New Irrigation Well Is Brought In On Reynolds

A new irrigation well has been brought in on the Mrs. C. M. Reynolds farm in the Reynolds community some 20 miles west of Eldorado. The well is 400 feet deep and was dug by Floyd Hanusch, who also set the casing.

A testing outfit from San Antonio was on the job Tuesday, and the pump running at full speed.

It delivered 700 gallons per minute without breaking the flow. Another pulley was ordered out of San Antonio Tuesday night in order to increase the capacity of the pump. "We don't know what it will make," said Bob Reynolds, "but hope it has a capacity of 1,000 GPM."

The new well is located about a quarter of a mile north from the Reynolds' first well, which has already produced two cotton crops. If it lives up to present expectations the new well will add an additional 150 acres to irrigation.

Hanusch Brothers are at present engaged in digging two irrigation wells on the George Mikeska farm.

Post Script

A word of explanation might be in order regarding the Oldsmobile advertisement on page 5 of this Success issue.

Order for the ad was received here early this month from the agency in Detroit. Signature on it is Wagley Motors, as ordered.

It was late last month that announcement was made that the Oldsmobile franchise, which had been handled by Wagley, was to be combined with Eagle Chevrolet. The parties concerned report that such a merger takes some time to put into effect. It has to be approved by the company bigwigs in Michigan.

So the Wagley Motors ad this week is a sort of carryover. It is assumed that before long the F-85 Olds, along with all the rest of the Olds line, will be on sale at Eagle Chevrolet Co., of which J. D. Huckaby and Paul Page are proprietors.

School Census Is Now In Progress Here

A. M. Whitis, superintendent of schools, announces the annual Census of Students for the Eldorado schools for the school year 1961-62 is now under way and must be completed by the end of January.

To be enumerated on the census is every child in the Schleicher County Rural High School District who will be at least 6 years of age on or before September 1, 1961, and not over 18 years of age on the same date.

Of greatest importance is the enumeration of all students who will be in the first grade next school year. Any parent who has a child that will enter the local school system for the first time in September, 1961, is requested to contact one of the principals at school, if you have not received a school census form.

Parents of families who do not have any children in school at the present time, but who will have next year, are the ones most urgently requested to comply with this request.

State aid to schools is granted on the basis of the number of students enumerated in the January census. That your child be counted is very important.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Frank Blaylock and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Rayond Jay in San Angelo Sunday.

Route Adopted For New Merizon Road Entry

Surveying crews were at work this week on the new route which will bring the Mertzon highway in to intersect the Angelo highway a block south of where it now does in Eldorado.

A map in the county judge's office shows that the road will come into town past Sunset Acres, as it now does, but will cross through a block to Murchison street. The route, as shown, will pass through the present locations of the Turnbow house and the Congregational Methodist church.

Also, the new road will cut several feet off lots at the west end of Murchison street. The new road will go east down Murchison, passing by the new Church of Christ building, the local clinic building, and A. T. Wright's residence. It will intersect the Angelo highway at Hank's Gulf station.

Surveying will have to be done for proper drainage along the new Murchison street route.

County officials stated that the right-of-way must be acquired; bids will be called for this summer, after which construction will get under way and the work completed in the Fall.

McHANEY TO ADDRESS MEETING JAN. 25 ON THE ECONOMIC OUTLOOK FOR 1961

On Wednesday, January 25th, in the court room of the court house at 2:00 p.m., John G. McHaney, Extension economist, will talk to producers and businessmen and ladies on the economic outlook for 1961.

Prior to joining the Agricultural Extension Service in 1946, Mr. McHaney served as economist with the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. His work as Extension economist deals primarily with the economics of agriculture. He works closely with economic trends affecting agricultural prices and much of his time is spent in discussing economic trends before various civic and farm meetings over

Cotton Ginning Nearing 5,000

Books at the Mikeska gin Tuesday showed that 4833 bales of cotton had been ginned in the 1960 crop.

Scattered loads continue to dribble in.

Ray Bruton is still gathering some irrigated cotton and has a crew of hands on the job. He estimates that he still has 40 to 50 bales to go.

