Riding Club Stages Its Fourth Successful Junior Rodeo

The fourth annual Junior Rodeo was presented last Friday and Saturday nights, and again was blessed with perfect weather and record breaking attendance.

A parade at 6:00 o'clock Friday presented a fine spectacle when about 80 riders on splendid looking horses made their way from the court house through the business district. Christie Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moore, was Queen of this year's rodeo and had a place of honor in the parade.

On both nights rodeo grounds were packed with cars, as well as both sides of the highway for almost a half a mile in either direction.

The rodeo events, both Friday and Saturday nights, went off like clock work. Ezra Trotter of Barnhart was the announcer.

Awards

The $250 Luddy roping saddle for the best all-round boy age 13 to 15 was awarded to Skipper Driver of Big Spring, who amassed the most points in the 2-day show.

A pair of boots as the award to the best all-round girls, age 13-19, went to Linda Sanders of San Angelo.

Involved In Car Accident

Two boys from Eldorado, Roger Thurman and Cecil Jeffrey, and two from Christoval were involved in a car accident early Sunday morning south of Sonora.

The quartet were traveling about 20 miles from Sonora when the car struck a bridge. All were shaken and bruised some what and the most seriously hurt was Johnny Peek of Christoval, who had a leg badly injured. He was still in the Sonora hospital at last report and was to be moved to a San Angelo hospital any day now. The car was demolished.

Boys From Boys' Ranch Give Lions Program

Eight boys from Boys Ranch of West Texas near Tankersley, and Morris Craig, were on hand at yesterday's meeting of the Eldorado Lions club to present the program. They gave a musical program in pantomime, which was well received by all present.

Mr. Craig discussed Boys Ranch, and was introduced by Charlie Trigg, who is a member of the board of directors.

Mrs. Lee Martin Dies

Funeral services for Mrs. Lee Martin (formerly Miss Stella Bird) were held July 25 in Phoenix, Arizona.

Mrs. Martin was born in Blanco county, Texas, and moved at an early age with her parents to Eldorado where she was a member of the First Baptist church for many years.

Survivors are a son, Clark Martin of Tucson, Arizona; a daughter, Mrs. Bina Lee May of Vancouver, Washington; two sisters, Mrs. Madie Bird Sutton of Tucson, Arizona, and Mrs. Ora Bird Cozzens of Fort Worth; and a brother, Edgar Bird of Patagonia, Arizona, and six grandchildren.

RESERVISTS HELD DRILL ON SUNDAY, JULY 30

Sunday, July 30th saw 23 United States Army Reservists spend a standard military day beginning at 0730 and ending at 1630, (4:30 p. m.) training in and around Sonora armory. Reservists included Captain Merton M. Skaggs who commands sprawling Troop B of the 15th Cavalry with his first and second platoons in Sonora.

But this is not a good picture of the Sonora USAR platoons. Of the 23 men assembled, four came from San Angelo, seven each came from Eldorado and Ozona, while five men live in Sonora.

Another 15 men belonging to the 1st and 2nd platoons are away on six-month active duty with the Army. Of these, four are from Sonora, five from Eldorado, and six from Ozona.

United States Army reservists from Sonora are as follows: Sp5 Henri Berlanga, Sp4 Jesus E. Gutierrez, S/Sgt. James H. Skinner, SFC Bobby J. Granger, and S/Sgt Charles L. Haines.

Sunday's full day of drill saw the reservists study the military code of conduct, this instruction being presented by 2nd Lt. James G. Kimrey of San Angelo who commands the First Platoon, and included films on the subject.

The USAR personnel ate a strictly military noon meal prepared by Mess Sgt. Smith of Junction on a M1937 field range.

The afternoon saw reservists rehearse and prepare for instruction for coming drill periods, take the lumbering M-41 tank out for an exercise period down a county road, repair and adjust two jeeps, and soberly go about their business of being worthy component of General Earl Rudder's famed Texas's 90th Division, on call.

D. C. Royster's Funeral Is Held Here Monday

D. C. Royster, 65, a familiar figure in the Eldorado business district since 1928, died at his home here at 8:20 p. m., Sunday, July 30. Although he had been in frail health for some time, his condition did not become critical until shortly before his death.

Funeral services were held Monday at 4:30 p. m., at the First Methodist Church of which he was a member, conducted by the pastor Rev. C. M. Nyquist, and assisted by Rev. D. C. Dubose of the First Baptist Church. Interment was made in the Eldorado cemetery under the direction of Ratliff-Kerbow funeral home.

