Hospital Board Deals With Legal Problems In Second Meeting

The second regular meeting of the Hospital District Board of Directors was held in the County Judge's office Monday night, starting at 8:00 p.m. Present were: Carroll Raliff, president; Ronnie Mittel, secretary; and Ed Meador, Oran Enochs, Elton McGinnes, Peyton Cain and Bill Watson directors; and Fred Gunstead.

Under the bill passed by the Texas Legislature and signed by the Governor, the Hospital District will operate in co-operation with the county tax assessor and collector as far as taxes are concerned. Orval Edmiston met with the board and presented figures on what a 30c and 35c tax rate would bring in each year after various deductions and discounts have been taken into account.

This information was necessary since the Hospital Board will be required to set a tax rate some time in July. This matter was postponed to a later meeting but it was generally understood that the maximum tax rate for the hospital would not exceed 35c.

In order to comply with the terms of the "charter" setting up the Hospital District, the directors voted to use the Judge's office as a temporary official office of the hospital board.

Since the new board is just getting under way, they referred again to their legal "charter" and designated the First National Bank in Eldorado as the district depository, and set out procedures for making purchases in the name of the Board.

Bill Gunstead appeared before the Board at a late hour and snapped pictures of the group.

Later on the meeting developed into a bull session and Mr. Raliff reported that Dr. Brame had been here Sunday, and laid down certain requirements for coming to Eldorado and taking charge of the hospital after it was built. Raliff read a list of Brame's requests and the board members found that all of them were very reasonable.

It seems to be a foregone conclusion that recommendations made by the old steering committee will be adopted—

(1) That Don Goss will be selected as the architect.

(2) That Gordon Charlton and Jack Brown will handle the bonds.

But some of those things are being postponed to the next regular meeting.

In the meantime our readers are urged to be patient "the Mills of God grind slowly." It's going to work out.

Post Script

Earl Dean Clark has taken on a big job at his Eldorado Welding Shop—building four tall towers for the new football field, on top of which will be mounted the flood lights for night games.

The job calls for four 80-foot towers and two 100-ft. ones—each a 3-leg affair.

On Monday Earl had parts of two 80-ft. jobs welded together and was preparing to go ahead with the other two. His final job will be putting the third leg on each one. After these four are completed he will start on the two 100-footers.

The legs and horizontal braces are made of 2½-inch pipe, with lighter material for cross arms.

Earl's contract calls for having the towers all ready for delivery by July 15th. He said Monday that he had arranged for the services of another welder to help on the job in order to give him time to handle the run of welding jobs from regular customers throughout the county.

Boys State To Start In Austin Saturday

RUSTY MEADOR

Local delegate to the annual Boys State which starts in Austin Saturday will be Rusty Meador, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Meador.

Seven hundred and fifty high school boys will be representing their schools from throughout the state when American Legion Boys State commences its annual activities in Austin on June 10, 1967, Jack W. Flynt, Department Commander has announced.

The popular Legion program will be in session on the Campus of the University of Texas from June 10 to June 17, Commander Flynt said. Sessions will move to the State Capitol on Friday, June 16, where the newly elected officials will govern for the day.

The first Boys State program was held in Austin on June 10, 1940, with 108 boys attending. The program has steadily grown in size until the present ceiling was reached in 1965.

Boys State in Texas can be thought of as a mythical 51st state, where each citizen participates in the program of "learning by doing." When a boy arrives at Boys State, knowing no one and little more about Boys State itself, and works himself up to holding a state office, he can truthfully and honestly say he has learned by doing.

The American Legion in 49 states will sponsor Boys States where boys who have just completed their Junior year in high school will study the organization, operation, and political processes of state government. Youths will participate in the organization of political parties, campaigns, elections, and the enactment and enforcement of their own laws within the mythical state.

"Boys State is one of the outstanding youth training programs of the Americanism Commission of The American Legion," Commander Flynt stated. "Not only do the youths learn more about the functions of government but also they see the importance of the role played by each citizen in discharging his basic citizenship responsibilities. They soon discover how the quality of government is related directly to the active interest of each citizen."

Keynote speaker for this year's program will be Dr. H. Roe Bartle of Kansas City, Missouri. Dr. Bartle, a former mayor of Kansas City, has received numerous academic degrees and has been honored by ten foreign countries for his efforts in the cause of freedom. Dr. Bartle, who is sometimes called America's number one speaker is, by popular demand, a repeater from 1965 and 1966 sessions. His address is scheduled Wednesday evening, June 14th in the Student Union.

BELK GETS TECH DEGREE

Lubbock, Texas.—More than 1,500 students applied for degrees at Texas Tech's commencement exercises held June 3.

Exercises were held in Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

The list of degree candidates included Harley Allen Belk, who received his bachelor of science degree. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Belk of Schleicher county.

Visiting here with Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Davis recently were the Marshall Davis family of Taft.

Mother Dog Kills Her Own Puppies

Jim and Maggie Davis were at home last Thursday evening when their German Shepherd dog began to deliver her expected litter of purebred puppies. By midnight, she had given birth to a dozen.

The mother dog killed three of them. The Davises, fearing for the safety of the remaining nine, then began feeding them with a baby bottle. It's reported to be quite a job, since Jim works here for Northern Natural and Maggie is a beautician at Mary's Beauty Shop.

The puppies are to be placed on the market when they are old enough, according to Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

Wildlife Meeting Is Set For Monday

A meeting which will be of interest to sportsmen and ranchers is scheduled by the Parks and Wildlife Department at the Memorial Building here Monday, June 12th, starting at 2:00 p.m.

In the Edwards Plateau, Oak Prairie and South Central areas, which are under regulatory authority of the Parks and Wildlife Department, sufficient interest has been indicated in having an early season on antlerless deer and the subject of a deer season extending into January to justify placing the subject on the county session agendas, according to the Department.

