Eagles To Launch Season With Iraan Here Tomorrow Night

One year almost to the day since the Eagles handed the Iraan 11 the losing end of a 43 to 0 score, the locals will meet them again, this time on the home field. Whether the Eagles can start the season with another win duplicating last year's feat remains to be seen.

This year, it is Iraan's turn to send their team, coaches, and backers on the 105-mile trip. The new road to Iraan is still not open; it is to open sometime next Spring. The Eagles' starting line-up will consist of five Seniors, four Juniors, and two Sophomores.

Although H. A. Belk sustained a leg injury recently during practice and will be out of the picture for a while, Coaches Barnett and Jung report that the team have been working hard since practice started earlier this month, and they should be ready for whatever the Iraan team have to offer.

Kick-off time for the game tomorrow night is eight o'clock. Probables starters will be:

When the Eldorado Eagles take the field tomorrow night against the Iraan Braves, there isn't much common ground on which to compare the two clubs; but in many respects they are evenly matched. Reason for such a statement is that last year's school enrollment shows that Iraan had a scholastic population of 537 while Eldorado for the same period had 569 school age children.

Both Eldorado and Iraan are members of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, nice distinctions when it is considered that of the nearly 2,000 high schools in Texas, only 273 can meet the requirements of this highly respected accreditation association.

Iraan has the advantage in wealth with a district evaluation of $33,500,000 to Eldorado's $18,600,000. The Iraan tax rate is 95c for local maintenance and 35c for bonded indebtedness.

Football-wise, in the Ozona Stockman's August 24, 1961, issue, brief reference was made to the fact that the Ozona Lions had increased their team's roster from about 18 boys at the beginning of the early football training period to 27 boys as of that date; and that the Lions as helpless as their public relations man was making them appear had scrimmaged against the Iraan Braves, results being like this: "Ozona's Coach Fred Hickman expressed the opinion that even though the Lions looked terrible, the Ozona team easily crushed the Braves."

The Eagles did some pre-season scrimmaging last week also; and while nobody said that they "set the woods on fire," certainly all would agree that they were not "easily crushed."

It appears that the Eagles in their tomorrow night's contest have a definite advantage, although there is considerable evidence that the "slidding" is going to get much rougher in the immediate future.

Labor Day Holiday Is Coming Up Monday

Most businesses here in Eldorado will be closed Monday, September 4th, for the Labor Day holiday.

The day is also a school holiday, and federal and state employees have the day off.

So . . . do your shopping the next day or so for a long week end.

LIONS MEET YESTERDAY

Earl Barnett discussed the upcoming football season and the Eagles' prospects, at yesterday's meeting of the Eldorado Lions club.

W. H. Hale presided.

It is planned to have a Boy and Girl Scout fund drive sometime during September. The Lions sponsor both programs.

Key Fire Rate Lowered

Effective August 15, Eldorado citizens received a bonus for the untiring zeal of their volunteer Fire Department. Bonus was in the form of a drop of one cent in the key rate from 33c to 32c in fire insurance for Eldorado, Texas.

Immediate reason for the one-cent drop was because Fire Chief Palmer West, Bob Ledingham, and Bud Haynes of Eldorado Volunteer Fire Department attended the Firemen's Training School at College Station July 23-28.

Mayor Eldon Calk said that local insurance agents were notified of the decreased key rate which means lower premiums for fire insurance for the ensuing year.

Fire Chief Palmer West said Wednesday, August 30, that installation of 30-foot ladders on the Department fire trucks would give the Eldorado key rate another decrease in the near future.

Mayor Calk said that an examination the last issue of the Fire Protection and Fire Record Data published by the State Board of Insurance shows that of the approximately 1,000 cities and towns listed in this official publication, not as many as five towns of comparable size with Eldorado have as low a key fire rate. He concluded that the Eldorado Fire Department deserved the gratitude of its citizens for their efforts to give the city this favorable fire rate.

Mrs. O. R. Burden of Wichita Falls visited here recently with her mother, Mrs. T. W. Johnson. Tom E. Johnson of Austin was also a visitor in her home.

New School Tax Rate Approved By Voters

127 votes in favor of the new tax rate and 116 against—was the way the school tax rate vote went last Saturday.

Although less than a fourth of the qualified voters took the trouble to go to the polls, the majority's endorsement was gratifying to the Board and administration and means that this county will continue to maintain the high standards of their school.

For one thing the teachers will all receive the $810 raise recently voted by the Legislature. Eldorado was already paying $800 above the old state schedule, and now they will be $600 above the new schedule.

And the gymnasium will be repaired as soon as they can get a contractor on the job.

The new school tax rate will be $1.25 for maintenance, and 50c for bonds—making a total of $1.75, as compared with $1.50 last year.

CONTRACTS LET FOR THREE LOCAL HIGHWAY JOBS

The Texas Highway Department has let contract for three ranch-to-market jobs in Schleicher county. The contract went to the Ford Allen Construction Co., of Sonora who submitted a low bid of $178,707.