Pallbearers were: W. G. Godwin, E. H. Topliffe, J. E. Spencer, Thomas Richard Jones, Owen Fry, Ford Oglesby, Jr., Bill Oglesby and Robert H. Oglesby, all of Eldorado. Honorary pallbearers were friends of the Royster family.

Survivors include his wife, and one son, Donald J. Royster of Aztec, New Mexico, and two grand daughters, Brenda and Debra Royster, also of Aztec.

Donald Cooper Royster was born in Cairo, Kentucky, October 2, 1895. On May 27, 1923 he was married to Miss Mattie Whitten in Eldorado. The couple made their home in Temple, Texas, until 1928, when they moved to Eldorado.

During the next thirty years he was a popular and well-known citizen in the business district. While his experience was chiefly in the cafe or restaurant business, he at one time also operated what was known as a confectionary store as well as a drug store. He retired from business a few years ago and the couple moved to their ranch northwest of Eldorado where they resided until the time of his death.

Out-of-Town Relatives

Out of town relatives in Eldorado for the funeral were: Judge Whitten, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright, of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Broussard and daughters Marsha and Deborah, of San Antonio; Mrs. Florence Patterson and Alvin Patterson of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Whitten of Waxahachie; Miss Elaine Whitten, of San Angelo; and Sam A. Whitten of Del Rio; in addition to a large number of out-of-town friends.

Mrs. C. C. Henderson of Tow visited her daughters, Mrs. Bill Oglesby and Mrs. Roy Phelps, on Tuesday and Wednesday. She brought her grandsons, Tom and Dick Oglesby, home after they had spent some time with the Hendersons at Tow.

16th Annual CoOp Meeting To Be Held Next Tuesday

Post Script

The Buster Hales seem to have had excellent luck this year with their fruit trees. A sack full of peaches and apples presented to us Monday was thoroughly appreciated and we believe they would all grade "extra fancy."

Now, up at my house I have a peach, apricot, plum and pecan tree, and none of them are producing a crop. So I asked the Hales just what kind of scientific program they had followed to produce fruit in such abundance. Was it fertilizing or spraying—or what?

"We didn't do a thing—they just grew."

Reminds me of a little jingle I heard one time—
"Some is lucky and some is rich; hard time telling who is which."

Building going on:
Construction is under way on the Menard highway a few miles east of Eldorado on a new four-bedroom house for Gerald Hartgraves. Stein Lumber Co. of Kingsland is contractor.

The addition on the Bill Oglesby house with family room, bedroom and bath, is nearing completion. Bunk Wade is in charge of the work.

Workmen were staking out foundation with work to get under way this week on the new house for Lum Davis, being built on the corner lot west of his present residence.

Interior work is continuing on the new Catholic church.

Mrs. Robert Milligan has had her house redecorated.

J. W. Tigrett reports this week that he plans to have the newly repainted Java Junction cafe open for business Friday morning.

Mr. Tigrett has been assisted by several workmen on the project this week. He is succeeding Mrs. Velma Donelson as operator of the cafe.

Mrs. Elizabeth Elder is included in the latest edition of Who's Who of American Women. She is listed as a federal official.

Remember when the first meeting of the Southwest Texas Electric Co-Op was held? It was just 15 years ago, on Monday, August 12, 1946.

That was the immediate post-war period and the first power lines of the Co-Op had been energized the preceding January, following the close of the second World War in the summer of 1945.

The meeting was held in the court room at 4:00 p. m., before the barbecue. Seven directors elected were W. W. Sheen, Joe B. Edens, P. K. McIntosh, W. R. Bearce, T. W. Johnson, J. Forrest Runge, and J. V. Drisdale.

Dignitaries on hand included G. W. Haggard, J. J. Higdon, B. W. Chesser, and Carroll Land.

The barbecue at 6:00 was followed by a display of appliances by local dealers in the McWhorter building, which was located where Long's store now is.

Door prizes were won by Mrs. W. F. Meador, Mrs. J. W. Davis, and Chester Biggs.

People moving:
David Holden from McDonald house to Taylor house.
Maude Hodges to Gus Love house.

In a deal made this week, Gus Love sold his brick building on Main street to Leslie Baker. One side of the building now houses Jackson Cleaners, and the vacant side will be painted & remodeled. After this has been completed Mr. Baker will move his office there.

The building formerly housed the offices of the Southwest Texas Electric Co-Op.

