You Might Call it a "Gravy Train"

Was reading the other day about a Maharaja in India who has a miniature electric train all made of silver. Now, maybe that's not unusual for a prince, but this fellow had it running around on an enormous dining table in the royal palace.

The twelve cars on the train are loaded with different kinds of fruits, nuts, and beverages. And the train stops automatically in front of each plate so the person sitting there can choose what he wants.

From where I sit, the Maharaja is really going to extremes to impress his guests. Around this part of the world, hospitality certainly doesn't need all those fancy trimmings.

You don't have to spend a lot of money or go to a lot of work when folks drop in. Just offer them what you have—coffee, tea, a temperate glass of beer—and let them make their own choice. They'll feel they're getting a royal welcome!

First Baptist News

The Brotherhood revival is in progress this week. We are trying to engage men in the church work as the true expression of Christianity. The response has been wonderful.

The young people had a busy week-end and it seems a fruitful one for them. With all the meetings and services this last week-end they were very busy. We would like to hand them a big bouquet for the fine way they are working out. It will not be long until our Youth Revival. We expect a wonderful experience from it.

This Saturday night is Associational Youth Rally at Mertzton. We want a large number of young people to be there.

Everyone seems interested in the progress of the parsonage. It is good to see it taking shape and adding to the beauty of our town. It is agreed by everyone that we will all be proud of this new building. Many people passing through a town judge the people in it by the condition of the church buildings. Just think about it for a while and see if you too see the relationship.

Sunday's attendance is again up from the week before, but not up to where it should be. The attendance figures for Sunday are:

- First Baptist ----- 242
 - First Mission ----- 38
 - Mexican Mission ----- 38
- Go to church somewhere next Sunday.

Methodist Notes

The week of April 4 to 11 has been designated as Visitation Week. Committees composed of laymen of the church will conduct a planned week of visitation evangelism. April 14, 15 and 16 has been chosen as the time for pre-Easter church services, with the pastor, Rev. Doyle Morton, in the pulpit.

An Easter film, reported to be one of the best of its kind available for church showing, will be presented at the 7:30 p. m. service Sunday night, March 28. Everyone is urged to be present if possible. The title of this film is "I Beheld His Glory."

This film tells the story of Cornelius, the Centurion, who becomes a convert to Christianity after witnessing the crucifixion and resurrection of Jesus. Thomas, the disciple, aids Cornelius in telling the story by describing the Last Supper and other stirring events which Cornelius himself did not witness. The film is in color.

Library Association To Meet In Mineral Wells

The Texas Library Association will meet in Mineral Wells March 31 through April 3 to hear state leaders discuss library responsibility in education, business and agriculture and to study results of a county by county analysis of Texas library resources. A large number of librarians from District III of the Association, which includes Eldorado, are expected to attend.

Fred Folmer, association president and associate librarian at the University of Texas, said recently, "We are acting in the knowledge that libraries are no longer just reading clubs with light fiction, but are service institutions with a contribution they owe to society as a whole."

"We have invited representatives of business and professional groups to evaluate aspects of library service nearest to them—to tell us not only where we have helped but where we have failed, and what our future course should be in meeting the needs of the citizens of our state," Folmer declared.

Robert Pointer, secretary of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce, will be one of the convention's principal speakers.

Springtime On The Farm — and Fire

Spring is one of the best times of the year to start a practical year-round fire safety program on the farm, says W. G. Godwin, county extension agent.

In getting ready for spring and summer operations, farmers will find that they can, at the same time, correct many of the worst fire hazards around the farm. And without too much extra effort, if any.

Most of these chores usually come under the heading of spring clean-up and all clean-up certainly lessens fire danger. However, the United States Department of Agriculture and the National Fire Protection Association list five clean-up recommendations as being of top fire safety importance. They are:

- (1) Removal of old magazines, newspapers, clothing, rags, mattresses, and broken and discarded furniture and the like, from attics, closets, basements and the barn and out-buildings;
- (2) cleaning up of rubbish in the farm yard and cutting down of dead vegetation around buildings, along fences, and in fields;
- (3) clean up of the machine shop and the work bench, including safe disposal of shavings, oily rags, and old paints and oils;
- (4) clean up of all electrical equipment and power machinery;
- (5) clean up of the heating plant, chimney, stoves, brooders and heaters of all types.