Construction will get under way early in September and the three jobs are expected to take about 120 working days, according to J. A. Snell, district engineer at San Angelo. Robert A. McCulloch, resident engineer at Sonora, will be in active charge of the projects while they are under construction.

The three jobs are:

- (1) A 3-mile extension of the Bailey Ranch road which now ends 10½ miles southwest of Eldorado.
- (2) Six miles of construction to close the gap in the Reynolds loop, from H. A. Belk's on west and around to the Otto Sauer corner.
- (3) One-half mile in the city, bringing the Merton highway into town on a new route.

Plans Are Approved For New Masonic Hall

J. T. Jackson, worshipful master of the local Masonic Lodge, and J. H. Mace, took the plans for the new hall to Waco Monday where they were approved by the Grand Lodge. This opens the way for construction to get under way, probably by this Fall.

The building committee consists of Henry Speck, J. E. Spencer, Richard Jones, Gus Love, and J. H. Mace.

A one-storey brick veneer structure 48 by 80 feet is planned which will contain meeting hall, dining hall, and lounge. It will be erected on the lots on the corner north of the courthouse and east of Earl Parker Motors.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Craig of Plains have been here this week visiting in the E. T. Davis home, and with other relatives and friends.

Today Is Final Day To Beat The New Sales Tax

Today, Thursday, is the final day your yard. Texans make purchases without feeling the pinch of the new state general sales tax which was passed a few weeks ago by the Legislature as principal means of retiring the state deficit and allowing for the $810 a year pay raise for teachers, now going into effect.

A lot of confusion is in store for both buyers and sellers. The tax is a 2% levy on retail sales, with a number of exemptions. The state comptroller's office has been busy issuing rulings ever since the tax was passed, and will probably continue doing so for a considerable time in the future.

Food purchased for home consumption in the grocery store will be exempt, but every homemaker and every grocer knows that many items now purchased in super markets are not food and thus will come under the tax. Sales over 24 cents will be taxable on such things as household articles, detergents, candy and chewing gum, bottled and canned drinks, diluted fruit juices and powders.

Farmers will not pay the tax on seed and fertilizer, but you will if you want to use such items on your yard. Clothing stores are affected. Outer clothing and work clothing costing $10 or less will be exempt, but the exemption will not apply to socks, neckties, etc.

Actually, Texas has had selective sales taxes for a number of years on such things as radios and television sets and parts, as well as air conditioners and cosmetics. Also cigarettes and gasoline. The new tax system will take in a much wider area.

Because most businesses in a town the size of Eldorado are proprietorships, the merchants are not looking forward to the extra bookkeeping involved.

Merchants are asking most for patience on the part of the shopper. When the housewife takes her shopping cart to the check-out counter in the grocery store, the taxable items will have to be checked out separately from the non-taxable. You will not pay a tax on meat you buy, or vegetables or fruit, but you will on a tube of toothpaste or a bottle of shoe polish, or a roll of paper towels.

When the man of the house takes the family car to the service station for a wash, grease, and oil change, the tax will apply to the oil and grease but not to the labor. If the car is taken to a garage for service, the parts used will be taxed, but again the labor will not.

The tax will be added to utility bills. Here in Eldorado, the city office and West Texas Utilities will add it when they do the billing each month.

Members of the Southwest Texas Electric Co-Op will be required to add the tax when they read their meters each month, beginning with this coming month's reading.

What will the tax cost the average family? Each $1,000 spent during the year on taxable items means a tax payment of $20, and estimates are that it will cost the wage earner and his family $30 to $80 per year.

A spokesman for the building industry estimates that the new tax will add $125 to the cost of the average $12,000 house.

So . . . Texas finally joins the 34 other states with a general sales levy, and both merchants and shoppers are facing it with quiet resignation on this eve of its start.

2nd Civil Defense Course To Start September 19th

The Second Civil Defense Course will start here September 19, with Roy Tharp of San Angelo conducting it.

The course will be held the nights of September 19, 21, 26, and 28, from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. each session. Persons wishing to enroll should call Mrs. Carlman at the county judge's office.

The first course was closed Tuesday night with 43 receiving certificates.

Eagle Boosters Club Elects Officers Tuesday

About 25 persons attended the Eagle Boosters Club meeting on Tuesday night at the Memorial Building.

Joe Wagley presided and officers were elected, these being Kenneth E. Love, chairman; Walter McGregor, vice-chairman; Jim Harris, secretary treasurer, and John Murr, publicity chairman.

A set of By-Laws for the club was voted on and adopted to work in full accordance with school activities for the entire year.

John Murr was elected to serve as publicity chairman and a committee was appointed to elect some sort of publicity to benefit the club and to defray small expenses.

The club elected to meet each Monday night at 8:00 until further plans can be worked out.

A clean-up campaign will be staged at the football field today (Thursday) afternoon, and those who can be present to help are urged to do so.

Next meeting will be Monday night, Sept. 4, and anyone interested is urged to be present.

Building Going On:

Brick veneering is under way on the Gerald Hartgraves house and interior work is continuing.

Roofers were at work this week on the new Lum Davis house, and other work was being done.

