporarily as a vagrant and that undeniably is something.

However, it really isn't very much to cheer about. The high-powered lawyers retained by the leading gangsters will probably find some way of beating this unexpected rap before long, and the vagrancy identity will have to be shelved. That is hardly to be wondered at, since the Chicago underworld's monthly profits are usually estimated high in the millions, it is stretching things a bit to describe a hoodlum as a vagrant.

Thus, while the idea will be appealing to newspaper columnists, it probably will not amount to much as an effective instrument in getting Chicago or any other city from under gang rule, and the chief satisfaction it comes from is the fact that it provides one more striking illustration of the utter inability of modern America to deal with lawlessness.

Every large American city spends a great deal of money on its police force. In addition it spends huge sums to maintain a prison system, and to keep courts and courts functioning. It has a wealth of justice defining what is illegal and imposing proper penalties. It has castigatory jails to hold such crooks as it can catch. In other words, it has a good deal of expensive machinery to dispose of outlaws.

Yet with all of this machinery the second city in American crime with an underworld organization more efficient and deft than any other city in the nation is Chicago. It is surprising to find two headlines offset against each other, one stating that Chicago is a city of crime, and the other that it is a city of justice.

The incident in itself is a challenge to the department of justice enforcing justice. Properly understood, it tells you of all you need to know about the state of law enforcement in American cities.

The Tennis Title Goes West

IT IS fortunate that Johnny Doe, who has just won the tennis championship of the United States, should also have been the player to defeat Bill Tilden in the semifinals of the national tournament.
 That clean-cut victory over the defending champion should help to confirm the Californian's right to his new title in a way that would not have been possible had he been playing in the other bracket.

It must be admitted that the tournament results thus far have made it difficult to determine who is the best tennis player in the country at present. Probably many persons would still be inclined to name Bill Tilden, but the evident superiority which he is long enjoyed over all competitors is gone.
 Francis T. Hunter, another veteran and the second ranking player in the country, must be counted out, but there is a brilliant group of younger men now in the game, among whom it has been hard to choose Johnny Doe, George Lott, John
 Van Ryn, Wilmer Allison, Gregory
 Mangin, Berkeley Hill and Frank Shields all have been showing great promise.

The outcome of the national tournament at Forest Hills indicates that Doe is the best of these younger players. The decision of the ranking committee which placed him third on the list this year (im-

NEW MEDICINE ENDS SUFFERING OF FIVE YEARS

"I WAS ABOUT TO GIVE UP HOPE BEFORE I FOUND KONJOLA," SAYS THIS LADY.
 "FOR FIVE YEARS I WAS TROUBLED

with neuritis and indigestion," said Mrs. Allene Tipton, 2311 Broadway, San Antonio. "I used many medicines but none of them helped me like Konjola. The neuritis pains in my arms and chest were almost unbearable. After eating I was sure to suffer the cramping pains of indigestion. My stomach bloated with gas and my heart often palpitated wildly.

"I was about to give up in despair before I found Konjola. I had not completed the first bottle before I began to note an improvement and now, after the third bottle, I have greatly improved in every respect. Neuritis pains have gone entirely. I now eat heartily without any discomfort afterward. I gladly endorse this splendid medicine.

Given a real test, in most cases over a six to eight week period, Konjola has done for thousands all it did for Mrs. Tipton. Why not begin with this great medicine today?

Konjola is sold in Big Spring at Collins Bros. drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

HOW'S YOUR HEALTH

ADENOIDS
 It is estimated that about 10 per cent of all children suffer from adenoids. These children in some cases are undernourished, and because of their adenoids often suffer other ailments.

The adenoids are placed at the back of the throat behind the soft palate. They are part of the stock of tonsils, and their presence tends to safeguard the mouth and the respiratory breathing tract against bacteria.

When diseased the adenoids become large and overgrown, and project sufficiently into the throat to interfere with the path from the nose to the windpipe.

For this reason the child suffers from colds, usually, is unable to breathe through his mouth. Enlarged adenoids are a distinct menace to the child's health. Mouth breathing exposes the child to colds and other respiratory diseases.

In normal breathing the air which passes through the nose and into the lungs is filtered, warmed and moistened. Air "breathed" through the mouth is not properly prepared for the lungs.

The mouth breather usually has a stumped nose, a shortened upper lip, and a cramped upper dental arch. The feet are irregular, hence proper chewing of food becomes difficult. The child usually appears dull and acts as if half asleep.

The child suffering from enlarged adenoids usually sleeps with his mouth open, snoring, has frequent coughing spells, and is restless.

Not infrequently disease of the tonsils is associated with enlarged adenoids.

Whenever any of these symptoms appear in a child, he should be subjected to an examination, and if the adenoids are found enlarged they should be removed. To delay their removal unnecessarily is to invite further trouble.

Hollywood Sights

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—New Yorkers of 50 years hence may draw down from the dusty shelves whigs forgotten movies rest a quaint roll of celluloid dated 1895 and labeled "Just Imagine," and gather en masse to ascertain what prophetic powers if any were possessed by a certain trio of gay showmen of our day, the Messers Sylvan, Brown and Henderson.

Should this transcript, that future audience will see on a screen a musical comedy reception by 1930 prophets, of what their life, customs and dress would be.

AUTO'S PASSE

Just how good a picture "Just Imagine" will be remains to be seen but at present it stands out as the most unusual movie item in Hollywood, one that has not been done before and that is being much.