Observed Tuesday: Mrs. J. Forrest Runge, Dick Runge, and Jene Moore watering the shrubs and pruning the mesquite trees on the Finnigan corner on the new Sonora highway. The Eldorado Garden club is developing the corner for a park and expects to erect a club sign on the premises soon.

Well over 600 are expected to attend the 16th annual meeting of the Southwest Texas Electric Co-Operative this coming Tuesday, August 8th. The event will include barbecue for members and their families at 6:00, and the annual meeting at 8:00 which will include election of directors, reports, and showing of films.

Barbecue

Co-Op members and their families and guests will be served barbecue at 6:00 p. m. under direction of Orland Harris. Mr. Harris will be assisted in serving by a number of 4-H girls and boys.

Many Co-Op members travel great distances to attend the annual meetings and some report never having missed any of the previous 15 meetings.

Meeting At 8:00

W. W. Sheen of Menard, president of the Co-Op, will call the business meeting to order at 8:00 o'clock.

Principal item of business is election of directors. A new rotating system for election of the board was adopted this past year. In the past, the entire 7-man slate were elected each year to serve the ensuing year, but under the new set-up part of them will be elected for three-year terms.

This year, the terms of R. A. Harrell of Ozona and Jeff Owens of Sheffield are expiring, and they have been nominated for reelection for the coming three years.

The five hold-over directors are W. W. Sheen, J. Forrest Runge, Joe B. Edens, Frank Bond, and Joe D. Strauss.

Officers, as well as Manager Don McCormick, will give reports on the progress that has been made by the Co-Op during the past year.

This year's annual meeting finds the personnel still busy with construction of lines to ranchers, and to oil fields. Several requests for service to water wells where windmills are being replaced with electric pumps, are being complied with.

Gerald Hartgraves is building a new 4-bedroom all electric house on the Menard highway which will be serviced with Co-Op power.

This year finds the Co-Op with 1965 miles of line, 85 more than 1960's 1880. There are 1730 meters, compared with 1626 a year ago.

After the business meeting three short films will be shown, including one on mouth-to-mouth breathing for first aid. Door prizes will also be given.

This once-a-year barbecue and meeting is designed to provide an evening of fellowship and entertainment for Co-Op members and their families and guests.

Eastside Church To Start Revival Sunday

Joe Bissett, interim pastor of the Eastside Baptist church, announces that a week's revival will get under way there starting Sunday.

The evangelist will be Keith Robertson who is pastor of the First Baptist church at Evant, Texas, and leading the singing will be the pastor, Rev. Bissett. Services will be held at 9:30 a. m. and at 8:00 p. m.

Brother Robertson is a forceful speaker and has held pastorates at Papalote, Fowlerdon, Blue Ridge, Algarita and now at Evant.

Consumers Own The Electric Co-Operatives

Few American businesses have grown as fast during the past quarter century—and are owned by so many people—as America's Rural Electric Systems.

Today, more than 4 3/4 million consumer-members own the 1,000 locally operated and managed rural electric systems distributing low cost electric power in 46 states. This is a record number of shareholders for any U. S. business. And the number of consumer owners still grows by about 140,000 new owners each year. Because most of these 4 3/4 million consumer-owners represent families, an estimated 17 million Americans are served by their own electric systems.

Organized for the most part as non-profit co-operatives, determined rural people have borrowed more than $3.5 billion from REA to build 1.5 million miles of electric lines that serve these sparsely settled rural areas.

Most people know that rural electric systems, much like the Southwest Texas Electric Co-Op headquartered here in Eldorado, are furnishing light and power to people who could get this necessity of life in no other way. But a surprisingly large proportion of people do not realize that these rural electrics are owned by the very people they serve, and are controlled by a board of directors elected by these consumers.

This board of directors sets policy, hires the manager, and oversees the complete operation of the electric distribution systems. Control is thus kept close to home. Neighbor serves neighbor.

You don't have to be a real oldtimer to recall how difficult country living was in rural America without electricity. Rural electrification, made possible through consumer-owned non-profit systems, has revolutionized farm and country living. It has provided hot and cold running water. It has relieved drudgery through a host of homes and farm electric appliances. Life is brighter for 17 million Americans who are the families of 4 3/4 million consumer-owners of rural electric systems.

Three Led The Way To Rural Electrification

If Sen. George W. Norris had lived, he would have been 100 years old this year. Celebrating this, Norris Centennial observances have been scheduled in many parts of the country—including the late Senator's home state of Nebraska, the nation's capital, and the Tennessee Valley.

