Eldorado, Spur, Wallow in Mud In Close Polo Game Sunday

In a close game played in knee-deep mud at Spur Sunday afternoon, the polo team lost to Spur 5-6.

A number of fans from Eldorado and other places accompanied the boys and stayed throughout the game, in spite of rain and mud.

Few of the players gave top performance as the mud was tiring to horses and players alike. Spur has a squad of about 20 players and was able to run in fresh boys and horses often.

Torrential rains had fallen there during the preceding week, a total of 15 inches having fallen up to game time within the week's period.

The second of the two games scheduled will be played here a week from Sunday, October 16, beginning at 2:30. A good crowd is expected from here and surrounding towns, as Eldorado still has a chance to win the finals, the average of the two games providing the final score.

Post Script

The St. Mary's Episcopal Church of this city has authorized a series of four advertisements explaining their faith and inviting interested readers to write for further information. The first of the series appears in the advertising columns of this week's issue of Success.

Dorcas Circle members of the Methodist WSCS were busy this week compiling birthdays of Schleicher county families for the birthday calendar they are assembling. Persons not yet contacted, especially working people and those without phones, were urged this week to give their family birthdays to Mrs. Sandy Donaldson, ph. 250-32, or Mrs. Delbert Taylor, ph. 25831. There is no charge for the birthday listings, it is emphasized, and listings must be in by Nov. 1.

The circle will have the calendars printed and for sale at 50c per copy by December 10th. Advertising on the calendars was sold to merchants a while back, for which circle members express appreciation.

In 1951 the Dorcas circle compiled a Schleicher county birthday calendar for the year 1952, and this calendar is still referred to by some businesses and individuals.

Eagles Play At Robert Lee Tomorrow Night

After an easy victory over Loraine here last Friday night, the Eldorado Eagles will probably take on tougher competition tomorrow when they leave for Robert Lee for their fifth game of the season, starting at 8:00 p. m.

Robert Lee has played four and lost four, while Eldorado has won three of the four games they have played so far this season.

Loraine Loses

Last Friday night the Eagles romped over Loraine to the tune of 39 to 12 in the second home game of the season. A moderate crowd witnessed the contest.

The Eagles started the scoring early in the first quarter and by the half held a 20-0 lead over their opponents. By that time Coach Algoood was making liberal use of his reserves and Loraine picked up their two tallies in the second half.

Other high school games around the area last Friday resulted as follows:

Sonora 14	Rankin 7
Menard 48	Eden 19
Bronte 32	Melvin 0
Ozona 58	Iraan 0
Fredericksburg 21	Junction 6

SONORA LIONS HOSTS TUESDAY TO DIST. GOVERNOR

With an address by District Governor of Corpus Christi as the principal number on the program, the Sonora Lions Club entertained the Sonora and Eldorado members and their ladies with a supper and joint meeting Tuesday night in Sonora.

The groups were served a chicken barbeque supper on the lawn of the Sonora school, and the meeting was also held there. The Sonora president, Al Smith, opened the meeting, and in his brief address commended Buster Hale, secretary, W. T. Whitten, president, and Gus Love, zone chairman of Eldorado, and Sonora leaders, for their good work, and introduced deputy district governor of San Angelo, Bill Vines, who in turn introduced the district governor.

In his address, Mr. Smith commended the women for the part they play in helping Lions carry out their program—"Our potential for service will be multiplied many times, with their help," he stated.

He based his address on the three phases of Lionism: personal ideals and purposes, as exemplified in the Code of Ethics; collective community services; and friendship and fellowship. He concluded his address with the statement, "We can destroy our enemies by making them our friends."

Rev. James Spencer, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Eldorado, dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Lions Skip Meeting

The Eldorado Lions Club did not hold a meeting yesterday and will again skip next week's meeting, in preparation for the meeting a week from today, Thursday at the Memorial Building, when the annual Ladies' Night honoring the teachers, will be held. The supper will be held in the Memorial Building with all of the teachers and their husbands and wives as guests, also board members and wives.

Eldoradoans Present At Education Conference

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kreklow and Mrs. E. H. Nimitz attended the 25th Senatorial District Citizens Conference on Education Saturday at San Angelo College. Mrs. Nimitz attended the meeting on "What Schools Should Accomplish." Mrs. Kreklow attended the division on Adult Education and Mr. Kreklow attended the Curriculum group. Each group was headed by three professional educators who led a round table discussion on the subject of that group.