Two or three pictures have looked into the future for their settings, but none on a scale as large as this "Just Imagine" as had in New York in 1929.

Secrecy has surrounded work on the picture and sets built to scale in a vast hangar miles from Hollywood were used to depict a city of the future, where boats dock at the feet of 25-story skyscrapers, and aerial traffic has supplanted the automobile.

Science has achieved the miracle of flying a Brooklynite (El Brendel) struck by lightning in 1930. The vision long since has ceased to be a novelty and people have a number instead of just one.

There is a marriage tribunal which confers a desired maiden in the most worthy of her suitors, and this supplies the plot.

 The hero (John Garrick), an ocean liner pilot, loves Maureen O'Sullivan, but a newspaper publisher (Kenneth Thomson) wins the girl's approval.

Garrick, appealing his case, has four months in which to prove his superiority to Thomson—but when can he do? The feat that makes Lindbergh an international hero in 1927 is just a routine job to him.

Then a scientist offers him opportunity to be the first to fly to Mars, to become the Lindbergh of 1960. Of course he does, and gets the girl, after heroic adventures on the strange planet, to which he is accompanied by Frank Alberts (his friend) and Brendel, the stow-away.

"Just Imagine," says its authors, is not intended of course, as serious prophecy, but as an entertainment.

The Dancing Silhouette

BY NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN

Synopsis: Seeking to prevent the marriage of his adopted son, Jack, to Elsa Chase, beautiful crippled girl, guest at his Washington home, Arnold Winslow, wealthy retired lawyer, enlists the aid of G. Thorne, detective, to verify his belief that Elsa is an adventuress. Winslow brings Dr. Paul Kane, surgeon, to examine Elsa, who seems frightened at the prospect, but consents.

Later that night Dr. Kane is found dead on the ground under his bedroom window. An autopsy proves he died of poison instead of the fall. The news has a disconcerting effect on both Elsa and the elder Winslow. Jack asks his father for $10,000, refusing to say what it is for. The elder Winslow makes disparaging remarks about Elsa and Jack, in a rage, chokes him. That night Mrs. Winslow tells Thorne and Dr. Kane, the family physician, that her husband has had "another heart attack." Thorne orders McLane why Kane was brought to examine Elsa Chase instead of McLane himself.

Chapter 10
THE DANCING SILHOUETTE
 McLane looked at Thorne in some bewilderment. "I know nothing of that," he admitted. "Kane came very ill as an orthopedic surgeon, and he is an old and intimate friend of the family; they have spoken of him very often. Such a case as Miss Chase would be right in his line for treatment probably." He stood up. "Can I take you into town?"

"If you will."
 McLane turned with Thorne and walked toward the front door. His car was parked in the driveway close at hand, but it was not until the two men were seated and the car in motion that Thorne voiced his thoughts.

"A beautiful woman," Doctor he said, pointing to the house gleaming white through the darkness. "A white girl which in the past twenty-four hours has witnessed a lastingly murder and seen its own almost chosen to death—now, has the last event any bearing on the first?"

"Ask me something easy," growled McLane as he started the engine. "Mrs. Winslow informed me that only she, Miss Chase, the nurse and the servants were in the house when Mr. Winslow was taken ill and Lambert corroborated her statement."

"Miss Kline waited in the hall until she heard McLane drive away before returning to her room; from there, after attending to several other matters, she went to Elsa Chase."

"Young Mr. Winslow isn't in the house," she said, laying her hand on her patient's shoulder with a soothing gesture. "Lambert claims he left immediately after our talk this afternoon."

Elsa's expression grew more troubled. "I cannot understand it," she declared, and her lips trembled. "Jack has never failed to see me whenever he was here, no matter how short the time. Are you sure, Alice, he didn't come when I was asleep?" As she nodded assent, Elsa leaned back wearily and with a sigh picked up her book.

"Please don't start reading," begged Miss Kline persuasively. "You can do that after you are in bed."

"But I want to sit up longer," objected Elsa, raising troubled eyes to her nurse's. "If I hear Jack come, I can whist myself into the music room."

"But Miss Kline shook her head. "Lambert is going in town for the night, he is waiting now to help me put you to bed."

"Let him go," with a touch of angry impatience. "I intend to sit up and see Jack; you can elevate this chair so that I can lie full length on it."

"You won't be comfortable."

By OSCAR HITT

would be sure to catch the milkman's eye, and then with a lighter heart she ran back to the house. Instead of sticking to the gravelled path, she cut across the lawn, heard down, hugging her coat up around her throat and across her chest. Coming from behind a clump of evergreens, she caught sight of a gleam of light on the ground before her and glanced toward the house.

Even as Lucy looked the light grew brighter, and against the yellow shades, which were pulled down on all the windows of the room, appeared a shadow; it grew in size, but as it protruded this way and that, the horrified girl was unable to decide whether it was man or woman. One moment the allouette assumed giant proportions, then shrank to normal size; suddenly its movements grew intensified, body and arms whirling in a mad rhythm of motion.

Hallucinated, step by step, Lucy approached the terrace, then the whirling body swung around, the arms were out-flung—and she saw beckoning clutching fingers. With a terrified moan, she staggered backward and fled to her bedroom in blind, unreasoning panic and cowered under her bedclothes.

Startling facts regarding the death of Dr. Kane are revealed in tomorrow's chapter.

