

25 'Hoboes' Believed Killed In Train Wreck

WASHINGTON By RAY TUCKER

Turmoil—Muffled explosions behind the doors of conference committee rooms are having heavy repercussions in Congressional cloakrooms and corridors. Members charge that the really important legislation for the rest of the session will be manipulated by a handful of legislative managers.

House and Senate representatives are supposed to take a vow of secrecy on all matters discussed in conference. But nobody is respecting that these days. Legislators suspect that administration spokesmen allowed in on the deliberations are reporting to interested superiors down town. The atmosphere is blue with charges and countercharges. The calm, deliberative spirit presumed to influence settlement of controversial questions has been supplanted by bitterness and recriminations.

This unusual situation has provoked demands for reform of this branch of Congress. Both Democrats and Republicans propose that all conference discussions be reported in shorthand and made available immediately to all members after each conference. The big idea is to prevent inside trades and outside manipulation.

Spotting

Hugo Black is poking his lobby searchlight into Congressional crevices with consummate skill from the White House viewpoint. Not even the men he seeks to place in the spotlight are wise to his game.

In going over the House roll call on the "death sentence" in the utility bill, downtown experts noted that three preponderantly Democratic delegations—New York, Pennsylvania and Texas—lined up against the administration. Their attitude was a great surprise to the White House. If enough of these Democrats can be forced to switch on the final balloting, Mr. Roosevelt will get the kind of a bill he wants. He needs a shift of only 36 votes.

So Mr. Black arranged to summon witnesses who would testify to shulduggerly in those three states. He has dug up fake telegrams from Pennsylvania cities, a Texas member who bought $3,000 worth of baby bonds on a $5,000 income and expenditure of immense sums by Associated Gas and Electric officials headquartered in New York. Already they're talking Black for Vice President if Jack Garner doesn't want to run again.

Handy

Footballer "Ham" Fish of New York has already made it hard for the GOP to deny him the vice-presidential nomination. Confident that reports to Republican headquarters say that he has sold himself to the people in the 36 states where he has hoisted the banner of "Fish for Vice President."

The New York Congressman, who represents Mr. Roosevelt's district, makes no secret of his desire for national honors in 1936. He is delightfully frank in admitting his ambitions. He has the heaviest mail of any House member—largely from remote admirers who have followed him in the headlines. He never dodges publicity. Although his colleagues don't regard him as a political heavyweight, they concede that he might be a secondary asset.

Upstate New York is said to be cooling toward the New Deal, and it is to voters above the Bronx that Mr. Fish would direct his appeal. Should first honors go to the Middle Westerner—Frank Knox, Senator Vandenberg or Gov. Landon—the GOP may find Mr. Fish to be a husky handy man.

Taxation—House Democrats' writhings over the tax bill have produced an unexpected shift in sentiment on Capitol Hill. Their experience may silence "soak the rich" slogans for a while.

Ways and Means experts studied a score of rate setups against reports of large incomes in recent years. Although admittedly a conservative body, they experimented with the highest rates possible in their executive sessions. But the most they could uncover in additional revenue through extremely high taxes was $450,000,000. Beyond that point they figured that rates would prove confiscatory and crippling to recovery. The politically minded dared not go beyond increases which will yield from $250,000,000 to $300,000,000.

The result of this "soak the rich" venture may be ironic. It will strengthen the LaFollette demand for much higher rates in the lowest

Reject Motion By Rayburn To Approve Bill

House Continues Opposition To President On Utility Holding Bill

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Continuing opposition to President Roosevelt's wishes, the house refused again Thursday to accept a utility bill provision to abolish "unnecessary" holding companies.

The action was taken in rejecting a motion by Chairman Rayburn of the interstate commerce committee, to instruct house conferees to agree to the section approved by the senate.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—E. P. Cramer, describing himself as an advertising man, of Plainfield, New Jersey, and a small stockholder in the Electric Bond & Share company, told the senate lobby committee Thursday he suggested months ago that the utilities start a whispering campaign that President Roosevelt is insane.

He said the suggestion was made as a part of the program to defeat the New Deal. He testified the suggestion at first was not carried out. It developed however, in the past few weeks that a "whispering campaign" has been started saying the president is in ill health.

