Claude Meador Funeral Held Here On Sunday Afternoon

CLAUDE MEADOR

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 4:00 in the First Methodist church here in Eldorado for C. L. (Claude) Meador, Jr., 72, long-time ranchman and county judge for 12 years. Mr. Meador died at about 2:30 a.m. Saturday in Baylor hospital in Dallas where he had been taken last week.

Officiating at the funeral was the pastor, the Rev. C. M. Nyquist, and he was assisted by the Rev. Roy B. Shilling Sr. of Del Rio, former pastor here. Organist was Mrs. Bill Rozean.

Interment was made in the Eldorado cemetery beside Mrs. Meador who died in 1955. Ratliff-Kerbow Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements and Masonic rites were held at the graveside.

Mr. Meador was born in Coryell county on May 29, 1890, the son of the late C. L. (Uncle Dink) and "Aunt Mattie" Meador.

On Oct. 17, 1915, he married Miss Edith Moore in Christoval, in the old Christoval Hotel, which has since burned.

A resident of Schleicher county since 1900, Mr. Meador owned and operated a ranch near here since 1916 and also owned and operated an irrigated farm three miles southwest of town.

He served as county judge for 12 years, from Jan. 1, 1939 to Jan. 1, 1951. During his administration the county acquired many all weather roads leading to all outlying points; he also assisted in the building of the Memorial Building and the sale of some Schleicher county school land in Gaines county.

Not long before his death he retired as chairman of the local chapter of the National Foundation, after serving 16 years.

He was a member of the Eldorado Masonic Lodge since about 1928. He served as secretary of the lodge for 11 years.

His survivors include two sons, Ed Meador of Eldorado and Charles L. Meador of Dallas, and a daughter, Mrs. Russell Beach of Sebastopol, California; and seven grandchildren. Also surviving are two brothers, T. C. Meador and W. F. Meador, both of Eldorado.

QUEEN CONTEST TO BE FEATURE OF JUNIOR RODEO

The Eldorado Junior Rodeo set for Friday and Saturday, August 3rd and 4th, will feature a contest for Rodeo Queen this year, according to Horace Linthicum, president of the Eldorado Riding Club, which sponsors the event.

Rodeo girls, age 19 and under, are invited to appear at the rodeo arena this coming night, along with their horses. At that time the rules of the contest will be explained. The contestants will be judged on horsemanship and experience. The winner will be announced at the closing night of the rodeo and will be awarded a trophy buckle.

The rodeo itself, which is approved by the American Junior Rodeo Association, will be carried on in the same manner as heretofore. There will be contests in three age groups with two events in each group. Events will feature steer riding, calf roping, barrel races, pole bending and ribbon roping.

Last Gap In Iraan Road Nears Completion

Iraan News, July 5.—Crockett County Sheriff's Department has received many complaints from the Border Construction Company pertaining to the Iraan-Eldorado road now under construction.

Many people have been disregarding the closed and detour signs placed on the road beginning at the Pecos River bridge and have been driving on the new road bed. The company is just about ready to hot top the remaining four miles of the road that has been under construction off and on the last 10 years. Company officials stated that with the cooperation of the public the hot topping job can begin around July 16.

BET SHE IS, TOO

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Carroll returned home Monday after spending a week in San Antonio visiting in the home of their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Granberry, where they spent most of the time getting acquainted with their new granddaughter, Cynthia Lee. Mrs. Granberry is the former Shirley Carroll. Little Cynthia Lee was born July 3rd. The Carrolls apparently didn't lose any time getting down there to see her. They modestly admit that she sure is a "cute little bugger."

WINS PRESS' PRAISE—A charming young lady from a 10,000 acre dairy farm near Sandia, Texas, won the acclaim of Texas newspapers at the recent Texas Press Association meeting in Corpus Christi. Occasion was the Awards Dinner at TPA's 83rd Annual Summer Convention. Honor guest was Miss Louise Knolle, reigning American Dairy Princess. On behalf of the Daily and Weekly Newspapers of Texas, TPA Pres. Victor B. Fain of the Nacogdoches Daily Sentinel presented Miss Knolle with a large, wood-mounted, copper plaque. It bore her photograph and a tribute to her beauty, personality and talent . . . and for the recognition she brought Texas during her reign. She traveled more than 100,000 miles over the Continent and beyond its borders, "speaking up for milk" on behalf of the nation's dairy farmers.

All Set For County - Wide Road Bond Election Saturday

Post Script

You can expect a lot of hot, dry weather in July and August. That's the usual observation you hear when folks are talking about the weather.

But what about June?

There were some very good rains in June—especially in town. Clide Keeney kept a record of his June rains and reports that the total was 5½ inches. It was at least that much, he says, because one time he forgot to empty his gauge and he had to guess at the evaporation.

Now if some of the rest of you kept a record, we wish you'd report your June total to the Success. We know the rains were all spotted, and it would be interesting to check.

With our subscribers:

Mrs. Velma Denelson reports her new address in Snyder as 2311 41st Street.

Mrs. L. L. McFall of Mertzson is a new subscriber.

R. L. Sample of Box 92, Glenwood, Ark., is now getting the Success.

Robert Williams is on our list at 106 Matz Ave., Harlingen, Texas.

Commenting on the death of Claude Meador, one citizen pointed over toward the Memorial Building and remarked, "Well, he left one memorial here, anyway."

