NUMBER 7

This is the present 52-year-old Masonic Lodge hall on South Main St.

Special Masonic Meeting To Launch New Building Program

A George Washington birthday supper and meeting a week from tonight will officially launch a building campaign for the local Masonic Lodge. Having been in the talking stage for some time, the campaign will eventually provide for a new Lodge hall on lots just north of the court house block, near Earl Parker Motors. The Masonic Lodge already owns the two lots on the corner.

Masons from Eldorado and surrounding area will attend the George Washington meeting next Thursday night. The supper will be served in the Memorial Building at 6:00 o'clock and the meeting will be held at 7:30 in the Masonic hall. There will be degree work at the special called meeting, in addition to outlining of plans for the building campaign.

Although specific plans for the building will be worked out by a building committee yet to be appointed, a modern structure incorporating kitchen and dining facilities, along with the Lodge hall, is being planned.

The present Lodge hall was erected by the Masons and B. E. Earle back in 1909 and is a landmark structure on South Main street here in Eldorado. Mr. Earle operated a drug store on the lower floor, subsequently selling out to L. M. Hoover, who continued the drug business there for a number of years. The lower floor has been vacant since the Eldorado Success offices were moved out last May.

Eldorado's early-day telephone system was operated from a switchboard located in the front room of the second floor. A few years ago the Masons remodeled the front rooms and installed kitchen facilities.

Need has been felt for some time by the Masons for eventually building a more modern Lodge hall and the special called meeting next week will "get the ball rolling."

J. T. Jackson is Worshipful Master this year of the local Lodge No. 890, AF&AM.

It is expected that the Eastern Star chapter will help with contributions for the building fund drive.

Five Road Employees Are Laid Off By County

At their meeting Monday, Schleicher county commissioners ordered the cutting down of the county road crew, with laying off of five employees, in an economy move. The order on the Court minutes states:

"It is hereby ordered by the Court that five road employees be relieved of their duties as of March 1, A. D., 1961, and that they be allowed a vacation effective February 15, 1961."

Other business taken care of Monday included:

Surplus fencing materials were sold to Frank Bradley and Duwain Sauer, and bids were rejected on fencing wire.

The Court authorized $112 for repairs to the banquet room of the Memorial Building.

The following Election officers were appointed for 1961:

- Voting Precinct No. 1, Memorial Building. C. N. Shaw, judge; Mrs. Weatherly Kinser, assistant judge;
- 2-A, Wool House. Gene McCalla and Mrs. Josephine Woodward.
- 2-B, Cooper Gas. Mrs. Elsie Frieske and Mrs. Arch Ory.
- 3, County Barn. Mrs. Curtis Short and Mrs. C. N. Clark.

- 4-A, Mittel residence. W. F. West and Mrs. Perry Mittel.
- 4-B, Permian Basin. Clemens Sauer and Mrs. Clemens Sauer.
- 5, Absentee. Robert L. McWhorter, judge.

The First National Bank of Eldorado was designated as depository of Schleicher County funds.

The Court authorized the sheriff's office to pay $200 per month for one extra stenographer, from March 1, 1961, to April 15, 1961, to be employed during the rush period of auto registration and reports.

Also ordered was payment of right of way damages incurred on F-M 2129, at rate of $100 per acre for farm land and $50 per acre for grass land, upon a duly executed right of way Easement.

Laymen's Revival Starts Tomorrow At The First Baptist Church Here

LESLIE JOHNSON

Laymen of the First Baptist church have been busy as bees for the past two weeks making preparations for a three-day revival that will get under way at the church tomorrow (Friday) night.

Lay speaker for the 3-day event will be Leslie Johnson of San Angelo, a retired driller for the Gulf Oil Co. Mr. Johnson is an active layman in the Bellmore Baptist church, San Angelo, and has been called upon frequently for speaking engagements, and has served churches a number of times as interim pastor.

He brings a powerful, down-to-earth message. It has been pointed out that while laymen are promoting this revival, it is definitely not a "stag" affair, but has been planned for everyone, men, women, and children.

Frank O'Banion will lead the singing, and the song service will feature a male choir and a male quartet.

The services are planned for three days only—Friday, Saturday, and Sunday—each night at 7:30.