Bob and Jack Reynolds have finished their cotton harvest. Moore and Smith have abandoned what was left of their cotton. It was so badly weather-whipped that they decided it was not worth gathering.

We understand that Nick Jurecek and Leonard Lloyd still have some cotton to come, but we were unable to get an estimate of how much.

These, together with a scattering of other bales over the county, will probably bring the season's crop to 5,000 bales. This compares favorably with last year, since this year's acreage was smaller.

The March of Dimes drive for the National Foundation is continuing this month under the chairmanship of Fred Watson, and will culminate in the Mothers' March the night of Tuesday, Jan. 31.

More on the drive will be given in next week's Success.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ray and family from San Angelo spent the week end with Mrs. Elizabeth Powell.

Claim 13% Of This County's Votes Were Disqualified

There were 121 Schleicher county citizens who failed to have their vote counted in the Presidential election November 8. The votes were disqualified mainly because the voters had failed to scratch out the Constitution and Prohibition Party candidates.

This figure, representing some 13% of the total vote of the county, and other statistical information pertaining to voting in this area, were released recently from Republican State Headquarters in Houston. The results of the study have been revealed in an effort to apprise Texans of the dangers of careless voting, and to point up the peculiarities in our state election laws which have contributed to an abnormally high vote disqualification.

The report states that there are two election laws which contradict one another. Art. 6.06 of the Election Code provides that the voter shall mark out the names of all candidates he does not wish to vote for, but that the failure to do so shall not invalidate the ballot if the intention of the voter is clear in the opinion of the election judge. Art. 8.21, however, provides that no ballot shall be counted if the candidates for more than one party are left unscratched.

Since, apparently, both laws cannot be applied, the individual Precinct Judge is left with the burden of deciding which law is just. This inconsistency in the law has contributed to the irregular pattern of vote disqualification between not only counties, but between precincts within counties.

For instance, within this county, returns from Precinct 2-B showed no voters disqualified from a total of 29 votes cast. Precinct 1, on the other hand, had 90 votes "thrown out" of a total of 605 cast, or about 15% disqualified.

Other illustrative figures in this county include Precinct 4-A with 6% votes not counted; Precinct 2-A with 13% not counted; Precinct 4-B with 12% not counted; and Precinct 3 with 13 votes disqualified.

The report pointed out that even under ideal conditions it's reasonable to expect a small percentage of votes to be improperly marked. However, in the opinion of the investigating group, human error could not be responsible for such wild fluctuations in vote "throw out." Instead, they credit the ambiguous election laws for these wide variances.

In the whole state variations of from no "throw outs" in 411 precincts to as high as 63% of the votes disqualified in Anderson county were cited.

The fact that only 1½% of the votes were disqualified in Starr county as opposed to 25% "throw out" in Waller county would further indicate that irregular interpretation of the Election Code was a factor.

Purpose of the report to each county from Republican Headquarters was described as non-partisan, and in no way intended to reflect on the recent election contest. The objectives of the report, which would benefit either party, were:

1. Make the public aware of the necessity of voting carefully and properly.

2. Arouse public sentiment for modernization and simplification of existing Texas election laws through action by the Texas Legislature.

Arbor Day To Be Observed January 20

Arbor Day, by official proclamation of Governor Price Daniel, will be observed in Texas, Friday, January 20.

Governor Daniel in his proclamation said, "The 51st Legislature by resolution designated the third Friday in January each year as Arbor Day and urged that attention be given to planting and cultivation of forest, shade and ornamental trees throughout the state.

"The State of Texas derives many benefits from its trees, whether grown as a forest crop, used as a wildlife habitat, planted for protection of the soil, or cultivated as landscaping.

"Protection of so valuable a resource from the ravages of forest fires and disease and renewal thru annual planting must be assured.

"THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate Friday, January 20, 1961, as ARBOR DAY in Texas, and urge all Texans, and particularly the public schools, to observe this occasion appropriately in the interest of our State and Nation."

