County 4-H Club Girls Win Prizes In District Food Show In S. Angelo

Schleicher county 4-H club girls proved Friday that when it comes to cooking they are in class 1. Four girls brought back four ribbons. The District 4-H Food Show was held in the Cotillion room of the Town House hotel in San Angelo.

Competing in a field of 40 contestants from 12 neighboring counties, Joyce Woodward won a blue ribbon on a loaf of white bread. Paula Mace won a red ribbon with her fruit salad; Mary Ann Page showed a white ribbon winning cheese cake; and Frankie Blaylock made a sour cream noodle bake that won a white ribbon.

Girls' 4-H club work in Schleicher county is primarily a concentrated summer activity since the school, church and social activities are strong competitors during the school year. In other counties the small community clubs are the rule and clubs meet during school hours all the year around, the competition gets a little tough on days like Friday. As in all 4-H contests the members' record books counted 50% of the final score of the prepared foods.

What were the girls judged on? The girl was the first thing; how much she knew about how to prepare her food, what it meant from a nutritional angle, and how appropriately groomed she was. The appearance, flavor and quality of the dish came next. What to serve with the food; each exhibit showed a proposed day's menu, and the exhibit table were the other considerations.

Mrs. J. H. Mace, Mrs. Sonny Stanford, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Woodward and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moore were friends, leaders and parents of 4-H girls who attended the food show. Mrs. Duwain Sauer has been helping the girls as a leader in their food and clothing projects.

Mrs. Vida Kerklow, county home demonstration agent, accompanied the girls on their trip and reported that she was "tremendously proud" of the showing made by the Schleicher county girls.

Orval Edmiston Receives Good Citizen Award

ORVAL EDMISTON

Receiving this year's Good Citizen Award from the Eldorado Lions club was Orval Edmiston, present sheriff of Schleicher county, an office he has held since January, 1957.

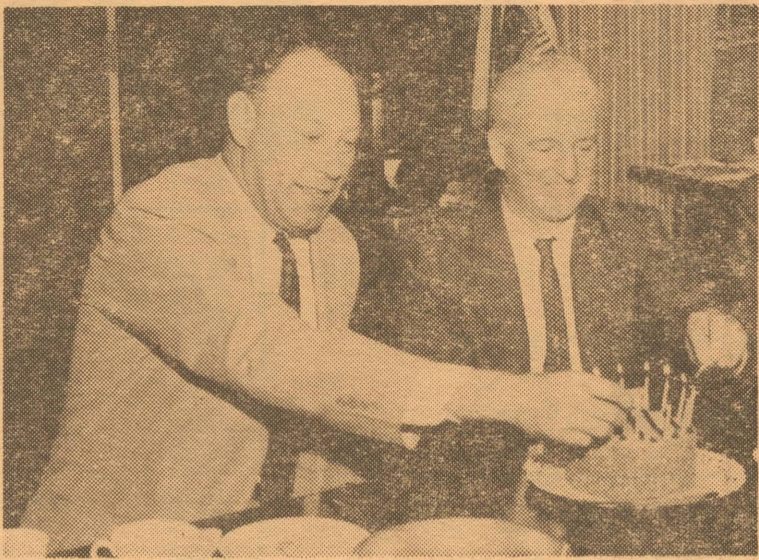

Sheriff Edmiston's presentation was one of several made at the ladies' night meeting Monday night of the Lions club, at which officers for the 1962-63 year were installed. Selection of the Good Citizen is made each year by a secret committee of three members.

County Judge W. R. Bearce was installed new club president, succeeding W. H. (Buster) Hale. In charge of the installation were C. C. Mitchell and Cullen Akin of Odessa.

Other officers installed included: C. J. Hahn, first vice-president; Fred Watson, 2nd v-pres.; and Ray Boyer, 3rd v-pres.; Bill Rountree, sec-treas.; Bill Gunstead, Lion Tamer; L. C. Cunningham, Tall Twister; and Elton McGinnes, Roy Phelps, Charles Wimer, and Orval Edmiston, directors.

Mrs. Sherwood Barker and little daughter returned to their home in Bishop, Texas, on Friday, after a several days visit with Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ballew and Ray and Mrs. F. M. Bradley. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bell accompanied them to Bishop for a week end visit.

Completes 15 Years With Stanford Research Institute

COMPLETING 15 years recently with Stanford Research Institute at Menlo Park, California, was Dr. Weldon B. "Hoot" Gibson, Executive Vice President, formerly of Eldorado. Dr. Gibson, shown at the left, is with Mr. MacLeod, and they are the first two Institute employees to pass the decade-and-a-half mark. Dr. Gibson and Mr. MacLeod, a senior chemical engineer, both joined the Institute staff in June, 1947, just a few months after its founding. Photo was made at a commemorative luncheon. Dr. Gibson graduated from Eldorado High School with the class of 1934.

Post Script

About as good entertainment as is provided in Eldorado these nights are the Little League ball games which are played on Monday and Tuesday nights and on Thursday and Friday nights.

I hope I am not going to be accused of disloyalty to the home town teams, but whenever the Christoval Cougars are playing I find myself pulling for their side. Last week they beat the Red Sox 9 to 3, and on Monday night they ran wild against the White Sox and beat them 23 to 7. I don't know just what their relative standing is in the League right now, but you can find it in another column. Joe Phillips is the official score keeper and reporter and you can find it in his report.