Interior work is continuing on the Catholic church building. The workmen Monday were pouring sidewalks around the outside. A mishap occurred recently when one of the electricians fell through the ceiling.

Baptist Anniversary Festivities Start Saturday

Hundreds of former members, pastors, and friends, are expected to throng the First Baptist church this Saturday night and Sunday for the 60th anniversary celebration for which planning has been going on for many weeks.

The visitors will join the local congregation in an all-day meeting Sunday which will include the usual Sunday School and worship services, as well as a dinner served at 12 Noon.

D. C. DuBose, the pastor, reports that plans are about complete for the event.

The celebration begins Saturday evening at 7:30 with a reception in the church basement honoring all former members and pastors. This will be a time of informal fellowship sponsored by the Woman's Missionary Society.

The big day will be Sunday, for which the following schedule is announced:

- Sunday Morning
9:45 Sunday School.
11:00, Worship Service. Congregational singing. Prayer, J. L. Ratliff, pastor 1926-32; welcome, D. C. DuBose; special music, choir directed by Frank O'Banion; message, C. H. Riddle, pastor 1917-19.
12:00 Noon. Meal served at church.

Sunday Afternoon

1:30, Congregational and special music.
2:00, Message, "The Ministry of the Church," W. D. Kirkpatrick, 1939-41.

2:30, Personal Testimonies, led by Clifford Nelson, 1951-53, "What this Church Means to Me."
3:00, Message, "The Message of the Church," A. J. Quinn, 1934-37.

Sunday Evening
7:00, Training Union.
8:00, Evening Worship Service.
8:15, Message by Jim Hays, 1941-51.
8:45, Message by J. C. Hancock, 1953-57.

A Look At History

The local First Baptist church traces its history back to September 1, 1901, when a group of interested people met in the school house for the purpose of organizing a Baptist church. Moderator of the group was Rev. Ben Wilson and clerk was Rev. A. T. Talbert. The first name given the church was Eldorado Missionary Baptist Church, which was subsequently changed to The First Baptist Church.

Of the charter members, Mrs. Emma (Alexander) Campbell is the only one still living today. Others included J. W. Alexander, S. C. Littlepage, J. A. Whitten, P. S. Gardner, H. H. Taylor, Malinda

D. C. DuBose, Present Pastor

Green, Carrie Perryman, Mrs. S. C. Littlepage, Mrs. J. W. Alexander, Mrs. Ammie Bird, Mrs. Mollie Miller, Mrs. J. A. Whitten, Mrs. S. L. C. Whitten, and Mrs. Sallie McCornick.

Records reveal that the first candidates for baptism were Madie Bird, Stella Bird, Edgar Bird, Katie Miller, Lee Green, and W. B. Harris and wife. A 1903 associational report lists pastor's salary as $122.85, and benevolences including $5 to associational missions, $5 to state missions, $5 to home missions, $3 to the orphans' home, and $1 to foreign missions. The first church building was erected in 1905. This building was replaced with the present building in 1928.

The First Baptist church is now Eldorado's largest. During the post-war period an educational annex was added to the church building, robes were bought for the choir, the present brick parsonage was erected, and a house was moved in for the music director. Also the church bought the corner lot south of the church and it is now a recreational area.

New Babies

The New Tax

The Texas Legislature has, finally, made an effort to face up to the fiscal responsibility delegated to it.

Whether one was for against the general sales tax for Texas, it must be admitted that it will bring in a wad of money. And, with the sort of constitution under which Texas is attempting to operate, a wad of quick money was what was needed. Texas was well on the road to being in the same financial shape that Michigan was couple of years ago—flat broke and unable to do anything about it because of an outmoded constitution.

The sales tax was perhaps the most fair method offered to increase the state's tax bite, although we have little sympathy with the argument used most often in an effort to prove that to doubters.

That argument, of course, was that many low income people now contribute nothing to state taxes and that they will with a sales tax.

The primary reason that Texas needed more money was in order to pay higher teacher salaries. Again, we are dubious to crocodile tears shed by highly-paid and highly skilled lobbyists. On the other hand, there is no doubt that many Texas teachers are grossly underpaid—most of them because the local district refuses to carry the load and asks the state to do it.

It is to be hoped that the new sales tax, which begins next week, at least partially solves some of Texas' problems. If it does, it may be worth it. —Fort Stockton Pioneer.

School Year Starts With Assembly Monday

The 1961-62 school session started off with a full auditorium, and a few standing in the hall and doors of the auditorium, at the assembly Monday morning.

Program consisted of: presentation of colors; group singing of "America" directed by Mrs. Teele and accompanied by Judy Hext; invocation by C. M. Nyquist; introduction of platform guests by A. M. Whitis; P-TA welcome by Mrs. M. H. Woodward; address by Mr. Whitis; announcements by school principals; dismissal by Judy Hext leading The Lord's Prayer.