Present at the signing of the proclamation at Austin were Marvin Angle, president of the Texas Forestry Association, and D. A. Anderson, head, research and education department of the Texas Forest Service.

Arbor Day was first observed in Nebraska, January 4, 1872. In Texas the occasion was first celebrated February 22, 1889, in the community of Temple. Now, 72 years later, this tree-lined city is a memorial to all men who protect and replenish rather than destroy this natural resource for future generations.

This year, as in the past, the Texas Forest Service will assist schools and other organizations in arranging special Arbor Day programs.

"The South may have lost the Civil War, but it is going to win the Centennial" one author was inspired to write recently concerning the four and a half year-long Civil War Centennial which was officially launched on Sunday, January 8.

And chances are he was pretty close to being right for the states of the old Confederacy have taken the lead in preparing for the Centennial and the preparations are expected to bear fruit in the form of millions of tourist dollars. In fact, tourism during the next four and half years will probably become the South's second largest industry.

Each of the old Confederate states, as well as most of the other states in the Union, have set up elaborate organizations to plan and execute observances of both local and national significance. Virginia alone will spend $1,387,000 on re-enactments, observances and commemorative ceremonies under the direction of its Civil War Centennial Commission. Many other Southern states will follow suit as their Centennial Commissions plan and carry out elaborate ceremonies.

The Centennial observance got off to a rousing start with ceremonies in many parts of the nation including special programs in churches all across the land and a special message from President Eisenhower calling on all Americans to participate in the greatest commemoration ever to be staged in this country.

The special programs, all designed to call attention to the Centennial, were expected to inspire Americans to a greater appreciation of the privileges they share because their ancestors of a century ago were able to stack arms after a destructive war, lay aside their differences, and work together in building the mightiest nation on earth.

Church bells all across the land tolled the eleven o'clock hour as a symbol that the Centennial had begun and clergymen of all faiths, backed by a special booklet prepared by the National Centennial Commission, went into their pulpits to call attention to the "Times That Tried Men's Souls."

Three of the most elaborate ceremonies were those at the tomb in New York of General U. S. Grant, at Lexington, Va., at the tomb of General Robert E. Lee, and at the Citadel in Charleston, S. C., where a three-day program was under way marking the firing on the Federal ship, "Star of the West" by cadets from that school.

These are only the beginning of a long program of activities which will be designed to commemorate events of both local and national significance and we'll be hearing much about them in the months to come.

This writer's name is on the mailing list of most of the Centennial Commissions of the various states and hardly a week passes that we fail to get copies of materials being published by these commissions. It's interesting to note the many activities going on in these states and also to notice the names of the commissions. Most of the states call their organizations simply a "Civil War Centennial Commission." But North and South Carolina refer to their state group as "Confederate Centennial" Commissions and Mississippi calls hers "The Mississippi Commission on the War Between the States."

A staggering 11.7 billion dollars are spent for meals outside of the home each year in the United States among more than 200,000 eating places including restaurants, cafeterias, lunch counters and hot dog stands according to Texas Restaurant Association estimates.

The food service industry now ranks fourth among all American industries accounting for billions of dollars in buildings, equipment and payrolls each year.

Estimates place the number of eating establishments in Texas at around 12,000 to 13,000.

Assuring safe standards and quality of this vast amount of food service is the responsibility of food inspectors operating under local ordinances.

Generally local ordinances are based on minimum standards and recommendations set by state and national health authorities who keep abreast of latest developments in the food handling industry.

Education is the keynote of safe food handling practices in local areas.

Local health departments conduct foodhandling courses aimed at instructing foodhandlers in safe methods of food service—ranging from the right way to wash glasses to the proper temperature for storing lettuce.

For areas not served by a local health department or maintaining its own food service course, the State Health Department's Public Health Education Division maintains a team of highly trained foodhandling instructors who travel about the state conducting foodhandling courses in cities of varying population.

These three-day courses are directed toward every phase of food service, but concentrate on safe and sanitary handling of various food which need special care and attention.

The major rule is: hot thing, hot; and cold things, cold.

The urgency for proper sterilization of utensils is also stressed and the various bacteria responsible for the majority of food poisoning are described and identified.