Highway Accidents Decrease During 1953

Austin. — The 1953 highway traffic death book for Texas officially closed last week, according to Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Final figures for last year disclose that 2,368 persons lost their lives in motor vehicle traffic accidents during the period. This is a 5.2% decrease over 1952 when 130 more persons died than during 1953.

Garrison said that this reduction gave the state a 6.4 death rate—the lowest in the history of accident analysis in Texas. The death rate is figured on the basis of the number of fatalities per each 100 million motor vehicle miles traveled.

"We are gratified by the 1953 record and the continuing decline in the death rate," Garrison said. He pointed out that less people were traffic fatalities last year in spite of the fact that motorists racked up nearly 1½ billion more miles of travel than during the preceding twelve months.

Total number of injuries dropped also—to 110,097—which was 2,871 below the number for 1952. The economic loss declined by more than $5 million—to a total of $148,958,000 for the year.

Even the total number of accidents decreased, too. The final figures showed 233,176 traffic mishaps—some 5,000 less than for 1952.

December again proved to be the most deadly month of the year according to the DDPS statistical report, accounting for 258 of the traffic fatalities. August was next with 233.

Victor L. Kent, cooperater with the Eldorado Divide Soil Conservation District, eight miles southwest of Eldorado, is managing his pasture land to keep all the cover possible to hold water on the land when it does rain.

Kent has had one good rainfall year since he bought the place in 1942. His best year was 1942. He had the place leased out in 1949 and 1950 when good rains were received.

When Kent bought the 480 acre stock farm he stocked the 390 acres of pasture land with 250 ewes and 10 cows. The 90 acres of cropland was planted in feed to be fed to the sheep and cattle.

Wool produced the first year sold for $689.60. Lamb crop was a low percentage and lambs did not bring a very good price.

About a year after he bought the place he bought more sheep to replace the ones that had died and to also increase his ewes to 330 head. Kent states that he did not get over a 50% lamb crop and because they were so light when time came to sell, he had to keep them until the next spring before they sold. The 10 cows did not do any good and the calves did not weigh as much as they should have and consequently did not bring a good price when sold.

The first part of 1944, Kent reduced his ewes to 125 head. "That year I raised 128 lambs and did not have any cutbacks when the lambs sold and my wool brought $713.88," Kent stated. "I attribute the good lamb crop and good wool crop to having plenty of good feed for my stock that year," Kent said. When he moved back to the place in September 1951, after it had been leased out during 1949 and 1950, he bought 120 ewes and 6 cows with calves. He continued to run 120 ewes up to November 1952, at which time he sold all the sheep. He bought more cattle until his herd was increased to 36 head. "I did not have enough feed in pastures and no feed produced from cropland, but I was counting on it raining," Kent stated. The cattle did not do good in spite of the fact that a considerable amount of money was spent for supplemental feed. He sold the cattle down to 6 head in the summer of last year and took a big loss.

Kent says his pastures have made some recovery with very little rain at present stocking rate. He plans to keep his cattle down to 6 head and sheep at 10 head to leave as much grass cover as possible to hold the water on the land when it does rain. With good rains he feels that it will still take some time before stock could be safely increased.

Kent stated, "I have found by experience that I can not run more stock than my places produces feed for. By having to buy a big percentage of feed they require, profit is decreased or even a loss can be the result."

Due to the fact that Kent has taken some care of his grassland, he has not had to feed any of his stock, except his milk cow, this year. He says, "the few stock I have can't possibly make me much money, but due to the fact that they are not costing me a lot in the way of feed, I will come out better than I would if I had more stock and a big feed bill." Since rainfall is one of the most important factors in growing cultivated crops on cropland and growing good grass for livestock on rangeland, Kent realizes the importance of holding all or the biggest percentage of rain received on the land where it falls. "If all of the rain received could be held on the land where it falls, we still would not have too much moisture," says Kent. He realizes that it would be almost impossible to hold all the water where it falls, and that the next best thing a farmer or rancher can do is to apply and maintain soil and water conservation practices on his land, to conserve all the soil and water possible for its protection and improvement.

Billy Barnes and his family are vacating the Alexander rent house and will move to San Angelo April 1st. Mr. Barnes moved here last May as Humble wholesaler.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shuller went to Tolar Friday to attend the funeral of Mrs. T. T. Curl, 82, sister of the late Mrs. B. F. Jones, and aunt of Mrs. Shuller. On their way home they visited an uncle in Stephenville.

