City Planning Is Emphasized

Place of a planning board, even in small cities, was outlined by Carl B. Bennett, representing the American Society of Planning Officials at the concluding session for 43 West Texas city officials here Wednesday afternoon.

Bennett told the representatives from 11 cities that the planning board's activity was merely one of investigation and recommendation, but that it should reach into any and all phases of municipal affairs.

Planning boards, he said, were non-political and non-administrative.

W. A. Halameck, San Angelo mayor, raised the question of municipal operation of airports when extensive programs were needed and how ports could be made self-supporting. He also broached the matter of city-county health units and W. L. Baugh, J. Lubbock, state health department field engineer, pointed out that such units should be considered in the light of prevention and not cure.

Other problems talked by officials were parking meters, extension of sewer lines, a state-wide WPA project for codification of ordinances, and county aid in maintaining streets. Odessa representatives, numbering one-fourth of the total, reported Ector county helped maintain all streets connecting with lateral roads, and George E. Smith, Sonora city manager, said that the county maintained all Sonora streets since five-sixths of the county's automobile registrations were paid by urban folk.

POPPY SALE SLATED HERE SATURDAY

Members of the Ray B. Fuller post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars said Thursday that their annual "Buddy Poppy" sale would be conducted here Saturday.

Governor W. Lee O'Daniel has proclaimed Saturday as "Buddy Poppy Day" in Texas, urging citizens to cooperate in observance through purchase of the poppies. Proceeds from the sale support the VFW local, state and national fund, service and welfare work. The sale is conducted annually on the Saturday before Memorial Day.

Germans Smash At 'Pocketed' Allies

FD WILL MAKE RADIO TALK ON DEFENSE SUNDAY NIGHT

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt will discuss defense conditions and needs in a "fireside chat" to be broadcast to the country Sunday night. In announcing Mr. Roosevelt's decision to make the radio address at 8:30 p. m. Central Standard Time, Stephen Early, presidential secretary told newsmen it would be a "straight forward and factual report from the government to the people."

Early said the chief executive would mention such things as commodities, materials for war, agricultural problems, prices, wages, and other topics important in the present state of world affairs. The address will be broadcast by the three major radio companies. It may be relayed abroad by short wave. The senate, out to duplicate its double-quick action on army funds, rushed approval today for the navy's share of the record-making $3,997,011,352 peacetime defense program. The $1,473,706,738 navy bill was called up for debate, and leaders predicted a speedy decision, perhaps rivaling the five-hour drive which swept the $1,823,254,824 army measure through yesterday by a 74-to-6 vote. The tenor of senate feeling was indicated by Chairman Pittman (D-Nev) of the foreign relations committee after the army bill was passed. "That's notice to the world," he said, "that we will be able to finish anything they start."

Navy Appropriations Bill Is Given Approval By Senate

Provision Included For 2,970 New Planes

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The senate approved the 1,473,738,728 navy appropriations bill today, hastening the administration's extraordinary national defense program far toward final congressional action. A total of 2,970 airplanes, 2,500 of which would be training ships to fill the needs of an expanding training program, would be provided under terms of the navy bill, counting out relatively small number of replacements, most of these would augment the navy's present air fleet of 1,800 existing planes and 933 being built.

RUMANIA ALERT—These Rumanian soldiers are shown marching past a statue of Carol I, father of their present king, in a national holiday parade in Bucharest May 10. Rumania has ordered a virtual general mobilization in a move which diplomats believed was linked with Bucharest's fear of a Russian drive into Bessarabia. Rich in oil, Rumania also has been worrying over a possible German thrust.

Proposed aviation expenditures of $226,000,000 would include $45,000,000 also for development of airplane shore facilities. The fleet would get $65,000,000 in emergency funds for expedition of ship building, $55,000,000 for armor and ammunition and $6,000,000 for modernization of the battleships New York, Texas and Arkansas. These amounts would be in addition to $259,000,000 in regular appropriations.

Emergency funds would make possible expansion of the navy's enlisted personnel from 145,000 to 170,000 and the marine corps personnel from 25,000 to 34,000. President Roosevelt would be given $34,000,000 in cash and a like amount in contract authority to be spent at his discretion in plugging cracks in defense armor as the program goes along.

The measure now goes to the house for expected speedy action on amendments. In approving the navy measure, the senate voted for cash appropriations of $1,302,265,938 and contract authority for future expenditures of $171,491,800.

CONGRESSMEN MAY NOT GET TO ATTEND TEXAS DEMO MEET

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—National defense legislation may prevent a single Texan in congress from attending the democratic convention of his state at Waco next Tuesday. Most likely to go is House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn of Bonham, but he made it clear that if the pending army and navy authorization and appropriation measures were not disposed of he would not leave.

Rayburn has been backed for selection as chairman of the Texas delegation to the democratic national convention, with Representative Lyndon B. Johnson of Johnson City as vice chairman. The pair effected the compromise between Garner and Roosevelt for third term forces in Texas.

DALLAS, May 23 (AP)—Lewis Stone, 47-year-old pottery worker, was found shot to death at his home here today. Verdict of suicide was returned.

Rainfall Here Only .07 Inch

Rainfall of consequence missed the Big Spring area again Wednesday, as many other parts of the state reported soaking rains during the night and morning. Skies which had been overcast during the morning here were breaking in the afternoon, and only .07 inch fell had been shown by the airport weather bureau for the 24-hour period to 7 a. m. Thursday. Lubbock reported 1.12 inches of rain and said an inch or more fell over most of the South Plains. It was of great benefit to wheat. The moisture in that territory was said to be sufficient. The entire area around Wichita Falls was soaked, riding late onto and wheat and pastures. Precipitation at the Wichita Falls airport totaled 1.68 inches. Fort Worth said an overnight rainfall of .69 inch put that area above normal for the month by .03. Some small bridges were washed out and water was running over the roads in places. The Trinity river was rising but not dangerously. Dr. J. L. Cline, weather observer at Dallas, said there was an inch of rain at Amarillo, .89 at El Paso, .73 at Del Rio, .45 at Austin, .24 at Houston and .16 at Dallas.

High Winds Hit Corpus

CORPUS CHRISTI, May 23 (AP)—A wind early today which reached a velocity of 68 miles an hour at some points in this area, did considerable damage to beach cottages, oil derricks, boats and crops. At the airport, where a 68-mile an hour wind was recorded, the radio tower collapsed and an amphibious plane was badly damaged. The velocity in downtown Corpus Christi was only 38 miles per hour. Damage to the cotton and other crops was believed extensive. A strip four miles wide northwest of Kobsstown was leveled and other damage was reported in that territory. Utilities properties and trees were blown down in various parts of Corpus Christi. Telephone companies were out of service. See HIGH WINDS, Page 7, Col. 8

Move Speedily For Control Of Aliens

FDR's Proposed Transfer Given Approval By Committee

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—A special house committee unanimously adopted today a resolution for quick congressional approval of President Roosevelt's alien control order transferring the immigration service from the labor department to the justice department. The action came less than 24 hours after the president sent congress the order and a message saying the transfer would enable the government "to deal quickly with undesirable aliens."

Leaders said they hoped to push the resolution through the house before the weekend. It would make the transfer effective ten days after both senate and house adopted it and President Roosevelt signed it. Congress normally has 60 days to reject or approve the president's reorganization plans, but Mr. Roosevelt said that since the action probably would end within that period, special affirmative action should be taken. Rep. Taber (R-NY) joined Rep. Cochran in predicting overwhelming house approval. He said that "ordinary people" would not object. "I suspect," Taber told reporters, "that only the people who are interested in getting into the United States folks who don't have any business being here will be opposed to the plan."

