Cold Weather Brings About .75 Moisture

Early this week, we had two inches of snow following several days of foggy, damp weather, and by the time a clearing trend set in Tuesday, the moisture accumulation amounted to about 3/4 of an inch here in Eldorado.

Rangelands were getting dry, and the moisture is welcomed by ranchers, but the cotton farmers were further delayed in getting in the final bales of this past year's crop.

Jaycees Honor Steward In Levelland

Levelland Jaycees each year honor one of the city's most distinguished young men for the past year. The Distinguished Service Award is presented to the man of Jaycee age who exhibits most meritorious service to his family, community, and nation. The Award is the highest one the Levelland Jaycees present.

Rules governing the Award are:

1. Age limit 35 years. Not eligible if nominee is 36 before January 1, 1972.
2. A nominee must be a U. S. citizen. Further, he must reside or work within the city.

The winner of the Distinguished Service Award this year is Jim H. Steward. Jim was born June 18, 1937 in Eldorado, Texas. Jim is County Executive Director for the A.S.C.S. in Hockley county, resides at 142 Elgin Street in Levelland. Jim and his wife, Betty, have one child, a daughter named Carla, age 10. Jim graduated from Eldorado High School and Abilene Christian College. He is a member of Christ United Methodist Church.

Jim was selected for his many contributions to his community, and specifically his involvement with the project of stocking the Levelland area with pheasant. This project was undertaken in April of 1971. After much thought and preparation and a meeting of park and wildlife officials, game breeders and Texas Tech professors, some 1,900 pheasants were purchased and distributed to FFA and 4-H members in the area. These youngsters in turn raised and sold these young birds to interested property owners. This process gives the youngsters a money raising project and at the same time stocks the area with game birds. At present there are approximately 1,200 to 1,400 pheasant in the area.

(The foregoing article reprinted from the Levelland newspaper. Jim is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Steward of this county.)

Predator Control

(Bobcat, Coyotes, etc.)
An increasing predator problem has been occurring in Schleicher County and adjoining counties.

The ranchers' interest seems to amount to forming a trapping club. There will be a meeting Thursday, Feb. 3rd in the Lions Club room of the Memorial Building at 7:30 p.m.

Pink Bollworm

The pink bollworm does not generally cause damage to cotton in Schleicher County but infestations of this insect were found in several Rolling Plains counties this past year. Heaviest infestations were observed in the southern part of the area but infestations were also found as far north as Wichita County during the growing season.

The pink bollworm larva is the overwintering state of this insect. Should larvae be allowed to overwinter in cotton bolls left on the turn row or in cotton left in the field, infestation could cause considerable damage to the 1972 cotton crop. To reduce this threat boll piles left on the turn row should be taken to the gin for processing or otherwise destroyed. Residue left in the field should be turned under to a depth of at least 4 inches or this residue should be left on top of the soil. Turning soil under only one or two inches only protects the pink bollworms from cold temperatures.

Cotton at the gin in the green boll pile should be ginned at the end of the season and the equipment should be cleaned to make sure all sites where pink bollworms might overwinter have been removed. It will take the cooperation of producers and ginners to make sure the pink bollworm does not pass the winter in large enough numbers to damage the 1972 cotton crop.

Austin, Tex.—One adverse federal court decision after another fuels the feud between Gov. Preston Smith and Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes. Smith was quick to blame on Barnes the failure of a 1971 filing fee statute which threatens to force a special legislative session.

While that issue was still raging, another Dallas three-judge court struck down the legislature's congressional redistricting plan. Once more, Smith accused the lieutenant governor of "reluctance" and "inaction" on redistricting.

When a third court frowned on House of Representatives redistricting in major counties as done by a board Barnes served on, Smith once more leveled at the lieutenant governor charges of "immature action" and lack of leadership. Single-member districts were ordered for Bexar and Dallas counties.

Sen. J. P. Word of Meridian, speaking in Barnes' defense, said Smith offered the legislature no leadership himself and reminded that the governor could have vetoed the congressional redistricting measure if he didn't like it.

Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin succeeded in getting a temporary postponement of the congressional redistricting order. The U. S. Supreme Court agreed to delay the new plan pending appeal.

U. S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, who intervened as a friend of the court in support of the stay, said congressional candidates for this year, at least, can run in the districts given them by the legislature.

