Rural Telephone Rates Are Hiked

Many Schleicher County patrons of General Telephone Company who live out in the county and thus are designated as "rural" received bills recently which were higher than in the past, but not as high as the rates previously set.

Word from General Telephone last week was that customers who have been billed increased rural rates inaugurated in January will not be denied telephone service for non-payment of the new rates.

Customers of course will be expected to pay at least their old rural rates plus any long distance charges on their bills.

The company pointed out that rural customers who do not pay the new rates will automatically receive past due notices, but these customers may ignore the notice and pay only the toll and previous rural rate charges.

Some rural customers were surprised recently with bills that noted an increase of up to 300% in some cases.

Several attempts in recent years to establish state regulation of telephone companies and other utilities have been defeated in the Texas legislature.

Company officials explained that because rural customers are fewer and farther apart, it costs more to provide rural service to them than what they have been paying. To offset their own expense the company came up with a new zoned pricing technique.

Glenn Parker, reporting for Parker Bros. Bailey Ranch phone some 10 miles south of Eldorado, gave the following comparison in the old and new rural phone rate — (both figures include tax)

For January, bill was $ 7.88
For February, new rate was 14.69
An increase of $ 6.81

Comparisons from other rural users in this county were:

S. D. Harper, old rate $7.80.
New rate, $13.60.

Other rural rates similar.

Showers Tease Area

The first showers in about 5 1/2 months fell over the area Monday, but more are needed to break the winter drought we have had.

The town of Eldorado received about three- or four-tenths of an inch of moisture.

To the east, W. F. "Rocky" Meador had about half an inch at his home place, and close to nine-tenths elsewhere on the ranch.

A few other reports . . . According to Gene McCalla his rain gauge at the farm east of town contained 6-tenths of rain and a dead bug.

James Williams reported 1/2 inch of rain at his ranch east of town. Oran Enochs, about 3/4 inch.

As one person pointed out, a half inch rain could bring up a lot of weeds which could provide grazing for sheep, but county wide ranchers are still buying feed for livestock and a lot more rain is being prayer for.

Austin, Tex.—Statewide political candidates are on the campaign trail in earnest, and plenty of action is expected.

The AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education met here this week to choose up sides in the major statewide races.

Both Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Mrs. Frances "Sissy" Farenthold began their travels, with Mrs. Farenthold challenging quality of the Governor's leadership and his "accessibility."

Republicans lost a candidate, when former State Sen. Henry Grover of Houston in a surprise move withdrew from the governor's race. He said he could not raise money for a campaign, and "GOP high-ups don't want to win anyway."

Main action below the governor's race is expected in the three-way Democratic contest for comptroller.

Bob Bullock of Austin and Hugh Edburg, a former top aide in the comptroller's office, are logging most of the action. Buddy F. Kirk of Houston, another former comptroller's staff member, is also waging an active campaign to succeed retiring Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Treasurer Jesse Jamts has young Houston lawyer Donald B. Yarbrough for a Democratic opponent.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White is opposed by Herbert A. (Peanut) Schroeder in the Democratic primary.

Railroad Commissioner Mack Wallace has opposition from C. A. Kelly of San Antonio.

Atty. Gen. John Hill, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong and Railroad Commissioner Lim Langdon have no Democratic opposition, but they're doing some campaigning, anyway, in case their Republican challengers get tough in the fall.

Finances Revealed

New required financial reports by state candidates provided some of the more-interesting conversational tidbits at the state capitol during the last week.

Governor Briscoe, for example, reported he owns about 332,000 acres of South Texas ranch and farm lands and has vast banking and investment interests, although he did not place a dollar value on his holdings.

She was born in Texas June 19, 1903.

Mrs. Farenthold placed her family net worth at $314,684 assets (including $200,000 worth of jewels) at $495,771.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby listed assets of $3.9 million, and a net worth of $599.48.

Atty. Gen. John Hill reported assets of $3.1 million and a net worth in excess of $2.9 million.

