32nd Mias Amigas Meet Gets Under Way Today

A good crowd of members and friends is expected to attend the 32nd annual meeting of Mias Amigas club, which gets under way today, Thursday, at 9:00 o'clock with ringing of the old school bell on the court house lawn.

The club is composed of people who attended the Eldorado schools prior to 1920.

Other events on the agenda for today include business meeting at 10:00 o'clock, luncheon at 12:00 noon, a tea from 4:00 to 5:00 in the afternoon at the Hill residence with Misses Miltia and Katherine Hill as hostesses, a sandwich supper at 7:00 p.m., and an evening program at 8:00, directed by Mrs. Lula Mae Evans Smith.

The meeting will close tomorrow morning with coffee at 9:00 at Mrs. Ida C. Neill's home, and closing business session at 10:00.

Invitations to the meeting were sent out some time ago.

Antique Auto Club Has Outing Sunday

Not since the early days had the streets of Eldorado seen so many antique automobiles as last Sunday morning, when members of the San Angelo club passed through here on their way to the Sonora Caverns.

The cars were strung out along the highway and came through beginning at about 9:00 in the morning. E. H. Topliffe joined them, towing the chassis unit of the 1917 Maxwell he is restoring.

Bernard Carr went to the Caverns Sunday and took pictures of most of the vintage vehicles.

Barbecue was served at the Caverns at noon by Orland Harris, after which the club members toured the Caverns before starting back later in the day.

Most of the drivers paused here in Eldorado with their vintage vehicles on the way down, where they were object of much inspection and comment.

Commissioners Let Contract For New Road

In a special meeting June 18, the Commissioners Court of Schleicher county accepted the low bid from Damon Davis for paving the road from the Reynolds road to the Northern Natural Gas Plant. Davis bid 30c per square yard for priming and two applications of asphalt and rock. His bid was accepted provided he complete his obligation by August 1.

Other bids were received from E. W. Wilson Jr. and Reece Albert, both of San Angelo.

At the same meeting, the Court ordered that the Home Demonstration agent be allowed $5 per night for time spent out of the county while attending to Extension Service business.

News of the Sick

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Huckaby have been in Dallas this week where she was scheduled to undergo eye surgery Monday.

Mrs. Sam McGinnes and one of her grandsons, Wayne McGinnes, have the mumps this week. Another grandson, Jimmy McGinnes, recovered from the mumps last week.

Others with mumps include Ken Peters, Sherry and Jackie Lyn Yates, Kay Sanders, Billy Dock Hubble, and Kirk Jones.

Mrs. Helen Blakeway returned last week from a second stay in the Shannon hospital.

The Rodney Hammond family returned Tuesday night from Iowa where they visited relatives. They were delayed in Iowa where their 10-month-old son, Steve, spent two weeks in a hospital with pneumonia. Steve is reported making satisfactory progress at the present time, here at home.

Mrs. Fenna Whitten returned Friday from a stay in the Clinic-Hospital in San Angelo.

Ernest C. Hill is able to be down at the Eldorado Hardware store after his recent stay in the Sonora hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin R. Watts are continuing convalescence in Shannon hospital from injuries they received in a recent car accident. They have lived here in Eldorado for the past few months.

Mrs. Charles Wimer may come home any day now from Shannon hospital where she has been having back treatment, and undergoing other tests.

Post Script

The time is drawing near; two weeks from this Saturday is the date for the county bond election to provide funds for right-of-way and fencing for the new highway from Eldorado to the Tom Green county line.

Ballots have been printed and are now in the County Clerk's office where absentee balloting is now available. So, in the event your summer vacation is going to include Saturday, July 14th, you may vote absentee beforehand.

Voting in bond issues is limited to qualified tax-paying voters—those who have property in the county and have rendered same for taxation. The authorities rule that the word "property" here means any kind of property—real or personal, and that if a man owned nothing but an old car or truck, and it was on the tax roll, then that person is a qualified property owner and entitled to vote.

Jack Brown, San Angelo investment counselor, was here two weeks ago when the Commissioner Court was discussing ways and means of financing this right-of-way job. He advised that the most economical method was by bond issue, in view of the excellent financial set-up which Schleicher enjoys.

E. W. (Rusty) Gibson moved a house in from Christoval and has had it placed on lots which he recently purchased from Wm. Cameron & Co. A crew is now at work adding a number of rooms to the structure, which when completed will be a 4-bedroom house. The lots which he bought join Glenn Parker's.

