Roosevelt Accepts His Party's 'Call To Service'

Selection Of Wallace Meets With Evidence Of Demo Discord

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)—President Roosevelt, deciding that in a time of "public danger" he could not turn his back upon a call to service, accepted today a third term nomination from a democratic convention which amid boos and cheers chose Secretary Henry A. Wallace for his running mate.

While fully 20,000 persons sat in a midnight hush in Chicago Stadium, the president told them by radio from the White House that "only the people themselves can draft a president."

"If such a draft be made upon me, I say in the utmost simplicity I will with God's help continue to serve with the best of my ability and with the fullness of my strength," he said.

But he explained, as had Mrs. Roosevelt an hour or so earlier, that the times were so fraught with danger that he would be able to do little campaigning.

"But I shall never be loathe," he said, "to call the attention of the nation to deliberate or unwitting falsifications of fact which are sometimes made by political candidates."

He said the needs of human security had not been met, much more needed to be done. But he added, "progress along free lines is gravely endangered by what is happening to other continents."

Then he continued in a grave tone:

"If our own government passes to other hands next January—untried hands, inexperienced hands—we can merely hope and pray that they will not substitute appeasement and compromise with those who seek to destroy all democracies everywhere."

Mrs. Roosevelt sat on the speaker's stand listening intently. Once she closed her eyes for a long time. Friends have said she did not want her husband to run, that her personal wish was to retire to the quiet of the Hudson valley.

She had sat through the long and emotion torn session, when men yelled bitterly "we want a democrat for vice president," referring to the fact that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace was a republican until 1928.

And she had seen Paul V. McNutt of Indiana turn aside a tremendous ovation to urge delegates not to vote for him for vice president. She had watched other delegates vote lustily for Speaker William B. Bankhead for that post, only to yield up the nomination to Wallace on the first roll call.

Wallace got 627 and a fraction votes. Bankhead got 329, and McNutt, in spite of the effort he made to hold off support—even to the extent of turning the bulk of his Indiana delegation to Wallace, got 66 and a fraction votes. The others were scattered among ten candidates.

The delegates had been convinced that only by choosing Wallace—the president's choice—could they induce Mr. Roosevelt to accept first place on the tradition-breaking ticket.

In the end, they gave a surface appearance of unanimity to the nomination by adopting a motion to make it unanimous.

But "noes" rang out plainly

JUST A SLIP OF THE TONGUE

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—A slip of the tongue caused President Roosevelt, in his acceptance speech last night, to refer to Henry Wallace, his new running mate, as nominee for "president of the United States," instead of vice president.

During his speech to the Chicago convention, the chief executive interpolated a reference to Wallace which, according to a transcription of the broadcast, was as follows:

"To you, delegates to this convention, I express my gratitude for the selection of Henry Wallace for the high office of president of the United States. His first hand knowledge of the problems of government in every sphere of life and in every part of the nation—and indeed the whole world—qualifies him without reservation."

When Senator Alben Barkley of Kentucky, the convention chairman, put the motion. His decision was that it had been carried by more than two-thirds of the delegates.

After President Roosevelt's address, the convention adjourned sine die at 12:05 a. m. Central Standard time.

The dramatic peak of the evening was reached when McNutt, who had instructed that his name not be placed in nomination, shouldered his way to the speaker's stand.

He had leaped from his seat and started for the platform when Don Welch, an Oklahoma delegate, offered his name. The crowd was going wild.

State standards came nodding past in parade. The organ pealed. Barkley silenced it with a wave, and sledged away with his big gavel. Each rap brought a wave of cheers. McNutt waived for silence but got no bull.

"Stay with 'em, Paul" and "go get it, Paul," urged the crowd. But he shook his head and strove again to be heard. He held his ground, and he and Barkley together fought down the noise.

"We cannot take chances now; a nation only gets one chance these days," McNutt shouted. "If it makes a mistake it is lost. We must have leaders who will keep this country safe and free."

"We have such a leader in Franklin Delano Roosevelt. I see CONVENTION, Page 6, Col. 4

Would Form 'Home Guard'

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—Creation of state "home guards" to provide local defense in event of total or partial national guard mobilization was reported today under war department consideration.

Authoritative sources envisioned the possibility that men disqualified for active combat duty because of age, physical defects, family and job responsibilities might be organized into "shotgun brigades" to replace the regular militia.

Although the war department gave no confirmation to the report, it was known that the army has been studying the "civilian protection" problem for some time and has drawn up comprehensive measures for emergency use.

Several authorities pointed out that the police powers normally exercised by the national guard would remain the responsibility of the states and that they might be charged with creating home defense units, under war department supervision.

Home defense training on a national scale for men between 18 and 31 and between 45 and 65 is contemplated in the pending Burke-Wadsworth conscription military training bill which the war department has endorsed in general.

Under that bill, the 21-45 group would be liable to combat training, but men with dependents and with jobs vital to defense might be exempted.

Anticipating mobilization of the guard for active service many states already are weeding out of their militia units all men in the lower enlisted ranks who have dependents, and it was thought likely that men with vital jobs also may be eliminated eventually.

Merchant Ships Are Sunk Near West Indies

LONDON, July 19 (AP)—Two British merchant ships, the King John and the Davinian, have been sunk in the region of the West Indies by a German raider "known to be at large in the Atlantic," the admiralty announced tonight.

The admiralty said the raider "is believed to be a converted merchant vessel."

All British merchant ships have been warned.

Dispatches from Austin Friday indicated that Dorsey B. Hardeman, legislator from this district, was being considered by one bloc as a likely candidate for the speakership of the house next term.

Foes of the constitutional amendment plan for a sales tax, have suggested Hardeman for the race. The representative, in a telephone conversation with The Herald, indicated he would give consideration to his friends' proposal.

Hardeman, currently seeking a second term from the 1st district, gained prominence in Austin as a staunch opponent of the constitutional sales tax proposal.

Per Acre Lint Yield Boosted For County

Adjustment Due To Bring In Additional $12,000 In Subsidies

An eight per cent increase in the adjusted per acre yield of Howard county cotton farms Friday left producers in a fair way to reap early benefits of an added $12,450 in subsidy payments.

The state committee figures on adjusted yield was pegged at 149.7 pounds per acre, the local AAA office was informed Friday. This compares with 135 pounds for the past year.

On the basis of the adjusted yield, this means that total subsidy payments for the county now have a potentiality of $155,533.14. The subsidy—or parity—payment amounts to 1.6 cents per pound of adjusted yield per acre.

If the county produced the amount of cotton indicated in the adjusted figures, the crop will total 9,727,071.87 pounds, or roughly 19,454 bales. This depends upon the weather factor, however. The yield easily can be made if rains fall right and there is a late frost. Insect damage also must be figured in as a hazard.

With a high percentage of farms over-planting on cotton base, it appears that a great portion of the allotted 64,977.1 acres will be given over to the crop. Last season dry weather and under-planting caused the acreage actually in cotton to sag between 50,000 and 55,000. Even in the face of this, the county virtually made its normal adjusted yield.

Barges Attacked By RAF Fighters

LONDON, July 19 (AP)—British aircraft have renewed daylight attacks on barge concentrations near Rotterdam and Boulogne. The air ministry said tonight that barges apparently were being gathered for the attack on Britain.

The barge attacks yesterday coincided with other Royal Air Force bombings of warehouses at Lo Havre, and the airbase at St. Omer, near Boulogne, the ministry said. Three British planes were lost in the attacks.