Mrs. L. D. Ochsner returned home last weekend from a week visit with her mother who was seriously ill at Kamay.

State Fair Special Award Goes to Jimmie Whitten

Jimmie, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Whitten, has been named winner of the 1955 State Fair Honor Award for his 4-H club work.

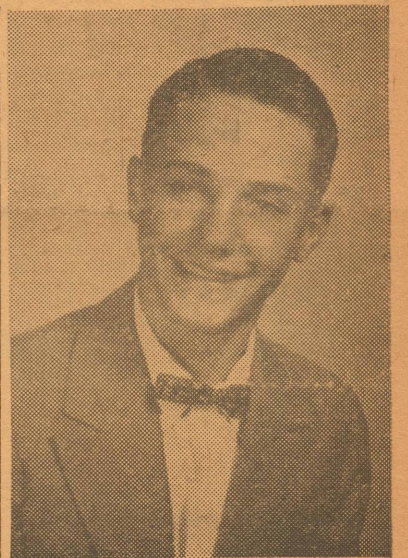

Jimmie and his parents will be guests of the Youth Activities committee at a banquet in the grand ballroom, Hotel Adolphus, Friday, October 14, and the 15th will be a guest at rural youth day.

Armed with a bundle of blue ribbons from judging contest, showmanship and exhibiting livestock, Jimmie was named to receive an expense paid trip to Dallas as a winner of a State Fair honor award. Jimmie started to attract attention in 1953 State Soils team by identifying soils and recommending practices that are entirely different from soils in Schleicher County. He was third high individual in the state in 1953. By continuing his fine work he was selected by individuals unknown to him or to his county agent.

Here's a partial tally on Jimmie's accomplishments that made him one of twelve outstanding 4-H boys in the state:

1954: District high individual, grass identification. Third high individual, state grass identification; member, second high state grass identification team. Fourth high individual, state wool judging; winner county soil conservation award; second overall high individual, plant, range plot, wool and mohair judging, Sonora Wool and Mohair show.

1955: High individual, state and district grass identification; member first place state grass identification team; fourth high individual state wool contest; overall high individual, range conservation and wool and mohair, Sonora Wool and Mohair show; winner county leadership award; consistently placed in local and major shows with fat lambs and registered lambs; showmanship award, champion lamb, Schleicher County

He also has aided in instruction of a soils team, helped younger 4-H members identify grasses and given them lamb fitting demonstrations and assisted in rolling fleeces for a show.

The young 4-H whiz helped teach swimming and rifle safety at district 4-H camps. He helped entertain in his spare time.

NATIONAL LETTER WRITING WEEK — OCTOBER 2 TO 8

National Letter Writing Week is again being observed during the week of October 2 to 8th.

This event presents unlimited possibilities of creating good will. It is through the medium of letters that the intervening miles separating families and friends are bridged with messages of love and hope, and courage. As the result of the observance of Letter Writing Week many home ties are renewed and old friendships are recaptured and new ones discovered.

There is displayed an attractive and colorful poster in the local post office lobby depicting a very early means of communications—the Pony Express. Many heroes could be told of this colorful but short lived enterprise. It is hard to look at this poster without being amazed at the stories that have been attained in simplifying letter writing and transmission down through the years. Letters that it sometimes took months to reach their destination now require only hours to effect delivery.

Postmaster Waller urges everyone to participate in the observance of this friendly event.

Billy Carson of New York is visiting with his mother, Mrs. Russell Donaldson. He arrived here last Friday night for his first trip home in five years.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Faull of Abilene spent Friday night in the Russell Donaldson home.

Recent guests in the Aaron Steward home included Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Steward of San Angelo who visited Friday and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Steward of Rockwood who visited Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Smith visited here last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Jim O'Harrow. The Smith family has moved from Hobbs, N. M., to Iraan.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Faught of Lubbock spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Faught, and took their daughter home after a visit here with her grandparents.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK BY TED GOULDY

One of the largest offerings of cattle of the year appeared at the nation's 12 major livestock markets Monday with over 150,000 cattle were reported. Prices were tending lower at all points.

It was noteworthy that while cattle numbers were large, the offerings of calves around the major markets were around 6,000 under the comparable date a year earlier. This trend toward smaller numbers of calves going to market has been evident all this year and the effect it will have on estimated cattle population, if continued, will be confusing.