Understanding and appreciating the danger existing in food contaminated with bacteria organisms enables the food handler to conscientiously guard against them for the better health of his customers.

We had refreshments by Kay Sanders. We discussed our hospitality badge on manners. We had Taps and adjourned.—Kathy Carlman, reporter.

On the eve of inauguration the Washington air is filled with excitement and suspense. With a million people expected for the event, it's a sell-out. The swearing-in will take place on the east side of the Capitol building, recently extended by 40 feet. This marked the first addition to the historic structure in nearly 100 years. The last enlargement project was dedicated with a speech by Daniel Webster, then a U. S. Senator.

I have been privileged to witness five inaugurations—FDR for his third and fourth terms, Truman once, and Eisenhower twice. Roosevelt's fourth Inauguration took place at the White House, with the crowd standing on the lawn below the second floor balcony. That one was quiet and simple, with no fanfare, no parade, and little oratory.

Ike's first Inaugural was the most colorful one I have witnessed, and it marked the largest attendance in the history of such ceremonies.

But the Kennedy-Johnson Inauguration is sure to top them all. More money has been spent in planning and promoting it. Hollywood will be here in force, and the spirit of the advent of a new decade will fill the air. And, like the proceedings at the national party conventions, TV and radio will enable every home in America to have a front seat. It is indeed a marvelous age in which we live!

Home Demonstration Agent's Column

By MRS. VIDA KREKUGW

News in the world of health is being made every day. These items which follow are examples of findings and statements which have been sent to me from varying sources:

Hi-Fi Medicine? Doctors may soon be using microphones to help in the diagnosis of arthritis. Dr. Herbert Fischer of the Rehabilitation Institute in Chicago, reported at the International Congress of Physical Medicine that a microphone fastened to the knees can detect rheumatoid arthritis before any changes could show up on x-ray. According to Dr. Fischer, osteoarthritic knees give off high-frequency bursts at irregular intervals while normal knee sounds are relatively uniform in intensity, frequency and wave patterns.

Home Remedy. American medicine is undoubtedly the best in the world. Yet there are times when doctors pause to contemplate the how's and why's of the curative process. For example, Dr. Eugene P. Pendergrass of Philadelphia, recently reported to the American Roentgen Ray Society that patients with serious diseases are living in perfect comfort. "In many cases, there is a family relationship that provides a happy home and sustains the patient in his desire to get well and live as normal a life as possible. At present one does not know how to evaluate the influence of a happy home life on the course of disease." Whatever the cause, the good response is claimed a "real triumph."

Birthday Present. The average infant born in this country today can expect to live almost half again as long as one born in 1900. According to the Health Information Foundation, this extension of life is one of the most fundamental changes to affect our country in this century: postponing widowhood, decreasing the number of orphans, and adding more vigor to age. It is one result of the dynamic growth in our medical knowledge of how to prevent and treat illness. For example, infective diseases caused about 18% of the deaths in 1900; today that class of disease causes just over 1%. Nevertheless, says the Foundation, the application of new medical knowledge has imposed on the public the need for greater investment in public health measures and greater use of physicians, hospitals, drugs and all components of medical care. Each new breakthrough requires a larger investment by the public if that knowledge is to be converted to longer life and more comfort to those living with illness.

What You Don't Know Can't Hurt You. For ostriches, that philosophy may be excused. When it comes to human health, it can be dangerously false. For example, an estimated one million Americans have diabetes without knowing it. What they don't know can hurt them. To discover these unknown diabetics, Diabetes Detection Campaigns have been waged in many communities. For each diabetic discovered—about one out of every 20 persons tested—from $15 to $75 is spent in the campaign. The expense is justified, according to Dr. Frederick C. Goetz of the University of Minnesota Medical School. If the diabetic can be reached in time, much disability and grief can be avoided. Diabetes can be present without symptoms and it is these diabetics especially whom Detection Campaigns hope to move to see a physician—without delay.