The Cougars have to drive 25 miles each time they come down here to play, and I'll have to say this for them, they always bring a bunch of enthusiastic boosters along with them. Without them, we'd only have a 3-team league and it wouldn't be nearly as interesting. So if my Eldorado readers will just pardon me, I'm going to say what I think—hope the Cougars will win the League championship one of these days.

It seems that first one and then another is leaving on a vacation that is to include the world's fair at Seattle. It will be interesting to get their reactions when they return home.

Jack and Lois Etheredge arrived back home last week and Lois' impression of the fair was that it was "a glorified carnival." But she said the trip up there was worth it and that the scenery is gorgeous.

People moving: T. W. Thackerson, new in Eldorado is in the Waldron (former Boothe) house; Jim Cobb, from Charlie Farris house to the Antioch Baptist parsonage; Homer McClure, to Roy Andrews house.

I went out to Paul Phillips' place the other day to see if I could borrow a pickaxe. Our county commissioner Jack Halbert was standing there and he observed that he didn't know where I'd find anything like that. I thought it was peculiar, him being a county commissioner and all.

Then when Paul came and handed me the tool, Jack got all over me. "Gwan, don't you ever come asking me for a 'pick-axe'—if I'd known you wanted a PICK, you could have had mine!" I guess I stand corrected, but I still think it ought to be distinguished some way.

I hope Jack comes by some day asking for my "pick" and I'm going to hand him an ice pick—or a tooth pick—or something.

Visiting here Tuesday and renewing acquaintances were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bennett of McAllen, Tex., and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bennett of Ardmore, Okla. The Bennetts were Eldorado boys some 50 years ago and they mentioned that they both learned to set type in the Success office. Naturally, one of the first persons they looked up was Mr. A. T. Wright, who owned the Success for many years.

Things were quiet here yesterday, the Fourth of July, except for an occasional firecracker. Leslie Baker was at work part of the day in his office and the Success crew were at work on this edition of the paper; otherwise there was scarcely a car on Main street.

A few service stations remained open, along with cafes. All in all, the day passed quietly. The crew of West Texas Woolen Mills took the day off and the mill is remaining closed the rest of this week for vacation. The mill employees worked Memorial Day and will also work on Labor Day to make up for this holiday period.

There was no rain in the county anywhere yesterday, and as far as we know, there were no accidents.

Ozona Junior Rodeo Coming Up July 12-14

The Ozona Lions club will hold its fifth annual Jr. Rodeo in Ozona July 12, 13, and 14 with this year's show promising to be the biggest one yet staged.

A parade Thursday, July 12, featuring the 539th Air Force Band from Randolph Field in San Antonio will open the three-day performance.

Reigning over this year's activities will be Queen Jan Pridemore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ottist Pridemore of Ozona and a 1961 graduate of Ozona High School. Miss Pridemore's Court will be made up of contestants for Queen of next year's show, the winner to be named and crowned during the final performance Saturday night.

A barbecue in the city park in Ozona will be held prior to the Thursday night performance and following all three night shows a dance will be held near the Fair Grounds arena.

The Ozona rodeo has proven to be a very popular one due to the top grade contestants and the able way the show has been run, avoiding long drawn out sessions and allowing visiting fans time to get home at a reasonable hour.

The 1961 rodeo drew entries from all around Ozona and all over West Texas and this year's entry list already shows a number of contestants from Eldorado, Sonora, Rocksprings, Del Rio, Marfa, Alpine, Rankin, and Fort Stockton, among others.

Vic Montgomery, an experienced rodeo performer as well as producer will once again head the performance and livestock details while Oscar Kest of the Ozona Boot and Saddle Show will be in charge of entries and the many details incidental to running off a good rodeo.

Some of the largest crowds to view a Jr. Rodeo anywhere in West Texas turned out last year, and present indications are that this year's gate may be bigger than last year's record show.

Eldorado will follow with its annual Junior Rodeo on the first week-end in August.

Reservists Are Being Released From Duty

San Angelo, Eldorado, Junction, Sonora, and Ozona United States Army Reservists were more than a little interested in the following news release from VIII Corps Hqs in Austin concerning coming release of Reservists currently on active duty.

A warm homecoming welcome will be extended to members of the eight Army Reserve units of VIII US Army Corps called to active duty last fall when they leave their active duty stations between August 1 and 7.

The reservists will be returning to 10 cities in Texas and one in New Mexico from Fort Gordon, Va.; Fort Belvoir, Va.; Fort Jackson, S. C.; Fort Lee, Va.; and Fort Hood and Fort Sam Houston, Tex.

Major General Thomas R. Yancey, VIII Corps commander, has appointed project officers in each of the localities to arrange for appropriate welcoming ceremonies.

General Yancey emphasized that the reservists were called to active duty last fall because the Army lacked sufficient forces to meet its world-wide commitments in the face of hostile behavior of the Sino-Soviet bloc.

In a letter to commanders of the units on active duty he said, "Perhaps only history can tell how much you have accomplished. The speed of your call-up undoubtedly contributed significantly to at least a postponement of the January 1 deadline imposed by the Soviets in the Berlin crisis."

"We know that your recall stimulated many of our allies to strengthen their military forces. Certainly, it has demonstrated to communist leaders that we are determined to fight, if necessary, to preserve the rights of free men."

