Butane Truck Wreck Calls Out Firemen

Several firemen and one fire truck were called out Sunday to 15-mile hill where a Ward butane truck trailer had gone out of control and turned over.

Observers at the scene said the vehicle turned over 1 1/2 times, smashing a telephone pole and about 60 feet of fence. After the wreck the butane truck was leaking but no fire developed. Firemen had been called as a precautionary measure.

Driver of the vehicle was Ray James Hamrick of San Angelo.

The truck driver received cuts and bruises and was carried to the Sonora hospital. A guard was placed at the wreck and it was towed in to Angelo Monday. Observers assumed that the truck wheels got off on a soft shoulder, causing loss of control.

Screwworm Eradication Fund Drive Continues

Gerald Hartgraves, chairman of the county screwworm program, announces there is still time to contribute to the county screwworm eradication program. A total of 99 had not contributed in the county October 14, when the drive was continued to raise $1.7 million dollars of $3 million promised by the producers of Texas. Today 77 producers have not contributed. The county needs approximately $3,200 for completion of the drive.

Every effort you as an individual expend to boost the screwworm eradication program will be paid many times when you no longer have to spend time and money to fight screwworms.

Make your check payable (tax deductible) to county livestock committee and send to Mr. Leslie Baker, treasurer, county livestock committee, or hand your check to a member of the committee:

Boy Scout Troop Sets Court Of Honor Monday

A Court of Honor for boys and their parents of Eldorado's Troop 18, Boy Scouts of America, has been set for this coming Monday night. The event will get under way at 7:30 in the Scout Hall and parents have been invited along with troop committee members, Lions club members, and others connected with the local troop.

J. B. Morris, executive from the San Angelo Boy Scout office, will be on hand to conduct an investiture ceremony for Tenderfoot Scouts. Some Second Class and possibly some First Class badges and certificates will be awarded.

Included on the program will be showing of a film on the 1957 National Jamboree which was held at Valley Forge, Pa. Valley Forge is to be site of the next National Jamboree to be held during the summer of 1964, and for which the Concho Valley Council is already taking reservations from boys all over the 23 1/2 counties which comprise the council.

Scoutmaster of the troop is Gail Mittel and his assistant is Walter Ray Donaldson.

Following the program, refreshments will be served to all Boy Scouts and their guests.

Special guests will be the local Webelos den of the Cub Scout pack. This group consists of 10 1/2-year-old Cub Scouts who will become members of the Scout troop as soon as they reach 11 years of age.

Boys of 11, 12, and 13 years or age who might be interested in becoming Scouts, are invited to attend the Court of Honor Monday.

J. B. Morris met with local Boy Scout leaders Monday night to help plan the upcoming Court of Honor.

The Boy Scout and Girl Scout programs have been sponsored for many years in Eldorado by the Lions club.

Flower Business Sold

Mrs. Gus Love, Eldorado agent for Saunders Flower Shop at Sonora, reported yesterday that Saunders has bought out the Eldorado Flower Shop operated by Mrs. O. L. Woodward. The deal involves the business and stock of merchandise but does not include real estate.

Mrs. Love will continue the Saunders business at her home here.

Post Script

Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Co. is again offering a rifle as prize to the person killing the largest deer during the present hunting season.

As of Monday, four hunters had submitted their prize kills and the leader up to that time was young Clay Meador.

According to rules laid down at the beginning of the season, deer are to be judged according to inside beam measurements of the antlers plus circumference of beam at base of deer horn.

Scored on this basis the four hunters came up with the following:

L. C. Higgins.....29 points
W. L. Talley.....23 3/4 points
Corky Hodges.....26 points
Clay Meador.....29 1/2 points

Skeet Mace, manager of the yard, says there are lots of fat deer in the county and many are being killed. Of course only the largest ones are being reported to his yard.

With the growth of Schleicher as a deer-hunting county, it is becoming increasingly evident that next year better facilities for processing deer would be a profitable enterprise in Eldorado.

One informant who is in a position to know states that the money received for hunting leases this year on just three ranches is more than the entire county took in a year ago.

The thing that this county has been slow to realize is that the hunting business is BIG business—that it can bring in to the county in 6 weeks more money than one whole year's cotton crop!

Some of the nearby towns have locker plants for cold storage of deer carcasses. Further services—at a price—provide for processing, wrapping for your deep freeze and all that sort of thing.

