

Processing Taxes Held Unconstitutional

News Behind The News
THE NATIONAL Whirligig
 Written by a group of the best informed newspapermen of Washington and New York. Opinions expressed are those of the writers and should not be interpreted as reflecting the editorial policy of this newspaper.

Unfair—
 The most damning charge hurled at White House lobbyists concerns a reported offer of federal judgeships to two members of the House Committee in return for support of the "death sentence" in the utility bill. Although nobody dares mention names publicly, House talk runs that the men are Rep. Clarence F. Lea of California and Rep. Edward C. Eicher of Iowa.

Fact is that both legislators were in line for judicial honors long before the holding company struggle began. Department of Justice sleuths have finished the usual investigation of candidates for the bench in Mr. Lea's case, and report him as "A-1." Mr. Eicher must wait till an ageing but stubborn jurist in the Iowa circuit retires.

Now neither man may be promoted for fear it would be hailed as proof of the rumor. It's an excellent example of how damaging reports originate and destroy.

Shift—
 Democratic medicine men—and the woods are full of them—send word to the capital that President Roosevelt's political health is on the mend. His dramatic one-man duel with the power interests is credited with checking the slide down the popularity ladder that set in with the Supreme Court upset.

House members have returned with the same impression after visits with the home folks. Some of the more jittery fellows dashed home over the weekend intervening between the vote on holding company and the TVA measures. They wanted to feel that famous and influential pulse. And the same fellows who defied the President on the "death sentence" reversed themselves on the Tennessee experiment. They fixed it so they'd be politically right once at least.

Burt Wheeler is capitalizing on this switch in conference discussions of the conflicting House and Senate holding company bills. He is trying to frighten House spokesmen into accepting the Senate "death sentence" slightly revised so as to save the lower chamber's pride. He may put it over.

Ding—
 Harold Ickes has slipped from presidential favor. The erstwhile muscle man of the Cabinet didn't profit from the experience of rivals who took on too many enemies and too much territory—Ray Frank, Lew Douglas, Jerry Frank, George Peck, Hugh Johnson.

The President has lost patience with Childs Harold's propensity for hanging the official family wash in the headlines. Mr. Ickes hasn't caught the idea of Mr. Roosevelt's smiling admonitions that "I wouldn't let that worry me. Harold." The Secretary of the Interior has lost all his recent bouts—on relief to Hopkins, on taking over all conservation activities to Wallace, on the Virgin Islands.

But the man who holds many unrecorded victories over Mr. Ickes is Jay Darling, biological survey chief and better known as "Ding" steadily swiped $6,000,000 from Interior funds to buy game refuges. He stopped the building of a road through the Okefenokee swamp in Georgia because it would frighten the parrots there, and then bought the whole swamp. Now he has presidential backing in taking over an Ickes mountain in Southern Oregon where the government's only herd of antelope roams. "Ding" likes Ickes but he loves wild life.

Deferred—
 Dan Roper is striving desperately to maintain the semblance of friendship between business and the White House, even though he isn't getting much encouragement from the President.

Mr. Roper's advisory council was ready to resign in a body at their last meeting, although he won't admit it. The majority were for churning a few skeletons, too. But he persuaded them to make another attempt at serving as liaison dummies, as so many think they are. A few counselors whose counsel is never taken figured it would be to their advantage to remain on the inside looking out.

They compromised by naming a committee to decide whether the council would stick or desert. And again Uncle Sam showed his shrewdness. Four of the seven on the committee are favorably disposed to the President—Messrs. Kendall, Swope, Teague and Fabey. The burst-up is deferred till fall, anyway.

Early Adjournment Of Congress Rejected By House, 259 To 88

Resolution By Deen, Georgia, Turned Down

Believed Senator LaFollette Holds Key To Adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP)—By a 259 to 88 roll call vote, the House Tuesday rejected a move to force adjournment of Congress next Tuesday. It was tabled, which in effect killed the resolution by Representative Deen, Georgia.

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democratic leaders watched Tuesday without noticeable uneasiness an attempt by Representative Deen, Georgia, to force an early adjournment of Congress.

They agreed if any man at the capitol held a key to adjournment it was Senator La Follette, Wisconsin.

La Follette, they recalled, was promised if he would permit a speedy adoption of a resolution extending $501,990,000 "nuisance" taxes, which otherwise would expire June 30th, he would be given an opportunity at this session to vote on another bill increasing taxes against the wealthy.

Others said La Follette might be asked to release House Democrats from this pledge.

Wichita Falls Man To Succeed Lattimore

AUSTIN (AP)—Governor Allred Tuesday appointed Judge P. A. Martin, Wichita Falls, to succeed Judge Earl S. Lattimore as associate justice, Fort Worth, Court of Civil Appeals.

