C. C. Membership Drive Under Way This Week

A full scale membership drive by the Schleicher County Chamber of Commerce was launched Monday, with Edwin Jackson heading the committee in charge of soliciting members for the newly-formed organization. A county-wide campaign will be forthcoming, and a full representation by the people of Schleicher County is the aim of this first drive.

The office building located between George Humphrey Motors and James Williams car market on Main street has been rented, repainted, and office equipment procured.

Application for a full time manager are being received, and will be considered in the near future. Present plans call for a manager to be on the job as soon after January 1st as possible.

Any person, who is not contacted by the membership committee, wishing to apply for membership to the Chamber of Commerce, may do so by going to the James Williams car market where Mr. Williams will accept your application. This arrangement will be effective until after the office of the Chamber can be manned with full time personnel.

Post Office Department Urges Early Mailing

Postmaster Waller said today, "Early mailing of all Christmas cards and gifts is the biggest single factor in getting all of the mail delivered before Christmas."

The Postmaster urged special care in preparing gift packages for the mails. Make sure that all addresses are legible and complete.

"If you have any articles of unusual size or bulk, better check with the post office before attempting to mail them," the postmaster warns. The limits on size and weight of packages varies, depending on where you mail your package.

When wrapping gifts for mailing it is always better to use corrugated cartons, especially where there are a number of various sized objects in the shipment. Use plenty of wadded tissue or newspaper for extra protection against shock, and securely wrap each package or carton in heavy paper, and then tie it with strong cord. Be sure to include an EXTRA label with your return address and the recipients address INSIDE the carton or package before it is wrapped.

School Now Closed For Thanksgiving

The local school dismissed yesterday (Wed) afternoon for the Thanksgiving holidays, and pupils and teachers will enjoy a four-day break from classwork. Classes will resume Monday morning, Dec. 2.

Supt. Whitis and Principal Joe Andrews will attend the Texas Teachers Assn meeting in Dallas this week.

Christmas holidays have been announced from December 20 to January 2.

BASKETBALL GAMES GET UNDER WAY

In the girls' game with Mertzton the Eldorado team lost by a score of 61 to 33.

In the game between the boys' teams Mertzton beat the local team by a score of 53-47. In the first quarter the score stood Mertzton 18, Eldorado 8. In every quarter after that the Eldorado team outscored the visitors. Kyle Donaldson scored 15 points and Jimmy Mackey made 17 points in a game described by the coaches as very good considering the early season play.

The next game is scheduled for next Tuesday night and will be played in Mertzton.

Our greatest privilege and obligation is the support of the church. Family ties are strengthened; all of us and the community grows stronger when we worship together. Let's all attend some church. —Charlie Trigg.

Austin.—Legislative machinery is not built for speed. This was demonstrated as Texas lawmakers moved into their third week of work on a bill designed to prevent occupation of schools by federal troops.

A multi-hour filibuster by Sen. Henry B. Gonzales bogged down proceedings in the upper chamber. House members marked time to wait for Senate action. This apparently was to allow the House committee to consider both the Senate and House proposals before reporting. Earlier, both House and Senate committees heard a number of religious and educational leaders speak against the bill. Protestors said, in effect, that the measure would be detrimental to the school system and would encourage violence.

Legislative proponents retorted the witnesses seemed "more interested in cramming social dogma down our throats than in educating our children."

Texans are riled about the tidelands again.

A suit filed by U. S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell the day before he left office seeks to establish the tidelands boundaries of Gulf Coastal states (including Texas) at three miles out.

Texas claims tidelands 10 1/2 miles out by virtue of its 110-year-old annexation agreement with the U. S. A law passed by Congress in 1953 requires the federal government to respect the states' "historic boundaries."

Gov. Price Daniel called on the Legislature to protest to President Eisenhower concerning Brownell's action. Daniel, who co-sponsored the 1953 tidelands bill, read a letter from the President which said, in effect, that he would continue to honor Texas' claim. The House immediately passed a resolution in keeping with the governor's request. Daniel said that Brownell "added insult to injury" by asking in his suit that Texas be required to pay to the federal government money received from leases on tidelands beyond a three mile limit. This would amount to more than $26,000,000 which the state has salted away in the public school fund.