The VIII Corps commander pointed out that reservists are being released from active duty, not because of any drastic change in the international situation, but because the Army has improved its combat posture and with the release of the reservists, will still have 16 combat-ready divisions.

$50,000 School Bonds Coming Up At Ozona

An election to determine whether or not $50,000 in bonds shall be issued by the Crockett Consolidated Common School District for the purpose of constructing an administration building and for construction or purchase of a residence to be used as superintendent's home, will be held in the county Saturday, July 7.

The election was called by the board of trustees in response to a petition signed by 18 qualified taxpayers in the district asking for such an issue for the purposes outlined.

The proposed bond issue is a bare minimum needed for the two projects which the school board has determined as necessary expansions of the school system plant to take care of a growing community. —Ozona Stockman, June 28.

SHARON ANN VICK ENGAGED TO RONALD ARCHIE MITTEL; SEPTEMBER RITES SET

SHARON VICK

The engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sharon, to Ronald Archie Mittel of San Angelo, has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Vick of Irving. The couple plan to marry Sept. 1 in the First Baptist church at Irving.

Miss Vick attended San Angelo

College and Mr. Mittel graduated from Texas Tech in 1960.

The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Mittel of Eldorado. Mrs. Mittel will give a tea to introduce Miss Vick at her ranch home on Saturday afternoon, July 14th.

Mias Amigas Meets

Mias Amigas Club, an organization composed of students of Eldorado School from the first graduates through 1918, met for the thirty-second annual meeting on June 28, in the Memorial Building here in Eldorado.

A true spirit of Friendship makes each member of the Club feel that old friends are to be cherished as priceless jewels, and old times were revived, communications were read from members unable to attend, old pictures were enjoyed and all hearts were made glad by the association of old schoolmates.

Luncheon for members and guests was served by Mrs. Zelma Henderson Thursday noon in the Memorial Building. Open House from 4:00 to 5:00 was held at the home of Misses Militia and Katherine Hill when friends of the members called.

Informal sandwich supper was served at the Memorial Building at 7:00, after which a most interesting and entertaining program, The Present Salutes the Past, was emceed by T. J. Bailey of Ozona, assisted by the program chairman, Mrs. Lula Mae Evans Smith of San Angelo and Mrs. Annie Marie Doty Perner of Ozona.

A Coffee in the home of Mrs. Ida Conner Neill opened the last session of the club, Friday morning at 9:00 and after installation of new officers the meeting was adjourned by singing the Mias Amigas song followed by a closing prayer.

More Skunk Trouble In West Texas Cited

The Lee Alexander family of Crane and formerly of McCamey, were fishing at the Chandler Ranch Saturday when a skunk attacked their 11-year-old daughter, Debbie. The animal bit her on the arm and shoulder. It was reported that she is taking rabies shots in Odessa and is doing nicely. —McCamey News, June 28.

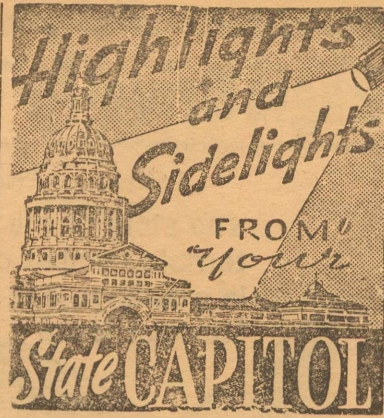

Ruth Williams is spending several weeks this summer with her sister, Mrs. Thurman Atchley and children at Lynnhaven, Virginia, while Lt. Atchley is doing overseas duty with the aircraft carrier Randolph. Ruth is expected home about August 1st.

Fred Speck, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Speck of Rocksprings, returned to his home Monday after a visit here with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Speck.

Mrs. Ruby Fowler left Monday to return to her home at El Paso after visiting here with relatives and attending the Mias Amigas meeting.

Mrs. J. G. Rushing and daughter Marion of Vancouver and Mrs. Roberta Williams of Amarillo visited in the J. H. Emmons home.

John Dyer who is working this summer in New Mexico, was a week end visitor here with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Dyer. John will be a Senior veterinary student this fall at A&M.

Austin.— State-owned islands along the coast, and submerged lands in inland waters, now are available for lease for industrial purposes.

Leasing for industry was authorized last year by the Legislature. First step in the program was for Gov. Price Daniel to select the men to serve on a committee to advise the School Land Board on leasing procedures.

Daniel now has named J. Chrys Dougherty of Austin, an attorney, and Dr. Armstrong Price of Corpus Christi, as the advisors.

Procedure is this—a person who wants to lease state land must first apply to the city government if the land lies in a city limit, or to the county commissioner's court. They publish notices and have public hearings. If they recommend the lease the three-man School Land Board then can consider it and set the amount of rent to be paid.

First application was from Port Aransas, which wants to lease part of Mustang Island for an airport.

School Bus Bargains

Prices of school buses are falling.

State Board of Control, which buys buses for all the school districts on sealed bids, found that the price of 72-passenger buses has fallen by about $1,200 this spring.

May purchases averaged $5,430, while the 1961 average was $6,618. Same sort of declines were noted in prices of smaller buses.

Leases Go Up

But there was a note on higher prices, too.

For many years, the University of Texas lands in West Texas have been leased for oil and gas with only one-eighth royalty reserved for the University of Texas and Texas A&M College, which share in the proceeds.