That would be a relief for Congressmen Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls and Omar Burleson of Anson; Jim Wright of Fort Worth and Ray Roberts of McKinney and O. C. Fisher of San Angelo and Abraham Kazen of Laredo who had been pitted against each other in the federal district court plan.

If he has to call a special session on primary election financing, said Smith, he will expect "those responsible for creating this problem" to come up with "workable alternatives."

Governor's Poll Taken

Dolph Briscoe won another editor's poll last week at the Mid-winter meeting of the Texas Press Association. Editors were asked first who they thought would carry their county—if the vote were taken on that date (January 24). Forty-eight editors responded to the poll with this vote: Briscoe, 18; Preston Smith, 13; Ben Barnes, 12; Barnes-Briscoe tie, 2 and three undecided.

They were asked: "How will you vote in the 1972 Governor's race?" This was the result: Briscoe, 23; Smith, 6; Barnes, 5; Grover, 1, and undecided, 3.

Crime Fight Proposed

The governor's Criminal Justice Council promises a legislative drive for laws to help stamp out organized crime in the state.

Mafia-type operations have been noted in Texas by the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration of Justice and other investigators, the council's new 1972 plan points out.

Further, states the council, many bets on sports events are being taken by bookie shops with national "confederation" affiliation.

This legislation was recommended:

- Power for the attorney general to bring suit in criminal cases.
  - Subpoena power in a statewide grand jury or crime prevention council.
  - Permission for electronic surveillance (including wiretapping).
- The Council proposes to spend about $1 million of its projected $25 million 1972 allocations for action against organized crime.

Insurance Hearing Set

The State Board of Insurance set a February 15 hearing on insurance premium rates, broader damage coverage, and higher liability limits for coastal and beach areas, under the new Catastrophe Pool Act.

Due for consideration is a deductible on beach dwellings of 2% of the amount insured, with a minimum deductible of $250 and elimination of percentage deductible on beach commercial risks substituting a $500 flat figure. The Board also proposes to consider adoption of building specifications for high risk coastal areas.

The Board will also consider hiking coverage limits to $1 million on beach dwellings and $5 million on commercial risks. Under the present pool, windstorm damage is limited to $100,000 on a beach home and $500,000 on a commercial venture such as a marina or hotel.

Attorney General's Opinions

A county has authority to construct and operate an area or regional waste water collection and treatment system and perform water quality management functions, Attorney General Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:

—A 25-year mineral lease had been duly extended and was in good standing last October 4 when an application for renewal was made to the School Land Board.

—An independent school district lacks authority to give an outright 20-year lease of property to a neighborhood center.

—Fees paid erroneously to the Industrial Accident Board and placed in the state treasury may not be refunded in absence of a legislative appropriation.

—The State Building Commission has authority to contract with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for construction of state park projects and may contract with the State Highway Department for roads, trailer loops and parking areas with Board of Control approval.

—Parks and Wildlife Commission has authority to control taking of fish from public waters, but it's doubtful any rule imposing restrictions on bass tournament participants that would not apply to other fishermen would be valid.

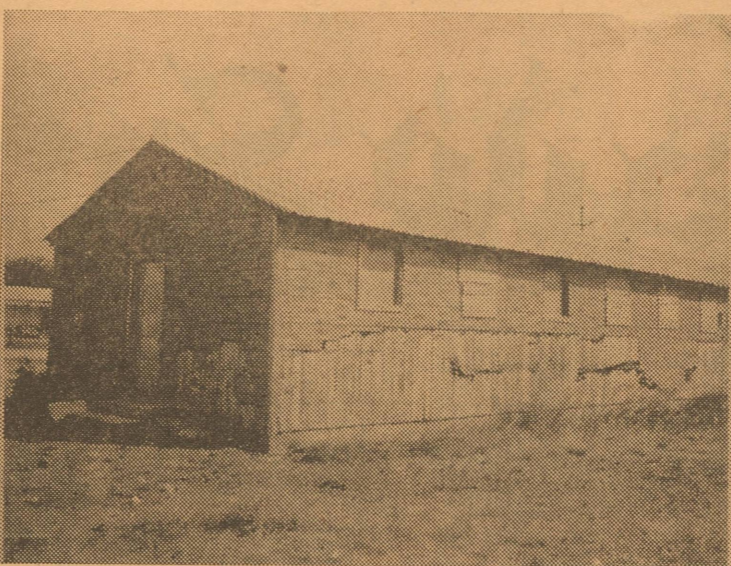

—An applicant for certification as a psychologist must have received the doctoral degree.