The people who are providing these services are not doing it from a patriotic motive—they are doing it from a PROFIT motive. Just as soon as someone realizes that there is money to be made in Eldorado in this business, then private initiative will provide the service.

After a Thanksgiving holiday lull things began picking up again at Hartgraves Livestock yards here, according to Mrs. Gilmore, office clerk.

On Monday, the yard received calves from J. W. Callis and Floyd Emmons, and on Tuesday they bought calves from the Ed Meador ranch.

Yesterday was lamb day.

With our subscribers: E. V. Gibson, Jr., has moved from Sabinal to 1300 Cotton Flat Road in Midland.

Mrs. Gus Love will show her Christmas flower arrangements at an open house this Sunday afternoon between the hours of 2:00 and 6:00 at her home.

Refreshments will be served and callers will register for door prizes, Mrs. Love stated.

Mrs. T. W. Johnson was notified recently by her son, Edwin, that he was planning to leave Australia after a stay, and return to the States. He has been in Indonesia, Singapore, and other places.

RANGE MANAGEMENT GROUP TO MEET IN ANGELO DEC. 7-8

The American Society of Range Management, Texas Section, 12th annual meeting, will be held in the Town House Hotel in San Angelo December 7 and 8.

Program highlights will include Miss Mohair, ladies style show, social hour, banquet and special speakers. Also technical papers, ranch financing and rancher papers.

Further information may be obtained from Bill Rountree.

News Of The Sick

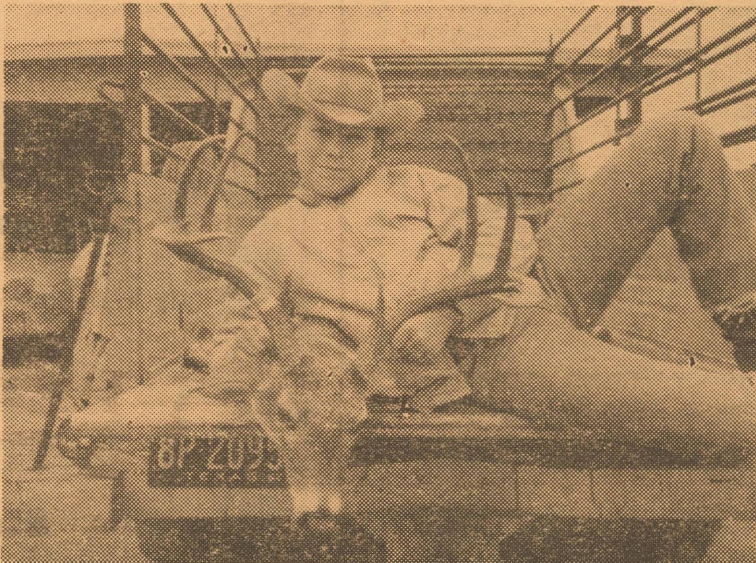

Mrs. Frank Kemble came home Saturday from the Clinic-Hospital in San Angelo where she underwent surgery. She was to continue convalescence at home for a few days.

Mrs. W. E. Turnbow entered the Sonora hospital Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brooks are back at home following Mr. Brooks' stay in Santa Rosa hospital in San Antonio.

Mrs. Cleve Clark is in St. Johns hospital in San Angelo.

Leading Contender For The Foxworth-Galb. Rifle

CLAY MEADOR, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Meador, bagged this 10-point buck the day after Thanksgiving on the place of his grandfather, W. F. Meador. The deer weighed 126 pounds and Clay shot it with a 30-06 from about 175 yards.

B. L. Blakeway Succeeds Montgomery As J. P.

At their Nov. 12 meeting, the County Commissioners Court accepted Jack Montgomery's resignation as Justice of the Peace of Precinct 1, and appointed B. L. Blakeway to fill his unexpired term which runs until January.

Blakeway defeated Montgomery in this year's elections for the J. P. post. Blakeway was sworn in and is already on the job as Justice. He has the same office quarters on the ground floor of the court house.

Miss Hext Is Sweetheart Of Local F.F.A. Chapter

DEANNE HEXT

Miss Deanne Hext, a junior in Eldorado High school, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Granville Hext, was elected Chapter F.F.A. Sweetheart, on Thursday, November 8.