Sound Equipment Obtained For Rodeo

Sound equipment for the seventh annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo has been secured, it was announced Friday.

W. M. Gage, agent, said that the Gulf sound truck had been pledged for the affair. In recent years the same equipment has been used. Jess Slaughter, co-manager of the show, announced acquisition of the equipment.

Meanwhile, preparing for the Aug. 14-15 affair, Chester Cluck concluded a visit with local service clubs in an effort to secure sponsors for booster trips prior to the rodeo. He was encouraged by pledges of support and predicted that there would be little trouble in organizing a series of brief swings through the immediate territory.

NEW TECHNIQUE

LONDON, July 19 (AP)—Watchers at a town in southeast England which was bombed today said they had observed a new technique of the Germans in gaining their objective before they could be intercepted.

A lone enemy plane was observed at a great height flying seawards, they said, leaving a thin, miles-long tail of white smoke. Almost immediately the German raiders appeared, apparently using the smoke as a guide.

Year Of Valiant Battle Against Illness Passes, Dorothy Still Has Her 'Chin Up'

Dorothy Dublin is coming back. Saturday she's coming back home, another victory in her conquest for restored health and activity behind her. Dorothy has been in Lubbock where she underwent surgery for a kidney involvement, one in a series of serious ailments that have plagued her since a year ago today when she received the heaviest blow of her life.

That was when doctors shook their heads and confirmed their worst suspicions. The pretty young bank clerk, looking forward to vacation plans and marriage, had fallen victim to infantile paralysis.

Steadily the paralysis crept up her body, nearer and nearer her heart and lungs. Her breathing became labored and threatened to stop. State highway patrolmen cleared the way while an unused trucker raced against time to bring an iron lung here from Kermit.

Dorothy was put into it, but still the paralysis worked toward her heart. But the science of drugs, the skill of doctors and her determination won just when it seemed hope was lost. Dorothy survived her first critical test.

Later she was taken to El Paso in the mechanical lung, electricians making a series of hook-ups to guard against any possibility of power failure enroute. At the Southwestern General Hospital in El Paso, she gradually responded to treatment and physicians were encouraged. None of them more than Dorothy.

So steady was her improvement that in a few months she was taken from the lung for short periods, and gradually she grew stronger. Her strength showed signs of re-

U.S. PARACHUTISTS TO TRAIN LIKE THIS—This "parachute tower" at Highstown, N. J., is to be used soon to train an experimental U.S. army unit from Fort Dix as parachutists, the war department has announced. ### Social Equality For Negroes Pictured As Aim Of Communists

BEAUMONT, July 19 (AP)—Absolute social equality of negroes and white persons, including permission of intermarriage, was pictured by the Dies committee today as an aim of communist party.

Communists planned to allow negroes to govern those areas in which their population was predominant, the committee was told.

John Leach of Portland, Ore., the witness, said he learned details of the plan while he was one of the party leaders in California a few years ago. He was ousted from the party in 1937, he previously had testified.

Leach said it was one of the absolute requirements of the Los Angeles branch of the party that negroes be on an equal social footing with whites. He said members of the two races mingled at dances, picnics and other social functions, as well as at meetings.

Enfranchisement of negroes was planned, it was learned Leach testified. There were three methods of doing this: Abolish poll tax, pass legislation to assure rights for negroes, and repeal all existing Jim Crow laws.

The plan presently calls for education and persuasion, but force will be used when the party has more power, to obtain these privileges, Leach asserted.

Sheriff Chris F. Fox of El Paso, was another witness before Martin Dies, chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities.

Fox has made investigations along the border country of alleged communistic operations.

Leach said communists organized the League of Struggle for Negro Rights whose primary purpose was to knit closer the negro element of the communist party.

Later the name was changed to the National Negro Congress, which Leach declared was active and growing.

About Los Angeles, he said, the organization involved white politicians and prominent persons and was considered a factor in elections and civic affairs.

The movement was exceedingly active among negro sharecroppers of the South, he said.

Japs Line Up With The Axis

TOKYO, July 19 (AP)—The inner government of the new Komeyo cabinet reached a decision today on relations with Italy and Germany, it was announced.

Many and informed quarters asserted that it calls for a closer working arrangement with the axis.

The question of whether the Netherlands East Indies and French Indo-China will be taken under "protection" still was unclarified.

It was considered certain that Japan first would attempt an understanding with Berlin on any action in the south seas.

Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye and the other three of his inner government ministers of navy, war and foreign affairs, held a long conference in which they reviewed the entire field of proposed new diplomatic policies.

The subjects touched on included relations with the United States, Great Britain and Soviet Russia. Konoye said in an announcement tonight.

"I cannot at present announce details of the conference, but I can say that complete agreement was reached," he added.

British, Nazi Air Fighters In Battle

Hitler Raiders Continue Blasting Of English Coast

LONDON, July 19 (AP)—British and German air fighters engaged in a fierce catch-as-catch-can battle over the Straits of Dover today when a cloud of raiders swarmed down on a destroyer guarding the southeast English coast.

The warship, which was reported undamaged, fought off the attack with intense anti-aircraft fire and brought down one of the planes.

British fighters chased the bombers back to the French coast where they engaged in a sky battle between Boulogne and Calais in which observers said they saw at least four planes falling in flames into the sea.

The attack was the most spectacular of a series of bombing raids this morning on northeast and northwest England, southwest Scotland and on a trawler only 17 miles off the southeast coast of Ireland as the Germans renewed their steady battering tactics against this island fortress.

Six enemy planes swooped low out of the sun and dropped a salvo of 30 bombs near a southeast town in the face of terrific barrage and fierce chase by fighters. "Considerable damage" was done, a fire was started, and one of the bombers was sunk in the sea.

Several areas in southwest Scotland were bombed. These attacks followed a bombing of a city in southeast Scotland last night in which a 16-family apartment house was struck.

The air ministry reported this morning that one of the bombers participating in this attack was shot down into the sea. Casualties were reported "very light," however.

Eight bombs were dropped in the Scottish raid this morning and workers sought a number of persons believed buried in debris. There were at least two casualties.

Enemy planes also were reported over Wales this afternoon.

The Traverly City of Aberdeen, attacked by bombs and machine guns by a single plane off the old Head of Kinalea, Ireland, sprang a leak when bombs exploded nearby and was beached. The crew was saved.

One German was shot down when British planes intervened yesterday in another attack by four enemy aircraft on trawlers, the air ministry said.

Meanwhile, British military men, looking beyond these persistent raids and the approaching battle for Britain, are preparing for "the day" when they say their troops will launch a counter-offensive against Germany.

Jeff Lee of Morahan, charged with theft of quicksilver from oil well meters, was free today on $1,000 bond and waived examining trial.

Attorney J. T. Kelly said that W. B. Dunham of Monahan and Erwin Box of Odessa, charged with theft of quicksilver, also will waive examining trials.

FARLEY TO SERVE DEMOS FOR MONTH

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)—James A. Farley was re-elected chairman of the democratic national committee by acclamation today to serve until August 17.

Delivers 'One More Appeal To Reason'

BERLIN, July 19 (AP)—(By Trans-Atlantic Telephone)—Fuehrer Adolf Hitler speaking before the reichstag tonight addressed "one more appeal to reason in England," warning that "a world empire would be destroyed" if England insists on continuing the fight.

Hitler emphasized he was not asking peace in the voice of a victor demanding capitulation of the vanquished but rather as a victor proposing a reasonable peace.