House also passed a resolution asking Congress to call a constitutional convention. Purpose would be to draft amendments limiting the power of the federal government where it infringes on state powers.

Lake Study Promised Governor Daniel promised advocates of free use of rural lakes that they will have their inning.

A number of legislators from rural areas have tried during the special sessions to change the law which limits water in small (200 acre feet or less) farm ponds to livestock and domestic use. Freedom to use the water for irrigation is sought.

Present law requires a special permit from the State Water Board to gain irrigation privileges. Farmers say getting such permits is complicated and too expensive. But spokesmen for cities and

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Bob McReynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Laxson, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Pike, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Peterman, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Martin Jackson and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leland French and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Townsend and family. downstream users vigorously oppose a change. They fear wholesale irrigation would dry up the streams leaving no water for them. Governor Daniel said he would not submit this issue for the special session which "is dragging enough as it is." But he promised a study of the problem with a view, perhaps, to making permits easier to get.

Snows which measured five to six inches fell on Eldorado Saturday night, transforming the town into a fairyland Sunday morning, and making driving difficult for a time. So heavy a snowfall so early in the year is a rarity in this southwest Texas area.

Other towns of the area received snow, Sonora getting seven inches, and Eden a record of 13 inches. Some national recognition came to Eden when at least one radio commentator Sunday afternoon remarked that the town's snowfall was the heaviest in 30 years.

Highway department graders cleared the highways early in the day, though Eldorado's streets remained drifted until later in the morning.

Snowmen blossomed in yards, & many shutterbugs came out to take pictures. A favorite subject was the Schrank residence on the Angelo highway.

While the snow has delayed cotton picking for a still longer time, ranchmen hope that finishing touches have been put on the record drought, which has held the area in its grip in recent years.

Some of the measurements are as follows:

Earl Cathey	6.00
R. D. Johnson	5.00
Clyde Keeney	4.00
Jim O'Harrow	6.00
Elizabeth Powell	2.00
Thompson T-Circle	5.00

In town total for Friday and Saturday reported by the County Agent at 10.00.

COTTON COMING IN AGAIN

Cotton picking is in full swing again after the latest setback due to the snow that fell Saturday. A total of 114 bales were ginned this week bringing the total for the year to 1214 bales.

Farmers have been besieged by bad weather all Fall, but every time the sun comes out they resume work on getting the cotton out. Some estimate that picking will continue until Christmas or later. Most of the braceros are still here and there seems to be enough workers in the county now.

LIONS CLUB MEETS

Ed Meador presided at yesterday's Lions club meeting. Joe Dosssett was speaker, and he was introduced by Russell Heaner.

Judge W. R. Bearce reported a Latin American family in need of clothing and asked anyone wishing to donate items to get in touch with him.

Let's say "Thank you" to Him by filling our churches next Sunday, the last Sunday in the R. I. A. L. program.

We challenge each person that reads this article to call, or invite somebody, at least one other person to go to the church of their choice on December 1st.

We believe that 2000 people in Schleicher county are willing and will try to attend church on Sunday. Do you?

Sincerely,

McAlpine - Williams Nuptials Performed

MRS. HARLAN C. McALPINE

Betty Sue Williams, daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Williams, became the bride of Harlan C. McAlpine Friday evening, November 22 at 7:00 p.m. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McAlpine of Eldorado. Setting for the double ring ceremony was the First Baptist church, with the Rev. Clifford Nelson performing the marriage rites. V. P. O'Harrow of San Angelo, uncle of the bride, gave her in marriage.

Vows were spoken in the candlelight of seven-branched candelabra holding cathedral tapers. Baskets of white mums and garlands of greenery connected the candelabra and pillow candles that outlined the pulpit. Aisle candelabra provided the only other illumination for the pew sections.

For the formal ceremony the bride was beautifully attired in a ballerina length gown of imported French lace over tulle with a scalloped square lace neckline, sprinkled with seed pearls and with a fitted bodice. The soft full skirt had a scalloped hemline. Long lace mittens were fashioned to match the dress. The fingertip-bridal veil was attached to an elegant cap of lace and satin outlined in seed pearls and was made of imported illusion.