Platform guests were: Mrs. M. H. Woodward, representing P-TA; Henry Moore, Sam Henderson, and Joe M. Christian, representing the school board; Mrs. Oliver Teele, song director, accompanied by Judy Hext; Rev. C. M. Nyquist, who gave the invocation; and C. T. Humphries, Frank Kemble, and A. M. Whitis, the administrators of the school.

Supt. Whitis stated that we have 39 teachers with 35 of these being class room teachers and representing 500 years of total teaching experience; two secretaries; three fulltime employees in the cafeteria with four part-time helpers; four janitors and eight bus drivers.

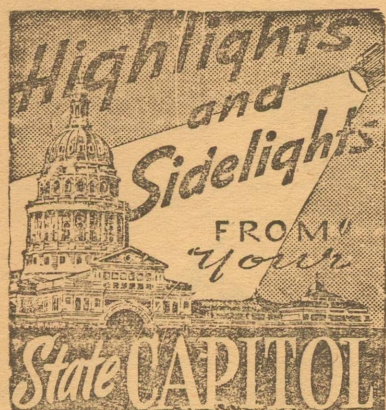

He also stated we have 666 white children and 23 colored with a total of 689. Our average daily attendance was 618.98 last year and we average 19 students for each class room teacher.

Mrs. Woodward spoke for P-TA, stating their goals. Membership fee was raised from 50c for each member to $1, to help raise funds for the scholarship given each year to the deserving graduating student who plans to go into the teaching field to help encourage teaching as a profession.

She also stated that P-TA has changed their meeting time from the 3rd Tuesday to the 4th Monday of each month. Their first meeting will be an ice cream social on the court house lawn Sept. 25.

Supt. Whitis introduced the new teachers. They are as follows: Mrs. Peyton Cain, grade; Douglas Jung, assistant coach, science, and PE; Raymond Mittel, an Eldorado graduate, history; Miss Marylu Ray, Commercial and English; and Mrs. Susan Steel, second grade.

Supt. Whitis gave this as his thought for the year. Let each of us meditate for a minute. "If a friend of yours gave you a dime for every kind deed you did, or kind word of encouragement you gave and took from you a nickel for every unkind deed or word of discouragement you said, would you be RICH or POOR?"

Austin.—Governor Price Daniel, pointing to the record of most other states that have a general sales tax, warns Texans that without concerted efforts to shave state spending the Texas tax could grow to three or four percent in the future.

More than that, he said, unless there is "prudent economy and reorganization of state funds and services," a state income tax might become law.

To make his point, Governor Daniel reported that two-thirds of the 34 states that have general sales taxes have increased the rate to three per cent or more, and there are now four states charging a four per cent sales tax.

He again made clear his dislike for the two per cent Texas tax, but added:

"So much for the good and bad which will result from the new tax bill. On September 1 it will be the law of our state, and as long as the law is in effect, it behooves all of us, whether we like it or not, to cooperate in its enforcement. This I shall do, and I believe every good citizen will do likewise."

Meanwhile State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert is being swamped with questions about the new tax. After checking with other states which have pioneered in this field he has become reconciled to the likelihood that confusion will reign for some time to come. A spokesman for his office pointed out that "California and Illinois got a sales tax in 1933, and they're still issuing rulings."

The Texas Research League has noted that the tax bill exempts sales of animals ordinarily eaten by humans. Also feed for such animals. Exempt too are seeds and plants edible by humans and raised for sale, fungicides and insecticides for such plants, and fertilizer used on lands where such food is grown.

But the researchers say this exemption would not apply to tropical fish, grass seed and fertilizer for lawns and rose bushes.

More Work For Next Session

Governor Daniel has found several more items to be submitted to the next special session of the Legislature. He plans to call the lawmakers back to Austin again before the end of the year.

Daniel's expanding package now includes maintenance funds for farm roads, loan shark control, municipal annexation, tourist attraction, lobbyist controls, adding banks to the abandoned property seizure law, improved law enforcement measures, and action on juvenile crime.

"As long as Texas continues to grow," he said, "there will be more problems to solve, but there are some which should not be delayed. It will be my aim to meet the most urgent of these later this year or in January of next year."

Governor Daniel vetoed the second year appropriation of $15 million for construction of new farm-to-market roads, in an effort to free these funds for maintenance. The $15 million for this purpose for the first year of the new biennium was not affected.

A law passed in 1949 provides for the use of this yearly amount for new construction. But the Governor insists, "It is just as important to maintain our vast and important 33,000 mile farm road system as it is to build new roads. Maintenance costs, now amounting to $18 million annually, are taken from the basic intrastate highway fund which is the poorest of all department programs."

Blue Law Confusion

Under the new Texas "Blue Law," shopping for certain items on Saturday or Sunday may prove a chore.

The law that started out as a device to hit the discount houses operating on Sunday was changed to include Saturday as an alternate because the lawmakers felt a straight Sunday closing law might appear discriminatory to some religious groups who observe the Sabbath on other days.

Included in the list of items merchants are not allowed to sell on one of the two week end days are lawn mowers, toys, motor vehicles, clothing furniture, kitchen utensils, air conditioners, home appliances, jewelry, cameras, radios and television sets.