New Babies

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey R. Jarrett of Port Hueneme, Calif., are the parents of a girl born Feb. 4. She has been named Audrey Ann. She has a sister, Jo Ann, 8, and a brother Willie, 6.

A daughter was born Sunday, Feb. 12, to Mr. and Mrs. John Och-sner. She was born at 2:45 p.m. in a Midland hospital, and weighed 6 lbs. 14½ oz.

The Ochsners have two sons, John Dorre and Robert Frederick.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Och-sner of Eldorado and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schmidt of Slaton.

Cotton Report

The Mikeska gin was operating again Tuesday and their total at that time was 4930 bales.

The lint now coming in is of very low grade, and as was remarked by the manager—no one was making any money out of it—neither the farmer nor the ginner.

There is some more picking going on out in the country and there might be as much as 50 more bales to come.

MARRIED SATURDAY

Joe D. Reeves and Mrs. Virginia Richey, both of San Angelo, were married at 10:00 a.m. Saturday in St. Mary's Episcopal church in Eldorado, the pastor, Rev. Lea Roy Aldwell, performing the ceremony.

The couple will make their home in San Angelo.

Mr. Reeves is the older brother of Mrs. Edgar Sauer of Schleicher county.

World Day of Prayer Service To Be Observed Tomorrow

World Day of Prayer services will be held tomorrow, Friday, at 4:00 p.m. at the First Presbyterian church here in Eldorado.

Seventy-five means many things to many people—the answer to an arithmetic problem; the price of a movie; the coins that must somehow suffice to buy the day's food; a street number; a diamond anniversary; age-old, to some minds, perhaps, or maybe to others just the height of fulfillment of the years.

Seventy-five, to millions of people in 1961, means the multiplied faith and devotion of countless women. For 1961 is the seventy-fifth anniversary of the World Day of Prayer.

The act of prayer is as old as man himself and man's belief in its power as enduring as the chain of life upon this planet. The power of prayer is known to millions with abiding devotion and faith. The eagerness of people today to band together and act collectively for multiplying their strength is reflected in their effort to pray together across the vast geographical distances between them.

World Day of Prayer, sponsored in the U. S. by United Church Women of the National Council of Churches, carries with it a potential force worthy of the nuclear age in which we live. From a day set aside back in 1887 at the suggestion of one woman of one denomination to pray for the success of its home missions and to bring gifts for their support, World Day of Prayer has grown into a giant interdenominational, international prayer cycle.

Now the people of 145 countries take part and their gifts help provide schools, colleges, hospitals, doctors, nurses, teachers, vacation church schools, day-care centers, mobile clinics, scholarships and spiritual nurture in America and in many lands overseas.

In our community, services will be held at the First Presbyterian church at 4:00 p.m., Friday, February 17.

Seventy-five years have passed and the observance has gathered the faithful on all of the earth's far-flung continents and distant lands. On February 17, as the Day rises west of the international date line, on the island of Tonga, Queen Salote will call her people to their trust with God. As the sun travels in the sky and the day grows older, from other islands, from mountain hamlets, from lonely plains and verdant valleys, from noisy cities and from millions of fire sides, more and more prayers will rise to strengthen the upward thrust until, in the far north, at the top of the world, the Christians on St. Lawrence Island in the Bering Sea will add their amen to the great universal chord.

In America more than 22,000 communities hold special services. Millions of men, women and children will join in the same prayer of thanksgiving, repentance, and appeal for a peaceful world that is being voiced simultaneously in Europe, Asia, Africa and Latin America. Services are held in schools, hospitals, banks, factories, department stores, and prisons as well as in churches and cathedrals.

Governors and mayors issue special proclamations citing the World Day of Prayer. Entire communities participate as churches ring church bells, and factories and fire departments sound their sirens.

Each year United Women seeks out Christian leaders in different lands to prepare the service. This anniversary service based on the theme, "Forward Through the Ages," was prepared in the U. S. by Sue Waddell, former associate general secretary, Division of Foreign Missions, National Council of Churches.

As prayers rise around the world in 60 languages, and more than 1,000 dialects, there will be a complete band of prayer encircling the earth. Some who pray cannot read; some will be hungry or cold; others will have all the material comforts that wealth provides.