—Texas Education Agency cannot participate separately in payment of premiums of insurance for its retired employees.

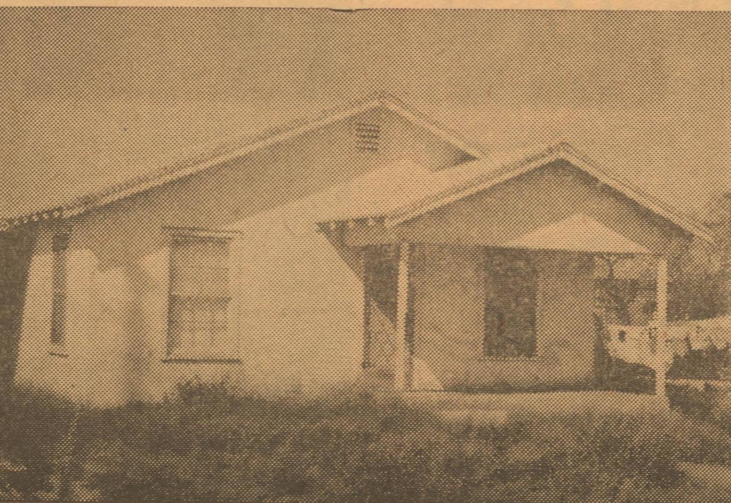

—The 1971 rules adopted by the Texas State Board of Dental Examiners are valid.

—Dallas Independent School District trustees cannot alter the —The Industrial Accident Board has jurisdiction over industrial injuries to employees of the City of Bryan.

—A $5,000 legislative appropriation to Elm Creek Water Control District is valid, and the governor has no authority to veto a portion of an appropriation.

Courts Speak

A candidate for state senator must live in his district only one year before the date of the general election, the State Supreme Court held.

Overruling the Austin Court of Civil Appeals, the High Court found legal the University of Texas' acquiring 280 acres of its UT-Permian Basin campus site at Odessa through donation of park land acquired with county funds.

The Court of Criminal Appeals relaxed rules on admissibility of gory pictures in murder trials, holding, in effect, that use of the photographs is largely up to the trial judge's discretion where it is "competent, material and relevant to the issue on trial."

Appointments . . .

James F. Ray of Arlington was selected executive director of the Commission on Intergovernmental Relations.

Governor Smith named 10 more members of the Texas Criminal Justice Council. They are Mrs. Gladys M. Mangum of Clyde, Sidney L. Sadler of Pecos, D. V. Flores of Houston, Jim Lindsey of Del Rio, M. M. Vicars of Brownsville, Joe T. Morrow of Honey Grove, Vernon B. Rucker of Killeen, Geo. M. Newman of Waco, Dr. John T. Holbrook of Bryan and Michael G. Reily of Corrigan. Dr. Wallace Larson of San Antonio is the new president of Texas Veterinary Medical Association.

Ralph Yarborough designated Clifton L. Holmes of Kilmore as his assistant statewide campaign manager and director of organization.

Pollution Hearings Set

Texas Water Quality Board will hold hearings February 7-11 in Baytown on reduction of municipal and industrial wastes into Houston Ship Channel.

Discharges must be reduced to the level permitted by the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency following a Galveston Bay shellfish conference. The federal rule requires reduction of oxygen-depleting substances dumped into the channel to 35,000 pounds a day by 1975. About 100,000 pounds daily is the present level.

Prune Plants After New Growth

College Station, Texas.—“Plants damaged by a severe freeze should not be pruned until new growth starts,” advises Everett Janne, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

This is especially true in south central and southern regions of Texas where cold weather frequently damages the many subtropical plants used in the landscape. These plants include hibiscus, poinsettias, citrus and similar plants.

“New growth will pinpoint the dividing line between live and damaged tissue so you can tell where to cut without removing too much wood,” explains Janne. “Pruning soon after a freeze may remove healthy wood. Also, if enough wood is not removed the first time, the job will have to be redone later.”

According to the horticulturist, a typical sign of severe cold damage is ruptured bark, with the breaks opening along small limbs and the trunk immediately after the freeze. The plant must not only overcome the freeze damage; it is also subjected to further drying due to exposure of the cambium layer beneath the bark.

Less severe frost damage to trees and plants normally shows up as “burned” or “scorched” leaves, says Janne. The first sign of frosted leaves is a wilting and rolling of the leaves, then browning in a few days. If the plant was actively growing when the frost occurred, leaves may not fall immediately. A frosted plant may take on a “water-soaked” appearance before leaves turn brown.

