Commissioners Act To Control Rabies Throughout the County

Following the positive identification last week of two rabid foxes in Schleicher county, the county commissioners met and passed a resolution providing for the control of dogs in areas of the county lying outside of Eldorado, and empowering the county health officer to take the necessary steps.

Last week two fox heads were sent to the State Health department at Austin for rabies tests, and both tested positive. While Eldorado has had rules governing dogs for some time, the new order applies to the county:

At the hearing, after evidence was taken and upon certification of the county health officer, it was determined by the court that a rabies epidemic did exist among the dog and wildlife population of the county to such an extent as to constitute an emergency, and that such an epidemic and the many uncontrolled dogs running at large with an unabated wild life population infested with rabies constitutes a menace to the health and safety of the people of the county.

Dr. Jack Taylor, D.V.M., will be in Eldorado, Saturday, April 21 at the city hall from 9:00 a.m. until 2:00 to vaccinate your dogs and cats against rabies.

Chick embryo vaccine will be given dogs which lasts for three years. A saline vaccine will be given cats which lasts one year. The cost will be $2.50 per animal. All dogs and cats must be six months of age before vaccination.

It is recommended that if your dog has been vaccinated over 3 months prior to April 21, 1956 that the chick embryo vaccine be used also at this time.

A. J. Roach Dies At His Home Here Friday

Ambrose J. Roach, 85, a resident of Schleicher county for 51 years, died at his home here last Friday after an illness of several years.

He was born in Wexford County, Ireland, Feb. 4, 1871, and came to the United States with his mother and six other children in 1881, his father having preceded the family by three years and settled in Lampasas county.

On September 3, 1903, Roach was married to the former Mattie Cloud in Gatesville. Two years later the couple sold their Lampasas County holding and came to Schleicher County. Their arrival coincided with the early development of Schleicher county. Eldorado was only a few years old and roads were practically non-existent.

For many years he and his brother, John S. Roach, ran their ranch holdings under the name of Roach Bros. ranch. He was active in the Catholic church here, and was a former city alderman. He and his family were active in establishing one of the first schools in the county.

In 1925 Mr. Roach set up a feed, furniture and second hand store on the site of the present Lone Star Theatre building, and subsequently moved to several other locations, including the block on Main Street which burned out in 1933. He stayed in the business until about six years ago.

Funeral
Rosary was held at 8 p.m. Sunday at Cox Funeral Home in San Angelo, and Solemn Requiem Mass was held at 9:30 a.m. Monday in the Sacred Heart church with the Rev. Howard Meyer, the Rev. Serran Braun, and the Rev. Fred Doerfer officiating. Burial was in the Eldorado cemetery under direction of Cox Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Sam Gausemeier, Glenn Hoelscher of San Angelo, Max Schroeder, E. K. Bauer, Eldorado, Merlin Davis, Rocksprings; Morgan Davis, Sonora; Aubrey DeLong, Mertzon; and Marvin Gausemeier, San Angelo.

He is survived by his wife; two sons, J. T. Roach and E. B. Roach, of Eldorado; a daughter, Mrs. T. J. Bailey, Ozona; a brother, John S. Roach of Abilene; and six grandchildren: Mari Nell and Eddie Gail Roach of Houston; Joe Bailey of the University at Austin, Martha Bailey of Ozona, and Tommy and Henry Roach of Eldorado.

Two children predeceased him in death. A daughter died at birth in 1910, and A. J. Jr., died in 1932 at the age of 19.

Among those from out of town attending the funeral were:

Ozona: Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Littleton, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dunlap, Rev. and Mrs. Troy Dale, Mrs. Pleas Childress, Mrs. Hortense Davenport, Mrs. Hubert Baker, Mrs. Jim Ad Harwick, Mrs. Stephen Perner.

Lions Hear Mr. Brodhead

At Ladies Night Program

A large and appreciative crowd of Lions and their ladies enjoyed a talk by E. A. Brodhead, superintendent of the Sonora school system, at the ladies night program Monday in the Memorial Building. Ed Meador was master of ceremonies and general chairman of arrangements.