He said that "British statesmen apparently have no conception" of the destruction which would be visited on England if Churchill continues to demand a fight to the finish.

"But one thing is sure," he exclaimed, "no Churchill will be left" in that case to attempt the rehabilitation of Britain. The "people left behind in London" after the great assault, he explained, would have ideas entirely different from those of Churchill and his colleagues.

Touching on Russo-German relations the fuehrer emphasized that these have been "fixed once and for all by a clear delineation of interests."

Recalling his previous efforts to conciliate England, Hitler said his policy of European reorganization had been based on a two-fold aim: Real friendship with Italy and a similar relationship with England.

It "would have been a boon" to the world if England had accepted, he said.

The fuehrer did not say definitely what he expected Churchill to do in response to his peace offer to England, but he left no doubt that that any peace would be on German terms.

Hitler said he "never intended to annihilate or even to harm" the existing world.

He solemnly warned: "In this hour I feel myself obligated to make one more appeal to reason in England."

He said he could do this because he was not asking for peace as one vanquished but rather as the victor appealing to common sense.

"There is no ground for the prolongation of the war" he said. "The British statesmen probably have no real conception of what it will mean, once the German offensive begins in earnest against the British Isles."

"Churchill would not dare to face the music." "The people left behind in London would have quite a different conception than that of a government which had fled to Canada."

"Once more I will attempt to be a prophet," said Hitler, prophesying that "world empire will be destroyed" unless England listened to "reason."

Churchill, he said, may think that it is Germany which faces destruction.

"I know it will be England," he asserted.

With a German-British friendship, he said, there could have been "a new life for Europe."

Hitler gave these as the reasons for his pronouncement:

"The necessity to open up to our own people an insight into the historical reasons of the events which we are experiencing; to thank our soldiers and to attempt to direct one more—and this time the last—appeal to reason."

The western powers, he said, "needed war, not peace."

Neville Chamberlain, he declared, "needed a long war—not less than three years, as he said himself."

This desire for war by the allies, Hitler charged, has been established beyond possibility of challenge by documents "unique in history"—which fell into the hands of the German army.

These, he said, showed the allied will for war at any cost and their determination to use any and all nations for their purpose.

Hitler said "derision and mockery" greeted his October offer of peace to Britain.

As a result, he said, France now is "down and out."

"The terrible misery which came over the French people . . . the misery of fugitives and evacuees . . . need not have come," he said, "as my offer was aimed at nothing but peace."

Hitler said "Churchill has begun to bomb the civilian population in Germany"—and added:

"Thus far I have hardly answered this bombardment . . . but when my answer comes it will be terrible for millions of people."

"Churchill should for a change believe me this once . . . a world empire will then be destroyed."

Millions of German men, Hitler said, are "yearning to take part in the final battle against the enemy. Even mothers who have made sacrifices once before are willing to sacrifice the last . . ."

Hitler said Churchill might regard his "appeal to reason" as a sign of fear. But, he added:

"I have relieved my conscience toward the things that will then come . . . That is, if this last appeal to reason is unheeded by England."

Candidates were hurrying to get in their second expense accounts by this evening, when the law says they must make known what they have spent thus far in the campaign.

Voters who have moved from one precinct to another in the county since they paid their poll tax or secured exemptions must secure transfers from the tax collector's office not later than Monday if they wish to vote in the first democratic primary on July 27.

Vocational Rehabilitation Division Of Education Department Subject Of Report From State Auditor

(This is the eighth of a series of articles.—Editor.)

By ALEX LOUIS Austin Correspondent

AUSTIN, July 19.—The expenditure for the rehabilitation of poor crippled citizens was one of the most interesting disclosures made by the state auditor in his report to the Department of Education.

The state, in co-operation with the federal government, provides funds to buy artificial appliances for disabled persons, where necessary, and to train them for some remunerative vocation.

The Vocational Rehabilitation Division of the State Department of Education has charge of these funds.

In examining this division, the state auditor discovered that an employe had received "sales commissions" on artificial appliances bought by the state for disabled citizens.

In his report to the governor, the auditor told of his findings in the following words:

"The aggregate of this fund was proportionately large as the recipient of an artificial appliance was required to pay the manufacturer one-half of the purchase price for the appliance. The manufacturer received full payment for the appliance from the state and sent the Vocational Rehabilitation Division the remittance which the recipient of the appliance had sent the manufacturer."

"An examination of the fiscal records of a manufacturer . . . indicated that sales commissions had been paid an employe of the Vocational Rehabilitation Division, on artificial appliance sales to the Vocational Rehabilitation Division of the State Department of Education."

"The commissions paid this state employe had been charged to the sales expense account on the records of the manufacturer. After the state auditor had examined the records of the manufacturer, a letter from the manufacturer was received stating that the disbursements by the company to the state employe represented a loan instead of sales commission."

Texas Delegates Refuse To Vote For Wallace

CHICAGO, July 19.—The Texas delegation, which closed its work at the national democratic convention by voting for Speaker Bankhead for the vice presidential nomination, is scheduled to depart for home today.

The delegation refused to go along with President Roosevelt on Secretary of Agriculture declining to withdraw its Bankhead vote in the move to make Wallace's nomination unanimous.

Some delegates suggested such action, but several shouted they never would vote for Wallace.

Elliott Roosevelt supported Bankhead on the standing vote.

Preceding the session, Mrs. Clara Driscoll, national committee woman from Texas, gave a reception in her hotel suite for the Texans.

The Hardin Simmons Cowboy band dedicated the selection "The Last Roundup" to the memory of R. W. Norton, wealthy San Antonio oilman and delegate from Texas who died of a heart attack in his hotel room Wednesday.

"Thirty per cent of our people are farmers," Jones said in a statement. "Frequently they have been overlooked in connection with party honors and key positions. I am glad that a man whose work has been identified with American agriculture has been selected."

MISS LANCIOUS NOTES

By Mary Whaley

For the past few nights we have sat with ear glued to the radio listening to the democratic convention until the last person left and the convention hall has been locked up.

We have listened so long that we have begun to talk like some of the speakers. Even when ordering coffee we have to refrain carefully from rolling our r's and s's.

"My friend, I desire one cup of brown steaming liquid served in a gleaming white porcelain container," or something of the sort.

We hum state songs and have brushed up on our parliamentary law just from listening to the order of procedure.

There have been so many goniating speeches, flowery phrases and political compliments that our own speech is likely to be tinged with convention expressions for the next few weeks. And we know we are just as worn out as some of the delegates.

We like that "we demand a recount" so much that when things aren't going our way as we figure they should, we howl in discord like some of the disgruntled delegates and demand a new count.

And when it comes to slinging a little mud, we have listened to some of the subtle experts with their two edged words and to the out-and-out blunt ones and figure we could sling a little ourselves now.

The convention has been to us one of the biggest shows we have ever heard. It has been by turns tragic, amusing, sad and hilarious. We wouldn't have missed it for anything.

Ward Steals Decision In Carnett Tilt

Two men stole home in the final inning to give the Montgomer- Ward Retainers an 11-10 victory over the Carnett Sportmen in a Major-City softball league test at the city park Thursday evening.

Maxie Carroll, Carnett's hurler, struck out the last three men to face him in that round but could not control the men on the base path. Cherry, who had gained a life on a misplay, and Klennett pilfered home neatly to pull the game out of the fire.