The World Day of Prayer draws in its wake gifts that are material as well as a dedication of the spirit. The offerings are equally divided between projects of the Divisions of Home and Foreign Missions, National Council of Churches. Were it not for these World Day of Prayer offerings, the interdenominational ministries in the U.S., Alaska, and Puerto Rico would be curtailed, as would the extensive educational medical and religious work around the world.

When the World Day of Prayer celebrates its Diamond Jubilee this year marking 75 years of unbroken observance, one of the goals is an offering of $750,000 for the regular on-going projects and for two anniversary specials. The one is a massive literature program for the new Africa, with a Christian training center for African writers, the production of half-a-million books written by Africans for Africans, and the first stage of a co-ordinated program of training African writers in the special techniques of radio script writing. The other "75th" special is a creative mission in Alaska, our newest state. Here specialists in church planning and social welfare will assist Alaska's growing churches to develop a sense of community and a basic correlated strategy of Christian ministry and witness.

To further emphasize the anniversary celebration, Prayer Fellowships are being organized in every part of the world. Women will come together to meditate upon the power of prayer, to share a Biblical study of God's action with history, to consider the crucial problems of their own geographical area, to discover how God is at work in the midst of these problems and to seek His aid in finding solutions for them and to pool their spiritual and material efforts in a great drive for truly Christian action.

Thus from the silent prayer of each individual, to that of communities gathering in a place of worship on February 17, to the Prayer Fellowships meeting on behalf of huge geographical areas, the united effort of Christians to find God's purpose for this world will come full circle. Everyone can be a part of this fellowship, wherever he is, on Friday, February 17.

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

Cotton is a commodity which creates a good "multiplier" effect in the economy, because most of the cotton farmer's dollar is usually dropped into the money stream of the community. Though the dollar's identity may be lost, it tends to circulate through all the avenues of trade and commerce.

The loss of cotton income, on the other hand, can adversely affect a community's whole economy. For that reason unused cotton allotments are a matter of community concern.

The law under which cotton farmers operate contains voluntary release and reallocation of 1961 cotton allotments.

April 7 is the final date for Schleicher county farmers to release allotments at the county ASC office. April 7 is also the final date for producers to file claim for additional allotments. That is, acreage in addition to the cotton allotment already established for a farm.

The 1960 wool and lamb marketing year ends March 31, 1961. Applications for the incentive must be filed not later than April 30, 1961.

The county's farms and ranches will hum with activity once weather conditions become favorable for outdoor activities. Don't forget your safety manners. They could save a life.

The average weight for 148 fine wool lambs was 64.02 per lamb when placed on feed in October by 4-H and FFA boys. Fed 108 days, including one death loss the average weight was 97.22 for an average daily gain of .322 pounds per head daily.

151 crossbreds averaged 69.7 pounds per lamb placed on feed in October with 110 day feeding period. The average weight was 104.2 pounds. The average daily gain was .319 pounds per lamb per day. There were four death losses.

The highest daily gain was 496 on 11 fine wool lambs, owned by Joe Hardin and bred by L. Steen.

The highest gain in the crossbred lambs was 425 a pen of seven lambs fed by John McGregor and bred by his father, Walter McGregor and grandfather, John Webster.

Most of the buyers of agricultural land in 1961 will purchase for either residence, investment, speculation, recreation or expansion. To many buyers, the agricultural productivity of the land is a secondary consideration and the price paid is justified on some other basis. As a result of these "outside" pressures, the price of agricultural land in Texas will continue to rise.

Things that the gardener should do around the house this month:

1. Fertilize fruit trees, pecans and shade trees with nitrogen and phosphorus. Begin at the drip line and sink a crow bar 6 to 10 inches deep and apply 2 to 3 tablespoons of fertilizer. Apply one pound for every inch of diameter of trunk. Put the fertilizer in the root zone.

2. Prune rose bushes and shrubbery severely for good growth and beautiful blooms. Fertilize as mentioned in one above.

3. Treat lawns with chlordane for grub control now or first week in March. The grubs are easier to kill.

4. Prepare the seed bed for early vegetables. Vegetables should be side dressed after planting—using 3 lbs of nitrogen fertilizer per 100 feet of row space.

5. Plant unballing fruit trees and pecans now. After the middle of March plant the balled trees. Here is where a savings can be made on trees as the balled trees require much time and labor by the nursery.