Gibson operates the Southwestern Fence Company and does contract work over a wide territory. The Cameron company which sold him the lots, have the contract for rebuilding the house.

People moving: Homer McClure, new in Eldorado, is living in a Roy Andrews rent house.

Don Hughes has moved to the Neill house.

The City Hall has acquired a new 3 by 5 foot flag, which will be flown on special days.

Bill Oglesby was in our shop last week with a large cucumber which C. C. Henderson grew at Buchanan Dam.

The cucumber weighed 2 3/4 pounds, was 11 inches long, and measured 11 inches around.

With the Fourth of July coming up, next week . . . American colonists were simply taking a page out of English history when they declared their independence on July 4, 1776.

Many of the ideas contained in the Declaration of Independence had been used by the English to justify their own revolution of 1688, explains World Book Encyclopedia.

"The Glorious Revolution," as the English called it, sent James II fleeing to France and brought to the throne William and Mary. It also resulted in a bill of rights that reads suspiciously like the forerunner of the American Declaration.

The "self-evident truths" and "unalienable rights" noted in the Declaration, for example, recall the "true, ancient, and indubitable rights" of the English document. Both complained about taxes, although for different reasons, and condemned the maintenance of a standing army.

While the Americans studied their history books, however, the British ignored the lesson—with the result that another glorious revolution rocked Great Britain and a new nation was born.

The forerunner of Uncle Sam was Brother Jonathan. During the Revolutionary War any patriotic American was called Brother Jonathan, after Jonathan Trumbull, an ardent patriot and governor of Connecticut. Later the name was used to refer to the nation as a whole.

Rabid Skunk Killed; Warning Pointed Out

A rabid skunk was discovered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Joiner early last Thursday morning. Its peculiar activities were observed as it was trying to get into a chicken pen.

Pat Joiner killed the animal with a shot gun and called Sheriff Edmiston. The head could not be sent to Austin for testing since it was blown to pieces from the shot, but those at the scene are convinced that the animal was rabid.

It is that time of the year again and everyone is cautioned to be on the watch for sick and strange acting animals.

Two rabies cases were reported in Coke county last week.

Hights At Home Here Following Wedding

In a home ceremony June 23 at 6:00 p.m., Linda Nixon Bishop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hanson Nixon, was married to Hubert Coy Hight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Hight of Eldorado.

The double ring ceremony was held in the home of the bride's parents, with Bro. Don Hughes officiating.

Miss Maudie Mitchell was maid of honor, and Eddy Etheredge was best man.

The bride was dressed in a blue street-length dress with scoop neck, with lace trim. She wore white accessories and white corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held, with the bride's chosen colors of blue and white carried out. The table was laid with lace cloth over blue background with centerpiece of flowers. The wedding cake, two hearts joined together, was white with silver bead decorations, and was served by Mrs. E. H. Nixon, Jr., sister-in-law of the bride, and punch was served by a sister, Mrs. Bob LaComb for Rankin.

The couple left for a short wedding trip, and are at home here in Eldorado where both are employed.

Out of town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Daniels of San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. Bob LaComb and girls of Rankin, and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Boatwright of Coleman.

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Miller of Medina, Texas, announce the marriage of their daughter, Ann, to Willie E. Luedecke of Eldorado.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. I. L. Whetsell on June 11, 1962, at the Park Heights Baptist parsonage in San Angelo.

The couple are now residing at 427 Koberlin in San Angelo.

Willie is a graduate of Eldorado High school and attended San Angelo College for two years.

JAMIE DOCKAL SUFFERS BROKEN NECK IN KANSAS

Jamie Dockal, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dockal of Eldorado, suffered a broken neck when he dived into shallow water while swimming in a river in Kansas, a few days ago.

Jamie and a friend, Roger Thurman, were in Kansas where they are employed in the wheat harvest. He was taken to the Clay Center Hospital at Clay Center, Kansas, where he is recovering. His right arm is reported practically paralyzed, but seems to be recovering.

ed the song and made it popular throughout the colonies, and played it as the British left after the surrender at Yorktown.

The Gospel Meeting is continuing each night this week at the West Side Church of Christ, with final services set for this Sunday, July 1st.