VIEW OF THE 'SURRENDER' OF NEW ORLEANS

Here is the scene as the deserting followers of Mayor Walmaley of New Orleans surrendered the city to the hands of Senator Huey P. Long. Ulie Burke, spokesman for the "old regulars," the mayor's political organization, is shown reading the resolution to the Kingfish—leaving Walmaley virtually a mayor without a city. DEALER REPORTS LARGEST JUNE BUSINESS

June business for his store was the largest in its history. Charles Corley, manager of the Firestone Service store said Tuesday. His store was first in this division and netted Corley a substantial cash prize. Corley attributed the increase largely to an increase in newspaper advertising.

McNew Departs For Conference

R. H. McNew, district director of WPA, left Tuesday morning for San Antonio where he will attend a meeting of district directors called by H. P. Drought, state director.

Before leaving McNew had virtually completed a skeleton staff, but had not confirmed the appointments.

The city Saturday rented six office suites in the Petroleum building to house the district headquarters here.

Thirteen counties in this area will handle their WPA projects through the headquarters in Big Spring.

McNew will likely announce his staff when he returns. More additions may be made later if volume of projects warrant it, he said.

Boston Court Rules On Part Federal AAA

Justice Department Promises Prompt Appeal To Supreme Court

BOSTON (AP)—The United States circuit court of appeals Tuesday ruled processing taxes collected under the Agricultural Adjustment Act unconstitutional. The court was divided two to one.

The decision was handed down in the case of Hoosac Mills, which challenged constitutionality of the processing tax and which appealed to the circuit court from an unfavorable decision by Federal Judge Brewster.

The court found on authority to impose taxes had been delegated to the secretary of agriculture by the constitution or decision of the supreme court.

The decision held both processing and floor taxes levied under AAA unconstitutional.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prompt appeal to the supreme court of adverse ruling on constitutionality of processing taxes by the circuit appeals court, Boston, was promised Tuesday by the justice department.

'G' Men Join In Search For Slain Puyallup Officers

Guardsmen On Duty In N. C. Mill Walkout

Textile Strike Situation May Become Dangerous, Officials Believe

PELZER, North Carolina (AP)—Steel-helmeted national guardsmen assumed maintenance of order in the textile strike situation here, which local officers feared would become dangerous.

Mills which experienced a partial walkout Monday did not open Tuesday.

Think Fugitive Leader Of Weyerhaeuser Kidnap Gang

TACOMA (AP)—Department of Justice agents joined possemen Tuesday in search for the slayer of two Puyallup policemen while some authorities expressed belief the fugitive was William Dainard, alleged "brains" of the George Weyerhaeuser kidnaping.

With highways blocked, the searchers plunged through underbrush in the Puyallup valley hoping to catch the killer who shot Police Chief Frank Chadwick and Patrolman Harry Storem while they were seeking a robber.

TACOMA (AP)—A bank bandit reported to resemble scar-faced William Mahan fugitive "brains" of the George Weyerhaeuser kidnaping shot and killed two police officers in cold blood near here Monday and escaped with scores of officers in hot pursuit.

The robber was fleeing with $500 obtained in a holdup of the Orting State Bank, 18 miles southeast of here, when encountered by Frank Chadwick, Chief of Police of Puyallup, and Harry Storem. They were slain in the ensuing fight.

Police throughout Western Washington were notified immediately.

Highways Are Guarded

Highways and roads were guarded. A report from Everett said William Cole, chief of the Washington state police had taken a plane to Puyallup. Motorcycle policemen rushed to the area.

The killer, who Pierce county sheriff's deputies said answered the description of Mahan, was ranging north toward Seattle when the shooting occurred. The deputies said his holdup methods tallied with those of Mahan in previous crimes.

Mahan is suspected in the robbery of the Eatonville bank two years ago. Eatonville is about 40 miles from Puyallup. The 32-year-old ex-convict last was seen at Butte, Mont., June 3, when he fled in an automobile containing more than $15,000 of the $200,000 Weyerhaeuser ransom money.

HICKS, MORGAN COP FIRST MATCHES IN TOURNEY

Pairings To Be Made For Ladies Flight

Theron Hicks, medalist in the Mundy city championship golf tournament, got away to a flying start Monday afternoon, winning his first match from H. A. Davidson, Jr., 6 and 5.
 Eddie Morgan also breezed away in his first encounter, eliminating Haywood Sturdivant. However, Morgan did not win his match as easily as Hicks took his, Eddie over 3 and 2.
 First round matches may be played any time this week.
 Fifteen women qualified for a ladies flight. Pairings will be made today.