An entertaining speaker, Mr. Brodhead stressed the fact that the Lions club is known as a service club because of service to fellow man, closing his talk with the remarks that while we are living in an age of uncertainty, the future is in the hands of God, and only He can give the answer.

W. G. Godwin, vice president, conducted a brief business session at which W. H. Hale reported that eight had made reservations from the local club to attend the district convention in Brownsville next month.

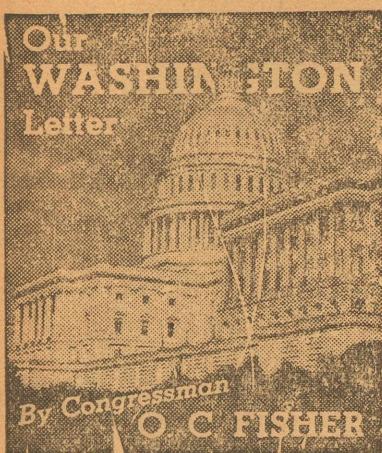

Rev. James Spencer gave the invocation and closing prayer.

PLANE FLIPS OVER IN HIGH WIND AS YOUTH LANDS HERE

A young A&M man, on his way to Van Horn to deliver an airplane, turned the plane over on the airport grounds Saturday afternoon, in the high winds, and did heavy damage to the craft.

The young man, who gave his name as John Burch, said he was delivering the plane to a Van Horn man for his brother, who has a crop dusting business near Snook.

The plane, a J. C. Piper, '46 model, was light weight, weighing a total of about 1,000 pounds, and was worth about $1,000, the damage being possibly

This being election year, it kind of automatically becomes Civil Rights year. Just like mocking birds in Springtime and the frost that descends on the pumpkins in Autumn. It's a battle for votes between the two parties.

Therefore it was no surprise last week when Attorney General Brownell sent proposals to Congress solely designed to lure the Negro vote back into the GOP fold from which it strayed during the Roosevelt and Truman regimes. Brownell's bait this year includes a bill to give Uncle Sam the power to police Federal elections, determine who shall vote, and also decide when citizens are "being subjected to unwarranted economic pressures by reason of their color, race, religion or national origin." That covers a lot of country.

It smacks of the old discredited post-war FEPC which Truman dangled successfully in front of gullible bloc voters. They were promised a Bureau in Washington with power to dictate to employers all over the country whom they could hire, fire or promote. It virtually guaranteed good jobs to anyone in a "minority" status. It served as a prime vote-getter.

For a long time there were four key measures on civil rights which provided the text for many a tear-jerking sermon on the mount of applied politics.

Running a close second to FEPC was the perennial clamor against segregation. Many northern politicians counted on that issue to keep them in office. And Presidential candidates were not timid about exploiting the subject.

But the Supreme Court played havoc two years ago with that issue when it scuttled a hundred years of court precedents which had held that under the Constitution only the states could legislate on that topic, and handed down what has been generally recognized as a politically-inspired desegregation order. Now the politicians seem a bit bewildered as they scamper about for something to take the place of the segregation issue on the legislative calendar.

Then, too, the professionals go all-out on election years for a Federal anti-poll tax law—this despite the fact the Constitution plainly says that state legislatures shall decide the qualifications of voters in their states.

And the same crowd calls for a Federal anti-lynching law. Although lynching has always been a capital offense in all states, and lynching is practically a thing of the past, politicians have found that in some districts the issue, properly oiled, is what they call "a built-in vote snatcher." So far as need and logic are concerned, they might just as well agitate for a Federal anti-stage coach robbery law.

So hold your hats, folks! If you're allergic to demagoguery, see your doctor. This is election year and the professional Civil Righters will get you if you don't watch out!

Returning to Texas to make his home is Bert Calcote, who has been doing electrical work in Michigan. The family are staying for the time in San Angelo with Mrs. Calcote's parents, until they find a permanent location.