A Department spokesman said no recommendation is being made at this time on the above topics and that the subjects are merely being opened for broad consideration at the county meetings.

The county meetings are required under the law to give all interested persons an opportunity to discuss proposed game and fish regulations. Recommendations of the county level are then relayed for finalizing seasons in the different areas at the regular July meeting of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission.

Special Swim Hours Set For Young Adults

In response to a request from young employed adults, Mr. and Mrs. Riley have agreed to open the swimming pool from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m., on Monday and Thursday each week.

Regular hours at the pool are from 2:00 to 6:00 p.m., each day except Monday. The new special days are for those who are unable to enjoy the pool during those hours. The 35c admission will prevail.

Three Boys Leaving Sunday For Camp

Three excited Eldorado youngsters can hardly wait till Sunday when they'll arrive at The Salvation Army's Camp Hobbitzelle at Midlothian, Texas for a whole week of outdoor fun.

They'll enjoy swimming, boating, water-skiing, horseback riding, archery and many other supervised indoor and outdoor activities.

Camp Chairman Bob McWhorter said the boys attending will be: Archie Posey, Chris Pena and James Daniels. They were selected by the Eldorado Salvation Army Service Unit Committee.

The 310 Salvation Army Service Units in Texas will send 800 boys to Camp Hobbitzelle during four consecutive weeks in June and July.

The Camp is located seven miles south of Midlothian and eight miles west of Waxahachie on 340 acres of gently rolling woodland. Campers are housed in attractive redwood and brick cabins. Camp counselors direct and supervise activities, and experts prepare nutritious meals to meet the needs of growing youngsters.

The Eldorado boys will go to the Camp by car. Transportation will be provided by Orval Edmiston.

The gifts of over 100 Texans provided the funds to make Camp Hobbitzelle possible. A winterizing program is now under way to extend the use of facilities year around. The Salvation Army operates the camp for the benefit of youngsters who would not otherwise have the opportunity to enjoy camp life.

Little League Off With Double Header

Little League, popular summer entertainment, was launched in Eldorado with a double-header on Tuesday, with one game starting at 6:00 p.m., and the second at 8:00.

Because of daylight saving even the second game started in broad daylight, but proceeded under lights. Large and enthusiastic crowds witnessed both games.

White Sox and Tigers were opponents in the first game and it ended with the Tigers having a total of 17 runs and the White Sox 10. Although all the boys have been working out under direction of their managers for several weeks, they all showed a certain amount of nervousness in this first game but they are expected to settle down as the season advances.

The second game which started at 8:00 was between the Red Sox and Christoval Cougars. It ended with a score of 18 to 4 in favor of the Cougars.

If any of the three Eldorado teams expect to come up as season champions this year, the Cougars are the team they will have to beat. The Christoval boys are all of uniform size and it appears they have had a lot of pre-season training and practice. Their pitcher Tuesday night was somewhat "wild" and allowed the Red Sox a number of bases on balls, but they were effective at bat and their infield players were pretty good on defense.

Which of the three Eldorado teams will come up as their strongest opponents will be determined as the season develops.

The Cougars will be here again tonight (Thursday) when they play the White Sox.

On Friday, June 9, there will be a minor league game at 6:00.

Monday, June 12: Cougars vs. Tigers.

Tuesday, June 13: White Sox vs. Red Sox.

On The Screen . . .

'The Appaloosa' Is A Western Now On

Riding out of the dust along the Mexican border in 1870 comes Marlon Brando—grimy, gamy, trail-weary and with a year's growth of matted beard to mumble in.

Brando is in his element, slumped in that Mexican saddle. Visions of Viva Zapata and One-Eyed Jacks shimmer in the desert heat.

The mount he rides is an Appaloosa, and The Appaloosa is the deceptive title of this western that is showing Wednesday and Thursday nights of this week at the Eagle Drive-In. It is in color.

At first glance, one might think The Appaloosa could be an equestrian documentary—a sort of Son of the Rare Breed. One should know better with Brando holding the reins.

The Appaloosa, a stallion that means the start of a horse ranch for the impoverished Brando, is stolen from him and becomes a symbol to be retrieved.

Even more interesting, however, is the brilliant camera work of Russell Mettley and the provocative lighting by John McCarthy and Oliver Emert.

The story is well cast, too—with Brando as the drifter, John Saxon as the bandit, Texas-born Anjanette Comer as the girl, Frank Silvera as a goat-herd, Rafael Campos as Brando's friend and partner, Emilio Fernandez as the bandit's aide and Alex Montoya as a murderous henchman.

Some viewers may find the unusual lighting and the startling camera angles which director Sidney J. Furieh has worked into this production a distraction, but these facets are of such interesting magnitude that they make a major contribution to create the feeling of tension and suspense which this film needs.

Furieh is making his American debut with The Appaloosa; his best-known work as an English director was The Ipress File. The Appaloosa employs a vastly different technique than The Ipress File. Lighting and camera angle limn character and incident. There are huge closeups that fill the screen, there are longshots to emphasize the vast reaches of the resolute land. There are limly lighted scenes with a small spot of light on an actor's face concentrating attention and there are shots through posts, through screens, and through horses' legs.

There is some failure in developing the explosiveness of the Brando character in the way in which the opening sequences would suggest when he returns to his home to threaten and challenge the badman. When he challenges the bandits, he is ignominiously roped and dragged through a river, then hung up to dry.

He braces the bandit den only to be caught rather easily. The bandit offers him a chance for life in a bout of Indian wrestling, with the loser's arm forced into the stinger of a deadly scorpion.

But Brando survives all these problems and comes through with his horse, returning with the girl to his friends at the river with the indication that now they can start the horse ranch in more peaceful circumstances.