The district F.F.A. banquet will be held in San Angelo this coming Monday, Dec. 2, and Miss Hext will compete with six other chapter sweethearts of the Concho District for district sweetheart.

Curbing Project Is Under Way By City

Half of the paved high-way area fronting the south side of the court house block is being curbed off to provide additional parking space and to do away with center-of-the-street parking.

The City of Eldorado is doing the curbing project with Palmer West overseeing the job and Pete Bryant doing the cement work.

Barriers were up this week and work was under way.

In connection with this job, the "island" in front of the old post office building was removed a short time ago.

Former Resident Dies

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning in the Baptist church in Bronte for Ed Ratliff, 83, well-known West Texas ranchman and Rambouillet breeder. Interment was made in a cemetery there.

Mr. Ratliff died Monday in a hospital at Bronte. He ranched at Eldorado before retiring and moving to Bronte some years ago.

Survivors include Mrs. Ratliff, and a son, Edward Ratliff, of Odessa.

While the Ed Ratliffs lived here, they occupied the place on the north edge of town which is now owned by R. J. Page.

NUGENT APPOINTED TO INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE

Representative Jim Nugent has been named as a member of the House General Investigating Committee by Speaker James Turman. The Kerrville legislator and Neil Caldwell of Angleton were the new members of the group, which has Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline as chairman.

The committee has investigated slant hole drilling of oil wells in East Texas, Hurricane Carla insurance payments and alleged point fixing in Southwest Conference basketball games. The appointment was made in Austin last Friday.

Lions Club Planning Decorating Contest

Once again during the upcoming Christmas holiday season, the Eldorado Lions club is planning to sponsor a decorating contest for local residences. The Lions agreed at their meeting this week to allocate $20 for prize money, to be divided as follows:

Best decorated yard.....$10
Door.....$5
Window.....$5

The Lions club is to be assisted by the Eldorado Study Club in judging the entries. Judging will take place shortly before Christmas, on a date to be announced later.

An innovation this year will be recognition of the most attractively decorated business house. No cash prize will be given for this, but a suitably inscribed plaque will be awarded which the winning businessman will display for a year. Then next year the plaque will be awarded another business.

Details in regard to this year's decorating contest were worked out by a Lions club committee consisting of Peyton Cain, J. H. Mace, and Granville Hext, and were approved by the Lions board of directors this week.

Historical Group Plans To Organize In County

Schleicher Co. Judge W. R. Bearce said recently that a number of county citizens would meet in the immediate future to set up a Schleicher County Historical Committee. He continued that its purpose would be to collect, record, and preserve facts of historical significance about this area.

Judge Bearce concluded that two Schleicher buildings had been nominated for the much discussed Texas Historical Medallions and that buildings in question are the Schleicher county jail and the Colonel Black residence near Ft. McKavett, now owned by H. Leslie Jones and his mother, Mrs. Camilla Raggio of San Angelo.

Eagle Cagers Lose To Sonora Tuesday

Sonora and Brady High School basketball teams were rough on Schleicher High teams Tuesday, the best the Eldoradoans could do being one win out of four contests.

Sonora "A" squad boys defeated the Eagle "A's" by a 65 to 47 margin. Then Brady "A" squad girls defeated Eldorado "A" team girls 46-36, and the Brady "B" teamers made it two in a row with a 35-17 win over the Eldorado "B" team. But the Eagle "B" team boys managed a 32-25 win over the Broncos.

All four games were non-conference warm-up affairs for the impending championship races.

Mr. and Mrs. George McLaughlin have moved into the recently renovated Edmiston house in Glendale, from Odessa. They had as guests over the holiday week end her son, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Williamson of Odessa, Mrs. Ray Edmiston and children of Midland, Mackey Edmiston and son, Mackey Jr. of Big Spring and Mrs. Speck Edmiston and Linsey of Ozona.

More Work Is Done For New Highway 277 North

Schleicher County Commissioners met in special session Monday and considered bids in connection with the new highway to be built north from Eldorado to the Tom Green county line, Highway 277.

Taylor Hardware submitted the low bid of $7153.17 for right of way fencing materials. This bid was accepted by the Court.

The Commissioners employed Southwestern Fence Co. to construct 1 1/2 miles of right of way fence on the Robert Page ranch, furnishing all materials and labor, for $1250 per mile.