Clean Grapplers Tonight's Card

The Masked Marvel, who was held to a draw by one Vic Webber last Tuesday evening, will attempt to resume his winning ways here tonight when he takes on Red Michael of Tampa.
 Michael has not made as many appearances here as has the man from Africa, nor can he boast of such a fine record, but he will step into the ring with some advantages over the Marvel.
 Michael, due to his fine showing here on previous cards, finally persuaded the locals to give him a try at the hood. When he steps into the ring, the former Tampa footballer will have everything to gain and practically nothing to lose for the Marvel has met and beat them all.
 The Redhead will have the advantage in youth and speed. In his last appearance here against Jack Donnar, he graduated over a victory. Morgan, who came out of the Navy to keep in practice in the fight game.
 Neither Donnar nor Morgan have ever been taught the etiquette of the ring, and should go well together.
 Buck Weaver and Bob Cummings, who evidently attended different "colleges" than did the local finalists, will get together in the special event.
 Both lads, new to the Big Spring fans, bring a pleasing if not a great record with them. Weaver formerly held the spotlight as a pigskin totter, while Cummings is well known in Alabama as a master of Muscledads.
 The curtain raiser is scheduled to begin promptly at 8 p. m.

BIG BAD SAILOR

Sailor Moran, the original head man of the mob who stops at nothing short of murder, swings down from the plums country for a few left-hooks and slam bangs with Jack Donnar tonight. Moran describes himself as the "veteran of the veterans and the best of the best."

JACK DEAN, WHO IS MAKING every effort to keep baseball, his latest trek taking him to Amarillo, seems to be enjoying his stay with the Shamrocks. He writes: "They sure have some nice clubs up here. Believe we will have one of the best teams soon. Plan to go to the Darter tournament."

LAMB TO GIVE EXHIBITION OF ANGLING ART

Jack Lamb, nationally famous bass fisherman, is coming here July 24th for an exhibition of his skill with both bait and fly rods. Jack says he knows that most people think there are no bass in West Texas, but he has made room of the best catches in lakes in this part of the country, and last year he wrote an article for West Texas Today which named many fine fishing holes.

Lamb has just returned from a trip to Devil's River and gives that stream a high rating from a fisherman's standpoint. He remarked that any place has good fishing which is remote and hard to reach. According to Lamb, there are very few fish left in streams and lakes where highways run along the banks, for the majority of people are too lazy to hunt for a fishable place, and are content to fish along the road whether they catch any fish or not.
 When Lamb hears about a lake, he hunts until he finds it, and by doing this he has discovered many lakes teeming with fish, where even the owners did not know the members of the finny tribe inhabited their waters. He has fished in more than 2,500 lakes in Texas alone, and has caught 42,000 bass during his long fishing career. When you first glance at such figures, you will no doubt pronounce Lamb a game hog, but such is not the case. He turns back practically all the fish he lands, and thinks it is a crime to bring in a big string of fish and distribute them among people who would not know a bass from a catfish.
 Jack has fished in Fort Stockton lake many times, as well as many other lakes in this section, and will do some more fishing on his next trip. He was recently in the San Angelo district where he fished in the Concho, Dove Creek, Spring Creek and a small but very beautiful stream near Christoval by the name of Coal Creek.
 Jack says if you want to catch fish, be sure to go to waters which have no high reputation. Once a place becomes widely known for its fishing, thousands of anglers head that way, and the result is that such places are soon fished out. Jack always steers clear of any fishing hole once it gains prominence.
 If you like to fish with artificial bait and would like to learn more about to handle a fly or bait casting rod, don't fail to see Lamb do his stuff. His employers, the Gulf Refining Company, have let him off for a few days to make this exhibition tour through the west and teach amateur anglers some of the basic factors and prime requisites of the thrilling sport.

Chevy Pulls Surprise Win

No. 1 Threat Team Upsets League Leading Flew

Carter Chevrolet, sadly disappointing as contender for honors in the local softball loop, but rating No. 1 as an upset team, turned in another of their sensational victories Monday with a 4-3 decision over the league leading Flewella Stationmen.
 Harvey Krauss and his meta, who twice humbled the powerful Herald Type Lice, were the complete masters in the Monday evening affair, recording a run in the first stanza to lead all the way.
 The Operators were at a loss in trying to solve the offerings of Dunor Davidson, cunning Carter pitcher, and did not mark up a hit until the third nor a run until the fifth.
 Davidson set the Taylor farces down to seven hits, scattering them in fine fashion over the route. The big right-hander weakened in the sixth to allow Smith, Perch and J. C. Coats to find him for base hits but he suddenly tightened after Smith had scored a run, to force Perchmas to roll out and had the three men to face him in the seventh at his mercy.
 The Carterites found a "cousin" in Grovelle Malone, working him for a total of seven hits during their six innings at bat.
 Jennings Ketter started the trouble as he led off in the first inning with a single into the outfield. Krauss was out with a roller but Ketter took second on the attempt and came home on hits by E. P. Ketter and "Swede" Walmscott.
 Malone had his fast ball working in the second but was wild, issuing a free pass to Earnett. The latter reached second and third on outs by Staleler and Rowe and finally scored when the Flewella infield misplayed Scott's grounder.
 While Davidson was putting the first eight men to face him down in order, Jennings Ketter, Krauss and E. P. Ketter found Malone for successive base hits in the third which resulted in the final two Carter runs.
 Woodrow Coats was the first man to hit safely off Davidson. Madison followed him in the fourth with a triple but the Stationmen were held until the fifth when the Operators put together a walk and a hit for their first run, Vick marking up the initial run.
 The loss put the Operators back in second place, a half game behind the Mellinger Angels, who take the field tonight against the Improved Cosden Lab.