FIND MASTODON TOOTH IN CATFISH

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (INS)—A mastodon tooth weighing a pound and a half was found in the stomach of an 87 1/2-pound catfish caught in the Ohio River near West Franklin, in Posey County, Indiana.

This story was vouched for today by Professor Norman M. Grier of Evansville College to whom the tooth was submitted for identification. The huge catfish was delivered to the L. A. Dammion fish market here where Dan Kaiser, an employee, began skinning and carving it up.

As Kaiser cut the monster cat open he discovered a heavy fold of skin in the stomach region. Moved by curiosity he cut open the fold and the mastodon tooth was revealed. Part of the wall of the stomach had grown around the tooth in such a manner that the entire tooth was inclosed in a pocket by itself.

"Think of the stomach ache that fish must have had," Kaiser reflected. Professor Grier said the fish might have picked up its strange meal anywhere in its vicinity as the mastodon remains are not uncommon in the Ohio Valley.

Mrs. Watson's Elma Hardy Philaena Class Still Leading in Number Of Registrations; Baptist Homemakers Next

Among Miss Ihrig's interesting luncheon recipes were the following:

Soup Can of peas (drained). 1 small head of lettuce (shredded).

Debutante To Star

Pretty June Blossom has stepped from the role of a debutante in society to a debutante in a Broadway show.

NEW YORK (AP)—June Blossom sounds like a stage name, but it's a real name, too.

Society called Miss Blossom last winter, and she became a New York debutante. Now the stage has called, and by coincidence she's playing the part of a debutante in a Broadway comedy.

June has not forsaken society entirely, although study of voice culture and stage dancing claims most of her attention since she was signed by the Shuberts.

Only 19 years old now, she has been graduated from an exclusive New York school and has spent a year at the Sorbonne studying languages and voice. Apart from her society and stage interest, she likes welfare work and sports.

Mrs. Berrys Absence From Home Solved

"Never Saw $750" She Says of Husband's Report Of Bank Roll

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 18 (AP)—Mrs. Marguerite Beery, reported missing by her husband, Noun Beery, film actor, was at the home of friends in Hollywood today where she said there was no mystery attached to her absence from their North Hollywood ranch. She said she had been in Las Vegas, Nevada, to establish a residence. Soon after her return she issued the following statement:

"I was much surprised upon my return to read I had mysteriously disappeared. There is no mystery to my absence. I went to Las Vegas to establish a residence. I may return there to make it my permanent residence."

"Will you ascertain what reward Mr. Beery offered for information as to my whereabouts? If sufficiently large, I will have myself brought in immediately."

"Newspapers reported Mr. Beery said I had $750 on my person at the time I disappeared. May I add that during my married life with Mr. Beery of twenty-two years I have never seen $750."

Beery had said he learned Mrs. Beery had received her monthly income from the $250,000 trust fund which he established for her some time ago.

Beery reported to police Monday his wife had disappeared Sept. 8 without explanation, and asked for information. He said she had been ill and he feared "a train had fallen her."

After his wife had been located, Beery asked the authorities to continue their investigation of her disappearance, declaring "I want the proper authorities to investigate the matter and prosecute anyone guilty of enticing or luring Mrs. Beery from her home. If it can be established any person or persons are responsible for her strange absence, I shall lodge charges against them."

Beery said he had learned his wife had left Las Vegas yesterday and driven across the desert to Los Angeles alone.

Emil Wickman, a rancher living near Las Vegas, reported Mrs. Beery and Raymond Wells, a former film director, had been his guests for nearly a week. He said Mrs. Beery brought Wells to Las Vegas from Los Angeles in her automobile.

"I wired to Wells," Wickman said, "asking him to come to Las Vegas on a business deal and as he did not have the money, Mrs. Beery drove him over, straight through in one day. I helped."

Wickman said he and Wells were trying to finance a motion picture company and that Mrs. Beery was interested enough to help in some of the preliminary financing and to offer the use of her car.

Court records here revealed that Monday Wells said Beery was only twenty-nine years of age, and that she had a very knobby nose. He said he secured his skill from a man named Paul and the man's name was pressed. The understanding is it was settled out of court.

Two years ago Mrs. Beery started divorce proceedings but dropped them. She and Beery were married at Boston in 1910 and have one son, Noun Beery, 34.

More Charters Filed This Year In Texas

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 18 (AP)—Oil, manufacturing and real estate and building companies chartered in Texas during August were greater in number than in either of the previous 30 days or during the same period last year, a report from the office of Secretary of State Jane N. McCallum showed.

While the total of all new formations was only 173, as compared with 179 in July and 170 in August of last year, the aggregate population of $6,977,000 was the highest since January, comparing with $5,764,980 in July and $4,173,901 in August last year.

Flow of the companies chartered during August represent large individual capitalizations, only 32 exceeding the $100,000 mark. Most of the remainder range well below $50,000 each.

Charters covering all phases of the oil industry numbered 32, more than triple the number chartered during July and 10 more than were chartered in August, 1929.

Manufacturing concerns, of which 38 were chartered during the month, more than double the number of both the same period in 1929 and the previous 30 days. Most of the group were small organizations, however.

New building and real estate organizations totaled 22, the highest figure during the last 12 months with the exception of October, 1929, when 25 such businesses were organized.

$1,000,000 DISTILLERY RAIDED IN DETROIT; 20,000 GALLONS OF GRAIN ALCOHOL CONFISCATED

DETROIT, Sept. 18 (AP)—Police announced today they had destroyed an illicit distillery which has been doing a $1,000,000 a month business for several months. In a raid late last night they discovered and seized the largest alcohol plant found in Detroit since the eighteenth amendment went into effect. The raiders said the value of the elaborate equipment and materials was $1,000,000, while conservative estimates placed it at more than $500,000.