Ralph D. Gage of Fort Smith, Ark., is evangelist and last week he conducted a singing school. Services are being held each night at 8:00.

The congregation will have a dinner Sunday at noon at the Memorial Building.

Firemen Out Monday

Firemen were called out late Monday afternoon to two grass fires in the county.

The first alarm sounded while a hard shower was peppering down here in town, and it caused a number of townspeople to look around thinking a twister might be on the way in. The alarm was to the Dr. Glass place in Huldale, next to Curtis Stockton's.

A while later a second alarm sounded to the Adams and Preston places in the west part of the county. About 1½ sections were burned before the blaze was brought under control.

Both grass fires were believed started by lightning.

Most Businesses To Close On The Fourth Of July

Most businesses will be closed this coming Wednesday, the 4th of July, here in Eldorado.

A few cafes and service stations may remain open, but in general the town will be closed.

With the Fourth coming in the middle of the week this year, there will not be as much traveling done as when it comes near a week end.

There will be a few family outings, picnics, short trips to lakes, and maybe to Brady and Christoval.

Red Sox Hold Leading Spot As League Enters 2nd Half

Thursday, June 21

The Red Sox extended their winning streak to five games Thursday night as they downed the slumping Tigers 3 to 1 in a very close game. The Tigers have lost their last four games.

The score was tied after six full innings of play. With two men on base Mickey Pennington slammed a hard drive over the left fielder's head. That drove in the two runs.

The Red Sox held off the Tigers in the bottom of the seventh to win the game.

Buff Whitten and Johnny Mayo were the winning pitchers while Gary Derrick, Bill Oglesby, and Lonnie Gibson were the losing pitchers for the Tigers.

Friday, June 22

The White Sox crushed the Christoval Cougars Friday night by a score of 15 to 9.

With this victory the White Sox moved into second place.

Ricky Menchaca, Felix Alcala, and Thomas Reed pitched for the Cougars while Pinky Dempsey and Stan Love pitched for the White Sox.

Saturday, June 23

The White Sox and the Red Sox defeated the White Sox and the Cougars 13 to 8 Saturday night in the all-star game.

The five Red Tiger pitchers walked 8 men while the White Cougar pitchers walked 11 men.

Monday, June 25

Johnny Mayo's second home run of the year, with one man aboard, enabled the Red Sox to squeeze by the surging White Sox 14 to 13 Monday night. Mickey Pennington was on base when Mayo sent the ball sailing out of the ball park over the left field fence.

The White Sox took the lead in the bottom of the 3rd but were not able to keep it away from the charging Red Sox.

Buff Whitten was the key man in the Red Sox attack with three hits.

James Hight and Johnny Mayo pitched for the Red Sox and Pinky Dempsey and Mike Hale pitched for the White Sox.

Tuesday, June 26

The Tuesday night game was rained out.

John Sidney Williams
16 Years In Gov't Work

John Sidney Williams of Corpus Christi, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Williams of Eldorado, recently observed his first year with ARADMAC, and 16 years of Federal Service, which includes a little over two years of active military service. Williams has worked for many years in the personnel field during his civil service career.

As chief of Employee Utilization Branch, Williams is responsible for employee recruitment for ARADMAC. He held this same position for over three years, just prior to joining ARADMAC, at Harlingen Air Force Base.

Born and reared in Eldorado, Williams entered military service upon graduation from high school. He and his wife, Mozelle, reside at 4529 Lamont in Corpus Christi with their daughters Jacquelyn, age 14, and Avan, age 10.

Frank O'Banion spent from Monday until Thursday of this week at the Royal Ambassador camp at the Baptist Encampment on Lake Brownwood, where he served as pianist.

The Jack Halbert Jr. family have returned home after a vacation in Colorado.

July 4th Document Reflects Basic American Principle

What do we mean when we say that in the United States we have a "government of law" and not a "government of men"? Basically we mean that we have certain individual rights, guaranteed by our federal and state constitutions and laws, which may not be denied by any governing body.

The early American colonists had their fill of government by men, and the Declaration of Independence, signed 186 years ago, set out their complaints against that type of government and revealed their belief in a principle which we now accept as basic to our American way of life.

The indictments set out in the document against King George III of Great Britain charged him with numerous violations of that principle. Among the complaints enumerated are the following:

"He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people."

"He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent for laws for establishing judiciary powers."

"He has made judges dependent upon his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries."

