CHRISTMAS the Day of Gladness

BY REV. THOMAS B. GREGORY.

CH RISTMAS, both in its ritual and in its sentiment, is almost as old as Humanity itself. As far back as you can go we find something very like the Yuletide festival—a season of rejoicing, attended by a somewhat boisterously joyful celebration.

About Christmas there is nothing that even approximates sectarianism or any kind of mental or social narrowness or littleness. Its spirit is as broad as humanity, and all men of whatever race, creed or geographical status, are invited to, and are entitled to, take part in its glad festivities.

Very pitiful is the human being who, in the midst of the Christmas season, feels like flocking off by himself, like Dundreary's bird. It is a season, not for isolation and loneliness, but for fellowship and universal brotherhood, as though we were saying to one another, "ALL HANDS AROUND!" with nobody left out.

When we pause to think of the way in which the Christmas originated it becomes easy for us to understand why the season is everywhere made to be the occasion of deep rejoicing and multiform gladness.

Beyond a doubt the festival had its birth away up in the frozen North, in the region of the aurora borealis, where the battle between the cold and the heat, the darkness and the light, is the longest and the most terrible; and it was quite natural that at the turn of the sun, when the light and warmth began to return, men should turn themselves loose in a sort of paroxysm of joy.

And by degrees the festivities of the men of the far north worked their way southward; for even there the return of the sun meant life to men, meant the sunshine and heat without which the human race must perish.

The hyperboreans had their Christ, Baldur by name, Baldur the good, the gentle, the compassionate, who, taking pity on them, destroyed the Frost Giant and saved them from death. We cannot very well blame the hyperboreans if, at first, their religion was largely of a material type—the worship of the sun, for Baldur was no more than the sun idealized.

Christ—not the petty Christ of the professional theologian; but the Christ of Humanity—stands for OPTIMISM. All is well. Let not your hearts be troubled. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof. In reality there is no evil, the thing we call "evil" being but good in the making. "I am come that ye might have life, not death; confidence, not despair; gladness, not weeping and wailing."

Away with all grudging and greed, all doubt and despair! This is the season of love and good will, of hope and gladness. Joy is always and everywhere "orthodox" and in order.

If you are able to do so at no other time of the year, during the Christmas time resolve to have the full courage of your noble self, and let your worthiest and bravest sentiment assert itself to the full.

Let joy be unconfined! Again he is said, "ALL IS WELL." The Sun is not going to be conquered by the Frost King; the anarchists are not going to overthrow the Constitution of the United States and the government that was inaugurated by our venerated Washington; in spite of the little politicians who are ready to "give up to party what was meant for mankind," the ways and means of bettering the condition of mankind will surely be found; the life of men and nations shall not have been in vain and as for Old Death, who awaits us at the end of the little earthly way for all that we to the contrary he may turn out to be our best friend.

Those who have crossed the north Atlantic in winter need not be reminded of the uplifting and joy-giving influence of the gulf stream. Those who have felt it can never forget it. Once fairly upon the mysterious "river of the sea," the chill and numbness of one's body and soul depart the rigid muscles relax, the pent-up feelings let themselves loose in singing and chat, and all-round sociability and enjoyment, and all the world seem to be refashioned for the better.

And such is Christmas, with its good will and good cheer, its brav confidence and spontaneous gladness. It is the gulf stream of life, warming us into the sentiment of a common humanity, with its unselfishness and comradship, and imparting to us all the glad sense of security and victory.

THE FIRST CHRISTMAS

(Luke 2: 1-14)

AND IT came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

(And this taxing was first made when Cyrenius was governor of Syria.)

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, (because he was of the house and lineage of David).

To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was, that while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her first-born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there was in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them; Fear not; for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all the people.

For unto you is born this day, in the city of David, a Savior, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

Unto Us a Son Is Given

By ALICE MEYNELL

GIVEN, not lent,
And not withdrawn—once sent,
This Infant of mankind, this One,
Is still the little welcome Son.

NEW every year,
New born and newly dear,
He comes with tidings and a song,
The ages long, the ages long;

EVEN as the cold
Keen winter grows not old,
As childhood is so fresh, foreseen,
And spring in the familiar green.

SUDDEN as sweet
Come the expected feet.
All joy is young, and new all art,
And He, too, whom we have by heart.

The Social Message of Jesus

By S. J. DUNCAN-CHERRY
(Chicago Evening Post)

EVER did the world need more than now to hear the authoritative voice of Jesus.

If we are to bring order out of chaos, peace out of conflict, brotherhood out of class and group, we must return in humble spirit to the Bethlehem manger, to the Nazareth shop, to the market place, the seashore or the mountain-side, where the message of Jesus was spoken to the hearts of men.

Jesus believed in man. It is well to emphasize this message of His philosophy. There was no room for doubt in His philosophy. He came into a world where force and fraud and oppression prevailed, and to the heart of His triumphant death He never doubted that love and justice and freedom were possible in human relations.