Operators of the plant escaped by means of rope ladders from rear windows, while police were battering down doors and partitions. The building, located near the center of the uptown business district at Woodward avenue and Grand boulevard, formerly was used by the fire department, but was abandoned and sold several years ago.

The big distillery was equipped with a telephone system and a battery of elevators. There was evidence that it was operated by experts. Each vat was furnished with a bulletin board, giving the formula used and instructions as to temperatures and time of heating. There was a well designed ventilating system for carrying fumes to the roof.

Holes in the upper floors through which fire fighters formerly passed had been converted into elevator shafts. Eighty thousand gallons of grain mash were found in vats and 20,000 gallons of grain alcohol was ready for shipment. There was a crating department and evidence that five-gallon tins of alcohol were shipped in carload lots from a railroad siding near the building.

Storage rooms were crammed to the ceiling with materials for making alcohol, including 100,000 pounds of raw sugar and 2,000 gallons of molasses.

A stoppage in the ventilating system led to the discovery of the distillery. Persons living nearby had complained of the odors.

ONE BAD INNING DEFEATS MEMPHIS

Three Runs In Eighth Scored Without Hits

All Dr. Jock Sutherland, rebuilding his University of Pittsburgh football forces for the coming season, has to do at the outset to replace Joe Donchess, Ray Montgomery, Toby Unna, Tom Parkinson and Captain DiMeola.

These five were of All-America caliber last year, the backbone of the team that swept through its eastern campaign unbeaten, only to be mopped up by Southern California in the Rose Bowl classic. Donchess and Unna were first All-America selections in the Associated Press consensus.

The job of filling their places has been begun by Sutherland in the peace and quiet of Camp Hamilton, high up in the Alleghenies, 85 miles from Pittsburgh.

He has three seasoned backfield men to start with in Bill Walling, Eddie Baker and Josh Williams. The fourth place, full back, likely will be filled by Franklin Hood, who was a sensation as a schoolboy star a few years ago.

Eastern scouts all had their eyes on Hood when he was manifesting extraordinary kicking, passing and running ability at Bellefonte Academy. He looked like the best prep school prospect in many a moon but injury or illness kept him from going on to collegiate stations at Pitt. Hood can throw a kick 70 yards. If he comes through this year, Pitt's opponents will need all the anti-aircraft guns they can find.

Fort Worth Assumes Dixie Series Lead By 4 To 3 Score

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 18. (AP)—Fort Worth, Texas League contenders for the baseball championship of the South, today stood one up on their Southern Association rivals, the Memphis Chickasaws, by right of a 4 to 3 victory in the opening game yesterday of the tenth annual Dixie Series, the advantage gained in an inning when "everything went wrong" for Memphis.

Incidents of the Memphis "disaster" inning, the eighth, included two bases on balls, a throw to third base, for the moment uncovered, and then the drop of a throw to first. When it started Memphis was leading 3 to 1. When it ended Fort Worth had scored three runs without a hit to make the count 4 to 3 in favor of the Texas League. That was the final score.

Two runs romped home through the "open door" at third base before the ball was recovered. The drop of the throw to first allowed the other.

Otherwise the series opener was a hard-fought contest and a pitching duel between Walter Beck of Memphis and Dick McCabe of Fort Worth, both right-handers. Beck allowed six hits and McCabe seven.

The second game of the series was scheduled for this afternoon. Harry Kelly was announced as the pitching selection for Memphis. Frank Snyder, Fort Worth manager, was understood as to his pitching nomination early today, but guesses centered about Dick Whitworth as the probable choice.

A delegation of several hundred Fort Worth fans, with the Fort Worth police band and equipped with a plentiful supply of cowbells, was on hand yesterday to cheer their team to victory and remained over for today's tussle. After today's game the teams will go to Fort Worth for games there Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Attendance at yesterday's game was 8,644. Receipts amounted to $18,012.25.

CONNIE MACK

HIS 50 YEARS IN BASEBALL

No. 4—The Rise To Leadership

The man whose greatest fame in years to come was to be as a manager and tactical genius turned down his first chance to become the leader of a major league baseball club. After nearly four seasons with the Washington Nationals, from late in 1886 through 1889, Connie Mack forsook "Organized Baseball" for the one and only time in his career, by jumping to the Players' League, formed by the Brotherhood or players' union in 1890.

This outlaw venture lasted only one season. Mack was among the stars most sought after by National League magnates, eager to break what amounted to a "strike," and accepted what was then the munificent salary of $3,500 to join the Pittsburgh club, owned by W. W. Kerr.

developing a group of stars whose influence was to be felt for many years.

Among them was John McGraw, a rival of Mack's for world's championship honors in 1905-11-12; Hugh Jennings, whose Detroit club was a bitter foe of the Athletics; an organizing genius named Byron Bancroft Johnson. He then was the guiding spirit of the strong Western league, building up the organization that was to furnish the backbone for launching the American league as a new major circuit. Johnson induced Mack, in 1897, players were told $2,400 was the limit and all of them accepted. The team with Mack, as first string catcher rose to sixth place in 1892 and to second position in 1893.

Prospects were bright when the 1894 season opened for the Pirates, under the management of A. L. C. Buckenberger. Business was picking up. The club made a good start but slumped, and by mid-season was out of the running.