That region has good reason to be thankful for the good fight

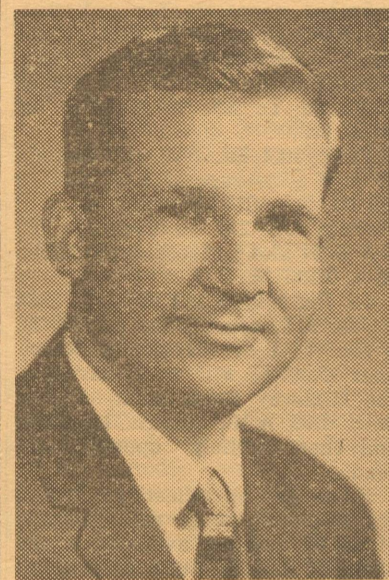

Norris made to establish the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) which has brought progress along with light and energy to that once forgotten part of the country. This was in 1935, just before Norris co-authored the Rural Electrification Administration Act of 1936.

One year earlier, President Franklin D. Roosevelt had created REA with the scratch of his pen on his now famous Executive Order which provided for loans—at modest interest rates—to bring one of the necessities of modern life, electricity, out beyond the city limits.

Standing shoulder to shoulder with his President, and his Senatorial colleague of opposing political party, was Sam Rayburn of Texas—then Congressman and now Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Americans everywhere have reason to pause and salute these three great leaders whose actions helped lift the burdens and lighten the workload for 17-million Americans. They, perhaps more than any others save the pioneers who formed the non-profit rural electric systems, are responsible for brighter future for all Americans—through the electrification of rural America.

The construction of a reservoir for irrigation was completed on Bob and Jack Reynolds place last week. This makes two irrigation reservoirs on the Reynolds farm that will store water from their two irrigation wells for approximately 24 hours.

The reservoir was constructed with a bulldozer. All dirt used was taken from outside the storage area to help prevent seepage. The dirt fill was walked with the bulldozer at frequent intervals to compact the dirt to help prevent seepage. The inside walls were ripped with rock to prevent wave action of the water from destroying the effective height and crown width.

With the new reservoir, the new irrigation well can be pumped both day and night to keep a good supply of water. This will mean an increase of at least 12 hours pumping time over a 24-hour period. With the increase in water pumped from the well by continuous pumping, the number of acres irrigated will be approximately doubled.

The Reynolds have learned from experience that their first reservoir helped increase the efficient use of irrigation water. The release of water from the reservoirs can be controlled to meet the needs of the field being irrigated. Better use is also made of farm labor. All the water that can be carried by the delivery system and hand-leaved from the reservoir. In some instances the irrigator will handle four times as much water as he did prior to the use of a reservoir. All water produced by the well can be used during the daylight hours. Also the reservoir can be filled to capacity during the times water is not being used for irrigation.

The completion of the irrigation reservoir brings Bob and Jack one step closer to having all the needed practices to attain proper irrigation water use. The delivery of irrigation water to the field with pipelines is another job that they plan to do in the near future. These practices along with the other soil and water conservation practices are included in their soil, water and plant conservation plan.

Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service assisting the Eldorado-Divide Soil Conservation District, assisted the Reynolds in the layout, design and checking the reservoir for completion.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column
By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

It would have to be a toss-up to find out which bread was the most popular at the Home Demonstration bread schools last week. I guess that Italian pizza pie ranked the highest as far as the new comer was concerned. Actually I had a few misgivings about making pizzas when I planned the demonstrations which I would give but I shouldn't have been concerned—everybody liked it. It may take a while but some day pizza pie will be as well liked as chili, enchiladas, tortillas and other foreign dishes which we have almost made our own.

If you would like to try your own pie I have several very good recipes any of which I will mail to you. In fact every one at the school got a copy of a complete bread cook book and you are welcome to one of these, too. The book is a government bulletin and has 17 pages of interesting and useful recipes and directions. Call me at 22592 and it's yours.

At the beginning of the work shops an attempt was made to count the loaves, coffee cake, and rolls which were made. Everyone brought her own ingredients and finally so much bread and quick bread mixes were made we lost count. A safe estimate puts the figures for the week at 35 loaves of bread, 10 loaves French bread, 12 pizza pies, nad dozens brown and serve rolls, cinnamon rolls, dinner rolls, tea rings, coffee twists and biscuits.

This session reminded me all over again that even though man does not live by bread alone, that it is his staff of life and that when it is good home made bread the staff is even stronger. Informal reports from the men; husbands, sons and others, confirm the fact that they enjoyed the results of the bread making exceedingly well.