NEWS FROM OTHER MUSEUMS

By MRS. BUMASS
Three hundred representatives of museums attended the 30th annual meeting of the American Association of Museums, held in Washington, D. C., May 23-25. The delegates were from all parts of the United States and from Canada and overseas.

Paul J. Sachs, associate director of the Fogg Art Museum, Harvard University, was re-elected president of the association. For the fields of science, history and industry, respectively, the following were re-elected: Herman Carey Bumpus, trustee of the Children's Museum of Boston; Arthur C. Parker, director of the Rochester Museum of Arts and Sciences; and Charles F. Richards, executive vice-president of the New York Museum of Science and Industry.

The meeting gave much attention to plans for federal aid to museums. Announcement was made of a letter addressed on behalf of the association to President Roosevelt suggesting that a substantial amount of federal funds be devoted to increase the number of museums over the country. This action was supported by a resolution authorizing further efforts to interest the national government and local political units.

Two new sections on Bibliography and on motion pictures were projected by spontaneous efforts of members.

The Carnegie United Kingdom trustees have allocated ten thousand pounds for museum purposes during the period of 1935-40.

National Museums
A joint resolution, introduced in the Senate of the United States by Senator Walsh, is proposed to create a "National Portrait Gallery Building Commission" to determine a suitable location and design for a memorial building to the men and women who have been or may become notable in the history of the United States. The building would be used for the display of portraits, miniature portraits and sculptures dealing with such men and women. The commission would report its findings.

to Congress at the next regular session. The resolution carries an appropriation of $10,000.

The museum at Chattanooga Military Park will soon be housed in its new building. The museum will show material related to the battlefields of the Civil War in the neighborhood of Chattanooga. A plan is being worked out for giving visitors a clear and comprehensive idea of the military operations, through maps, plans, guide leaflets and illustrative materials, as well as through conducted tours of the fields.

The Smithsonian Institution has made application to the federal government for $4,400,000 from the public works fund for the construction of two wings to the natural history building of the U. S. National Museum.

Her Greatest Role Since She Left The Stage

Ann Harding Given Great Opportunity In 'The Flame Within'

Ann Harding and Herbert Marshall in "The Flame Within"

Ann Harding will be seen in a tense, dramatic role for the first time since she abandoned the stage for the talking screen when Edmund Goulding's production of "The Flame Within," co-starring Herbert Marshall, opens Tuesday's engagement at the Ritz Theater.

Though she soared to stardom on Broadway as a dramatic star of the first water, the majority of her outstanding picture vehicles have been of the smart, sophisticated comedy type, such as "When Ladies Meet," "Biography of a Bachelor Girl," "Animal Kingdom" and "Holiday."

In Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Flame Within," she portrays a famous woman psychiatrist who jives a year of her life to the redemption of a ne'er-do-well giving so much of herself to the man that she inevitably fails in love with him.