6. Above all! Gather all pecan hulls and burn. Every pecan hull you cut into will have the walnut worm. The pecan hull is its source of food.

7. Last but not least. Buy your insecticides now for both fruit and garden vegetables, because you will have fruit and vegetable insects. Be sure you or the neighbor owns a sprayer.

8. There are only a few days left for the use of oil emulsions, or lime-sulfur solutions to be applied to fruit trees, pecans, shrubbery or shade trees.

If you are successful, remember that somewhere, sometime, someone gave you a lift or an idea that started you in the right direction. Remember, also, that you are indebted to life until you help some less fortunate person, just as you were helped.

NEWSLETTER

From U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough

Dear Fellow Texans:

Over the past ten years, despite our state's over-all population growth, 144 of our 254 Texas counties have lost population. Many of the counties which lost population are ones where family farm income has been low and unemployment heavy. The last official count showed that we had 30 counties in Texas where the average net cash farm income per family was less than $1,000 a year.

With costs of living and farming at an all time high, thousands have been driven off their farms and into the cities to look for work. Instead of finding the steady work they need, too often they simply join the ranks of the jobless in the city. This has caused "spotted prosperity." While employment and business have generally improved in some areas, particularly in larger cities, the people in too many of our historic Texas cities and counties are seeing hard times.

For example, one of the most serious job shortages in our state exists at Texarkana, a city not far from my own East Texas community of Chandler, in Henderson county. For many months there has been a proportionately large number of men without work in Texarkana. Some 2,975 workers, which is 8.1 percent of the entire work force there, were unable to find jobs in December. In December, total statewide unemployment stood at 191,500, an increase of 32,100 jobless workers over the 159,400 Texans who were job hunting in December, 1959. We are fortunate that Texas hasn't had anything like the unemployment of West Virginia, Pennsylvania, and other states.

While we are grateful that the situation in Texas is no worse, we must move to assist those who are stricken and be certain that the trouble does not grow. I'm privileged to be one of the Senate co-authors with Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois, of the Area Redevelopment Bill, Senate Bill Number 1, the Administration's major proposal aimed at helping people in local areas where income is low and job opportunities are few—helping them to develop new industry and to create new jobs for their own people.

Here basically is what this Area Redevelopment Bill is designed to do:

1. It will send technical specialists to the affected areas to help plan needed improvement;

2. It will provide low interest rate loans for construction of new plant facilities.

3. It will establish vocational retraining programs for jobless workers with subsistence payment during this retraining period, to prepare them for new jobs in the new local plants requiring new skills.

This is a responsible, self-help program that is vital to our national economy. To wipe out these pockets of poverty, we have a choice. We can either seek to stimulate the over-all economy so that those people without jobs can move out of their old home towns to some other place. Or, we can rebuild the economy of that distressed town and help the local people establish and develop new industry to create new jobs in their home town environment—in other words, help local people rebuild a new community using their natural resources and strong, deep-felt ties with the past.

The Area Redevelopment Bill will help rebuild these fine areas of Texas and America which time and prosperity have passed.

Fabric wise, the new cottons achieve a wide variety of texture and weaves. Among the seasons interesting textures and weaves are: cotton with the texture of crepe. There is much interest in honeycomb piques, one color striped o-toman, raised ribbing and cotton knits. You will also find interesting moire cotton, woven cotton checks, tone on tone cotton satins, solid and paisley-printed sharkskin and jacquard-patterned cotton. Not only these, but gingham, chambrays, seersuckers, denims and sailcloths, and tickings, too remain favorite cotton fabrics.

In silk you will find nubby textures, rich-looking silk brocades, a linen-texture silk with excellent firm hand and tailoring qualities, pongees, shantung and silk prints. The African influence will be seen this spring in bold weaves as well as bold ideas such as daring colored striped herringbones and unusual diamond weaves.

Tartan plaids are among the classics which make a significant impression. They look different in such colors as ginger, vibrant pink or rust. More authentic combinations are seen in woollens, which, through tricks in wearing, achieve interesting texture.

The new natural ease look of 1961 in women's dresses comes in linen, cotton knit, silk cotton voile and in a variety of interesting blends.