Convention Livens

After a dreary, extended wrangle over educational provisions, the Constitutional Convention finally agreed on the school-college article and went on to pound out promptly voter qualifications and elections provisions.

Delegates agreed to restore voting privileges automatically to ex-prisoners. They voted to leave it up to the legislature whether to scrap the ancient requirement of signing paper ballot stubs.

Another controversial provision passed would require voters in bond elections affecting property taxes to be property owners.

More Gas On Way

Texas will get 119.7 million gallons more gasoline in March than in February.

The Federal Energy Office said Texas' March supply will be 657.3 million gallons.

Federal Energy Administrator William Simon announced adjustments.

Attorney General's Opinions

Attorney General Hill held a state employee cannot be fired merely because she is pregnant.

In other recent opinions Hill concluded:

The Department of Public Welfare may refuse a client's request for a copy of his complete file only where information is excepted from the open records law and has not been used concurrently in determination of the person's rights.

Whether or not tips are part of the sales price of taxable food and drink depends on whether the employer derives a benefit from their collection.

The Water Development Board need not get a permit from the Antiquities Committee before archaeological resources on public lands can be tampered with. But the Board has responsibility to assist the Committee in locating, protecting and preserving such resources. Its funds can be used to study antiquities to be affected by a reservoir, but it may not engage in salvaging operations.

Boards of regents cannot meet in closed sessions to consider granting honorary degrees, unless the honoree is also being considered for appointment or employment.

If a person sells a mobile home that does not meet new code requirements, the Bureau of Labor Statistics can get an injunction and fine the seller. (A variety of other questions on mobile home regulations were answered by Hill).

The comptroller of public accounts has authority to prescribe forms to be used by the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation in obtaining reimbursement for costs of services and supplies furnished by its central services facilities.

Lucian C. Ochsner, 69, died last Tuesday in Cogdell hospital at Snyder. He was twin brother of the late L. D. Ochsner, who before his death was Santa Fe agent here in Eldorado.

Funeral services were held Thursday in Snyder, with burial in Hillside Memorial Garden.

He was born April 16, 1904 in Wyaconda, Mo., was a retired Santa Fe Railway agent, employed since 1925, and a Snyder resident since 1963.

Survivors include his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Linda McElroy of Bedford; a son, Dudley C. Ochsner of Salinas, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Jones Schutz; and five grandchildren.

Fund Drive Set For Boy Scout Council

Krueger Cites Need Of Predator Control Laws

A federal district judge in Washington issued a temporary restraining order last week prohibiting the use of sodium cyanide as a means of controlling the coyotes that prey upon livestock.

Throughout his campaign for U. S. Congress, Bob Krueger has been emphasizing the need for effective predator control laws. Krueger says that farmers and ranchers must be able to protect their livestock from the coyotes and other predators which destroy large numbers of cattle, sheep, and goats every year.

Speaking to a group of ranchers at the Wool Producers Warehouse in Del Rio, Krueger expressed his disappointment at the federal court's banning of sodium cyanide.

"If the temporary restraining order is upheld, it's going to be a real blow to the farmers and ranchers of the 21st Congressional District," Krueger said. "Without an effective means of controlling the coyotes that destroy livestock, prices for wool and beef will continue to rise because coyotes reduce the production of such goods."

The program, approved by the Environmental Protection Agency, would have allowed the trial use of sodium cyanide in a spring-ejection device until June of 1975. A further hearing on the program was to be held Monday, March 11.

Price Comparisons In Advertising

(by John L. Hill, Attorney General)

Austin, Tex.—Every consumer has seen or heard advertisements that say something like "regularly $10, now only $8.99," or "Two for the price of one."

These are types of price comparison, a widely used and effective method of advertising.

In price comparison advertising, the merchant compares his current prices for goods or services with past or future prices or the prices offered by others in order to show cost savings to consumers.