"He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good."

"He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation: For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury; For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offences; For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments; For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever."

Our forefathers who subscribed to the principles of the Declaration of Independence were willing to fight for their beliefs. The Revolutionary War followed, dragging through weary years of suffering and suspense. Each of us takes pride in their eventual triumph over gigantic obstacles.

In 1787, when the framers of our Constitution met at Independence Hall in Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence had been signed 11 years previously, they set to work to create a system of checks and balances in government which was to perpetuate the fundamental theory mentioned in the preamble of the earlier document:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

"That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

Some five years later, the first ten amendments to our Constitution were adopted at one time, specifically detailing various basic civil rights stemming from the underlying theory of the Declaration of Independence.

Our courts day by day guard these rights for us.

Austin.—Texas has something to brag about: The best traffic safety record in Texas history.

The National Safety Council grades all states on traffic safety. Of a possible 100 points, Texas got 84 for its efforts to solve traffic deaths and injury during 1961. A big share came from the second lowest traffic death toll since 1949—only 2,314 killed on the highways in 1961. California had the best score with 86. Michigan was second with 85. Texas tied with Illinois and Ohio for third place among the 'big traffic' states.

Gov. Price Daniel said that holding down the death rate despite steadily increasing traffic made a real record—fewer deaths per 100,000 miles traveled than ever before.

New Industry

Every Texas city is looking for new industry. But they aren't alone. Every state has some sort of industry-attracting program. In May, Texas tied with Illinois for fourth place in the number of new industries opened for business. Each had 30. New York's 49, California's 35 and Pennsylvania 32 led Texas.

Some states allow public supported bond issues to finance plant buildings. The Texas Industrial Commission thinks this should be done by private finance, but it asked the Texas Research League to make a study to see which approach is best.

The Commission is running ads this month in Business Week, Wall Street Journal, Dun's Review and American Banker magazines, inviting industry to look at Texas for new plant sites.

Carla's Cost

Hurricane Carla, which hit Texas last September, struck a delayed blow this week. After insurance companies paid more than $110,000,000 in insurance claims, the State Board of Insurance ran up the statistics in setting new rates for extended coverage insurance—which includes windstorm damage. The result, a 27 per cent increase in dwelling rates in the seacoast territory, and a 5.3 per cent increase in the two inland territories.

"Seacoast territory" comprises all counties on the Gulf of Mexico plus a tier of counties adjoining them. In those counties, where $100 worth of extended coverage insurance cost 35 cents this year—it will cost 44 cents after July 1. This is just the dwelling rate. There are dozens of other variations in the complicated business of setting insurance rates.

But it's all based on statistics. When insurance companies have the biggest losses in history in 1961, it raises rates for a number of years to even things out.

Here To Stay

From the way Texas Democratic nominees for the state Senate are thinking now—the new sales tax is here to stay. There likely will be some modifications—but no chance of repeal, and little chance of making it one per cent on everything instead of two per cent of most things. That is the result of a news paper survey of Democratic nominees for the Senate.

A clear majority—17 of the 31—felt that the sales tax would not be repealed. Only one among the 17 said he would vote to repeal it. But several feel there should be some changes made. Major item suggested was to do something to ease the strain on small vendors.

Interpretations of the law are that the merchant can't collect the tax on sales of less than 25 cents, but must pay the tax to the state on those sales as a part of his gross sales. Theory was that collecting more than two per cent on sales of 25 cents and more would even things out. But it hasn't worked that way, particularly among people like restaurants where they sell a lot of coffee, vending machines, newsboys and others.

There may well be some changes made in this.

Gift Declined

The State Parks Board had before it a bold offer—but with a half million dollar string attached. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wheatley of San Antonio, offered the state their 4,778-acre ranch in Blanco county for a state park. But the condition was that the state spend $500,000 to make a sure enough park out of it.

Parks Board members divided. Harry Hornby, Uvalde publisher, said yes. He was joined by two members, but three opposed. So it was a 3-3 tie.

Ed Kilman, Houston editor who voted not to take it, hoped that the Legislature will see its way clear to provide the money in 1963, and that the offer by the Wheatleys will be renewed.

The Wheatley ranch lies along the Pedernales river. It abounds in wild game and scenic country for 10 miles along that stream.

Parks Board, fighting a hard fight with a short stick on money, just couldn't see how it could promise to spend $500,000.