One day the Mack, now 32 and a seasoned veteran of ten years professional baseball, was suddenly called into the club president's office for a conference.

"I was never more surprised in my life when I was told the club wanted me to try my hand as manager," Mack said. "Buckenberger was one of my best friends. I felt he was not to blame for the poor situation as I saw it and urged the manager be given further opportunity. It was agreed to.

"We made no progress, however, and along late in August I was called in again. This time, however, I was told Buckenberger had been relieved of his duties. I was asked to take charge. I felt it was then worth trying, and accepted."

It would add drama to Mack's life story to relate that he was an immediate success, but the fact is that he set no worlds on fire whatever upon assuming his first major league command.

The Pirates under his leadership finished seventh in 1894 and 1895, sixth in 1896. However, he had the team hustling and in 1896 it was up fighting for the lead when a succession of accidents—still a "jinx" for Pittsburgh clubs—put the club out of the running.

One of the strokes of misfortune that year was a broken leg suffered by the manager. Mack finished directing his team from the bench, where in later years he chose to remain.

While Mack was struggling with his first managerial job, the Baltimore Orioles rose to the top, demonstrating their prowess as one of the greatest teams of all time and to accept a part interest in and the management of the Milwaukee club of the Western league. It turned out to be the most important step in the career of the New England Irishman. Three years later another baseball "war" was on. Mack was a principal figure in it and finally on the road to his greatest fame.

At about the same time a new figure was emerging in the Middle letics a decade later; Wilbert Robinson, later the picturesque pilot of Brooklyn's Trolley Dodgers; William (Kid) Gleason, another to gain fame as a manager and a lieutenant with Mack's 1929-30 champions; Wee Willie Keeler, Dan Brouthers and Steve Brodie.

These were names to conjure with; an aggregation that in later years was described by Mack as "probably the greatest team in baseball history, outside the pitching box."

At about the same time a new figure was emerging in the Middle

RUSSIAN JEWS ARE TAUGHT COMMUNISM

NEW YORK (INS)—Russian Jews are being educated to believe in Communism in Jewish schools taught by Jews who employ the Jewish languages, according to a report by Israel S. Chipkin, director of the Jewish Education Association, which was made public recently.

Chipkin's report was based on a ten weeks study of Russia. The Jewish slanders in Russia are indifferently Jewish good Communists.

FACE NAMED

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 18. (AP)—Dr. J. H. Pace, moderator of the South Texas Baptist Association for two years, was re-elected for the 1930-31 year at the 44th annual association meeting here today.

Rev. A. O. Moore, of this city was elected vice moderator and John R. Edmonds of Beaumont, re-elected clerk-treasurer.

AMOS 'N' ANDY HAVE MAN FROM MURDER CHARGE

DENVER, (INS)—The nightly clowning of Amos and Andy over the radio saved a Denver man from becoming a defendant in a murder trial recently.

Two Denver men were killed in a gun fight. One of the dead men, a bandit, still held a gun in his hand when found, but the gun which had killed the bandit had disappeared.

Later it was learned the bandit's gun belonged to a third man, who was arrested in connection with the murder. Claiming the man had borrowed the gun, from him on the pretense of using it for hunting, the suspect had no other alibi than that he had been home the night of the murder listening to the radio.

"Your home is several miles from the scene of the murder," said the police. "The murder took place at 5:30 p. m. Tell us what station you had tuned in and what transpired at the time."

The suspect related the Amos and Andy episode almost word for word, providing himself with a fool-proof alibi.

LAWYERS NEED NO KNOWLEDGE OF HISTORY

NEW YORK (INS)—"Who discovered America?" is a detail entirely irrelevant to the qualifications necessary for practicing law, a decision by the Appellate division in Brooklyn held recently. The application of John T. Brennan, who refused to answer this question and the one asking "What is the authority of the government under the federal constitution?" for a review by the committee on character of the bar association and fitness of its action refusing to certify him as a lawyer was upheld by the Appellate division.

FLIER MISSING

BASKATON, Sask., Sept. 18. (AP)—Mystery still enshrouded the disappearance of Brian Taylor, flier, as the entrants in the 1930 National Air tour prepared to hop off today for Edmonton, Alta. It was believed that Taylor, unreported since leaving Grand Forks, N. D., with the tour on Sunday, may have put back for New York.

Cards Gain On Pack With 5-3 Victory

Andy High Again Hits When It Is Needed To Win

By HUGH S. FULLEBTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

There isn't very much to Andy High as ball players go—only 5½ feet of him—but today he can wear the biggest hero's garland St. Louis has to offer. Andy does not even rate as a regular on the Cardinals this season, yet he is the one who has given them two successive triumphs over their rival Brooklyn Robins and a clear hold on first place.

On Tuesday Andy went into the game as a pinch hitter in the tenth inning and cracked out a double that led to the game's only run and a virtual tie with the Robins. Yesterday High hit a double in the ninth and brought a 5 to 3 triumph for the Cards and a full game margin. He hit with the score tied and two men on base.

Johnson Pitches

Sylvester Johnson pitched a fine game for the Cards against Adolfo Luque. Al Grabowski, who got credit for the victory, and Jim Lindsey, did well in relief roles, and Chick Hafey's home run in the fourth gave the Cards their first tie.

