These inexpensive books are priced at 50c per copy. There are at present 33 titles in the series, and they cover a wide range of subjects that are of vital interest to the informed Christian. REYNOLDS-ALEXANDER H. D.

The Reynolds-Alexander Home Demonstration club met Oct. 14 in the home of Mrs. W. F. Edmiston, with eight members and two guests Mrs. Fred Case and Mrs. W. V. Lux, present. The door prize was won by Mrs. Victor Sauer.

Everyone signed a petition asking our representative to support the bill to have all corn meal and grits enriched.

Mrs. Chan Whitten and Mrs. Leonard Lloyd gave a demonstration on "Cheese Grit Casserole" and Baked Crispy Peaches, which we all enjoyed with coffee.

Our next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. M. L. Potter Nov. 11. The demonstration will be "How to buy the clothes we wear," given by our agent, Mrs. Vida Kreklow. —Reporter.

BROWNIE TROOP 3

Brownie Troop 3 met Oct. 16, with 20 present and one absent.

Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Maureen McCravy. The treasurer, Billie Gayl Blaylock, collected the dues. Treats were served by the hostess, Maureen McCravy and Glenda Loden. Stella Hubble baby sat for Mrs. Shirley Jackson.

For fun we played games. Our Sunshine reporter for the week was to be Mildred Warren. The motion for adjournment was made by Susan Lee Mobley. —Reporter.

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

By MRS. VIDA KREKLOW

The word "enriched" means different things to different people. With the work and study on nutrition in mind, the average Home Demonstration club member thinks of enriched wheat and corn products, or flour, grits and meal. It simply means that the nutrients which are lost in modern milling processes have been put back. Enriched bread, flour and corn meal indicates that three B vitamins (thiamine, riboflavin, niacin) and iron have been added after milling. Look for the words "enriched" on the labels of these foods, when buying.

The people who know, say that every man, woman and child, old and young, needs three kinds of recreation. First they need family recreation with those at home. Home shouldn't be a place of work and worry only. Second they need neighborhood recreation with others of like ages and interests and third they need recreation alone. Check now—are you as a family or as an individual getting all three kinds of recreation?

Occasionally the alarm fails to go off—or you fail to go off with the alarm—and a rushed breakfast is a necessity. When this happens have an egg nog. Beat one egg, add a cup of sweet milk and stir in a pinch of salt and sugar to taste. Orange juice and buttered toast sets you off with a completely nutritious "quickie" breakfast.

While I didn't have any Swiss honey while in Switzerland, I want to pass this idea to you and recommend it highly. Swiss honey is made by creaming together equal parts of honey and butter. To this add another part of whipped cream. For an elegant dessert, pile spoonful of this mixture on hot baked apples and sprinkle with chopped peanuts, pecans or the variety you have handy.

It is a shrewd shopper who makes a list of what she needs before going to the store. The pick and miss method of buying is called impulse buying. Merchants love impulse buyers because they usually buy more than they mean to and especially does this hold true in food stores. Good for some but maybe hard on your budget. Figure out what you need, can afford and stick to it when shopping.

We've been making biscuits at meetings and at home lately and even ran the recipes in last week's column. For a variety try this:

Onion Biscuits

Stir or 2 or 3 teaspoons instant minced onion into the milk when making baking powder biscuits. The onions have a sweet, milk flavor and are moisture free. These are good with ham, fish, scrambled eggs or cheese dishes. Good for a snack after a football game.

The steam iron earns its keep on winter woolen and silk clothes. If the efficiency of your iron has been cut by clogged vents try the new products on the market called SSSST—to start the steam rolling again. SSSST is highly advertised and the best part about it is that it works. Follow manufacturers directions.

And speaking of irons leads on to thinking of pressing. If you would like for your sewing to have a professional look—press as you sew. Begin by pressing creases out of fabric before cutting and press carefully after each step.

Some "How-To's" on pressing techniques:

1. Generally, work on wrong side of fabric.
2. Always smooth material carefully under iron and press on straight grain when possible.
3. Use steam iron with high heat for cotton or linen materials.
4. Press wool with a damp cloth between iron and dry woolen—or use a steam iron.
5. Press silk or rayon with steam iron or pressing cloth, dampening cloth as you work. Take care, don't water-spot the fabric.
6. Press velveteen, corduroy or velvet with a turkish towel over the ironing board or stand an iron on end, cover it with a damp press cloth and draw the wrong side of fabric back and forth over the steaming cloth. Brush lightly while steaming to remove stubborn marks.