Start Work On Census Check

Several families were enumerated Thursday as the chamber of commerce completed plans for a systematic "spot check" of the city to assure a complete 1930 federal census count here Friday morning. J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, said that enumerators were cooperating in a fine spirit with the chamber and that one had been successful in enumerating a sizable number of people Thursday morning. The public, he added, is aiding in the drive to make the census accurate and complete by notifying the chamber offices when they or someone of their neighbors have been missed. Friday morning a corps of volunteer workers will canvas the chamber plan to check given areas in the eight Big Spring census districts. Unless the results of the spot check reveal a reasonable percentage missed, perhaps little more will be done to bolster the census, which now promises to be considerably below the 1930 figure shown for Big Spring. But should a large number be shown, after cross-checking, to have been unenumerated, then the chamber workers will canvas the canvass to add enumerators to include them in the count which will stand for the next 10 years. The check Friday will be made from 10 a. m. to noon, and the chamber urged residents to aid in making the hasty count in the areas as accurate as possible.

Vital Channel Port May Be In Hands Of Hitler Forces

Fighting Of 'Serious Character,' Churchill Says In Report

LONDON, May 23 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill, in a two-minute war report, told the house of commons today that there is heavy fighting in the English Channel coastal area of Boulogne, that Abbeville is in German hands and that British communications are endangered. "It is too early yet to say what the result of this coastal fighting may be," the prime minister said, "but it evidently carries with it implications of a serious character."

Italy's Council May Make A Decision On Entering War

The German blitzkrieg, smashing at 500,000 to 1,000,000 "pocketed" allied troops in Belgium and northern France today recaptured Abbeville, 12 miles from the English Channel and near authorities said it was "quite probable" they had also taken the vital channel port of Boulogne. Boulogne is just 35 miles across the Straits of Dover from Folkestone, England. The Germans admitted, however, that the "real battle" against England could not begin until the strategic allied "pocket" in Belgium and northern France—extended from Abbeville to Ostend—has been crushed. "In view of the strong forces encircled there, it will not be done without heavy fighting," said DNB, the official German news agency.

At the same time, with Britain giving her whole resources and energy to the one task of waging war, these developments were disclosed. 1. The arrest of Captain Archibald H. M. Ramsay, conservative member of parliament, and a roundup of a number of other persons because of the danger of sections "prejudicial to the security of the state."

French Drive To Reunite 2 Armies

PARIS, May 23 (AP)—The French army, effecting what foreign military experts called a "miracle of reorganization," fought today with new fury to reunite their northern and central armies and chop off the long, sharp spearhead which the Germans have driven through northern France to the sea. Pockets with their British and Belgian allies, the northern French army, using tanks, planes, motorized units and artillery, engaged the Germans in a bitter see-saw battle between Cambrai and Valenciennes, 25 miles apart. Here, at the base of their long southern salient which extends southwest to the Abbeville coastal region, the Germans attacked to make tighter and smaller the sack in which they are holding the allied forces of Flanders (estimated by the Germans at between 500,000 and 1,000,000 men). The battle jockeyed back and forth along the Scheldt river, with temporary advantages for both sides. At one point the French, a military spokesman said, fought their way down to the outskirts of Cambrai, territory from which they had been pushed earlier in the week by Nazi armored columns. South of the salient, moving from their stabilized line along the Laon river, other French forces were en route north, fighting their way from the St. Quentin neighborhood toward the Cambrai battlefield. A halt in withdrawals of the French, British and troops from their lines in Belgium, north and west from this main battleground, was implied in military reports.

COMPLIANCE STAFF TAKE EXAMINATIONS

The men who will check farmers of seven counties in this area were given examinations here Thursday by F. V. Swain, district 6 north AAA field representative, and L. C. Cornelius, district performance supervisor from the state office. In addition to county supervisors, who were subjected to the examination, county committee men and county administrative assistants from Howard, Martin, Glasscock, Sterling, Andrews, Ector and Midland counties.

Headquarters Unit Bombed

LONDON, May 23 (AP)—Headquarters of a German armored unit have been bombed by British warplanes, the air ministry announced tonight. Tanks, armored vehicles and troop concentrations forming the vanguard of the German advance toward the French channel ports were attacked for more than six hours yesterday by Blenheim aircraft, it was said. The bombardment caused "damage and confusion over a wide area," according to the communiqué.

Reply To Landon: President Has No Time For Political Comment

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—A 1940 candidate. In handing his statement to the press, the 1936 republican presidential nominee said that it could "not be linked" with his meeting with the chief executive, as nothing in it was mentioned in their talk. Declaring that the present European situation was bound to have "serious implications even in this country," Landon advocated a national council of "leaders and experts in their own fields, the members of which are not merely administration satellites," as desirable to head the defense program. "But unfortunately for the coun-

More Donors To Red Cross

Twenty-one more contributors to the Howard County Red Cross chapter's war refugee relief fund were announced Thursday, boosting the receipts to date to $158.30. Shlue Phillips, chapter chairman, renewed the appeal for aid in reaching a quota of $1,125 for Howard and Glasscock counties. Several other Texas chapters are exceeding their quotas, he said. From the St. Louis Midwest branch office came word that large quantities of surgical dressings, blankets and articles of clothing produced by Red Cross volunteers have been shipped to Europe to be used along with $600,000 called Wednesday for immediate aid of $300,000 in clothing pouring into France, according to William M. Baxter, Jr., manager of the St. Louis office. Assurances that all funds would be used for non-combatants was given again Thursday by Phillips. Howard and Glasscock counties must do their part toward raising a $100,000 American Red Cross relief fund, he said.

Nazis Launch A New Attack

PARIS, May 23 (AP)—The German army launched a new attack late today in the Attigny sector on the Aisne river. Shows Disregard To Flag, Ejected From Del Rio

DEL RIO, May 23 (AP)—A stranger to Del Rio, who showed his regard for an American flag, was invited to leave the city while literature he brought with him went up in smoke.

The man and two women companions, dealing in booklets of a religious nature, were questioned by police following complaints yesterday that the stranger had announced he owed allegiance to no government and would not salute a United States flag.

Mayor J. S. Bradford ordered the three escorted to their automobile at the outskirts of the city. Police had dispersed a crowd near the city hall but before leaving Del Rio the trio was confronted by a score of men who requested to see their literature.

The local citizens reported they were incensed by statements in the booklets concerning President Roosevelt and declaring that "religion was the work of demons and should be shunned."

Some members of the crowd made a fire of the literature and also some phonograph records handed over to them.

The man and women left in their automobile with about a dozen cars following them to the city limits. There were no threats made and the crowd seemed interested only in seeing the trio leave the city.

L. F. Leung, Del Rio newspaper publisher, said:

"The crowd had a large American flag which the man disregarded and this lack of respect visibly incensed the men in the crowd," Leung added. "However, they were orderly."

Frequent use of the swastika in the literature was the only evidence of possible racial connection, the publisher said.

The man admitted he was receiving a monthly compensation of $15 as a war veteran.

Mayor Bradford said the man, when asked if he would salute the American flag, replied he "saluted no flag" and that it was "nothing but a rag."

American Legion Commander R. H. Word said "they were just a religious outfit."

TOURISTS ADVISED THAT ALL IS SAFE IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, May 23 (AP)—United States tourists were officially advised by the Mexican government today that they could make plans to visit Mexico this summer without fear of encountering a revolution.