The Appaloosa is peopled with fierce-appearing Mexican types, broad hats, bandoliers of ammunition draped about their shoulders. And Saxon is the fiercest of the lot. Even his heavy Mexican accent is more understandable than some of Brando's mumbles in his excellent creation of the bandit, descendant of a noble family and recipient of a decent code he has turned into something evil.

In a word: In camera angle, scenic beauty, lighting, and action, one of the best.

The cast:
 Matt ----- Marlon Brando
 Trini ----- Anjanette Comer
 Chuy ----- John Saxon
 Lazaro ----- Emilio Fernandez
 Squint Eye ----- Alex Montoya
 Ana ----- Miriam Colon
 Paco ----- Rafael Campos
 Ramos ----- Frank Silvera
 Priest ----- Larry D. Mann

COUNTY AGENT'S COLUMN

by Tiny Godwin

Schleicher County Agricultural Agent

With the coming of rain, all livestock owners are asked to be on the alert for screwworm cases. To date some 35 cases have been confirmed in the state. During the same period over one-third of a million sterile flies were air dropped. Submit samples of any worms found to the Mission Laboratory for identification.

Farming is one of the most hazardous occupations in the United States.

There are five reasons which lend support to the above statement.

Because the farmer engages in a wide variety of operations, he does not develop the high degree of proficiency that is acquired by factory workers who perform a single task, year in and year out. In doing his job, the farmer uses many different kinds of equipment in the course of a single day.

A second reason is that today's agricultural production depends on the use of vast and varying amounts of power, ranging from a fractional horsepower motor on a drill press to hundreds of horsepower on heavy equipment. The control of this wide range of power, under widely varying conditions, depends upon the knowledge, training and skill of the farm operator.

The general lack of training in operation of high speed and high-powered equipment is a third reason for accidents. Many agricultural workers learn in a haphazard manner—either from others (picking up bad habits as well as good), or from experience which can be costly.

A lack of supervision in most farm operations causes a wide deviation from accepted farm safety procedures. This factor keeps the accident figure high.

The final reason for the high rate of farm accidents stems from a lack of safety promotion and safety consciousness. The history of farm safety goes back 23 years, as compared to 40 years in industry.

Bachelor: A fellow who never finds out how many faults he has.

Boll-weevil survival in 1967 is higher than in 1966. In areas in the cotton producing areas the U. S.D.A. reports enough weevils will emerge to cause serious trouble if weather is favorable.

Farm animals, for some unexplained reason, seem to have a liking for small bits of wire, nails, scraps of hardware, screws, and bolts. Many owners have been made aware of this fact through the loss of a valuable animal.

The damage is usually caused by irritation or puncture from swallowing the object. In most instances the loss could have been prevented.

These suggestions for eliminating future losses can be followed:

Remove wire fences which are weak from rust before small bits of the wire drop into the grass and become a hazard to grazing livestock. After a construction job in the barnyard area has been com-

Spring Fling Time

The season's right. The picnickers are waiting. So let's dust off the hamper and polish up a few ideas about picnic foods. This year why not try franks topped with sauerkraut? Or wrapped with strips of cheese and bacon? To glorify hamburgers, spoon on hot baked beans — or the sloppy Joe mixture — out of cans. Or smother burgers with Bermuda slices or bitey cheese, for tastes that approve. Next pass individual bags of potato chips, apples and cold drinks. For dessert, a big box of chocolate chip cookies. Homemade, of course, from my recipe below. Simple menu? That's the idea. Now it's a picnic for everyone. Including you.

Frank-a-Bobs: Cut each frank into 5 pieces. Alternate on skewers with pineapple chunks; brush with salad oil. Broil over hot coals, turning until browned. Serve on toasted frankfurter buns with mustard or barbecue sauce.

Prefer hamburger? Try these Double Deckers: Combine 2 pounds ground beef, 2 eggs, 2 teaspoons salt, dash of pepper and 1/2 cup bread crumbs. Shape into 20 thin hamburger patties. On half the patties, spread one or more fillings (below); top with remaining thin patties and seal edges. Place on grill 4 to 6 inches from hot coals. Cook 15 minutes or until done, turning once. 10 hamburgers.

Fillings to Mix and Match: Dill pickle slices, pickle relish, prepared mustard, catsup, horseradish, chopped onions, onion slices, Cheddar cheese slices, pasteurized cheese spread . . . Now, for the cookies here's everybody's favorite.

CHOCOLATE CHIP COOKIES
 1/2 cup soft butter
 1 cup brown sugar (packed)
 1 egg
 2 cups Bisquick
 1/2 cup chopped nuts
 1 package (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate pieces

Heat oven to 375°. Mix butter, brown sugar and egg. Stir in Bisquick, nuts and chocolate pieces. Drop dough by rounded teaspoonfuls about 2 inches apart onto ungreased baking sheet. Bake about 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes about 4 dozen 1 1/2-inch cookies. Don't forget the bottle opener! And, the salt and pepper! Have fun.

it to make it useful.

Iron chlorosis has been showing up in many lawns and ornamental plants in the county. Symptoms are generally a yellowing of the green foliage due to failure of chlorophyll to develop normally.

The chlorosis occurs in susceptible plants where and when iron is not available to them. This lack of iron may be due to a deficiency or to the iron being unavailable because of alkaline conditions. In either case, iron supplied by ferrous sulfate or iron chelates will be beneficial.

Ferrous sulfate can be applied as a foliar spray at the rate of two teaspoons per gallon of water, plus a spreader-sticker. A teaspoon of household detergent can be used as the spreader-sticker. The spray should be applied in the late afternoon to avoid leaf burn and should be repeated in about 10 days if the yellowing persists.