Yes, Claude was our county judge at the time, following the war, when the Memorial building project was brought up and put over.

There is another project that he was instrumental in starting, which he didn't live to see completed—the road west to Iraan. This job has been under way, piece by piece, for over 10 years. The last four miles leading in to the city of Iraan, has been under construction all this past winter and spring. Construction men are nearly ready to "shoot" this last gap. The information we have this week is that it will be open for traffic by late August.

Mr. Claude missed it by a month.

Robert McCulloch of Sonora, district engineer with the Highway Department, was in the Success office Tuesday and stated that work on the final link in the Iraan road was progressing well.

Hauling of base will start by the end of this week and will take about 20 days. In August the final surfacing and topping will be done.

A thought: Maybe the Eldorado Eagles football team and their fans will have the new road to travel on when they go to Iraan on Sept. 7 for the opening game of the '62 fall season.

People moving.

Mrs. Pat Martin has moved to the Milligan house which she bought.

Johnny Griffith has moved to Mrs. Martin's former residence on the Menard highway, which she has sold to George Gandy.

Clyde Estes is new in Eldorado and living in a Woodward house.

Henry C. Williams is in the former Atkins house on the Angelo highway.

Firemen were summoned to Faris Nixon's house Tuesday when a gas leak ignited near a stove. The blaze was quickly brought under control but the wall and a window sustained some damage.

Mr. Nixon has the house in western Eldorado where Alvin Atkinson formerly lived.

Dr. John D. Blackburn arrived in Eldorado this week to join his father-in-law, Dr. Edward L. Dyer, in his local medical practice.

Dr. Blackburn will be in the local clinic starting Monday. He joined his wife and two young sons here in the Thomerson house.

With passing of the deadline this week for voting absentee in Saturday's bond election, a total of 14 votes had been cast in the clerk's office.

A majority of two-thirds is required for the proposition to carry.

Qualified tax-paying voters of Schleicher county will have the opportunity of marching to the polls Saturday and casting their vote for or against the proposition of voting $75,000 in bonds to defray the cost of right-of-way and fencing for a new road from Eldorado to the Tom Green county line.

The official notice of this election was carried in the Success for four weeks during June. The regular county voting places will be open in the various precincts as follows:

Voters in precinct 1 will vote at the Memorial Building.

Precinct 2A at the Eldorado Wool house.

Precinct 2B at the Frieske residence.

Precinct 3 at the county barn.

Precinct 4A at Perry Mittel residence.

Precinct 4B at Northern Natural Gas office.

Polls will open at 8:00 a.m. and close at 7:00 p.m.

Members of the Commissioners Court have issued a statement which appears on page 3, the substance of which is that—

The Court has co-operated with the State Highway Department in planning for this road . . . they are already committed to provide the right-of-way . . . the only issue at stake is the method of financing . . . the bond issue is the most economical method of financing and can be handled with no increase in taxes.

Over the past 15 years the Menard road, Mertzson road and the Big Lake road were all handled in the same way.

A group opposing the bond issue have bought space on page 7 of this paper, giving their reasons why the issue should be defeated.

J. C. (Clarence) Johnson Victim Of Heart Attack

J. C. (Clarence) Johnson, 73, highly respected resident of Schleicher county for the past 50 years, died suddenly last Thursday morning, the victim of a heart attack.

Clarence had entered the Davis Cosden station to rest after doing some field work. He suddenly slumped from his chair and by the time a doctor arrived he was pronounced dead.

Funeral services were held at 4:00 p.m., Friday at the West Side Church of Christ, conducted by Bro. E. B. McCowan of Abilene. Interment was made in the Eldorado cemetery.

Born Dec. 20, 1888, Mr. Johnson had been a stock farmer south of Eldorado, where he was located on one farm for about 40 years. When he lost his lease several years ago, he moved in to Eldorado. He kept his farming tools and continued to farm several small acreages near town. He was a member of the Church of Christ and the Masonic Lodge.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Jimmie H. Lowe of Midland; two sons, J. C. Johnson Jr. of Odessa and Cecil Johnson of Eldorado; one brother, Arch Johnson of Farmersville; two sisters, Mrs. Victoria Wilcox of Levelland and Mrs. Betty Phillips of Dallas; three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Pennington Graduates At Officer Candidate School

Lt. and Mrs. Jerry Lyn Pennington were visitors in Eldorado last week at the home of his mother, Mrs. Evelyn Pennington, while on a 7-day leave after graduating from the Officer Candidate School at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Pennington was one of the reservists from San Angelo who was called to duty last fall with the 49th Division and sent to Fort Polk, La. He was selected for officer training in May and sent to Fort Sill. He was graduated from the Artillery and Missile School on the 30th of June as a Lieutenant in the United States Army Reserve. Following his 7-day leave, he reported back for duty at Fort Polk and is due to be discharged in August. His wife, the former Janna Walker, resides in San Angelo.

On The Screen . . . 'Walk On The Wild Side' Is On Sunday, Monday

Charles K. Feldman, who produced the screen version of "A Streetcar Named Desire," is the producer of "Walk on the Wild Side," which will be shown Sunday and Monday nights at the Eagle Drive-In.

He must be fascinated with the sordid possibilities of New Orleans, where sin has a half-today-half-yesterday look.