Expressing appreciation not only for the economic benefits to Mexico of American tourist traffic, but also for the "greater understanding and increasing cordiality" between the two countries that results, the department of the interior declared:

"The present is characterized by an insidious propaganda which attacks many peoples and Mexico is, frequently, the target of some attacks.

"Among other things, it has been rumored that seditious movements are being incubated here, which, naturally, inspires lack of confidence in those who desire to visit us on holiday trips.

"Such versions lack foundation and it can be stated emphatically that one of the real attractions of Mexico is precisely the peace which her people enjoy—devoting themselves to work."

One Half Credit Is Given For Extra Work

For the third consecutive year the homemaking department of Big Spring high school offers summer work to students desiring to earn one-half credit during the summer months. This work is done under the direction of Lillian Jordan and Florence McAllister, homemaking teachers.

Any student having already earned one-half credit in homemaking is eligible to take this summer work. There is no fee connected with the course.

The work may be done in any of the following phases of homemaking, depending upon the class ranking of the student:

Work is to begin today with a group meeting held at 3 o'clock in the homemaking department and plans will be made for carrying on the work through the summer months. Most of the work will be directed through individual conferences and home visits with each student. Four group meetings will be held. The first one today, for instructions and plans, the second one an outing of some sort, the third for the purpose of working on some group projects. The final group meeting will be held August 23 in the form of Achievement Day at which time the girls will exhibit and explain work accomplished during the summer.

Each student is required to put in 100 hours of work on some worthwhile experiences.

Approximately 80 girls are signed up for this work. All others who are interested are urged to see Miss Jordan or Miss McAllister immediately.

READY TO SPEED WORK ON NAVAL UNIT AT CORPUS

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Representative Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said today that actual work on the establishment of a $25,000,000 naval air training school at Corpus Christi, Tex., would begin almost immediately after the naval appropriation bill is passed.

Johnson, a member of the house naval committee, said this was brought out in committee hearings during question of Rear Admiral John Towers, chief of naval aeronautics.

Towers disclosed, Johnson said, that despite the fact the navy had not yet acquired title to any land in the Corpus Christi area, it was prepared to do so shortly, even if condemnation proceedings were necessary.

The Corpus Christi station is to be as large or larger than the naval training school at Pensacola, Fla., Johnson said, and will train 2,500 pilots a year. It is expected to be ready for service in about a year.

WANTS A LIMIT TO FIELD PRODUCTION

AUSTIN, May 23 (AP)—Asserting the oil industry in Texas was overdrilling itself into bankruptcy, Ernest O. Thompson, member of the railroad commission which controls production, expressed the opinion in an interview today that output should be limited by fields.

"Texas operators have been drilling 24 wells a day since Jan. 1," Thompson said, "and allowable increases have been granted at a rate of 72,000 barrels daily. Obviously, the new wells are being brought in faster than we can cut the production."

"The natural remedy would seem to be a top allowable for a field, meaning that additional wells drilled would incur a reduction in allowable per well."

READY TO SPEED WORK ON NAVAL UNIT AT CORPUS

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Representative Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said today that actual work on the establishment of a $25,000,000 naval air training school at Corpus Christi, Tex., would begin almost immediately after the naval appropriation bill is passed.

Johnson, a member of the house naval committee, said this was brought out in committee hearings during question of Rear Admiral John Towers, chief of naval aeronautics.

Towers disclosed, Johnson said, that despite the fact the navy had not yet acquired title to any land in the Corpus Christi area, it was prepared to do so shortly, even if condemnation proceedings were necessary.

The Corpus Christi station is to be as large or larger than the naval training school at Pensacola, Fla., Johnson said, and will train 2,500 pilots a year. It is expected to be ready for service in about a year.

WANTS A LIMIT TO FIELD PRODUCTION

AUSTIN, May 23 (AP)—Asserting the oil industry in Texas was overdrilling itself into bankruptcy, Ernest O. Thompson, member of the railroad commission which controls production, expressed the opinion in an interview today that output should be limited by fields.

"Texas operators have been drilling 24 wells a day since Jan. 1," Thompson said, "and allowable increases have been granted at a rate of 72,000 barrels daily. Obviously, the new wells are being brought in faster than we can cut the production."

"The natural remedy would seem to be a top allowable for a field, meaning that additional wells drilled would incur a reduction in allowable per well."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of top and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passage with smarting and burning sensations shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney trouble that cost millions of waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Oil Operators Work On Big Borrowings

Nearly $800,000,000 of borrowed capital is being used by the Texas oil industry to finance its operators, according to a survey of bank loans and funded debt made by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

Texas banks alone are shown by the survey to be carrying oil loans to Texas oilmen of more than $65,000,000. Banks of other states have loaned the Texas operators $96,000,000 more, making a total of $164,000,000 in bank loans.

In addition, approximately $633,000,000 more is represented in funded debt directly chargeable to the Texas oil industry, in credit advanced to oil operators by supply companies, and other forms of indebtedness. This makes a total of $797,000,000 of borrowed money which enables the Texas oil industry to operate.

Interest charges on bank loans and funded indebtedness have placed an additional obligation upon Texas oilmen of nearly $40,000,000 a year. Loans of Texas banks to oilmen of the state have steadily increased despite lowered allowables, showing the increasing recognition of the worth of oil in place as collateral. In 1935, when the daily per well allowable was 20.5 barrels a day, Texas banks loaned to the Texas oil industry the sum of $26,000,000. With the per well allowable around 17 barrels, the total of loans is nearly three times as great. The average production for 1939 was around 15 barrels per well per day.

Official facts show that far more money has been put into the ground in Texas by the petroleum industry than has ever been taken out of it.

The market value of all the oil produced in Texas from 1889 to Jan. 1, 1940, has aggregated $7,000,000,000 (billions). The cost of finding the state's hidden reservoirs of oil, the drilling both of producing oil wells and of dry holes and the expense of bringing it to the earth's surface has totaled around $8,200,000,000 (billions). This expense of development has exceeded the cumulative oil production value by more than $1,200,000,000 (billions).

Figured in simpler terms, the Texas oilman has spent $1.17 for every $1 worth of oil which he has produced so far.

Texas bankers and others tending money for oil development in the state, however, have lent increasing sums regardless of this difference in return from money invested. This policy is due to the fact that the great underground reserves of recoverable petroleum constitute a valuable form of collateral which provides the banker with an ample margin of safety.

Today Texas oil reserves already discovered but as yet unproduced total around 10 billion barrels, or approximately 53 per cent of all the known oil reserves in the nation. With the state now discovering new oil reserves twice as fast as it produces the old ones, the prospects are good for oil production in Texas at the current rate of output for 100 years yet.

The island of Newfoundland is about the size of the state of Virginia.

LINDBERGH SEES NO FEAR OF ATTACK—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is shown at the microphone when he told American people, in a radio address from Washington, that they need have no fear of attack unless they bring it through quarreling and meddling with affairs abroad. He called for an end to "hysterical chatter of calamity and invasion."

Lower Costs May Solve Vacation Place Puzzle

The vacation wars are now on in America.

The old battle of divergent family opinions on the seashore, the lakes and mountains are passing since transportation costs have been hammered down to a point where all three may be visited on limited budgets.

For instance, the Greyhound Lines, in cooperation with bus companies over the nation, are offering a Grand Circle tour of the United States for $69.95, one that varies from six to nine thousand miles from coast to coast and includes the New York and San Francisco fairs.