The new 1961 dress is gently shaped, often above a dropped waist seaming effect. Sleevelessness, sash ties are much in evidence and sometimes it seems as if collars have disappeared altogether.

Trends in Fashion For 1961

Blazing gold is a sky-high fashion color.
 Big box pleats are a standard feature.
 The blouson look, relaxed and easy, will be seen in loose-fitting suits with a tie.
 Yellow is a coat color is very versatile, very prevalent.
 The cardigan necklines, another trademark of spring, 1961.
 The full gored skirt, marvelously mobile, makes a pretty appearance.

The fresh cream colors, terribly rich, are newer than ever.
 The important yoke is unmistakably this season's.
 A spectacular skirt is the box pleated skirt.
 Incandescent brocade, now a spring and summer fabric.
 The lowered waistline in an elegant bell-shaped column of lightweight fabric.
 Low stitched pleats, bellling out at mid hipline, create a graceful new silhouette.
 The trim zip-front closing is a smart jacket feature this spring.
 The romantic cape—loose fitting—is high fashion.
 The three-piece costume is one you can wear jacketless, with skirt and matching overblouse, doubles as a dress.

The knits stress the relaxed look. Outstanding are nubby linen cotton knits and shell-patterned wool knits which look as though they have been crocheted.

Summer camel is the new color in knits for daytime wear.

I have just given some trends in fashion for spring. Before buying, consider these items also:

1. Appearance on the wearer
2. Location of decorative lines and trimmings
3. Fit of garment on wearer
4. Cleaning possibilities.

CARD OF THANKS I wish to thank every one who sent cards and flowers while I was a patient in the Clinic-Hospital, and for the food sent in after my return home.

CARD OF THANKS The double tragedy which I experienced in the past two weeks has rendered me unable to thank personally everyone who has come to my aid.

Therefore I take this means of expressing my gratitude for the cards, flowers, and telegrams received upon the death of my daughter in Snyder, and the serious wreck of my other daughter who is still in the hospital.

Do people read these small want ads in the Success? You just did.

American History Month

In co-operation with the policy of the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, the El Dorado chapter asks that everyone observe February as American history month. The Senate Joint Resolution which is asking that the President of the United States issue a Proclamation designating February as such, remains in committee.

This was introduced by Senator Keating of New York in February of 1960. As members of the Daughters of the American Revolution, we are concerned with the promotion of the study of American History and what better start could we have than to observe as a nation the birth month of two of our most famous American Presidents? It is through our schools that we seek to promote the study of American History so that their knowledge and appreciation of our country and the heritage that is theirs, may be increased. —Rep.

Two other committees are the focus of tax interest. Proposal for a referendum on broad-based taxes at the April 4 election was referred to State Affairs Committee. Its chairman, Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline, has shown no great eagerness to get to it.

Constitutional Amendments Committee, however, moved with unusual speed. It passed out a measure that would allow the people to vote on whether they want a constitutional ban on state income and payroll taxes.

Among new money measures introduced are a 2% sales tax on items costing more than $50 and a 3% excise tax on utility companies selling gas, electricity, telephone or telegraph service. Both are by Rep. Tony Koriath of Sherman.

Water Bills Heard

Two bills aimed at making more money available for water projects met no opposition before a House committee.

One would raise from $5 million to $15 million the maximum amount the State Water Development Board could lend for a water project. Another would allow the Water Board to invest funds on hand in government securities.

Both bills, which were recommended by Gov. Price Dniel's advisory committee, were sent to subcommittee.

Investigating Panel Approved

House State Affairs Committee unanimously approved a resolution to create a new House General Investigating Committee.

Previous investigating committee, which made headlines in Beaumont and Amarillo, expired with the start of the new session.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., Director of the Department of Public Safety, and numerous Jefferson county people appeared in favor of a legislative group to watch for places where local law-enforcement fails to cope with crime.

Probably the most famous navy vessels of the Civil War were the "Monitor" and the "Merrimac," the two ships who slugged it out to a draw off Hampton Roads, Virginia, in the spring of 1862. At least their names, with that of "The Star of the West," are more familiar to Civil War fans.

But the only sea survivor of action in the great 1861-65 conflict is the "U.S.S. Constellation," which has floated in relative obscurity in the Baltimore harbor for many years.