Hack Wilson clouted a pair of home runs on his first two times at bat against the Giants and sent the Cubs off to an easy triumph. The homers, both off Jim Chaplin's delivery, gave Wilson a total of 52 for the season and produced a new major league record for batting in runs as he brought his total to 176. The former mark was 175 for a season, made by Lou Gehrig in 1927.

Breaks Streak

Cincinnati broke its losing streak by defeating the Boston Braves, 6 to 4, behind Red Lucas pitching in the second game of a double-header, after it had run to 13 straight through Boston's 6 to 3 triumph in the first clash. Pittsburgh's Pirates slammed out 12 runs in two innings to defeat Philadelphia, 12 to 5.

The formality of ending the American League pennant race was delayed for a day or two as the Philadelphia Athletics went down before Red Faber's six-hit pitching and lost a 4 to 2 decision to the Chicago White Sox, while Washington rallied after a bad first game and won the second from Cleveland, 6 to 4. The Indians hammered out a 13 to 7 victory in their first as Earl Averill tied the modern major league home-run record. Averill hit three homers in successive times at bat, barely missed a fourth and grounded out, then cracked out another his first time up in the

Ruth Alexander, Aviatix Killed

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 18. (AP)—Ruth Alexander, San Diego aviatix, was killed when her airplane crashed at Loma Portal, within the city limits here early today shortly after she had taken off for a proposed one-stop flight to Newark, N. J.

Miss Alexander, in a low winged Barling monoplane, "The Agus Caliente" took off at 3:28 a. m. Pacific standard time. She planned to make one stop at Wichita, Kan.

The cause of the crash was not immediately learned. The take-off was in a low hanging fog, but it was believed she had cleared this when her plane rose to an altitude of about 500 feet.

The scene of the crash was about three miles from Lindbergh field, where Miss Alexander took off. An explosion of gasoline was believed to have caused the crash.

Miss Alexander recently flew from the Canadian to the Mexican border along the Pacific seaboard, making the first non-stop flight over that route by a woman. Her time was 16 hours. She also held the women's altitude record for planes of less than 100 horsepower.

Mrs. Van Lear Black Takes Will To Court

BALTIMORE, Sept. 17. (AP)—Mrs. Jessie Gary Black, widow of Van Lear Black, Baltimore publisher and world flyer who was lost at sea from his yacht, Aug. 18, has renounced the will by which she was bequeathed one-third of the residuary estate after a number of other bequests, including $27,000 to one of her daughters, had been paid.

By her action, Mrs. Black, it was explained, claims her statutory right under the Maryland law to an absolute one-third of the entire estate before deduction of the special bequests.

The estimate of the estate made at the time the will was admitted to probate was more than $3,000,000.

Williams, Lundgren Cancel Ocean Hop

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Sept. 18. (AP)—Roger Q. Williams and Ted Lundgren cancelled their proposed Transatlantic flight today and hopped off for Los Angeles shortly before noon. Lundgren will return to his home and the plane will be returned to the factory.

Abandonment of plans for the flight caused some surprise as the fliers had been waiting several weeks for favorable weather. They gave no reason for their action.

Captain Roy W. Ammel, who also has been waiting for good weather, said he expected to hop off tomorrow morning on a flight to England.

The other American League teams took their games more or less lightly, devoting most of their time to attempting to fatten their batting averages. The St. Louis Browns outlasted a seven-run rally by the New York Yankees to win out, 9 to 8, while the Detroit Tigers gained a 9 to 7 victory over the Boston Red Sox as each team cracked out 15 hits.

Carnera Gets 23rd Victory Via Knockout

"How good will Albe Booth be this year for Yale?" T. A. D. Jones was asked recently by the microphone.

"Just as good as his forwards will let him be," Jones replied. "And that, as I think most of his opponents of last year will agree, will be plenty good."

Huge Italian Also Has Bookoo Cash; To Return Home

CHICAGO, Sept. 18. (AP)—Primo Carnera has finished his conquest among heavyweights with an average of 1,000, and an extremely healthy bank roll.

The Italian monster last night nominated and elected Jack Gross, a Jewish heavy from Philadelphia, as knockout victim number 23, accomplishing the business in less than four rounds. Carnera's board of managers said the bout was his last in America, and that he would sail for Italy October 11.

About the only difference between Gross and Carnera's other opponents was that the Philadelphia did his fighting left-handed. He tried hard, but outweighed 67 pounds and appearing almost puny compared to the bulky Italian, he didn't have a chance. Carnera mauled and slugged him about the ring, working methodically until the fourth, when he turned loose a crushing right that dropped Gross for nine counts. Gross got up, but another nudge on the jaw by the hamline fist felled him for keeps.

The crowd was not all that was expected in numbers, the attendance being estimated at about 10,000 with receipts of approximately $25,000.

Carnera's victory was not popular with the customers, who cheered uproariously every time Gross landed a blow—and he accomplished that feat several times—and booed and jeered Primo throughout the fight. Referee Ed Purdy warned Carnera for backhand hitting and for piling his forearm under Gross' chin, lifting it jostlingly. Gross believed he was able to continue, not realizing he had been counted out. As Carnera approached him to shake hands, the loser made a pass at the giant's head, and refused for several seconds to shake hands.

Principle of an action intended to tie up part of Primo's receipts for the evening was filed by an attorney for George A. Biemer, Fort Wayne, Ind., fight promoter. Biemer claims the Italian owes him $2,700 for failure to appear in a bout scheduled for the first week in August at Fort Wayne.