Three months will be allowed for the trip, however. It can be made in as little as two weeks. Stop-over privileges are allowed and cooperating companies have arranged expense-paid side tours, most including hotel reservations, transportation and sometime meals. To add to the comfort of the trip, bus liners have been scientifically air conditioned.

Would Give Justice Dept. Authority To Deal With Aliens

WASHINGTON, May 23. (AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress Wednesday to approve transfer of the immigration and naturalization service from the labor to the justice department, thereby to enable the government to "deal quickly" with aliens whose conduct "conflicts with the public interest."

"The startling sequence of international events," Mr. Roosevelt said in a message, "has necessitated a review of the measures required for the nation's safety."

This review he said, disclosed a "pressing need" for the suggested transfer.

Stamford Rodeo To Include A Horse Show

STAMFORD, May 23 — A horse show will be a new feature of the Texas Cowboy Reunion this year in keeping with a new policy of enlarging livestock features of the annual celebration. The Reunion will be held July 2, 3 and 4.

Breeding classes of quarter horses, the favorite for ranch use, will be included in the show. Quarter horses, which are a type rather than a breed, have recently gained added recognition through the organization of an association of breeders of this type animal in the Southwest.

One or more breeding classes of Palominos will be included in the prize list. Several classes of gaited horses are contemplated, with en-

Besides the horse show, one class of steers will likely be included in the livestock division. Prizes totaling around $1,000 have been authorized by the directors for the livestock exhibits.

These prizes will be in addition to the $2,300 cash, six expensive special made saddles, and other lesser prizes to be awarded in the cowboy rodeo, top entertainment feature of the annual Reunion.

The board of directors has authorized W. G. Swenson, president and manager, to contract for a new barn on the Reunion grounds to house the livestock exhibits. Another new barn already is under construction to provide additional stalls for rodeo visitors' horses. This building, with other improvements on the grounds is costing some $2,500.

A revival meeting at the Church of God at W. 4th and Galveston street continues to progress, the Rev. W. W. Smothers, pastor, reported Thursday. He invited all to attend services at 8:15 p. m. daily to hear messages brought by the Rev. Watts of Los Angeles, Calif.

Experts say the age of a rattlesnake cannot be estimated accurately by the number of rattles on his tail because sometimes a snake will acquire three or four buttons instead of only one, a year, and that a snake seldom attains more than 10 or 12 buttons because added ones usually are broken off.

Farm And Ranch Talk

ROUND THE COFFEE POT

By Newton Robinson

Hereford fanciers of this area will have a chance to bid on animals from several outstanding West Texas herds at San Angelo, Friday when 150 head of registered stock go on the block at a sale to be held at the West Texas

Stockyards, Earl Gartin of Greensburg, Ind., will be auctioneer for the sale, and will be assisted by Nelson Johnson of San Angelo. Approximately 20 consignors will have animals on hand.

Included in 80 members of the Kincaid family who attended their family reunion on the Hudson ranch north of Big Spring Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. John Hudson and Mr. and Mrs. Marshal Bradford of Seagraves.

Produce prices were on a level with last week's offerings. Local dealers were paying 8 to 10c for beans, 18 to 20c for fryers, 25c for cream and around 10c for eggs.

Most Howard county farmers were at work this week after receiving rain in small quantities over the weekend and Tuesday night. Most of West Texas was unsettled and showers were reported Wednesday at Lamesa and further up in the plains area.

Reports from the vicinity of Baird tell of an enormous crop of grasshoppers that are plaguing crops. Farmers are poisoning with a mixture of bran and poison solution.

E. R. Eudaly, extension service dairy specialist, and Joe Shelton, Brownwood dairy breeder, will class the best dairy stock to be shown at the Taylor-Jones county Dairy Improvement association slated to be held at Abilene Thursday. The animals are mostly non-registered stock used in commercial milk production. A similar show will be held at Anson Friday.

One of the knottier problems concerning West Texas—that of the 7,000-pound truck load limit—was discussed this week in Austin at a meeting of the DRI Farmers Congress. Edwin B. Mayer, president of the Texas Goat and Sheep Raisers' association, of San Angelo, attended the meeting in behalf of stock raisers of this area. The organization took definite steps toward getting the load limit removed.

Texas has the lowest load limit of any state in the union. Louisiana is next with a 14,000 lb. limit. Other states have a limit of 10,000 and better with several having none at all. The average for the country is around 53,000 pounds.

Work will begin again soon on the farm-to-market strip of road connecting the Elbow community with the south highway. Construction was discontinued on that section several weeks ago after funds for WPA labor ran out.

Cage Brothers and L. A. Turner, Bishop, were successful bidders on the $53,000 road job in Martin county, it has been announced by the state highway department. The feeder road, 15 1/2 miles in length, will lead from Stanton to the Dawson county line.

Biddy Hops on One Leg BOSTON (UP)—Biddy is a hen with plenty of courage. Last fall her left leg was severed in an accident, but with the help of her owner, Joseph D. Craven, and the sympathetic care of Mrs. Craven, she has learned to walk on the other one. Little by little she learned to spread her toes and lean her weight to one side. Now she is able to hop several yards along.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plates dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). British Leader Is Arrested

LONDON, May 23. (UP)—The arrest of Captain Archibald H. M. Ramsay, conservative member of parliament, by direction of the home secretary was announced today by the speaker of the house of commons.

Ramsay, a veteran of the World war, was detained in Brixton prison as the government carried out a roundup of persons suspected as "fifth columnists."

At the same time a police guard was clamped on headquarters of the British union, the British fascist organization headed by Sir Oswald Mosley.

When a member of the house asked whether the home secretary would give the reason for Ramsay's arrest the speaker replied, "not at this stage."

LONDON, May 23. (UP)—Police descended today on the headquarters of the British union, the organization of fascist leader Sir Oswald Mosley, and posted a guard outside.

Shortly after police took charge of the union building, which is near the houses of parliament, several persons left the headquarters accompanied by police.

Ramsay, of a well known military family, long had been regarded as a fascist, particularly on the score of anti-Semitism.

His arrest followed closely on the issuing of regulations under the emergency legislation passed yesterday empowering the home secretary to intern or arrest anyone suspected of being active in an organization subject to foreign influence or control or who has "sympathies with the system of government of any power with which His Majesty is at war."

Home Secretary Sir John Anderson assured the house that steps have been taken to safeguard England from the entry of "fifth columnists" as refugees.

Knobbing Plastics May Be Used in Fighting Craft

VAN NUYS, Calif., May 23. (UP)—From an army aviation expert comes a prediction that huge airplane "bakeries"—knobbing plastics rather than dough—may open the door to mass production of fighting craft.

Col. Joseph L. Stromme of the army air corps planning division witnessed the testing of an all-plastic airplane here yesterday. In an address to 800 spectators he said:

"Aviation heretofore has been individual in production. It is almost as if each airplane has been hand-made."

"Now we see demonstrated the extreme possibility that airplanes soon may be turned out of molds, swiftly and at comparatively low cost. This may mark the start of an era of mass production of aircraft, military and commercial."

Colonel Stromme said the sleek, bright blue-and-gold plastic trainer which test pilot Vance Breeze put through its paces was not the first plastic plane.

"The today demonstration indicates that this particular plastic is superior in strength, at any rate, to earlier models."

The plane is of thin layers of spruce plies glued together and coated with phenolic resin plastic liquid, the composition of which is secret.

The material is subjected to extreme pressure in molds, the various fuselage parts pressed together without rivets, bolts or other metal fastenings. The entire structure then is baked in a huge oven for about two hours.