Cultured pearl ear screws and satin shoes completed the ensemble.

She carried a crescent bouquet of cream glamelias with antique satin streamers, clusters of pearls, and velvet tubing. The attendants carried crescent bouquets of bronze mums tied with satin ribbon.

Maid of honor was Mrs. E. H. Speir of Lake Jackson, Texas, cousin of the bride, and bridesmaid was Mrs. Billy Whitley of Odessa. Serving the groom as best man was T. J. Bird of San Angelo. Ushers and candle lighters were Billy Whitley, cousin of the bride, and Charlie Law of San Angelo.

Traditional wedding music was rendered by Mrs. Roy Phelps on the organ. Mrs. Gene Capps of Hobbs, N. M., was soloist.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Carr, after which the couple left immediately on a wedding trip to points in the Rio Grande valley and Monterrey, Mexico. They expect to be gone 10 days. Mrs. McAlpine attended the Eldorado schools and graduated in 1949. She received her degree from Baylor University in 1953 and taught school one year at Brookshire, Texas. The bridegroom attended the Eldorado schools and graduated in 1949. He attended San Angelo college and spent four years in the U. S. Navy. He is employed by the State Highway department. The couple will make their home in San Angelo until January when they will move to Lubbock where he will continue work on a degree in engineering at Texas Tech.

Lt. and Mrs. John Nikolauk and son arrived here Sunday. He returned to their home in Waco and she will visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Blaylock through the Thanksgiving week end.

Nitrogen Means More Forage From Small Grain Pasture

College Station.—A topdressing of nitrogen fertilizer on fall-seeded small grain is a good way to add forage for livestock during fall and winter.

William F. Bennett, soils chemist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says that nitrogen fertilizer is generally the main need for topdressing fall-seeded small grains, as there generally is ample moisture to put the nitrogen to work to produce additional plant growth.

The use of the right kind of fertilizer at the right time has provided dividends in most of Texas, he added. To determine the most efficient rate of nitrogen, or any fertilizer soil should be tested.

However, on East Texas sandy soils and on the Gulf Coast Prairie application of about 30-40 pounds of nitrogen per acre in December or January or after each time the small grain forage has been grazed down is recommended when soil moisture is adequate, Bennett said. On the Blackland soils of Central and North Texas application of 30 pounds of nitrogen per acre in January has proved beneficial, and 30 pounds per acre also is recommended in January or early February in the Rolling and High Plains and West Texas.

Food value of the pasture will be increased in addition to increased amounts of forage for grazing if nitrogen is added. Oats, rye, barley and wheat contain scarce food nutrients not found in many winter rations. These small grain pastures generally contain as much as 20% protein at their peak grazing stage, he continued.

Brush Control On Fence Rows A Good Winter Farm Job

College Station.—Worthless trees and brush along fence rows rob crops of valuable moisture and soil nutrients resulting in loss of production and lower profits for the farmer, warns G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist.

Trees have wide spreading roots that may reach out 100 feet from the tree trunk, says Hoffman. These sapping roots rob moisture from crops and during a dry year can reduce yield on a 50 to 100-foot wide band around the field. During a wet year the damage is not so great because there is usually enough moisture for all plants.

Winter is a good time to chemically treat fence row brush, it is pointed out by the specialist. Usually this is a slack season for labor, leaves are shed from the trees and weeds are dead, and it is possible to get closer to the tree, thus a better job can be done. Too, there are few susceptible broad-leaf plants growing at this time of the year which might be damaged by the chemical.

Hoffman says that an ax, a hand-sprayer, 2, 4, 5, T chemical and diesel oil are all the equipment and materials needed to kill fence row brush.

Mix one pound of the 2, 4, 5-T liquid chemical in six gallons of diesel oil and pour the chemical solution in the handsprayer. On trees less than five inches in diameter apply the solution to the lower 12 inches of the tree trunk allowing it to run down the bark channels to the crown. Chemical solution around the crown prevents resprouting.