ADVANCE - NOT RETREAT

Do you believe it? Believe what? Believe now that the law is gone, that there is less drinking? Do you? Here are the facts in the case. There are now 437,900 saloons, beer parlors, beer parlors, taverns, liquor joints in America, all open and doing business. Use your head! Less drinking? Do you believe it? Do you believe it? Believe what? Believe that there are fewer drunken men, women and children, fewer drunken drivers now? Do you? Here are the facts in the case. Arrests for drunken driving in Marion County, Ohio, increased nearly twice the figure of the previous year; drunkenness in Boise, Idaho, says Judge T. B. Chapman, has increased 800 per cent; Traveler's Insurance Company's report records death toll from highways, 26,800 killed in 1934, since repeal, an increase of 16 per cent over previous year, one person killed every 13 minutes, one injured every 21 seconds. Less drinking, fewer drunks and accidents? Do you believe it? Do you? Do you believe it? Believe what? Believe that there are now fewer bootleggers? Do you? Here are the facts in the case. The Director of the Federal Alcohol Control Administration in the United States, Joseph H. Choate, Jr., said: "As concerns liquor, the United States is now living in a fool's paradise. We know that prohibition's Frankenstein monster, the bootleg trade, is still with us." When Senator William F. Borah saw that statement, he said: "If I construe correctly that language, it is to the effect that bootlegging and the sale of illicit liquor have in no wise diminished." Mr. Wagner of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board says that 75 per cent of the business in his state is done by bootleggers. Do you believe that bootlegging has decreased? Do you? Do you believe it? Believe what? Do you believe that there are now fewer rum runners? Do you? Here are the facts in the case. Stephen B. Gibson, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, according to an Associated Press dispatch Washington, D. C., says, "The alcohol tax unit has been raising stills at the rate of about 12% a month, so the bootleggers saw that it would be cheaper if they could bring the alcohol in from abroad." Possibility of reaping profits up to 700 per cent, the officials say, are in sight. Do you believe rum running has decreased? Do you? Do you believe that the national budget is being balanced? Do you? Here are the facts in the case. They told us liquor would bring the Government Treasury two billion five hundred million dollars a year, and it has only brought $375,000,000, and the people had to spend three billion for legal and bootleg booze in order that our Treasury might be enriched to the amount of $375,000,000, just taking that much money away from the greengrocer, merchant and other business. A survey in 56 cities shows that the consumption of milk has fallen 27 per cent and that the coffee industry in a year has lost $21,000,000, which is equivalent to over a billion fewer cups of coffee consumed this first year of repeal. Do you believe the budget is being balanced with 'blood money'? Do you? Do you believe that more men are being put to work? Do you? Here are the facts in the case. The American Federation of Labor says there are 420,000 more men and women out of work than a year ago.

Do you believe it? Believe what? Believe that even the wet newspapers are satisfied with present conditions? Do you? Here are the facts in the case. The Chicago Daily News recently said, "The saloon was never to return; liquor was to be taken out of politics; bootlegging was to be ended; drinking was to decrease; temperance was to be promoted. Furthermore, unemployment was to be mitigated greatly; new revenues was to roll into State and Federal treasuries in vast sums, and the nation was to be saved many millions in the cost of enforcement. . . None of the promises have been fulfilled. The saloon is back, liquor is in politics, bootlegging continues, drinking has increased, unemployment is worse, the revenue returns to state treasury are far below hopeful estimates of 1933, and the cost of fighting the liquor traffic is still burdensome." Do you believe conditions are better? Do you? Do you believe it? Believe what? Believe that the liquor traffic can be controlled? Here are the facts in the case. The Government Control system has been tried. The South Carolina Dispensary system, the Swedish system, the Bratt system of control have been tried, and all have failed to "control." Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas now says, "I think it is being realized by both 'aets' and 'dry' that the liquor traffic is too big, too lawless, too powerful, too remorseless for the states alone to handle it successfully. In my judgement, the only way successfully to handle it is to put it under an eternal and unchangeable legal and constitutional ban, and continuously endeavor to destroy it." -National Voice (Contributed by Local W. ## Work Begins On World's Fair Of '36

Hundreds Of Workmen Begin Construction Of Centennial Buildings

DALLAS—Hundreds of workmen began construction today on the World's Fair of 1936—the Texas Centennial Exposition—which will open in Dallas next June.

Although scores of new exhibit buildings are to be built, work at this time is being concentrated upon remodeling of present structures. First to fall into the hands of workmen was the Administration Building, a high structure which is being remodeled at a cost of $125,000. An entirely new front for the Administration Building has been designed by the architects so that it will conform with other structures on the exposition grounds.

Meanwhile, demolition of other buildings on the 200-acre Fair grounds continues, with workmen making various exhibit structures of the State Fair of Texas, which anually has attracted 1,000,000 visitors. As soon as demolition is completed, construction of exhibit palaces will begin.

Among the first of the new buildings to go up will be the architectural group, which consists of the livestock building, poultry building, agricultural building and the foods building.

To provide additional space for exhibit buildings, many city blocks adjacent to the World's Fair grounds have been condemned. Removal of residential structures now existing in this area is expected to start within a few weeks.

In this section, a permanent civic center group will be built, including an Art Museum, Aquarium, Sports Building, Social Hall, Natural History Building, Better Homes and other structures of a cultural nature.

The Texas Centennial Exposition will commemorate the rapid growth of the Southwest in the last 100 years, since Texas declared and achieved its independence. In keeping with the concrete reasons for the Centennial celebration, history is the theme predominating throughout the Exposition. In addition to the great Central Exposition to open in Dallas June 6, celebrations will be held throughout 1936 at Texas historic sites: San Antonio, Galveston, Houston, Nacogoches, Gonzales, Huntsville and elsewhere.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

Chapter Seven
EXPLANATION

"You are Rex Moore?" Laurie whispered. "You are alive?"