THREE LINE-UP

Allies Have Manpower But Germans Have Edge in Planes

WASHINGTON — In 1914, the Allies had the engine powers outnumbered at the outset of war by about two to one, thanks to Russia, whereas today the Allied advantage in numbers is only seven to six.

Oddly enough, the German air force was superior in 1914, just as it is today. Then it was 600 standard planes, perhaps 10 zeppelins, and 1,000 trained pilots, against the Allies' 814 crates of all kinds and 700 pilots, most of them poorly trained.

In 1914, it was 1,250,000 German and Austro-Hungarian troops, at the outset, compared with the Allied total of 7,650,000. On September 1, 1939, when the present war began, the Germans had 6,850,000 men in uniform against the Allies' 7,718,000. This last figure included the Belgian and Dutch armies. Both sides increased their numbers since.

At the same time the Germans had an estimated air force of 338,000 men and 10,000 planes, with many more planes and men in reserve. The combined French, British, Belgian and Dutch forces had air force personnel of only 405,900 men and 6,750 planes, with 70,000 men in reserve and probably half of their planes obsolete.

Defense attorneys said they would try to prove today that Mrs. May Walker Burleson was temporarily insane when the woman who succeeded her in marriage to a U. S. army colonel was shot to death March 8.

Mrs. Burleson recently was observed for 20 days at the state hospital and physicians said she was "not insane."

The state presented evidence yesterday intended to show that the defendant made sure of the identity of the second Mrs. Burleson, then shot her to death as she sat at a hotel cafeteria table.

The defendant gazed through her lognette at the jurors and apparently maintained deep interest as a witness told how she slew Col. Richard C. Burleson, a second wife. She looked several times at Col. Burleson, who sat nearby.

The defendant was discovered in Mexico by Cervantes in 1784.

'Son Of The Navy' On Ritz Theatre's Program Today

Monogram "Son of the Navy," now playing at the Ritz theatre, is adapted from the radio play of the same title by True Boardman and Grover Jones, which starred Ginger Rogers on the Silver Theatre.

"Son of the Navy" tells the story of a youngster who runs away from the orphanage to "adopt" a mother and father. Complications arise when he chooses an admiral's daughter and a navy officer, who thoroughly hate each other, as his parents.

Jean Parker is seen in the role of "Steve" Moore, the character played by Ginger Rogers on the radio; and James Dunn is the sailor, radio-acted by Elliott Lewis.

Other outstanding in "Son of the Navy" include Dave O'Brien, Gene Morgan, Sarah Padden, and William Ryle, with 12 year old Martin Spelman as "Tommy" who causes all the trouble.

"Son of the Navy" is one of two features on the Ritz double-bill for Thursday. Other top billing is "Doubtful Alice," with Wayne Morris, Margaret Lindsay and William Gargan.

The Australian platypus is a combination of fish, bird and animal.

ORDERS LINER TO PICK UP AMERICANS

WASHINGTON, May 23. (UP)—The state department, manifesting concern for Americans in Europe's "total war" zone, gave the liner President Roosevelt sailing orders to go to Ireland and bring back as many as it can accommodate.

To protect the ship against military molestation, the government served notice of her peaceful mission on Great Britain, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland and Norway.

The President Roosevelt will sail from New York tonight for Galway, Ireland, where her arrival is expected about May 30. The return voyage will begin as soon as she has taken aboard all Americans wishing to come home.

The state department's announcement last night followed by a few hours a blanket warning to Americans to quit Europe's Near Eastern region as soon as possible.

'Marble King' Is Crowned

Fermon Steadman, 12-year-old West Ward school boy, Thursday was crowned marble king of Big Spring, a title he earned Wednesday afternoon in the finals of the city-wide marble tournament on the high school campus.

He outshot five other school champions to win the honor, and an 18-inch gold plated trophy presented by the Kiwanis club, sponsor of the event.

In the first round, he defeated Thomas Harvell, Central Ward, and drew a bye to the finals. E. J. Haymes, East Ward, defeated Donald Lester, College Heights, while Troy Bettes, North Ward, beat Bennett Petty, South Ward, then lost to E. J. Haymes in the semi-finals.

The final match, however, was the best of all, both contestants plunking out seven marbles each before Fermon finally drew a bead on the deciding marble and sent it bouncing from the ring.

Rain interrupted the matches and they had to be finished in the high school gymnasium. All school champions received "olympic" sweater shields and bronze medals. Besides the first place trophy, a gold medal was given to E. J. Haymes for second place and

FSA Stresses Food, Feed Production

Farm Security Administration borrowers in Howard county are laying special emphasis on the production of food for their table, feed for their livestock and proper crop diversification in their 1940 plans for farm and home operations, Ur D. Kindrick, county supervisor of this federal agency said here this week.

"The farmers who come to us for rehabilitation loans," Kindrick said, "are realizing that production of their own feed and food is an important factor in the successful operation of any farm."

He said tremendous strides have also been made in crop diversification which means that a similar gain has been made in the adoption of soil conserving practices because the two go hand in hand.

Bigger and more properly planned gardens are growing this year on the farms of FSA borrowers, according to Mrs. Girdy P. Flache, home management supervisor. Not only will these gardens help keep down living costs, but they will result in better diets and improved health for the families.

Mrs. Flache said five FSA borrower families in Howard and Martin counties produced 75 per cent of their living at home last year and four produced 60 per cent of their living at home. Because of the increased trend greater home production of food, Mrs. Flache believes this number will be doubled this year.

Sub-irrigated frame gardens, Mrs. Flache said, are increasingly popular. By using old lumber and discarded oil cans, even the most disadvantaged farm families find they can construct these frame gardens

Marble Shooters Guests Of Kiwanis

At their regular weekly luncheon session Thursday, the Big Spring Kiwanis club had as special guests five top ranking marble shooters from city schools, the championship places being determined following the first town wide tournament of this type which was sponsored by this service club.

Presentation of the awards was by Walter Wilson, who, with the assistance of Pat Murphy and other school officials, supervised the playing.

The city championship trophy, standing 18 inches high and gold plated, went to Fermon Steadman of West Ward. Other awards, consisting of an olympic sweater shield and school championship medals, were presented to Thomas Harvell, Central Ward; Bennett Petty, South Ward; Troy Bettes, North Ward and E. J. Haymes, East Ward.

Second and third place awards were also offered and went to Hames and Bettes, respectively.

Club guests were Harold Miller, Carlsbad; Harold McFarland, Midland, and Johnny Nail and Joe Edwards.

Will Standardize Plane Production

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today he was obtaining agreements from the airplane industry to spread the manufacture of favored types of warplanes and engines among many plants.

The aim is to standardize production of such types, which heretofore have been made only by the companies which held exclusive rights to them.

The secretary, as President Roosevelt's aide on airplanes, said he was hiring a corps of experts to select the best types for standardized production.

The experts will make their selection after consulting the army, navy, civil aeronautics authority and national advisory council for aviation, he said, and some of the selections will be made by next week.

Morgenthau hired, at $10,000 a year, Dr. George Jackson Mead, vice chairman of the NACA, to head the experts. He characterizes Mead as the "greatest living authority on airplane engines."

JAMESON BEATEN

FORT WORTH, May 23 (AP)—Betty Jameson, the national women's golf champion, was tumbled out of the Women's Southern Golf association tournament today by Kay Pearson of Houston, 2 and 1 in a dramatic quarter-finals match.