Twelve who have already signed right of way easements in connection with Highway 277 north, are: Maxine Wilton Page, et al; H. E. Finnigan, T. K. Jones, Robert Page, Joe A. Wagley, Weldon Davis, Loy C. Higgins, E. H. Topliffe, P. D. Haley, V. H. Humphrey, San Tex Advertising Co., and T. P. Robinson, Jr.

Negotiations are continuing with T. C. Meador, Lillian Crosby, West Estate, B. L. Blakeway, Cramer Sofge, and A. P. Fambrough.

Local Girls Win Mertzon Scrimmage

The 1962-63 girls' basketball season got under way with two scrimmages with the Mertzon Hornets. The first contest saw Eldorado win by a 27-21 score with Jan Davis accounting for 19 of the points. Tissie Enochs, Linda Nixon, and Joan Griffin made the Hornets nervous and unable to hit the basket. On the second encounter Eldorado picked up steam and defeated Mertzon 42-29. It was not until the fourth quarter that Mertzon was able to score a field goal. Jan Davis again led the scoring for Eldorado with 16 but received support from Christy Moore with 12. Again it was superb guarding by Linda Nixon, Tissie Enochs, Joan Griffin and Phyllis Parker that held Mertzon to points only by free throws.

Girls Have 2-1 Record

Eldorado lost a couple of girls' games to AA Brady High school Tuesday night in Brady. However Eldorado was without the services of starting guard Tissie Enochs, who is sidelined with a foot injury.

The "B" team scoring was equally distributed between Jane Cain, Eldra Gibson, and Karen Griffin who scored 5 each. Paula Mace was Eldorado's outstanding guard.

The "A" game was a hot contest which ended in a battle at the free throw line. The final score was 46-36. Eldorado had 14 field goals to Brady's 15. However Brady sank 16 of 21 free throws while Eldorado could manage only 8 of 21.

Christy Moore scored 14 followed by Susie Scott with 10, Jan Davis 8, and Marsha Mund with 4.

Linda Nixon carried the load at guard and was outstanding all night in rebounding, and ball handling. She received able assistance from Joan Griffin, Phyllis Parker, and Frankie Blaylock.

The girls meet Menard here Thursday, Nov. 29, at 7:30. —Rep.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Moore went to San Antonio last Wednesday and spent Thanksgiving and until Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Michalski and Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Moore.

Austin.—There have been some changes made!

Veteran legislators sworn-in for a new term of office in a mass ceremony in the House of Representatives were pleasantly aware of a change of scenery since last January's special session.

The once-dark, dusky setting for the biennial battle of state lawmakers had been transformed in their absence. Every desk, chair and table had been refinished to a glowing light oak shade. Shiny new seats replaced the drab, worn ones in the balcony. And the brass rails were gleaming.

Most noticeable was a new $20,000 gold wool carpet with a brown Seal of Texas woven into the section installed directly in front of the speaker's stand.

Senate Pay Problem

About one-third of the House now have qualified for the 58th Legislature and have been added to the payroll. But the 10 new senators-elect probably won't start drawing their $400 monthly pay until January 8, when the 1963 session begins.

A recent ruling by the attorney general that "members of the Legislature" now could qualify for the payroll brought inquiries from 7 new senators as to whether they would be included. The term "Legislature" also applies to senate members.

But Sen. Culp Krueger of El Campo, acting lieutenant governor, and several other senior senators said the official opening date has been the customary time for senators to take office and they think the custom should stand.

Senate Sweepstakes

A small glass bowl and a handful of tiny capsules will decide the political destiny of Texas Senators come January.

Once each 10 years, Texas' 31 senators must "draw straws" to determine who will serve a four year term, and who will serve for two years. Drawing is required by the state constitution.

Normally, half the state is elected for 4-year terms, overlapping with the other half which still has two years left to serve. However, after each 10-year census and redistricting of the Legislature, all the senators must run for office.

Last time such a drawing occurred was in 1953.

Nine senators who will face the glass bowl in January were around that year, and five of them drew two-year terms then.

Ten senators will start serving their first term in January, and one other will be attending his first regular session in the upper chamber.

Bills-Drafting Under Way

Business really has picked up in the Texas Legislative Council the past two weeks. House committees turned to the TLC many recommendations for the 58th Legislature to consider. They provided the state's research unit with grist for numerous bills to be presented in January.