The "Constellation," the navy's oldest warship, has been designated as the Flagship of the Civil War Centennial by National officials and plans are being made to restore the ship and on completion of the repairs, have her make a three-year cruise along the Coasts of the United States, as well as on inland waterways as the draft of vessel and clearance for masts will permit.

This information was supplied us by Joseph B. Hutchison of Arlington, Texas, who is the Texas State Chairman for the restoration of the "Constellation."

The repairs are expected to be completed by early 1962 and is being accomplished with funds raised from both businesses and individuals. To everyone who contributes $1 or more the sponsors are sending medals made of copper from the "Constellation's" original spikes and a lifetime boarding pass.

The "Constellation," was first commanded by Thoms Truxtun, often referred to as "The Father of the U. S. Navy," and was launched in 1797. After service in all America's wars up through the Civil War, the "Constellation" was relegated to obscurity in Baltimore.

But President Franklin D. Roosevelt remembered her and she was recommissioned as auxiliary flagship of Admiral King's Atlantic Fleet during World War II. In addition she has taken part in famine relief in Ireland, for world fairs, the centennial celebration of the writing of "The Star-Spangled Banner," and in many other historical events.

The "Constellation" may make calls at ports along the Texas seaboard during her Civil War Centennial cruise and after the Centennial is over, will probably be berthed permanently alongside Fort McHenry in Baltimore, the home of "The Star-Spangled Banner"—for whose constellation of stars she was named.

Those wishing to contribute to the restoration of this grand old ship of the United States Navy may send their contributions to "Constellation," Dept. FW, Baltimore 2, Md. In return they will be sent a medal struck from the original copper spikes of the old ship.

We think it would be a grand experience to climb aboard the old "Constellation."

Some weeks ago this space was devoted to a story about the Confederate statues erected on the courthouse square in many county seat towns. We mentioned that somewhere we picked up the idea that nearly all such statues faced to the north—as though watching for the Yankee invader.

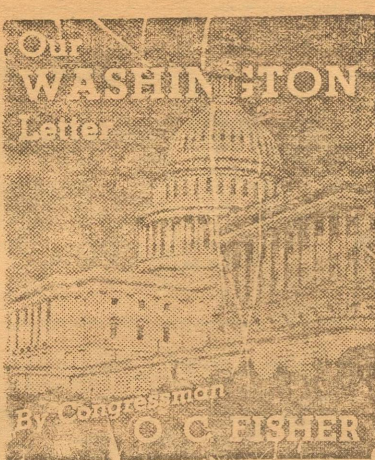

We asked readers to write and tell us about the monument in their town and several did write but so far we've found only one statue which violates the facing-north tradition. That's the one at Hillsboro, county seat of Hill county north of Waco. The statue there faces almost south.

We wish other readers would write and let us know if our idea is right or wrong. Does the Confederate statue in your town face north or some other direction?

O. E. S. MEETS MONDAY

The Eldorado Chapter 140 of Order of the Eastern Star met Feb. 13th for their regular meeting. There were 11 members present and 14 officers.

Fifty-year memberships are Mrs. Angie McCormick, who is a charter member, and Mrs. Essa Alexander Hoover and Miss John Alexander. They will be presented 50-year certificates. Mrs. W. O. Alexander and Mrs. Pat Martin were also charter members.

Two subjects of interest are being pressed right at this time to Congress, in which there is much public interest. One is a proposal to increase the minimum wage to $1.25 per hour and add about five million to coverage. Another, by Senator Paul Douglas of Chicago, would expend about $3 billion a year to help "distressed areas."

With five million unemployed, it looks like a bad time to increase the minimum wage and expand coverage. Some say that with the expanded government relief program, the tens of thousands who admittedly would be thrown out of work with the increase, welfare agencies would be able to take care of the new changes, and that it would cause more money to be circulated.

That would, of course, simply cause the government to get deeper and deeper into the welfare state business, and would solve no problems.

Likewise, even though every effort should be made, in line with good business, to help distressed areas, the better approach would seem to be to study the cause of the distress, then treat the disease rather than the symptoms. In studies conducted in several afflicted areas it has been found that factories have been closed down because of high wages and high taxes and other costs. When it is no longer profitable to operate the plant closes down and seeks other locations where the labor market is more to their liking, and unions are not so prone to engage in strikes.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Faught and Mrs. Ruby Damron visited Friday and Saturday with Mrs. Chester Damron in San Angelo.