Visiting with Mrs. Mattie Bruton and Miss Mary Bruton Monday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Browder. Mrs. Roy Phelps and Mrs. Saunders later brought 16 Junior GA's to give a program.

Sue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Blaylock, has been on the sick list.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

English sparrows may be removed from buildings or other local areas by destroying nests and eggs at two-week intervals during the spring and summer. Fasten a hook on a long pole to tear down nests under eaves, on rafters, and the like.

Extreme measures may be necessary to prevent recurring infestations in some locations. Thus, it may be necessary to undertake partial, if not complete removal of vines on certain buildings favored by birds. Likewise, certain roots on copings and ledges of a building may require placement of wood or sheet metal strips at an angle that will eliminate these roots.

One of the simplest English sparrow traps is built similar to a sifter, with a frame four feet square and six inches deep. One side is covered with 3/4-inch-mesh poultry wire or similar material. A small opening should be made near a corner to permit removal of trapped birds. It is well to pre-bait several times in a spot to attract the birds. Then to operate the trap, place it over the bait, raise and place an 18-inch stick, with attached cord under the edge. Run a cord to a blind some distance away. Two stakes at the back edge of the trap will keep it in alignment.

If you desire to poison the sparrows with a bait, mix 1 tablespoon of starch in 1/2 teacup of cold water, add 3/4 pint of boiling water, stir; 1/4 pint heavy corn starch, stir; ounce of powdered strychnine and 1 ounce of baking soda, stir; apply to 12 quarts wheat or other grain. For smaller quantities make a paste the consistency of thick cream by moistening with cold water 1 1/2 teaspoons of starch or wheat flour. Add 1/3 cup boiling water and stir to make a paste.

Tough Spring For Home Gardeners

College Station.—The cool weather and high winds along with short moisture have delayed the planting of spring vegetable crops both in commercial fields and home gardens. But a few good spring days, points out B. G. Hancock, extension horticulturist, can work wonders and cause a scramble among gardeners to get vegetables planted.

Here are suggestions from Hancock on varieties which should be planted now. For the bush snap beans he likes Topcrop for central and west Texas; Tendergreen for east and south Texas and Wade as an early high yielding variety for most sections of the state. For pole type snap beans, he recommends Bluelake and Kentucky Wonder. The first is good for canning and freezing while the latter must be harvested in the right stage of maturity or quality will be low.

He likes Early Prolific Straight-neck, an excellent yellow squash of good quality, and White Bush Scallop for the summer squashes. He suggests trying a few hills of cucumbers along the garden fence. By letting the vines run on the fence, harvesting is easier and the cucumbers produced are cleaner.

For pickling, he suggests Ohio MR 17 which is resistant to mosaic and Earliest of All, an old variety. For slicing, Stono, a new release from the USDA for the South and Gulf Coast regions while his resistant to downy mildew or A&C or Colorado.

If there is room in the home garden for cantaloupes, try a few hills of Smith's Perfect or Rio Gold, a variety developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Suggested sweet corn varieties are Ioana and Calumet and for those who like okra, Louisiana Green Velvet and Clemson Spineless are recommended.

Special care will have to be given tomatoes if a good crop is produced before hot weather. Use a locally adapted variety and set only strong, stocky plants and give them a fast start by using a starter solution when they are transplanted.

Watch for cutworms and if they are present, use a 5% DDT or a 10% chlordane or 20% toxaphene dust either in the furrow before planting or dust around the plants. See your local county extension agents for helpful hints on home gardening.

They Travel "In Class"

Our high school correspondent says that Economics and Geography students are going in for "grass roots" studying.

They're going to charter buses and take off on Operation See-For-Yourself—have a ten-day look at some of the things they've been studying about.

As I remember, it was hard to keep your mind on schoolbooks at this time of year. Today's kids can give in to that old urge to bust out of the classroom—with a clear conscience. Wish they'd take me along.