The iron sulfate can also be applied to the soil as a fertilizer. Apply to trees and shrubs in holes made in a circle just inside the spread of the branches. A five-foot tall shrub requires about a fourth of a pound. A tree should have three-fourths of a pound for each inch of trunk diameter. In the case of highly alkaline soil, the foliar spray is more effective than soil application.

Close growing plants such as grass should receive an application of four pounds per 1,000 square feet. Any soil application should be watered immediately.

If you insist upon perfection, make the first demand on yourself.

Sonora Hospital Seeks Candy Stripers

Applications for "candy stripers" teen-age hospital volunteers are being taken by the Hudspeth Hospital in Sonora.

Al Everett, administrator at the hospital, said the program is open to 15-year-olds up to high school graduates. The volunteer program is aimed at acquainting sophomores, juniors and seniors with the career opportunities in health work. He said fields of work at Hudspeth that were open to candy stripers would be nursing, laboratory, and medical records.

No pay is given candy stripers, but they work up to four hours a day in a merit program aimed at special recognition awards. The program will last through mid-

August.

Any local young people interested in further information on the program should get in touch with Mrs. Jack Montgomery here in Eldorado.

Lions Club Installs New Officers For Year

The Eldorado Lions Club held a ladies night and installation program Monday night in the Memorial Building.

Marvin Allen of San Angelo, incoming governor of District 2A-1, was the installing officer.

While the new slate of incoming officers does not officially take office until July 1st, the program was held Monday as is the custom at this time of year. There was no club meeting held Wednesday.

Bill Rountree as president heads the new officers. Others installed were: P. S. Dudley, Lion Tamer; Ralph Waldron, Tail Twister; C. T. Humphries, A. G. McCormack, and L. D. Mund, vice presidents; Raymond Hall, sec-treas.; Bud Davidson and W. B. Shipman, new directors; and Granvil Hext and L. E. McCalla, hold-over directors.

Charles Wimer, who will retire as president of the local club, has been named zone chairman of Region 3, Zone 6.

The Lions Club Sweetheart for the current year, Susan Hill, was present escorted by Danny Halbert. Lion Allen conducted an informal installation ceremony which was well received by all. Other entertainment was given by Mrs. Martha Lee Meador and Mrs. Marylue Olson.

At the beginning of the evening, the group sang "America" accompanied by Mrs. John Stigler at the piano. P. S. Dudley led the Flag salute, and Fred Watson gave the invocation.

Boss Lion Wimer commended Doug Yates and his table decoration committee.

It was pointed out that the Eldorado and Sonora Lions Clubs will observe their 40th anniversaries in the Spring of 1968. Plans are under way for the two clubs to have a joint observance of the event.

James Monroe Dacy has rented a Riley house.

David Childers and Charm Sudduth of Dallas visited here over the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Childers. Mr. and Mrs. Childers expect Mrs. J. W. Phillips and children to visit this week.

How times have changed! Once upon a time a man planned and dreamed and worked toward the time when he would not have to do hard work, could "take it easy" and rest in the sun all day.

And what do you think has happened to all these nice plans now? The experts have scared the daylight out of us—that's what has happened to them. They have taken all the joy out of the "take it easy" philosophy. They even have a name for what happens to a body when the exercise is cut out. It's fairly long and I think it must be Greek. At least it is to me.

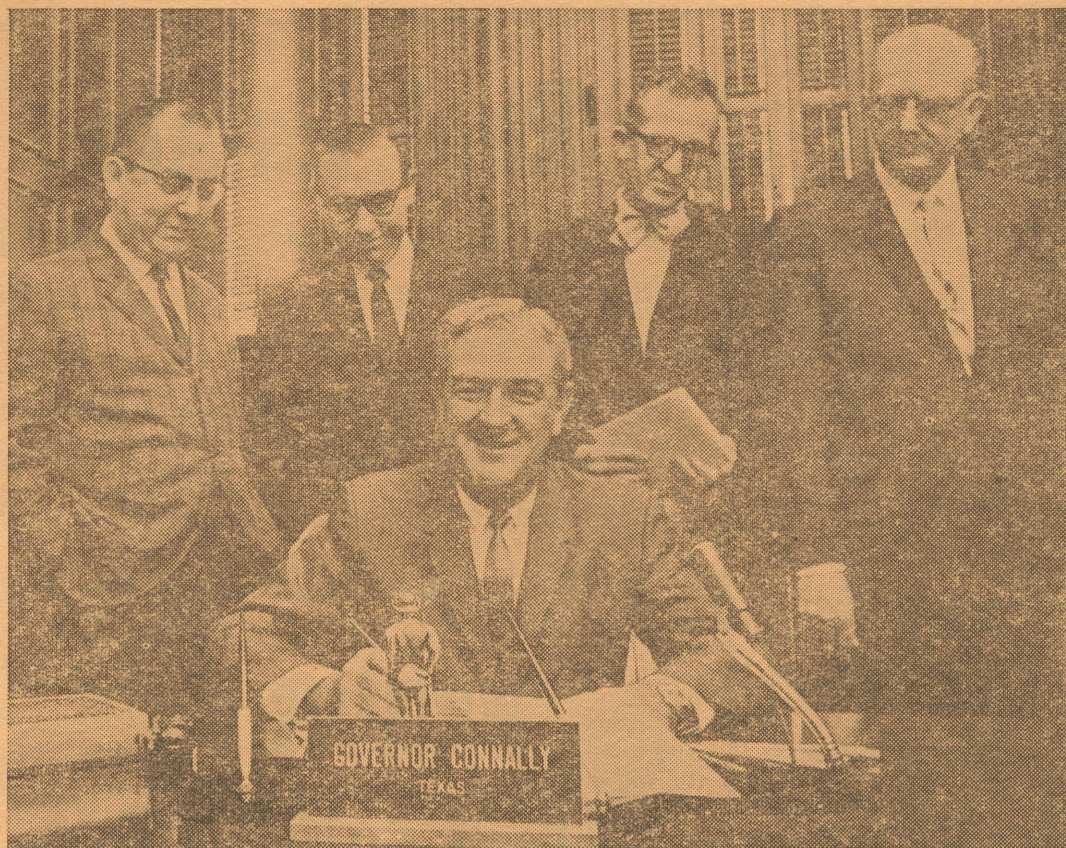

Hypokinesia is the word. It means deconditioning due to the lack of exercise. Hypokinesia is a serious and major health problem in the United States today. The children are involved too—studies show that the children of Europe are more physically fit than our own, right here in the land of plenty.