The Sportsmen combed the offerings of Lonnie Evans, Ward hurler, for a total of nine base blows but wasted four safeties in the initial inning.

Carroll had a home run with two mates aboard in the fifth in- ning.

B'SPRING NINE, BORGER CLASH FOR CROWN

The Big Spring American Legion Junior baseball team, which swings into action in a practice tilt at Baron park with a picked Lamesa team at 4 o'clock today, start serious campaigning for the Legion western championship in an 8:30 test at the West Fifth and San Antonio street plant Saturday evening, clashing with the Borger Oilers.

The tilt is the first of three games with the two teams scheduled to return to action for a twin bill Sunday afternoon.

By beating Borger in two of the three games, the local youngsters, now being sponsored by the Phillips Tire company, can become eligible to compete in a round robin playoff with four other sectional winners at Austin July 26-27-28.

The Borger club earned the right to clash with the Big Springs by defeating Pampa in two of three games last week. The locals disposed of El Paso's representatives in a series at El Paso.

If the Phillips team wins the sectional honors over the week-end, they must post $30 in cash and nine new baseballs with T. A. Peters, state tournament chairman. Ben Daniel, manager of the Big Spring team, said he hoped to raise that money through ticket sales and urged the people to support the nine at the gate. Tax for any of the games will be but 25 and 10 cents. Members of the team are conducting a ticket sales cam- paign in the downtown sector.

Today's bout with Lamesa is to be used primarily as a warm-up test. Daniel was scheduled to call on Bobbye Savage, ineligible for tournament play, for mound duty against the Lameans, saving his ace, Gus Fierro, for the opener against Borger Saturday night.

Members of the team who will be eligible for service against Borger are Frank Barton, Hal Battle, Earnest Bostick, Horace Bostick, Peppy Blount, Florio, Pepper Mar- tin, M. E. Maxwell, Wylbert Moore, Clifton Patton, Pete Presley, How- ard Stewart, James Tidwell, T. M. Watson and R. H. Weaver.

Chicago Open Is Underway

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)—A field of 200 golfers, headed by previous champions Gene Sarazen and Sam- my Snead, began the 72-hole Chi- cago open title chase today over Tam O'Shanter's water studied acreage.

Sarazen, among the earlier start- ers in today's 18-hole trek, won the first Chicago open, in 1937. Snead scored the following year. No tournament was held last season.

Willkie Personality Presented To Public In Ritz Feature

A filming of the radio program that did much to introduce Wend- ill Willie to the American pub- lic is to be presented at the Ritz theatre today and Saturday as an added attraction. It is a release of the popular "Information Please" in which the republican presidential candidate matches wits—and with success—against such seers as John Kieran, Oscar Levant and F. P. Adams.

Willkie is said to display a charming and ingratiating per- sonality that wins him admirers, and he exhibits an excellent knowledge of history that comes to his rescue as questions are fired at him.

Yanx Close In On American Loop Leaders

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The American League still is boiling over, like a pot of hot porridge, and there doesn't seem to be anything anyone can do about it.

The Cleveland Indians stumbled into their fifth consecutive defeat yesterday, 9-6, at the hands of the ever dangerous New York Yan- kees. Four losses got 'em into first place, but five took 'em out.

Both the Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers had a chance to scoot into the lead, but when they finished battling each other at the end of 11 wild innings, it was De- troit that was on top, 10-8.

The Red Soxers scored all their eight runs in the first three in- nings. Then the Tigers, using five pitchers, held them helpless the rest of the way.

Although they are in fourth place, the world champion Yan- kees are only four games behind the leaders.

The amazing Washington Sena- tors, who were in last place only last Sunday, chalked up their fifth triumph in a row with a 5-4 deci- sion over the Chicago White Sox.

The streak to end all streaks, however, was the one the St. Louis Browns extended to 14 games, all losses, yesterday. This isn't a record, but it is one more defeat than the Browns ever had suf- fered in succession before.

The 10-3 victory that the Philadel- phia Athletics took from them was a combination of five-hit hurling by Johnny Babich and a 17-hit assault on five St. Louis slingers.

The National League program was abbreviated to two games and the Brooklyn Dodgers made the most of the idleness of the Cin- cinnati Reds by whipping the Chi- cago Cubs 7-4 to narrow the gap between first and second place to three games.

Carl Hubbell got the chance he wanted to work in a night game and handcuffed the Pittsburgh Py- rates 6-1 on six hits.

The Sports Parade

By Hank Hart

El Paso (Cactus league) baseball scouts were quite im- pressed with Pepper Martin's play in the American Legion Junior tournament last week, offered the local youth a con- tract.

Pep said he was passing up the chance to get into profes- sional circles this year but might give it more thought in 1941.

If Martin did make good in the pro game, he would ful- fill a dream his late father, the highly popular Floyd R. "Pepper", long held for him.

The senior Martin, quite a ball player in his day, taught young Pep all he knows about the game.

Plans for organization of a baseball team at Forsan have collapsed, Tommy Yarbro, ramrod of the drive, has in- formed this department by letter.

L. D. Cunningham, a former Big Spring youth now working for the Humble Oil company in Andrews, won the most valuable player award in Lubbock's recent softball tournament after pacing his team to a series of triumphs.

He hurled a no-hit, no-run game against Littlefield in the final game, Andrews winning, 10-0.

Around Lubbock, L. D., who has several brothers in Major-City league competition here, is being hailed as the finest softball chunker in the state of Texas.

The Big Spring Tennis association through its presi- dent, Harold Harvey, is attempting to line up a series of in- ter-city matches with teams of neighboring villages, would be available for team matches on weekends.

Planning toward their first invitational golf tournament since 1927 are a group of Colorado City sportsmen.

Probable dates for the meeting are August 2-3-4.

The Colorado City course consists of nine holes and is equipped with sand greens.

Newlin Tames Houston With Single Blow

By the Associated Press

San Antonio's hustling young Missions rapidly are closing the gap that for a time threatened to put Houston's Texas League lead- ers in a class by themselves.

Houston lost its third game in a row last night. Two of the de- feats were by San Antonio.

Today the Buffs are but six and a half games out in front—quite a contrast to the ten and twelve game margin the Buffs recently boasted.

Maurice Newlin gave one hit as the Missions beat Houston 2-0 last night.

Les Mueller also turned in a one hit job for Beaumont, beating Shreveport 5-2.

Oklahoma City and Tulsa split a double-header. The Indians took the first game 5-1 with young Orval Grove holding Tulsa to three hits. The Oilers won the nightcap 3-1 on Paul Erickson's five-hit pitching.

Dallas swept its three-game se- ries with Fort Worth, taking a final 10-7 slugfest in which Dallas got 18 hits and Fort Worth 10.

Bimelich Can Win Horse Of Year Honor

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)—Bime- lich, Col. Edward R. Bradley's famed thoroughbred, will be crowned three-year-old champion of 1940 if victorious tomorrow in the $50,000 Arlington Classic stake.

The courageous son of Black Tony may go to the post in the mile and a quarter race an even money choice to win. The field probably will include Gallahadion, entry of Mrs. Ethel V. Mars of Chicago and conqueror of Bime- lich in the Kentucky Derby; Dil- third in the Derby; Milledale Sta- ble's Andy K. the Dixiana Stables' Sirocco and the outsider, A. C. Earn's Alhalon.

This season Bimelich won the Blue Grass stake, the Kentucky Derby trial, Preakness and Bel- mont. He ran second in the De- rby.