Senate Finance Committee Hears Sec. Morgenthau

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau declined Thursday to tell the senate finance committee whether the house tax bill disregards President Roosevelt's recommendations but agreed the treasury would have to be satisfied with the measure which congress enacted.

After reading a prepared statement warning against new expenditures outside of the budget, Morgenthau asserted: "As long as I'm secretary of the treasury, I'm not going to try to write tax bills."

MINERAL WELLS, (AP)—Chairman Harry Hines of the Texas highway commission estimated Wednesday that the West Texas area would be allocated $6,000,000 in road projects from the $15,500,000 state and federal funds, not including WPA projects.

He made the estimate after the commission had announced highway designations and important projects for a wide area. Highway 15 was extended west from Fort Worth through Mineral Wells, Metcalf Gap, Caddo, Breckenridge, Albany, Anson, Roby, Snyder, Lamesa, Seminole and to the New Mexico line.

This route had been designated previously from the Louisiana line west through Marshall, Longview, Gladewater, Terrell, Dallas and Fort Worth. The commissioners said the highway would be No. 15 and I-A from Fort Worth to Metcalf Gap. No. 1-A was abolished from Metcalf Gap to Albany. No. 83 was abolished where No. 15 is located.

A project on No. 9 from O'Donnell, Lynn county, was approved and the commission authorized a project in Howard county northwest from Big Spring to Martin county.

Conference To Be Held Next Week In Paris

Mussolini Demands Modification of Peace Formula

GENEVA, (AP)—It was reported here Thursday the four-power conference to discuss settlement of Italo-Ethiopian conflict may be held in Paris or Ventimiglia, Italy, next week, after Premier Mussolini's demand for modification of the Anglo-French peace formula draft.

Telephone conversations between Premier Laval, France, and Mussolini brought the latter's demand of the proposed pledge of non-resort to arms during peace negotiations be removed from the draft of the formula.

League circles predicted something tentative in the way of an agreement to be worked out within twenty-four hours.

The proposed formula called for a revival of the Italo-Ethiopian commission with appointment of a fifth and neutral member. During the arbitration period Italy and Ethiopia would pledge themselves not to resort to war.

ADDIS ABABA, (AP)—Mass recruiting for Ethiopian army began here Thursday. Action was taken after the war council by the country's high chiefs, who were reported to have told Emperor Haile Selassie they believed "it may be too late now to prevent war."

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt, in a public statement Thursday expressed hope for adjustment of the dispute between Italy and Ethiopia.

Many observers interpreted the statement as putting the moral support of the United States behind the league of nations efforts to adjust the controversy.

Absentee Voting Changes Cited

Changes in the absentee voting law are cited by R. L. Warren, county clerk, as the August 24 election on state constitutional amendments approaches. An absentee vote and the notary public fee will be put to an expenditure of 74 cents, according to the new statute.

The clerk gave the following digest of the new election law: "First, the application form is prescribed by the statutes which must be sworn to and accompanied by the poll tax receipt, exemption certificate or affidavit that this has been lost or mislaid. In the event the ground of application is on account of physical disability, a physician's certificate must be attached to the application.

In the event the voter makes personal application before the County Clerk, this must be done not more than fifteen days nor less than three days prior to the date of election, and he must enclose 24 cents to cover postage. When the ballot is handed to the voter it must be voted in secret and deposited in an envelope, one side of which is addressed to the county clerk and on the other side has a printed affidavit the form of which is prescribed.

Voting by mail may be done not more than twenty days nor less than three days before the date of election, and the application for the ballot must be made before an officer authorized to take acknowledgments, and 24 cents must be deposited, and the voting is done in the same manner as before the county clerk.

Strangers to the county clerk or officer must be identified. Subdivision 9 requires the county clerk to post at a conspicuous place in his office for public inspection, a complete list of those to whom ballots have been delivered or sent out under this article, stating thereon the elector's name, age, occupation, precinct of residence, exemption certificate, and the date on which ballot was delivered or mailed which list shall be kept up from day to day.

Katy Freight Derailed Near Bruceville

Rescuers Hampered When Tank Car Catches Fire, Speed Search

ONE CHARRED BODY, NEGRO, IS FOUND

75-Car Train Believed Buckled In Middle, Causing Derailment

WACO, (AP)—A wrecked derailed Katy freight train gave up one charred body, apparently a negro, Thursday.