This year, the royalty was raised to one-sixth, and only 9 of 101 tracts offered for lease were passed over by the oil company bidders who bought them at an auction sale. Cash bonuses averaged $38.64 an acre. This is lower than at some sales in the past. But if they find oil or gas, the University fund will get more of it due to higher royalty fees.

Impact Still Dry

That long-expected "oasis" in West Texas will stay dry awhile longer. It is the town of Impact, in the edge of bone-dry Abilene, which incorporated and voted itself wet in 1961.

declare the incorporation invalid. But District Judge J. R. Black held that the incorporation had been invalidated by the Legislature. It was done in a validating act passed mainly for the City of Plano, which just happened to apply to Impact, also.

However, State Liquor Administrator Coke Stevenson Jr. announced that he will not grant a package store permit which has been pending for months. He'll wait to see what the higher courts say about Judge Black's ruling, since the case will be carried to the Texas Supreme Court.

So there won't be any legal liquor in Taylor county for many more months.

Legal Rulings

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson answered a variety of questions this week.

He told Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar that it is not legal for a school district to buy gasoline and oil from a consignee who is a member of the school board, even if he got the contract as low bidder on sealed bids.

He told County Atty. John Lawhon of Denton that Jim George, who won the Democratic nomination for two justice of the peace seats, can't hold them both, and that he vacated the office he held when he became a candidate for the other place. George's name cannot appear on the general election ballot for both jobs.

He told County Atty. Bill F. Griffin Jr. of Center that trucks owned by a farm corporation and used exclusively for hauling poultry and farm products are entitled to the half-price farm license fee.

He told County Atty. Mack Wallace of Athens that members of the national guard are not exempt from ad valorem taxes levied against their property for road purposes. The exemption for militia members is from the "road tax" of $3 per man which used to be levied against those who did not put in a day's work a year on the county roads.

By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

The 4-H club girls of Schleicher county have added the 5th H to the club during the month of June. The new H stands for hustle, and hustling is what most of them have been doing since school has been out.

Five senior girls went to a Citizenship Camp at Lake Brownwood on June 1st and came home willing and ready to start the summer's work and from the results of the Food Show Friday I think they mean business.

Paula Jo Mace's watermelon bowl was the most talked about display at the Food show. A watermelon bowl was fashioned by scalloping and notching a properly sized watermelon end. Grape leaves were used as a "cushion" for white and red grapes, plums, peaches, limes and other colorful fruits in season. The whole arrangement was placed on a big round crystal platter.

The salad was beautiful to see but it tastes even better than it looked. Paula used: equal parts of—watermelon balls (scooped out to make the bowl); pineapple chunks; mandarin oranges (canned); white seedless grapes; These fruits were mixed and sweetened slightly and then over all was poured:

Lime-Honey Dressing

1/3 cup lime juice;
1/3 cup honey;
1 cup salad oil;
1/2 teaspoon paprika;
1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard;
1/2 teaspoon salt;
grated peel of 1 lime.
Blend all ingredients thoroughly and keep in cool place. Makes 1 2/3 cups.
Serve watermelon bowl chilled. And you can serve it from a bowl, but it is pretty when it's dressed up.

I think that maybe the Billy Frank Blaylocks may, at the moment, have eaten all the sour cream noodle bake they care for. Frankie has been stirring it up pretty often lately practicing for the contest but she said Friday that she thought that they still like it—fairly well. Why don't you try it, soon? We believe that you will like it the first time you try it, and of course you won't be making it every day for a week or so like Frankie did. But her efforts paid off. She won a ribbon on her

Sour Cream Noodle Bake

8-ounce package medium noodles
1 pound ground beef
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon black pepper
1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
1 cup tomato sauce or puree
1 cup creamed cottage cheese
1 cup sour cream
1 cup green onions, chopped
1 cup sharp Cheddar cheese, shredded.

Cook noodles in boiling salted water. Rinse and drain. Brown meat in butter then add salt, pepper, garlic salt and tomato sauce. Simmer for five minutes.

Combine cottage cheese, sour cream, chopped onions and noodles. Alternate layers of noodle mixture and meat mixture in a two-quart casserole, beginning with noodles and ending with meat. Top with shredded cheese. Bake in 350 degree preheated oven for 20-25 minutes, or until cheese is melted and browned. Serves 8.

Next week I'll catch you up on the other girls' exhibits and report on the workings of the Jr. 4-H club. They have been having some dandy meetings lately.

Do you have a 9-year-old girl or any girl up to 18 or even 20 who would like to be a 4-H club member? Call me for details at 22592. It's a wonderful summer's work for the girl who wants to learn. It's free; no dues—no cost. It's an important part of the Federal, State and County Extension Service and more than two million boys and girls are members in the United States today. Texas has 100,000 members alone.

Russell Beach returned to California Tuesday after visiting his wife and family in Eldorado several days. James Sallee went to California with him and will attend school there. Mrs. Beach is staying on in Eldorado for a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cheatham had their grandchildren several days this week. They are Teresa and Charlotte Glasscock and Vicki and John Wesley Cheatham who were here while their parents attended the Jubilee at Brady.

Mr. and Mrs. Bomar Lawrence of Charlotte, N.C., and Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Sherman of Leander are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stevens and Mrs. Eva Stack. They celebrated the Stevens' 24th wedding anniversary on July 2. The women are Mrs. Stack's daughters and Mrs. Stevens' sisters.