Virtually everyone who took part in the activities had at some time before made yeast or quick breads. But all were not familiar with some of the whys of yeast bread making. For instance:

Yeast is a plant, inactive in the package, but begins to grow when moisture, warmth, and sugar are added.

Yeast and sugar work together to form carbon dioxide gas which causes the dough to rise.

If the milk is over 85 degrees F., the yeast plant can be killed.

If the bread dough gets hotter than 85 F., other organisms are given a chance to grow and gives the bread an off flavor.

The yeast should be sprinkled in the water for the first softening, not the water poured over the yeast. It starts growing faster when sprinkled on the liquid.

Read the date on the back of the package of yeast. That date tells how long the dried yeast plant will stay alive. After that, no growth, no carbon dioxide gas, no bubbles, no rising dough, no luck, no bread. I've heard some sad stories from brides who didn't know what the date meant and the final results of finding out too late that the rolls were never going to rise, even if company was coming.

For a soft-bright, tender crust—brush with soft butter or oleomargarine after removing from the pans.

Turn bread out from pans when taken from the oven. Cooling in the pans will cause sweating which in turn softens outside crust.

For a crisp crust do not grease loaves or rolls.

For a highly glazed crust brush with a mixture of one beaten egg yolk mixed with one third cup of milk or water. (This works fine on pie crusts and biscuits, too.)

To reheat bread or rolls place in a paper sack, sprinkle with water, heat in 400 F. oven for 10 minutes.

Glazes, fillings, and upside down variations.

Recipes I think you will like: Butterscotch pecan: melt in a small sauce pan 1/3 cup butter and 1/2 cup brown sugar with one tablespoon white corn syrup. Pecans or walnuts may be added. Place this mixture in bottom of muffin tins or other pans before placing cinnamon rolls in. The corn syrup makes the glaze pliable and almost soft. Sometimes when just butter and sugar have been used the mixture gets almost too hard and brittle to eat easily.

Fillings for tea rings, coffee cakes or kolaches:

Pecan
1/4 cup butter
1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)
1 cup chopped pecans
Cream butter and sugar until fluffy; spread, then sprinkle with nuts.

Date Pecan
1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)
1 cup finely chopped dates
1/2 cup finely chopped pecans
Sprinkle sugar; then dates and pecans.

Apple Pecan
1/2 cup brown sugar (packed)
1 cup finely chopped apples
1/2 cup finely chopped pecans
Sprinkle sugar; then apples and pecans.

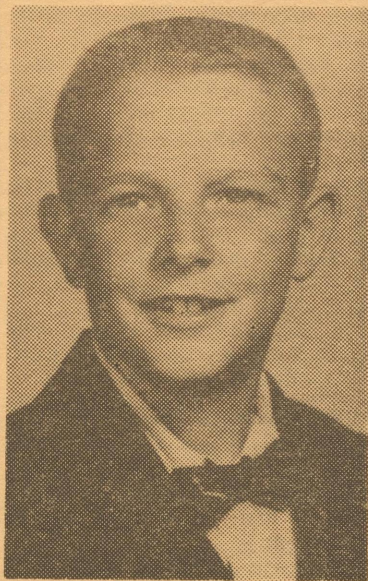

Raisin
2 tbsp. butter
1/4 cup brown sugar (packed)
1 cup raisins
2 tsp. almond extract
Cream butter and sugar well; add raisins and almond extract. (Soak raisins beforehand to plump them.)

Prune
1 1/2 cups chopped stewed prunes
3 tbsp. lemon juice
1/2 tsp. grated lemon peel
1/4 cup sugar
Blend before spreading mixture.

Plain Icing
1 cup sifted confectioner's sugar
1/2 tsp milk
1/4 tsp. vanilla extract.
Mix together until ingredients are of spreading consistency.

A Bishop Looks At Life

By Everett H. Jones, Bishop of The Episcopal Diocese of West Texas

A MAN OF VISION

A great deal is being written this year about the Indian poet and philosopher, Rabindranath Tagore, because this is the centennial of his birth (1861-1941). Tagore received the Nobel Prize for literature in 1913, and was hailed by Mahatma Gandhi, as "the great teacher." Prime Minister Nehru has acknowledged his debt both to Gandhi and Tagore, but has said the latter influenced him even more than the former.