BROWNIE TROOP 2 MEETS

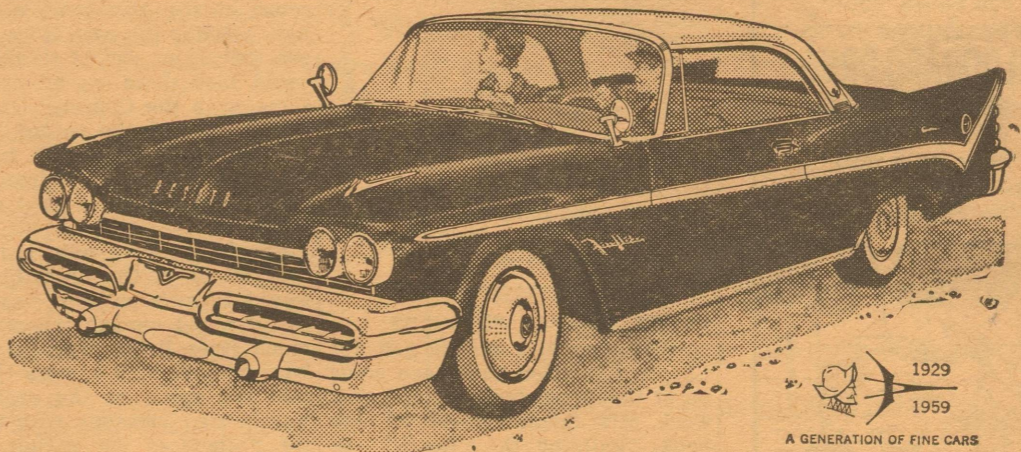

Brownie Troop 2 met Oct. 21 in the Corral. Deena Kaye Day and Jean Dacy were hostesses and served cookies and push-up sticks. Seventeen were present and two were absent.

We decided to help our mothers this week. For fun we played games outside. —Reporter.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Humphrey and two children of Corpus Christi visited here recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Ratliff.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Austin and grandson of Humansville, Mo., spent the past week in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Charlie Morris, and her family.

YOUR LEGION

"For God and Country"
The Preamble of the Constitution of the American Legion begins with these words: "For God and Country." There are many people who look down on the Legion because of the way some members have acted in the past. If we should use that same sort of thinking we could look down on all organizations, even the Church. One only has to look at the record, of the Bev McCormick Post 257, to know that the Legion in Eldorado has done a great deal of good and no harm.

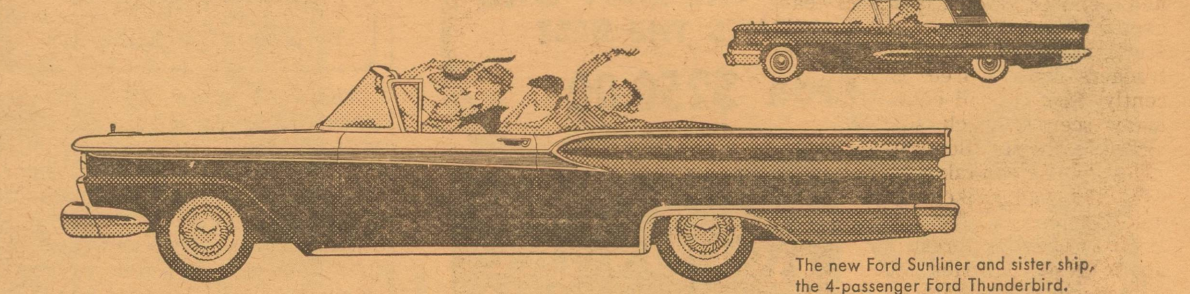

Should we take only the first four words of the preamble, that would furnish enough food for thought and enough incentive for much finer living than we would have without it. It reveals the fact that the spirit of the organizers was in true harmony with that of the Fathers of our nation, "For God and Country."
First, we recognize God as supreme. He is the Creator and Sustainer, not only of this little planet we call earth but of his whole universe which he is allowing man to discover little by little. We recognize the truth that the Psalmist knew a long time ago when he said, "Whither shall I flee from thy presence? If I ascend into heaven thou art there! If I make my bed in Sheol, thou art there;" or when he said, "—Thou art acquainted with all my ways. Even before a word is on my tongue, lo, O Lord, thou knowest it. altogether." We know that without his presence we could not possibly exist and so the Legion takes these truths and many others into serious consideration.

Secondly, our "Country" covers a great deal. Legionnaires have offered themselves, if need be, for the safety of our Country and will do it again if the test comes. We are thinking about our individual homes, our little city of Eldorado, our state and our nation, but we know we can't stop there. We can remain free only so long as the other peoples of the world are free and there are a great many who are not free today. We have been SO sure that no one can take away our homes, state and nation, but now it is different. The Legion stands squarely between our nation and the enemies of freedom and with God's help we will remain free. If ever we needed the American Legion and what it stands for we need it today. Let's get behind it. —Jim Spencer.