What To Do With a Baby Wail. The first three months of baby's life are the hardest—on the parents. Often, just as parents are gaining a bit of confidence in their new role, colic strikes—turning their bundle of joy into a screaming, purple-faced and agonized infant. Pacing the floor, losing sleep, the parents feel absolutely helpless. But help is at hand, according to Dr. William D. Liddle, Jr., of Fredericksburg, Va. He conducted a study of 28 colicky babies, aged 11 to 70 days, all of whom were at home under their mothers' care. One group of babies received Bonadoxin drops, the other group receiving sugar water. To make the test objective, neither group of mothers knew whether they were giving the medication or the sugar water. "In view of the human and chance factors involved," says Dr. Liddle, "the results were particularly impressive." 14 of the 15 babies receiving Bonadoxin improved notably. (The 15th baby was later found to have a milk allergy and improved dramatically when switched to a non-milk diet.) Ten of the 13 babies on sugar water showed no improvement while three did improve. Fruit-flavored Bonadoxin drops, Dr. Liddle concludes, are "of considerable value in the treatment of infant colic."

All children who are six years old on or before September 1, 1961, but will not be 18 or older on or before that date should be counted in this census. It is important that all children six to 18 be counted in this census. The child should be counted even though he may not be in school and even though he may be married.

The Church of Christ In Eldorado

"The churches of Christ salute you." Rom. 16:16.

If you sincerely wanted to reach a certain goal, would you turn away because you could not take all the required steps in one giant stride?

Whether you are building a house, writing a book, educating a child or saving your soul, it is logical to feel that your task can only be accomplished step by step.

The attainment of a ripe Christian character, a humble heart, and a patience and steadfastness necessary to salvation may seem a long way off to you. But these are not attained suddenly. Step by step, one day at a time, one problem at a time, gradually and consistently a person grows into God's service. "Perfecting holiness in the fear of God" takes time, just as learning to be more efficient at shooting a gun, operating a machine, or acquiring the skill of a surgeon are attained after days of study and patience.

Yes, all worthwhile things must be begun, and the man that will not take that first step will never travel the thousand miles. One first step you may be failing to take now is that of coming to church, obeying the gospel and beginning the Christian life.

Behold, now is the acceptable time; behold now is the day of salvation" (II Cor. 6:2). Now is the time to act.

But, "He that observeth the wind shall not sow; and he that regardeth the clouds shall not reap" (Eccl. 11:4), and you can waste your life and eternity by failing to take this first important step.

Why wait? Go to church, and begin this journey you know you should start, and which you know you must begin, or else pay dearly for your failure in the afterlife. —H. B. Bilbo.

Austin.—Texas' 57th Legislature began on a note that's likely to continue for some time—difficulty over money.

Many House members felt their colleagues had made an awkward start in an awkward situation when they voted themselves pay raises as the first item of business. House voted 97-to-45 to put into effect the $4,800 a year legislative salaries made possible when the people approved a constitutional amendment last November.

Objectors were quick to point out that (1) the state general revenue fund was at that moment $85,249,951 in the red and (2) many lawmakers campaigned on an "economy in government" platform.

Rep. Raymond Bartram of New Braunfels said he felt the people would rather the legislators take care of teacher salary raises and medical assistance for the aged before spending extra money on themselves.

H. B. 1, the legislative salary and expense bill, would divert some $2,500,000 from the cigarette tax and drivers license funds. Money had to be "found" since the general revenue fund, as fast as it comes in, has to be used to pay the state's "hot checks."

Down the road are even more fireworks as the legislature searches for $200 million-plus to take care of the wants of other state agencies and services.

Turman Speaker

Farmers and teachers have one of their own in one of the most important of state offices.

Rep. James Turman of Gober was elected Speaker of the House by a vote of 83-to-66. Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen, whose support was largely from conservative House members, was the losing candidate.

Turman and his family operate a 103-acre farm in Fannin county. He is a former grade school teacher and worked his way to a doctor of philosophy degree in education. For a time he was assistant to the president of Texas Women's University at Denton.

As Speaker, Turman's first big job is appointing House committees, due to go into action about January 23. By his selections, he can influence to a considerable degree how certain legislation will be handled.