Director Edward Dmytryk has kept the melodrama within reasonable bounds and has been artistically effective with his atmosphere. This is chiefly an empty freight car said to be passing through Texas and the humid pavements of the Vieux Carre.

Laurence Harvey, with a passable Texas accent, is cadging rides to New Orleans in search of his Hallie, played by the sensitive actress, Mlle. Germaine Lefevre, known by the name of Capucine. She was once a windswept farm beauty with a gift for sculpture whom he couldn't marry when it was high time because he had an invalid father to care for. With Papa gone, there is nothing in sight between him and Hallie except finding her.

Eventually, our Texan finds Hallie where he would like her least. It is in a French Quarter "fancy house" known as the Doll House. Hallie is a special favorite of the competent madam, Barbara Stanwyck.

Miss Stanwyck, for her part, has a vicious husband who is without legs and gets around on a dolly. The Doll House has an "enforcer" who beats up unruly girls. He is morosely played by Richard Rust, a frequent bruiser on television.

Harvey persuades Hallie to leave this life and purify herself at his side on the farm. This is easier dreamed of than done in the shadow of the Cabildo. Harvey gets beaten up for his trouble. Hallie gets a fatal bullet, under the old code that a soiled heroine cannot survive.

The net result is a picture aimed at utilization of a big cast (Anne Baxter also is along as the Latin American owner of a roadside cafe where Harvey toils briefly), rather than at the sensationalism of Nelson Algren's novel.

The cast:

- Dove Linkhorn...Laurence Harvey
Hallie...Capucine
Kitty Twist...Jane Fonda
Teresina...Anne Baxter
Jo Courtney...Barbara Stanwyck
Miss Precious...Joanna Moore
Oliver...Richard Rust
Schmidt...Karl Swenson

Preacher...John Anderson
Frank Bonito...Ken Lynch
Lt. Stroud...Todd Armstrong
Amy Gerard...Lillian Bronson
Eva Gerard...Adrienne Marden

Big Lake Wars On Unlicensed Dogs

Big Lake Wildcat, July 5:—Mainly as a precautionary measure against an outbreak of rabies with the coming of warm weather, the city has been picking up a number of unlicensed dogs, who apparently are also unclaimed, it has been announced by Mayor Ralph Duesing.

The mayor stated that there had been many complaints coming in from over the city of the damage the dogs were doing to lawns, as well as being a public nuisance with their barking day and night, and making driving sometimes hazardous by their running loose on the streets.

Austin.—That "safe driver insurance plan" with its penalty points for traffic law violations and accidents goes out the window Aug. 1.

State Board of Insurance bowed to legislators' demands that it be greatly modified. But Board members felt it would be better to scrap the whole thing, and try to work out some other plan for later adoption.

Most Texans will find that the abandonment of the merit rating plan will cost them money. This despite the fact that insured Texas car-owners taken as a whole will pay $10 million less for car insurance in the coming year than they did this year.

However—two-thirds of the car owners—those who have been getting 20 per cent discounts because they have had no accidents or reported traffic convictions—will pay the full rates in the year ahead. The other one-third—those who have been paying as much as 100 per cent extra because of bad driving records—will save substantially. They will pay the same rates as everyone else.

One factor in the decision to drop the plan was concern by members of the Board—and the insurance industry—over the increasing number of car owners who were just doing without insurance. The Board members felt that to increase the penalties, which would have been necessary to maintain the 20 per cent discount for the "safe drivers" would drive even more people into un-insurance. This would have made the safe driving insurance plan even more out of balance statistically.

Because auto insurance rates are set by counties, and by types of cars and the age groups of drivers, it is not possible to say just what effect the rates will have. Local insurance agents soon will have the information.

Schools' Allotment Cut

State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert advised the Texas Board of Education that Available School Fund's income for the 1962-63 school year should be $197,058,604. The revenue is reaped from ad valorem taxes, interest on securities the school fund owns, motor fuel taxes, omnibus taxes and other revenue.

Board deducted $8,737,536 to finance cost of purchasing and handling textbooks, and divided the balance between Texas' 2,387,234 children of school age.

So, the public schools will get $78.50 per child next year; $2 less for each than they were allotted in 1961.

While the 21-member board was on the subject of money, it passed a $459,878,843 education budget for 1963, and offered State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar a $4,000 annual raise through federal funds.

Edgar "declined the honor," saying he felt his three assistants are more entitled to supplements since they are directly concerned with administering federal programs.

So, raises from $11,000 to $13,500 were voted for L. R. Graham, assistant commissioner of administration; Lee L. Wilborn, assistant commissioner for instruction, and M. A. Browning, assistant commissioner for vocational education. Then the board agreed to ask the 58th Legislature to raise Edgar's salary of $18,500 a year to $24,000 when it convenes in January.

Cream of the Crop

A preliminary glance at the Texas Education Agency's survey of 80,000 teachers revealed that the state's public schools system is getting the "cream of the crop" of high school graduates. Study chairman R. W. Byram of Austin said that new teachers came from the top 25 per cent of their graduating classes.

But the distribution of education specialists seems to be uneven: All teaching colleges in the state graduated a total of only 80 language teachers last year, and only 12 per cent of those who took mathematics education degrees plan to teach, so schools will suffer shortages in those areas.