It was feared anywhere from seven to twenty-five, largely hoboes, may have been crushed to death in the derailment near Bruceville Wednesday night. Rescuers were hampered when another tank car caught fire. Railroad officials were considering dynamiting the wreckage in an effort to speed the search.

The estimate of dead was made early by injured persons. One man said that he was riding in a car with about 20 others, and that not more than eight of them escaped before the car caught fire.

Other injured said that several men were riding on a car of rocks which overturned and it was believed that some of them were crushed to death under the rocks.

None of the train crew was injured. Both ends of the train remained on the track as about 18 or 19 of the 76-car train buckled in the middle. Rail officials believed a hotbox in a wheel caused a middle car to leave the track.

A truck load of CCC enrollees from Troy, Texas, reached the scene first. W. A. Hargrove and A. J. Scholes, members of the CCC unit, said they rescued several persons, including five severely injured negroes. They reported that they heard groans in the cars that were on fire.

They could not, however, say how many men were in the burning cars.

Some of the injured were rushed to Temple and others were taken to Waco. Every available ambulance in Waco and many doctors were rushed to the scene.

Railroad officials said that the hotbox occurred in the middle of the train and that as the middle car jumped the track the rails were torn up for a distance of about 300 yards.

The wreck occurred about one-half mile north of Bruceville on the main line of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas line. Officials had not announced immediate plans for passenger service on the route.

A chemical truck from the Waco fire department fought the blaze as it spread over the piled up cars and to several oil tanks.

The fire disrupted telephone communications and the only immediate information came from the injured, from ambulance drivers and a Temple Telegram reporter who managed to get a phone call through in a round-about way immediately after he arrived at the scene.

SIMPLE REFORM MEANS WIDE SOCIAL CHANGE

Few reforms in this modern world can stand by themselves.
Nearly all of them are interlocked with the social structure as a whole, and if you undertake to set one minor matter right you are apt to find yourself committed to making a sweeping change in the entire set-up.

For example: Dr. David Snedden, professor of education at Teachers College, Columbia University, discussed the education of small children before a summer school class in New York the other night.

His point was that sending a child to school or kindergarten at too early an age puts the child in an unnatural environment and is apt to do more harm than good. It would be preferable, he said, to keep a child at home until it is 9 or 10 years old.

Then he went on to describe what he conceived as the ideal "school" for a child. There should be a normal household, he said, with a roomy back yard, flanked by similar yards in which the child and his playmates could come together.

"All of this, he added, should be under the sympathetic oversight of mothers who are not gainfully employed but are free to give their entire time to the vocation of home-making, including its most important division of child rearing."

Now all of this sounds very nice indeed, and there will be few to disagree with the good sense of the prescription. But try, just for a moment, to imagine the sweeping changes that would have to be made in our social habits to provide this setting for the average child.

First we must have a comfortable house with a roomy yard. This, at one fell swoop, does away with those massed city blocks of apartment houses, "duplexes" and little cubby-hole dwellings with ten-by-seven back yards. It would mean rebuilding a good half of every city, and raising the economic status of a sizable percentage of our entire population—for some millions of people fail to provide roomy back yards for their children for the simple reason that they can't afford it.

Then there is the demand that the mother be a full-time housewife, with no outside job to take up her time; and this, in turn,
would call for another revolution.
We have several million women gainfully employed in trade and industry, a great many of them mothers, and most of them work not because they like to but because they have to, to keep the family going.

If we are to fill this prescription, the annual income of innumerable families will have to be boosted—and thousands of men will have to learn how to become milliners, beauty shop operators, typists and heaven knows what else.

All of this is just a sample of the way things interlock in this modern world. Here we have an educator telling what we ought to give our children. To do it we would have to have an entirely different kind of society.

EXPECT TO TAKE BEST PLAYERS

Big Spring may be represented at the Wichita, Kan., baseball tournament to be staged in Wichita about August 15 if Harvey Munn of Lorraine can complete his plans.
Munn has already notified Wichita authorities that Lorraine will have a team present for the tourney, but there was some talk Thursday morning of entering the team from Big Spring.

Although the team would be entered as from Big Spring, no more than two or three players from here could make the trip. Miller
Harris, manager of the Big Spring Cowboys, was attempting to make some definite arrangement with Munn Thursday.