Attending a birthday dinner at Hext, given by Mrs. Mattie Anderson honoring her husband, were several from Eldorado, Mrs. Bob Anderson, Ronnie Kerr and Mrs. Emma Bradshaw.

Treatment For Ticks Suggested By A&M

Sheep and goat raisers can't afford to let their animals become infested with ticks or other costly insects, especially under today's tightened cost-price margin.

Unless treated, however, sheep and goats in many areas of Texas are attacked by these insects which pierce the skin and suck blood. The result is a loss of weight and a weakened condition. In addition, explains Neal M. Randolph, extension entomologist, heavily infested animals are apt to damage their fleeces by rubbing, scratching and biting the wool. Lambs and kids also are seriously affected. Ticks will leave the ewes and attack the tender new-borne.

Randolph says the sheep tick can best be controlled by spraying the animals immediately after shearing. With the animals in pens or runways, high pressure sprayers are particularly effective.

The entomologist recommends a spray of five-tenths percent toxaphene or five-tenths percent DDT mixed with three-hundredths percent lindane or gamma BHC.

Five-tenths per cent chlordane may be used as a spray but is not recommended for dipping. Each treatment gives protection for two to three weeks, he adds.

Milk goats should be treated either with one percent rotenone or one-tenth percent pyrethrins.

STUDY OF JEREMIAH IS WSCS PROJECT

Rev. Doyle Morton, lesson leader in a six-session study of the prophet Jeremiah, presented the first lesson to 24 members of the circles Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist church. He outlined the historical background of the lessons as an opening lesson in the series. Mrs. Luke Thompson opened the meeting with the devotional.

After the study, the Dorcas Society met to elect a president to take the place of Mrs. Maynard Welch who is moving to Big Spring. The group chose Mrs. Glenn Parker as new chairman. Other officers are: Mrs. Sam Bishop, vice chairman; Mrs. Elton McGinnes, sec-treas.; Mrs. James Hudson, study chairman; Mrs. E. G. Donaldson, devotional chairman.

The ten members and one visitor who attended the Dorcas Circle's called meeting honored Mrs. Welch with a surprise going-away shower of handkerchiefs.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Thompson visited recently in Dallas with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hamby and children, their daughter and family.

E. H. Coulter is improving after his recent illness and is able to be in town a short time each day.

EVERY HIGHWAY IS "PASSABLE but DANGEROUS"

Such a warning is not alone for a road under construction or repair. It's any road—it's every road.

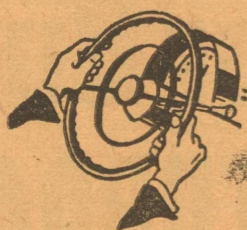

The "open road" is engineered for safety. Its curves, grades, over and under passes, and road markings are all designed for you to drive and live. But every road can be as safe or as dangerous as you and millions of other drivers make it. It's how you drive, how you respect road controls, speed limits, stop signs; how you think when you drive and how you use or misuse the courtesy of the road that determines the degree of safety or danger.

Since the end of the war, rural highway deaths have climbed until they account for three-quarters of the toll in dead and injured. In 1952, 28,200 deaths out of a total of 38,000!

Three of every four accidents occurred in clear weather on dry roads. Eighty percent of vehicles involved in fatal accidents were traveling straight ahead.

These are stark facts which put the terrific highway carnage straight up to the driver behind the wheel. A reckless, lawless attitude makes safe highways dangerous.

Ask yourself, honestly, "Am I a safe, or dangerous driver?"

SLOW DOWN—LIVES ARE IN YOUR HANDS!

Last week it was a great blessing and privilege of the pastor to attend the annual Bible conference at the Tabernacle Baptist Church at Lubbock. Dr. Ben D. Johnson is the successful pastor of this great church and has been since its beginning 21 years ago. Many young men have gone out from this church as preachers of the Gospel. Some have gone to the mission field and others as pastors. It was a blessing to the pastor to go and represent his home church.

The Lord was good to us this past Lord's day and we are thankful for the increase in attendance in both services. We were happy to see visitors in all our services. Psalms 126:3 "The Lord hath done great things for us, whereof we are glad."

On Thursday, March 25, the West Texas Fellowship meeting will be held at the Trinity Baptist Church in Big Spring. You will receive a blessing if you attend this meeting.