“Homeowners with frost or ice damaged woody plants should be prepared to give them extra care this spring,” points out the specialist. “Such plants should not suffer from lack of moisture if possible. Also, a high nitrogen fertilizer should be applied about the time regrowth begins. This will help stimulate regrowth and lessen danger of sunscald to exposed inner branches.”

Janne recommends a pound of ammonium sulfate per 100 square feet of root area. The upper five to six inches of soil should be moist before applying fertilizer.

A pound coffee can should not be used to measure the fertilizer since a coffee can full of ammonium sulfate is three to four times heavier than a pound of coffee.

Weigh the fertilizer carefully as too much nitrogen can severely damage and may even kill certain plants, cautions the specialist.

GOSPEL SINGING SET SUNDAY

Church of Christ, Mertzon road, Eldorado, Sunday afternoon, Feb. 6, at 2:30 p.m.

This is an area wide event. Good singers are expected from San Angelo and other neighboring communities.

Local people are especially urged to come and enjoy soul stirring music rendered by the blended voices of many talented people. Come, join in, help lift the rafters with a great volume of praise to God.

GOD SPEAKS TO YOU

God speaks to you today through people. Who can behold a strong man, a lovely lady, and a little child and not believe in God? Look at your physical body with all of its delicate machinery. Consider how it can repair and rebuild itself from inside out. Think of Human intelligence, which places man in a place of power over all other created things. Then try to imagine all this beauty, power, and balance being fashioned and brought into being by a microbe.

GOD SPEAKS TO YOU THROUGH THE VOICES AND LIVES OF OTHERS, IF YOU LOOK FOR THE GOOD IN THEM.

Here is a thought from Longfellow's "A Psalm Of Life."

"Lives of great men all remind us,
 We can make our lives sublime,
 And so departing leaves behind us
 Footprints on the sands of time.
 Footprints that perhaps another
 Sailing over life's solemn main.

 Seeing may take heart again." —J. Loyd Rice

Scouting Blazes New Trails

Demonstrating the new, more relevant, look in Scouting are Scouts Alan D. Glass, left, and David B. Read of Westfield, N. J. Checking cars for exhaust emissions is only one of many new innovations in Scouting designed to make it more relevant to the needs and interests of today's youth.

Scouting today is a lot more than you think! The Nation's largest youth organization is shedding some of its old image to be more responsive to the concerns of youth. Surveys showed boys wanted more leadership training, more team sports, greater involvement in the decision making process, and planning their own advancement. They also wanted more projects that would lead to careers and job opportunities, and more participation in current social and environmental problems. The exhaust emissions test, conducted by Westfield Scouts, is only one of many opportunities boys now have in today's new Scouting. Headed by Esso engineer and Scout leader, Dr. George P. Gross, the emissions test project was designed to aid motorists. Carbon monoxide and unburned gasoline levels were measured on the analyzer and reported to drivers. Excessive emissions indicated the need of motor tune-ups.

In other parts of the U. S., Scouts are engaged in a variety of projects reflecting the boy's deep concern. Scouts are working with disadvantaged youth, cleaning polluted lakes and streams, learning trades such as auto mechanics and computers, protecting wildlife, conducting consumer education, and engaging in many other programs that reflect Scouting's new look.

Using Credit Wisely

College Station, Tex.—According to home management specialists, a family can get onto soft ice financially without realizing something has gone wrong.

It would appear that a breadwinner would know at once that his “financial ice” was thinning out or becoming soft, according to Mrs. Bonnie Fowler, home management specialist with Texas A&M University Extension Service.

“The ice usually begins to thaw on pay day. That's when it becomes apparent there's not enough money to satisfy all the creditors and still have enough left to pay daily living expenses until the next pay check.”

“So, the head of the house convinces himself that the repair man, or someone else, won't mind waiting for his $10,” Mrs. Fowler said. “Next pay day it is only fair to pay the repair man first. But the money gives out before the television payment can be made. And the car payment is harder to make.”

The specialist stressed that the ice melts fast and temperatures rise to melt financial ice even faster. “When this happens you're really on soft ice that will continue to get thinner. One bill left unpaid is just that much more to pay the next pay period.”

“That's when it's time to face facts,” Mrs. Fowler said. “The family is living on a higher level than its income permits.”