On the other hand, there's an estimated surfeit of English and history teachers—almost all the college graduates who majored in those two subjects plan to teach.

"Tain't True"

Railroad Commission Chairman William J. Murray Jr. surprised Capitol newsmen this week by issuing a denial of rumors about the East Texas Oil Field scandal before he even was asked about them.

He introduced, and then denied, a rumor that the Railroad Commission has provided the major oil companies with damageable evidence against independent operators through inclination tests, but said Attorney General Will Wilson has "changed the rules" by accepting contributions for directional tests from the big oil firms, and providing information for them.

Murray also refuted rumors that some crooked-hole operators were under his protection. He admitted that he has friends among those under investigation, but stated he had granted no favors: "I swear that I have treated them alike— independents and majors—and will continue to do so," he added. He further stated that he has not accepted money for campaign expenses in any of the political races he has run since his 1947 appointment to the commission.

Regarding a year-long delay in investigating illegal well deviation in East Texas, Murray moaned, "Why didn't I suspect it earlier? I had too much faith in my fellow man."

School Supt. A. M. Whitis was on a trip this week to Brownwood, Ft. Worth, Denton, and possibly other points to secure a math teacher to replace Carroll Scott, who resigned his position in the local schools recently.

Miss Dana Ray Owens is attending the second six weeks session of summer school at Texas Tech.

ELDORADO WOMAN HAS SENSE OF HUMOR

An Eldorado woman has decided that those weight machines that tell your fortune and how much you weigh for a penny are worth the money.

She stepped on one recently and punched a button for the month of May as her birthday is in that month. The little card fell out and she picked it up to see what her "fortune" was. The card read, "You talk too much too many times." She was so amused at the quaint phrasing and the truth of the statement that she forgot to see how much she weighed before she stepped off the scales, but thought she had her penny's worth anyway. She cheerfully paid another penny to find out her weight.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford Oglesby, Jr., and Janet and John Ford, were in Austin this week on a two-day business trip.

On The Screen . . .

'Horizontal Lieutenant' Showing Tonight, Fri.

Unreeling tonight and Friday night at the Eagle Drive-In Theatre is "The Horizontal Lieutenant," which is the fourth picture for lanky Jim Hutton and pretty Paula Prentiss, out of whom Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer are trying to make a youngish team. The picture gets the works in CinemaScope and expert color.

In command are veterans Joe Pasternak, producer, and Dick Thorpe, director, both with illustrious records.

Hutton is an American looie with the I. Q. of the Sergeant for whom stage and screen had No Time for—

Miss Prentiss alternately coils herself about him and slaps his face in a manner becoming a lady and a WAC nurse.

Mr. Hutton's chief contribution is to be knocked unconscious. Miss Prentiss' is to struggle with farce which should be straighter comedy for her temperament and style.

Jack Carter, a comedian, is strictly pro.

Car Wreck At Andrews

Mrs. Audrey Turnbow of Eldorado, daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Turnbow of Eldorado, was injured in a one-car accident on Texas Highway 176, just west of Andrews last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Turnbow was driving the car, a 1962 Chevrolet, when it hit loose gravel on a curve and turned over. A sister-in-law, Mrs. Joe Herring and a friend, Mrs. Johnny Smith, were with her. The three women were thrown clear of the car when it overturned. All were taken to the Permian General hospital at Andrews where Mrs. Smith died at 9:45 p.m. Friday of head injuries. Mrs. Turnbow suffered a broken pelvis and Mrs. Herring a broken vertebra. Both were reported in satisfactory condition in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Turnbow cancelled all plans they had made for their vacation and left for Andrews where Mrs. Turnbow will remain to take care of the two grandchildren.

The car was a total loss.

A Visit To The Nation's 1st Underground Home

Mrs. Walter N. Ramsay is home from a visit in Plainview where she was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Walker.

She reports the South Plains area as being a veritable garden spot where such a high percentage of the land is under cultivation, much of it in cotton, many kinds of grain sorghums, alfalfa, castor beans, cabbage, and other vegetables. Nearly all land is irrigated and with recent rains, crops are in top form.

While there she visited the nation's first underground home, "The Atomit Home" which was designed by Jay Swayze in accordance with all fallout shelter requirements. The home was named The Atomit, a contraction of the words "atomic habitat." The luxurious four bedroom, three bath home is constructed inside a concrete shell for complete protection against fallout. The show home demonstrated that living underground can be more advantageous than living above ground.

Mr. Swayze was influenced in his decision to build the home by a thought expressed in a Civil Defense class. The thought was that in event of a fallout disaster, friends would have to be turned away from the conventional small fallout shelter. As he prizes his friends as well as his family and would not want to turn them away, he began planning the Atomit. He worked on the plan for eight months before perfecting it and ultimately building it, completing it last Spring (1962). It has its own auxiliary power unit which will supply the necessary voltage to maintain the home in any emergency, also a water well and sewage lift.

A wood burning fireplace enables the gravity air system to operate, circulating and exhausting air which enters the home through special fallout filters. The top of the exhaust is in the rock garden on the ground surface. Plumbing vents are channeled through this exhaust.