At Fort Worth most kinds of cattle and calves were weak to 50 cents lower, except high grade stockers and feeders which were fully steady. Again the order buyers reported that most of the stockers and feeders they bought were destined for Texas or other Southwestern states.

Currently prices of replacement cattle and calves here are equal to or above prices at most of the Cornbelt centers, and it is evident that restocking of the droughty areas is going forward at a fast pace.

Both slaughter and feeder lambs opened strong to $1 higher at Fort Worth Monday. Top fat lambs scored $20, best price in several weeks for the class. Feeder lambs sold at $16.50 down. Yearlings and older sheep were firm.

Mr. and Mrs. Josh Ewing spent last weekend in San Antonio with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Baugh. Mrs. Baugh had minor surgery while they were there.

Mrs. Jim O'Harrow has returned home from San Angelo where she was hospitalized for one week.

Boy Scout Program Has Three Age Groups

To meet a growing need for the training of American boys in such fundamental character values as dependability, initiative, and resourcefulness, the Boy Scout Movement in the United States was organized by a group of interested citizens in February, 1910, under the name "Boy Scouts of America," and incorporated at Washington, D. C. Concho Valley Council was organized in 1925 with headquarters in San Angelo, and now serves a territory of 23½ counties. The Council will join others in Region 9 in launching a drive for funds October 25.

Committeemen for the drive were named recently in each town in the Concho Valley Council. Ed Meador is chairman of the drive in Eldorado. All funds received in the name of the Boy Scouts of America are disbursed in accordance with a clearly defined policy. Accounts of all receipts and expenditures are made public annually in a report to Congress.

In the early years Scouting was a program only for boys of 12 years and over. Today it is a program for boys from 8 years up to the time they become voting citizens, with the Cub Scout Program for boys from 8 through 11, Boy Scout program from 11 through 13, and Exploring for young men of 14 and over.

The Cub Scout Program

For younger boys of eight, nine, and ten years of age, there is the program of "Cub Scouting." Cub Scouting uses women leaders for the small neighborhood groups of Cub Scouts known as "Dens." The women leaders are called "Den Mothers" and meet once a week with their Cub Scouts. Two or more Dens constitute a "Cub Pack" which meets once a month in charge of a male adult leader known as a "Cubmaster." The Cub Scouting majors in handicraft, model making, American Indian lore, and neighborhood play activities. It does not provide for camping, hiking, and other activities designed for older boys.

Cub Scouts receive badges for "Achievements," a series of progressive steps through the ranks of "Wolf, Bear, and Lion Cub." Cub Scouting is very popular with younger boys and prepares the boy for Boy Scouting. Dick Preston is Cubmaster for the Eldorado unit.

The Boy Scout Program

The program of Boy Scouting for boys of eleven, twelve, and thirteen, provides for a boy's advancement through the ranks or "grades" by starting at Tenderfoot and progressing upwards through the ranks of Second Class and First Class, and still higher to Star, Life and Eagle Scout ranks. To attain the rank of Eagle Scout is considered a great achievement and honor on the part of any young man. From Tenderfoot up, each step or grade brings with it more difficult tests to meet which challenge the boy to do his best. Scout training is designed to develop physical strength, mental alertness, and good moral character.

Badges to be worn on the uniform, are awarded for the various ranks, and for meeting the requirements of a choice from over 100 Merit Badge subjects, covering most vocational and hobby interests of boys of Scout age. Some of the most popular Merit Badges are Camping, Cooking, Pioneering, Swimming, Personal Health, Athletics, Civics, First Aid, Firemanship, Public Health, Bird Study, Carpentry, and Home Repairs. Billy Frank Blaylock is Scoutmaster of the Eldorado troop.

The Explorer Program

When a young man reaches the age of 14, he may, if he wishes, join an Explorer Crew in his own Troop, or join a unit specializing in such advanced activities as Sea Exploring, Air Exploring, or Exploring. Each of these has its distinctive program.

Brief History

Scouting in the United States since 1910 has grown from a membership of a few thousand to its present enrollment of more than 3,450,000 boys and adult leaders. Since its organization there have been over 23,000,000 registered members.

In a membership of over 1,065,000 adult Scout leaders, a relatively small group of 2854 trained professional executives serve in key positions across the country. They are responsible to volunteer Executive Boards, nationally and locally, for the promotion and supervision of the Movement, and the training of leaders. Only men of good character are accepted for leadership positions in the Boy Scouts of America.