Mrs. L. T. Wilson has her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Mildred Deaton of Concord, Calif., as guests. They came in Wednesday night and will spend several days visiting here. Mrs. Wilson plans to go home with them for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Fisher returned home last week end after visiting in Oklahoma and North Texas. At Guyman, Okla., they visited Mr. and Mrs. David Holden and became acquainted with their new grandson, Billie Bob. At Muskogee, Okla., they visited Mr. Fisher's brothers, E. A. and Bill Fisher and a sister, Mrs. Joe Brown and family. At Wichita Falls they visited an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. V. B. Morgan. They reported that their daughter, Shirley, Mrs. David Holden, and baby are doing fine.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Turnbow will leave Friday for their vacation. They plan to go fishing down on the Colorado, and to visit.

The James Pages are on vacation and they plan to be gone about two weeks.

Carolyn Wilkerson of Crane visited Jane Sanders last week.

The Vernon Rogers family are on vacation; also the Joe Wagley's who left Friday to visit Mrs. Wagley's parents in Portales, New Mexico, and Dr. Mowrey in Arizona.

4-H CLAIMS 23 MILLION ALUMNI, HONORS MANY Awards Program In 10th Year

The 4-H Clubs of America can claim the largest alumni of any co-educational youth organization in the world.

Today's former 4-H members number nearly 23 million men and women, according to the Federal Extension Service. They can be found in virtually every rural community and in cities as well.

Within the next decade, an even larger number will reside in suburban towns and big cities because 4-H is rapidly extending into these areas as the farm population continues to shrink. The latest U. S. census reports the smallest farm population in history in proportion to the entire population. About one person in 12 resides on a farm.

Awards Given

The national 4-H Alumni Recognition program was launched just 10 years ago when 4-H grads numbered around 15 million. Its purpose is to inspire today's youth by citing men and women who credit 4-H with making a valuable contribution to the success and satisfaction they now enjoy.

Award sponsorship of this unique 4-H program was under-

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

A new camping booklet has been issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to give information of the 5,200 camp and picnic grounds in the national forests.

The booklet, Camping The National Forests—America's Playgrounds, covers the pleasures of outdoor camping.

Vacationers from the county may want to take advantage of this opportunity. Transcontinental highways in the country pass close to campgrounds in one or more of the 154 national forests and 18 national grasslands. These campgrounds may be located high on a mountain pass, beside a lake, or in the heart of a desert.

Every national forest campground has minimum standards which are listed and discussed, so the novice camper may know what to bring and what is furnished.

A copy of the booklet may be obtained from the Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

Those producers who have prairie dogs, whether it be a town or a scattered few dogs, are asked for co-operation.

Representatives of the Rodent Control Service will be in Schleicher county July 16-28 to assist all producers in killing all prairie dogs in the county. The cost will be to each producer the actual cost of the poison. The labor will be free.

This is a co-operative move thru your county agent, Rodent Control Service and the producer. Nothing is mandatory—all is left up to the producer.

Those who have prairie dogs please contact County Agent W. G. Godwin, should you desire this service.

Things to remember:

1. This is not mandatory, a voluntary co-operative movement.
2. The labor is free.
3. You will pay the actual cost of the poison—at actual cost to the state.
4. Turn your name in to W. G. Godwin.
5. Show and permit these trained specialists to come upon your property.

The final test of a gentleman: His respect for those that can be of no possible use to him.

A county wide cotton insect survey made Friday, June 28th, shows that we have the following insects: The county as a whole has a light infestation of cotton fleas, boll-worm, and boll-weevil in certain areas.

Now is the time to watch your fruiting cotton. Local shows can cause a build-up of fleas and boll-worms in a very short time. To control the flea and boll-worm effectively, insecticide application must start early and while the larva of the boll is small.

L-218, Texas Guide for Controlling Cotton Insects, are in the hands of all 132 cotton producers. If followed will pay dividends many times.

The man who rows a boat generally doesn't have time to rock it.

The Smith-Doxey agreement has been approved and is on file in your county agent's office. This agreement gives to the 132 cotton producers classification service of cotton that all may benefit by knowing the correct grade of cotton at correct moisture and temperature levels. It is impossible for all producers to know cotton grading and classification. This service offered and accepted makes it possible to keep in touch and to improve quality of cotton from year to year as the milling industry warrents.

Ideas are funny things; they don't work unless you do.

CHICKEN BARBECUE GIVEN

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hext entertained 10 young people Monday night with a chicken barbecue in honor of a niece, Sally Turner, of Mountain View, California, who has been visiting them, and a granddaughter, Judy Hext, who is home this week after attending a youth seminar at Mo-Ranch, near Kerrville, for the past two weeks.

There were 30 boys and girls from over the state selected to attend this course which was for pre-college-age young people. Judy will return to Mo-Ranch next Sunday where she will be assistant camp counselor this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Hext took Sally to Hamilton Tuesday to visit other relatives.

