Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

Austin.—State Capitol is having a relatively quiet period—sort of—what like the "eye" of a hurricane.

Legislators are at home, and Gov. Price Daniel has gone to Hawaii for the National Governor's Conference. Officially, the "time out" ends July 10 when the special tax session begins.

But despite the lull, sharp gusts of differing opinion are still blowing. Before leaving, Gov. Daniel issued a parting blast at lobbyists in particular and critics of his anti-sales tax stand in general. He is thinking of asking for tighter lobby control measures, particularly in regard to reporting of money spent to influence legislation. He also accused opponents of his tax plan of being unwilling to compromise.

Lawmakers are having their say, before the Daniel-appointed committee to study tax measures. Sen. Wardlaw Lane, sponsor of the Senate-passed sales tax bill, took a dim view of the "compromise" talk. Legislature compromised on taxes in 1959, he reminded, and the state government ended up more deeply in debt.

As to lobby control, Sen. Lane said the Legislature had already passed the measure that the governor had said would do the job. In general, Sen. Lane urged "a stop politicking and get on with the job" approach.

New Laws Completed

Before leaving for Hawaii, Gov. Daniel signed scores of bills into law, vetoed a few, and otherwise cleared the decks from the 57th regular session.

He signed the bill which will allow the University of Houston to become fully state-supported in the fall of 1963. This bill was the cause of a month-long filibuster in the Senate.

He let become law without his signature a measure known as the Carling Brewery bill, also highly controversial. It was sought by the Carling Brewery which plans to build a $20 million plant in Fort Worth. Under the bill, a brewery may continue to operate in an area even if it is voted dry. By not signing it, the governor demonstrated his lack of enthusiasm.

Altogether the Legislature passed 549 bills in the regular session. Only 14 were vetoed by the governor.

School Bus Prices Probed

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has launched inquiry into the prices being paid by the state for school buses.

Wilson announced courts of inquiry to be held in Austin, Dallas, and perhaps later in San Antonio. He said investigation had been under way for six weeks and had revealed that Texas was paying from 10 to 25 per cent more for school buses than other states. He said there was no evidence of identical bids, but that he felt there was a strong possibility of "rigged bidding."

School buses are bought by the Board of Control with state school funds on the basis of sealed bids. Bus dealers could, if found guilty of conspiring together over prices, be subject to both civil and criminal anti-trust suits.

(Courts of inquiry are not trials, but proceedings for the taking of sworn testimony to see if there is evidence for filing suits.)

Parent Liability Upheld

In a recent case, the Supreme Court refused to change a lower court decision that the law holding parents liable up to $300 for damage caused by their children is constitutional.

Challenging the law was a father whose 15-year-old son had stolen and wrecked a car. Three courts upheld the constitutionality of the law and the father's responsibility.

It holds parents liable for "malicious and willful" destruction of property by children between 10 and 18 years of age.

Insurance Hike Forecast

Higher auto insurance premiums are predicted by officials of the State Board of Insurance.

Board has the matter under advisement after a public hearing. New rates, if set, will go into effect August 1.

Increases suggested by both industry spokesmen and the Board's actuarial staff are the same. They are 8.7% for comprehensive private passenger coverage, 8.1% for collision, 23.6% for liability, and 16.1% for medical coverage.

A Department study showed that premiums were down as a result of the new safe driving plan and that claim costs were up because of the costliness of replacements of today's automobiles.

Gas Tax Rulings Asked

Probability of a strong push for a gas tax in the coming special session was indicated by Gov. Daniel's request for opinions from Atty. Gen. Will Wilson on the constitutionality of two such proposals.

One is a proposal by Rep. Bob Eckhardt of Houston which would require the holders of contracts for dedicated gas reserves to guarantee the state a tax of at least one cent on each 1,000 cubic feet of gas produced.

Another, by Rep. George Hinson of Mineola, is a rewrite of the severance beneficiary tax passed in 1959 and since held unconstitutional by the courts. Gov. Daniel has said that the 1959 bill would have stood up in court if it had been enacted as he recommended.

Do you really want to live in the good old days

— or is it just a dream?

THIS IS A GOOD DREAM
In homes served by WTU, the average cost of a KWH of service is 20% less than it was 10 years ago.