On trees more than five inches in diameter, a frill should be made near the ground line with the ax. Apply enough solution in the frill to make it bubble out of the cuts. If the tree is cut off, apply the solution to the freshly cut stump allowing it to run down to the crown.

A thorough application of the chemical solution is necessary for best results, advises Hoffman. But don't apply the solution during a high wind, he warns. The cost of killing a five inch tree is about two cents.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley McAlpine and daughter of Midland and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crider of Iraan were over night guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McAlpine last week. They attended the Williams-McAlpine wedding.

Dec. Plentiful Foods Include Holiday Items

College Station.—Plenty of most of the traditional holiday foods insure homemakers that there will be no shortages when their shopping begins for the foods normally used during the holiday season.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture's December plentiful foods list for the Southwest shows broiling and frying chickens as feature items, while turkey and pork are other protein suggestions. Supplies are large on these main course favorites.

The old favorite, cranberries, will be abundant in December as will apples and winter pears. Adequate supplies of oranges and grapefruit should also be available, says the report issued by John J. Slaughter, southwest food distribution chief.

December plentiful vegetables include peas, canned and frozen, and dry blackeye peas. Pinto beans, too, are on the list.

Dates, almonds, and filberts complete the December plentiful listings.

One Of Seven Texans Over 65 Years Of Age

College Station.—As the number of older persons in the population increases, the needs of the "senior citizens" in towns and in rural communities are of growing interest, says Reagan Brown, extension rural sociologist.

Texas now has one half million persons over 65 years of age. This represents 1 out of 7 or about 7% of the total population. In rural areas, the percentage is ever higher, Brown says.

Research shows that older folks want to live as independently as possible. They prefer to live in familiar surroundings near their friends and associates. They prefer to be near married children or grandchildren but not to live with them. Elderly persons like to be where they can watch adults work and children play, rather than being with other aged people.

Most older farm people like rural surroundings with open spaces, according to Brown, a place for animals, a chance to watch gardens or crops grow. But they don't want to be isolated. They want to be able to walk or drive, to go shopping, to go to church or other meetings, see friends and relatives, have help if needed and be outdoors when weather permits.

They want a house with various safety features—a 1-floor plan with few steps to the outside. They favor a house safe from fire and falls, with no slippery floors, no loose or sliding rugs, safe bathtubs, showers with convenient handholds, faucets easy to reach and use, and rubber mats to prevent slipping. Older people desire plenty of heat in winter, automatically regulated; adequate lighting, windows that open and shut easily and a place for daytime naps.

Above all, older persons want to feel needed and carry on a useful, pleasant day to day schedule of activity, says Brown.

Deer Hides Requested By T-B Hospital Workers

San Antonio.—Mr. Hunter, when you bag that buck, tag the hide for a TB patient!

That is the word from volunteers who work in the state tuberculosis hospitals and who will have the hides tanned into buckskin for use in occupational therapy.

Joseph Hennessy of San Antonio, chairman of the State Volunteer Council for the TB Hospitals, says the hides should be salted, drained, tied and turned over to the motor freight lines for shipment to the Austin Taxidermist Studio, 2708 Fredericksburg Road, Austin, where the owner, L. M. Rathbone, will handle them for consignment to the tannery.

The salt is necessary to help the drainage and to prevent spoilage, Rathbone says. The tag should read "for TB patients", so the motor freight lines can haul them without charge. The volunteers will take it from there.

"That buckskin can mean a lot to a guy in the TB hospital who won't be going hunting for some time to come," Hennessy says.

The deer hide collection has the endorsement of the Game and Fish commission and the Sportsmen's Clubs of Texas. Last year, Air Force Reserve members took training mission time to fly the hides to the California tannery. It is hoped they will again be able to provide this service, Hennessy said.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGinnes visited their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McGinnes in Crosbyton recently. They left Saturday and returned the first part of the week.

Winterizing The Home Will Cut Fuel Bills

College Station.—With winter weather already here and more just around the corner, many homeowners are making plans to winterize their homes for increased winter comfort and economy.

A good place to start this job is with the doors and windows, advises W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer. Many windows and doors fit loosely but can be tightened easily with weather stripping.