It has a fund of $700,000 to be used next year on parks improvement. Meanwhile, however, Texas Tech is to draft a master plan for park development, showing where the start should be made in improving the long-neglected park system.

More Oil Suits

Eight more operators in the East Texas Field were enjoined from interfering with tests on their leases to see if their oil wells run straight up and down.

And the Railroad Commission extended to the Hawkins Field of Wood county its prohibition against plugging wells.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson got word that in some wells in that field may have been slanted over to someone else's property, so he asked that the no-plugging ban include the big Wood County field.

When the investigation opened, several operators immediately plugged their wells with cement, thus preventing check into the variation from the straight and narrow path.

Of 27 wells checked so far, only one has been found to be straight. Lawsuits continue to pile up on the dockets of East Texas courts, as neighbors sue neighbors they think have drained oil from under their leases.

Long Suit

A West Texas judge may spend the winter—and part of the spring—in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert named District Judge J. H. Starley of Pecos to preside over the big water rights lawsuit in Hidalgo county, where the tangled skein of water rights will be unraveled.

Trial is scheduled to start in September on the main lawsuit. The big question, whether landowners have a right to use irrigation water from the Rio Grande without a state permit, already has been settled.

Texas Supreme Court said lands deriving from Spanish and Mexican grants do not have a riparian right to use water for irrigation.

With that big question answered, Judge Starley will go into a hundred other questions in the suit involving all users of the Rio Grande from Maverick county to the Gulf.

Visiting judge had to be sent in since District Judge Magus Smith was disqualified because he had been an attorney for some of the interested parties before he was elected judge.

Road Men

Texans who work for better highways came to Austin for their annual convention.

They named Leslie Neal Sr. of San Antonio as president of the Texas Good Roads Association for the coming year.

They voted to increase speed limits up to 70 miles an hour, and to let the State Highway Commission zone highways for speeds up to that limit.

John Connally, Democratic nominee for governor, told delegates that Texas should not divert its highway tax money to other purposes. But he warned that the cities need help on their street construction problems, too.

Junction Votes Down School Bonds 3 to 1

In an election held on Saturday, June 16, Junction voters turned thumbs down on a school bond issue and maintenance tax proposal.

There were 579 votes tabulated according to last week's Junction Eagle, and the maintenance tax was voted down 443 to 136. The bond issue—proposition no. 2—was defeated 423 to 131.

Junction has a district valuation of about $6½ million, and a tax rate of 65c for each hundred dollars and 35c for indebtedness. Their enrollment is 647 compared to Eldorado's 585, while Eldorado has nearly three times as much money for each student.

The Junction paper makes the following observation:

"TOO big a chunk at one time" seems to sum up the consensus of opinion for the failure of the School District to vote construction bonds and take on House Bill 116 last Saturday. Most think another bond proposal for the new elementary school building (and nothing else) would pass without difficulty.

Architect's fees will have to be paid anyway, and we do need a new elementary building. Why not get started?

Voters in three West Texas school districts turned down proposals to boost maintenance tax rates and provide funds for improvements.

In Llano, Junction, and Grape Creek all issues were defeated while in Crane a bond issue was passed.

Picnic Foods and Some Of Their Problems

Almost as quickly as you can say "please pass the potato salad," a tiny, microscopic speck of bacterial life can make a shambles of that great American summer time institution, the picnic.

Called staphylococci—"staph" for short—these pernicious bits of living matter are said by health authorities to be by far the most common cause of food poisoning.

About the picnic—if you're careless in preparing the food, staph may invade and multiply in items on the bill of fare. The ham, for instance, or the chicken salad, or the cream filled layer cake. In a matter of hours, once eaten, they can turn a strong man into a cramped, tormented weakling.

But it's easy to prevent this fun-wrecking development: simply keep the foods chilled between the time of preparation and service, and serve as soon as possible.

State health authorities are quick to point out that staph-caused food poisoning isn't limited to summer nor to picnics, but can occur whenever conditions are right regardless of the time or place. Conditions are more apt to be right during summer when outdoor eating is in vogue and staph can team up with heat and lack of refrigeration to spoil food.

As a point of academic interest, it isn't the organisms themselves that do the damage, but a toxin produced by adult organisms. Admittedly, the point is of little consolation to the wrung-out victim, but it does provide a clue to preventing other cases.