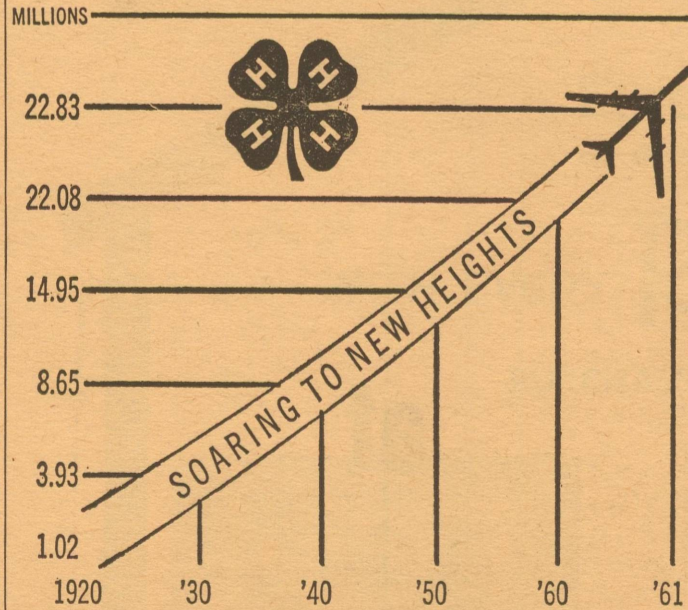

The Roy Phelps family are on vacation. They left here Saturday morning for Amarillo and went on from there to Salt Lake City, Utah, and planned to go from there to Reno, Nevada, and San Francisco, Cal. They are visiting Mrs. Phelps' brothers at the various places.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Coleman of Bowie visited in the Van Dusen and Jerroll Sanders homes, and with other friends in Eldorado last week end. The Colemans are former residents of Eldorado and they moved to Bowie four years ago, when he was transferred there by Service Pipe Line Co., by whom he is employed.

Mayor and Mrs. Eldon Calk and family are vacationing in California where they will visit Russell Beach and Disneyland; then they will go on to Seattle to the World's Fair. They will also visit Dr. Mowrey and family at McNary, Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Bascom Hartgraves had visitors two days last week from Long Beach, California. They were Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Hutfield. This week came friends from Maryneal, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Hill and children Linda and Kenneth, who were on their way to Rocksprings.

This column has been granted exclusive use of what is believed to be a unique compilation of facts concerning Texans who became generals in the Confederate army. The information was compiled by Edward P. Watts, a Dallas reader of 4558 Roland, from Ezra J. Warner's popular "Generals in Gray," a publication of Louisiana State University Press.

In his "Generals in Gray," the author points out just who was qualified to be called "general" in the Confederate army and also gives a brief background of each of the 425 general officers listed therein before, during and after his war. A photograph of each general except one, John Breckinridge Grayson, is an outstanding feature of the book.

From his research in "Generals in Gray," Mr. Watts found that the state of Texas can claim as its own only 28 of the 425 men who attained the three gold stars and wreath of a general in the Confederate army. There were four grades within the rank of general with the same insignia used by all four grades.

Most of the men from Texas appointed to one of the four grades by President Jefferson Davis had resided in the state for years prior to the outbreak of the war. Nine of them had served with Texas troops in the war with Mexico in 1846-1848 and four of these nine had also taken part in the war for Texas independence. Of these four, three were with General Sam Houston at the Battle of San Jacinto in 1836. These were Tom Green, Walter P. Lane, and Ben McCulloch.

Of the 28 who qualify as citizens of Texas, only one was a native Texan. He was Brig. Gen. Felix Huston Robertson, the son of Confederate general Jerome B. Robertson, who was born at Washington, Texas, on March 9, 1839. Gen. Felix Huston Robertson was the last survivor of the general officers of the Confederate army. He died at Waco on April 20, 1928.

John Bell Hood and several other professional soldiers who happened to be stationed in Texas at the outbreak of the war and who were later to become a general at one of the four grades in the Confederate army are excluded from the list of 28 Texas general officers. In the truest sense, these men, with the exception of Albert Sidney Johnston, were not citizens of Texas.

Other officers who were sometimes erroneously referred to in official reports and correspondence as "general" but who were not so appointed, plus some who at times exercised brigade command and who later reached posterity as "general" are not considered in the list.

Four of the 28 generals from Texas were killed in action during the war. These were Hiram B. Granbury, killed at Franklin, Tennessee, Nov. 30, 1864; Thomas Green, Blair's Landing on the Red River in Louisiana, April 12, 1864; Ben McCulloch, Pea Ridge, Ark., March 7, 1862; and John Gregg, killed while in command of the Texas Brigade near the New Market road below Richmond, Va., on October 7, 1864.

Two others received mortal wounds and bled to death on the battlefield. They were Albert Sidney Johnston at the Battle of Shiloh, April 6, 1862, and William R. (Bill) Scurry, at Jenkin's Ferry, Ark., on April 30, 1864. Two others died of natural causes. Joseph L. Hogg died near Corinth, Miss., on May 16, 1862 and Allison Nelson died near Austin, Ark., Oct. 7, 1862.

Matthew D. Ector and Felix Huston Robertson were incapacitated by wounds for active field service but both remained in the army. William H. Young, after receiving wounds at Murfreesboro, Tenn., in the Vicksburg campaign under Joseph E. Johnston, and at Chickamauga, suffered two more wounds at Kennesaw Mountain in Georgia. On the march into Tennessee with Hood's Command, Young was captured in an attack on the Federal forts at Allatoona, Georgia, after his left foot was all but shot off. He was not paroled from the Federal prison in Ohio until July 24, 1865.

One Texan, Maj. Gen. John A. Wharton, was slain by a fellow officer, Col. George W. Baylor, in a quarrel over military matters in the Fannin hotel at Houston on April 6, 1865—just a few days before the War ended at Appomattox.