Occasionally I hear this question, and have even asked it myself, "What good is all the space program, anyway?" The attention being paid to the tremendous value of exercise to the human body (that's you) has come directly out of the space study.

Blackie and Breezy started it all. You may not remember but they were the two dogs the Russians flew in orbit for 22 days. All kinds of bad things happened to Blackie and Breezy. Instead of landing on earth all rested up from their trip, they reported in with serious troubles.

They lost a great deal of weight and believe me some of us would even dare to be put in orbit if that were guaranteed but that was not all. Muscles, which were unused simply wasted away; the heart action was speeded up, calcium levels raised seriously in the blood and urine, and their bodies were seriously dehydrated.

Lack of activity will cause these conditions, according to researcher Anthony A. Albanese, Ph. D. of the New York University College of Medicine. Any of these things troubling you?

OPEN MEETINGS NOW MANDATORY—Gov. John Connally signs Senate Bill 94 in the presence of Garth Jones, Associated Press; Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena, sponsor of the bill; Stuart Long, Long News Service, Austin; and Don Scarbrough, Williamson County Sun, Georgetown. All are members of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, one of several groups that urged the bill's passage. Jones is president of the Austin SDX Chapter and Capitol Correspondent for AP. Scarbrough is a member of Texas Press Association's legislative committee. Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville, House sponsor, was unable to be present. Under the terms of the bill all meetings of official public bodies must be open to the press and to the public. Connally proclaimed the law "a great step forward for the people of Texas."

- Stiffness of muscle
- Fatigue
- Weakness
- Sensitivity
- Incoordination
- Instability
- Atrophy (wasting away)
- Asthenia (means no strength)
- Ataxia (inability to coordinate)
- Myocardial ischemia (heart trouble)
- Osteoporosis porous bones and all of this because of a lack of exercise. Dr. Albanese says this about the situation: "Muscular wasting away which occurs with no activity can be expected to have real and dangerous effects on the skeleton. In the absence of the stress and strains of daily living, the structure of complex bone becomes porous. A gradual loss of minerals makes the bones easily fractured and at the same time releases abnormal amounts of calcium into the circulation system which may cause kidney damage."

Did you notice what I did, that stress and strain was actually good for us and the way I read it stress and strain of the every day likely could keep a hip from breaking when we fall.

X-ray evidence of bone demineralization was found in the astronauts of Gemini IV following a 12-hour flight.

So—no flowery bed of ease for me; I've just decided what I'm going to do with this daylight I've saved: I'm going home and take a walk.

"Your heredity and food you eat plus your motivation plus your physical activity equal you" is a good equation to follow for effective living.

I've seen the time lately that I sincerely wished for some of those old fashioned, twisted metal, lightning rods, the kind that stuck up all over the house top and though I never knew it, were forerunners of T V antennas.

A properly installed lightning protection system will give the same safety today and can be bought and installed just as the lightning rods were of another time. The new systems don't show.

This I promised a long time ago. Thanks to Mrs. Curly Hays of Abilene, I'm delighted to give you the recipe for—

- LBJ Ice Cream Pecan Pie
- 2 cups sugar
 - 3 tablespoons flour
 - 1 cup milk
 - 1 cup cream
 - 4 egg yolks
 - 1 tablespoon butter
 - 1 cup pecans
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1/8 teaspoon salt (my idea of a pinch).

Mix sugar, flour and salt in a saucepan. Beat egg yolks and add to milk. Beat again and add cream. Cook over double boiler, or low heat, until mixture is thick. Add vanilla and pecans. Pour into a baked pie shell. Top with meringue. Brown in a slow oven for 12 to 15 minutes.

It's so good, but watch it; it's loaded; with calories, I mean.

Last Disney Film A Heart Warmer

Before his death last December, Walt Disney left his own most eloquent epitaph in the form of his last motion picture, Follow Me, Boys, a gee-whiz, heart-warmer that epitomizes everything the signature stood for.

It will come in color to the Eagle Drive-In screen Friday and Saturday nights. This was Disney's final gift to the search-weary patrons who continually haunt the theater ads looking for family entertainment.

Follow Me, Boys, not only is typical Disney, but it is better Disney. Which means that the action starring Fred MacMurray, Vera Miles, Charles Rugles and Lillian Gish will probably win no awards, but it will win the hearts of those who see it.

This film is based on God and Country, a story about the Boy Scouts written by MacKinlay Kantor. It is a story of schmaltz, with overtones of corn, but it will be the rare viewer who does not feel a tug at the heart strings or a slight opening of the tear ducts.

Into a small "typically American" town, during the height of the Depression, comes penniless band musician Fred MacMurray. MacMurray, who's been a Disney star in enough pictures to know what to do next, takes his battered suitcase off the bus, settles down as a clerk in Charlie Ruggles' general store, and woos and wins Vera Miles, the pretty bank clerk.

He never quite gets that law degree, slowly turning gray through two decades and two hours of running time devoted to MacMurray devoting his life to shaping young lives as a Scoutmaster.