She collapsed, and buried her face in her arms on the table. The shame that this particular man of all men should be Rex Moore was too much for her.

He stood in silence, gazing at her bent russet head. In the nap of her neck was a little hollow and round it grew downy ringlets of red gold. His eyes lingered on them.

Laurie raised her head. She was not a coward, whatever she was. His would show him that.

"I thought you were dead," she said. "I never thought you would come back."

"That's obvious." His retort was accompanied by another of those where my sister was they were kind to me, too. And there happened to be a gentleman there, visiting, who heard that I came from Warrabillio county, and for some reason he got it into his head that I was the widow of Rex Moore.

"They had heard that he had secretly married a girl from that district before he started off on his flight and was killed. They were anxious to find her and do something for her. There had been a mystery about the marriage. And I said I was Rex Moore's widow. I say I was crazy, but it saved me and my sister from all sorts of things."

The man, looking at her intently, did not show that he knew she was not telling all the truth. She was not. There were things she would not tell him.

GAS BOMBS FLY IN TACOMA STRIKE

And it saved my sister's life." "And when you'd made good, you didn't think of telling the truth?" "I may have thought of it. But I should have lost my job, and everybody would know that I was a cheat and a fraud."

"Two years you've kept it up?" "Yes."

"Did you ever think of me? A dead man, while you were living this lie?" "I thought of Rex Moore. Not of you. I thought of Rex Moore as I imagined him to be. And I thought—I felt, if he knew, he would forgive me. He would not mind."

"But you think I would have minded?" "Yes. You're a cruel man." Her eyes blazed with defiant misery.

and intolerable shame. There was a long pause. Then Rex Moore said: "I mind this much, as I happen to be alive. You've made a fool of me in Albery's eyes. I didn't tell him just now that I hadn't a wife at all. I wanted to come along and have a look at the girl who had played this trick on a dead man. So he is under the impression that we are indulging in a happy reunion."

His grim chuckle made her wince. "I'm broke myself now," he went on. "I have to look to Albery for the future. I owe him everything in the past. I'm not going to let him know how he's been fooled by you, and that I stood for it just now. Do you get me?"

"No," gasped Laurie. "What do

The shame was too much for Laurie.

mocking smiles. "Just as you never thought the railway carriage door was open the other day! You don't seem to be a sound thinker. By the way, what is your name?"

"Moore."

"Ah, then you had a good start!" "Moore without an E," she corrected. She was up in arms.

"Would it be too much to ask you to tell me what the game was?"

"It wasn't a game." She hurried over her words, her cheeks crimson, her blue eyes dark with defiance. "And I didn't start it; it started itself. I was down and out in Sydney, where I'd been living with my little sister after my father died. My father left us penniless. We came to Sydney from the country, where he had been trying to farm. But he—couldn't get on. I tried all sorts of jobs, but I couldn't keep them. It came to when we hadn't enough to eat, and had to move from our lodgings and not into a house, where the woman accused me of stealing and called in the police, and my sister was very ill, and I was half crazy."

"The police were kind to me; they knew the woman had a bad reputation. And at the hospital

"This man, I suppose, was Mr. Albery's friend, who looked after you and sent you to England?" asked Moore.

"Yes."

"And they made no inquiries about you?"

"No; they took my word. I should never have thought of it but for them."

"But how did you manage it? How could you play the part of the widow of a man you had never set eyes on?"

"I knew Belle Mason very well. She was always talking about you. I remembered everything she had told me. She came from Warrabillio, too. We went to school together. I knew that you were engaged to her and would have married her, if she hadn't suddenly died of typhoid."

"I see. Poor Belle! Poor kid! Yes, we were going to be married. His voice was remote; then it hardened.

"So you took up the role of my widow to sponge on the charity of Albery's firm? You did it deliberately?"

"I did—after the first."

"It turned out fine for you."

"It did. But I've worked hard.

you mean?" "That you've just got to keep up the farce and go on pretending to be my wife."

"Oh no!"

Laurie stared at Rex Moore. The misery and shame in her eyes were replaced by a glitter of indignant fury.

"You're just wanting to insult me, to be odious to me. You wouldn't want me to do that!"

"It's the last thing in the world I want to do," the man said. (Copyright, 1933, Coralie Stanton.) Laurie makes the best of a bad bargain tomorrow.

HOMER HOOPEE

What The American Demands for his dollar is SERVICE

Mrs. Housewife--Yes, Mr. Business Man too--Let's

LOOK AT the FACTS As They Really Are---

What Service Does the Peddler Render to You for Your Dollar as compared to the BIG SPRING Business Man?

THE PEDDLER OR DOOR BELL RINGER OFFERS

In almost every instance--you buy from small size sample swatches or pictures--and trust to luck, after waiting days--sometimes weeks--that your purchase IF Received, will prove satisfactory.