Accurately used price comparisons can assist consumers in making purchasing decisions, since they show exactly how much can be saved on a particular item during a special period.

Most merchants use price comparisons to advertise legitimate cost reductions. A few, though, may base their price comparison advertising on inflated or arbitrary prices, which is misleading to the consumer.

For example, an ad may say "Lawn mowers are reduced from $129.95 to $99.95—you save $30 during our pre-season sale!"

If the lawn mowers are normally priced at $129.95, this is an accurate and helpful use of price comparison to advertise a sale. However, if the lawn mowers always sell at $99.95, this is misleading and illegal, according to lawyers in my Consumer Protection Division.

It is also misleading and illegal if the retailer boosted his price to $129.95 for just a few days prior to the sale, because the former price at which an item is advertised must have been in effect for a reasonable time on a regular basis before the sale.

It may be deceptive if the merchandise advertised at the "lower" current price differs from the merchandise previously sold at the indicated "regular" price.

Some retailers advertise a "manufacturer's" or "distributor's list price" or "suggested retail price" and compare it with their own lower price.

But before a retailer uses such a comparison in an ad, he should find out if the list price is really the price regularly charged by the majority of retail stores in his community.

His ad could be deceptive if he uses a list price that appreciably exceeds the highest price at which most sales are made in his community.

It is also misleading to use a statement such as "reduced to $11.99" if the regular price was about $12, because most consumers would think a "reduced" price indicated a more substantial reduction.

The Texas Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act categorizes false or misleading statements of fact about the reasons for, existence of, or amount of price reductions as a deceptive and illegal trade practice.

Consumers or advertisers who may be in doubt as to whether a particular price comparison is misleading or deceptive should consult attorneys in our Consumer Protection Division or talk with their county or district attorney or a private attorney.

CARPET CARE

The better care you take of the carpets and rugs in your home, the longer they will last and retain their good looks—and thus ultimately save you money.

Three basic rules for home cleaning will keep your carpeting in optimum condition:

1. Vacuum traffic areas daily. This removes tracked-in soil and restores the pile. If dirt is left on the carpet, it will go below the surface where it is more difficult to remove and can wear carpet fibers by abrasion.

2. Vacuum all carpeting thoroughly once a week. Get under furniture and into corners. "Thoroughly" means that the vacuum cleaner should be pushed and pulled in slow even strokes at least five times over the same area. Vacuuming does not hurt rugs; it actually prolongs their life.

3. Remove any spots and stains as quickly as possible. Don't wait until they have time to dry or set.

Carpet manufacturers recommend a vacuum cleaner with a motor-driven brush and beater bar. The beating action helps to loosen imbedded dirt and dust, and fluffs up the pile.

Even with maximum care, your carpet will eventually tend to look dull. This doesn't mean the colors have faded—it's probably caused by the gradual build-up of soil which is difficult to remove by ordinary vacuuming. When this becomes noticeable, your carpet needs shampooing.

Although you can do-it-yourself with one of the carpet cleaning preparations in your home, the best results are obtained from a professional cleaner. Rugs can be sent to the plant or cleaned like wall-to-wall carpeting right on your floor in a few hours. Fortunately, some of the newer carpeting is treated with a special Scotchgard finish to resist stains from both spills and dry soil.

Here are a few specific cleaning tips:

o To remove dry soiling materials like clay and mud, first crumble and remove the excess, then apply the suds of a mild detergent mixed with water (one teaspoon to one quart of water) and a teaspoon of white vinegar. Blot with a tissue dry thoroughly and gently brush the pile.

o To remove oily stains, scrape or blot the excess from the rug surface. Then apply a dry-cleaning fluid with a clean cloth. Blot the carpet and, if necessary, apply the suds of a mild detergent mixed with water and vinegar. Dry the carpet, and if any stain remains, repeat the dry cleaner and detergent steps, let it dry and brush the pile.

o For stains from animals and foodstuffs — such as coffee, tea, milk, alcoholic beverages or catsup—scrape and blot the excess surface soil, apply the above detergent and vinegar solution, rinse and dry the carpet. Then apply a dry cleaning solvent with a clean cloth and let the carpet dry. If necessary, repeat the entire process, then brush pile.