Disney and Director Norman Tokar miss no opportunities for pathos during the span that includes everything from heart tugs to heart attacks. Once, they lose sight of the objective, spinning off to a three-reel segment that virtually is a movie within a movie, about some of MacMurray's World War II scouts disrupting army maneuvers. If it disrupts the picture, it also gets laughs.

Young Kurt Russell is cast as the boys from the other side of the tracks who finds acceptance as a scout, and embarrassment when his drunken father comes to a pack meeting. There's Lillian Gish in a courtroom scene as she tries to prove she isn't mentally unbalanced because she wants to donate that valuable land for a Scout clubhouse. There's the freckled club who grows up to be governor. And there's that God and My Country ingredient to every scene—which is the name of the book on which Disney based his movie.

Austin.—Six proposed changes in the Texas Constitution were approved by the 60th Legislature for submission to voters this fall—November 11th.

These proposals are as follows: —SJR 6 authorizing counties to pay medical, doctor and hospital bills of county law enforcement officers injured in line of duty. —HJR 16 providing for ad valorem tax exemption for property in temporary custody at a warehouse. —HJR 20 altering investment procedures for University of Texas permanent fund. —HJR 22 specifying that legislators will not be ineligible for other offices because their terms extend a few days into January. —HJR 49 eliminating the requirement that the governor, secretary of state and comptroller approve contracts for printing and paper. —HJR 50 authorizing the legislature to provide for refund of tax on cigars and tobacco products sold at retail in Texarkana. —HJR 60 permitting consolidation of offices and governmental functions in El Paso and Tarrant counties. —HJR 61 raising legislators' salaries from $4,800 to $8,400 a year and extending per diem expense allowance from 120 to 140 days of the regular session.

Special Session ?

Legislators knew their job was little more than half finished when they adjourned at midnight May 29. Governor John Connally cheerfully reminded them that he would "see them in the fall or next year" meaning that that is when the 1969 budget and a balancing tax bill must be written. Later, Connally told reporters that it is highly unlikely he will call the special finance session before next year. He hinted that next year's tax bill may be less than the predicted $150 million to $200 million and he does not intend to recommend an increase in the general sales tax rate.

Courts Speak

State Supreme Court reversed a 43-year-old rule requiring a property owner to warn employees of a sub-contractor of hidden dangers on the property. Case involved a Nueces County welder injured in an accident. Court said injured worker's own employer and foreman should have warned him of threats to his safety. In another case, the Supreme Court upheld a decision of the Dallas Court of Civil Appeals that questions of usury and unreasonable collection methods should be considered together. Case dealt with a $42-a-week yardman's suit against Pacific Finance Loans and Bond Finance Company.

Ward County District Court judgment that salinity content of water furnished by a water district caused $16,344 worth of damages to a milo maize crop also was sustained by the higher Court.

Funds For Aging Program O. K.'d

A $140,774 program to develop community programs of direct service to the aged in Lubbock, Big Spring, Fort Worth, Mercedes and San Antonio have been approved by the Governor's Committee on Aging. Contracts went to Texas Tech College, Lubbock ($3,786); Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Advisory Council, Inc. ($50,122); Tarrant County Community Council ($27,000); Hidalgo County Committee on Aging ($14,946); and Senior Community Services, Inc., San Antonio ($44,920).

Airport Funds Available

Legislature appropriated $475,000 for building and improving small town airports. Big Bend National Park will get $150,000 plus federal aid for new airport; Lake Whitney State Park, $40,000, and $25,000 will go to aviation research at a higher education institution.

Texas Aeronautics Commission. Director Charles Murphy estimates that 40% of these applicants for state aid will share in available funds:

- Abernathy, Aransas Pass, Atlanta, Bay City, Brady, Brownwood, Bryan, Canton, Center, Cleveland, College Station, Daingerfield, Dimmitt, Dublin, Eagle Pass, Edinburg, Ennis, Fairfield-Teague, Follett, Georgetown, Giddings, Gilmer, and Granbury, Graham, Gregg County, Hamilton, Harlingen, Hempstead, Hillsboro, Honey Grove, Karnes County, Kerrville, Knox City, La Porte, Levelland, Littlefield, Livingston, Llano, and Lockhart. Also, Madisonville, McGregor, Marlin, Miami, Morton, Mt. Vernon, Navasota, Overton, Paducah, Pecos, Port Mansfield, Ranger, Rockwall, San Benito, Schulenburg, Sherman, Silsbee, Slaton, Smithville, Stamford, Stanton, Sulphur Springs, Tahoka, Temple, Vega, Wellington, West Columbia, Wharton County, Weslaco and Wills Point.

Interim Committees

A record-breaking list of interim committees, some 70 in all, have been appointed to serve until the next special or regular session of the Legislature begins. Committees will deal with about everything the Legislature considered during its recent session. In fact, there are more interim committees than there were standing committees during the 60th session. Total then was 44 in the House and 24 in the Senate. Among the special committees are those dealing with state and local tax policy, law enforcement and crime prevention, state constitution, general investigating, slum problems and clearance, causes of poverty, renovation and maintenance of Governor's mansion, parking problem around state capitol,

OPEN MEETINGS MANDATORY BY GOVERNMENTAL BODIES

Gov. John Connally, on May 22, signed into law an "Open Meetings" bill which he proclaimed as "a great step forward for the people of Texas."

He was referring to Senate Bill 94 sponsored by Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena. Similar legislation was introduced in the House by Rep. Bill Rapp of Raymondville. Passage of the "Open Meetings" legislation at the 1967 session culminated a drive that began some 20 years ago. It was engineered by legislators and the press to insure a better flow of information to the public.