Sometimes thru high-pressure-methods you are induced to pay a CASH DEPOSIT, on an order of this bootleg-merchandise, later finding financial conditions do not permit you to complete the contract--Who Loses? Do You Get Back Your Cash Deposit???

You are induced to buy in excess of your needs--thru a cleverly prepared sales talk, on a saving of small consequence to be made thru ordering in quantity lots. The amount of the immediate cash deposit seems small and you are tricked into a larger purchase. Many times "Something Free" is offered you as BAIT to secure your larger order.

The Peddlers, with their unknown merchandise--questionable bargains and unethical methods of selling can well be classed as bootleggers of merchandise. Every time you turn over a dollar to a door-to-door canvasser you are speculating on the return you will get for your money. Have you ever stopped to THINK of the possibility of these Peddlers as carriers of DIRT or DISEASE?

Yes Even In The Busy Office Will Be Found The Persistent Pest who infringes on the employer's time. Haven't you had one of those breezy salesmen breeze into your office--and ask for a few minutes of your employer's time (only not always in such a polite manner)--and then he proceeds to high pressure you into an order--and in many cases you place an order to rid yourself of the Pest. This class of Professional Peddler is a slicker and can talk himself into a sale by making indefinite promises as to deliveries on orders, as well as to exaggerate, without any effort the quality of the article he is selling. You see him Only today.

Your Merchant Offers You merchandise--which you can examine at the time of purchase--yes, you can TAKE IT WITH YOU NOW--Why WAIT? --There is no room for uncertainty. And after you get home and should you find your purchase not exactly what you expected you can exchange it with your merchant, and you are NOT required to wait ten days or two weeks. He has his stock of goods in Your City for immediate SERVICE.

Your Merchant can not afford to oversell you thru high pressure methods--because he is depending upon you for your future patronage. He expects to stay. The peddler may never see you again--in fact in many cases he hopes he won't.

Your Merchant offers his Personal Friendship and Acquaintance--which are factors in your business relation that can not be contracted with any long distance manufacturer.

Play Safe See What You Are Buying
--beware of the Special Authorized Representative who tells you He is the ONLY ONE selling his line who is allowed to collect in full the cash on your order. Nuff Said.

ISSUES WARNING

A Warning from the Chief of Police to the Housewives and Citizens of Big Spring and the residents of this Territory . . . .

THIS IS A WARNING to Beware of Strangers posing as solicitors, salesmen or inspectors calling at your homes.

THEY SHOULD NOT BE ADMITTED UNTIL THEY ARE ABLE TO SHOW A CITY PERMIT as issued by the City Clerk's office or until they can present RELIABLE CREDENTIALS SHOWING THEY ARE LOCAL PEOPLE . . . REPRESENTATIVES OF LOCAL FIRMS.

IN MANY CASES Strangers WITHOUT the City Permit or Reliable Credentials of Identity have proven to be "spotters" or "locators" for professional criminals and according to Police Records lack of caution on the part of the householders has often resulted in costly property losses and bitter experiences. DO NOT PAY CASH IN ADVANCE to a Stranger on an order -- TOO OFTEN the Customer HAS NEVER RECEIVED ANYTHING FOR THEIR CASH.

DO NOT CASH CHECKS or issue a check to a Stranger on an order as many times these checks have been "ALTERED" and later cashed by an innocent party.

IT'S BETTER TO BE SAFE THAN SORRY--be SURE you know who the Stranger is at your door before granting admittance to your home. IN CASE YOU ARE SUSPICIOUS--Phone the Police AT ONCE. Phone NO. 6. DO NOT DELAY IN THIS as it will aid the Police in co-operating with you.

ONE NEED NOT BE AFRAID of offending anyone calling at your home to SHOW THE CITY PERMIT or CREDENTIALS--Honest Salespeople will have these credentials with them and welcome investigation.

American Airlines' 17,297 Passengers In June Establishes Another New Record

CHICAGO—Transporting a total of 17,297 revenue passengers in 30 days, American Airlines established another all-time record during the month of June, C. E. Smith, president of the company, announced today.

In each of the last five months, Smith said, American Airlines' passenger traffic has shown an increase over the preceding month ranging from 1,100 to more than 5,000 passengers. April, May and June have been, successively, the biggest months in the company's history.

The June total, he pointed out, represents an increase of 1,063 passengers over the 16,234 carried in May, previous record month, and a gain of 7,862 passengers over June a year ago. The six months total of 78,950 passengers this year also is 4,719 greater than the 72,231 passengers transported during the entire first three quarters of 1934, he said.