Broiler Production Zoms Upward In Texas

College Station.—Back in 1950 Texas produced about 33.4 million broilers. Two years later the 50 million mark was passed and the 1955 production went to 79 million birds. For the first 12 weeks of 1956 broiler placements are running 24.4 per cent above the figure for the corresponding period of last year, and if the present placement rate should continue, the 90 million mark could be passed in 1956, says Kermit Schlamb, extension poultry marketing specialist.

The specialist describes the growth of the broiler industry in Texas as phenomenal and credits several factors as contributors to the increase. Promotion by feed companies, hatcheries, financial backers and other phases of the poultry industry has been of major importance. Secondly, says Schlamb, the enterprise in most cases has proved profitable and no great outlays of cash or land were needed to launch the business. Thirdly, marketing and distribution have been of great importance in the expansion. The product produced had to be good to sell on a competitive basis with other meats.

Broilers can be offered in many usable forms in the market place and convenience to the consumer has helped the marketing end of the business. Too, points out Schlamb, Texas broilers are high in quality and can meet the competition from other great producing areas. Breeders, hatcherymen and research workers are credited with great assistance on the quality phases of the industry as are the feed manufacturers of the state who are continually working to put out a more efficient and effective ration.

The Texas industry is organizing to further promote the consumption of its product. The Chick-En-Of-Tomorrow program and the current Texas Broiler Festival program are also cited as contributors to the great improvement made in the quality of the broilers produced in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Williams spent Saturday night in San Angelo with a visiting sister, Mrs. Jewel Smith and son Hubert of Phoenix, Arizona, another sister, Mrs. Agnes Wallace, and a brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Blasdell.

Building Contract Nullified

Because certain technicalities in the law were overlooked by the framers of the legal notices in connection with the award of contracts for construction of the new county medical building here, actual construction work on the building will be delayed a month.

New notices to contractors, embodying the previously overlooked paragraphs, appear in this issue of the Stockman and call for the opening of bids by the Commissioners Court at 2 p.m. on Monday May 14.—Ozona Stockman.

Armory Considered

It is possible for a 100-man Army Reserve Training center to be located in Junction provided an additional 11 members are recruited for the local unit, Company B, 358th Infantry, Capt. Maurice J. It is estimated that the construction of such a building would cost approximately $70,000.—Junction Eagle.

Armed Forces Reserve Program Again Stressed

Austin.—"Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their country." These familiar words are particularly applicable to the young Texans of today, says Major General Lewis S. Griffing, Chief of the Texas Military District.

"The Armed Forces Reserve has a program whereby all qualified young men can come to the aid of their country," Gen. Griffing explained, "and with the least interruption to their civilian careers."

General Griffing, speaking in connection with Military Reserve Week (April 22-28), pointed out that the U. S. Army is implementing a program designed especially for the youths of America. This program permits a young man to fulfill his military obligation while completing his education or working at his civilian job.

Here's the way it works—he joins a Ready Reserve unit or a National Guard unit. He can finish high school (if he doesn't reach the age of 20 first), then go on six months active duty for training. He is then prepared for his Ready Reserve service.

Normally he will have 7½ years left. During this 7½ years if he trains satisfactorily, he will not have to worry about a draft call. In most instances he can train with a unit right in his own home town. The only time he is called away from home is for two weeks each summer to attend training camp. All of this is designed to interrupt, to the very smallest degree, his higher educational pursuits or his civilian occupation.

"Every young Texan should think very seriously about his future military obligation," General Griffing pointed out. "If he doesn't Uncle Sam is likely to point a finger at him sooner or later. He should consider this program from a standpoint of how it benefits him as an individual. But most important of all he should consider it from a patriotic point of view."

The Army will pay him for his military participation and at the same time prepare him to defend his country in the event of an emergency.

Military Reserve Week, April 22 to 28, has been designed especially to present the provisions of this program to young men and their parents. This special drive has been endorsed by the president and is supported by many active civic and veterans organizations in Texas. They understand and see the immediate need for a strong and ready reserve.