The law has teeth—a fine of $100 is provided for the first conviction, going up to $500 and six months in jail for subsequent convictions.

Selling Texas Is Big Job

The State Industrial Commission, given $100,000 by the Legislature and charged with the duty of selling Texas as the place for industries to locate, faces a challenge.

Chairman E. B. Germany told the commission, "It is a challenge to make that $100,000 do what it is supposed to do even though it is not enough to do what we want to do."

Executive Director Walter Dickerson reported 3,000 copies of a brochure entitled "Texas A Strategic Location" have been printed. Brochure will be distributed to a "very carefully selected group of people who have responsibility for making decisions," says Dickerson.

He appealed to Texas cities to contribute information for the commission's industrial surveys. Such information would be kept on file for the use of industrialists considering Texas sites. This would make it possible for industrialists to choose an area without it being known in advance.

Athletics Not Self-Supporting

State colleges and university athletic programs, with few exceptions, are not self-supporting, says State Auditor C. H. Cavness.

He made the statement in connection with a report on the operations of Sul Ross State College at Alpine where the athletic program showed a $26,357 loss for the year. Income was $56,245, while expenditures amounted to $80,136.

Cavness noted that athletic scholarships and coaching salaries have been paid from educational and general funds.

Labor Day Traffic Dangerous

Governor Daniel has called for an all-out effort to make this Labor Day week end the safest ever recorded in Texas.

He has issued a special appeal to sheriffs and police chiefs across the state to join with the Texas Department of Public Safety in a special emphasis program designed to remove law violators from the highways.

Statistics indicate most fatal accidents involve at least one violation of the law, with excessive speed and driving while drinking the leading causative factors.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS Director, earlier announced that some 150 extra patrolmen from the department's other uniformed services will join the regular Highway Patrol force for the three-day holiday during which, it is predicted, 30 Texans will be killed in traffic crashes.

NO SINGING SUNDAY

There will be no regular First Sunday Singing this Sunday, on account of the Labor Day week end.

The next Singing will be the first Sunday in October.

Post Script

As result of the recent regular and special sessions of the state Legislature, Texas for the first time in its history has a general sales tax. The pinch will be felt by the housewife when she shops, the businessman when he steps out for lunch at a cafe, and the school boy who buys a dollar's worth of school supplies.

The recent Legislative sessions pointed out the undue influence of the third house, the lobbyists for the special interests who went all out to back measures which avoided new taxes for their clients.

As a result, Texas now has in addition to the sales tax a token tax on natural gas which will take in only $3 million a year, a watered-down version of the governor's escheat bill for abandoned property, and a worked over franchise law. Also, Texas remains one of the states without a corporate income tax.

We doubt that the sales tax will prove to be the cure-all to the state's financial dilemma which its most ardent promoters claimed for it during the recent special Legislative sessions. Other states which have had the sales tax for years still have financial problems.

Governor Daniel is already warning that the 2% levy may be inadequate in the future and have to be raised, or the lead of other states followed in adoption of a state income tax.

It all points to the biggest free-for-all in years when the First Democratic Primary comes up next May. Every state office from Governor down is apt to have candidates representing the liberal and conservative wings of the Democratic party.

By then Texans will have had a generous taste of the new tax, and every one of the State Senators and State Representatives who voted for it will be a sitting duck.

It seems that when any governing body goes into a major new field of taxation, it amounts to getting one foot in the door.

Many states adopted the sales tax back in the days of the Great Depression, at which time they started out with a tax rate of a fraction of 1%. Subsequently they raised the rate to 1%, and then to as high as today's 4% which is levied by four states. And many sales tax states also adopted a state income tax.

The men who were serving in the Congress of the United States back in 1913 when the income tax amendment was passed could not have foreseen that that tax would grow to today's proportions. (For many years after 1913 it was considered a mark of distinction to pay an income tax at all.)

Tom Dempsey, who built a welding shop on a lot next to the gin last year, has sold the property to George Mikeska who will use it to expand his gin premises. Dempsey says that he will continue in the welding business and will carry it on "from his truck."

For some time now we have been repeating optimistic reports about the dry-land cotton crop in the county.

For instance, not so long ago we quoted a farmer as saying that it looked like this would be the best dry-land cotton year of all time.

But now we are hearing disquieting reports—the crop is shedding its squares, badly—conditions don't look anywhere near as good as they did two weeks ago.

Well, it just stayed dry too darn long. We should have had a good rain about two weeks ago. Now it is too late to do any good.

But maybe your farmer is prone to become overly pessimistic when he observes a setback in what looked like a perfect crop. One young farmer is said to have made the following observation: "Why, gee, Ma, it don't look like I'll make more'n half a bale to the acre!" And she reminded him that she had seen the day when that much was considered a GOOD crop.

Some cotton is opening now, but no one seems to be in any hurry to hire pickers as yet. The local operator expects ginning to get under way by September 10th.

Civil Defense courses have met with success with an average attendance of 43 persons for each session. Mr. Tharp, the instructor from Central High school, who has met the requirements for instruction under the Texas Education Agency, and local Civil Defense officials, were well pleased at the close of the school Tuesday night, August 29.