Miller expects to have the Loraine nine here for a game Sunday.
Munn expects to have the best players in this section of the country if he takes a team to the "little world series."

south and east attended the fifth annual summer school for coaches

The Herald will also play the second game, a postponed tilt with Howard County Refinery.

Tolan Triumphs
In '32 Olympics
Were A Mistake!

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Eddie Tolan is a fast runner, but a freak one, declares George Holder, veteran Australian trainer, who has warned the country's future sprinters against adopting the American star's methods.

"He gets back in the air," Holder explained. "He carries his body badly. He could not hold his condition. He ran himself into form, but once there he began to slip.
Why? Simply because he trained on the wrong lines."

Apparently not awayed in his judgment at all by the fact that the dusky Tolan gave Australia's best sprinters a series of trimmings
during his visit here, Holder
continued:

"Tolan undoubtedly was a great amateur runner, but as a professional he falls a long way below
the standard of a dozen Australians.
I could mention."

"If young Australians wish to mould their style on any proved runner, let them take as their model any one of the 20 leading Australians. There is not one good Australian runner who hasn't a better style than Tolan's."

(Editor's note: In view of Mr.
Holder's revelation it becomes clear that Tolan could not have won the sprints in the 1932 Olympics at Los Angeles, as the whinical record books would have us believe.)

Preparations For Texas Centennial In High Gear With Coming Of August

DALLAS—Preparations for the Texas Centennial Exposition which opens here June 8 next year went into high gear with the coming of August. The turning point from planning on paper to actual construction was reached this week and Centennial park is alive with workmen clearing sites for the $15,000,000 worth of exposition buildings which must go up during the next ten months.

The majority of the construction will be by contract and for the next three months bids will be advertised and contracts let at the rate of a new building every two weeks. By the first of the year a dozen or more great buildings should be rising simultaneously. Work has already started on the administration building which will house several hundred employees of the exposition staff. This structure is adjacent to the main gates of the exposition. It will be faced by fountains and lily ponds and its entrance hall will be decorated with huge murals typifying Texas history.

Plans have been approved for the State of Texas building which will cost the state $1,200,000 to complete and excavation for the foundations of this structure, as long as two city blocks, will start in September. The designs for the food products building and the poultry building, part of an agricultural group which will cost $750,000 have been also approved and construction work on this important unit of the exposition is to start without delay.

A civic center will be erected on 25 acres of property annexed to the south side of Centennial park and will be an important feature of the exposition. It is here that the $500,000 art gallery will be built by the city as the center of a building plan which includes an aquarium, a natural history museum, a horticultural building, sports building, an amphitheatre for band concerts and a large artificial lagoon. The city is already receiving bids for some of the underground work incidental to its $3,500,000 exposition building program.

George L. Dahl, architect, who heads the technical staff is now working on plans for the petroleum and gas building which will house an oil show which will be a major centennial industrial feature. Walter D. Cline, managing director of the exposition, says that so far the exposition's program has been kept up to date and that everything will be in readiness for the opening as scheduled.

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

Chapter 21
DINNER DATE

Dallas had that something that creeps into a girl's mind, into her heart, into her blood. Above all, into her imagination. Jimmy Dallas was glamorous. His could create an atmosphere, a mirage, a light that never was. While it lasted, you saw only him; everything he did was right; there was no other world.

She smiled at him eagerly, as he talked his characteristic love-nonsense to her, and held her at arm's length, admiring her with his stungly shining brown-green eyes, and playfully pretended to bite the tiny velvet forget-me-not wreath through which some of her rich golden curls was threaded over one ear, and said excitedly, "Flower-erice, I could eat you, you're so pretty, you delicious little thing!"

He asked her what she was going to do, and was delighted that she was to be in London for a time.

"We'll have lots and lots of fun! I'm supposed to work at our London offices. We'll have the most glorious secret parties, you and I."

"Secret! What for?"

Jimmy looked at her with mock despair.

"I'll have to be secret. I must make you understand. My father's snail's pace that I've got a dear little pal like you. He'd simply go off the deep end. My mother's a pet, but she can't stand up against him. Nor can my sisters, except the married one, and I don't trust her."

"Have I got to keep you dark from my sister?" Gladys asked.