'UNION' OFFICES RAIDED IN CHICAGO OFFENSIVE AGAINST GANGLAND'S RACKETEERING

CHICAGO, Sept. 18. (AP)—The police hunt for 26 "public enemies" was revealed today as just a segment of a concerted finish battle against racketeers and hoodlums.

Raids on 10 labor union offices directed by State's Attorney Swanson against the warfare into another sector yesterday and resulted in police seizure of records which are expected to shed light on the efforts of underworld gangs to "muscle" into control of reputable labor groups.

The union offices were entered by seven squads of detectives under authority of warrants from Chief Justice John J. McGoorty of the criminal court, who inaugurated the major offensive against the gangs in a special charge to the September grand jury.

The police squads struck simultaneously so there would be no chance for removing or hiding the records. Assistant state's attorneys Mueller and Lounsbury, in charge of racketeer prosecutions, said that most of the unions involved were under the domination of George (Red) Barker, William (Three Finger Jack) White and similar characters. Both Barker and White were listed by the Chicago Crime Commission as "public enemies" and were on the list of the 26 sought by vagrancy warrants.

Union offices raided included the municipal clerks' union said to acknowledge Danny Stanton, also a "public enemy" as leader; the union of commission wagon drivers, of which Bernard O'Donnell, two of whose brothers are listed as "public enemies" is business agent; newspaper wagon drivers' union, said to be controlled by Anthony (Red) Kinsane and John Barry; (Red) Kinsane and John Barry; the subsidiary is reported controlled by Barker and White; and the filling station owners' union, said to be dominated by James Belcastro, also a "public enemy."

The raiders seized the books and papers of the marble setters' union and the billposters and billers' union while a scrutiny was to be made of the records of the ticket takers and ushers union in an effort to ascertain if Barker held a bona fide connection with it.

The prosecutors announced they would seek in the mass of seized records some inkling as to how "these hoodlums, rangers and ex-convicts obtained union jobs" and also whether their control was obtained by use of the pistol.

Through acting commissioner of police Alcock offered additional compensation for any policeman bringing in one of the "public enemies," the only one apprehended was Danny Stanton who happened

Producer in Oklahoma Is Second Largest

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 18. (AP)—Flowing 3,008 barrels of oil in an hour and a half, the Hall-Hiscoe and others' No. 3 Lindsey was completed Wednesday for the second largest well in the Oklahoma City field and was claimed to be also the second largest high gravity, sweet oil well ever completed. The initial flow of the No. 3 Lindsey, in Sec. 20, T. 21-N., R. 10-W., near the city limits in the north-west part of the field, was at the rate of 48,000 barrels a day. Sand was cutting connections near the separator and the well had to be shut in. Oil was breaking through between the strings of casing but condition of the well was considered dangerous. The No. 5 Holmes, completed Monday, is the only well in the field with a larger initial flow, having produced 3,712 barrels of oil in an hour and 20 minutes before being shut in.

What do you think will be the real outcome of the Naval Conference recently held in this city? Whatever its outcome may be, the fact remains that it has not and that confessional relations have supplanted competitive ones. New hope has been kindled in the world by the graceful spectacle of five great powers engaged in open discussion of their common difficulties. Further, they will meet again.

Disarmament is but the symptom of a reincarnated world conscience which condemns the futility and diabolism of aggressive war. That conscience is the soul of the peace movement. But for its demand the League of Nations would have died aborning. The World Court would not have been created and the Locarno compact would not have been signed. It does not seem at the moment of writing that the conference was much constrained by the pact of Paris. That pact stands out, however, as the solemn pledge of its fifty-five signatory nations that they will abstain from war as an instrument of political policy. A conference on disarmament can abolish it. In the end, as Senator Capper of the United States Senate has said, "Success depends upon the people themselves. If they have patience, if they refuse to be disheartened, even though one conference or many should be unable to accomplish the object they have set before them, the great aim of a new world establishing and of peace rather than on arms will be won."

What is the fundamental distinction between occultists and mystics? What is the value of the teachings of the Yoga Sutras of Patanjali? The mystic's ideal is passive absorption in those eternal realities which center in God. The solitary soul flies upward to the great Alone. Meditation is its habit, and anything which fosters its vision of the Everlasting is favored. The occultist resembles the mystic in his speculative tendencies, but he craves action as well as vision and is more closely linked to the visible world. Hence the finer forces of Nature are invoked by the occultist. Control rather than utter passivity is his goal. As for the Sutras of Patanjali, nobody will deny that fine spiritual precepts are found in them. But since they are concerned with the "Path" and the "Path" means the absolute renunciation of the world, they tend toward the suppression of the intellectual life. Their whole scheme is based upon the soul's escape from its fleshly entanglements. Their implication is that earthly life is not a desirable possession and that the sooner one's imprisonment in the body ceases the better it will be.

The mystics are the music makers of the spiritual realm. The occultists may be loosely termed its adventurers. Like physical scientists, they occasionally claim too much. For this reason the mystic nearly always wins on a showdown and have the acknowledged superiority established by the incalculable benefits they have bestowed on religion and character. Bridgeport, Conn.
I am an old man nearly ninety-two years old and for twenty-five years I taught the men's Bible class in the Federated Church of our town. Increasing deafness has compelled me to give it up. Now my faith is weakening, I cannot understand how an all powerful heavenly Father can permit hurricanes to kill thousands of people and destroy their homes. It looks as though the world was under blind laws and allowed to run regardless of humanity.