"What program did you watch when you were little, Mama?"

It's easy for us to forget the comforts we have today. If we don't watch ourselves, all we think of is the hurry and bustle of the day.

The "good old days" to the little girl pictured above are just a few years ago to some of us. We forget that TV's so new. Yet most of our wonderful electric servants have been developed in just a generation!

As still more new ones come along, it's good to know that there will be plenty of electricity—from companies like this one—to run them. And the more new appliances you use, the less your electricity will cost per average kilowatt-hour.

Now think about it for just a minute—do you really want to live in the "good old days" without your electric servants—or is it just a dream?

Here's a bargain for Mama!

For less than 3¢ the average family, served by WTU, can cook a complete meal the modern electric way... and enjoy the cleanliness and convenience of Flameless Electric Living.

Operation 'Deathwatch' Set For 4th Of July Holiday Vacation Period

The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety has announced that previous holiday experience in Texas indicates 25 persons will meet violent death on the Fourth of July, 1961.

Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., said the release of this official prediction "is intended to serve as a challenge to prove our estimate is too high."

In announcing the grim forecast, Garrison said the DPS will place in effect "Operation Deathwatch" effective from 12:01 A.M. to 11:59 P.M. on July 4, during which traffic deaths, homicides and suicides, and fatal accidents other than traffic will be tabulated against the prediction.

The department's Statistical Services Manager, N. K. Woerner, estimates that 11 persons will be killed in traffic accidents during the 24-hour period, that five will be victims of homicide or suicide, and that nine will die in drownings and other types of fatal accidents.

"The department's purpose in conducting such an operation is to focus public attention on the fact that holiday driving is more dangerous than usual because more vehicles are on the highways—as well as to compile data which is vital to the constantly-changing problems of traffic supervision," Garrison said.

"In addition to the Deathwatch, the department will augment the regular Highway Patrol force with some 150 uniformed patrolmen from the Motor Vehicle Inspection and License and Weight services during the 24-hour period in an effort to keep down the violations that cause accidents."

The DPS director called special attention to the fact that the records show at least one law violation is involved in most fatal accidents in Texas.

"This should prove," he said, "that there is a definite contribution individuals can make to greater highway safety—legal driving."

Garrison pointed out that while emphasis must be placed on holiday traffic hazards, his department also has concern for other incidents which take human lives. He reminded that during a three-day Fourth of July holiday last year, 10 persons were the victims of drowning out of a total of 15 non-traffic fatalities resulting from other accidents.

"With more boats on the waters of our state than ever before," he continued, "extra precautions should be taken this Fourth of July to avoid tragedy. Boaters should be sure there is a life preserver for every boat occupant and, above all, don't overload or overpower your boat."

Garrison also reminded boaters that 45 miles per hour is the speed limit for all vehicles pulling trailers.

MISSION SAN SABA GETS PARKS BOARD DESIGNATION

Menard's effort to have the Mission San Saba designated a state park met with at least partial success Monday, when the State Parks Board designated it a historic site.

Under the board's new system of designating parks as recreational, scenic or historic, the members approved acceptance of the mission area, the first historic site in Texas so designated. —Menard News.

CHECK STATIONS FOR DEER KILL ARE DISCONTINUED

Austin.—Deer checking stations generally over the state will be discontinued during the next hunting season. This has been announced by H. D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

Last year a full-scale deer check station was maintained at Llano, and others in Northeast Texas.

They were manned by biologists seeking information about the age and other characteristics of the deer killed. These check stations also established the number of deer taken, both in does and bucks and the number of hunters who took them.

"They have served their purpose in many areas, and we feel little more good can be accomplished by them, except in a few counties where information of this kind is not available," he said.

Maintaining the check stations is expensive to the Commission. Also, in many instances, it has meant that hunters had to go out of the way to check their kill.

"The results, however, were most helpful and helped us to establish biological information necessary to our research work," the director said.

BRONTE RECEIVES BALANCE OF SEWER AID MONEY

A check in the amount of $1,392 was received this week from the U. S. Public Health Service covering the balance of the federal government's contribution on Bronte's new sewer system.