Storm sashes can be very helpful in reducing heat-loss from the house. In northern areas, addition of storm windows, doors and weather stripping can reduce the fuel bill considerably, tests have shown.

Proper insulation in the unheated attic will also cut fuel bills, says Allen. Place the insulation between the attic floor joists. This helps reduce heat loss from the rooms below. With this insulation there should be ventilation in the attic, which means vents should be placed in the gable ends of the house, under the eaves or installed in the roof. There should be about four square feet of clear openings for each 1,000 square feet of attic floor, suggests the engineer.

Storm doors, storm windows and attic insulation not only cut heat loss and save fuel but they also reduce drafts, according to Allen. This means a more uniform heating system throughout the house. Next summer the insulation in the attic will help keep the house cooler, too.

Girl Scout Drive Starts With a Bang

The Girl Scout drive got under way under direction of Eldon Calk, chairman. He is being assisted by 30 women and several business houses and individuals have already made generous contributions.

The membership of the Girl Scouts here totals 117 girls and those connected with the finance drive stress the need for funds to carry on this important work. They urge every individual to give to this worthy cause.

I would like to take this opportunity to say "Thank you" to the people of Schleicher county for your part in making it possible for me to be your delegate to the convention of the National Council of Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. which met in Philadelphia, Penn., November 11 through the 15th. A portion of what you give to our local finance drive, together with the nine other contributing counties in the Frontier Council, will go toward paying the expenses of the three delegates, Miss Gerene Stansberry, executive director; Mrs. W. E. Bevins of San Angelo, and myself. It was indeed a pleasure and an honor to represent you at this convention.

Business requiring official action by the National Council was as follows:

1. Revision of the constitution.
2. Sustaining memberships.
3. Proposal to pay expenses of members to National committee meetings out of national funds instead of local councils (voted down due to the fact that there is not enough money in national budget).
4. Council Coverage Plan (ultimate goal to take Scouting to all girls, no matter where they live).
5. Absentee voting.
6. To elect officers and the National Board of Directors.

The 3,000 delegates attending the national convention elected a slate of officers and board of directors to head our Girl Scout movement for the next three years (all volunteer members) and to follow the line of direction given them by the national council. The administrative aspects of this work are carried by a national staff of professional workers. Our local professional workers serve as co-workers of the volunteers. They are employed to guide and advise councils in their administrative work. And so the cycle is completed to revolve around the individual girl.

Needless to say the most important adult in the scout organization is the adult leader. On her rests the responsibility of carrying out a program to help girls develop as happy, resourceful individuals, willing to share their abilities as citizens in their homes, their communities, their country, and the world. This program provides a wide range of activities developed around the interests and needs of girls, and offers opportunities for fun, friendship, service, and daily practice in living the Girl Scout Promise and Laws. —Mrs. Jerroll Sanders.

D. A. R. Meeting Held Last Week

The November meeting of the El Dorado Chapter D. A. R., was held last Thursday afternoon in the club room of the Memorial building, with Mrs. J. B. Montgomery, Mrs. L. M. Hoover and Miss John Alexander as hostesses.

For decorations, items appropriate to Thanksgiving were used. On the wall above a lace covered table, were panels depicting scenes of the first Thanksgiving in America. On the table were miniature turkeys and colonial figurines. Autumn leaves, berries, pine cones and small turkeys made up the center piece.

Mrs. V. G. Tisdale, the chaplain, opened the chapter in the prescribed form, and spoke briefly on Thanksgiving and Religion-In-America week. Miss John Alexander conducted a short drill on the proper method of saluting the flag, and called attention to the fact that the salute should never be given with a gloved hand.

Mrs. John Luedeck stated that her committee would send a box of used clothing in December, to the Kate Duncan Smith School (one of the D. A. R. owned and operated schools for underprivileged children in the mountain regions of America), and asked that the garments be brought to her home. Hats as well as clothing are acceptable, as this school is for adults as well as children. Here, they receive training in home making and better community life, and the men are taught different kinds of trades, such as farming, carpentering and many others.