At the bill signing ceremony, Governor Connally made this statement regarding the importance of the legislation:

"Senate Bill 94, commonly known as the open meetings bill, provides basically that all meetings of boards, agencies and commissions shall be open meetings, open to the press. This is something that the working press in the capitol and the press throughout the state have been interested in for a long, long time. I think it's an historic and significant bill and a significant day.

"Certainly there's never been any desire, as far as I know, on the part of anyone who serves on a board or an agency or commission to transact its business under the cloak of secrecy. But, nevertheless, the meetings have, from time to time, been closed."

Connally added: "This bill will now end that and provide that all the meetings shall be open to the press. It's a great step forward in trying to provide a means where the public can be more informed with respect to governmental affairs and public affairs.

"Beyond any question, one of the weaknesses of a democratic society is that it's always difficult to try to articulate and to inform the public of the problems that surround the administration of government. I personally feel that if the public is informed, if it has the knowledge, people themselves will always make the right decisions. And this is going to be a step in providing the means where people can be better informed on the workings of their government."

Governor Connally further stated: "This is particularly important because the affairs of this state are run by the various agencies, boards and commissions. People generally do not quite understand the significance of these various boards, agencies and commissions and the work that they do and the decisions they make. It is really the heart and the essence of government in Texas.

"So I want to applaud the efforts of the press itself to bring into the light and to the awareness of the Legislature the need for this type of legislation. I want to commend the members of the Legislature who supported it and congratulate the people of Texas that they now can be better informed on their own affairs."

Excepted in the bill, so far as open meetings are concerned, are grand juries and certain executive sessions supported by or expending public funds. The law also excepts meetings called to consider the appointment, employment or dismissal of a public officer or employee or to hear complaints or charges brought against such persons, unless the individual concerned requests a public hearing.

Similar legislation was introduced by the Texas Press Association some 20 years ago. This year it had the backing not only of TPA but also the Texas Daily Newspaper Association and the Sigma Delta Chi journalistic fraternity, plus the support of radio and television media.

Co-sponsors of the new law, in addition to Senator Brooks, were the following Senators: Joe Christie of El Paso; Barbara Jordan of Houston; Criss Cole of Houston; Henry C. Grover of Houston; A. R. Schwartz of Galveston; and Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo.

Joining Representative Rapp in escorting the bill through the House were Representatives Russell Cummings and Paul Floyd, both of Houston.

ATTEND WEDDING

Miss Sondra Aileen Nicks and Jack Warren Orr, both of Bay City, were married Saturday in San Angelo. The guest list included E. J. Danford, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Johnson and family of Sonora; and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Danford and family and Georgia Springstun of Eldorado.

Report From Austin By Rep Hilary Doran, Jr.

The 60th session of the Texas Legislature closed at 11:45 p.m. on May 29th. The closing of the session ended with a mixture of sorrow and happiness. The House was saddened by the death of one of its most able members, Dr. Ira Kohler, in the closing days of the session. His death made the second member we had lost this year. The House was happy when Mrs. Sue Hairgrove was introduced to the House and took her place where her husband sat. Her husband had passed away earlier in the session and Mrs. Hairgrove won the special election to fill his seat until 1968.

I am pleased to report that the legislative redistricting bill that we passed in the closing days of the session made absolutely no changes in the 65th Legislative District.

An appropriation bill of $448 million out of the general fund was passed setting up financing of State Government for one year. I voted to concur in the conference committee report as there was no chance of a two-year appropriation bill being passed and I felt that the employees of this State were in desperate need of their long-overdue pay adjustment.

We also passed a teacher's pay raise which will provide an average salary increase of $554 per year. While this was not as much as I would like to have seen passed, it does provide the teachers of this State with approximately 70% of the pay raise they had requested. I am hopeful that in the next few years, the problem of adequate payment for the teachers of this State will be ironed out and the school teachers will not have to be placed in a position of asking the Legislature each session for adequate pay.

I could go on and on about the accomplishments and disappointments of this session, but I for one am against long political columns and will close by saying how much I appreciate the confidence of the people in my district for sending me to Austin and I only hope I can repay this confidence by doing my very best in representing the 65th District.

I will resume my weekly newsletter when the Legislature meets again which will be the special session that will be called within the next 12 months in order to provide financing for the remaining one year of the biennium.

My very best wishes for a pleasant summer and lots of rain. — Hilary B. Doran, Jr.

“Freedom must be at all times defended, because it is at all times besieged. Not all of us are called to fight on the battlefield. Many of us must, quietly and firmly, do what we can and all that we must, here at home. Buying Bonds, regularly, is as important to this nation in the long reach of history as almost anything we can do.”

When you buy U.S. Savings Bonds regularly—through Payroll Savings where you work or Bond-a-Month where you bank—you are also entitled to purchase new Freedom Shares. Freedom Shares are short-term Savings Notes. They pay a higher return than Savings Bonds (4.74% when held to maturity in 4½ years), may be bought one-for-one with Bonds in four denominations, and are redeemable after one year. You will find complete information where you work or bank.

On The Screen . . .

Explosive Western Is 'The Professionals'

The Professionals, which literally explodes across the screen, is everything that a lusty, gutsy, man's western should be. It will be shown at the Eagle Drive-In Sunday and Monday nights. It is in color.

Writer-director Richard Brooks has fashioned a tremendous two hours of Technicolor action, and populated it with such a prestigious cast that, for openers, we have Lee Marvin as the good guy because Jack Palance already had the heavy role sewed up.

Add to this such names as Burt Lancaster, Robert Ryan, Ralph Bellamy and Claudia Cardinale, then settle for nothing less than a plot surprise midway and another at the ending. Richard Brooks will meet your demands.

Bellamy is a rich American businessman on the U.S.-Mexico border in 1917, who recruits four professionals to ride into revolution-torn Mexico to bring back his wife who has been kidnapped by bandito leader Palance.