House Committee on Saving Taxes, headed by Sen. George Parkhouse, received a lot of attention during its hearings. Subjects under discussion included:

A recommendation by the committee to end taxes on intangible property, such as mortgages on homes and stocks and bonds. Dallas tax collector Norman Register claimed this would cost his city $3,500,000 annually.

Revision of regulation of the railroad industry, which is governed by about 300 state statutes, some of them outmoded.

Adoption of a merit salary plan for public school teachers. The committee's education subcommittee suggested keeping the present minimum salary scale and basing future changes on a cost-of-living index.

A recommendation by the subcommittee on highways and roads to keep two license plates on vehicles. Although the state would save $200,000 annually by using only one plate per vehicle, police officials believe identification is easier with two.

The Distaff Side

Only one woman will be seated in the Senate and two in the House of Representatives come January.

They are: Sen. Neveille H. Colson of Navasota, Rep. Myra D. Banfield of Rosenberg, and Rep. Maud Isaacks of El Paso.

The small percentage of women legislators (1-30 in the senate and 2-148 in the house) is par for the course in state government.

Although about 5,020,770 of Texas' 9,960,000 citizens are women, only 50 women are among the 561 appointees on 87 state boards and commissions—less than 9%—and there are no women on the 30 boards and authorities which govern the state's waterways.

Gov.-elect John B. Connally stated in his campaign platform that he advocated "the appointment and selection of women in those areas of government in which the moral tone of the community is directly affected."

Several state agencies guided by gubernatorial appointees are responsible for the "moral tone" of the community, including: The Texas Youth Council, Department of Public Safety, State Liquor Control Board, Board of Corrections and Department of Public Welfare.

If women in Texas ask to share this responsibility, 1963 may be a political leap year.

'Damn The Defiant' Is Now Showing

Wooden ships under sail and booming broadsides have long been perennial favorites with the movie-going public, but it is not often a film about such things comes along that packs the action, acting and spectacle of "Damn The Defiant," which is being shown tonight and Friday night at the Eagle Drive-In Theatre. The film is in CinemaScope and Eastman color.

"Defiant" stars Alec Guinness, Dirk Bogarde and Anthony Quayle.

It is with commendable restraint that Columbia does not subtitle this sea story "Mutiny on the Defiant," though in its original form as a novel written by Frank Tilsey it was known as "Mutiny." And like that other motion picture about a mutiny, this one, too, is based upon actual facts as they occurred in British Navy around 1800 when loyal men were driven to revolt by the appalling conditions under which men loved and fought in the British men o' war. Let the historical facts speak for themselves in pointing out that the revolts did bring about reforms in the system.

Whatever romance there is in "Damn the Defiant" stems from the romance of sailing the seas—there is only one feminine-speaking role and that is in the opening scenes when Captain Crawford (Guinness) bids his wife good-bye. But even while he tells his wife farewell and the press gang roams the streets of Spithead, there is trouble brewing for the voyage of the Defiant as a group of old hands mutter about mutiny over their mugs of ale.

There is plenty of trouble right off. Guinness is an understanding captain, aware of the hard life which tradition forces on his seamen, but his first lieutenant is a sadistic creature (Bogarde) who derives a vicious pleasure from the floggings meted out to the men.

Complicating the whole affair is the fact that the captain's 12-year old son is sailing on the Defiant as a midshipman and the first mate takes a peculiar delight in a war of nerves against the humaneness of the captain by the harsh treatment he imposes on the boy.

The Defiant gets into trouble first with a deceptive Venetian merchantman and then with a French ship in hot & heavy battles that tumble masts, shatter guns and men and leave the captain without an arm.

It is not surprising then that when the crew does stage its mutiny, the lieutenant ends up with a knife in his chest. Yet when the chips are down, the mutineers, with Quayle as their leader, turn their backs on flight to safety for the greater glory of England in the war with France.

Eldorado Woman's Club Hears Book Review

Mrs. L. E. Dudley of Abilene, past president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, entertained the Eldorado Woman's Club Tuesday afternoon when she reviewed the book, View From the Hill, by Cid Ricketts Sumner.

Mrs. Dudley was introduced by Miss Miltia Hill, leader for the day, who mentioned many of the worthwhile and outstanding civic things that she has done, traveling an average of 3,000 miles a month to serve where she is needed.