The entry is a door in the double garage which leads down wide steps, turns right and through special fallout doors, into a porch area. Real flowers and plants thrive under the special ultraviolet light and scenic murals on the retainer walls. Outside windows give one the feeling of living on top of the ground. It is lavishly furnished throughout and will accommodate 150 persons for three months for luxurious living, even under atom-bomb fallout.

Mrs. Ramsay was the recipient of several social courtesies while in Plainview and she reports a most delightful visit.

A Word From Your County Officials

YOUR COMMISSIONERS COURT HAS AGREED TO CO-OPERATE WITH THE STATE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT IN RE BUILDING OF HWY. 277 FROM ELDORADO NORTH TO THE COUNTY LINE.

WE HAVE BEEN ADVISED BY OUR COUNTY AUDITOR AND ALSO AN INVESTMENT COUNSELOR THAT THE CHEAPEST WAY TO FINANCE THE COUNTY'S PART OF THE EXPENSE IS BY MEANS OF $75,000 BOND. THE COUNTY'S FINANCIAL STRUCTURE IS IN SUCH CONDITION THAT A BOND ISSUE CAN BE VOTED WITHOUT INCREASE IN THE PRESENT TAX RATE.

IN THE EVENT THAT SATURDAY'S BOND ELECTION FAILS TO CARRY, OTHER METHODS OF FINANCING WILL BE NECESSARY, EVEN THOUGH SUCH METHOD WILL BE MORE EXPENSIVE.

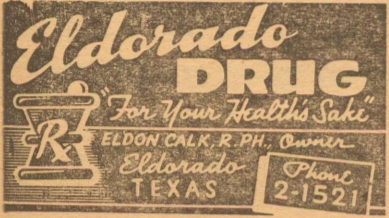

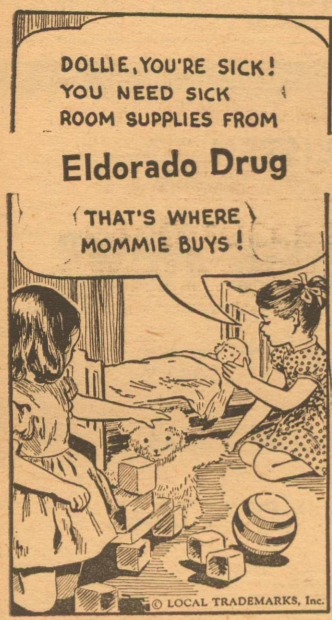

THEREFORE, WE APPEAL TO YOU VOTERS OF SCHLEICHER COUNTY TO SHOW YOUR CONFIDENCE IN YOUR ELECTED OFFICIALS, AND VOTE SATURDAY FOR THE BOND ISSUE.

SIGNED,

We appreciate so much the cards, flowers, calls, food, memorials, and every expression of sympathy. Especially do we thank the Ladies of the Presbyterian Church for serving the two meals to the family, and each one who brought the lovely food.

We shall always remember each of you who came to the hospital to visit us during the long anxious hours of waiting, and each one who brought comfort in any way to our loved one. Thank you and may God's richest blessings be upon each of you.

Republicans To Rally At Mertz Saturday

A barbecue and fund-raising rally by area Republicans will be held Saturday afternoon at 5:30 in Mertz, it was announced here this week by Ford Oglesby, Jr., Schleicher county Republican chairman.

Jack Cox, Republican candidate for governor of Texas, will be on hand along with other prominent Republicans from the area and state. The barbecue and rally will be held at Brooks River Oaks Camp in Mertz.

Tickets at $2.50 each are available from Mr. Oglesby, or at the barbecue, for local persons wishing to attend.

Storm Cellars Can Be Converted For Fallout

College Station—Many of the tornado and underground vegetable cellars in Texas can be made into good fallout shelters, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer.

However, there are several points that must be kept in mind when remodeling these shelters to provide adequate fallout protection. They are: (a) adequate shielding, (b) a protected entrance, (c) positive ventilation, (d) storage facilities for supplies, and (e) the installation of a radio antenna for radio reception.

The most economical means of providing the additional shielding needed is with a layer of soil to a depth of about three feet over the entire cellar roof. Most cellars will require additional reinforcing in the roof in order to hold this extra weight. A steel reinforced, six-inch-thick concrete slab cast over the roof may be used instead of the soil cover. A local carpenter can tell you the amount of steel necessary for your situation, but for most cellars 1/2" steel bars laid on 12" centers in both directions will be sufficient.

A right angle entrance into the cellar, essential to protection from fallout, may be made by building a partial wall inside the existing cellar. If the cellar is not large enough to permit this wall inside, then a new entrance should be constructed with the necessary right angle in it.

A mechanical blower should be installed to provide positive air exhaust in time of disaster, and an inlet and outlet vent provided. The blower should provide a minimum of 5 cubic feet per minute per person. A filter is not necessary for the average home shelter.

There should be enough shelves and storage space to hold the recommended amount of supplies and a radio antenna should be installed to receive CONELRAD broadcasts. Be sure your battery powered radio will work in the shelter and will connect to the antenna. Fallout shelter plans are available.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

By MRS. VIDA KREKCOV

Last winter when the gas was off and the thermometer had dropped out of sight we wished for the good old summer time. It's here, and it's wonderful. I wouldn't want to live in a place where there was no summer, no fruit, no watermelons, no home made ice cream—it wouldn't be worth a dime to me.