"You said she was Albery's secretary, didn't you?" Gladys nodded.

"I'm afraid you will. Flowerface—for a time. You see, Albery knows my old man well. I can't take the risk."

"You talk like a cowardly baby!" said Gladys nervously. Something that she did not understand in her was offended, but she didn't want to let him go.

"You don't know my father, sweet. And I'm absolutely dependent on him. I shouldn't get a shilling. If I rubbed him up the wrong way, I tell you, it's a dog's life, keeping him quiet and managing to have a little fun!"

"But if I'm not to tell Laurie, how shall we meet?" Gladys asked.

"We'll manage, don't worry! I've got your address. It was your sister I sat next to at dinner, I find," he went on, with a self-smothered laugh of amusement. "A bit stand-offish and like a school marm, isn't she? Wouldn't approve of little Jimmy, I'm afraid!"

In that moment, through his light, magnetic temper's voice, the seed of deception was sown in Gladys's mind. It was a delicate and intricate plan, but it was a plan that retained newness and lustrous appearance.

POSSES SEARCHING FOR THEIR SON

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Rush of Athol, Ida., (above) said they clung to the assurances of a spiritual medium for the return of their 2-year-old son, Bobby, after he had been missing for eight days. They received a postcard mailed in Washington state saying "Your baby is O. K. Don't worry." The father has been on relief rolls and could not pay ransom. Posse numbering 300 persons failed to find a clue. (Associated Press Photo) had a word from him all the time. He might have kept up appearances, as he had insisted on her doing so.

"I expect you'll find a message when you get home," said Albery consolingly, with that note of friendly interest in his voice that he so carefully cultivated. "I'm sorry I'm late, Mrs. Moore, but I was delayed. There are a few rather important letters. Do you mind staying for a bit?"

"Of course not, if you want me," Mr. Albery said. Laurie was always at ease in their purely business relationship.

"You have an exceptionally clear mind," he said to her, after he had asked her a question at the end of an hour.

dictating several letters. "I should think you could make decisions quickly and wisely."

Laurie was pleased. She knew she was efficient. She had made herself so.

Albery looked at the clock. It was after six.

"Would you mind going on a little longer, Mrs. Moore? There is a report on this fuel that we were working on on Sunday. It has to be typed very carefully because the man has made so many corrections after the last test. It would be a great advantage for me if I can have it tonight."

"Of course, I shall be delighted," Mr. Albery. I'll take it and do it "Would it be easier if I dictated it?" Laurie studied the sheets and shook her head.

"No, thank you; I would rather do it myself."

She went away, typed the letters first and took them to Albery, and then became immersed in the tricky work of typing the report. Time passed without her knowing it. Albery opened the door of her office, and told her it was after seven.

"It will do in the morning, Mrs. Moore."

"Oh, no, I haven't much more to do! Don't you wait Mr. Albery, I'll bring it round to your flat when I've done."

"No, I'll wait," he said.

When Laurie took the finished report to him, he was alone in his office. The great building had gradually fallen into silence.

"Thanks very much," he said. "And now you must let me give you some dinner."

"Oh, no, Mr. Albery, there'll be some at home!"

"But it's quite late—after eight, and I wanted to read this through. Please, it would be a pleasure to me. I will just go through it and then we will drive round to the Savoy."

Box Moore returns, tomorrow, and is slightly embarrassed.

FOOTBALL CALL SET FOR SEPT. 3 BY POP WARNER

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Pop Warner faces a bright outlook at Temple University Sept. 3, when he calls together his football squad for the 1935 season.

Warner, whose contract at Temple runs for three more years, will issue invitations to about 40 players to attend the pre-season drills at Oak Lane Country Day School. The squad will be composed mostly of 1934 lettermen headed by Dave Smukler, Gloversville, N. Y., fullback.

Smukler has kept in condition during the summer by competing in track meets and working in a glove factory. He hopes to weigh 215 when he reports for training.

Warner and his assistant, Fred Swan and Cradley Winterburn, can lose little time in whipping their charges in shape. Only three weeks of practice are available before the opening game with St. Joseph's College, Friday, Sept. 20. At present, Warner is teaching football in Lubbock, Tex. He plans to return to Philadelphia Sept. 1.