Hoing Best For Controlling Garden Weeds

Weeds are as much of a problem in home vegetable gardens as they are in large fields. Besides harboring diseases and insects, weeds compete with crops for water, sunlight, soil nutrients and air.

The best method of eliminating them is still with the hoe. Hoing is not only inexpensive but is accurate and effective as well. Many people enjoy the work, especially when they look back down a freshly hoed, clean row.

The time to get rid of weeds is when they are small. The larger they get, the more damage they can do to vegetable crops.

Weeds around the base of plants should be hand pulled rather than hoed.

Mulches provide a mechanical barrier to weed emergence and keep light away from seedlings. Those weeds that do manage to come through the mulch can be pulled easily. Good mulching materials include hay, straw, bark, leaves, sawdust, wood shavings, paper and black plastic sheeting.

Herbicides have limited use, and their use must be highly selective in a mixed vegetable garden where different plants have different tolerance levels to the various weed killers. If herbicides are used be sure to consider the plants surrounding the area you intend to treat, follow application instructions carefully, and use the correct amounts of the chemical.

Design Important In Landscape

Simplicity in landscape design is the keynote to keeping down labor costs and time consuming maintenance operations.

A few plants thoughtfully selected for their interesting and changing form, texture and color may eliminate many hours of cleaning beds and clipping hedges.

Be sure to consider future space requirements of a plant in relation to its proposed planting area. If the plant is going to require constant pruning to keep it in bounds, it would be better to select another plant.

Eliminate unnecessary borders along drives and walks which tend to emphasize rather than hide these elements in the landscape. It is better to allow the lawn to meet the walk or drive.

To enjoy your garden rather than be a slave to it, have only one or two well-kept annual beds rather than numerous beds which require constant work to keep attractive.

In selecting plants, consider the soil and climatic conditions in your area. It is much easier to select plants suited to a given area than to attempt to modify the soil and environment to suit a given plant.

Native and adapted plants will provide more pleasure and enjoyment for the amount of care expended than any exotic plant.

leisure-time activities and travel.

Since people cause most fires, they can also prevent most of them. Some suggestions for an effective fire prevention program are:

In the house and buildings on the farm, get rid of possible fire hazards and try to change habits that could be dangerous.

Tour the house, barns, sheds and other farm buildings and discard everything no longer needed, especially from storage areas where all sorts of "stuff" tend to accumulate. Keep in mind the fact that, in case of fire, the more fuel there is to feed the flames, the worse the fire will be.

Next, check all buildings and see that hazards are corrected. Look for faulty electrical equipment and worn cords, combustibles stored too near sources of heat, defective cooking equipment, and heating systems that haven't been cleaned or inspected since last used.

Finally, indoors and out, make a conscious effort to correct habits like carelessness with smoking materials. Never smoke in bed. Never smoke where there is hay and straw which burn easily. Never smoke while handling gasoline. Never leave matches or lighters within the reach of small children.

It you share to help stop the fires which last year claimed some 11,900 lives in the United States and cost the nation an estimated $2.96 billion.

Fragrance In The Garden

Whether it is the spicy pungent aroma from the lilac or the light perfume of the honeysuckle, fragrance in the landscape adds a new feeling of charm. Truly, no garden is complete without some fragrance.

There are many plants at our disposal for garden use which can add fragrance to the garden. In addition to flower fragrance, there are also plants that have distinct aroma to their stems and foliage especially when touched.

Fragrance in the garden should be used in a similar manner to color. It should be unmistakably there, but not overpowering. Unlike colorful plants that can be placed in the background, fragrant plants should be placed "up close." A favorite place for a fragrant plant is beneath a window where the fragrance can be doubly enjoyed as the aroma drifts through the open window into the house.