Counseled the extension specialist, “Often there are several sides to a debate and several possible solutions to a problem. But the only sensible action here is to face the facts about spending.”

Mrs. Fowler offered these pointers on deciding when a family can afford credit:

1. Spend no more money than you make each month.
2. Use credit only for those things with lasting value.
3. And buy things which a person with your income can afford.

“One way to determine how much credit you can afford is to make a list of all your expenses,” Mrs. Fowler noted. “Estimate high, rather than low. Remember to include taxes, insurance, house payments and other expenses.

“And plan to save. Binding yourself to fixed monthly payments is risky if you don't have some extra money saved. Now add your expenses. To this amount, add any monthly payments you're now making. Next, subtract this total amount from your take-home pay. The figure left is what you can afford for credit payments.”

“If the bills cannot be paid and worse, if the debtor has to ask for a loan to pay off a loan, the ice is thinning to the breaking point,” she warned.

The home management specialist warned those thinking of a refinancing loan to get all the facts. “It's likely refinancing will cost more. And if all bills are consolidated, the breadwinner could feel so relieved that he would unwisely buy a new color television set, a better car or some home modernization,” she cautioned.

“Then the race starts all over again, at a faster speed,” she said. “Families that overspend have no choice but to adjust their needs and wants to their income levels.”

Overgrazed range. Note the few sparse plants don't have much of a food reserve to feed themselves.

Lots of hay to be grazed from these pastures. Note the vigorous plants.

Leaving a portion of the grass on the range each year is a paying proposition.
 Conservation ranchers in the Eldorado-Divide Soil and Water Conservation District have found this out for certain.
 Bill Rountree, District Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, assisting the district, in checking pastures with ranchers last week found that the pastures had been grazed 20 to 30% to date. This allows for about 20 to 30% more grazing to be done between now and April 1st and still leave 50% of the year's growth ungrazed.
 For a number of years now through proper use of their native grasses, these producers have been able to increase their stocking rate. Today the better grasses — sideoats grama, vine mesquite, and bluestems — are vigorous, producing good seed crops and spreading into the bunches of undesirable grasses.
 These conservation ranchers experience shows that leaving a portion of the grass on the land each year is necessary. With most of the better range grasses, about 50% of a year's growth may be used continuously to raise livestock.
 More than 50% of the bulk of a grass lies in the half of the plant next to the ground. Therefore a big per cent of a sideoats grama plant's total height would need to be grazed before 50% of the plant's total weight would be harvested.

The remaining 50% needs to be left because it belongs to the plant and soil. It needs to be left to assure grass crops for future years.
 Grasses manufacture most of their food in their leaves by using energy from sunlight to combine raw materials from the air and soil. If grazing stock eat all of a plant's leaves, the plant has no way left to produce food. No food, no seeds. No new shoots, soon no grass. The plant starves, just as surely as stock starve without food.
 When the above-surface grass is grazed off too short the plant must economize, cut down on its root system, in order to survive. This naturally curtails the amount of grass above the ground. When this smaller plant is again cropped off too short, it contracts even more, until at last much grass is dead and that surviving is much smaller than before.
 As desirable grasses decrease, undesirable plants such as mesquite, pear, weeds, and poisonous plants, are given a better chance to grow. The stock avoid them as long as there is anything else to eat, and it is clear sailing for the brush and other such plants.
 The more undesirable plants there are in a pasture the greater the burden becomes on good grasses, and the greater the danger becomes that the good grasses will be crowded out entirely.
 Therefore, Good Conservation Ranchers say, "Graze Half and Leave Half."

 Clam Bisque — Good Any Time

Bisques are hearty soups — good any time, but made to order for wintry days. They can be the mainstay of a luncheon, the first course of a dinner or a satisfying treat after vigorous work or play.
 Most often these soups are made from shellfish, but they can also have a puréed vegetable base. Made with milk and light cream, bisques are given extra body by the addition of a small amount of corn starch.

- Clam Bisque
 ¼ cup margarine
 2 tablespoons corn starch
 ¼ teaspoon pepper
 Liquor from canned clams
 Milk to bring volume of liquor to 1 ½ cups
 1 cup light cream
 1 (8-ounce) can minced clams
 Melt margarine in 2-quart saucepan. Remove from heat. Add corn starch and pepper and stir until smooth. Drain clams, reserving liquor. Add enough milk to make 1 ½ cups liquid. Gradually stir into corn starch mixture. Stir in cream. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil and boils 1 minute. Add minced clams and boil 1 minute. Makes 3 cups or about 4 (¾-cup) servings.
 Note: For Lobster Bisque, use 1 (8-ounce) can lobster. Drain off and discard liquid. Use 1 ½ cups milk and add ½ teaspoon salt.