Tagore was famous not only as a poet but as artist, educator, dramatist and author of short stories. In all of his writings he had a keen spiritual sensitivity, and showed a genius for interpreting the wisdom of the East in terms that were understood in the West. He wrote his poems in Bengali and then translated them into English, giving them deep significance for both cultures. He was sometimes called an example of "the universal man" because he appealed to the deepest elements in all humanity.

Some of his most famous prose poems are found in the volume called "Gitanjali." Here is one that might be a prayer for America as well as for India:

"Where the mind is without fear and the head is held high;

Where knowledge is free;
Where the world has not been broken up into fragments by narrow domestic walls;
Where words come out of the depth of truth;
Where tireless striving stretches its arms toward perfection;
Where the clear stream of reason has not lost its way into the dreary desert sands of dead habit;
Where the mind is led forward by Thee into ever-widening thought and action—
Into that heaven of freedom, my Father, let my country awake."

Or here is one for more personal application:

"This is my prayer to Thee, my Lord—strike, strike at the root of penury in my heart.
Give me the strength lightly to bear my joys and sorrows.
Give me the strength to make my love fruitful in service.
Give me the strength never to disown the poor or bend my knees before insolent might.
Give me the strength to raise by mind above daily trifles.
And give me the strength to surrender my strength to thy Will with love."

ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS OUR NATION EVER MADE

The so-called experts said it "couldn't be done" a quarter century ago! That's when most rural Americans lived in comparative darkness—35 long years after their city neighbors had begun to enjoy many modern benefits of electric light and power.

In 1935 the Rural Electrification Administration was created to provide interest-bearing loans to rural people who organized to serve themselves with low cost power. Since then, more than 17 million rural residents have found it possible to live electrically, thanks to their home-owned rural electric systems.

To serve them, America's Rural Electric Systems—about 1,000 of them across the nation—have borrowed more than $3½ billion from REA to build over 1½ million miles of line. Out of their monthly "light bills," they've already repaid the U. S. Treasury over $1½ billion, in principal and interest, on or ahead of schedule. This is a remarkable success story, in view of the sparsely scattered nature of rural electric "loads"—just over three customers, on the average, for each mile of line.

From the start in 1935, REA loans have been available to "persons, corporations, cooperatives, cities, and states"—including commercial utilities—to build facilities to serve residents of rural areas.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Tubb of Robert Lee were here Sunday visiting in the home of Mrs. Mabel Parker. Mr. Tubb is a brother of Mrs. Parker.

Visiting the Leonard Wilsons recently were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith and Dale, Diane, and Lawrence of San Angelo.

Jim Lindsey Honored

An item in the Texas Presbyterian for August, 1961, mentions that Jim Lindsey of Glendale Village Church, Dallas, was recognized as the outstanding Senior at Kembell high school this year. The item was in the Pastors 'n People column.

Jim is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Wm. Lindsey. The Lindseys formerly lived here in Eldorado where Dr. Lindsey practiced with Dr. Mowrey, before moving to Dallas a few years ago.

The Lindseys now live at 908 Oak Park Drive, Dallas 32, Texas.

Just 100 years ago, on July 21, 1861, the Northern and Southern armies met in the first full-scale land battle of the Civil War. The meeting took place at a little-known spot in Virginia called Manassas, and in the South the battle took its name from that little town.

In the North, however, the battle came to be called Bull Run, a name derived from Bull Run Creek, the small stream which meanders through the battlefield area.

Just 100 years later, on July 22, 1961, the non-profit First Manassas Corporation sponsored a re-enactment of that first full-scale land battle before the first of a crowd of spectators numbering more than 70,000.

The re-enactment was the first of the dozens of grand observances planned during the centennial years of the War and cost upwards of $200,000. It required the participation of more than two thousand uniformed men, 24 horse drawn cannon, dozens of wagons and caissons, and hundreds of other items of authentic paraphernalia used by both Union and Confederate soldiers.

The re-enactment began with uniformed Confederate and Union regimental units, accompanied by band and drum corps units, passing the stands in a grand review.

Only the more important incidents of the battle were re-enacted and perhaps the most colorful of these was the "Bee incident," during which Confederate General Thomas J. Jackson received his nickname of "Stonewall." The name was given him by General Bernard E. Bee and General Jackson has been called "Stonewall" ever since.

The afternoon phase of the Battle was highlighted by an artillery duel which saw the Union guns captured by Confederates who were mistaken for Federal troops. The commander of one of the Union batteries, seeing gray-clad troops moving toward his position, ordered his guns trained upon them. The chief of artillery who happened to be present, countermanded the order in the belief that the gray-clad troops belonged to the 14th Brooklyn Regiment who also were wearing gray.