The meeting was held in the banquet room of the Memorial Building which was beautifully decorated with oak leaves. A miniature orange tree graced the registry table where Mrs. Bascom Hartgraves presided. The serving table was covered with a beautiful lace cloth and featured an arrangement of pinkish mums flanked by pheasants on either side.

Twenty members and 19 guests were present to hear this wonderful book, including one guest, Mrs. Harold Scherz of Sonora.

A short business session was held after the book review presided over by the president, Mrs. Edwin Jackson.

The club will meet in the home of Mrs. P. S. Dudley for the Christmas party on Dec. 11.

Royal Service Program On Mexico

Members of the WMU of the First Baptist church took an imaginary seven-league-boot tour of Mexico Tuesday night when the program on Mexico from the Royal Service Magazine was presented at the general meeting at 7:00 p.m.

During the business meeting which preceded the program presided over by Ruth Davis, president, a new worker, Nita Thacker, was accepted in the primary department of the Sunbeams and Jewel Van Dusen was elected publicity chairman for the WMU.

The room was beautifully decorated with souvenirs of Mexico, fall flowers, and oak leaves. A large map of Mexico was outlined on white paper on the floor with the locations of the places discussed marked. The members were seated in a circle around the map and little Jean Rountree represented a Mexican child taking a siesta under a hug hat.

A pinata hung from the ceiling which was broken during the program and members scrambled for the goodies that fell from it.

A mimeographed program and tour itinerary in the form of a boat was given to each member. During the program, a Mexican dress, a serape, and a raboso were modeled and musicians in costume strolled in and out. A guide, with a time clock which had the 12 months instead of numerals, moved the hands when a month was mentioned.

Following the program a memorial in honor of Mrs. Joab Campbell and Mrs. Charley Morris was given by Mrs. Carroll Ratliff. Mrs. Campbell was the first president of the WMU which was organized about 1905 and Mrs. Morris was the immediate past president. Both women passed away in October.

A social hour followed with the Van Dusen circle acting as hostesses. Refreshments of home made cookies, hot cocoa and coffee were served to the 30 members and three guests, L. M. Hoover, Mrs. Roy McCulloch and Jean Rountree.

The Missionary Society will observe the Lottie Moon Week of Prayer next week by meeting in homes each day except Wednesday when the program will be presented at the church, at the regular Wednesday night service.

The goal for this year is $1,778.39 which will go for foreign missions.

Runge and Rountree Attend Meeting In Menard

J. Forrest Runge, chairman of the board of supervisors of the Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation District, and Bill Rountree, Work Unit Conservationist assisting the district, journeyed to Menard Monday and attended a meeting of the Hill Country Association of Soil Conservation Districts.

The morning session was a meeting held in the Menard County courthouse. This meeting was very informative in that the different agriculture programs were explained and how they can be used as tools by districts in speeding up the process of getting conservation applied to the land.

The afternoon was spent making a range tour of the Milton and Olla Williams ranch, 20 miles west of Menard on the Menard and Eldorado highway. On the tour the group saw two agriculture programs, ASC and the Great Plains Conservation Program were used to speed up Mr. Williams' conservation plan. Williams pointed out that by the use of these programs he would get his conservation work done in about three years where it would take approximately 20 years to do the job without the use of the programs.

On the tour the group saw a good cover of grass on the ground with the better grasses producing seed. This was the result of a deferred grazing system paying off even though about 13 inches of rain fell on the ranch this year. The ranch is divided into four equal size pastures of about 360 acres each. The Williams rotation is set up on grazing three pastures and resting one for four months.

Mr. Williams said he had made several reductions in his stocking rate but at each reduction he made more money. At the present time he is stocking at the rate of 32 animal units per section.

All in all the group saw brush being controlled, grass being deferred, cover on the ground, and an adequate supply of good feed on the ground to carry livestock through the winter and until warm season grasses begin their new growth next spring.

In conclusion everyone had to agree that we had seen a good range conservation program being applied to the land and that Milton Williams was enthusiastic about his operation and making it a paying proposition too.

Gary and Mindy Wolfe came out from Dallas to spend Thanksgiving with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Harper. Mrs. Harper honored Gary with a party on his 11th birthday while they were here. Norman and Myrta Bob Cash were also guests for Thanksgiving in the Harper home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Anderson and children, Leonard and Charlotte of Clovis, N.M., spent the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Childers and family.