Jesus believed in man as a potential Son of God. His ideal for society contemplated the emancipation of man from the control of material things. Mammon should not rule; there should be no occasion for anxious thought concerning any need of the body; the spiritual nature of man should be free to realize its highest destiny.

In the program that He worked out as He toiled at the bench He planned that service should be the motive and co-operation the method in human industry. We have substituted self-advantage for service, and mutual exploitation for co-operation. While these rule in motive and method we shall never realize the happiness He desired for us—the happiness we seek.

Jesus set small store by charity. The philanthropy of almsgiving was to Him a mere cloak for the imperfections and inequities of human relations. He put all the emphasis of His teaching on example upon justice and love. In a world where these prevailed charity would be unnecessary.

We have traveled so far from the ideals of Jesus it is not easy to restore them. But there is no other way to find a permanent solution for the troubles that disturb us. His road is the only road. It involves sacrifice. We cannot avoid the cross. Beyond Calvary lies the realization of our hopes.

It is not enough that the spirit of Jesus should be worshipped in our temples or revered in our homes. It is not enough that His sympathy and help should be expressed in our hospitals, our orphanages, our institutions for the poor and the afflicted. To be satisfied with this is to evade the real challenge of His message and to lose the real meaning of His promise.

The spirit of Jesus must be brought into factory and mine and bank and railroad system, into store and office.

It must reveal to us that man is more than the machine with which he works; that material wealth was meant to be the servant, not the master, of the human soul; that the making of a life is the supreme thing, for which the making of a livelihood is merely incidental.

Until we get this vision, we will approach the solution of our problems without true understanding.

It is time that men who believe in Jesus should make their faith count—not merely in religious observance, but in human relations; in civic duty; in business; in industrial management; in the tasks of office and workshop.

The hope of the world rests upon the leadership of Jesus.

AS TO ARTICLE 10

To The News.

The Dallas Morning News editorial writer jumps at conclusions as easily as a 10-year-old kid can explain mathematical axioms.

In the Dec 8 paper he dwells upon an enlarges upon the idea that Article 10, from its very nature, was foredoomed to extinction. When the facts are, Art. 10 was never assailed nor questioned out of the United States until after Mr. Harding's election. All the nations composing the League want the United States in.

But since the United States voted to keep out, basing objections principally on Art. 10, any faction or person seeking leadership is ready to jump on Art. 10.

And some of the delegates are seeking to cut out, not because it is thought redundant or "superfluous," nor because it implied too much obligation, but solely for the purpose of bringing in the United States.

Anybody capable of understanding common English words knows, after reading the League of Nations that Art. 10, is really the hub of the covenant. Yes, Mr. Wilson was right, it is the heart of the league. And what American can have the audacity to take sides with a South American crank, thereby deserting the greatest effort of the greatest scholar and idealist not only of his own country but of the world. Woodrow Wilson has been honored with the Noble prize. Why didn't the awarding committee give it to Lord Robert Cecil or D'Annunzio, or Pueyrredon, or Lodge, or Harding?

Every time I hear the League of Nations mentioned I think of the most pertinent definition of the question in America that has ever been made. It was at the last Democratic convention at San Francisco, when Mr. Cummings in his keynote address said: "There's nothing wrong with the League of Nations except it was principally framed and negotiated by a Democratic President." J. N. Davis, Peach, Texas.—Dallas, Texas.

If Every Day Were Christmas

TEXT—Romans 14:6—"One man esteemeth one day above another; another man esteemeth every day alike. Let every man be fully assured in his own mind."

HAT if every day were Christmas? The suggestion at first blush is perhaps not altogether agreeable. One can imagine numerous protests against the idea because of the excesses to which many go on Christmas holidays. Let it be granted freely that Christmas is misused, that it is often a season of excesses and extremes; even so, who of us would do away with Christmas? For despite all the excesses of the holiday season and the hardship it works on many, is there not a rainbow of glory over every recurring Christmas celebration?

Christmas is a season of prophetic idealism and a rebuke to selfish living. At the approach of the anniversary of our Lord's birth, men and women whose thoughts have been mostly of self are moved to think of others. The idea of serving others and making others happy affects even the blasé and the indifferent. Somehow, the idea that it is more blessed to give than to bargain finds lodgment in minds unused to tender and benevolent thoughts. For a brief period, cruel competitions that so sorely grind human society are lessened if not forgotten. For the time being, all humanity seems to be one family. There is a delight in seeing everybody joyous. The foreigner is made to feel at home. Artificial barriers are broken, and there come even into hard faces some softened lines. The spirit of Christmas penetrates even behind stone walls, and the prisoner is made to know that he is still remembered and that society has not abandoned hope in him.

Christmas is the one season of the year when we are especially reminded to take Jesus seriously. The Sermon on the Mount seems practicable then—the Beatitudes possible in daily life. Even the great words, "Peace on earth, good-will toward men," actually appear workable at Christmastide. The old text so precious, so peculiarly appropriate, John 3: 16, finds lodgment in our heart of hearts: "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life." There comes into our minds the conviction that we have not taken seriously the lessons that our Lord taught, but that now we take Him at His word; we share, we give, we sacrifice, we find a new joy growing out of these very practical and beautiful ministrations.