Court Crowd Ignores Judge
ST. LOUIS (UP)—Circuit Judge Eugene Sartorius ordered 125 spectators to stay after court an hour the other day because of an "unbecoming" outburst of approval over acquittal of a defendant. The sentence failed, however, because no one was in the courtroom to enforce it.

Liaca Surround Capitol

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UP)—Gardeners at the capitol have found an outlet for their sense of beauty by specializing on the growing of lilac bushes. They now have 34 varieties of lilacs growing on the capitol grounds.

CASING IS SET

Seven-inch OD casing has been set with 125 sacks of cement in the Ray Albaugh No. 2 J. A. Robinson wildcat test in block 54-M, ELARR survey, northwestern Dawson county. The pipe was set at 4,900 feet and the shift is being made from rotary to standard, with plugs due to be drilled early next week.

MARKETS Wall Street

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP)—New war clouds again helped darken the stock market today and, in a brief last-hour selling deluge, prices of leaders wilted 1 to 4 or more points.

Gains ran to 3 or so for favored steels, motors and aircraft at the start. Trends then began to waver in light dealings. Shortly after the final period began offerings hit the list hard enough to put the ticker tape behind and wipe out virtually all of the morning's improvement.

Graduation Program Held Wednesday For Lakeview School

Graduation exercises for the Lakeview (negro) school were held Wednesday night at the Mount Bethel Baptist church and graduates were Alma Phair, Odessa Shelton, A. G. Phair and Wally Edwin Ringo.

The graduation was from ninth grade which is as high a grade as provided at the school.

W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of schools, distributed the diplomas and awards and King Sides, assistant superintendent, made the address to graduates on making a success in life.

Odessa Shelton made the salutatory address on "The Means by Which Men Have Made Success in Life," and Alma Phair as valedictorian spoke on "Building Castles in the Air."

The school chorus sang several numbers and the invocation was given by the Rev. L. E. Browning. Gifts were distributed at the end of the commencement.

communications with the city were disrupted more than an hour.

Skiffs and small boats along the waterfront were torn loose from anchorage to be tossed on the shore or sunk in shallow water. Several beach cottages were leveled.

Two deep sea vessels, the Miralco and Bahin, were torn loose from docks at the port but damage was slight.

Nine oil derricks were blown down in the East White Point field, six in Surces Bay. A derrick in the Saret field fell on a garage, damaging two automobiles.

Total rainfall here was 1.58 inches of which nearly an inch fell in a period of ten minutes.

NAVY BUILDUP—How additional millions may be spent to strengthen the navy, as part of a huge U. S. defense program, is the concern of these men, among others, at the capital. Left to right: Carl Vinson, chairman of House naval committee; Rear Admiral S. M. Robinson, chief of engineering bureau; Rear Admiral A. H. Van Keuren, chief of construction and repair.

IT'S 'SAILFISH' NOW—Refitted at a cost of $1,400,000, the ill-fated submarine, Squalus, is back in the U. S. navy again as the "Sailfish" and is shown, above, at Portsmouth, N. H., navy yard. The Squalus sank May 23, 1939, with 59 men aboard, of whom 33 were saved. Four of these survivors are with the Sailfish. The sub will undergo trials within a month.

FOR THE HONORED DEAD—May 30, 1940, will find Seth M. Flint, 93, of Worcester, N. Y., almost as firm-toned a bugler as he was 75 years ago, during the Civil war. He served in Union army, was at Appomattox when General Lee surrendered. Flint enlisted when he was 15 years old and was a bugler in the 5th U. S. Cavalry.

THE RIDDLE IN ROME—Probably no man on earth has been eyed more anxiously than Mussolini (center), whose decision probably will determine whether Italy joins her axis partner, Germany, in the war. In this early May view, Il Duce strides along with Fascist Secretary Ettore Muti (left) and Marshal Pietro Badoglio. To Duce, F.D.R. has made peace pleas.

COMMAND—Commanding officer of the "Sailfish," which is the former Squalus, reconditioned, is Morton C. Mumma, Jr. (above), 35. The officer is a former Iowan.

ARMY'S PURSUIT OF SPEED—Shown in flight is the U. S. army air corps' fast new Curtiss P-40 pursuit plane in production as result of nation's demand for better air defense. It carries more armament than the Curtiss Hawk, which the French air force likes, is equipped with machine guns that fire through the propeller. It also carries oxygen equipment.

COCKEYED—Cockey, a kitten in an East Liberty drugstore in Pittsburgh, can't help being cockeyed, but residents in her neighborhood are mighty amused about it.

BOMBER UNDERGOES TESTS—Marking the re-entry of Consolidated Aircraft corporation into the land plane manufacturing field, this four-engine bomber has been tested at San Diego. It has a wingspread of 110 feet, range of about 3,000 miles, speed of more than 300 m.p.h., and a bomb-carrying capacity of about four tons. This is Consolidated Model 32.

RACE-LACE—Under this jaunty summer sailor seen at the opening of Belmont track, New York, is Mrs. Albert J. Davis, who remains faithful to the smaller hat mode.

Editorial

Forgetting the drought and the war, Big Spring today has another pressing matter forced to its attention. It is the 1940 federal census, which, from all indications, promises to be substantially under the totals reported in 1930.

Community pride in members demands that a thorough check be made to ascertain if the census has been well taken. If Big Spring has more people than have actually been counted, then the job ought not to be abandoned until it is done accurately.

Every resident can play a part in this program, for he or she can be responsible for checking with neighbors and advising chamber of commerce officials when unenumerated families or individuals are found. In another field, public spirited citizens can aid immeasurably by giving a little time in assisting in selected "spot checks."

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—There's a 50-50 chance that the next congress will have among its representatives the only man who for 20 years successfully competed with the Washington Monument as a capital drawing card.

Walter Perry Johnson, the "Big Train" of baseball and the greatest pitcher the big leagues ever turned out, is the republican nominee in the sixth Maryland district.

Over and over, I've heard the story since his nomination from men who came here as youngsters during the two decades that followed 1907.

There wasn't a boy who came to town in those days who wouldn't rather have had one brief "Hi, son" from Walter than to have shaken hands with President "Teddy" Roosevelt.

ROOKIES ARE BENCHED

If the big, slow-talking Maryland farmer does come to congress next January he'll still be a drawing card, but it'll be on past performance. Rookies in the congressional league scarcely ever get a chance to pitch.

Take a dynamic fellow like Bruce Barton, for example. Before he ran for representative from New York, he already had had his finger in national affairs and big business.

Now I haven't checked up lately, but I don't think Mr. Barton has repented a bit at all. Rookies in the house just don't do that sort of thing. If

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—"What about Kaltenborn?" asks J. R. M. of Moutrie, Ga. "His voice sounds German, though I get the impression he wants to be friendly to the Allies. I listen to his broadcasts all the time."

Well, H. V. Kaltenborn is a mild and friendly though energetic man with iron gray hair and blue eyes. He is just an inch under six feet, and he weighs about 190 pounds.

Sometimes on his broadcasts you get the idea that he has visited a good many places and talked with a good many important people. It is seldom that a city or a country figures in the news which he is not intimately acquainted.

So you can see that when Hans Kaltenborn—that's his name. Hans—sits down in his broadcasting booth to analyze the news for you, he has at least a speaking acquaintance with most of the leading principals to start with.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—I always knew if I hung on long enough I'd get a Big Idea for the movies. And here it is—the idea that will save so much money and time the studios will be able to sell the dishes and give away the pictures.