And, Brig. Gen. Louis T. Wigfall, who figured prominently in the bombardment of Fort Sumter, resigned his commission to take a seat in the Confederate Senate on Feb. 20, 1862. John C. Moore, a West Pointer and the organizer of the second Texas Infantry in the spring of 1861, also resigned his commission as Brigadier General on February 3, 1864, for reasons which are still unknown.

These men and all the other residents of Texas who reached the rank of general were soldiers indeed and Texas can proudly claim them. Five Texas counties are named in their honor and a number of Texas towns carry their names.

The counties are Gregg, Tom Green, Ector, McCulloch, Scurry.

Space limitations forbid the inclusion of all the names of Texas generals here, but we have mimeographed the list prepared by Mr. Watts showing not only the name of all general officers from Texas but their native state and the place of their burial.

Readers who desire a copy of the list may obtain one by addressing a request to this department, enclosing a stamped and addressed envelope and we will send it by return mail.

Our article about the 28 Texans who became generals in the Confederate army evoked a number of comments and observations from our readers. One of these came from Llewellyn Notley of Teague, who was intrigued by the notation that one Texas general, John A. Wharton, was slain by a fellow officer, Col. George W. Baylor, in a quarrel over military matters in the Fannin hotel at Houston on April 6, 1865.

Notley was intrigued because the tragedy is mentioned in the morning report which his father kept as first sergeant of Company F, 22nd Texas Dismounted Cavalry. Notley has the original of the morning report and the following entries appear for April 6 and 7, 1865:

April 6: Weather clear during the day. Major General Wharton reported killed in Houston by Col. Baylor.

April 7: The Brigade escorted the body of Gen. Wharton from Hempstead to his headquarters, the distance of about four miles. Raining during the time.

The morning report makes no mention of the reason for the shooting and most references simply say the two differed over "military matters."

Both officers had participated in the battles of Mansfield and Pleasant Hill in Louisiana during the Red River Campaign of 1864. General Wharton, after distinguishing himself at Shiloh, Murfreesboro and Chickamauga, had been named to command the cavalry in General Richard Taylor's department.

Following the defeat of Union troops under the command of Gen. Nathaniel Banks who initiated the Red River Campaign, General Wharton was assigned to the Trans Mississippi where he served until his death.

Colonel Baylor was also a distinguished officer and apparently the difference between the two was of long standing. They met on April 6, 1865 in the rooms of General John Bankhead Magruder, the commander of the Department of Texas who was then in Houston.

According to Colonel Baylor's account, General Wharton had slapped his face and called him a liar, for which Baylor had shot and killed his accuser.

General Wharton was later found to have been unarmed, but the deed was done and the General's body was shipped to Hempstead the next day and escorted to his headquarters four miles from town. He was apparently first buried at Hempstead but later his body was reinterred at Austin.

The company in whose morning report the notation appeared saying that the body was escorted to the general's headquarters was a part of the brigade formerly commanded by Gen. Camille J. Polignac, a French nobleman who was one of the few men of foreign birth to be granted a high rank in the Confederate army.

The "Lafayette of the South," as Polignac was called, took command of the brigade in the winter of 1863. Composed of the 22nd, 31st and 34th regiments of Texas Cavalry and the 15th Texas Infantry, the brigade acquitted itself with great credit in the battles of Mansfield, Pleasant Hill and Yellow Bayou during the Red River Campaign. It was during this campaign that General Polignac won the respect of the disgruntled cavalymen who, in addition to suffering the humiliation of being dismounted, were at the beginning of the campaign quite hostile to their foreign-born commander whom they nicknamed "General Polecat."

But following the Battle of Mansfield, where the prince won a complete victory over Union General Banks and secured the rank of major general, the Texans' attitude became one of admiration and loyalty.

On The Screen . . .
'Lover Come Back' Is On Sunday & Monday

In Hollywood there is a talented young writer named Stanley Shapiro whose witty typewriter once turned out a couple of things called "Pillow Talk" and "Operation Petticoat," thereby causing the money men at Universal-International to grow large smiles and tell one another to quit worrying about television.

On the time-tested Hollywood theory that what works twice will certainly work a third time, the Eagle Drive-In Theatre will show "Lover Come Back" Sunday and Monday nights.

It stars Doris Day, Rock Hudson and Tony Randall, the same trio of "Pillow Talk" and is in color. Stanley Shapiro has again written the screenplay, and he also is the producer of U-I's latest Technicolor comedy.

"Lover Come Back" is the slickest, funniest, smartest film so far this year.

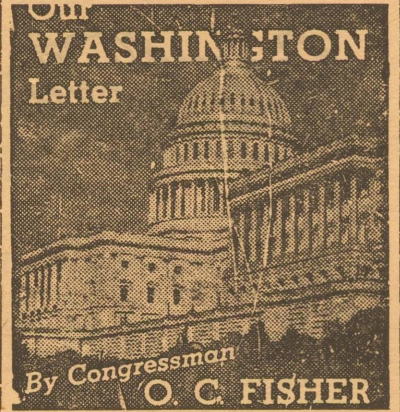

Miss Day and Hudson are rival advertising execs along Madison Avenue who have met only acidly via the telephone (which sounds like "Pillow Talk") and are therefore very ripe for the oldest plot wheeze in the business—the mistaken identity bit. But Shapiro's script carries them past the obvious pitfalls and into sharp screen lines.