An earlier check for $11,700 plus the one received this week makes a total of $13,092 which the government contributed for use in constructing the sewage treatment plant southeast of town. —Bronte Enterprise.

BABES OF WILD PICKED UP AT YOUR OWN RISK

Austin.—Despite warnings to refrain from picking up young of the wild, the practice persists in many areas, according to J. B. Phillips, assistant director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

"Wardens all over the state have been notified to make arrests where violations are reported," he says. "Too many people are inclined to pick up baby animals, especially fawn deer. These animals have a much better chance of survival in their native woods than they do in the city, even when bottle fed."

He also pointed to the danger of having these animals for pets when they grow up. There are many instances where the animals will revert to the wild and seriously injure the person who raised them.

Phillips also warns against molesting nesting birds or tampering with other young wild game.

"Some heavy fines have been paid in recent weeks by persons who failed to heed this warning," he said. "We hope it stops."

KIMBLE HOSPITAL NEEDS PATIENTS

Kimble Hospital is suffering from the worst lull in its history, according to Mrs. Ila B. Honeycutt, administrator.

For this year the average monthly percent of occupancy has been slightly over 47.

In order for the hospital to meet expenses it must have 60% occupancy of paying patients.

Only one month this year do the records show a profit, in March when occupancy was 66%. Percentage of occupancy so far this year has been Jan. 42, Feb. 50, March 66, April 46, May 25, and thru June 19, 29.5.

It is readily apparent that in May only 25% of the hospital's facilities were occupied. —Junction Eagle.

VAN HORN BOARD LIMITS MARRIED STUDENT RIGHTS

The Board of Trustees of Culberson County Rural High School District clamped down on married students, hired a new band director, and accepted a building bid, as major action taken at the regular meeting last Wednesday.

Noting an increase in marriages of high school students—at least three for the coming year—the Board took steps to discourage this by barring any married student from participation in any extra-curricular activities. This includes sports, class officers, plays, staffs, club, etc., everything other than regular academic work. The motion was made by Dee Wilson, seconded by Banky Stocks, and it passed unanimously. —Van Horn Advocate.

The Confederate Battle Flag, waving from special flagstuffs on Jefferson Davis's birthday recently, reminded us that someone had asked us to find out if the "Stars and Bars" was also called "The Southern Cross."

Mrs. Audity Blair Webb of Dallas wrote to ask if the Confederate flag was also called the "Southern Cross," to which we replied that we had never heard it referred into the matter.

We still haven't turned up much definite information, but at least two clues have led us to believe there may be some basis for using the name "Southern Cross," to refer to the flag often called the "Bonnie Blue Flag" and the "Stars and Bars."

The first clue, which may have no connection at all with the Confederate emblem, was a trumpet solo we heard at a local high school band concert. Entitled "The Southern Cross," the solo was rendered by John James Haynie, a member of the faculty at North Texas State College. The piece was written by Herbert L. Clarke, a trumpet soloist who played with many municipal and circus bands around the turn of the century.

We have tried to find out more about Herbert L. Clarke and have also wondered if he had in mind the Confederate flag when he penned his solo piece, but information of this type is scanty in references we have been able to check.

We have a feeling there is some connection between the song and the flag and hope some reader will fill us in.

The second clue was a copy of an old woodcut or engraving picturing both the Union flag and the Confederate flag.

The old illustration supplemented a story involving the gallant Stonewall Jackson which related that when Southern troops, commanded by Gen. Jackson, marched into Frederick, Md., a lady by the name of Barbara Fritchie defied them by waving the flag of the Union. According to John Greenleaf Whittier's poem, the lady called to the Southern troops "Shoot if you must, this old gray head. But spare your country's flag."

An angry trooper raised his rifle but Gen. Jackson stopped him with the words "Who touches a hair of you gray hair, dies like a dog! March on!"

The Confederate flag shown in the illustration is of the same design as the original Stars and Bars with two horizontal red bars separated by a white one and with a blue field in the upper corner. The Blue field contains the correct number of stars—13—but they form the pattern of a square X or plus sign rather than a circle as in the original flag.

When we were first asked if the flag was also called the "Southern Cross," our guess was that it may have been a name derived from the St. Andrew's cross in the battle flag plus the fact that it was a Southern emblem.