Garden Check List For February

1. Prune and fertilize established roses. Climbing roses should not be pruned until after they finish blooming.
2. Delay pruning roses until late February or early March.
3. Initiate spray program on roses to control black spot as soon as new growth starts. Suggest using Maneb, Phalton, or Benlate.
4. Protect newly planted rose bushes from drying winds by mounding soil over canes or using a roofing paper collar filled with soil or mulch.
5. Prune deciduous trees and shrubs this month. Spring-flowering shrubs should be pruned AFTER they bloom.
6. If you suspect severe freeze damage you may prefer to delay pruning until growth starts to be sure all damaged tissue is removed.
7. Continue to select and plant needed woody ornamentals. Remember to plan before you plant.
8. In case of a sudden winter storm be prepared to mulch tender plants or provide some means of temporary protection using paper boxes, plastic film or other cover.
9. Don't forget to water those plants that were set out last month.
10. Rake and clean fallen leaves and grass from lawn area.
11. Be prepared to apply a complete fertilizer such as 8-8-8 or equivalent to the lawn in late February or early March. Use 15 to 18 pounds per 1,000 square feet.
12. Spring and summer flower seeds that may now be sown directly to the beds in which they are to grow include: nasturtium, annual phlox, California poppy, hollyhock, four o'clocks, coneflower, calendula and balsam.
13. Seeds to be sown in protected flats at this time include periwinkle, geranium, Dusty Miller, petunias, cypress vine, cosmos, coleus, and others.

14. Don't forget to give pansy beds a light application of fertilizer.

15. Watch for spider mites and aphids on young plants.

16. Inspect trees and shrubs for scale insects. A dormant oil spray will aid in their control. Follow instructions given in L-199 for details.

17. Fertilize pecan trees during this month. Also apply zinc sulfate to pecan trees using 5 pounds per 100 square feet. In highly alkaline soils better results can be obtained by applying to pecan trees as a foliar spray as soon as new growth commences.

18. Repeat annual beds prepared last month to kill out weeds that may have germinated.

Choosing Ground Beef

Have you ever gone to the supermarket and found yourself confused by the many different names of ground beef products? Or maybe you've wondered why hamburger has so many different names.

Each of these names on the label of a package of ground meat has a distinct and different meaning. Knowing the right meat to buy for the dish you plan to prepare will save you aggravation and money. It will also result in more delicious and satisfying family meals.

Federal regulations set a limit on the maximum amount of fat that can be included in products labeled "hamburger" or "ground beef" and sold as federally inspected meat.

For example, hamburger can contain up to 30% fat. (This may include the addition of beef fat over and above the fat which is attached to the meat being ground.) Extenders such as non-fat dry milk, soybean products, cereals and water may not be used if the product is labeled hamburger.

Although ground beef may also contain up to 30% fat, it will frequently contain less than this amount. This is because only the fat which is on the beef being ground may be used for ground beef.

Because of the higher fat content, hamburger may tend to shrink more in cooking than ground beef. Both hamburger and ground beef are made from boneless chunks of less tender beef, along with less popular cuts such as neck meat, flank, shank, and trimmings from boned roasts. While hamburger or ground beef may be used as meat patties, they're best when served in combination with other items such as meat loaves, casseroles, meat sauces or Mexican dishes.

Ground chuck is meat that comes from the animal's shoulder. Chuck enjoys more popularity as a cut of meat than cuts used in hamburger and ground beef. So it's usually more expensive. It also contains less fat than hamburger or ground beef (15-25% fat) and so shrinks less in cooking. Because of this it is especially good for use in ground meat patties.

Ground round is simply round steak that has been ground. Because ground round contains less fat than hamburger, it may not be desirable for use in meat patties. However, those on low-fat diets might find the ground round to be a wise choice. Ground round is usually best used with other ingredients that add moisture to the meat. Again, meat loaves, casseroles and meat sauces would be good uses for ground round.

Ground sirloin comes from the popular sirloin steak. Because of this, it has the rich, fine meat flavor of steak and costs more than other ground meats. Ground sirloin makes a truly delicious meat patty.