Tony Randall, who might deserve a supporting Oscar for his role as the pampered, neurotic heir trying vainly to run papa's ad agency, reaps most of the dialog goodies. ("It's rough being born rich. Even the Statue of Liberty inscription reads, 'Give us your poor.' We're not even welcome in our own country.")

Several hilarious plot twists are worked in this Technicolor extravaganza before Miss Day and Mr. Hudson get together.

Many farmers and ranchmen are finding fertilizers a good production item buy. Cecil Parker, extension farm management specialist, says the price of fertilizers has not increased since 1951 and Texas farmers have increased their use by 23 per cent during the period. He says there is room for additional usage but suggests that a soil test be used to determine the amount needed.

New officers of the Texas 4H Council are Richard McDonald, Cameron county, chairman; Ann Williams, Brazoria county and Richard Chitwood, Parmer county, vice chairmen and Judy Miller, Grayson county, secretary-treasurer. They were elected during the Council's annual meeting in Houston.

By a 10-vote margin the House last week defeated the supply-management farm bill. Considered by many as a drive for politically-determined and regulated farm prices, the House turned it down. Recognizing weaknesses in the bill, House sponsors accepted some 25 amendments during debate, and before it was all over no one seemed to know just what the hodge-podge measure actually contained.

The outcome was a victory for livestock producers who had reason to fear higher feed prices of the bill went through. In short, the bill simply did not include answers to the high cost of the farm program, the mounting surpluses and the ever-increasing trend toward more controls and regimentation over the American agriculture.

I joined with eight other Texans in voting to defeat the bill.

returned to France and it is of passing interest to note that he named his son Victor Mansfield, after the great battle of 1864. It is also interesting to note that the General's daughter, Agnes de Polignac, the Marquise de Courtiron, was a member of the New Orleans chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy.

In 1888, the Marquise accompanied her husband, a liaison officer of the French High Commission, to America where she visited the site of the Battle of Mansfield. On her return home she was instrumental in organizing the Paris, France, chapter of the U.D.C. One of the objectives of the Paris chapter was the erection of a monument to General Polignac on the site of his most important victory.

On April 8, 1925, the 61st anniversary of the battle, the monument was unveiled by the general's son Prince Victor Mansfield Polignac, in the presence of his mother, the general's widow.

Inquiries have come in regarding the proposed maneuver area plan recently announced by the Army. The project would include a 2-million acre area adjacent to Ft. Hood. It would take in all of Mills county, about half of Brown, San Saba and Lampasas counties, and some of McCulloch county.

Following the announcement, I joined with Congressmen Poage and Burleson in an exploratory discussion of the project with Army officials at the Pentagon. Right-of-entry easements are being sought from all landowners in the area, and we were anxious to know what if any compensation might be paid for such rights and also what arrangements would be made to see that any damages would be taken care of, and how much red tape and delay might be anticipated in the approval and payment of claims.

Many landowners remember the unhappy experiences during Operation Longhorn several years ago when claims were admittedly poorly and inefficiently handled.

The Army insists that in the future claims will be handled promptly, up to $1,000. Above that figure, the claims would have to be processed and some inevitable delay would be involved.

We suggested that high-level studies be made to determine whether it might be feasible to pay landowners a stipulated amount per acre as liquidated damages where entries are actually made, plus any specific damages that might occur following such entries.

The Supreme Court decision barring a simple nondenominational prayer is difficult to understand. The prayer, written by a New York state board, espouses no particular religious belief. It states:

"Almighty God, we acknowledge our dependence on Thee, and we beg thy Blessings upon us, our parents, our teachers and our country."

Art. 1 of the Constitution prohibits any law establishing a religion, or the free exercise thereof.

Since the school children where the prayer was used were free to either attend or not attend the gatherings where the prayer was recited, it is most difficult to see how anything in that prayer can possibly be said to interfere in one iota with the free exercise of religious beliefs.

After all the prayer was nothing more than the recognition of a Supreme Being and a humble request for His blessings.

Has it come to pass that the simple recognition of a Creator and the imploring of the blessings of the deity is in contravention of the U. S. Constitution? If so, then is the daily prayer which opens the House of Representatives unconstitutional? It is government business just as much as a school session. And the Supreme Court is opened each day by the crier who yells out: "God save the United States and this honorable Court!"

Is that not the recognition of the existence of a Supreme Being? And what about the National Anthem, long ago officially recognized by a law of Congress? Is the "In God We Trust" inscription on our coins unconstitutional?

I have joined with others in supporting a resolution to amend the Constitution to correct this most recent Supreme Court blunder. The recognition of a Supreme Being is interwoven with our history and our national heritage. And it should be encouraged in every school house in America. Our spiritual life is involved.

Now why would Martha put laundry in the freezer?

Flameless electric living is a way of life, nowadays.

Sometimes this wonderful way of life in the world of women brings about strange sights—sights that are incomprehensible to the mere man. Often, a man sees things more marvelous, even, than laundry in the freezer.

That's because Martha . . . and all the Marthas served by West Texas Utilities Company . . . knows better than anyone (even us) the many ways to live better, electrically.

All right, Mister—why does she put laundry in the freezer? Ask the inventor; she will also show you other ways her family uses flameless electricity for a better life.