Staph germs are so widely distributed in nature—in nose and throat secretions, in exudate of boils and carbuncles, on skin and clothing, in the very air—that there is little chance of avoiding them completely.

The best thing is to keep them from getting in the food to begin with, by washing hands thoroughly before preparing food. Also, if you happen to have a boil, pimple, infected scratch, or a runny nose, it would be smart to leave the food preparation to someone else.

Refrigeration is the key to stunting staph germs. They can't grow in cold temperatures, but thrive in bountiful profusion at room temperature. Therefore, refrigerate susceptible foods at 40 degree temperatures. Use shallow pans so the ingredients will chill through.

Keep these facts in mind when you plan your next picnic, then your only worry will be ants and wasps.

Lower Tax Rate Set By Fort Stockton School

Ft. Stockton Pioneer, June 21: According to the repeated requests of tax representatives of oil companies, the Fort Stockton school board Monday set a new tax rate of $1.82 on $100 valuation for 1962, which represented a cut of 3 cents in the figure originally used in the proposed budget for the year.

Eddie Jones, Phillips Petroleum Co. tax man for the area, had presented charts and graphs showing trends in the local district to a board meeting last week at which the preliminary budget was approved.

At the public hearing Monday, Jones repeated his request that the board "tighten up its operation" and put brakes on the steadily increasing operating cost for the district.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Etheredge returned late Monday from a trip, which included the Seattle fair.

Editorial Comments From Our Neighbors

Some Unanswered Questions

What is it worth to be governor of Texas? What is there that makes the office worth so much more than it pays in salary?

Texans should be asking themselves these questions. The Democratic nominee for governor, John Connally, has spent more than half a million dollars—$572,480, to be exact—to win the nomination.

He is not through spending yet, for he faces a contest in the General Election in November with Republican Jack Cox. If Connally wins that one—and he likely will if he keeps spending—he will have the office sewed up for two years and can expect to draw total salary of $50,000.

But that's what does not add up. Connally's report of campaign expenditures filed last week said he had spent $493,462 and incurred an indebtedness of $79,017. In other words, he has gone into debt for three years' salary (when his term of office will be only two) and spent half a million dollars besides.

And the half million dollars he has spent does not include sums spent locally by various supporters who never report these expenditures to state headquarters.

Why does Mr. Connally prize the governorship so highly? Is he willing to pay so dearly for the opportunity to serve the people of Texas? Not likely.

Does he value so highly the opportunity to have his name engraved on the pages of the state's history as one of its governors? We doubt it.

In the recent campaign, Will Wilson accused the incumbent governor, Price Daniel, of using the office in a questionable manner to advance his own wealth. The truth in those accusations has not been determined.

Yet when a man spends more than half a million dollars to win an office that pays only $50,000, his motives are subject to being questioned. —Menard News.

Van Horn Hospital Still Pending

The private bond-financed hospital proposal for Van Horn under consideration by the local group appears to have turned sour. The local group was never able to get many of its questions or a complete breakdown of the proposed project. In the meantime, while trying to get some of these matters straightened out, further investigation into the development firm's background has caused the local group to question the firm's reputation. Therefore, the interest in the proposal has "cooled" to say the least.

However, there is another firm which develops hospitals under a similar procedure, which has proven reputation and experience. Contact is being made with this company to see if it would be interested in a local project.

Should this proposal again fall through it is quite likely that another (the third) local tax-bond issue election will be called, providing that an acceptable plan and design can be worked out.

Local residents can be assured of one thing, that efforts continue toward getting the badly needed hospital facilities for Van Horn, one way or another. —Van Horn Advocate.

Hundreds At Fish Kill In Coke County

Bronte Enterprise, June 21: Hundreds of people and an estimated 150 boats were on hand last Saturday for the fish kill at Oak Creek Lake. The lake was poisoned with rotenone which paralyzes the fish's gills but does not make them inedible. Thousands of pounds of fish were picked up by the crowd, and many thousands of additional pounds were left on the lake to rot.

The biggest crowd was on hand Saturday, but a great number of people were present Sunday and Monday to pick up the fish as they came to the top of the lake.

The operation was carried out by personnel of the Texas Fish and Game Commission. It was decided to kill the fish in the lake after a sampling of its fish population showed that approximately 97% were rough fish.