Mrs. Meador read the message of the President General, after which Mrs. J. B. Montgomery made her national defense report. She read from the National Defense Bulletin, several articles pertaining to matters that Americans should be informed on that concern our national security. She made special reference to an article by J. Edgar Hoover which was recently published in the American Legion Magazine.

The subject of the program was Great Churches in America, with Mrs. Luke Thompson as leader and Mrs. Russell R. Heaner as guest speaker. Mrs. Heaner, wife of the pastor of the Methodist Church, was, before her marriage, a missionary to India. She made a very interesting and informing talk on "American Churches of the Past and Present." She stated that today 62% of the population of the United States is Christian, and that there are now in America, 255 different sects and denominations.

The hostesses served refreshments of pumpkin pie and coffee to fourteen members and one guest—Mrs. Heaner.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

Foods and Nutrition specialists of the Extension Service of the Texas A&M College system have done a good job on collecting, testing and compiling the following recipes and directions for cooking game meat. If your hunter comes in with "a little meat for you to take care of," refer to this material; it will make the cooking and eating a much more enjoyable process.

Cooking Game Meat

Wild game should be cooked according to the type of cut and age of the animal, according to extension foods and nutrition specialists. Standard methods of cooking beef and lamb are successful for venison and antelope.

For tender cuts, such as loin and shoulder, use dry heat. Season the meat with salt and pepper and place on a rack in an uncovered pan, fat side up. Do not add water and do not cover. Extra fat, such as bacon, may be added to venison or elk. Roast in a slow oven, 300 to 360 F., allowing 25 to 30 minutes per pound. If the meat is frozen, a longer time will be needed for cooking.

When broiling game meat, first heat the broiling pan until it is sizzling hot. Brown both sides of the meat, turning only once. Season when ready to turn. For thick steaks or chops, reduce heat after browning to finish cooking. Insert a rack under the meat to prevent over-cooking the meat next to the pan.

Steaks, chops, or ground meat patties may be broiled on a hot, greased broiler rack about three inches from the heat. If the meat is very lean, brush with fat. When it is brown enough, season and turn. Reduce the heat and cook until done. Serve on a hot platter.

Less tender cuts, such as flank, round, rump, or shortribs, can be made tasty by braising. The first step by this method is to brown the meat slowly on all sides in a heavy utensil. Then season with salt, pepper, herbs, spices, or vegetables. Add a little liquid in the form of water, soup stock, vegetable juice, or sour cream. Cover closely and cook at a low temperature until tender. Cooking it may be done on top of the range or in a slow oven at not over 300 F.

Proper seasoning for wild game is important, especially if the "gamey" taste of meat is not relished. Bay leaves, thyme, marjoram, savory, parsley, chives, green pepper, celery and onion tops, garlic, sage, cloves, allspice, tomatoes, ketchup, fresh dill leaves, sliced oranges, apples, and Worcestershire sauce are a few suggestions. Basting wild game with pickle juice, tomato juice, orange, lemon or grapefruit juice, or sour cream enhances its flavor.

Some food experts contend the wild flavor of game should be retained because of the unusual flavor, but if the "gamey" flavor is objectionable, bake or roast the game with sliced onions, quartered apples, and celery; discard these before serving.

Some folks believe wild duck should be served rare but most Texans prefer it well done. If rare duck is preferred, shorten the cooking time.

It is especially important to marinate venison cuts before broiling.

Venison Marinade

Combine 1 part vinegar or lemon juice with three parts salad oil. Season with spices as dill seed, celery seed, cloves, thyme, bay leaves, sliced onions, garlic, celery leaves. Place the meat in a large bowl and pour the marinade over it. Place in refrigerator 3 to 4 hours for small cuts, 10 to 12 hours for large cuts.

If you will notice, this marinade contains vinegar or lemon juice, either of which tenderizes meat. The spices, onions, garlic and celery leaves improve the flavor of any meats and game meats especially.

Venison is a rather dry meat and is usually improved by the addition of suet or butter when roasting, broiling or frying. The characteristic venison flavor is concentrated largely in the fat and the removal of the bulk of the fat will make it less "gamey."