Rough and tough Lee Marvin is the army-trained leader of the quartet. Lancaster is the explosives expert with the delicate touch. Ryan is the too-sympathetic (toward horses) wrangler. And Woody Strode is the Negro scout, as adept with bow and arrow as he is with identifying hoof prints in the sand.

Palance, not allowed dialogue until the concluding showdown reels, waits in the desert wastes with Miss Cardinale, luring the foursome toward his fortified hideaway and taunting them to blow up his arid bridge over the River Kwai.

Suspense mounts, witty lines shine with the brilliance of Lancaster's teeth, and action seethes with wholesale blood-letting.

The Professionals comes from a book written by Frank O'Rourke titled, A Mule for the Marquesa. The movie is better labeled.

The Professionals was carefully prepared for the cameras by director Brooks. He spent more than two years writing and rewriting the screenplay to hone its action to satisfactory sharpness and researching the Mexican revolution to assure authenticity of the ragged band commanded by Palance.

Brooks took his crew and cast into some of western United States' most rugged territory for filming.

These locations ranged from Death Valley, to Valley of Fire State Park in Nevada, and along a 50-mile rail spur of the Kaiser Steel Co. running east of Indio, California.

Mrs. W. M. Holland Dies

Funeral services were held last Saturday in San Angelo for Mrs. W. M. Holland, West Texas resident for more than half a century. She was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Sam Oglesby of Eldorado.

Mrs. Holland, 79, died at 11:40 p.m. Thursday in Clinic-Hospital.

Mrs. Holland's late husband, who died in 1962, was an independent oil operator who once served as Schleicher county's second sheriff.

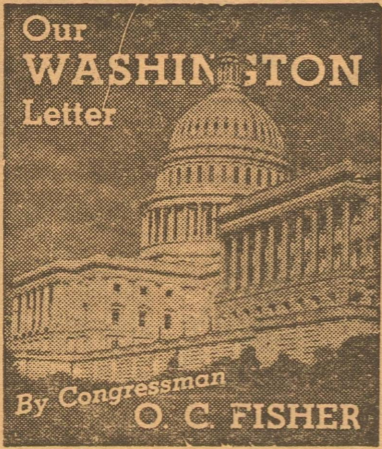

Born Myrtle Jones Oct. 24, 1887, she was a native of Lampasas. She and her husband had lived in Eldorado, Sonora, Del Rio and San Antonio since their marriage in 1903. They moved to San Angelo in 1924. At the time of her death, Mrs. Holland was a resident of Rio Concho Manor.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. George Harwell of Dallas; two sons, Bill B. Holland of Midland and the Rev. Howard L. Holland of Hagerman, N. M.; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. George Grof and children of Nashville, Ill., visited here recently with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herber Graf.

Slides To Be Shown At Baptist Church Saturday

On Saturday, June 10th at 7:30 p.m., at the First Baptist church there will be a showing of slides made on the most recent tour of the Holy Lands of Mrs. B. E. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Moore.

The Great Society is not popular in the 21st district. More than 8 out of every 10 (84%) feel that way about it. And by a similar percentage they want more military action in Vietnam in order to achieve a decisive victory.

Returns on the recent questionnaire have been very satisfactory—giving us a fairly accurate cross-section of public opinion in our 27-county district. Tabulation of answers have been completed, and the results are most revealing.

If choosing between a reduction in nondefense spending and a tax increase, 91.1% favor the former. And nearly three-fourths (72.2%) oppose extending medicare to disabled who are under the age of 65. And three-fourths want no increase in social security to provide more benefits.

A thumping 97% dislike the idea of having the government guarantee a minimum annual income of $3,000, whether recipients work or not.

Open housing (allowing a property owner to sell or rent to whom he desires) is favored by 89.3%.

Likewise, they solidly oppose (87.3%), giving Federal jurisdiction over selection of juries in State courts. Our people are also united in their belief that labor unions should be under the anti-trust laws, with 81.8% feeling that way.

Allowing each state to apportion one house of its state legislature on factors other than population, was favored by 45.6%, with 33.9% opposed, and 20% undecided.

The Great Society's big favorite—having Uncle Sam subsidize rent bills—was mangled by a whopping 90.2% against, while only 5.7% favor it. (Under this scheme eligible tenants would pay no more than 25% of their monthly income for rent, with the government paying the balance.)

The War on Poverty is not worth the cost, in the view of 87.5%. Only 6% think the program has been worth the money.

More than two-thirds favor our Right-to-Work laws, and 92.2% think Bible reading and prayer should be permitted in public schools—on a voluntary basis.

Mrs. Ora Davis and her daughter, Mrs. Katherine Russell and children of Ozona, left Sunday on a trip through several of the southern states.

7.5 Miles F-M Road Set For This County

The Texas Highway Commission has approved development of 7.5 miles of Farm to Market Road construction in Schleicher county, as part of the 1967 Texas Farm to Market Program. District Engineer J. A. Snell of the Texas Highway Department said estimated cost of the work is $150,000, and provides for the extension of F. M. 2129 from 13.7 miles southwest of Eldorado, southwest to join a proposed F. M. Road at the Sutton County line. The work will be under the supervision of R. A. McCulloch, Supervising Resident Engineer.

The work authorized for this county is part of 949.3 miles of Texas Farm and Ranch to Market Roads earmarked for development in the new program. The program lists 228 projects in 166 counties. Estimated cost is $24.6 million. New mileage included in the program totals 623 miles. Other mileage was previously designated or is being constructed in stages. The additional mileage brings designated Farm and Ranch to Market Roads in Texas to 38.7 thousand miles. This is greater than the entire State-maintained highway mileage of many other states.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Etheredge and children visited in Eldorado over the week end with their parents. They returned to Lubbock on Sunday.