16,000 Texans To Be Enrolled In CCC Camps

Eligible Men Asked To Contact County Administrators For Entrance

AUSTIN — Young men throughout Texas eligible for Civilian Conservation Corps enlistment have been advised by State Enrollment Supervisor Neal E. Guy to make themselves known to their county administrators if they are interested in being among the 16,000 to be enrolled by August 31.

Guy advised county administrators of their quotas and asked that they examine their relief rolls for probable enrollees, with the possibility that quotas will be increased when administrators show enough CCC candidates to warrant.

An eligible candidate is any single man between 18 and 28 whose family is on the relief rolls. While administrators were asked to search their rolls for probable enrollees, Guy suggested that the young men themselves notify their administrator if they are eager to enroll in the CCC.

Approximately 16,000 Texans are to be enrolled by August 31, with about 10,000 expected to be sent to out-of-state camps, Guy said. Out-of-state assignments are made because Texas camps already have their quotas, while camps in some of the other states have not, he explained.

Enrollment will be made at intervals during next month, and enrollment instructions have already been issued to the first allotment of $224.

Forty-three new camps are being built in Texas, bringing the total in this state to 96. Approximately 30,000 Texans will be in the CCC by August 31.

BILL McKECHNIE MAY GIVE SON TRYOUT IN 1936

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (UP)—Bill McKechnie, Jr., lanky first baseman and captain of the Penn State baseball team, has tentatively decided to seek a tryout with his father's Boston Braves next season.

With a record of errorless performance on college diamonds, Young Bill is rated highly. Joe Bedenk, Lions' coach and former All-American football player, believes Bill will eventually "make the grade" in big league competition. "He would," Bedenk said, "even if his name were Bill Smith or Bill Jones. Penn State never had an infielder quite so flashy."

As a youngster in Pittsburgh, where his father managed the Pirates, Bill, Jr., often participated in fielding practice with the club, but his father, fearing possible injury, seldom allowed him to face Pirate pitchers.

template a special campaign against Bill Borah of Idaho gave shivers to the Democratic high command. Jim Farley telephoned from Salt Lake to deny that he had singled out the distinguished Idahoan for slaughter. To Mr. Farley the man from Boise is just another Senator.

There is no news in the fact that the Democrats will strive might and main to retire Mr. Borah from public life. It would be news if they pulled their punches against him. But what they fear is the effect such a premature announcement will have on pending legislation on Capitol Hill. They don't care to antagonize Messrs. LaFollette, Wheeler, Johnson, Nye and Borah while so many bills are on the griddle.

Of course the Democrats will fight Mr. Borah. Three months ago even he thought that his fate had a fair chance to defeat him with Gov. Ben Ross as a candidate. Now the Senator thinks he's sitting pretty, with the "constitutional" issue made to order for him. But by giving him a hard tussle Mr. Farley may be able to keep him too busy at home to take part in the presidential campaign.

Consenters—

Carter Glass is still chucking out of the corner of his mouth at Federal Reserve Governor Eccles' excitement over the interlocking directorate provision of the banking bill.

Mr. Eccles opposed the idea because it permitted some banks—the Morgans, for instance—to extend their sway over a large portion of the financial empire. Then Carter pointed out that present law permitted the same arrangement provided the Federal Reserve Board gave its consent. More than 3,000 bankers have taken advantage of this loophole, and most of them are in the large financial centers. Reserve officials have found it hard to say "no" to these requests. They have grown more numerous recently. What the Senator seeks is to restrict the system by bringing it within legal limitation. The Board's behavior in the boom years convinces the Virginian that the less discretion it has, the better.

Notes—

The cafeteria in Ickes' new interior building will provide for 5,000 quick-lunch munchers at one time. . . Gov. Nice, Rep., of Maryland, was elected over Ritchie by championing the New Deal—and now he calls it "insane," and hopes to run for Vice President. . . #### NEW YORK

By JAMES McMULLIN

Forget—
The banking bill moves into the hosiery stage with Senator Glass and Congressman Steagall as the leading David Harums. Steagall of course favors the Eccles bill as passed by the House—which concentrates open market powers in the Federal Reserve Board alone—as against Glass' variant which gives the regional reserve banks a voice in determining open market policies. The Senate bill would also require that at least two members of the Federal Reserve Board be men of practical banking experience, while the House version has no such stipulation. Other differences are comparatively minor—except for one that has had little attention but may turn out to be the pivot on which the whole outcome of the Senate-House conference hinges.