Twenty-two have indicated to Mrs. Helen Carlman, co. judge's secretary, that they are interested in beginning the second school in September. For more details phone Mrs. Carlman at 24281 or 22591. She will be glad to co-operate by giving you the details.

The Schleicher county livestock committee met and formulated a livestock field day to be held in April of 1962. This will be an all-day affair with veterinarians, economists, range men, and men conducting research in such fields as market classes of lambs, wool and mohair, activities of the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association and factors affecting kid production of angora does. Other topics include safe use of insecticides, range testing rams and controlled and mixed grazing.

Some of the distinguished visitors to appear on the program are: J. A. Gray, extension animal husbandman; John McHaney, economist; Chas. Schreiner III, Tom Wallace, E. G. Cauble, Dr. W. T. Hardy, Dr. Patterson, Leo Merrill, G. O. Hoffman and Dr. Turk. All are connected by research, economics, and are familiar with our problems. Members of the committee are: L. Steen, Carrol White, Ed Hill, Gerald Hartgraves, T. R. Jones, and Wilson Page.

Man has an estimated 12 million brain cells, just to give you an idea of the employment situation.

Cotton producers will receive in the mail three result demonstrations: defoliation and stripping vs. hand picking and pulling, supplemental irrigation of cotton, and cost of growing irrigated cotton.

These demonstrations were set up by the crops committee in 1959 and are completed for your study and use as an economic guide. With cotton picking coming soon, defoliation and stripping will pay this year under any circumstances. Members of the crops committee are: Henry Moore, M. H. Woodward, W. A. Faull, Milton Faught, W. M. Parker, Aaron Steward, and Archie Mittel.

Compromise: a deal in which two people get what neither of them wanted.

The 1961 "emergency" feed grain program is extended for another year. Barley will be included, along with corn and grain sorghum next year.

The 1962 wheat program will be similar to the feed grain program. Growers will cut acreage 10% to 30% to get payments for normal production.

New legislation extends the wool act for four years, the Great Plains Conservation Program for 10 years, the special milk program for five years, the Armed Services milk program for three years. P. L. 480 the sale of 4.5 billion dollars for sales of surplus U. S. farm commodities for foreign currencies.

Texas where 15% of the total lamb crop is produced, has an increase of 4% in lamb production for the year and 18% increase above average. Over-all the increase is 1% but 10 per cent above the 1950-59 average for the nation. The calf crop adds up to 39½ million head 1% larger than a year ago—and the largest since 1957.

The cotton producer who is thinking about the economics of cotton production should give the appearance of the boll weevil in numbers a second thought, his first appearance since 1950.

Defoliants and stripping will help get the crop laid by earlier, enabling the producer of cotton to shred stalks earlier destroying the food supply of the weevil.