Scouting in Texas

There are 163,993 youngsters in Scouting in Texas according to a recent count. But there are 772,950 boys of Scouting age yet to be served. Thus, in Texas, Scouting reaches only one out of 4.7 boys of Scouting age. No boy should be denied the benefits of Scouting for lack of funds, it is pointed out. Leaders of the Boy Scouts take seriously their responsibility to every boy wanting to become a Scout. Today, nationwide, one of every four boys enjoys Scouting.

FIVE-COUNTY COUNCIL SCHEDULED TO MEET

There will be a Five County Council PTA meeting in San Angelo in the Cactus Hotel Saturday, October 8 at 9:30 a.m. This is a meeting to re-organize the Council following the re-districting of the state. Sterling City has been taken out of District 6 and this leaves only four counties in the council. Menard County has been added to District 6 and can be added to the council. Every council delegate is urged to attend this meeting. The executive board will meet at 9:30 and the general assembly at 10 a.m.

Suggestions Offered On Poultry Culling

College Station. Culling, one of the oldest flock management practices used by poultrymen for maintaining high egg production, is less important today because of changes being made in flock handling methods. Little culling, except to remove the hopelessly sick or unthrifty birds, should be needed for the first eight to nine months of production. Ben Wormeli, extension poultry husbandman, says taking a young hen from the flock just because she fails to lay for a few days is a sure way to cut income.

Wormeli adds that this may seem to contradict former recommendations about culling but it doesn't. He says egg producers who are most successful replace the entire laying flock with pullets at the end of each laying year, thereby eliminating the job of trying to select the best hens to carry over for the second year of production.

Too, the specialist explains, breeding methods have been intensified to the extent that where top quality chicks have been used the resulting flock will lay at a rate for eight or nine months that makes culling of healthy hens unnecessary. If a flock of top bred birds is not laying at a high rate, Wormeli says the poultryman had best do some checking on the care and management his hens have been receiving. When corrections are made, the flock should return to a satisfactory rate of lay.

The poultryman has an investment of from $1.75 to $2.25 in a pullet by the time she begins to produce. This cost, points out Wormeli, must be recovered along with the expense of keeping her in production before any profit can be realized. The replacement flock must be well bred to justify these costs.

If a hen is removed by close culling early in the laying year, she is a sure money loser because she didn't have a chance to pay off the investment. Studies are now indicating, says the specialist, that a hen may take as long as a two weeks' pause and lay a profitable number of eggs before the end of the laying year. If she had been culled early, this couldn't happen.

On the other hand, Wormeli says if the hen goes out of production near the end of the laying year, she should be culled because there isn't sufficient time for her to make a recovery and produce a worthwhile number of eggs.

These studies point up the need for poultrymen to be very careful about buying only chicks for the laying flock which have the very best breeding in them, says Wormeli. Too, he says, research findings are showing there is a correlation between death losses in chicks and mortality in the flocks produced from the chicks.

What do we mean - "Catholic"

For many hundred years after Christ's resurrection there was only one church that taught Christianity. It was known as the Holy Catholic Church. In fact, the word "Catholic" means universal. The Episcopal Church is one of the great branches of the One Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church.

The full name of our church is the Protestant Episcopal Church. It is protestant in that it did away with certain abuses which developed in the church during the middle ages, and to this day it protests the error of what it considers to be unwarranted and unscriptural additions to the ancient faith and subtractions from it.

Yet, it remains Catholic. As the Book of Common Prayer says—"because it is universal, holding earnestly to the faith for all time, in all countries and for all people, and is sent to preach the gospel to the whole world."

The Episcopal Church is not "just another denomination." It is a democratic and constitutional Catholic Communion—a true part of the historic Catholic Church. More than 45,000,000 Anglicans the world over join in worshipping, each in his own language, according to the Book of Common Prayer.

The Episcopal Church, through its Catholic teaching and tradition, may provide for you the sturdy faith you've been seeking. Join us in church—today.

By PERRY COX
 I heard an architect recently tell the story of the first client who came into his office in Oklahoma City some years ago. He relates that a woman came in with a large handbag, explaining that she would like for him to place his approval on some blueprints which she had designed for a future home. She had everything drawn to suit her specifications and was in hope that the architect would simply place his stamp of approval upon it, indicating thereby that the plans were just as he would have made them himself.