DRUGGIST SPEAKS IN FAVOR OF NEW IMPROVED ASPIRIN

Edwin Bruce, Pharmacist, and Traveling Salesman, Speaks Right Out in Favor of Improved Aspirin Tablet.

"I have spent my entire business life in the drug business, acting years as prescription pharmacist in Denver, Dallas and other large cities," said Mr. Bruce, "and for the past several years I have acted as traveling salesman for the large wholesale house of H. W. Williams & Co. of Fort Worth.

"I believe that my connection with drugs and medicines place me in position to speak of the value of Aspirin and Laxative in combination. On my last trip West I caught a severe cold and when I arrived in San Angelo went immediately to one of my customers and he showed me the new B. & C. Laxative Aspirin Tablet. Immediately I saw the value of Genuine Aspirin and the best Laxative known.

"I bought and began using them at once—the effect was immediate and remarkable, next morning I was free of cold and feeling perfectly well. I, as a pharmacist, recommend B. & C. Laxative Aspirin to anyone suffering from colds.

The Genuine B. & C. Laxative Aspirin Tablets are sold by L. M. Hoover, Druggist, price 30c per box; 6 boxes for $1.50.—adv.

As Dead as the Do

Every druggist in town and everybody's druggist has noticed a great increase in the sale of Calomel. They all give the same reason—'Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous," people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist.

Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead!

Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs but a few cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of Liver sluggishness, you get your money back.

Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine: no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent Calomel. Take a dose of Calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone in place of Calomel. It's the safe, full of

We dreamed the other night that the "Wandering Jew," our friend Sid Mauldin, had finally rented a farm and settled down in McCulloch County, near Nine, where he expects to get rich raising cotton next year. We are curious to know if this dream is true, if true we presume that our friend was trying to make his way back to Grand Old Schleicher when his finances run short and he was compelled to camp in McCulloch.

Of course we don't believe in dreams but this presentment seemed real.

A Russian Legend

"WE GO TO WORSHIP THE KING," THEY SAID.

Baboushka stood in her doorway
 When the Three Wise Men passed by,
 "We go to worship the King," they said,
 "We have seen His Star in the sky."

"Wilt thou come with us, Baboushka,
 Or over the Star be set?"
 "I will come and seek the new-born King,
 But ah, My lords! Not yet!"

"I must set my house in order,
 And I must spin and sew,"—
 The Star had set ere she made an end,
 And the winds began to blow.

And evermore Baboushka
 Goes seeking through the wild
 The Three Wise Men, the shining Star
 Her King, the new-born Child.

But on the eve of Christmas,
 When there are none to see,
 She comes with gifts in either hand,
 To deck the Christmas Tree.

She comes where sleeping children
 Lie dreaming of the morn;
 To see if once again on earth
 The Christ-child hath been born.

Out This Out and Take It With You. A man often forgets the article he wishes to purchase, and as a fast resort takes something else instead. That is always disappointing and unsatisfactory. The safe way is to cut this out and take it with you so as to make sure of getting Chamberlain's Tablets. You will find nothing quiet so satisfactory for constipation and indigestion.

THE "OLD RELIABLE" THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

White Haired Alabama Lady Says She Has Seen Medicines Come and Go But The "Old Reliable" Thedford's Black-Draught Came and Stayed.

Dutton, Ala.—In recommending Thedford's Black-Draught to her friends and neighbors here, Mrs. T. F. Parks, a well-known Jackson County lady, said: "I am getting up in years; my head is pretty white. I have seen medicines and remedies come and go but the old reliable came and stayed. I am talking of Black-Draught, a liver medicine we have used for years—one that can be depended upon and one that will do the work."

"Black-Draught will relieve indigestion and constipation if taken right, and I know for I tried it. It is the best thing I have ever found for the full, uncomfortable

Sore Nipples.

Any mother who has experience with this distressing ailment will be pleased to know that they may be relieved by applying Chamberlain's Salve as soon as the child is done nursing. Wipe it off with a soft cloth before allowing the babe to nurse. Many trained nurses use his salve with best results.

GET MORE BUTTER.

Mrs. Hattie Meece, of Glenn, Missouri, says; "I was not making enough butter from my cow's milk production for a family of two. After using Dr. LeGear's Stock Powders a short time, she gave a half gallon more milk a day, and a pound of butter a day."

Dr. LeGear's Stock Powders give to milk cows just what is needed to keep the digestive organs in proper condition, so that they get the most possible food from their feed. Give equally wonderful results when used for horses, hogs, and sheep, because they are a tonic, appetizer and worm expeller.

It matters not what ailment you may have among your stock or poultry, it will pay you to get the proper Dr. LeGear Remedy from your dealer. They are the Doctor's personal prescriptions, compounded during his 28 years of Veterinary Practice and Expert Poultry Breeding. They must satisfy you, or your dealer will refund your money.