Methodist Notes

Monday afternoon the Pioneer circle of the Methodist church met in the fellowship hall. For their Christmas project they sent a generous donation to the McKnight Sanitorium. The money is to be used to buy gifts for the patients to send home to their loved ones.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the church will have their Christmas party in the parsonage at 3:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 4th. Instead of a gift exchange, members & friends will bring a gift of money to be used for some worthy cause. There will be a Christmas program and one outstanding number will be songs by the high school girls' double sextette under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Teale. All members and friends are invited to attend.

Judy Beth Nyquist spent Thanksgiving with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Nyquist, and Sharon Kay. Judy Beth will graduate from Southwestern University in January. She has signed a contract to teach the fourth grade in Hillcrest Elementary School in San Antonio, to begin this next semester.

Sunday night the Senior MYF of the Methodist church had charge of the evening service, which was enjoyed very much. After the service refreshments were served in the fellowship hall by Mrs. Albert McGinnes and Mrs. C. M. Nyquist.

Oliver Burk, instructor of Vocational Agriculture in the local high school, reports that about 25 from here are planning to attend the district Future Farmers of America banquet which is set for Monday evening in San Angelo.

Miss Terry Phelps as president of the Band, has charge of arrangements for the football banquet coming up Saturday evening. The banquet will be served in the elementary school gymnasium, to be followed by a dance in the Memorial Building.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kent of Midland and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kent, visited in Eldorado with relatives over the Thanksgiving holidays. The Dan Kents went to Uvalde on a deer hunt, before returning to Denton where he is a senior at North Texas State University.

For the past several weeks this columnist has been fighting a long-distance battle to save from destruction the 112-year-old home of Lucy Holcombe Pickens in Marshall. Known as Wyalucing, the old house was scheduled for destruction in order to make way for a modern development on the site of the former campus of Bishop College which had been moved to Dallas.

Built in 1850, Wyalucing was the home of the Pickens family, one of whose daughters, Lucy, was the wife of the wartime governor of South Carolina, whom many credit with giving the order to fire the first shot of the Civil War at Fort Sumter. The daughter, Anna, was the wife of Elkanah Greer, who organized and commanded a famous cavalry unit of the war years.

The old house had been used as a headquarters for many Confederate Army and civilian government activities in the Trans-Mississippi Department and it was our thinking that this was THE building in Texas which most represented the Civil War.

We wrote dozens of letters, made phone calls, and spoke in several places of Wyalucing's plight. Senator Ralph Yarborough took enough interest in the effort to save the building to call us long distance from Washington. Senator John Tower offered his help and Governor Price Daniel wrote to say that he would cooperate in every way possible to save the old house.

We even looked up a law that could be invoked by an incorporated city to enjoin the razing of historical structures and got Franklin Jones of Marshall, an attorney, to go before the city council requesting that the law be invoked. The city council voted against the request, leaving it up to local historians to save the building.

At last word, the Harrison County Historical Society, under the leadership of its capable president J. Fred Lentz, had obtained an option to purchase the building and five acres of land surrounding it for $50,000 and were attempting to raise the money so that the sale might be effected.

The owner, who planned to develop a modern subdivision on the site, had agreed to re-design his plans in order to leave Wyalucing standing on its original site, that it might be used as an historical museum and a tourist attraction in the East Texas area.

By the time you read this, Wyalucing may be gone, but at least we put up a fight all the way down to the finish. After all, perhaps the effort is what counts in situations like this. You never know when your effort may be successful.

(Wreckers started demolition of Wyalucing on Monday of this week, after last-minute efforts of the Harrison County Historical Society to save the structure were unsuccessful.)

The Battles of Mansfield and Pleasant Hill took place on April 8 and 9, 1864, just across the Sabine River in Louisiana. Many of the troops which fought for the Confederacy in those battles were from Texas, and yet today there is no single marker to call attention to this fact.

There is no park or other construction on the site of the Battle of Pleasant Hill, but the Louisiana State Parks Commission maintains a small park at Mansfield. The park was originally started by the Date Beard Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in 1924 and later came under the direction of the State Parks Board.

No more appropriate person could perhaps be found to serve as superintendent of the Park than A. H. Plummer who has been the superintendent for some 25 years. Plummer's father, a native of Vidalia, Louisiana, fought at the Battle of Mansfield, escaped capture and later fought again. He had been a member of the 17th Louisiana regiment at Vicksburg and when that city fell in 1863, had floated down the river on a raft and joined General Dick Taylor's army in Louisiana.