The Confederates, who were really members of the 33rd Virginia Regiment, were allowed to get within 70 yards of the Union batteries and a single volley decimated the Federal troops and allowed their capture.

Later in the afternoon of the one-day battle the batteries were recaptured by the Federals but Confederate re-inforcements arriving on the field turned the tide and Union troops retreated toward Washington leaving the South as the victor in the first big battle of the War.

Each of these incidents was re-enacted with appropriate sound effects including rifle firing and loud cheering to lend authenticity. Both the review and the re-enactment were covered by a professional commentators who, speaking from a prepared text, gave a running account to events for spectators.

One important incident connected with the Battle of First Manassas, however, was not re-enacted. That is the stampede of high government officials and their wives who, along with hundreds of others, had driven out from Washington to see the battle in 1861.

Budget In Conference

House and Senate general appropriations bills, each calling for spending in the neighborhood of $2,500,000,000, are in the hands of a joint conference committee.

House bill calls for $16,000,000 more than the Senate version. In addition to what it already had passed, the House instructed its conference committee to hold fast on provisions for a 40-hour week for state employees. Money already was in the House bill to put state hospital employees on a 40-hour week. To this, the House added in its committee instructions, a 40-hour week for prison system and Department of Public Safety employees.

House conferees are Reps. James Cotten of Weatherford, B. H. Dewey of Bryan, J. W. Buchanan of Dumas, Malcolm McGregor of El Paso and Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline.

Senate committee members are Senators Ray Roberts of McKinney, A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris, Crawford Martin of Hillsboro, Wardlaw Lane of Center and Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo.

Governor Opens Gates

Just when legislators thought they were going into the stretch on the drive to solve fiscal problems, the governor opened up the session to bills on 21 additional subjects.

Only subjects listed by the governor may be considered in a special session.

Daniel opened the door to legislation on unemployment compensation, law enforcement and traffic safety, the election code, Sunday closing laws, municipal annexation and some 15 other subjects.

Not included in the list were three bone-in-the-throat issues left over from the regular session: small loan regulation, changes in the auto insurance plan and ceding part of Padre Island to the federal government for a park.

Some legislators protested that the avalanche of bills resulting from the governor's broadened call would make it harder than ever to pass a tax program.

Cost-Cutting Plan

In view of the House's money-finding problems, Rep. Charles Ballman introduced a measure designed to lop $97,000,000 off the state's revenue needs for the next two years.

Ballman is chairman of the House revenue and taxation committee. He termed his bill an "economy" measure. But many of its provisions, which are likely to arouse opposition, call for getting more money rather than spending less.

Among the bill's provisions: combine the Game and Fish Commission and the State Parks Board; raise tuition for state-supported colleges; pay county superintendents from county, rather than state, funds; finance the Department of Public Safety from state highway funds and put DPS-collected funds into the general fund.

Insurance Hike Studied

Lawmakers, though they cannot legislate on insurance in this session, are giving the new, higher auto insurance rates a thorough going over.

Conflict began when the State Board of Insurance instituted insurance premiums based on driving records in January, 1960. Many legislators protested effects of the plan during the regular session. Then during the summer the Board ordered an across-the-board increase in auto insurance rates, averaging about 15%.

Both House and Senate set up special committees to investigate need for the increase. A rate expert representing the Insurance Board told the House committee that drivers, not the Board, actually determine rates. As proof, he said rates dropped 30% during World War II when drivers knew that if they wrecked a car, they'd be walking for the duration.

Speakership Change Rejected

House voted down a proposal by Rep. W. T. Dungan of McKinney to elect a speaker "by gentlemen's agreement" in November, 1962.

Dungan urged that newly-elected representatives meet two months before the session's opening and elect a speaker. This would give the winner time to select committees and be ready for business at the start of the session.

Objectors said that since this is not provided in the constitution, the results would not be binding. Most likely, they said, that the two months interval would be spent in trying to change votes and get a different speaker elected when the House actually convened. Long-range goal of the reform advocates is a constitutional amendment to allow advance election of the speaker.

Senate doesn't have this problem since the people elect the Lieutenant Governor to preside over the Upper House.

Spate Of Bills

Governor Daniel's broadening of the legislative call brought a hopper full of new proposals. Among them are measures that would:

1. Require public school children to take a standard state test in the basic subjects once every three years. (By Rep. Maco Stewart of Galveston and Rep. Dick Slack of Pecos.) Purpose is to focus more attention on academic quality.