Gallahadion, which defeated Bimelich in the Derby at 35 to 1, but lost to him in the Preakness and Belmont, appears to be Bime- lich's most dangerous threat.

Mrs. E. N. Noble of Minneapolis, Minn., was named U. S. croquet champion in 1939.

Over 250 In Dawson Co. Girls' Club

LAMESA, July 19 (SpI)—Home demonstration and 4-H club girl work in Dawson county is more than just a good idea, for today there are 256 club girls alone carry- ing out projects under the direction of Mattie Phenix, county home demonstration agent.

More than numbers is the amount of demonstrations being carried out, for Dawson county club girls are an active lot. Aside from improving bedrooms, growing gardens and doing other things to fit the program, they have found time to send five girls to the recent short course at Texas A. & M. college.

Attending were Betty McKinney, Klondike, gold star club girl; Alice McNew, Klondike, reporter; Ben- nia Jo Melton, Sparanburg, cloth- ing demonstrator; and Fay Hogg, Union and Mary Ola Dunaworth, serve food supplies.

Union. Mrs. S. J. Allen, Key, girls' sponsor, accompanied the girls on the trip by school bus. It cost only $3, including the return trip by way of Austin and Bu- chanan dam.

Women were equally active in this phase of the work. Among those participating in the short course were Mrs. T. E. Temple, Bartlett, representative of the land use planning committee; Mrs. V. B. Hahn, delegate to the HD coun- cil; Mrs. Roy Weekes, Key; Mrs. C. C. Beard; Mrs. C. W. Shafter, Shumake; Mrs. Justice Walls, La- mesa; and Mrs. Bart Davis, Sparanburg.

Mrs. Beard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jones of Brown coun- ty, who were given a trip by the AAA to Washington to give a mat- tress making demonstration before government officials interested in the work.

Little man, you're right from start to finish. Be as skeptical as you like about the anti-knock claims for new gasolines.

But remember, at every Orange and Black 66 Shield, you get at regular price a gasoline which gives you practically the same anti-knock performance for which you previously had to pay two cents extra per gallon.

So judge by results, and we be- lieve you will certainly feel that difference with your first tankful of NEW Phillips 66 Poly Gas. Drive after driver says that it's the great- est self-demonstrating gasoline he has ever used.

Editorial

"This nation through sacrifice and work and unity proposes to remain free." In that purpose, stated in President Roosevelt's latest defense message to congress, Americans have already achieved a degree of unity which should be carefully noted overseas. That is amply attested by the consensus that the $5,000,000 additional arms program outlined by Mr. Roosevelt is already approved by public opinion and will be quickly ratified by congress. Even the billions added on billions do not fully measure the revolutionary change in the outlook of Americans and the depths of patriotism that have been stirred by a new awareness of the kind of world they live in.

Americans are ready for "sacrifice and work." An increasing appreciation of the new position is spreading across the country. The people are united in a way which must be disconcerting to politicians searching for "issues" and should be a warning to special-interest groups seeking to line their own nests out of the defense program.

In world affairs the commitment now made by America may some day be considered as historic as the decision of Germany to rearm. The democracies, to their sorrow, failed to read the full meaning of that decision. The totalitarians may make the same mistake today. For while the president rigorously restricted the purpose of the new program to defense of the western hemisphere, the influence of such armaments—particularly of a navy in the Atlantic—cannot be confined to the American continent any more than the effects of nazi power have been confined to Europe.

Let us crystallize and make clear the purpose of the United States to prepare for any contingency of defense is the great value of this move. That is why it is justified although billions already authorized or appropriated remain unspent. The commitment not only clarifies national policy. It gives industrial mobilization—which has had some fears of temporary spurts and overexpansion of plant—a green signal. It provides new assurance that the effort to arm America will not be suddenly abandoned.

The program will need to be watched. Dollars are not ships or guns. There should be questions about how the money already provided is being spent. There should be further thought and discussion as to where American defense begins—and when. But as to the essential direction of this program there can be no serious question. America has already decided to do everything necessary for defense.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—Answering the mail order: MRS. J. T. K., Indianapolis. In spite of all those stories you have read, the United States still is in the far Pacific and is likely to remain there unless some drastic change occurs in Atlantic defense conditions.

G. T., Rutherford, N. J.—Your old friend and brother in the bond, Jimmy Aswell, is out for the congressional race in Natchitoches, La., and it looks at this printing as though he would be around these parts soon after the first of the year. He was one of the principal platform rammers in the fight against the old (and defeated) Long machine. Since then the winds that drift up from the southland have been bringing me consistent reports of Jimmy's candidacy. If Jimmy comes up this way after the first of the year, guess we'll have to have a get-together and talk of the time you wrote a glowing column about what a swell guy Jimmy Aswell is and some South Carolina editor (or was it Virginia) got confused and ran it and a head that said "By James Aswell." They tell me Jimmy still keeps the Pullman shades down when he goes through that city.

H. M. L., Dallas, Texas—Your query about all that gold that's stuck in a hole down in Kentucky not only has your humble correspondent guessing, but all the best economists and money theorists around here as well. I'm trying to find out, but it's beginning to look as though I'll have to get a Ph. D. a thesaurus and couple of Morgan partners on my side before I can even discuss it. . . . And even then I'll have to write above the column. The facts contained herein bear no resemblance to anything living or dead.

G. P., San Diego, Calif.—Haad . . . the 1936 popular vote, Wendell L. Wilkie would have to swing a little more than 5,000,000 votes that went for Roosevelt and hold the 17,000,000 votes considered republican under any circumstances. The sideline guessers here now are saying that Mr. Wilkie probably will get a lot of normally democratic votes (being so recently a democrat himself), but for that very reason probably will lose some of the ordinarily die-hard republicans. Personally, I think it's a little too early to tell about any of these supposed trends. The political picture, based as it is almost entirely on the foreign situation plus the shifting whim of the American voter, can change a half dozen times between now and November. . . . but it is anybody's guess at the moment as to what it is going to change from.

R. E. B., Joplin, Mo.—Thanks for the tip on the Admiral Dewey report at the navy department. The department generously is working on it for me and if I uncover any more minor or major prophets on modern warfare, will be sure to let you know.

MRS. D. C. L., Denver, Colo.—I think I can assure you that the government is not devoting ALL its time to rearmament and overlooking the possibilities of the trade war which may result when the European battles are over. My hunch is that the first big hint of how much time is being devoted to it will come out of the Pan-American conference at Havana.

Because trade wars have no roots in strutting and bragging, our economic plans are a good deal more secret than our armament aims. Traders have to be shy, but when it comes to pitting on armor, all nations act like little boys and throw out their chests and say: "Just look how strong I am! If you touch me, I'll punch your middle clear back to your spine."

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Strange how Fine street continues to bob up in the diary of Manhattan. You read a lot about it now because it is where Wendell Wilkie has his offices. Years ago it was the scene of a sensational murder and once a play was written about it, "No. 9 Fine Street." The girl who played the lead in the play was Lillian Gish. Not that we want to cast a damper on any budding election campaigns that may be being formed around Fine street these days, but "No. 9 Fine Street" as a play was a melancholy failure. It ran only a few performances.

Our award for the most heartening never-say-die spirit goes to a former Follies girl, Capt. Grinder, who finally had to quit show business because of declining health. As a matter of fact, the lady was 15, and her doctors told her she didn't have long to live. But that was 15 years ago, and today, at 49, Capt. is the swimming instructor at Frank Seidens Lido Beach club on Long Island. . . . There may be people who feel better than I do. Capt. says, posing for a plumb, "but if there is I haven't seen them."