Agricultural Training Aid To Work Of Rural Pastors

Coilege Station.—The rural church is making a strong comeback in many Texas areas, says Reagan Brown, rural sociologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Brown spends a great deal of time working with the leaders in the organized communities of the state and reports that a contributing factor to the comeback of the rural church is the part it is playing in rebuilding community spirit and fellowship. A motivating force behind this change has been the rural pastor, says Brown. They are working with local county extension agents in expanding the community improvement programs which include the spiritual as well as the economic and social aspects of rural living.

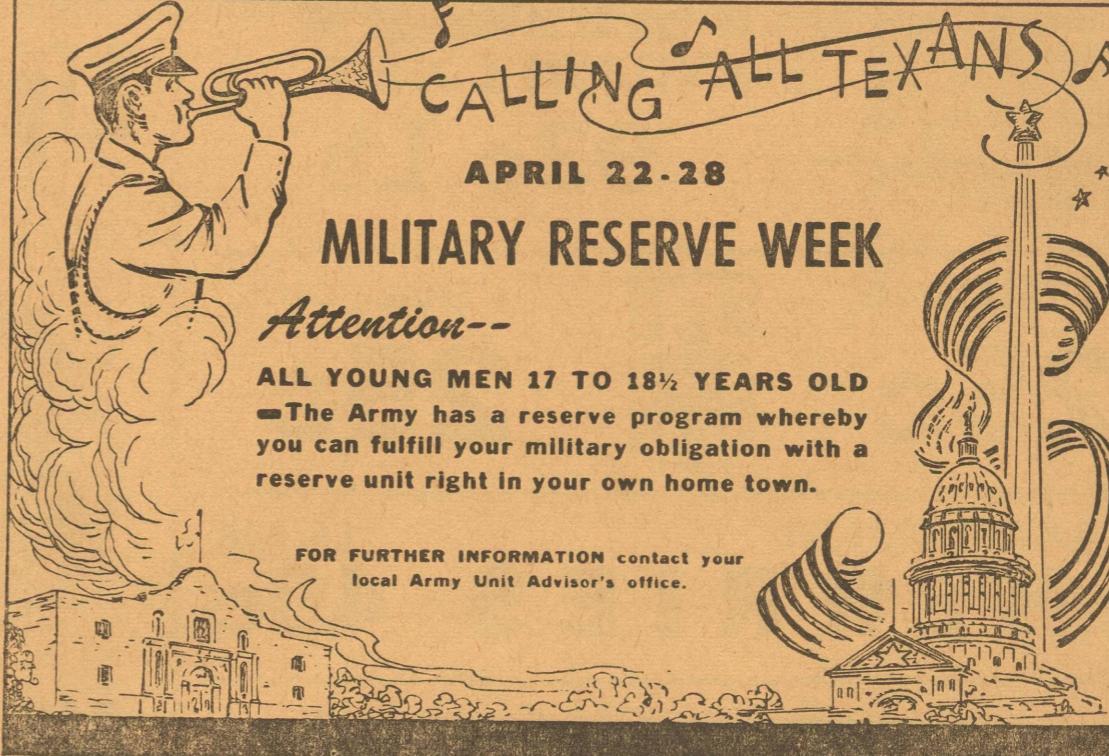

Brown points out that the pastor is no stranger in this type of work for agriculture is often referred to in the Bible and Christ in his teachings used many parables taken from his observations of the shepherd and the farmer.

Because of a demand for training in basic agriculture from young men going into missionary and church work in rural areas a pre-seminary course in this field is being offered through the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology of Texas A. and M. College.

Brown reports that the course has proved popular with young men who desire information in agricultural know-how as related to their chosen work. In addition to the basic courses in agriculture, they are given a wide range of elective work in agricultural economics, religion and other fields.

Weekend guests in the home of Mrs. H. F. Webb were Mrs. Ella Thomas and Mrs. Martha Hazelwood of Harper and Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Webb of Ozona.