Summer time is the time for going visiting, having company, family reunions, church dinners and all this calls for big Texas-sized cooking. I'm not going to ask you to remember that 9 lbs. of pinto beans (dry) will serve 100 people, at 1/2 cup each; and will cook up to make 3 1/2 gallons of beans, or that it will take 17 lbs. of ground meat to make 100 hamburgers.

But—I am going to remind you that I have a complete United States Department of Agriculture file of large quantity recipes and I'll be glad to look it up and help you with how much to buy for the big cook out. My number is 22592.

The other afternoon before the food show in San Angelo I ran by Mary Ann Pages to see if every thing was all set for the making of the contest cheese cake the next morning. Maxine had previously promised to be at MO ranch for a work shop that week and she and Martha Sue were gone, leaving James and Mary Ann at home. Of course I knew James could help on a cheese cake but then I knew too that he could be busy.

"Do you have everything all ready to make the cheese cake in the morning?" I asked Mary Ann as we went into a kitchen rich with the aroma of a broiling steak. "Oh," she said, "everything is all taken care of. I got to thinking about it and I just thought that if I made it this afternoon then I sure wouldn't be late in the morning." And on saying she took a beautiful cheese cake out of the refrigerator, one that would have been shown by an experienced cook with pride. And sure enough it was a prize winner—the next day.

I thought it was pretty good thinking on Mary Ann's part to get that cake ready ahead of time—one can't foretell what might come up on the day of the show. This is her recipe:

Southern Cheese Cake

- 12 zwieback crackers or vanilla wafers
- 2 tblsp butter of margarine
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 3 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon lemon rind
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2—8-oz. pkgs cream cheese, Philadelphia.

1 teaspoon vanilla
4 eggs
1 cup coffee cream
Roll the zwieback into crumbs; blend with the butter or margarine and 2 tablespoons of sugar, and press into the bottom of a 9-inch spring pan. Blend the 1/2 cup of sugar with the flour, salt and the cream cheese softened at room temperature. Add the vanilla. Add the egg yolks, one at a time, mixing well after each yolk is added. Add lemon juice and rind. Add the cream and blend thoroughly. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites, and pour the mixture on top of the crumbs. Bake in a 325 degree oven for 1 hour, or until "set" in the center. Cool before removing the rim of the pan. Do not invert. Serves 8 to 10.

This cake freezes well and may be made up weeks ahead of any particular time.

And, while we are at it, we might as well go on with the summer cooking. Don't forget to try this good

Lemon-Broiled Chicken

- 2 plump broilers or fryers (cut in halves)
- 1 lemon, cut in quarters
- 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- 2 tablespoons sugar.

Rub chicken halves inside and out with lemon, brush with butter. Mix together salt, pepper, paprika and sugar, sprinkle lightly over chickens.

Place chickens in broiler pan, skin side down. Turn chickens after 20 minutes and place closer to heat. Baste occasionally to insure even browning. Broil until pink color at bone disappears.

See if some of the neighbors or somebody doesn't have some fresh corn and tomatoes; they would go mighty well with the chicken.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Hill and Mrs. Hill's sister, Mrs. Ernest Goens, are going to Fort Worth this week end for Mr. Hill's regular check-up with Dr. Wm. McKinney.

Mr. and Mrs. John Michalski and children "Little Mike" and Sandra Kay are visiting Mrs. Michalski's parents, the B. E. Moores.

For too long it has been unfashionable and unsophisticated to display one's patriotism by flying the American flag even on special occasions such as Flag Day, Veteran's Day or Independence Day. And a rousing, old-fashioned patriotic address has just about gone the way of the "fire and brimstone" sermons one used to hear in church on Sunday morning.

But thanks to the efforts of many newspapers of America who have sold flags and editorialized in favor of flag waving and patriotism, flying the flag is coming into vogue again. It is estimated that more flags were displayed during Independence Day week than at any time in recent years.

We like to think that the observance of the Centennial of the Civil War is also in part responsible for patriotic actions for it has called attention to the fact there were never men or women so fiercely loyal to flag or country than were those who fought for the Blue and the Gray.

They knew what they believed and for what rights and principles they were fighting. They were not afraid to wave the flag, write a poem about it or sing a song about it. And some of the finest stories to come out of the War concern the devotion and loyalty to the flags of both the Union and the Confederacy.

Where is there a more patriotic act than that of Barbara Frietchie who waved the Stars and Stripes in Stonewell Jackson's face and when ordered to remove the flag replied "fire at this old gray head if you will, but spare my country's flag."

Or consider the story of Captain James B. Perry, wounded at Fredericksburg. Lying where he fell, he said to his fellows, "I know I can't possibly recover from this wound, but I would be content if I could see the old flag once more." The flag was brought to him and he died clasping it in his hands.

This department believes that Americans cannot wave the flag too much. Provided, of course, that it is waved with integrity. Isn't it, after all, a symbol of these United States? Is it not a symbol of our national unity, the spirit of loyalty and devotion to country and faith in democracy?

Hundreds of patriotic words were written during the Civil War concerning the loyalty and devotion of Yanks and Rebs to the Stars and Stripes and the Stars and Bars. But for Americans both North and South probably no more meaningful words could be found than those of Thomas E. Wicks, Sr., past commander of the 11th District of the American Legion, Department of Missouri.