Many Christians try to deal with God in much the same manner. They have mapped out a plan for their lives, drawn the blueprint, so to speak, and have decided just exactly how they would like to live their life. Then they carry these flimsy plans to the Lord and expect Him to place His stamp of approval upon the way they want to live.

Jesus lived a life after which all Christians should desire to pattern themselves. We will never learn the meaning of true happiness in living until we can say, "Mould me and make me, after THY will . . . and not ours."

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hopson of Odessa spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ashmore. Sunday guests in the Ashmore home included Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Terry and Dana of San Angelo.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Shades of Tom Sawyer!

Hack Willis had just stopped the tractor so's he could cool off at the pump, when a young insurance salesman came up the drive.

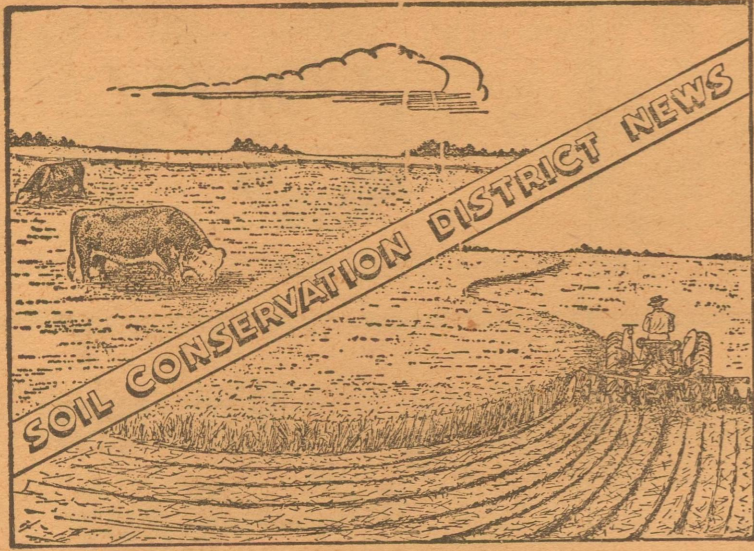

Hack was tired of plowing, and needed insurance on his new barn. But he also needed to get that winter rye in fast. The salesman, an eager kid, noticed hesitation. "I come from a farm," he said. "Why don't you look at these booklets—get all the dope—and I'll take that plow a couple of rounds for you."

Young fellow laid off a pretty straight furrow, too. It was almost dark before Hack—sitting in the shade—was able to decide just what kind of policy to get.

From where I sit, to be a good salesman—or a good citizen—it always helps to "put yourself in the other man's place." He may have a different sort of job with different problems . . . he may prefer to close a deal over, say, a friendly glass of beer while you might prefer something else. But both of you can co-operate if you make it a "policy" to try.

With the harvest of grain sorghums getting under way, many farmers in the Eldorado Divide Soil Conservation district, will soon be preparing the land for another crop. "Farmers should fully realize the importance of crop residue and its place in maintaining soil fertility and in aiding soil and moisture conservation," states Lloyd B. Johnson, of the Soil Conservation service.

Crop residue (grain stubble and straw) should not be turned completely under, but should be mixed in with the topsoil in such a manner that much of it remains exposed. This method of soil preparation—often called stubble mulching, aids in the following ways:

The stubble mulch serves to break the force of raindrops and prevents the compaction of the surface layer of soil. By eliminating a compacted layer, rate of infiltration of water into the soil is increased, and runoff is reduced. The litter also makes many small air pockets in the surface soil and thus increases the capacity of the soil to store water.

The litter on the surface of the land helps to slow down the water during heavy rains. Each straw serves as a tiny dam, holding the moisture and permitting much of it to soak into the soil. Evaporation caused by wind and sun action is also greatly reduced.

Wind erosion is much less on soil covered with crop residue than on bare soil. The crop residue greatly reduces the velocity of the wind at the ground surface. Furthermore, the residue prevents the wind from striking the ground directly, and therefore helps to prevent it from picking up soil.

In addition, the decaying plant litter improves the physical condition of the soil. The soil is kept more porous and develops a mellow condition that helps to prevent surface crusting and cracking.

Although crop residue management is one of the most important soil and water conservation practices in use today, it can be used in normal farming operations at little or no inconvenience to the farmer, stated technicians of the Soil Conservation Service assisting Eldorado Divide Soil Conservation District.