I'm sitting with a bunch of the boys in a Warner Bros. laboratory. We're waiting to hear Bette Davis and Charles Boyer do a love scene over a stretch of some 6,000 miles, via telephone.

Accurate But Not "Over-Census"

is no getting around the fact that during the last 10 years Big Spring has rapidly become one of the most stable communities in West Texas. Where 10 years ago there was evidence of mushroom growth, there are now community buildings, more paved streets, improved water systems, better service, fixed population, more schools, and various instruments of culture and increased commerce.

All indications are that Big Spring actually has not lost population, but rather has gained. The story behind the figures will be that 1930 showed an "over-census" which included hundreds who were not bona fide residents. If such be the case, the method of counting 10 years ago was an example of short-sightedness. For instance, based on the 1930 census bank deposits averaged only $192 per capita.

Hence, Big Spring should concern itself with a true and accurate count, and having had it, buckle down once again to the more important business of building a city that will endure.

By Jack Stinnett

they are smart, they spend a couple of years bench-warming. If they go trying to lambast a homerun every time somebody lets them hold a bat, they're likely to find themselves back in the bush leagues.

So if Walter Johnson does come down here in January and you want to drop in and see the man who for 20 years outdrew the Washington Monument at the tourist turnstile, come ahead. But don't expect him to be throwing any legislative speedballs.

A 50-CENT CAMPAIGN

He did get himself elected commissioner of Montgomery county, where his 550-acre farm is located, and he did get the nomination to congress, but he didn't use much politics.

His first campaign cost him 50 cents for campaign cards, and his second couldn't have cost him much more. He doesn't like to make speeches. He's so modest that it's impossible for him to tell the crowd what a swell representative he would make.

He is republican and anti-new deal, all right, but he can't get very mad about it. His political philosophy consists of something about "a return to the American way of life," which apparently means to Walter the right of every man to plant his own potatoes, hoe his own crop, and sell them for the best price he can get, without anybody butting in.

In some respects, Walter might be almost as unique in congress as he was on the mound. If he does get in, he'll be interesting to watch, once his rookie days are over.

It's so long that now he is one of the best informed men on European affairs in this country.

There is German blood in his veins, though he is American as you or your brother. He hates aggression. He was born in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and he began his career as a partner of his father in the building materials business.

But that didn't last very long for the reason that the Spanish-American war came along and he enlisted. He came out of the war a top sergeant and at once got on a cattle boat bound for Europe. This was the beginning of his "international" restlessness and probably was the first of scores of journeys to all parts of the world.

His office at NBC is just a plain, everyday desk in the news room. I happened to have been up there yesterday and noticed on his desk a type-written list of foreign cities, with their correct pronunciations listed after them. They were, I suppose, to facilitate him in handling those tongue-twisters on his broadcasts. He spends two or three hours daily up there, sorting out his material and arranging it in the order he desires. After that he steps into a room off to one side and makes his broadcasts. Then he goes home to a nice hot dinner, at No. 9 Garden Place, Brooklyn, which Mrs. Kaltenborn always has ready for him.

off. Miss Davis is sunning herself in Hawaii, it's 10 a. m., and Mr. Boyer is not sunning himself in New York, where it's 4 p. m. (E.D.S.T.) and probably showing Miss D and Mr. B made a picture called "All This, and Heaven Too" and then skipped town, after which the studio discovered with alarm that a section of sound track had been marred in the laboratory, necessitating re-recording.

Well, none of us really believe it, accustomed as we are to these horrible hazards of picture-making and their ingenious solutions in the publicity department. We don't really believe, for instance, that the sound track ever was scratched, and we don't really believe that any words Miss D or Mr. B can transmit via trans-oceanic telephone will be worth recording. Not Miss D's, at any rate. Mr. B's might get by because Mr. B frequently sounds as if he spoke over a long connection, even when he's on a "sound stage."

As you probably heard, the thing didn't come off. They cabled the necessary lines to Bette, but they let poor Charlie dig up his own script in New York. And Charlie had a temporary revised final script, while Bette had a final-final-final revised one, and they couldn't hit it off.

Anyway, it was fun, and it's important now because that's how I got this Big Idea, which will practically do away with studios entirely. This will automatically cut down the overhead, the sound stages can be used to house Hollywood Red meetings, which will make everything convenient for Mr. Dies to trap them all at once; the studio employees can go on relief, as a few more on the rolls won't make any difference, will it, Mr. Dewey?

Well, the Big Idea is that we do ALL our pictures by telephone. Miss Davis won't ever have to come back from Honolulu, and Mr. Boyer can stay in New York.

You can see what a change this would make in Hollywood's more abundant life. Miss Davis, so long as she had a pay station handy, could go on winning awards. If she were rumpus with her Scottie, Tibby, or giving a baked bean supper, she merely would have to excuse herself briefly while she told the telephone she loved it.

High Tide

Chapter Two LANCE

"Take him up to the room across from Lance's, Jan ordered, throwing open the door. "Better run over for some brandy while I start coffee."

"Got any rubbing alcohol?" "Lance has. Tell Lance about it. I'll be up in a minute."

Frank started up the wide oak staircase with his old-fashioned balustrade. "I'll rub him down with alcohol and wrap him up in blankets," he said.

Norma Fulton came into the kitchen while Jan was measuring coffee into the electric percolator.

"Can I help, Jan?" I heard Frank saying something to Lance about your pulling a man out."

Jan explained briefly. She liked this gentle young teacher with the plain face and neat brown hair who taught in the grade school a few blocks away and had roomed here with her and Lance since last Fall.

"I know Lance must be starved," Jan worried, plugging the percolator cord into a socket.

"You mind terribly tossing some potatoes into a pot to boil, Norma?" Frank's off duty and he probably has a date and wants to get away. I'll run up for a look at my victim."

Norma's eyes twinkled behind shell-rimmed glasses. "Sure you aren't eaten up by curiosity as to what sort of man you fished out of the ocean?"

"Norma, you're too darned intuitive!" Jan flashed at her as she scuttled for the stairway. Yet, curious or not, Jan stopped first at her brother's door, going soft-ly into the wide room with its many windows looking out over the beach front. It was a soft, faded, lovely room.

"Lance," she called to the back of a wheel chair near a lamp. "I'm sorry, dear, about your dinner. I'll have it ready in fifteen minutes."

Under the practiced pull of a thin nervous hand, the chair swung around. "It's quite all right, Jan."

He answered, "I've been so busy I haven't noticed the time. Isn't it super, Jan?" He held up a small, exquisitely made airplane modeled on the lines of a big clipper ship.

"It's done now. It ought to bring a good price."

She went over to him, ruffled his hair and kissed his forehead. "It's lovely my dear," she assured him soberly. With tender hands she straightened and adjusted the plaid blanket extending from his waist down over the stiff straight expanse of his legs.

His beautiful face twisted. His voice, harsh with restrained anger, hit out at her. "It's lovely! Equivocal! Artistic! To hell with that stuff, I say! I want to fly planes, Jan, not make toys of them!"

"I know," she soothed. "How could you know?" he cried, his anguish torturing her. "How could you know what it is to fly like a bird, free, glorious, then end like this? I'd rather be dead!"

Inured as she was to his moods of depression and melancholia, she still winced under them with almost physical pain. "I'm going to try a chicken for dinner," she said cheerfully. "You love chicken, Lance. And I went berserk and bought a box of the very first strawberries down at the market this morning so you just get ready for strawberry shortcake with loads of whipped cream on it!"