Entrance plantings are ideal locations for fragrant plants welcoming the visitor not only with the beauty of the plant but also with the aroma of nature's perfume.

Those plants having aromatic foliage are best used along or near a walk. The mystery of garden fragrance is deepened when used in this situation as the visitor is aware of the aroma but no flowers are in sight.

Your local nursery or garden center has many plants adapted to your area that have flower and foliage fragrance to spice up your garden. Ask them; to point out some of these as you select the plants for your landscape.

6 WAYS TO CONSERVE AND SAVE

ON HOME LAUNDRY

1. Wash and dry a full load, but never overload... it is essential for each item to move freely for proper cleaning and drying.

2. Choose the correct cycle for washing modern materials. Perhaps hot water isn't needed, and only a gentle drying temperature.

3. Too much detergent can clog machine and drains... always measure, don't guess. Follow the manufacturers recommendations for your equipment. Mixing brands of detergents can cause graying of clothes.

4. Many manufacturers of permanent press garments recommend machine washing and machine drying for best results. Following instructions on the garment tag can preserve the life of your clothing and give you wrinkle-free clothes without need for ironing. A big savings!

5. An important maintenance function for you to do is to clean the lint trap and lint filter on both washer and dryer after each load of a full day's use of your home laundry.

6. Never-Never pour bleach directly into the washer with clothes in it. Always dilute bleach before adding it to wash water. Also, timing is important. Bleach should be added after the clothes have washed at least 5 minutes.

Hearing Set Today On Sewer Discharges

The Texas Water Quality Board is anticipating a large turnout of sportsmen and recreational enthusiasts from the western area of the state at a public hearing to be held in San Angelo on March 14th to consider proposed regulations governing the collection and discharge of sewage on and from boats on the inland fresh waters of Texas. The hearing will be held in the St. Angelus Room of the Central National Bank starting at 2:00 p.m.

Hearings have already been held in Austin, Denison and Lufkin, and boat owners from throughout the state have evidenced an increasing amount of interest.

The preliminary regulations, at the present stage of drafting, apply only to boats situated or operated on the waters of the state which have toilet facilities installed or which are 16 feet or over in length and have permanent sleeping arrangements. Chapter 612, Acts of the 62nd Legislature, regular session, 1973 (House Bill No. 1422) directs the Texas Water Quality Board to issue such regulations, and copies of the proposed regulations are available at the hearings.

Other hearings are to be held in Del Rio on March 19th and in Houston on the 22nd.

The TWQB is urging all persons interested in these regulations to attend the hearing and present any pertinent information for the record.

The competition in the poultry exhibits was very keen. E. D. Steele in charge of the Agriculture Department of the Hays High School says this was the best show put on in Houston.

Grand champion of the show was shown by a family from LaGrange and sold for $1,000. These chicks were bred by E. D. Steele. Two hundred pens of broilers and turkeys exhibited in the show sold for $60,000.

Congress Hopeful Wolff Visited The Flingding

Texas Senator Nelson Wolff and his wife, Melinda, attended the annual West Texas dance sponsored by the Flingding Club on Saturday night (March 2) in Sonora. An estimated 2,000 people were in attendance for this function.

Wolff is running for Congressman from the 21st District. He stated that his visit to Sonora was particularly enjoyable since he had the opportunity to visit with Congressman O. C. Fisher who introduced him to countless numbers of his friends and supporters from all over the area. "I thoroughly enjoyed myself," Wolff continued, "although I found it difficult to match the pace set by the Congressman as he greeted old friends who obviously hold him in the highest of esteem."

In conclusion, Senator Wolff agreed that the Flingding was an outstanding event and Sonora the only place to be when it occurs.

Retiring Congressman Fisher has endorsed Wolff as his successor.

Market Report

College Station, Tex.—Fryer prices leveled off to a "good value" range recently, and supplies are ample, according to one observer.