Senator Roberts Honored

Sen. Ray Roberts of McKinney is president pro tempore of the Senate for the present session.

His job, largely honorary, is to preside over the Senate in the absence of the lieutenant governor. Also, he is second in line of succession to the governorship. By tradition, during each president pro tem's term, the governor and lieutenant governor leave the state so the senate president can serve as "governor for a day."

Senator Roberts, a World War II Naval hero, is a farmer and realtor.

Grist For The Mill

Texas Legislative Council, an influential joint House-Senate study group, will offer a mass of proposals for new legislation.

Among recommendations: 1. Some streamlining, but not a wholesale re-writing of the state constitution. This will be a disappointment to groups working for steps toward a new constitutional convention.

2. Limitations on the annexation powers of cities and towns.

3. Increased facilities for juvenile guidance and care, including a home for dependent Negro children, facilities for mentally ill juveniles and regional training centers for delinquent youths.

4. Higher minimum coverage requirements or automobile insurance. Present minimum is $5,000. A raise to $10,000 or $20,000 was suggested.

Another study group, a special Senate committee, recommends removal of some of the restrictions on investment of the permanent school fund. It suggests investments in corporate securities and real estate mortgages, guaranteed by the federal government.

New State Building

Contracts have been awarded for construction of a second new State Office Building just north of the Capitol.

It will be a four-story granite building with 147,205 square feet. Cost is to be $2,076,102. It will be known as State Office Building No. 2 and will house the Game and Fish Commission, State Board of Plumbing Examiners and some other agencies now scattered over Austin.

This is one of six buildings in the current program to create a unified government center, clustered around the State Capitol. Already in use are State Office Building No. 1, the State Courts Building and the Texas Employment Commission Building. Archives Building is to be finished soon, and a new Insurance Building is due to start this year.

Mrs. Lynn Alexander was in the Clinic-Hospital early this week.

Delta Engineering Men Arrive To Work On Sinclair Plant

About 15 Delta Engineering men came in last week end to work on a job at the Sinclair-Skelly plant in the northern part of the county. Some of the men have their trailer houses parked, and others have rented houses over town.

Their job at the plant is to include setting of new vessels, setting of generator, oil and water knockout, and absorber, to increase plant capacity.

Delta Engineering has set up an office near Sinclair's, at the plant site. They may have about 40 men on the job later on. They were the firm who built the plant back in 1956.

Work is expected to take several months.

West Texas Juvenile Plan

Juvenile delinquency—and what to do about it—received a thorough verbal going over as the recently formed Permian Basin Juvenile Council met here Thursday.

Representing a dozen counties in this area, the council is made up of juvenile court judges and juvenile officers.

The most concrete proposal came from Winkler County Judge W. E. Cook, who is chairman of the council. He suggested formation of a multi-county "juvenile district" which would operate an area detention home for delinquent youths.

It would be designed primarily for first offenders with cases not considered serious enough to warrant sentencing to the state reformatory at Gatesville. —Fort Stockton Pioneer.

Rites Are Held Monday For J. G. Bird, 65

Funeral services were held at 2:30 Monday afternoon in the First Baptist church for James Gordon Bird, 65, who was a retired petroleum engineer.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. D. C. DuBose, officiated. Pall bearers were Lum Davis, Sam Henderson, Bob McWhorter, Bob Page, W. T. Parker, Palmer West, and John Rae Powell, all of Eldorado; and Herrin Ramsey of San Angelo.

Interment was made in the Eldorado cemetery under direction of the Robert Massie Funeral Home.

Mr. Bird died at 5:29 p.m. Saturday following a long illness.

He was born April 14, 1895, at Salt Lake City, Utah. He attended the University of Southern California and the University of Utah.

He was married to Lelah Bell Davis, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Davis of Eldorado.

Coming to Texas in the Twenties, he assisted in the geological explorations of the old Big Lake Oil Company and later the Plymouth Oil Company.

He was a veteran of World War I and helped develop the Turner Valley oil field for the Canadian government during World War II.