"Indicative of present trends in air line traffic is the fact that each of the last nine months have produced more passenger traffic than any other comparable month in the company's history," Smith said. "There has also been a substantial increase in the length of the average air journey per passenger. In June, 1934, each American Airlines passenger traveled an average of 265 miles on each trip over our system. In June, 1935, this average was 305 miles."

The present outlook for July, Smith concluded, indicated another probable record for the company.

Woman Blames Troubles On Self, Couple

Mrs. Shields Asks 'God's Mercy To Get Me Out Of This Mess'

Ethel Shields, who never had any children of her own but "raised twelve," sat on her cot in the Howard County Jail Tuesday morning and asked "God's mercy to get me out of this mess."

She was sentenced Monday afternoon by County Judge J. S. Garlington to serve six months in jail for the beating of six-year-old Buster Mitchell, one of five orphan children placed in her care by the county.

Helping her place in a pulp paper love story magazine, she told her side of the story behind the beating of the child and could not quite reconcile herself to her own assertion that she had "no one to blame but myself for my trouble."

"Afore God," she pledged, "I'll never touch nobody else's child so long as I live."

Mrs. Shields, a relief client, was given custody of the children by the county after their widowed mother had deserted them for a romance with another relief worker. Under the arrangement effected by the county, she and Mrs. D. F. McDougal, owner of a house, were to care for the children in return for thirty dollars in groceries each month.

First trouble arose when the house owner objected to the amount they were getting, saying the children "tearing up the place was worth more," said Mrs. Shields.

Then another figure entered the picture, according to Mrs. Shields. It was the wife of the man with whom the children's mother had eloped.

"Every day that woman who couldn't keep her husband would come over and tell me how she would whip them children if she was me. She was mad because she lost her husband," opined Mrs. Shields.

Buster got into a hard fall and slicked his hair so he would look like other boys. He got the staff all over his body but cleaned up before he was caught.

It was partly on the neighbor woman's advice that she whipped Buster for "wasting a whole pall of hard," said Mrs. Shields. "I must have beat him worse than I thought because I was mad. I'll never hit anybody in anger so long as I live. Them kids was a lot of trouble but I treated them all right," she declared.

"If they want to punish the guilty parties for this, why don't they get their mother and that man. They are the cause of all this. I just got tangled up in it. "But I guess I'm to blame. I'm my own worst enemy. If God will forgive me I'll never get in trouble again."

Mrs. Shields said this was the first time she ever had run amuck of the law. She was looking for the arrival of her "foster daughter" Wednesday and hoped that some way might be devised to solve her problem.

District Confab Of Agents Here

Other problems arising out of administration of the agricultural program of the federal government will also be discussed. M. Weaver, Howard county adjustment assistant, said Tuesday.

The surface water survey authorized by the city progressed Tuesday as borings were being made on prospective dam sites.

Drainage areas are being run and the borings will also have an important bearing on the location of a dam.

Useful Life Of Modern Airplane Often Ten Years

The useful life of an airplane frequently exceeds five years, and there are at least 169 civilian airplanes now in service in the United States which were built in 1928 or before, according to an announcement today by the Bureau of Air Commerce, Department of Commerce.

Studying the licensing records as of June 1, 1935, the bureau found that there were 5,733 civilian airplanes, of which 5,841 were licensed and 2,882 were unlicensed but bore identification marks.

Of the total, 4,297—approximately one-half—were produced prior to 1930, and were still in service on the date used as a basis for the survey. Airplanes produced in 1930 or thereafter and still licensed or identified on the date of the survey numbered 4,155. For 271 airplanes the date of manufacture could not be determined. Many of them probably were built before 1926.

The year 1929, peak year in airplane production in this country, also is best represented among airplanes now in service. There were 2,414 airplanes produced in 1929 which held licenses or identification numbers on June 1.

Mystery Tales Spread Fame Of Limehouse

Tomlinson, Sax Rohmer and Pelt Ridge as only a few of the writers who have used Limehouse as a background for their tales of mystery and wonder. One reason, he says, is the darkness. The famed Chinatown of San Francisco is a blaze of lights. That in Los Angeles is in the heart of the city and has hardly a dark corner. New York's Oriental district is a brilliantly lighted double street.

"Limehouse is positively dingy," says Hall. "It is lit by a very few sputtering gas lamps. Its narrow streets with beeling gables and blank walls are almost as dark as a dragon's mouth. Its darkness is opulent and velvet, and the smoke-covered sky and the fog from the Thames give it a blackness that can almost be felt. Its sounds are the deep voice of the river, the moan of boat sirens and the clanking of chains, which are eerie to hear late at night."

In this sinister atmosphere George Raft, as Harry Wong, a smuggler, piles his trade of silk-smuggler, aided by Anna May Wong, the enchantress, in a river-front cafe frequented by Asians and tourists.

The film tells of the strange love that grows in these sordid surroundings, a love story as tender as a lotus blossom.