He reached for her small brown hand and held it a moment against his thin cheek. "You're so good. Sia. I don't know how you put up with me. I'm sorry about the outbreak. Now run along and see how your salvaged goods is doing and send Frank in to help me downstairs. I'll go out in the kitchen and annoy Norma."

Not Grateful Thankful to Lance for not questioning further, Jan left him and met Frank in the hallway just coming out of the stranger's room.

"How is he?" she asked. "He'll be all right by tomorrow. I rubbed him hard, pounded him up and poured a big shot of brandy down his throat."

"Did he say anything?" "No. Conscious, though, Jan, he didn't go in off the beach out here. He must have awum down from quite a ways up the coast. I didn't even see him. Think he might have been attempting suicide."

"I wouldn't know," she said briskly. "Help Lance downstairs, Frank. And if you don't have a date tonight, stay for dinner. It's fried chicken and strawberry shortcake."

"I'd break a date for that," he grinned. "Say, what about clothes for that bird in there?"

"I'll dig up something of Lance's."

"Say, that guy is easily six feet two or three. Lance's stuff won't fit him and neither will mine."

"One worry at a time," she said, shoving him toward the opposite door.

The man looked at her as she came in and closed the door. Only his head protruded from the heap of bed covers. His hair, almost dry now, glistened bright copper in the light. His skin, though drained of color from his long soaking, was tanned and lightly freckled. His eyes, black and bitter and satiric, fascinated her.

"Gosh, you're little," he said. "You must have the strength of an Amazon."

"I'm Jan Merriner," she said. "How do you feel now? Better?"

"Don't start asking questions, for I have no intention of telling you anything," he said. "I didn't ask to be rescued, but now that I am I shall probably never again find the courage and the proper frame of mind to attempt dying."

"I wanted to die. I'm an adult of sane, reasoning mind. I know the difference between right and wrong. I failed to do what I wished to do with my life and I decided to end it. I do not feel in the least cowardly about it, so kindly refrain from preaching."

His voice, spent and tired, dwindled to a whisper. Surprise held her speechless a moment. His voice was cultured, perfectly controlled; his enunciation was stirring enough to be enchanting. He seemed, obviously, a gentleman.

"You're young and very good looking," she stated frankly. "Won't someone be searching for you?"

"Women and their hateful probing curiosity!" he muttered. "I'll tell you nothing. I'm only thankful you aren't beautiful. I couldn't stand that."

His eyes closed and he turned his head away from her. "I'll bring you some food the minute it's ready," she said and went out.

Before going downstairs, she went into her own bedroom and looked at herself in the full length mirror. So he was glad she wasn't beautiful! Observing her image, she laughed with genuine merriment. She did look a mess. Her tawny-colored hair, sun-bleached to varying shades, was a tumbled, riotous mass on her shoulders; her golden-skinned face, innocent of any make-up, was certainly not even pretty. There were paint smears on her shapeless white sweat-shirt and shed torn a hole in the knee of her slacks hauling him into her boat.

Nevertheless, she comforted her image. "You have gorgeous eyes, my sweet, and you may defy him to say otherwise. They're large and blue and exotically lashed, so there! And your teeth are above reproach. But outside of that you are a frightful mess!"

Blowing a kiss to her reflection, she skipped out of the room, stimulated by excitement out of fatigue. On the stairway, she nearly collided with Johnny Benton, her other roomer.

"Hello," he said. "What's the hurry?"

"I'm the cook, didn't you know?" "You don't look like a cook."

"I look like a beachcomber and I don't care, so you needn't start your usual harangue about 'You owe it to yourself to make the most of what nature gave you.'"

Go find a glamorous girl at your old beach club and leave me in peace, Johnny?"

"It isn't my beach club," he argued in an aggrieved tone. "I wish it was."

"Were," she corrected matter-of-factly. "There you go again, jumping on my grammar, but you have a fit if I criticize your clothes! Anyhow I wish I were the band leader instead of the trumpet blower."

I get tired of blowing my lungs out on a piece of brass for tired executives trying to do the Lindy."

Jan laughed and he glowered at her. "All right, I suppose it's funny for a musician to be ambitious. Well, it's no funnier than it is for you to want to be a lady Rembrandt!"

"Johnny, for goodness sake, let's declare a truce. How about it?" Her eyes were friendly on the solid young man with the sleek black hair and natty sport suit.

"You blow a swell trumpet, dear boy, and I paint beautiful baskets of fruit."

"Sure, Jan, but you could be a knock-out with the right sort of get-ups."

"And who will provide them?" she demanded. "My taxes are due on this big red elephant and I can't make both ends meet now."

"If I had any money—" he began.

"Oh, skip it. I wouldn't talk to you this way if you didn't seem like one of the family, me lad. Guess I'll advertise for another roomer. Shall I ask for a glamorous lady with a past?"

"Try and get one," he scoffed.

High Tide

"If you do you can raise my rent."

"And that's a promise I won't overlook." She slid past him and made for the kitchen.

Norma, swathed in a great white dish towel, was frying chicken under the cautions of Frank and Lance. Jan took over, fretting with impatience to finish the cooking and rush a tray of food upstairs. "Woman's hateful curiosity," she thought wryly.

Yet a bit later, when she did take him food, he was deeply and soundly asleep and she hadn't the heart to wake him. Passing a moment before dimming the light and switching on a tiny night lamp, she noticed his hands on top of the patchwork quilt. She tiptoed close.

They were unusual hands. Long and narrow with strong, sensitive fingers ending in nails so well kept, so immaculate that her own, in instinctive comparison, were grubby. His skin was flushed now and his expression, in sleep, was calm and boyish.

DIES WOULD CURTAIL IMMIGRATION QUOTA
WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP) — Representative Martin Dies (D-Tex) introduced in the house today legislation to cut immigration quotas by one-third starting in July, and to provide for deportation of any alien found to have become a Nazi, fascist and communist after entry.
Dies' bill also would require deportation of any alien convicted of a crime of moral turpitude, or certified by police as an habitual criminal or revolutionary agitator.
Under it, also, no alien who is a Nazi, fascist or communist — or even indirectly associated with such doctrines — could get a visa for entry into the United States.

German Army At Channel, Men Impatient To 'Go To London'
By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
WITH THE GERMAN ARMIES ON THE WESTERN FRONT
May 23 (AP) I have reached the English Channel to find German forces here with the Nazi swastika flying.
It seems almost unbelievable that I should find Germany at the channel.
But the Nazi swastika waving from the local commander's headquarters leaves no doubt about it.
Crews of U-boats and speed boats are changing to be sent on their errands of destruction.
Lochner, chief of the Associated Press bureau in Berlin, is in the fifth day of a tour with the German forces on personal invitation of Hitler. He did not specify the point at which he reached the English Channel but apparently it was some place in Belgium.
"Technically the eastern limit of the channel runs between England and France but Belgian ports popularly are considered to be on the channel.

Here as elsewhere the roads of approach are jammed with infantry, more infantry and still more infantry and with artillery even more formidable backed by an air force equipped to the last fine detail.
All are awaiting Adolf Hitler's final command to go to England. Everywhere one hears soldiers singing the "Engeländ" song. Young men realize such a venture would be no picnic.
"Maybe 50 of each 100 ships will be sunk by the British," one infantryman from Saxony said to me in his quaint dialect.
"But why shouldn't I be lucky and be on one of the ships that gets over?"
"And if not well, that just cannot be helped."
Another lad from Mecklenburg rubbed his hands and declared:
"Oh, boy! Won't it be great to march on to London?"
Just when Hitler will push the button, however, nobody could predict.