Perhaps night prowlers and insomniaers will appreciate this information. New York's air is purest at 4 a. m. It is most polluted at 9 a. m.

By George Tucker

Back in 1932 the city installed a sensitive bit of apparatus that registers all these things, and I just thought you'd like to know.

Although New York is a sprawling city of five great boroughs, it is also a sort of loose federation of many picturesque named districts, such as Throg's Neck, which is in the Bronx, Hell's Kitchen, and Sugar Hill. Hell's Kitchen, best known perhaps of these districts because it has the reputation of being tough, tough, and ugly, is where George Raft grew up as a kid. It was notorious in the old days for its religious fights.

Note to Mr. James T. Higgins, Internal revenues service, treasury dept. . . . Dear Jim: Now let's get this thing straightened out. Yes, I filed a return for 1938. Don't you remember? You summoned me one day last July and I went down to see you, and after you went over my papers you turned to me and said, "Mister, you don't know how to file an income tax return." And when I said, "Okay, how much do I owe you?" you said, "You don't understand; it is we who owe you." And three or four months later you sent me a check. Remember? I'll come down again if you want me to. I just mention this because I thought you ought to know. G. T.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—The camera has had a sedative. It's coming down. It's shaking off the jitters. In fact, it's so calm that it's standing still—which is practically revolutionary. "Reactionary" would be a better word, for in standing still it is going back to the habit it formed of necessity in pioneer film times.

For, once upon a time, the moving picture camera never moved. It stood on a tripod and aimed its lenses in one direction, and the actors moved in front of it. If they moved too far, they were "out of the scene" and they had to move back to get it again.

Then the camera began pivoting on its tripod, began to look around from side to side. Then it hunched up some more and climbed on a truck, or "dolly." This permitted it to travel a little, to move up close to the actors and move away from them without "breaking" the scene or cutting.

After a while a "dolly" wasn't enough of a trick. The camera called for and got a crane. This allowed it not only to move forward and back, but to swoop down on or away from a close-up.

Directors, especially the imports from Europe, espoused the jittery camera and vied with each other in obtaining trick effects. The camera developed "monkey blood" and swung from ceiling to floor on its head, and dizzied viewers. It went on a spree, and then talkies brought the swaying after.

The jittery camera had to be subdued in a "sweetbox" to desisten its operating as in! Actura worked and perished in tiny, stuffy sets, practically stood still under microphones so their voices could be recorded. This lasted nearly two years, until the engineers began to take the mystery out of sound and learned to control it and the talkies went outdoors again. It wasn't long before the microphone, as well as the camera, was traveling. Touchen Mamoulian had himself a dolly spree on his first picture, "Applause." He made that camera and mike wander down and up corridors and streets and rooms until the audience got fairly dizzy trying to keep up with it.

Lately John Ford made a picture called "The Grapes of Wrath." His chief cameraman was Gregg Toland. Together they slipped the camera a powder, they made it stand still through most of the footage. More recently they made together a picture called "The Long Voyage Home." They doubled the powder. The picture has no "dolly" or crane shots. They "panned" only when strictly necessary. They let the characters do the moving while the camera stood still.

Toland says the method helps to keep audience attention on the story and characters and away from movie mechanics. It keeps the camera out of the scene, gives better "composition," eliminates softness and blurring, gives clear definition and character to actors' faces.

It also saves time, he says.

And time saves money, and—for that reason if no other—the camera of Hollywood may be expected to calm down even further in the near future.

Casual Slaughters

Chapter 13
ON THE BEACH

Saturday morning we could not ride for some reason described to me simply as "inspection." I did not question it too closely. I put in the extra time at my typewriter, expecting Julia and half dreading a repetition of Friday's painful encounter. But she did not arrive until eleven o'clock, and then she did not come in, just sat in the car outside my window and honked.

I dropped what I was doing and went out to her, thankful enough for a respite.

"Come for a drive," she begged, so I got in beside her.

The car was a Chrysler convertible coupe. She drove it wide open and burning the wind. My hair would be in a thousand snarls but I did not protest, knowing that she was running away from the thought of Jeff.

"This is Mim's car," she said presently. "Dan gave it to her when we first came here. I can usually have it in the daytime. Mim's moody. Dan goes out two or three nights a week to some stag affair and she takes her car and drives for hours by herself."

"Do you think she's happy?" I ventured.

"Who is?"

"She is?"

"Which reminds me, we're revealing tonight—beach party. You're invited. Hope it proves better than last night's fray, which was a bore. Oh, and wait till you see what we've got! It just happened in to see its friend Sandra, and it's too cute for words."

I saw what she meant that night. It was a man. A dark, thickset man with a little mustache and a stagey sort of good looks. He bowed over my hand and murmured "Chawmed."

Then he threw back his bathrobe and displayed his chest—clad in a well-worn, hairy chest.

We were all visibly impressed. Julia clasped her hands and gazed at him with starry eyes. Adam let his jaw sag in unpleasant resemblance to an idiot child. Gerald Beaufort inhaled until his face was scarlet and seemed about to pin his shoulders together in the back.

"The word is virile," said Felicia Bridewell irrepressibly in my left ear.

Only Sandra, Jeff and the chaplain seemed unmoved. Jeff, in fact, glowered, or at least I thought so at the time. He was so amber normally that it was difficult to tell when he was actually displeased. He peeled off his sweat shirt, rolled it into a tight ball, tossed it on the sand and marched deliberately into the lake. I should not have been surprised to see him wade out until his head was immersed, but he jackknifed suddenly and re-peared swimming with vicious strokes that seemed to reach for and clutch the far horizon.

I thought for a moment that Julia was going to follow him but with an effort that was obvious to me, at least, she turned her back to the lake and began rearranging the baskets and bottles which we had unloaded from the cars.

"Go on and swim," she said to all offers of assistance. "We won't eat for a long time yet, and I'd advise everyone to swim before they start eating. We don't want any casualties."

We had penetrated deep into the reservation for this party. Like the mossy old joke, we had turned in at the road marked "OFFICIAL VEHICLES ONLY." We passed the sign that read "VISITORS NOT ALLOWED BEYOND THIS POINT AND PARKED NEXT TO POSITIVELY NO ADMITTANCE." Adam had replied vaguely to my questions. The sign, he said, had something to do with summer maneuvers which were concluded, but they also preserved the reservation from casual picnickers and resultant brush fire.

A hundred feet from the road was the lake, rimmed by a clean white beach as far as you could see in either direction, interrupted only in the immediate foreground by the wreck of an old coal barge that had been cast up to the water's edge by one of the storms that periodically convulse the Great Lakes.

Perceptibly Nervous

We climbed onto it when we had tired of swimming and sat, wet and cool and contented, swinging our legs over the shallow water that lapped at the weatherbeaten hull and sampling the contents of one of the big thermos bottles.

It was still daylight, though the sun had gone down behind us and a big moon had ballooned up out of the lake and was already high in the sky. A heavenly sense of well being came over me. Even the two strange little men beside me seemed expressly provided for my amusement.

I don't know why the chaplain had let himself get so near to me. It must have been an oversight, for he was still perceptibly nervous in my company. He addressed most of his remarks to Sandra, on his other side who, I gathered from their conversation, was responsible for his public appearance. I heard her ask him encouragingly if he wasn't glad she had insisted on his coming, and wasn't it fun?