Health Letter

A 60-year-old grandmother refused her physician's suggestion of a chest x-ray to help him diagnose her ailment.

She had heard how x-ray might affect the health of her grandchildren. They were healthy youngsters, she explained, and she wanted to keep them that way. The incident has become a classic example of a disconcerting misconception about radiant energy.

Just for the record, the physician would have thought long and seriously before ordering x-ray if the patient had been an expectant mother. But it could hardly have been dangerous for grandchildren who lived somewhere up north at the time.

Radiant energy is like fire or electricity. Used unwisely it can kill or maim. Used with caution it becomes man's servant, bringing him fabulous benefits.

For decades, radiation devices in the hands of skilled persons have been tools of unparalleled importance in medicine and dentistry. X-ray and fluoroscopic machines, properly operated, actually permit a physician or dentist to photograph the interior of the human body. "Aimed" beams of deep-penetrating rays—sometimes pushed by two million volts of electricity—may efficiently treat cancer in practically any body organ.

Within recent years industrial uses of radioactive isotopes—another type of radiant energy—have grown to enormous proportions. More than 400 individuals and firms in Texas are presently registered to use them under State Board of Health rules and regulations.

With isotopes oil men can locate underground leaks, and engineers can detect flaws in structural steel or measure the life of cutting tools. The thickness of paper, the fullness of a sealed can, the effectiveness of a washing machine, the wearing quality of floor wax can thus be gauged.

These endless advantages are the reasons for possible peril. It is simple arithmetic: the more you use anything, the greater is the chance for misuse.

But the very fact that danger exists is a sort of safety factor. Persons engaged in peacetime uses of radiation equipment and materials, acutely aware of the chances of a misuse, handle them with extreme caution.

Since radiation usage is increasing, it makes good sense for everyone to be alert. And this much is certain: Unnecessary exposure to radiation—using x-rays to judge Miss Good Posture contests and in personnel monitoring against theft of company property, or full-body x-ray as part of new baby care—is sheer folly. This phenomenal growth means there is profitable opportunity here for industry today, and above average potential for the future.

As an industry operating in and serving the CENTER OF THE SOUTHWEST, we benefit from and contribute to the growth of the area. Our KWH increase of 165% in the past decade is a vivid picture of the industrial opportunities.

Because we are a part of the area, we have information about markets, labor, taxes, climate, distribution, community attitudes and growth factors. We are prepared to compile market data, business facts and plant location studies designed for your specific needs.

THIS year, West Texas Utilities Company is expanding its area development activities because we believe the growth opportunities ahead demand it.

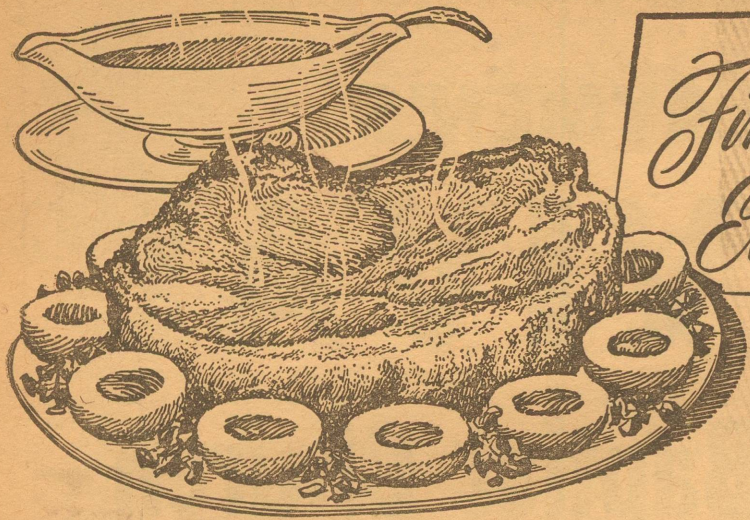

We believe our service area faces growth unlimited because we are the center of the Southwest, and the Southwest is growing faster than the Nation.

Through the expanded area development program, we are working to help build this community, because as the Southwest grows, so should West Texas Utilities grow... and the communities we serve.