Attractive prices appear on whole fryers and mixed parts—and egg supplies are plentiful, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, reported.

"At produce counters, fresh vegetables are in more generous supply this winter than a year ago because of increased acreage," she said.

"Substantially larger supplies include lettuce, broccoli, carrots and celery.

"However, onion stocks are lower than they are in most other seasons, and storage stocks of fall-crop potatoes were 4% less than the small volume for the same date a year earlier—and prices have been advancing in recent weeks."

"High prices on potatoes are expected through the spring months at least," the specialist predicted. Turning to fruit, Mrs. Clyatt cited grapefruit as the item in peak season and apples as continuing in good supply. Prices are unchanged for both.

"Pineapple supplies are seasonally high, tangelo season is almost over, and there's a seasonal decline in tangerines. Oranges, bananas, pears, and strawberries are worthy of consideration, price-wise."

Beef values this week include chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks and ground beef.

"Pork remains on the high side, and features are scattered," Mrs. Clyatt said.

"A few features show up on Boston butt roasts, end chops, loin-end roasts and quarter-loin cut into chops. Smoked cuts include some hams, bacon and roll sausage. Ham prices are working up toward Easter levels."

Consumer Watchwords: Liver is kind to the family food budget.

At beef and pork counters, consumers can find economy in the various liver choices. Calf, beef and pork liver all contain iron, so served at least once a week, they help fill a nutrition need, too.

Cranberries And Beets — A Super Soup

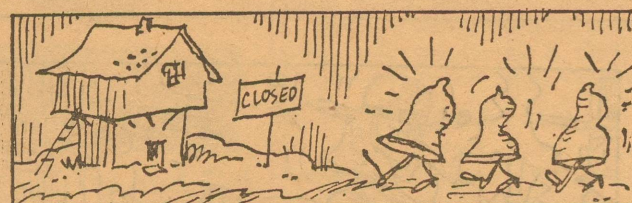

Cranberries and beets combine together in a cheery colorfully red-hot and hearty soup that can be relished as a meal in itself. Beetberry Soup is a perfectly delectable blending of nourishing ingredients including whole berry cranberry sauce, shoestring beets and beef broth. It will be a great hit with the family, so be sure to make enough for a second serving later in the week. As most smart soup lovers know, a good soup is even tastier the second time around, — and sensibly budget-wise. Serve boiled potatoes and sour cream along with your soup. Hmmm! Berry Good!

BEEBERRY SOUP (Serves 6-8 — Makes 2 quarts)

1 3/4 cups Ocean Spray whole berry cranberry sauce	2 cans (10-1/2 oz. each) condensed beef broth
2 cans (1 pound each) shoestring beets, undrained	2 tablespoons cider vinegar
3/4 cup chopped onions	1 tablespoon lemon juice
3 cups Ocean Spray cranberry juice cocktail	Salt and pepper
	Boiled potatoes, sour cream

Combine all ingredients except salt, pepper, potatoes and sour cream. Simmer until cranberries are tender, about 30 minutes. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Serve hot with peeled boiled potatoes and spoons of sour cream.

In Medieval Europe, the people believed that all church bells made a pilgrimage to Rome on Good Friday. The people stayed indoors so as not to see them go!

The Face of The Times

Wendy is the outdoor type . . . doesn't mind the wind in her face . . . hair blowing in the breeze . . . loves to ski and go mountain climbing. She's the picture of slightly-disheveled beauty. But bring her indoors—the first thing Wendy reaches for is a comb.

Disorder cannot mar beauty when there is a natural or reasonable cause. But the disorder that comes from irresponsibility or violence casts its ugliness over everything it touches.

Doesn't this mean a growing appreciation of the Church's vital role in our society? The dishevelment we see on the face of the times didn't happen with a passing gust of wind. We need—our world needs—the religious foundation on which a stable society must stand.

In Holland, stale bread was at one time placed in babies' cradles to ward off diseases. This didn't work if the baby ate the bread!