"Most delightful," he agreed, managing what looked too painful to be classed as a smile. His face was still pretty awful, and his hands were encased in loose white cotton gloves because, I had heard him confide to someone, of the unpleasant ointment he had to use on them. The rest of his plump little figure was dressed in a khaki shirt and khaki slacks that were too long for him and had been turned up twice at the cuffs. He had, of course, not been swimming. He looked rather like a wistful strange child who had not been accepted by the gang. I thought, under the circumstances, that his response to Sandra's question was nothing short of heroic.

I turned my attention to the man on my other side. Sandra called him Ivan, and that was all of his name that I ever knew. Julia, it is true, had dubbed him Petruski-Skivar, and I had heard her murmuring something to Gerald about the sons of the prophet being hairy and bold. She must have known his real name, but no one was sufficiently interested to inquire.

He was gazing now out across the lake, a long amber cigarette holder clamped like a pipe between his teeth and an overdone expression of dreamy detachment in his eyes.

"Swear not by the moon, th' inconstant moon," he declaimed suddenly in his quite phenomenal version of an English accent, and gave the yellow balloon that hung above the lake what amounted to a dirty look.

"I don't think swearing is very nice anyway, do you?" I asked him earnestly.

"I, ah, fancy Shakespeare meant it in another sense," he explained kindly. "Sandra tells me that you also write."

"You mean the Bard and I? Well, yes and no. The comparison is hardly fair. You see, Shakespeare was all right in his time when Sandra seized the conversation in both hands and made off with it.

Bridge

"Did I tell you, Ivan, that I knew Chaplain Henry in Texas when Mother and Father were alive? He was very kind."

Her voice broke and she looked wistful at the little chaplain. I thought he seemed acutely embarrassed.

"Yes," she went on more cheerfully, "when I learned that Chaplain Henry was here and would actually perform the marriage I could hardly believe my luck."

"Pleasure, I'm sure," muttered the little man awkwardly.

She smiled at him.

"I rushed right over to the hospital to make sure it was my Chaplain Henry, and you can imagine my shock when I saw him!" she smiled again, an affectionate smile. "You really must be careful, you know, not to get into any more poison oak. It's all around here."

Chaplain Henry looked over his shoulder. He seemed nervous.

"Not on the barge," I assured him.

"Juice of cursed hebenon," intoned Ivan and, flicking the butt from his cigarette holder, fell silent, gazing at the lake.

"And the wedding," Sandra went on calmly, "is less than three weeks away. I can't have you looking like a like a—"

She paused tactfully, but my professional enthusiasm forced me to supply the missing simile.

"Like a spoiled tomato," I finished, and laughed immoderately.

"Ha, ha," said Chaplain Henry. "That's very good. Very good indeed."

"No, very bad. In fact, rotten," I said, and applauded myself with another gale of mirth.

"So bad," said Adam behind me, "that I'm going to duck you for it."

OIL ESTIMATE IS HIGHER

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP) — The bureau of mines today forecast the August market demand for domestic crude oil at 3,867,700 barrels daily, or a total of 115,390,000.

This was 29,300 barrels a day higher than the estimated July demand and 15,400 higher than the actual August, 1939 demand.

The bureau estimated the August motor fuel demand at 56,200,000 barrels and exports at 1,900,000. This corresponded to 58,228,000 barrels and 4,208,000, respectively a year ago.

Length of the original Great Wall of China, built in the third century B. C., was about 2,500 miles.

is directing the work by home demonstration and other women in processing the mattresses. Ten yards of ticking and 50 pounds of cotton will go into each mattress. This means that it will take 6,500 yards of ticking and 32,500 pounds (65 bales) of cotton. The ticking alone requires 1,800 pounds of cotton, it was pointed out.

Mattress Work Is Under Way In Dawson Co.

LAMESA, July 19 (SpI) — The program of manufacturing 650 mattresses for low-income farm families in Dawson county is now underway here, Mattie Phenix, county home demonstration agent, said today.

There will be 20 centers in the county for turning out the mattresses for farm families with a net income of less than $400. The purpose of the program is two-fold, said Miss Phenix, in that it consumes surplus cotton and aids the farmers.

The home demonstration agent lauded Dawson county women aiding in the program, declaring that they are now carrying out the largest project since the World war when they worked universally to aid soldiers.

The projects are operated jointly by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation and the Texas A. M. extension service. Miss Phenix

HOUSTON, July 19 (AP) — The Houston Chronicle said today it had learned the Kytffhauser bund of Houston would be dissolved.

The paper reported a bund member said the action would be taken in an effort to allay any suspicion that its activities are in any way inimical to the interests of the American people.

The member denied the group had engaged in subversive activity.

Preparing For Feeding Work

Groundwork for annual feeding demonstrations by Howard county 4-H club boys is being laid currently by O. P. Griffin, county agent.

He has mailed a questionnaire to all club boys, inquiring if they planned to feed out a calf, whether they were now ready to secure a calf, and how many they plan to feed out. He also asked if they wished to pay cash for a calf, or if they desired to secure it on terms, and if they cared to wait until success of a feed crop is assured before committing themselves on an animal.

The agent expressed the belief that possibly there were many boys not now associated with the 4-H club program who would be interested in feeding out calves. He suggested that such boys either see him or call at his office.

Virtually all of the feeding this year will be of the drylot type, and if present plans go through, then it is probable that each boy feeding may be given a trip to market to see the calves sold and processed.

CONCLAVE'S END MEANS REST FOR A BUSY TEXAN

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP)—The close of the democratic national convention gave Colonel Paul Wakefield of Austin, secretary of the Texas delegation and official badge and ticket dispenser, the first real rest he had had in many weeks.

For more than a month before the convention opened, he was besieged by persons from all over Texas writing for proper credentials to admit them into Chicago stadium for the sessions. Some applicants were entitled to badges and tickets; others simply wanted to be spectators.

There was no letup when he got to Chicago a few days before the convention opened. In fact, it was worse, if anything. In addition to hundreds of Texans and their families who came to the Winby City "many of them with no admission tickets of any kind there were dozens of "foreign cities" who hoped to crash the gate with the Texans.

Most exasperating of all, he said, were persons with a Bronx accent or a distinct Yankee twang who came in and tried to claim they had lived all their lives in "Houston" as they would pronounce Houston, or in some other part of the Lone Star state.

Notwithstanding the demand, Wakefield said, he was able to gain admission in the galleries for all bona fide Texans who came to the state's headquarters for assistance.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICE
Room 1, Settles Hotel
"Life" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 21.
The Golden Text is: "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent" (John 17:3).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Blessed are they that do His commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city" (Revelation 22:14).
The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Undisturbed amid the jarring testimony of the material senses, Science, still enthroned, is unfolding to mortals the immutable, harmonious, divine Principle, its unfolding life and the universe ever present and eternal" (page 3-6).

In the matter of tuneful melodies, eight songs are to be heard. These are "Meet the Sun Half Way," "I Haven't Time to be a Millionaire," and "Peasimistic Character," performed as duets by Bing and Gloria; "If I Had My Way," a solo by Crosby, and "Little Gray Home in the West" a solo by Gloria; "April Played the Fiddle," by Bing and Six Hits and a Miss, and Eddie Leonard singing his always-remembered "Ida" and Blanche Ring singing her unforgettable "Rings on My Fingers" with the Six Hits and a Miss.

follow his wishes and I am here to support his choice for vice president."