The bill which Steagall steered through the House was supposed to be an administration measure—although the White House took care never to endorse it in detail. The obvious inference is that Steagall is the administration's good right arm in the forthcoming contest. New York sharps doubt that this is necessarily true.

Steagall is a staunch champion of the state banks in their fight to stave off compulsory membership in the Federal Reserve System. This is a move toward unification on which Glass and the White House—for a wonder—see eye to eye. Insiders predict that the chairman of the House conferees will get so engrossed in defending state bank autonomy he may forget to do or die for other features of the original bill which Glass has undermined. That would set the stage for a neat if not gaudy victory by Glass and the conservatives.

Revived—

Keep financial sources also express skepticism that the administration is as helibent for the House bill as published reports indicate. The amendments which LaFollette sponsored in the Senate were supposed to be just what Mr. Roosevelt wanted—yet administration Senators didn't even go through the motions of fighting for them. Instead they frankly passed the buck to the House-Senate conferees. Their casualness is taken as a reflection of the true attitude. Certainly there was no such indifference on the part of the administration backers when the House was debating the holding company death sentence.

Supporters of the banking bill drafted by Federal Reserve Governor Marriner Eccles charge that the changes introduced by Senator Glass hand the banking system back to Wall Street control. Wall Street emphatically doesn't agree. While New York bankers do prefer the Glass version to the alternative of complete centralization in Washington they would much rather have no legislation at all.

As predicted here, the much-discussed amendment to permit banks of deposit to underwrite security issues turns out to be nothing more than a pawn to be offered by Glass in exchange for more vital concessions on Federal Reserve reform. The big banks aren't as disappointed as you might think. They figure their turn will come later when the volume of private financing grows to a point where it will be obvious that investment houses haven't the capital to handle it. Then they expect the project to be revived and quietly passed—possibly as soon as next spring. They would much rather wait and have the privilege handed them than go after it aggressively now.

Blessing—

One of the newest wrinkles in the transportation field is the introduction of the terms "TL" and "LTL." The trucking industry has grown to such proportions that it now quotes lower rates for Truck Load than for Less than a Truck Load. These correspond to the long-established railroad terms CL (Car Load) and LCL (Less Car Load). A railroad analyst has recorded the loss of about 24,000,000 pounds of traffic yearly by the railroads from one shipping point in the past four years. He also notes a transition of some types of traffic from 100% to 97% truck and 3% rail.

New York experts generally concede that railroad executives as a class do not measure up to the calibre of men in similar jobs in other industries. They claim this has been true ever since the Interstate Commerce was created—because it so hampers private initiative that men of enterprising ability have no incentive to enter the railroad business. One critic contends the greatest blessing that could be conferred on the railroads would be a constitutional Retirement Pension Act which would ease out the present executives and allow the roads to acquire new blood and new ideas.

Research—

J. L. O'Neill comes home from the NRA wars today to rejoin his employer—the Guaranty Trust. Both Mr. O'Neill and the bank are said to be delighted that his Washington service is over. He has made a tremendous slash in the NRA personnel in the past two months and arranged for further cuts to come. He was placed in command specifically to handle that unpleasant job—though the administration probably wouldn't care to admit as much publicly.

With his passing the NRA is reduced to an organization of pure research—and not much of that.

Forehanded—

Argentina's attempt to place foreign newspaper correspondents under bond—so they can be heavily fined if they send out dispatches displeasing to the government—goes Hitler and Mussolini several better. Outwardly everything is rosy and serene in Argentina. Such a high-handed policy doesn't seem to make sense.

Well-posted New Yorkers believe a strong undercurrent of communist agitation is responsible for the move. It appears that Argentine authorities are setting some sort of record by suppressing news before it happens. They aren't at all likely to get away with it.

Lesson—

Several investment houses have been a little too profit-hungry for their own good. Certain recent security offerings have been unexpectedly difficult to distribute because they were priced too high.

This doesn't mean that investment demand is drying up. It does mean that investors would rather leave their money idle than accept absurdly low yields—even in these days of cheap money. Comment runs that the boys have yet to learn the lesson that buyers aren't necessarily suckers just because they would like to buy.