Nutritionally, all beef meat, regardless of cut, provides about the same amount of protein, vitamins, and minerals. While the percentages of fat in the meat will have some effect on the total amount of nutrients, the degree of difference will be relatively minor since the fat itself also contains some vitamins and minerals.

So when choosing ground meat for your family, first decide how to use the meat and then choose the meat which best suits the use.

Balancing Food Budgets

If pennies count, balance your food budget and your family's diet by cutting costs within each of the four food groups.

A few money saving ideas for those who value nutrition and bargains are:

MEAT FOOD GROUP—Buy the weekend specials and save by buying dressed chickens whole, rather than cut up.

MILK FOOD GROUP—Use non-fat dry milk and save over one-half on your milk bill. Serve milkshakes and fewer soft drinks. Grate hardened ends of cheese and use to top casseroles.

BREAD-CEREAL FOOD GROUP—Breads baked at home usually cost less than ready-baked ones. Cereals cooked at home are less expensive than ready-to-eat ones.

VEGETABLE-FRUIT FOODS—Take advantage of fresh seasonal vegetables. Buy frozen vegetables and fruits if they cost less per serving than fresh or canned ones. Make price comparisons regularly.

Consumers should be concerned about their family's diet. To be sure your family eats well-balanced meals, see that you serve them foods from the four basic food groups daily. Serve two to four glasses of milk per day and two or more meat servings. Also serve four or more helpings of breads and cereals and vegetables.

"The Adventurous Life"

There is ample evidence in the New Testament that Jesus wants us to live adventurous lives, to dare to do for Him. And this, we know, is something we can do. The most hum-drum life is filled with challenges that can be met in the name of Christ; and we should take them up thankfully, for if nothing else they will make us realize the great power of God—and our utter weakness—and bring us to His Holy House.

Some time ago, America honored the 100th anniversary of the birth of one of its greatest adventurers, Theodore Roosevelt. T. Roosevelt well knew the value of a church. Here are his reasons for attending church:

1. In this actual world, a churchless community is a community on the rapid down grade.

2. Church work and church attendance means the cultivation of the habit of feeling some responsibility for others.

3. Sundays differ from other holidays in the fact that there are 52 of them every year. Therefore on Sundays go to church.

4. Yes, I know all the excuses. I know that one can worship the Creator in a grove of trees, or in a man's own house just as well as in church. But I also know the average man does not thus worship.

5. He may not hear a good sermon at church. He will hear a sermon by a good man who, with his good wife, is engaged all the week in making hard lives a little easier.

6. He will listen to and take part in reading some beautiful passages from the Bible. And if he is not familiar with the Bible, he has suffered a loss.

7. He will take part in singing some good hymns.

8. He will meet and nod or speak to good, quiet neighbors. He will come away feeling a little more charitable toward all the world, even toward those excessively foolish young men who regard church-going as a soft performance.

9. I advocate a man's joining in church work for the sake of showing his faith by his works.

The Ladies Home Journal carried these statements in October, 1917. We find that each statement is just as wise for this day and generation as they were in 1917. Perhaps Jesus Christ put more of spiritual nature, and gave broader reasons for The Church, His Church and its place among and for man. We find uses for the Church no less than five times in the Old Testament. However, beginning with the foundation of The Church in Matt. 16, we find the New Testament authority and Organization for the church and tells us that it is loved by Christ, Eph. 5:25-29. In the book of Acts, the second chapter, we are told about the membership and fellowship of the church. Ephesians gives us seven planks of the platform of The New Testament Church. Eph. 4:4-6; One Body, Spirit, Hope, One Lord, Faith, Baptism, and One God and Father of all.

In our opening statement, we dared to say that Jesus wants us to live adventurous lives for Him. The Old Testament in its own way, the New Testament in its sincerity, and great men all join together, to say that we can fulfill what Jesus wants from us better through The Church. —Rev. Fred Cox

The snow is just the way it should be — and the sky's so blue, it's unbelievable. The air is fresh and clean and it's hard to realize that pollution exists. All the world's problems seem far away.

But for this young man there will be a tomorrow — and a next tomorrow. Circumstances won't be the same. Perhaps John is a little more aware than most of us of the ills that beset this world — for he is a theological student. He is determined to make things better. And he is equipped with enthusiasm, understanding, a keen mind and a deep faith.

How about you — and your tomorrows? Certainly the best way to begin doing your part is to cover that short distance to church next Sunday.