Again the crowd yelled: "No, No."

"I therefore ask emphatically that my name be withdrawn, and I pledge my enthusiastic support to the nominee who is being selected on this historic occasion," he concluded.

Jesse H. Jones of Texas, federal loan administrator, had withdrawn his own name, too, when it was presented. And Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas had prevailed on his state delegation not to present his name after learning Mr. Roosevelt's wish for Wallace.

This left Bankhead as the chief rallying point for any opposition to Wallace when the balloting started. Cheers welcomed any acquisition to the Bankhead standard. Frequent boos greeted Wallace votes. Men who came forward to second the Wallace nomination scolded him.

Senator Scott Lucas of Illinois withdrew his own name when it was offered and seconded Wallace.

"We ought to follow Roosevelt," he urged.

"No, No" yelled back the crowd. Senator Prentiss Brown of Michigan withdrew his own name and urged Wallace's nomination in the race of a somewhat similar demonstration.

The nomination itself went through chiefly on the big votes from the populous states, plus votes from the middle western and western farm states. Most of the southern votes went to Bankhead.

figure on an indomitable spirit, for Dorothy returned from the brink. Moreover, she rallied sufficiently to be returned home.

Recently, with the kidney involvement threatening, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dublin, took her to Lubbock where stones were removed. And Saturday she's coming home.

This autumn Dorothy plans to submit to a tonsillectomy and prays that this will be the end of her troubles. After what she has gone through, this seems "only a minor hurdle."

Discouraged? Not Dorothy. Her father, Charles Dublin, said that her condition and morale is excellent. Her sister, Mrs. Howard Kemper, added that Dorothy is "getting along grand and is tickled to death to be coming home."

Dorothy, of course, has her heart set on one thing—the real comeback on the road to health. She fully expects to be walking again soon. She has faith that someday she will again be able to get around effectively, and out of a heart overflowing with thankfulness to her host of friends and well-wishers, she wants to achieve her ambition of being able to provide an iron lung for local use, so that those who must pass through the same dark valley, may share her undimmed hopes of returning.

MARKETS Wall Street

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—The stock market again pulled its rally punches today. Leading issues drifted over an irregularly lower course.

While dealing was inconsequential from the start, the ticker tape virtually came to a standstill when Hitler began his address to the Reichstag.

Traders saw further confirmation of their fears that the long-threatened smash at John Bull was in the offing. Both buyers and sellers remained in the do-nothing ranks, for the most part.

Business prospects still were the main market prop, brokers said, and accounted for the slackness of offerings in all departments. Transfers for the five hour approximated 250,000 shares.

British Navy Guards Canal

LONDON, July 19 (AP)—Britain's eastern Mediterranean battlefleet has become, in effect, the board of directors of the vital Suez Canal, still technically under the management of a French-controlled operating company.

The "international waters" of the canal that cuts 5300 miles off the Atlantic to Asia remain guaranteed to all vessels able to pay the toll in gold.

But Britain's great, gray naval vessels stationed close to the approaches judge for themselves which may pass through the 194.5-mile sea level waterway that splits the land bridge between Africa and Asia.

London sources say the canal continues in normal operation, except for vast reduction in its traffic, and the dues that are collected find their way to a London banking account.

English sources explain that a decision will be reached later what to do with the funds collected as canal toll. There has been no meeting of the directors since France's armistice with Germany and Italy.

Two Big Spring Girls Begin Vacation At Camp Waldemar

HUNT, July 19 (Sp)—Robbie Piner has enrolled for the last term in Camp Waldemar, and her sister, Miss Winifred Piner, will be a counselor there until the end of the term, August 24.

Robbie is a member of the Texas tribe. Thursday evening, July 18, the rival clans climbed their hills to review the ideals of their group and to lay plans to win the silver plaque this summer. The Comanches and Tejas have long been rivals on land and water. Tuesday evening Robbie met girls from eight different states and two foreign countries in a moonlight mixer on the tennis courts. Friday evening she tried her talents with other seniors in the initial amateur hour in Cactus Lodge.

This summer Robbie will be working to earn the all-star medal, award given to those girls who hold high the ideals of the camp, who typify the spirit of Waldemar. A silver medal is given to second year girls who meet these requirements.

Films To Be Shown At Meeting Tonight

Progress is reported by the pastor, Rev. W. Eugene Davis, in the revival meeting now under way at the Tabernacle Baptist church, Fourth and Benton streets, "influence of the meeting is spreading," said the pastor, "and many are being saved, and Christians are becoming conscious of their responsibility to God and their fellowman."

The evangelist, Rev. L. L. Cooper, will show pictures tonight of the Berea Baptist church of Jacksonville, Fla., where he made the films while conducting a revival meeting. The public is invited to attend.

On Sunday evening, members of the Big Spring band will give special music, and there will be baptizing at the close of the service.

New Teachers Are Named At Forsan

Several new teachers have been elected to the Forsan faculty for the 1940-41 term, it was announced Friday through the office of County Superintendent Anne Martin. Forsan trustees, meeting earlier in the week, named O. B. Conley as principal, to succeed Brady Nix, resigned, and elected Cagle Hunt as athletic coach.

Others named to the faculty include S. T. Breedlove, industrial education; Mrs. Breedlove, elementary grades; Fern Smith, home economics; and Pearl Lynch, elementary grades.

Washington Frowns On Construction Of Pipe Line

MEXICO CITY, July 19 (AP)—Mexico was reported today to have virtually completed negotiation for construction of an oil pipeline to facilitate sale of petroleum to Japan, but the deal was said to be bogging on the objection of the United States state department to participation of a New York construction firm.

The pipeline would run across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec from Puerto Mexico on the Gulf of Mexico to the Pacific port of Salina Cruz. It would carry 40,000 barrels of oil daily from the gulf fields, to be sold principally to Japan but also for a Mexican drive to open up markets on South America's west coast.

This would put Mexico in direct competition with California oil wells.

Washington's attitude appeared to present a definite hitch in the plan, the state department is said to frown on participation of the American company because of the present unstable characters of Japanese-American relations.

Allison Speaker For Business Club

Speaking on "New Careers for Youth," Alvin R. Allison of Levelland, candidate for state senator, was guest of the American Business Club Friday noon at the Crawford hotel.

Allison pointed out that one-third of the total unemployment representing four million persons, was among youth. He suggested that these young people are to be the controlling powers in local, state and national government in the future and declared that making good citizens of them was each man's responsibility.

The speaker was introduced by C. O. Valley, W. D. Scott was in charge of the program that consisted of two songs by Mary Hughes with Orene Hughes playing piano accompaniment.

Plan Bids Soon On Power Line

The way is being cleared steadily for asking bids on stretches of power line by the Caprock Electric Co-operative, O. B. Bryan, supervisor, said Thursday.

Between Big Spring and Fairview, virtually all of the easements needed for REA line right-of-way have been secured. From Fairview to Center Point the work is progressing satisfactorily, and toward Martin county easements are coming in at a reasonable rate.

When a given section has a clear right-of-way, it is probable that contracts will be let for that portion of the 158-mile line which will cost $14,000. The line will cover the center part of the northern half of Howard county, with branches to Knott, Vreeland, Center Point, and to a point north of Center Point. In Martin county it will touch the Brown community, loop to Lemah, swing north and west of Stanton to Cowdrey and encircle the city of Stanton. Efforts are being exerted now to sign up several more miles of extensions.