The loin will give the best roasts or steaks (sirloin or porterhouse). The chuck and rump are good for pot roasts and ground meat. The round will make good steaks unless the animal is particularly tough and then it may be used as swiss steaks or ground up. If the leg is small it may be roasted as in one piece in the manner of a leg of lamb. The shank, neck, flank and spareribs can be best used for soups, stews, and ground meat. The neck will be tender if the tendons are removed and will make a good roast. It is all too good to waste. Venison is one of the choicest of wild meats and what objectional qualities are encountered in its use are almost always the result of carelessness before it reaches the cooking stage.

Roast Venison

Wipe clean and season with salt and pepper. Place on rack in a pan with fat side up. Do not cover or add water. Strips of bacon or beef suet can be laid across the top to baste the venison as it roasts. Roast in slow (330 to 325 F) oven 20 to 25 minutes per pound.

Broiled Venison

Use tender cuts from the loin or leg, about 1/2 to 3/4-inch thick. Brush with oil and place on preheated broiler rack, 2 or 3 inches below gas flame. Broil 7 to 10 minutes, turning without piercing meat, to brown both sides. Season with salt and pepper.

Venison Meat Loaf

1 pound ground venison
1/2 pound ground pork
1 egg
1/2 cup dried bread crumbs
1 cup milk
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 tablespoon chopped onion.
Beat the egg, add milk and bread crumbs. Mix thoroughly with the meat and seasoning. Put in a greased pan and bake in medium oven (350 F) for 1 hour. Tomato and green pepper may be added if additional seasoning is desired. The meat loaf may be made with all venison, but the fat of the pork makes a more tender loaf.

Venison Swiss Steak

1 1/2 pounds round steak
3 large onions
1 medium stalk celery
1 cup tomatoes
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper.
Steak should be about 1 1/2 inches thick. Dredge with flour and season with salt and pepper, then brown in fat. When brown on both sides, add the other ingredients. Cover tightly and cook in medium oven 350 F. or over low flame on top of the stove until tender, (about 1 1/4 hours). Remove meat to platter and make a gravy from drippings in the pan. Serve with baked potatoes.

NOTICE

In the past the traffic in and around the school has been good, except for some few who fail to heed the warnings of the teachers who are escorting the small children across the highways. Anytime the children and teachers are crossing in the walk-ways, they have the right-of-way. Some people fail to grant this right-of-way and disregard all precautions to traffic regulations around the school zones.

Double parking and sometimes three-abreast in bad weather is very dangerous; because the highway is blocked except to one-way traffic. In case a car is hit or sideswiped, the car parked improperly is at fault. There have been some few cases of speeding and reckless driving around the school.

The Sheriff's department has been notified of these conditions around the school. We will take steps to correct them and would appreciate the cooperation of the public in this matter. We will try to have someone on duty around the school as much as possible.

Grace for Thanksgiving Day

We thank Thee, Father, for Thy love
That gathers us in sweet accord
To count our blessings and enjoy
The bounty of our gracious Lord.

We see our harvest-mellow land
Round out another peaceful year,
Assuring all men, everywhere,
Those joys of life that are more dear
Than daily bread: home, love, work, friends;
The blessed right to speak and pray
As each one wills. God keep us strong
To follow on our chosen way!

Help us to look beyond the feast
To sharing with our fellowmen
All these Thy boundless gifts. And last,
Be Thou our Unseen Guest.

Amen.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

Snow the past week was the "clinger" for putting an end to the most severe drouth in history recorded for Schleicher county.

Official recordings on the snow, ice, sleet, and rain gauge located on the court house lawn records between 9-10 inches of sleet and snow falling at two different intervals. It is wet in Schleicher county with adequate surface and sub-soil moisture at present, with the exception in many instances of bare "spots."

Regardless of what falls between now and spring, ranchers and farmers should experience a good spring. If normal rainfall comes in spring, a good year should be experienced by all.

Some general precautions which developed from studies in West Texas that may be used by farmers to help meet the risks caused by rainfall variations to keep business on a more stable basis so it will be less subject to unexpected crop failures and financial reverses should be incorporated in the overall farm plan.