Man in the making

You watch your bright-haired boy turn in a twinkling from rowdy horseplay to tender cherishing of an injured bird.

How humbly proud you are of such evidence that your son is growing—in all directions!

And how you want for him a world where there are no barriers to his development as a free and independent American.

There are many ways you can help assure this sort of world for him. One very important way is to be on the watch for ideas that could deprive him of his right to freedom and independence.

The idea, for instance, that "government should run such and such a business, a service, an institution." Even though it has been shown that the more things government runs, the less freedom there is for the individual.

When you hear people talking like that, point out that when you take independence away from anybody, you undermine the freedom of everybody.

Very much aware of this threat are the independent electric companies, because government already runs part of the electric business. And powerful people are pressing government to take over more.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

A continuation of unfavorable weather could mean trouble so far as saving high quality planting seed from this year's cotton crop is concerned. Continued high moisture in the field is a cause for high free fatty acid content in the seed which lowers germination. An early frost could further complicate the situation. Then too, cotton root rot and angular leaf spot disease contributes to lower quality seed from most areas.

13.6% moisture in cotton seed is the critical point beyond which storage becomes disastrous. If possible, the moisture content should not exceed 12% for seed 'caught' at the gin for storage purposes, unless they are stored in small quantities and can be turned, or air pulled through them by mechanical means.

Soil cannot be considered just soil. People live on it and from it. They own it, rent it, plow and cultivate it and harvest the crops it produces. When the soil fails, people and nations suffer.

After the rains the tempo of farm work is sure to hit high records, and this means that farmers and their families will be exposed to more accident hazards, warns the Texas farm and ranch safety council. Their advice is, don't take chances, for every farmer is needed. A tired body and mind doesn't have the reflexes needed for safety.

An interested listener is far more popular than an interesting talker.

Rats and mice continue to invade granaries, houses and barns and will continue to do so until cold weather.

The best possible rat and mouse control is warfarin and fumarin. This anticoagulant poison should be kept out at all times. Never let a bait station go without poison over 24 hours. Keep this bait out until there are no more rats or mice taking the poison. These anticoagulant poisons are available at the county agent's office at 50 cents per pound. This bait is mixed by the FFA boys.

Cotton producers should remember this—do not mix cotton containing a high amount of moisture with low-moisture cotton. Mixtures of early morning, and late day harvest should be avoided because the entire load will be down-graded. Two trailers should be available for weighing in the early morning and later day weighings.

Handle cotton loose—do not crush cotton in the trailer, provide trailers with 250-300 cubic feet per bale—provide enough trailers—use a bridge across the top of the trailer for pickers to empty sacks. Also, provide two ladders, one on each side of the trailer.

All of the pointers listed go to make a better grade. For instance the loan price on one inch middling cotton is 34.93 cents per pound, 31.04 on strict low middling, and on low middling 27.24 cents per pound. Keeping cotton dry, loose and clean can mean many dollars per bale.

The condition of seed cotton at the time it reaches the gin largely determines the final grade of lint in the bale. Therefore, cotton should be produced, harvested and handled so that it reaches the gin dry, loose and clean as possible. Cotton gins best at about 7½% moisture content.

Gerald Hartgraves, Bob Martin, Bob Sykes, Carrol White and Howard Derrick of the county cattle committee will attend or have representatives at a brucellosis meeting to be held at the Scarborough Hotel in Midland on October 29th. The State Livestock Sanitary Commission will have charge of the program.

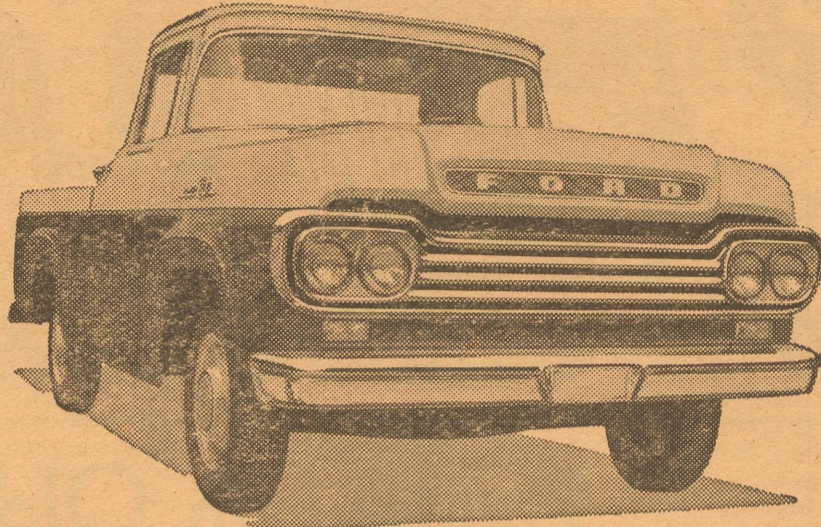

Opportunity is most considerate. It does not pull the lazy out of their beds nor does it go to matinees and ball parks looking for those who are supposed to be at work.