The lake will be restocked with a half million desirable fish, and in several months fishing should be greatly improved, said Walter Stapp, lakekeeper.

'Summer And Smoke' Is On Sunday & Monday

Tennessee Williams' "Summer and Smoke" is now a Paramount motion picture, produced by Hal Wallis, and it will have its two-night run at the Eagle Drive-In Theatre Sunday and Monday. It is in big-screen Technicolor.

Long called Williams' finest, most delicately handled play, the heat of a typical Williams summer in the Old South causes the smoke of passion to kindle—and unhappily flicker out—in the bosom of Miss Alma, the small town's old maid. The film version introduces Geraldine Page as the pathetic, warmly-plain Alma.

Her next door neighbor, Dr. John Buchanan, returns from medical school. Secretly, she has had John in her blood since his taunting days of childhood.

An affair builds up, but Dr. John then goes merrily on with the dice-throwers, card-players and hard-drinkers. He even sullies the old homestead with a wild toot during his father's absence. Alma, whose libido now aches, jealously informs Dr. John's father who interrupts the carousal and meets his death.

The shock causes sardonic reversals. Dr. John is sobered and reforms, but Alma picks up a callow traveling man and makes off with him.

Alma's tragedy is understandable. She is too anemic for healthy, rational persons. On the other hand, her loneliness is poignant and compassionate. She is a rampant woman struggling.

Mr. Williams' eloquent honesty extends to the treatment. Wallis has produced the picture with elaborate and intentional small-town stuffiness. Pete Glenville of London, who staged the play there, was imported to direct.

Acting performances range only from excellent to superb. Geraldine Page as Alma of the fluttering nerves, the clear head, the stonewall manner is the finest of several, none of whom actually missed in the role.

Laurence Harvey was infected with the honesty of everything and is strong, convincing and self-forgetful as the young doctor.

Una Merkel as Alma's mother knows both stage and screen. Before cameras she makes Mrs. Winemiller a haunting of batwing catastrophe. Malcolm Atterbury, from television, is a shocking Reverend Winemiller.

Burly John McIntyre plays the small-town doctor properly disgusted with a rakehell son.

City Of Eden Takes Title To Cemetery

Action of the Eden City Council at their regular monthly meeting held on Thursday evening of last week brought the work of many years past into reality with the annexation of Eden Cemetery into the incorporated city limits.

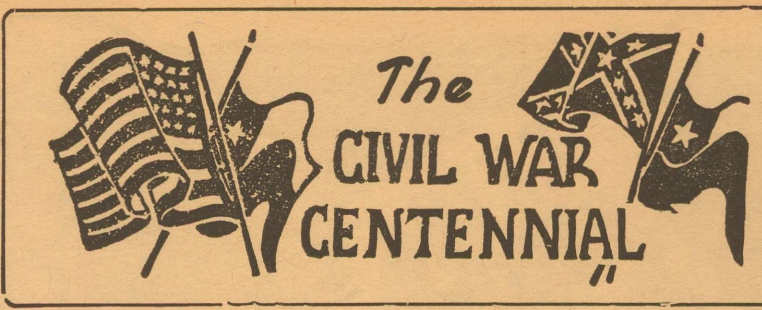

A total of 28.61 acres was added to the city bounds by this action. This includes around 19 acres in the old cemetery grounds and an additional 9.44 acres recently secured as a new addition to the cemetery.

Plans as expressed at the city council meeting by Chairman Pfluger and Swaim, at the time the city dads approved the annexation included the setting of an annual maintenance charge and the hiring of a caretaker. Water will either be piped to the grounds, or a well dug. Plans will also be set whereby deeds may be issued for lots already in use in the old cemetery grounds, as well as in the new addition. —Eden Echo, June 21.

One of the biggest events with a Civil War touch to take place in Texas during the entire Centennial period was the week-long triple-barrelled celebration at Bryan and College Station June 17-23.

The celebration was planned to celebrate the centennial of the founding of Bryan, the 100th anniversary of the charge of Hood's Texas Brigade at the Battle of Gaines' Mill, and the anniversary of the founding of Texas A&M College at College Station.

The three-fold nature of the celebration stems from the fact that the founding of Bryan was interrupted by the Civil War and that after the War, the city was the scene of many of the reunions of Hood's Texas Brigade. Then in 1876, Texas A&M College was founded nearby.