Bird had engaged in the oil business in West Texas more than 30 years, and qualified as a Permian Basin Petroleum Pioneer in a special observance held at Midland in October, 1959.

Mr. Bird was a Mason and a Shriner. Masonic graveside rites were held following his funeral.

Out-of-town people attended the funeral from Sterling City, Alpine, and Midland.

His wife, Lelah Bell, plans to continue operating the ranch, which is located about 10 miles north of Sterling City.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

How spiritual awakening brings freedom will be the topic of a free public lecture to be given in San Angelo by Sylvia N. Poling of Phoenix, Arizona, Sunday, January 22nd at 4:00 p.m. The lecture is sponsored by First Church of Christ, Scientist, San Angelo, and is to be given in the church edifice at 720 South Abe. The title of the lecture is, "Christian Science Reveals the Door to Life more Abundant."

Miss Poling became interested in Christian Science as a college student. Active in public education for a number of years, she holds degrees from Arizona State University and has also studied at the University of California at Los Angeles and the University of Southern California. She resigned from the teaching profession in 1950 to devote her full time to the public practice of Christian Science healing.

"YE MUST BE BORN AGAIN"—JOHN 3:7

ANTIOCH BAPTIST CHURCH

FUNDAMENTAL AND PREMILLENNIAL

TO THE UNSAVED — Jesus said, "Ye must be born again." There is no other way to Heaven. Trust Him as Saviour and Lord before it is too late.

TO THE SAVED — The Bible in so many places teaches us how we should live as professing Christians. Read in I John 2:15-17 for example. Live your life so as others can tell you are a Christian.

Sincerely in Christ,

Evangelist George Reesor — Pastor

Reesor Accepts Call To Oklahoma Church April, 1962, It Set For Iraan Road Completion

George Reesor, who has been pastor of the Antioch Baptist church here for some time, this week announced that he was resigning from the local church and has accepted a call to serve a church in Oklahoma City.

Mr. Reesor reports that his new church is in a new section of Oklahoma City, has been organized for just three years, and has a new brick building.

He will preach his first sermon in his new church this Sunday, returning next week to move his family to his new charge. He expects to preach his final message in the Antioch church here the night of Wednesday, January 25.

The Reesors have four children: Bill, who was a 1930 grad of Eldorado High School, and is now stationed at Chanute Base, Illinois, with the Air Force; Larry, a Junior this year in EHS, who expects to stay about two weeks before moving to Oklahoma City; Nancy, a third grader; Victor, who is 17 months old.

Highway engineers reported that Eldorado promoters recently that April of 1962 is the new target date for completion of the new direct highway to Iraan. This date is several months earlier than had previously been estimated.

Still to be done is building of the final 8-mile stretch of roadway, on which work is now under way. Another major obstacle will be building of the bridge across the Pecos river.

Also being worked on is designating Ranch Road 33 west from Eldorado as an extension of the Menard highway, Highway 29.

Eldon Calk, Howard Derrick, and Paul Page discussed these matters at a recent meeting in Menard.

STUDY CLUB MEETS

The Eldorado Study club met Jan. 12 at the Memorial Building. There were 13 present.

Mrs. Dean Murr was hostess. The program was on the election of officers, with Mrs. Frances Ledingham presiding. Mrs. Helen Maness also gave a program on the Bible with a Bible quiz. —Rep.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

Modern farming and ranching is "big business" and it is becoming increasingly important that farmers and ranchers keep good business accounts and records.

Most agricultural operations are on a calendar-year basis and now is the best time to resolve to keep complete and accurate farm and ranch records beginning in January, 1961.

The requirements for an adequate system of business accounts for your farm or ranch are simple and inexpensive.

1. A corner of some room furnished with a desk having several good drawers for bills, receipts, and office supplies.

2. An inexpensive farm record book, a supply of pencils & scratch paper. Your county agent can assist you with the selection of a suitable record book.

3. A few minutes each day or a few hours per month is all the time required to keep your accounts up to date.

The end of the year will find you prepared for income tax filing. You will have your own records to evaluate the year's progress and you will have records in which to base next year's plans for your farm or ranch.