2. Raise the present $28 a week maximum on unemployment compensation to $37 a week. (By Rep. John A. Huebner Sr. of Bay City.)

3. Allow school districts, on petition of 5% of the voters, to hold a referendum on whether to establish free public school kindergartens. (By Rep. Travis Peeler of Corpus Christi.)

4. Require a run-off in special elections to fill seats in Congress and the State Legislature. (By Rep. Howard Green of Fort Worth.) Such an election is due this year to fill the post vacated by the death of State Rep. Marshall O. Bell of San Antonio.

5. Levy fines from $100 to $500 for selling certain types of merchandise on Sunday. (By Reps.

Tommy Shannon and George Richardson of Fort Worth.)

Short Snorts

Texas Highway Commission has authorized expenditure of $8,000,000 for purchase of right-of-way needed for construction of three interstate highways. Affected are Interstate 10 and Interstate 37 in San Antonio and Interstate 20 in Midland and Ector counties.

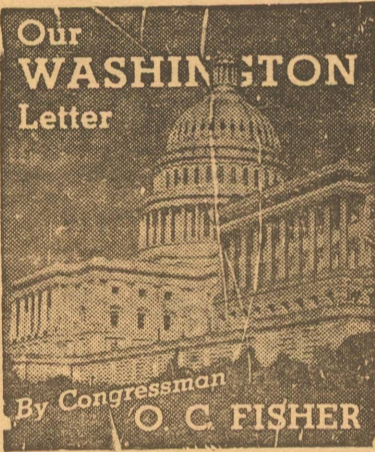

State Selective Service Headquarters, feeling the first shock wave from the Berlin crisis, announced that 3,655 men would be called up for pre-induction exams in August. Last March the number called for exams was only 1,520. Aim is to increase the pool of potential draftees.

State Supreme Court announced that its docket was current and began its customary August-September recess.

To Attend Meeting Of Agriculture Teachers

Oliver Burk, teacher of Vocational Agriculture in the Eldorado High school, will attend the State Conference of Vocational Agriculture Teachers to be held in Austin, August 8-11, 1961. The annual conference is planned to assist teachers in keeping abreast of the many changes in the complex field of agriculture in the state. Workshops, panels and other presentations will concern themselves with subjects vitally important to the further training of vocational agriculture teachers.

In addition to educational features of the four-day conference, teachers will participate in several meetings of the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association. Activities of the group will include an entertainment program on August 8, an Awards Breakfast on August 9, which will be followed by the annual membership meet. The membership will hear an address by Floyd Johnson, president of National Vocational Agricultural Teachers Association. Johnson is a Vocational Agriculture Teacher at York, South Carolina. New officers will be elected and newly elected members of the board of directors will be installed.

The widely acclaimed message by President Kennedy concerning the Berlin crisis received immediate response from the Congress. Authority to call up reserves and to otherwise expand our armed forces was approved within a week.

The added cost is estimated at around $4 billion, bringing the budget for national defense alone to nearly $50 billion during the current fiscal year.

This is all well and good. Our survival is involved, and there seems to be no alternative but to plug all loopholes and leave no stones upturned in our preparation for powerful retaliation if war is forced upon the West by the Soviet imperialists.

For unfortunately we are not well prepared for such outlays from a fiscal standpoint. This Congress has been spending money this year, chiefly for welfare programs, at an unprecedented pace. Instead of tightening our domestic belts in preparation for the day of an emergency, as contained in the President's message, the belt has been loosened by reckless spending, by a multitude of new welfare programs that cost a lot of money.

What are the facts? Thus far there have been more than 25 budget amendments transmitted to the Congress by the President. The result has been that whereas in March Secretary of Treasury Dillon estimated a deficit during the fiscal year which ended in June of $2.2 billion, after the fiscal year ended he was forced to admit that the deficit was actually $3.9 billion.

And that tells but a part of the story. There has actually been a $9 billion increase in authority for new and increased spending—not counting the $4 billions requested in the emergency message. And that does not take into account a considerable amount of back-door spending, such as is included in public housing, etc., that is not reflected in budget estimates.

This wanton spending program can only lead to more inflation and a gradual weakening of fiscal stability. It means an ever-increasing public-debt. It means a more powerful government in Washington. This spending-to-lure-votes policy is simply unsound and it can lead to disaster.

We must provide adequately for our defense program. But instead of talking of new and increased taxes to finance it, it is time to retrench elsewhere. There is more reason for that being done now than ever.