The up coming big game hunting season in Texas should be a good one. If hunters do not observe the rules of safe hunting, the season can be disastrous. Safe hunting depends on the common sense, courtesy and vigilance of all those who hunt.

Adventures in ADVERTISING

THE FANTASTIC STORY of MUSA-SHIYA THE SHIRTMAKER

(Also Sometimes Drygoods Selling)

If the shipping department of a factory had not made an error, the world would never have known of Musa-shiya the Shirtmaker and the most astounding advertising campaign in history would never have been launched.

Following World War I an English textile factory was getting back on a peacetime basis. In error it sent a full five year backorder of shirting material to Musa-shiya, a Japanese shirtmaker who operated a small shop in Honolulu. Business was poor and Musa-shiya was near bankruptcy, when the customs office informed him that certain bales of cloth and a fat bill for duties awaited his pleasure at the port of Honolulu.

When the little shirtmaker realized what had descended upon him, he asked for time and went into the silence for purpose of mental refreshment. Remembering a friend in a big mercantile establishment, he hid himself there and sought counsel. How in the name of the horned prophet of evil was he ever to get rid of all that English shirting? And in the meantime where was he to put it? His little box of a shop wouldn't hold one bale.

"You'll have to advertise," advised his friend. "Leave it to me. I'll have our advertising agents help you out."

This merely compounded the little Japanese shirtmaker's troubles. Advertising to him was an uncharted sea. The advertising agent called on Musa-shiya and suggested $300 as a modest starter. "Too-o-o much. Maybe I think thirty dollar plenty," said the shirtmaker. He was told that wouldn't even get him in print. The agent explained the costs of various advertisements and finally Musa-shiya agreed to try the plan and what was destined to be the most astounding and far reaching campaign in the history of advertising was launched.

Two column by five inch ads then started appearing regularly in the Saturday Honolulu Star-Bulletin. The ads were written just the way Musa-shiya talked—in colorful pidgen English which is used throughout the Orient. Here is an example of one of Musa-shiya's ads:

"Well here come storek again—but Musa-shiya, the shirtmaker, is able prepare. Wonderful accumulation of baby things in dry goods selling corner of Musa shop. Everything for the baby—especially diaper. Exclusive of storek, which find most easily, many persons not finding little shop of Musa-shiya the shirtmaker in King Street, Makai side, between fish market and river."

Tourists started sending copies of Musa-shiya's ads to their friends in many countries. Soon Musa-shiya was receiving orders from all over the world as well as doing a thriving business in Hawaii.

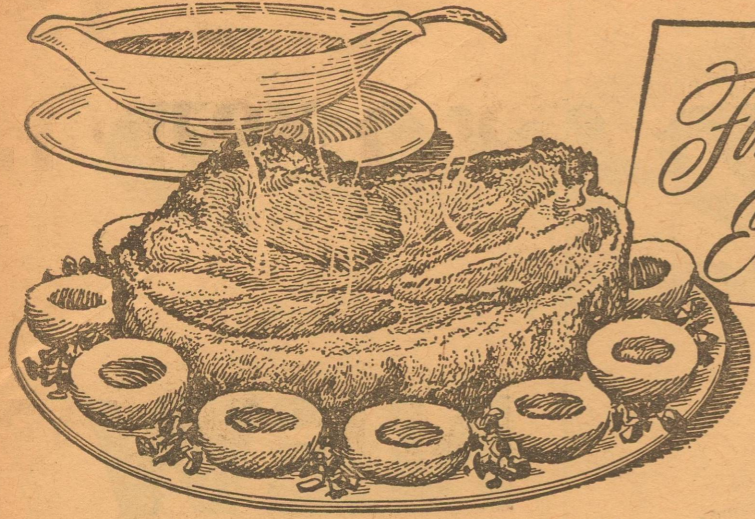

And that is the story of how a well planned, small advertising campaign made an unknown Japanese shirtmaker not only wealthy but world famous.

Your local newspaper doesn't promise to duplicate this story for its advertisers, but it does take your sales message into the homes of your customers where full and careful consideration is given your suggestions. Who knows, perhaps you too can be a Musa-shiya.