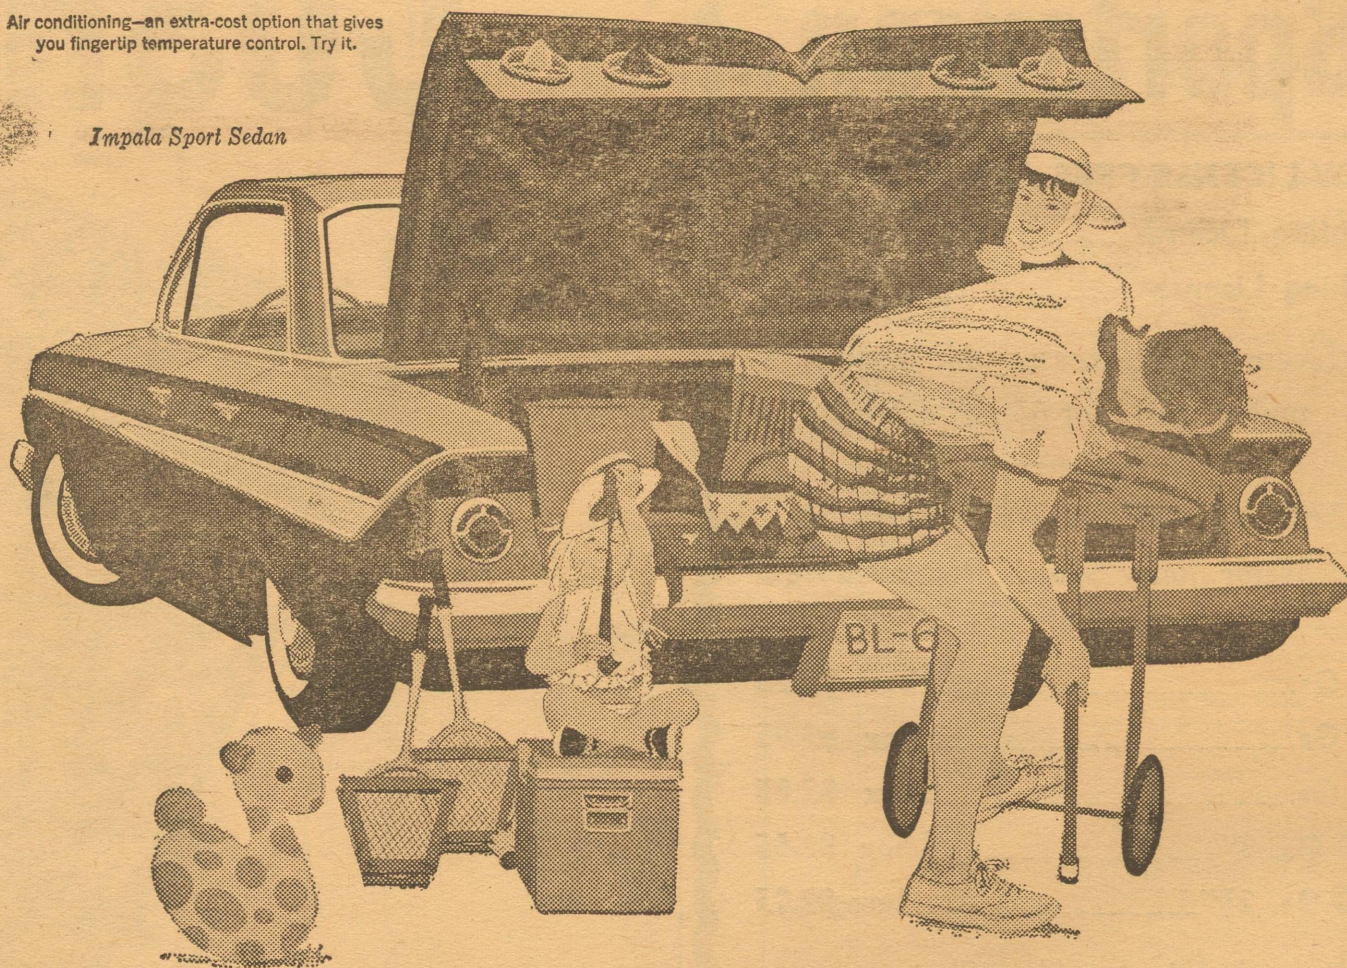

Producers have the advantage of not having heavy wooded areas close to cotton fields, such as liveoaks and shinnery, hence the destruction of his only other food source, cotton and okra, is reducing the poison bill.

After writing the recent series about the Confederate flag and about the Confederate invasion of New Mexico and Arizona by a group of Texans on a "buffalo hunt," we came across an intriguing sidelight on the American flag in that little-known phase of the Civil War.

Sometime just prior to the invasion, Confederate sympathizers in tiny Taos, New Mexico, smashed the town flagpole and hauled down the Stars and Stripes. Captain Smith Simpson, then living in Taos, was enraged at the act and his retaliation may have started the custom of flying the Union flag both day and night over places of historic interest.

Captain Simpson chopped down and trimmed the tallest cottonwood tree he could find and dragged it to the town plaza. He then nailed a flag from his own home to the top of the pole and raised it over Taos where it remained day and night. The Confederate sympathizers attempted to chop down the make-shift flagpole, but Captain Smith, Colonel Coran St. Vrain, a lieutenant Boggs, and someone named Kit Carson set up a round-the-clock watch and discouraged their attempts with occasional rifle fire.

When Union military authorities in Santa Fe learned of the flag incident, they commended the day and night exposure of the Stars and Stripes and to this day the flag is flown on such a basis over historic buildings and other sites.

One of our readers has written to ask what we know about a Civil War unit known in Texas as the "Blood Brigade," commanded by "Bloody Bill" Anderson. Many of the members of this unit were from Texas and he would like to know the names of some of them. He also is looking for information about "Bloody Bill's" wife, whom he believes to have been from Sherman, and about Bill's brother, Jim, who was stabbed on the steps of the Capitol at Austin.

Readers who can help are invited to share their information with us and we'll pass it along to our inquiring reader.

Recommended Reading this week: Some of the most important contributions to Civil War literature were the diaries kept by soldier participants, many of which were published in book form or as magazine serials shortly after the War. The current interest in the Centennial has brought about reprinting and republication of many of the better ones and we recommend two Confederate and two Yankee eyewitness accounts for our readers this week.

For Confederates: A Life for the Confederacy, from the war diary of Robert A. Moore, Pvt., C.S.A., published by McCowat-Mercer Press of Jackson, Tennessee, and A Portion of My Life from the diary of William M. Norman of North Carolina, published by John F. Blair of Winston-Salem.

For Yankees: A Yankee Private's Civil War by Robert Hale Strong, published by the Henry Regnery Company, and Ride to War, the history of the First New Jersey Cavalry by Henry R. Payne, published by Rutgers University Press.

Bridge Parties

Mrs. Ed Meador was hostess when the Tuesday Afternoon Bridge club met this week in the home of Mrs. Meador's mother, Mrs. P. S. Dudley. There were three tables of players with Mrs. Dwight Wiedenmann of San Antonio as a guest. Mrs. Jo Ed Hill won high, Mrs. W. R. McCravey won bingo, and Mrs. Gerald Hartgraves won bingo. A dessert was served for refreshments.