I am your Flag.
I was born on June 14, 1777.
I am more than just cloth shaped into a design.
I am the refuge of the World's oppressed people.
I am the silent sentinel of Freedom.
I am the emblem of the greatest sovereign nation on earth.

I am the inspiration for which American Patriots gave their lives and fortunes.

I have led your sons into battle from Valley Forge to the bloody ridges of Korea.

I walk in silence with each of your Honored Dead, to their final resting place beneath the silent White Crosses, row upon row.

I have flown through Peace and War, Strife and Prosperity, and amidst it all I have been respected.

My Red Stripes—symbolize the blood spilled in defense of this glorious nation.

My White Stripes—signify the burning tears shed by Americans who have lost their sons.

My Blue Field—is indicative of God's heaven under which I fly.

My Stars—clustered together, unify 50 States as one, for God and Country.

"Old Glory" is my nickname, and proudly I wave on high.

Honor me, respect me, defend me with your lives and your fortunes.

Never let my enemies tear me down from my lofty position, lest I never return.

Keep alight the fires of patriotism, strive earnestly for the spirit of democracy.

Worship Eternal God and keep His commandments, and I shall remain the bulwark of peace and freedom for all mankind.

I am your flag.

Fly the Flag on holidays and other occasions. For all the events of a great past are wrapped up in it.

Speaking of flags, we still get occasional requests from readers for sketches of the five different Confederate flags ordered in this space some time ago. We still have a few copies for readers who want them and will send a stamped addressed envelope with their requests.

Recommended Reading this Week: For Confederates—One of the most colorful Confederate officers was General Albert Zebulon Pike who, as a great champion of the American Indian, was given authority at the outbreak of the war to negotiate treaties with them. He commanded a division of Indians at the Battle of Pea Ridge where the Confederates suffered a severe defeat and General Pike's Indians received much of the blame. As a result, Pike resigned from the Confederate Army just 100 years ago, on July 12, 1862.

The life and times of Albert Pike is retold in E. P. Dutton & Co.'s "Reluctant General" by Robert L. Duncan.

"Letters of Warren Akin, Confederate Congressman," published by the University of Georgia Press and edited by the eminent Civil War author Bell Irvin Wiley, provide an excellent insight into the Confederate Congress.

For Yankees—The Union general who led the first troops into Richmond on April 3, 1865 was 25-year-old Edward Hastings Ripley whose unusual war experiences have been edited by Otto Eisen-schimidt in "Vermont General," published by Devin-Adair.

General Ripley's story, compiled from some 500 letters written by or to him, is a fresh and unique look at America's Civil War.

Another group of letters from a Union soldier has been edited by Stephen E. Ambrose for the University of Wisconsin Press. Entitled "A Wisconsin Boy in Dixie," the letters are those of James K. Newton who traveled over most of the South as a Union soldier and wrote vividly of his experiences.

SURPRISE VISIT FROM N. Y.

When Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Parent and Fern returned last week from a fishing trip to Camp Allison with the John Hawkins family, they were very tired and went to bed.

A few minutes later their daughter and children, Mrs. George Skornicki, and Janice and Michael from Garnerville, New York, drove up. They had arrived Saturday night in San Angelo and spent the night with the W. S. Grant family, another daughter of the Parents.

They will be in Eldorado another week or so visiting friends and relatives.

Mrs. Doris Logan is back at work in her shop after taking a two-weeks vacation. She went with her brother, Darrell Alsman and family of San Angelo, to Dallas where they saw Six Flags Over Texas, then to Austin, San Antonio and Corpus Christi, visiting at the various places. After they returned to San Angelo, she and her mother, Mrs. H. C. Alsman, visited her mother's brother, G. C. Beeman and family at Kermit.

Ochsners Return From Vacation Trip Recently

L. D. Ochsner returned to work Monday at the Santa Fe depot here after he and Mrs. Ochsner returned from a three-weeks vacation trip.

They went to Midland where their son, George, and his wife joined them for a trip to Colorado. They went to Pagosa Springs, Col., where they fished for trout, and then went to Colorado Springs where they spent a week with Mr. Ochsner's aunt, Mrs. Grace Congdon.

Mrs. Ochsner reports that in all the years they have been going to Colorado they have not seen as much snow on the mountains as this year, although people were still having to water their yards.

Leaving Colorado, the group went to Lockney, Texas, where they visited her aunt, Mrs. Carl McAdams, and at Spur with her father, R. P. Shelton, before returning home.

Brady Firm Gets Government Contract

Brady Standard, July 6:— A government contract, totaling $1,752,437, for 402 semi-trailers to be built in Brady has been awarded to Spencer-Safford Loadcraft, Inc.

Loadcraft officials were informed of the contract this week by Congressman O. C. Fisher and the Army's Ordnance Tank Automotive Command.

"One of the prime reasons we received this contract," said Loadcraft President John C. Moellinger, "was the fact that it was a set-aside requirement for persistent surplus labor areas, and at least 50 per cent of the contract had to be performed in a persistent surplus labor area. Brady has been designated as such by the Department of Labor."

The Trade Bill, which sailed through the House, is due for a thorough going-over by Senator Harry Byrd, Senate Finance Committee, before final action is taken.

Already, some of the most ardent of the free trade supporters are conceding the bill which cleared the House goes beyond anything ever before proposed in respect to foreign trade in this country. They admit that if improperly administered the program can be disastrous to large numbers in U. S. industry.