Bryan was laid out in 1855 in anticipation of the arrival of the Houston & Texas Central Railroad. With the outbreak of the War, however, the railroad was terminated at Millican a few miles south of Bryan and the city did not come into being until 1866.

Hood's Texas Brigade was composed of the First, Fourth, and Fifth Texas Infantry Regiments; the 18th Georgia Infantry and the seven companies of Hampton's South Carolina Legion. Many of the members of the three Texas regiments were from the area around Bryan and reunions held after the War centered in Bryan.

The 1934 reunion was the last and Brigade members placed a marker on the Carnegie Library in Bryan which is inscribed "Hood's Texas Brigade—Bryan our last headquarters and this building our last home."

The Texas Brigade was a part of General Stonewall Jackson's army which was moved in early June of 1862 from the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia to join with Gen. Robert E. Lee's Army of Northern Virginia in the defense of Richmond. During the first days of the crucial Seven Days' Battles around Richmond, the Federal army had retreated and had taken up a strongly fortified position near Gaines' Mill at a place called Boat-swain Swamp.

An inspired charge by the men of A. P. Hill's Light Division, followed by a second charge by members of Gen. Dick Ewell's command had failed to dislodge the entrenched Union forces.

Riding at the head of his Texas Brigade, General Hood was met by General Lee who appraised the Texan of the situation and asked "Can you break the line?" Hood said he didn't know whether he could or not, but he would try.

The Brigade was formed in battle position with the 18th Georgia on the right, the three Texas regiments in the center, and the North Carolinians on the left. They moved through the shattered ranks of A. P. Hill's Light Division and into plain sight of the men of Fitz-John Porter's Union command.

Without pausing to fire, their rifles at right shoulder lift, the Texans strode forward into a withering fire from rifle and cannon. By the time they reached the bank of Boatswain Swamp, nearly a thousand of their number had fallen, but the ranks kept closing the gaps left by the wounded. When only 150 yards from the Union lines, they paused to fix bayonets and dress their lines.

Still not firing a shot, the Texans charged across the creek and up the slope toward the enemy, their rifles not at a carry. Within 20 yards of the lines, they gave a Rebel shout and the bluecoats scattered in all directions. Only then did the Texans fire their first volley and General Lee had the breakthrough he needed.

Fourteen Union cannon were captured and a Pennsylvania regiment and a New Jersey unit surrendered along with several other detachments. Out in front through it all, waving his sword and encouraging his men on, was tall and blond John Bell Hood. From now on through Malvern Hill, Second Manassas, Gettysburg and dozens of lesser battles, the men of the Texas Brigade would follow John Bell Hood.

Doubtless these are some of the battles the veterans reminisced about at their Bryan reunions. Would that some of them could have been on hand for the observance of the centennial of Gaines' Mill.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Calk and family plan to leave early Sunday morning on a trip to the World's Fair at Seattle. They plan to make a short side trip into Canada before returning home. They will be away for about two weeks.

An all-out drive by the Secretary of Labor to take over complete control of agricultural labor in this country is being pushed. By Executive order, interpretations of existing laws, and by legislation, the drive is on.

Already over in the Senate a half dozen bills have been quietly passed which restrict private control of workers on farms and give Labor Secretary Goldberg ever-increasing powers in that respect.

One Senate-approved bill restricts the rights of youngsters under age 14 to do farm work; another forces registration of farm labor contractors; another would create a National Advisory Council on Migratory Labor. Other pending legislation would give more authority to the Secretary in fixing farm wages, working conditions, housing and a multitude of other things. All of these are being advocated by the Labor Secretary.

When Jerry Holleman was Assistant Secretary of Labor, he triggered the big drive to make the Mexican bracero program unworkable, and he had the backing of Secretary Goldberg. By controlling the United States Employment Services the Labor Department has been flexing its control muscles by spelling out the terms and conditions of employment on farms and ranches which must be met before the USES will lend a hand in recruiting employees. And, although never authorized by Congress, the Labor Department has on occasion decreed that if USES is used wages and working conditions for those employed through it must be on a par with braceros. And the same Department has made the conditions for contracting braceros next to impossible to meet.

It is all a part of a grab for power by Empire builders. About every month some new decree or announcement is made by the Labor Department regarding restrictions on agricultural labor. And the drive for more power by legislation is being quietly but relentlessly pushed by Administration forces.