1. Plan ahead for several years rather than from year to year. Expect 50-64% of the years to be below the county average rainfall of 20.69. Accumulate cash and feed reserves.
2. Plant drouth-resistant varieties of crops and foliage.
3. Use tillage practices that reduce run-off, conserve moisture and prevent wind and water erosion.
4. Maintain a flexible system in terms of cost, time of planting and enterprises. Shift directions with changing moisture conditions without extreme sacrifices in profit.
5. Carry adequate insurance for protection against losses and to strengthen credit standing.
6. Diversify as much as possible the farming system.
7. Develop an irrigation system where practical, for part or all of the farm.

Cottonseed of good quality and germination will probably be scarce next year because of weather conditions which have existed since early fall. The conditions are bad in Texas but are even worse in the eastern part of the cotton belt.

Housewives who want to singe poultry without creating a mess in the kitchen or yard should remember the rubbing alcohol. Place two teaspoonsful of alcohol in a discarded saucer or small bowl, and light a match. The alcohol will burn with a hot blue flame, ideal for singeing.

What about that worthless mesquite and other brush in the fence row? Winter is the best time to kill this robber which robs crops of valuable moisture and soil nutrients, 50-100 feet from the trunk.

Mix one pound of 2, 4, 5-t liquid chemical in six gallons of diesel oil and pour a sufficient amount to wet the tree trunk 12 inches up around the base, allowing the chemical to run down to the crown. Large trees may be frilled around the base and the chemical poured in the frills.

The cost of killing a large tree is about two cents.

If grain sorghum is selling for $2.00 per 100 pounds it would be profitable to feed a relatively heavy grain ration to calves and yearlings with a favorable margin of two cents between the price of feeders and the price of slaughter cattle.

Grain sorghum at $1.50 per 100 pounds, cattle feeding is profitable at 1 cent margin. For calves and two cents for yearlings. Almost without exception grain sorghum produced in Schleicher county should be fed to calves, lambs, or pigs.

Storage facilities are needed badly, to feed and store in years of plenty on most farms.

Let us stop and give thanks for the family custom of observing Thanksgiving; for the bountiful land; for the table overloaded with delicious food and for the great country of ours, where the freedoms are enjoyed by all rather than by just a few. And if we are truly grateful, let us always remain humble.

To know how is good, to be able to do it better, but to help others to do is best.

W. M. U. MEETS AT CHURCH

The WMU met at the First Baptist church, at 3:00 p. m. Monday with thirty members present. After the business meeting, Mrs. Archie Mittel led the missionary program on the subject of "Three Knocks in the Night." She was assisted by Mrs. Bill Rountree, Mrs. S. D. Maxfield, Mrs. J. H. Mace and Mrs. Morris Whitten.

At the end of the program a surprise baby shower was given in honor of Mrs. D. C. DuBose. Refreshments of punch, coffee, and cake carried out the pink and blue theme.

WEDNESDAY CLUB

Mrs. Joe Christian was hostess to the Wednesday club in her home recently. There were three tables of members and one guest, Mrs. L. A. Phillips, present.

Mrs. Phillips won high and Mrs. A. A. Clark won bingo. Refreshments of pie and coffee were served.

Glenn Biggs is in New York this week on business for the Abilene Chamber of Commerce. He is chairman of the industrial committee for the Abilene organization.

Mrs. Duard Archer of Sonora attended the D. A. R. meeting here recently. She also visited her mother, Mrs. V. G. Tisdale before returning home.

Young man with faith in his future

7 pounds, 8 ounces of Sacred Trust

If you have youngsters of your own, then this picture must call up wonderful memories. How happy, how proud you were of the new baby. Proud, happy, and grateful, too. For no one had to tell either of you that your child was a sacred trust . . . that his or her happiness depended in large measure upon the way you measured up as a parent.

Today, you know better than ever how true that is.

It's you the children look to for all things . . . for love, for learning, for fun . . . and, above all, for the good example to follow in life.

That's quite a responsibility. But, thanks to God, not a lonely one. For God Who blessed you with children, knows you need His constant help to raise them wisely —and that help is yours for the asking. Worship together, at your Church or Synagogue, every week.