Ranchers wanting to get best results for enero-toxemia vaccine in lamb production should vaccinate the pregnant ewe six weeks before the starting of lambing. This practice has undoubtedly paid dividends to many producers in the county and is gaining as an established practice.

Enero-toxemia, or "clabber-belly" as referred to in many instances, is caused by a bacteria in the digestive tract of lambs and sheep of all ages. When sheep overeat, this bacteria becomes active, causing the small intestines to deteriorate. There is no cure but vaccine and management plays a big part.

Marking of lambs early helps because you separate the lamb from the feed supply, namely, the mother's milk. Any time a rancher is losing lambs with "milk colic," clabber belly, the working of sheep or keeping from the feed supply lessens the activity of the bacteria in the small intestine.

This bacteria is present in all sheep, regardless of age.

Ewes during the breeding season or during the gestation period should never be vaccinated for blue tongue. Vaccination for blue tongue will cause some ewes not to breed, "sluffing" of lambs or may cause a percentage of "freak" lambs or dearranged lambs.

We usually tell of the faults we see in others because it takes so much less time than it would to tell our own.

The 1961 Farmer's Tax Guides were mailed to all producers in the county. Should you have not received yours, a few more copies are available at the county agent's office. This publication could save you dollars and cents by reading and adhering to.

Range management deals with the grazing use, care and improvement of native grasslands to obtain the maximum livestock and wildlife production consistent with the conservation of range resources.

The most pressing needs at present are practices that annually fit into a good range management program, such as a rotation deferred grazing period—whereby 3 or 4 months of each year some part of a ranch is constantly being deferred. In a period of four years under this system a pasture has been deferred every minute of the year—making more feed for livestock and gaining in better plants than if it had been deferred 6, 8, or 12 months consecutively. This gives all species of plants a chance to do their best; then too, there is a wide variation in rainfall by months.

This practice is backed by research and active result demonstrations. This type of rotation does not necessarily mean selling of a large amount of stock, but stocking for the maximum of beef and lamb by pounds, overall, the most profitable operation.

Then there is the constant battle against brush of all kinds and noxious weeds in this county; namely: mesquite, hoarhound, tasseljuillo, and prickly pear.

The county ASC committee is working into its program, the control of these invaders with chemicals for 1961.

Co-operation: collective action for mutual benefit or common benefit. The definition as given by Webster. For some of us that have been in the business for a long time would word the definition as follows: Co-operation is a one-way street; be sure you are headed in the right direction.

... AND "LAYS MONEY ON THE LINE"
TO BACK UP THE BELIEF

Why is our faith backed by dollars?

Very simply, it is because the Southwest is growing 25% faster than the nation, and the WTU service area is the CENTER OF THE SOUTHWEST.

As a result, one of our major projects is designed to stimulate this growth, and another is designed to add service facilities to meet it. These projects are described briefly below. We will keep you informed of their progress as we go along, since they are of vital importance to this community.

It is our conviction that with faith, vision and cooperative effort on the part of all of us, the Center of the Southwest has a sound foundation for GROWTH UNLIMITED in the years ahead.

OUR AREA DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM PROMOTES

Growth Unlimited

For many years we have been engaged in a program designed to inform business executives about the industrial advantages of the Center of the Southwest.

This activity is being continued in 1961 with an expanded area development program.

It includes a new series of ads running in a number of national publications, which depict the growth potential of this area and the states it serves.

The national advertising schedule, the information brochures we are publishing, the trips we will make to industrial centers, and the fine cooperative spirit of communities like this one, all combine to promote GROWTH UNLIMITED.

$50 MILLION EXPANSION PREPARES FOR

Growth Unlimited

On the shores of Oak Creek Lake in Coke County, construction is progressing rapidly on a large new WTU generating station.

It is tangible evidence of the expansion being made in our generating and distribution facilities, in anticipation of coming growth in the Center of the Southwest.

An area expansion program, costing in excess of $50 million, is well under way, and will continue through the months ahead. It will permit us to keep pace with the growing needs of this growing area.

It is proof that here is GROWTH UNLIMITED.