Mrs. Jim Martin was hostess to the Tuesday Night Bridge club when it met this week at the Memorial Building. Guests were Mrs. Ethel Etheredge and Mrs. Earl Lloyd. Winners were Mrs. Sadie Davidson, high; Mrs. Lewis Whitten, low; and Mrs. Kenneth Doyle, bigo. Strawberry short cake was served to three tables of players.

Mr. and Mrs. Clemens Sauer, Lindy, Nan, and Phyllis, have returned from a trip to Van Horn and El Paso. In Van Horn they visited with Mr. and Mrs. William Sauer and family, and in El Paso they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hutson. Mrs. Hutson is the former Christy Sauer. She received her degree Saturday from Texas Western College. Mrs. R. S. Trimble, mother of Mrs. Sauer, accompanied them also.

Mrs. J. L. Neill and Mrs. R. L. Ballew went to Pontotoc Thursday afternoon, spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. John McLeod, and the McLeods and Mrs. Neill went to Kingsville to attend the Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary dinner on Saturday evening for Mr. and Mrs. John Conner. Mr. Conner is the brother of Mrs. Neill and Mrs. McLeod. Mrs. Ballew was a guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr.

and Mrs. Sherwood Barker, in Bishop. The group returned on Sunday and were accompanied home by Mrs. Lodice Carter of San Angelo, who had also been in attendance at the Conners' Golden Anniversary dinner. She is a niece of Mrs. Conner.

Mrs. W. W. Sudduth spent last week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Taylor of Santa Anna.

Mr. and Mrs. Rusty Dannheim and children of Eules visited here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dannheim, after spending some time in California and Oregon. In Oregon they visited with Mrs. Dannheim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Faber.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Etheredge of Santa Anna visited with Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Sudduth on Sunday.

MISS McCORMICK BRIDE OF MR. RIDER IN BAPTIST CHURCH CEREMONY FRIDAY

MRS. JOSEPH K. RIDER

The First Baptist church was the scene of the wedding Friday evening of Donna Beth McCormick of Eldorado, and Joseph K. Rider of Bellaire. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Don McCormick of Eldorado, and Mrs. Evelyn K. Rider of Bellaire.

Rev. Roy B. Shilling Sr. of Del Rio read the double ring ceremony. Mrs. John Stigler played quiet music and the wedding music which included "Because."

The bride wore a formal gown of silk organza. Tucks accentuated the neckline and the bouffant skirt which fell into a chapel train. Appliques of re-embroidered Alencon lace and pearls encircled the waist. The finger tip veil of French illusion fell from a contoured half hat of lace and pearls. She carried a white orchid atop a white Bible, a gift of her aunts, Mrs. Howard Belcher and Mrs. H. M. Stephenson. For something old the bride wore a gold bar pin belonging to her grandmother, the late Mrs. P. H. McCormick.

The bride was given in marriage by her father before an arch of greenery flanked by candelabra and baskets of white gladioli.

Mrs. Jerry Lyn Pennington of San Angelo served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Frances Bluhm of Victoria, Miss Leah Raye Sexton of Harlingen, Mr. James Ellis of Lewisville, and Mrs. M. E. Carothers, Jr., of Abilene, cousin of the bride. They wore identical dresses of blue silk organza and carried one single long stemmed red rose.

George McGonagill of Kerrville served as best man. Groomsmen and ushers were Mack Edwards of Austin, Charles R. Kuhn of Austin, Larry Boyer of San Angelo, and Kenneth Pennington of Eldorado. Candles were lit by Mike Hammett of Andrews.

The mother of the bride wore an aqua lace dress with beige accessories and a white corsage. The mother of the groom wore a gold brocade dress with matching accessories and a white corsage.

Members of the house party who presided at the reception on the lawn of the parents of the bride were: Miss Louise Kuykendall, Miss Lynda McGinnes of Eldorado; Miss Judy Belcher of San Angelo, Mrs. Van Perry of Big Spring, Miss Dorothy Cramer of San Antonio, and Misses Sandra and Debbie Rider of Bellaire.

At the University of Texas, the bride was a member of Delta Zeta, Tau Beta Sigma, Longhorn Band and Upperclass Advisors. She received her B. A. degree.

The groom is a June graduate of The Rice University where he was affiliated with Baker College and was a co-ordinator of The Rice Players.

The couple will be at home in Carbondale, Illinois after a honeymoon to Oklahoma and the Ozarks. The groom will be a graduate student at Southern Illinois University.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Ellis of Lewisville were guests over the week end in the home of the W. O. Alexanders. Mrs. Ellis, the former Betty Alexander, who once lived in Eldorado, is a granddaughter of the W. O. Alexanders. She was one of the bridesmaids at Donna Beth McCormick's wedding. They returned home Saturday after a few hours' visit in San Angelo in the home of her uncle, Lewel J. Alexander.

Mr. and Mrs. Farr of Abilene were week end guests in the P. S. Dudley home.