The Battle of Mansfield was a decisive Confederate victory and led to the defeat of Gen. N. P. Bank's Red River Campaign and the Federal evacuation of Louisiana at Grand Ecere later in 1864. Today you can stand on a platform inside the Park museum and see the positions held by the Confederates and the Federals on the day of the battle and can follow the action on a narrated map whose lights blink on and off to keep you up with the action.

A few markers scattered over the field of combat point to the place where Gen. Mouton fell leading his Confederate troops, the spot where Prince C. J. DePolignac, a French noble who held the rank of Brigadier in the Confederate army, sprang to the head of General Mouton's troops and led them to victory, and a marker placed by the daughters of Gen. Dick Taylor in his memory.

Plans are in the making for a joint Civil War Centennial Observance at Mansfield Battle Park in 1964 in which both Texas and Louisiana will pay tribute to the men who fought here in what may well have been the decisive battle which kept Federal troops from crossing into Texas from Louisiana. It is to be hoped that a suitable marker will be erected to Texans who participated in the battle.

We've been reading about the Battles of Mansfield and Pleasant in two old issues of "The Annals of Iowa," one published in 1897 and the other in 1906. The articles are written for the most part by Union soldiers from Iowa who participated in the battles. Our friend, John Duncan of Texas A & M College, says these eye-witness accounts prove his theory that the Western Confederate troops were much more destructive than were the "gentlemen from the East." We agree on the basis of these items.

Recommended Reading For This Week: For Yankees Houghton Mifflin Company's new biography of Gen. Nelson A. Miles, The Unregimented General by Virginia W. Johnson, will surprise many readers who know the General only as the Indian fighter who drove the Indians from the plains. General Miles was already a seasoned veteran of many Civil War battles and the holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor when he came to Texas in the 1870's where his name feared among the Red Men by driving the Kiowas and Comanches from the Staked Plains.

Matthew Fontaine Maury and Joseph Henry are finally given their due place in history by Patricia Jahns in Hastings House's Scientists of the Civil War. We heartily recommend this "biography" of the two famous scientists whose efforts we benefit from every day—for the most part, unwittingly.

And Civil War buffs and Lincoln admirers alike will be pleased to know that The Life Of Dr. Samuel A. Mudd, by his daughter, Nettie, has been republished by Dr. Richard D. Mudd of Saginaw, Michigan. Copies of this privately-printed volume, in whose original is long out of circulation, may be from Dr. Mudd at 1001 Hoyt Street, Saginaw.

For Confederates—One of the most interesting Generals of the Confederate Army was Leonidas Polk, a Bishop in the Episcopal church. Joseph H. Parks has written an appealing biography of the general in Louisiana State University's General Leonidas Polk, C.S. A., which we recommend as one of the finest biographies of any Civil War general we've seen.

A small book for quick reading, brought out by the University of Pittsburgh Press, is A Borderland Confederate, edited by Festus P. Summers. This is the intriguing diary of William Lyne Wilson brought into entertaining form by a scholarly and well-qualified author.

And a bit of fiction which will please even the youngster who likes the Civil War is The Confederate Fille, written by Texan J. R. Williams and published by Prentice Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Low and family of Lamesa spent the holidays in Eldorado with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam McGinnes, and her brothers, the Albert and Elton McGinneses, and their families.

Ford ideas so contagious they started a new trend in cars!

If you think today's cars have a lot in common, credit the Ford sketches above. For these ideas sparked a revolution in car design that's reflected wherever you look on the American road.

Ford ideas have a habit of being exciting—practical, too. Consider the innovations found only in our '63s. There is Ford Galaxie's smooth new velvet ride. It cost Ford $10 million to bring it to you, but costs you not a penny extra to enjoy. There is Ford's full twice-a-year or 6,000-mile maintenance* schedule that cuts service worry and expense to a minimum. There's a new manual transmission that lets you shift down from second to first without coming to a stop. And for '63, there's the biggest choice of models ever offered—44 in all!

Only Ford offers all these advantages now. Other cars will eventually catch up—but if you can't wait, here's a tip. See your Ford Dealer today!

Here's America's most contagious roofline as seen on the 1963 Ford Galaxie 500XL