In fact, administration spokesmen have estimated that initially, following the drastic tariff reduction being planned, some 800 American businesses will have to fold but sponsors contend this impact will be offset, they hope, by stepped-up exports by other industries.

In the field of agriculture, the legislation is most liberal. Here the President is given power, at his own discretion, to completely eliminate all tariff on practically all agricultural commodities and all agricultural products. That includes live animals—sheep, goats, hogs, and also chickens and turkeys. These lists may also include wool and mohair.

This authority is granted to the President to be exercised by the State Department, for a period of five years, with no effective right of Congressional review during that time.

From the standpoint of Texas, the bill ignores the plight of domestic oil producers where a real depression is now in full swing, due to excessive dumping of low cost foreign oil.

Much of the opposition to the bill crumbled in the face of full-dress pressures that were brought to bear. Now it's up to the Senate to remove some of the bugs and apply a semblance of moderation and restraint, plus some guide lines in lieu of blanket delegation of powers by the Congress to the Executive, with no strings attached.

966 Head Of Cattle Sold At Mason Auction

Mason County News, July 5:— Mason Auction Company sold 966 head of cattle at the stocker and feeder sale on June 28 with prices on light quality steer calves ranging from 30c to 33. 10c, and on heavier quality steer calves from 27c to 29. 80c. Heifers of comparable quality brought $2 per hundred less than the steers. Steer yearlings ranged in price from $23.50 to $26.60 depending on quality and weight with heifer yearlings selling from $22.50 to $24 per hundred.

Mason Auction plans to have another special stocker and feeder calf sale in July, and monthly thereafter for the remainder of the season.

Maritime Careers For Texas Boys Discussed

College Station.—An interesting and profitable career on the high seas await young men who attend the Texas Maritime Academy, newest school within Texas A&M College.

Applications are now being accepted from young men between 17 and 22 years old who are interested in a maritime career as a marine transportation or marine engineering officer.

The Texas academy is the only maritime school in the South and the first class of 50 men will begin classes in September at Texas A&M. After completing their freshman year, maritime cadets will continue their studies at academy headquarters at Galveston and each summer aboard a training ship at sea.

Maximum enrollment in the academy will be about 200 men, said Capt. Bennett Dodson, U. S. Navy (Ret.), superintendent of the newly formed TMA.

"The Texas Maritime Academy offers an opportunity for the high school graduate to (1) qualify as an officer in the U. S. Merchant Marine, (2) become an ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve (Inactive) if physically qualified, and (3) to earn a bachelor of science degree in maritime engineering or marine transportation," Capt. Dodson pointed out.

The complete four-year course of study includes three summer training courses in a maritime academy training ship to Europe, the Caribbean, and South America.

Major purpose of the Academy is to prepare deck and engineering officers for ocean-going vessels in the nation's merchant fleet.

Cadets completing the academic and training program and who pass licensing exams may qualify as a third-officer—a position commanding a starting salary of $550-$600 a month plus overtime and numerous allowances, Dodson said.

Few realize the importance of the huge maritime industry in the Gulf states, or the leading role Texas port cities play in international trade. It ranks first among all states in tons of water-borne cargo, foreign and domestic, loaded and unloaded in its 13 modern seaports, Dodson pointed out. And, it runs a close second to New York state in the number of seagoing ships entering and leaving port.

For this reason, Texas Maritime Academy graduates have a definite place in both Gulf area and international trade.

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Gunn spent several days last week visiting in Hamlin and Stamford. At Hamlin they visited Mrs. Gunn's mother, Mrs. K. Garrett, and in Stamford in the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Macon.

Attention County Voters

Do you wish to put Schleicher County and the State of Texas DEEPER in DEBT?

We ask you to consider the NEEDLESS SPENDING of tax money by the Highway Department and the Commissioners Court, before you vote on the bond issue next Saturday.

Is it really BENEFICIAL or NECESSARY that we have a NEW right-of-way for a Highway to San Angelo? Why can't the present right-of-way be straightened and widened and the present highway be re-built on approximately the same location at much LESS COST to you as a Taxpayer? The Highway Department says they do not want to build an underpass for the railroad, yet they are now completing an underpass for this same railroad just south of San Angelo on the new Ben Ficklin road. Can you imagine the tremendous cost of bridges across the Whitten Draw and all of the other draws that this new road will cross, if moved to their new proposed location?

Do the Commissioners of Schleicher County assure you that $75,000.00 will be enough money to buy 17 miles of NEW right-of-way, build approximately 34 miles of NEW fence, with fencing cost being close to $1,000.00 per mile at today's prices, drill several new water wells, put up windmills, build tanks, and pay property damages for this NEW right-of-way, OR WILL MORE MONEY BE NEEDED?

Do you really believe that your taxes or valuations will NOT be raised within the near future if this bond issue carries?

We ask your support in DEFEATING this bond issue with the hopes that the Commissioners can get the Highway rebuilt along its present location and SAVE YOU many tax dollars.

Vote AGAINST the bond issue Saturday, July 14th.

This ad paid for by a group of Schleicher County taxpayers who are for PROGRESS and GOOD ROADS, but who are AGAINST the USELESS and NEEDLESS spending of our tax money.