What can you say about it? You are facing a very ancient but none the less troublesome problem, for which, so far as I know, no one had found a really satisfying solution. Two simple statements are all one can offer here: (1) Our minds are entirely too finite and their vision far too limited to be able to take in the sweep of God's purpose in the universe. If we could see further, we would better understand what it is all about. A child is so often puzzled and irritated by what he deems the injustice of many disciples administered by his parent. Later life and more knowledge solve his troubles. They may solve ours who are but children of a larger growth. (2) Our Heavenly Father gave man the possibility of choice, and therefore the possibility of evil. Had he been created without that possibility he would have been an automaton and not the being we know. Evil has changed man's world from a complete organism revealing the glory of God into a broken organism wherein the disasters your name are involved. Under the discipline of calamity and loss man is working upward toward the sunrise. Ultimately there will be a new universe wherein righteousness shall reign and sorrow and sighing shall flee away. It may still be subjected to natural catastrophes, but these will be interpreted from superior levels of life to which we have not yet attained. Do not surrender your trust and confidence. The end of earthly journey cannot be far away from you. You have been a faithful knight of God. "Ride on, the prize is near," and the infirmities of venerable age ought not to prevent your soul's triumph.

How an Irishman glorified the Irish potato

JUST the other evening I ran across this interesting recipe for Potatoes O'Brien and the story of its origin:

O'Brien, so the story goes, was chef at Jack's, a restaurant famous for its good food back in the days when New York was small enough that you sometimes met a friend on the street. And he originated Potatoes O'Brien—a favorite dish in hotels everywhere today.

If you've thought that Potatoes O'Brien were too complicated to make at home, you'll be glad to know how easy they are—and how good! Fried in Crisco, a fat so sweet and fresh that it tastes good all by itself, potatoes really taste like potatoes.

POTATOES O'BRIEN Dice cold boiled potatoes. Mix them with chopped raw bacon, onion and pimientos. Fry in Crisco in a frying pan as you would hashed brown potatoes. Stir occasionally until partly brown over the bottom, double over like an omelet and serve on the platter in omelet shape.

The secret of an omelet's rise Here's an omelet that has a success hint wrapped up in it: It's broiled on top of the stove and then popped into the oven to finish cooking, so that there's no chance of its falling. And, of course, the delicate, fresh-laid flavor of the eggs is preserved when you fry in Crisco—a cooking fat that tastes good just as it comes from its own tight can.

SUCCESS OMELET 3 eggs, separated 1 teaspoon salt 2 tablespoons hot water 1 tablespoon Crisco Best egg whites, until thick and add salt, pepper and cayenne—and hot water. Mix well. Fold in lightly the stiffly beaten whites until thoroughly blended. Melt Crisco in an iron frying pan or omelet pan. Pour in the egg mixture and spread evenly. Cook over a slow fire, moving the pan occasionally so as to distribute the heat evenly. When a delicate brown underneath, put in a moderate oven (350° F.) and bake 10 or 15 minutes or until top is firm. Fold and serve on a hot platter. Garnish with parsley. As a change from plain omelet, just before serving, fold in the omelet, jelly or hot green vegetables such as peas or asparagus.

ALL MEASUREMENTS LEVEL. Recipes tested and approved by cooking authorities. Crisco is the registered trademark of a shortening manufactured by The Procter & Gamble Company.

Taste Crisco—then any other shortening. Crisco's sweet, fresh flavor will tell you why things made with Crisco taste so much better.

In its new airtight can—as fresh and sweet as the day it was made

Cuba Defends Sovereignty

GENEVA, Sept. 18 (AP)—In a heated encounter before the assembly of the League of Nations today Cuba defended her sovereign rights as an independent state within the league and won.

Cuba's critic who met defeat was Nicholas Politis of Greece. He sharply censured Cuba for blocking entry into force of the protocol for revision of the world court statute.

"Cuba," declared Orates Ferrera, the island nation's ambassador at Washington, "will not submit to dictation by Mr. Politis, nor by Greece, nor by any member of the League of Nations."

Then he loudly announced that Cuba's reasons for objecting to the coming into force of the protocol must be neither challenged nor discussed by the committee.

"We entered the league regarding it as a society of nations and not as a super-state able to override the sovereignty of any member," he declared.

The discussion was closed by Chairman Sclavo of Italy after speakers and delegates had risen to their feet in excitement and per-room had rushed in to see what all the commotion was about.

section is but one of the two prongs of the line. The other prong is to extend from Atlanta through Birmingham, Monroe and Shreveport, Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, El Paso, and thence to Los Angeles. The two prongs ultimately will be joined by extending the southern one from San Antonio to Sweetwater or Big Spring and it is the understanding here that the prong will be only an extension of the main route from Atlanta through Dallas, not requiring an additional contract.

Planes Ready In 30 Days

The contract awarded today requires that planes carrying mail and equipped to carry passengers will be flying from Atlanta west through Memphis, St. Louis and Dallas within the next 30 days. The contractors will receive 40 cents a mile for transporting mail up to 225 pounds, with an appropriate change in rate in event this poundage is exceeded. Announcement of the award was not expected until next week, when Assistant Postmaster General W. Irving Glover is to return to Washington, but it was decided to make it public today after he talked with Postmaster General Walter D. Brown by long distance telephone from Texas.

The original bid on the southern continental contract was by Halliburton and the Robertson craft company of St. Louis, which is a subsidiary of the Aviation Corporation.
